Basu's

INDIAN PENAL CODE

74 YEARS
1938-2011

Eleventh Edition

ASHOKA LAW HOUSE
NEW DELHI (INDIA)

SHOUT SHARE IT

धर्मो रक्षति रक्षितः

NATIONAL LAW SCHOOL OF INDIA UNIVERSITY
BENGALURU

Please remember that this resource is meant for many other users like you, so do not tamper, tear or damage.

We believe that it is an individual responsibility to care for library documents and other resources of institution.

Please do check before you borrow, because you have to compensate if the material is returned in a damaged condition.

LIBRARY
NARAYAN RAO MELGIRI
National Law School
BANGALORE

N. D. BASU

Commentary on

INDIAN PENAL CODE

N. D. BASU

Commentary on
INDIAN PENAL CODE

[Act No. 45 of 1860]

As Amended

Alongwith
Scope, Procedure & Charges framed under each section

General Editor
Chandrasekhar K
Advocate
(Revising Author of various standard commentaries)

Alongwith
Publishers Editorial Board

11th Edition
In Two Volumes

Volume Two (Secs. 302 – End)

2011

ASHOKA LAW HOUSE
New Delhi (India)

With The Blessings of
"Mata Vaishno Devi"

74 Years of Service

Eleventh Edition : 2011
Tenth Edition : 2007
Reprint : 2006
Reprint : 2005
Reprint (March) : 2004
Ninth Edition : 2003
Third Reprint : 2001
Second Reprint : 2000
First Reprint : 1999
Eighth Edition : 1998
Seventh Edition : 1986
Sixth Edition : 1967
Fifth Edition : 1956
Fourth Edition : 1951
Third Edition : 1949
Second Edition : 1943
First Edition : 1938

8th, 9th, 10th & 11th Edition, Published by Ashoka Law House
Previously published by Eastern Law House, Calcutta

Price Rs. : 1680 per vol.

ISBN : 978-93-80751-00-9 (Set)

© All rights reserved with the Publisher

Published by:
ASHOKA LAW HOUSE
(Administrative Office)
A-252, Shivalik,
New Delhi–110 017
Phones : 26689984 & 26684763
Fax : 26689254
E-mail : ashokalawhouse@yahoo.com

Laser Typesetting by:
ALH Computer Division
New Delhi

Printed & Bound by :
Kailash Graphics
New Delhi

Purchased: Approval:
Gratis: 027149
Acc No.: Price:
"Melgiri"
Library
Bangalore

All rights including Copyright, publishing rights on printed and online/CD solely with the publisher.

No part of this book may be reproduced in any manner whatsoever print, electronic or translated in any other language without permission in writing of the publishers. Although every has been taken in the publication of this book, the author, publisher and printer shall not be responsible for any loss or damage caused to any person on account of errors or omissions which might have inadvertently crept in. The publisher shall be obliged if mistakes are brought to their notice for carrying out corrections in the next edition.

For binding mistake, misprints or for missing pages etc. the publisher's liability is limited to replacement within one month of purchase by similar edition or maximum within one year of publication. All expenses in this connection are to be borne by the purchaser.

All disputes are subject to New Delhi jurisdiction only.

Preface to the Eleventh Edition

We are extremely happy in placing before the legal fraternity Eleventh dition of Basu's Indian Penal Code.

N.D. Basu books are well known in the field of law, this edition of Indian enal Code is in its 74th year of publication, we are proud to be associated ith this book. While revising the book utmost care has been taken to keep he original essence of the Author while incorporating the dynamics of law ith Apex and High Court decisions including latest amendments ronounced.

Promulgation in the British Era, this 1960 Code has stood the test of ime, with constant and dynamic changes by way of Judicial and Executive ynamism, providing this branch of law wide and clear scope for effective mplementation, which is one of the pillars of Indian Legal system. A copius ndex has been added at the end of the book to make it more effective for its usy users to lay their fingers at the desired topic in the commentary ithout spending much time. Quotations from standard writers on riminology have been added. English Law has been given due importance eeping in view that our 'Criminal Justice System' is the product of British urisprudence. An added feature of this magna opus is that each section is acilitated with its procedure and charge.

As this branch of Indian Law holds the maximum case law, but keeping n view the brevity, it has been considered reasonable to give the law of rimes in brief but with all necessary material together with up-to-date case aw. Clarity of thought and lucidity of expression are its special features. otes and Commentaries under various Sections are sufficiently omprehensive, upto-date and to the point, supported by meticulous ollection of the latest case-law. This treatise has been designed to give the eaders a complete grasp and understanding of the general principles and egal provision relating to law of crimes prevalent in India.

It is hoped that the present edition shall like previous editions, receive he same appreciation from the Bench and the Bar and all those concerned ith the administration of Criminal Justice. Suggestions are welcomed so hat future editions may be made much more useful, up-to-date and omprehensive.

Revising Editor
&
Publishers Editorial Board

Preface to the Eleventh Edition

We are extremely happy in placing before the legal fraternity Eleventh Edition of Basu's Indian Penal Code.

N.D. Basu books are well known in the field of law, this edition of Indian Penal Code is in its 74th year of publication, we are proud to be associated with this book. While revising the book utmost care has been taken to keep the original essence of the Author while incorporating the dynamics of law with Apex and High Court decisions including latest amendments pronounced.

Promulgation in the British era, this 1860 Code has stood the test of time, with constant and dynamic changes by way of Judicial and Executive dynamism, providing this branch of law wide and clear scope for effective implementation, which is one of the pillars of Indian legal system. A copious index has been added at the end of the book to make it more effective for its busy users to lay their fingers at the desired topic in the commentary without spending much time. Quotations from standard writers on criminology have been added. English law has been given due importance keeping in view that our Criminal Justice System is the product of British Jurisprudence. An added feature of this magnus opus is that each section is facilitated with its procedure and charge.

As this branch of Indian Law holds the maximum case law, but keeping in view the brevity, it has been considered reasonable to give the law of crimes in brief but with all necessary material together with up-to-date case law. Clarity of thought and lucidity of expression are the special features. Notes and Commentaries under various Sections are more sufficiently comprehensive, up-to-date and to the point, supported by meticulous collection of the latest case-law. The Edition has been designed to give the readers a complete grasp and understanding of the general principles and legal provisions relating to law of crimes prevalent in India.

It is hoped that the present edition shall like previous editions, receive the same appreciation from the Bench and the Bar and all those connected with the administration of Criminal Justice. Suggestions are welcomed so that future editions may be made much more useful, up-to-date and comprehensive.

Publishers Note to the Eleventh Edition

We are extremely happy to present this revised eleventh edition of our pride publication.

"INDIAN PENAL CODE" in the hands of our esteemed and respectful readers. Its first edition saw the light of the day in the year 1938 and has been acclaimed as a lucid exposition of the penal law in India. The previous editions of this book having been sold rapidly, the demand and sale pursuaded us to publish this eleventh edition. The text has been thoroughly revised, enlarged and made upto-date. Although this edition retains the features of the original work, yet it comprises of many relevant and the latest decisions of the Supreme Court and various High Courts systematically incorporated under several synopsis. These decisions have been classified under proper headings and sub-headings. Quotations from standard writers on criminology have been added. Latest relevant amendments to the statute have been incorporated at proper place. Index has been prepared with great care to answer quickly the needs of the busiest members of the bar and the bench.

Utmost care has been taken to render this treatise exhaustive and of real and immediate utility. It is hoped that this book will meet the requirements of not only of the bar and the bench, but also of the police, law schools, legal research institutions, prosecution, legal cells and any person deeply concerned with understanding the law of crimes, and especially the Indian Penal Code, 1860.

Publisher is always accountable to its readers to give them accurate, latest and the best. The responsibility is more in case of a Law publisher. He has to keep pace not only with the readers, editors and authors, but also with the time. Every sincere effort has been made to compose this book in a very legible manner on best paper for printing.

We sincerely invite valuable suggestions to improve the quality and utility of the next edition.

Publisher's Note
TO THE TENTH EDITION

In the Indian Courts most of the judgments pronounced are mainly on 'Indian Penal Code'. In view of this a number of writers have attempted to comment on this branch of law but few could reach the top and even lesser who scaled heights could sustain that pressure of expectations.

We are extremely happy in placing before the legal fraternity Tenth Edition of N.D Basu's Indian Penal Code.

We humbly put forward our sustained efforts to deliver as per our readers expectations and in our quest to make them expect more than what we have done in the past.

The purpose of the authors in preparing this commentary is to facilitate the work of busy legal fraternity. The work of this description is to help the judges, lawyers and others concerned with this branch of law to find out the law on any point with minimum of difficulty and fatigue. In view of this we have endeavoured to make the book easily readable and to serve as easy referencer.

Decisions of the Supreme Court and all High Courts, have been classified under proper headings and sub-headings. Quotations from standard writers on criminology have been added. English law has been given due importance keeping in view that our 'Criminal justice System' is the product of British Jurisprudence. In view of our readership throughout the country, all state and High Court amendments including the latest consequential amendments to the statute have been incorporated at proper place.

It is hoped that this edition will be applauded as a worthy successor to its predecessors and that it will deserve the approbation of the Bench and Bar as the previous editions did.

Publisher's Note
TO THE TENTH EDITION

In the Indian Courts most of the judgments pronounced are mainly on 'Indian Penal Code'. In view of this a number of writers have attempted to comment on this branch of law but few could reach the top and even lesser who scaled heights could sustain that pressure of expectations.

We are extremely happy in placing before the legal fraternity Tenth Edition of N.D Basu's Indian Penal Code.

We humbly put forward our sustained efforts to deliver as per our readers expectations and in our quest to make them expect more than what we have done in the past.

The purpose of the authors in preparing this commentary is to facilitate the work of busy legal fraternity. The work of this description is to help the judges, lawyers and others concerned with this branch of law to find out the law on any point with minimum of difficulty and fatigue. In view of this we have endeavoured to make the book easily readable and to serve as easy referencer.

Decisions of the Supreme Court and all High Courts, have been classified under proper headings and sub-headings. Quotations from standard writers on criminology have been added. English law has been given due importance keeping in view that our 'Criminal justice System' is the product of British Jurisprudence. In view of our readership throughout the country, all state and High Court amendments including the latest consequential amendments to the statute have been incorporated at proper place.

It is hoped that this edition will be applauded as a worthy successor to its predecessors and that it will deserve the approbation of the Bench and Bar as the previous editions did.

Publisher's Note
TO THE NINTH EDITION

N.D Basu's "Indian Penal Code" was first published in the year 1938 and since then a number of successive edition have been published.

The fact that all the previous editions were rapidly sold out and appreciated utmost, necessitated the present edition.

With the activism of our Apex Court, to make this country a better place to live, various landmarks judgments have been pronounced ranging from social, economic, financial etc. All the concerned decision have been duly highlighted in this book.

While revising the book it is tried with care to include new materials which cropped up, due to other courts decisions and amendment in the Penal Code, at appropriate places. This edition has been made up to date by the information technology Act 2000 and in all respects including other amendments made by the Parliament.

Effects have also been made, to a possible extent to explain the relevant and allied provisions of some other law which have an impact on the law of Crimes. Not only the quality of the book has been maintained in this edition, effects have been made to emphatically bring out the latest judicial trends to counteract and remedy the mischief let loose upon the society.

It is hoped that the present edition shall like previous editions, receive the same appreciation from the Bench and the Bar and all those concerned with the administration of Criminal Justice.

Publisher's Note
TO THE EIGHT EDITION

N.D. Basu's "Indian Penal Code" First saw the light of the day in 1938 and has been acclaimed as a lucid exposition of the law contend in Indian Penal Code, 1860. Successive edition called for, since the publication of the first edition testify to its worth. The edition now being issued is the eighth.

The previous edition of this book having been sold out rapidly. The Publishers assigned to me the pleasant and interesting engagement of revising the book in its Eighth Edition. In complying with their request, I have, with due regard, taken notice of the original Author's plan and method of writing out, this very useful Book to the legal profession. This edition retains the features of the original work. The opportunity has accordance with, and incorporate, decisions up to date and to rewrite and enlarge the matter where ever necessary. The Central and State Amendments has been duly noticed. This index has been prepared with great care to answer quickly the needs of the busiest lawyer.

It is hoped that this edition with be applauded as a worthy successor to its predecessors and that it will deserve the approbation of the Bench and Bar as the previous editions did.

List of Abbreviations

A & E	Adolphus and Elis, 1834-1840; New Series, 1841-1852
AC	Appeal Cases, Law Report, from 1891—
ACJ	Accident Claims Journal
ACrC	Allahabad Criminal Cases
ACrR	Allahabad Criminal Rulings
Agra	Agra High Court Reports, 1866-1868
AIHC	All India High Court Cases
AHCGR (Cr)	Allahabad High Court General Rules (Criminal), 1911
AIR	All India Reporter, from 1914—
AIR SCW	All India Reporter Supreme Court Weekly
All Cr LR	All India Criminal Law Reporter
Alison	Alison's Criminal Law of Scotland
ALJR	Allahabad Law Journal Reports, from 1904—
All	Indian Law Reports, Allahabad Series, from 1876—
All Cr C	Allahabad Criminal Cases
All Cri R	Allahabad Criminal Reporter
All ER	All England Reports, from 1936—
All LJ	Allahabad Law Journal
All LR	Allahabad Law Reports
ALT	Andhra Law Times, from 1954—
ALT (cri)	Andhra Law Times (Criminal)
Andh WR	Andhra Weekly Reporter, from 1955—
Andhra	Indian Law Reports, Andhra Series
AOLO	Adaptation of Laws Order, 1950
APLJ	Andhra Pradesh Law Journal
App Cas	Appeal Cases, Law Reports, 1875-1890
Appx	Appendix
Archbold	Archbold's Criminal Law (35th Edn., 1962)
Ass	Indian Law Reports, Assam Series from 1949—

Assam LR	Assam Law Reports
Austin	Austin's Jurisprudence
AWN	Allahabad Weekly Notes, 1881-1906
B & A	Barnwell and Alderson, 1817-1822, K.B.
B & C	Barnwell and Cresswell, 1822-1830, K.B.
B & S	Best and Smith, 1861-1869, Q.B.
Bac Abr	Bacon's Abridgment of the law
Bacon	Bacon's Abridgment of the Law
Ank Cas	Banking Cases
BCM	Burma Court Manual, 1950
Beav	Beaven's Reports, 1838-1866, Rolls
Beng LR	Bengal Law Reports, 1868-1875
BHC	Bombay High Court, Reports, 1862-1875
Bih LJ	Bihar Law Journal
Bing	Bingham's Cases. 1834-1840, C.P.
Bishop	Bishop's Criminal Law
Blackstone	Blackstone's Commentaries on the Laws of England
BLJ	Burma Law Journal
BLJR	Bihar Law Journal Reports
Bom	Indian Law Reports, Bombay Series, from 1876—
Bom Cr C	Bombay High Court Criminal Cases, 1911—
Bom Cr Manual	Bombay High Court Criminal Manual, 1947
Bom LR	Bombay Law Reporter, from 1899—
Boul	Boulnoi's Law Reports, 1862-1875, Calcutta
Burma LR	Burma Law Reports. 1895-1908
Burr	Burrow's Reports. 1757-1771, K.B.
C & K	Carrington and Kirwan, 1843-1850, N.P.
C & M	Crompton and Meeson, 1832-1834, Exch.
C & P	Carrington and Payne, 1823-1841. N.P.
Cal	Indian Law Reports, Calcutta Series, from 1876—
Cald	Caldecott's Settlement Cases
Camp	Campbell's Reports, 1808-1816, N.P.
Car & M	Carrington and Marshman, 1840-1842. N.P.

CB	✍	Common Bench Reports, 1845-1856, C.P.
CCR	✍	Current Criminal Reports
Chand LR	✍	Chandigarh Law Reports
CHCR & O	✍	Calcutta High Court Criminal Rules and Orders, 1950
Cl & F	✍	Clark and Finnelly, 1831-1846. N.P.
CLJ	✍	Calcutta Law Journal, from 1905
CLR	✍	Calcutta Law Reports, from 1878-1883
Coke	✍	Coke's Reports, 1752-1816
Collect	✍	Collet's Comment on the Indian Penal Code
Comp Cas	✍	Company Cases
Cox	✍	Cox's Criminal Cases, from 1843
CPD	✍	Common Pleas Division,. Law Reports, 1875-1890
CPLR	✍	Central Provinces Law Reports, from 1905-1882
C & J	✍	Compton and Jervis, 1830-1832
Cr App R	✍	Criminal Appeal Reports, from 1908
Cr AR (SC)	✍	Criminal Appeals Reporter (Supreme Court)
Cr C	✍	Criminal Cases, 1929-1936
Cr LR (Mah)	✍	Criminal Law Reporter (Maharashtra)
Cr LR (Raj)	✍	Criminal Law Reporter (Rajasthan)
Cr LR (SC & MP)	✍	Criminal Law Reporter (S.C. & M.P.)
Cr LT	✍	Criminal Law Times
Cr PC	✍	Criminal Procedure Code
Cr R	✍	Criminal Rulings of the Bomaby High Courts, 1862-1910
Carnch	✍	Cranch's Reports, Supreme Court of the United States, 1800-1815
Cri LJ	✍	Criminal Law Journal of India, from 1904
Crimes	✍	Crimes
Cro Car	✍	Croke's Reports in the reign of Charles I
Cro Eliz	✍	Crcke's Reports in the reign of Ellizabeth
Cur LJ	✍	Current Law Journal
Cut CR (Cr)	✍	Cuttack Law Reports (Criminal)
Cut LT	✍	Cuttack Law Times
Cut WR	✍	Cuttack Weekly Reporter

Cutt	✍	Indian Law Reports, Cuttack Series, from 1949
CWN	✍	Calcutta Wekkly Notes, from 1896—
D & B	✍	Dearsley and Bell, 1856-1858 Crown Cases
D & P	✍	Dearsley and Pearces';s Crown Cases
Day EC	✍	Day's Election Cases
Dears	✍	Dearsley's Crown Cases, 1852-1856
Den Cr C	✍	Denison's Crown Cases, 1844
Doug	✍	Douglas Reports, 1778-1858, K.B.
E & B	✍	Ellis and Blackburn, 1853-1858, Q.B.
East	✍	East Reports, 1801-1812, KB
East PC	✍	East's Pleas of the Crown
Esp	✍	Espinasee's Reports, 1793-1797, N.P.
Exch	✍	Law Reports, Exchequer Division, 1875-1890
F & F	✍	Foster and Finlayson, 1858-1867, N.P.
FB	✍	Full Bench
FCR	✍	Federal Court Reports, from 1939-1950
First Report	✍	Law Commissioner's First Report
Foster	✍	Foster's Crown Law
Gaz of Ind	✍	The Gazette of India
GHCR	✍	Gujarat Current Decisions
GHCR	✍	Gujarat High Court Reporter, from 1960—
GLD	✍	Gujarat Law Decisions
GLR	✍	Gujarat Law Reporter, from 1960—
H & C	✍	Hurlstone and Coltmen, 1896-1863, Exch.
Hagg.	✍	Haggard's Reports
Hale PC	✍	Hale's Pleas of the Crown
Hare	✍	Hare's Reports, 1841-1853
Hawk PC	✍	Hawking's Pleas of the Crown
Hay	✍	Hay's Reports, 1862-1863, Calcutta
HL	✍	House of Lords
HLR	✍	Hindu Law Reporter
Hob	✍	Hobbart's Reports
Hyd	✍	Indian Law Reports, Hyderbad Series, from 1951–1956

Hyde ✍ Hyde's Reports, 1863-1864, Calcutta
IA ✍ Indian Appeals, from 1873-1950
Ibid ✍ Same as above
IIAO ✍ Indian Independence Adaptation Order, 1947
Ilbert ✍ Ilbert's Government of India
Ind Jur NS ✍ Indian Jurist, New Series, 1865-1867, Calcutta
Ind Jur OS ✍ Indian Jurist. Old Series, 1862, Calcutta
Infra ✍ Below
IR ✍ Irish Reports, from 1901—
Jab LJ ✍ Jabalpur Law Journal
Jeremy Bentham ✍ Bentham's Works, Vols. I & II
JP ✍ Justice of the Peace, from 1836—
JT ✍ Judgments Today
Kar ✍ Indian Law Reports, Karchi Series, from 1940-1947
Kash LJ ✍ Kashmir Law Joural
KB ✍ Law Report's King's Bench, from 1901—
Keb ✍ Kebble's Reports, 1661-1679, K.B.
Kel ✍ Sir John Kelying's Reports, 1673-1706, K.B.
Kerala ✍ Indian Law Report's, Kerala Series, 1956—
KLJ ✍ Karnataka Law Jurnal
KLR ✍ Kerala Law Reporter
KLT ✍ Kerala Law Times
L & C ✍ Leigh and Cage's Crown Cases, 1861-1865
Lah ✍ Indian Law Reports, Lahore Series, from 1920-1947
Lah ✍ Pakistan Law Reports. Lahore Series, from 1948—
LBR ✍ Lower Burma Rulings, 1901-1922
Ld. Raym ✍ Lord Raymond's Reports, 1964-1734, K.B. & C.P.
Leach ✍ Leach's Crown Cases, 1730-1738
Lee Warner ✍ Lee Warner's Native State of India
Lewin ✍ Lewin Crown Cases, 1882-1883
LHCR & O ✍ Lahore High Court Rules and Orders, 1929, 1942
Livingstone ✍ livingstone's System of Penal Code for Louisiana
LJ CP ✍ Law Journal, common Pleas, from 1822—

LJ Ex	✍	Law Journal, Exchequer
LJ Mat	✍	Law Journal Matrimonial Cases
LJ MC	✍	Law Journal Magistrate's Cases
LJ PM & A	✍	Law Journal Probate, Matrimonial and Admiralty
LJ QB	✍	Law Journal Queen's Bench
LLJ	✍	Lahore Law Journal, 1920-1930
Lof	✍	Lofft's Reports, 1772-1774, K.B.
LR C Cr	✍	Law Reports Crown Cases Reserved
LR CP	✍	Lahore Reports Common Pleas, 1866-1875
LR Ex	✍	Law Reports Exchequer
LR HL	✍	Law Reports House of Lords
LR IA	✍	Law Reports Indian Appeals
LR P	✍	Law Reports Probate
LR QB	✍	Law Reports Queen's Bench
LT	✍	Law Times, 1845-1858
LTNS	✍	Law Times, New Series, from 1859
LUCK	✍	Indian Law Reports, Lucknow Series, from 1926-1945
LW	✍	Law Weekly, Madras, from 1914—
M & M	✍	Morgan and Macpherson's Indian Penal Code
M & Mal	✍	Moody and Mlkin's Reports, 1827-1830
M & R	✍	Moody and Robinson, 1831-1844, N.P.
M & Sel	✍	Maule and Selwyn, 1813-1817, K.B.
M & W	✍	Meeson and Welby, 1836-1847, Exch
M Dig	✍	Morley's Digest, Calcutta
Mad	✍	Indian Law Reports, Madras Series, from 1876—
Mad Jur	✍	Madras Jurist
Mah LJ	✍	Maharashtra Law Journal, 1963—
Marsh	✍	Marshall, 1813-1816, C.P.
Marsh	✍	Marshall, 1862-1863, Calcutta
Maxwell	✍	Maxwell on Interpretation of Statutes, 9th Edn., 1946
Mayne	✍	Mayne's Criminal Law of India
MB	✍	Indian Law Reports, Madhya Bharat Series, from 1952-1956
MBLR	✍	Madhya Bharat Law Reporter

MHC	✍	Madras High Court Reports, 1862-1875
MHCRP	✍	Madras High Court Criminal Rules of Practice and Orders, 1931
MIA	✍	Moore's Indian Appeals, 1836-1873, P.C.
MLJ	✍	Madras Law Journal Reports, from 1891—
Mod	✍	Modern Reports, 1669-1732, K.B.
Mood Cr C	✍	Moody's Crown Cases Reserved 1824-1844
MP	✍	Indian Law Reports, Madhya Pradesh Series, 1956—
MPHCR & O	✍	Madhya Pradesh High Court Rules & Orders (Crl), 1948
MPLJ	✍	Madhya Pradesh Law Journal
MPLT	✍	Madhya Pradesh law Times
MWN	✍	Madras Weekly Notes, from 1910—
Mys	✍	Indian Law Reports, Mysore Series, from 1951—
Mys LJ	✍	Mysore Law Journal
NAC	✍	Nizamut Adawlat Cases, Bengal
Nag	✍	Indian Law Reports, Nagpur Series, from 1937-1958
NAR	✍	Nizamut Adawlat Reports, Bengal
NLJ	✍	Nagpur Law Journal, from 1918-1962
NLR	✍	Nagpur Law Reports, 1906-1936
Note	✍	Notes appended to the Draft Penal Code, 1836
NWP	✍	N.W.P. High Court Reports, 1862-1875
OC	✍	Oudh Cases, 1898-1926
OD	✍	Oudh Decisions
OM & H	✍	O'Nalley & Hardcasle's Election Cases
Orissa LR	✍	Orissa Law Reports
OSD	✍	Oudh Select Cases
OWN	✍	Oudh Weekly Notes, from 1924—
Palm	✍	Palmer's Reports, 1619-1669, K.B.
Parl Rep	✍	Parliamentary Reports
Pat	✍	Indian Law Reports, Patna Series, from 1922—
Paterson	✍	Paterson on the Liberty of the Subject
Patiala	✍	Indian Law Reports, Patiala Series, from 1952-1956
PC	✍	Privy Council

PCR	✍	Punjab chief Court rules and Orders, 1911
PD	✍	Probate division
Perry OC	✍	Perry's Oriental Cases, 1843-1845
Philklimore	✍	Phillimore on the International Law
Phillips	✍	Phillps' Comparative Criminal Jurispudence
PJLB	✍	Printed Judgments of Lower Burma, 1893-1900
PLC	✍	Proceedings of the Legislative Council of the Governor-General of India
PLJ	✍	Patna Law Journal, 1916-1921
PLJR	✍	Patna Law Journal Reports
PLT	✍	Patna Law Times, from 1920—
PR	✍	Punjab Record, 1862-1919
PLR	✍	Punjab Law Reporter, from 1900—
Prince	✍	Prince Reports, 1814-1824, Exch.
Pun	✍	Indian Law Reports, Punjab Series, from 1947—
PWN	✍	Patna Weekly Notes, from 1936—
QB	✍	Law Reports, Queen's Bench, from 1891—
QBD	✍	Queen's Bench Division, Law Reports, 1875-1980
Raj	✍	Indian Law Reports, Rajasthan Series, from 1951—-
Raj Cr C	✍	Rajasthan Criminal Cases
Ran	✍	Indian Law Reports, Rangoon Series, 1923-1936
Ran	✍	Rangoon Law Reports, from 1937—
Rep 1st	✍	first Report on the Penal Code by the Indian Law Commissioners, 1846
Rep 2nd	✍	Second Report on the Penal Code by the Indian Law Commissioners, 1847
RJPN	✍	Revenue, Judicial and Political Journal, Calcutta
RLR	✍	Rajasthan Law Reporter
RLR	✍	Rajdhani Law Reporter
RLW	✍	Rahasthan Law Weekly, from 1950—
Rob	✍	Robert's Reports, 1844-1853
Roscoe	✍	Roscoe's Criminal Evidence (14th Edn. 1921)
Russ & Ry	✍	Rusell and Ryan's Crown Cases, 1799-1823

Salk	✍	Salked's Reports, 1669-1712
Sau LR	✍	Saurashtra Law Reports, from 1948--
SC Cr R	✍	Supreme Court Criminal Reports
SCA	✍	Supreme Court Appeals
SCC	✍	Supreme Court Cases
SCC (Cri)	✍	Supreme Court Cases (Criminal)
SCC (Supp.)	✍	Supreme Court Cases (Supplement)
SCD	✍	Supreme Court Decisions
SCJ	✍	Supreme Court Journal, from 1951—
SCR	✍	Supreme Court Reports, from 1950—
SCWR	✍	Supreme Court Weekly Reports
SDSSC	✍	Selected Decisions of Sind Sadar Court, 1866-1906
Second Report	✍	Law Commissioner's Second Report
Sin LR	✍	Sind Law Reports
SJLB	✍	Select Judgments, Lower Burma 1872-1892
SLC	✍	Simla Law Cases
SLR	✍	Sind Law Reporter, from 1907—
St Tr	✍	State Trials
Step Com	✍	Stephen's Commentaries on the Laws of England
Stephen	✍	Stephen's History of the Criminal Law of England
Stephen Dig Cr	✍	Stephen's Digest of Criminal Law
Stockes	✍	Stocke's Anglo-Indian Codes
Str	✍	Strange's Reports, 1795, K.B.
Sty	✍	Style's Reports, 1645-1646, K.B.
Supreme	✍	Supreme To-day
Sup	✍	Supra, above
Sw & Tr	✍	Swabey and Tristram, 1858-1865
Taunt	✍	Taunton's Reports, 1807-1819, C.P.
TC	✍	Indian Law Reports, Travancore-Cochin Series, from 1951-1955
TLR	✍	Times Law Reports, from 1885—
TR	✍	Dunford and East's Term Reports, 1785-1800, K.B.
Tupper	✍	Tupper's Our Indian Protectorate

Ubi Sup	✍	See above
UBR	✍	Upper Burma Rulings, 1892-1922
UJ (SC)	✍	Unreported Judgements (Supreme Court)
Unrep Cr C	✍	Unreported Criminal Cases of the High Court of Bombay 1862-1898
Vent	✍	Ventries Reports, 1688-1691, K.B. & C.P.
Ves	✍	Vessey's Reports, 1789-1817
Weir	✍	Weir's Law of Offences and Criminal Law (4th Edition. 1905)
Wharton	✍	Wharton's Law Lexicon, 14th Edn.
Wilson	✍	Wilson's Reports. 1805-1817, K.B. & C.P.
WLN	✍	Weekly Law Notes
WR (Eng)	✍	Weekly Reporter (Eng.) 1882-1906
WR	✍	Sutherland's Weeky Reporter, 1862-1875, Calcutta
WR Cr L	✍	Sutherland's Weekly Reporter, Criminal Letters
Wyin Cr	✍	Wyman's Revenue and Criminal Rulings

* * *

THE INDIAN PENAL CODE

Volume II

Contents

Preface v
Publishers Note to the Elevnth Edition.. vii
Publishers Note to the Tenth Edition ix
Publishers Note to the Ninth Edition xi
Publishers Note to the Eight Edition.. xiii
List of Abbreviations xv
Contents xxv
Table of Cases.. lxxxi

* * * * *

Sec. 302. Punishment for murder. 1457

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1460
2. Trial 1460
3. Commits murder.. 1462
4. Constitutional validity 1466
5. Principle of awarding punishment 1466
6. Age 1468
7. Circumstantial evidence 1470
8. Dead body not discovered corpus delicti 1480
9. Co-accused's sentence reduced 1480
10. Different intention.. 1482
11. Common Intention 1482
12. Dacoity and murder 1484
13. Drunkenness 1484
14. Duty of court, when guilt is proved.. 1485
15. Interference with sentence.. 1485
16. Interference by Supreme Court.. 1487
17. Excitement 1487
18. Grace and clemency 1488
19. Heat of passion 1488

20. Injuries sustained by the accused 1489
21. Ignorance 1489
22. Lapse of time 1489
23. Insanity 1490
24. Joint offence 1490
25. Motive 1491
26. Plea of Weak Motive 1494
27. Mistaken impression 1494
28. Obedience to illegal order 1494
29. Part played by the accused 1494
30. Party fight 1495
31. Murder or Free flight 1495
32. Premeditation 1495
33. Provocation 1496
34. Riot 1498
35. State of mind 1498
36. Improvement in prosecution version 1498
37. Defective Investigation—Effect 1499
38. Deliberate Change of version—Effect 1500
39. Jealousy 1500
40. Weapon used 1500
41. Single blow 1502
42. Injury on victim by reverse side of axe 1502
43. Number of knife blow injuries 1502
44. Non-explanation of injuries 1503
45. Intention 1505
46. Instigation 1510
47. Murder committed by several persons who inflicted injury not known 1511
48. While sentence under Section 307 still in force 1511
49. Custom 1512
50. Killing under officer's order 1512
51. Influence of father and elder brother 1512
52. Unsound mind 1512
53. Superstition 1512
54. Perverted sense of family honour 1512
55. Sex 1512
56. Guilt of Rape and Murder 1513
57. Accused having small child 1515
58. Accused killing ailing wife as he could not provide for operation 1515
59. Deaf and mute accused 1515
60. Cases 1515
61. Offence proved by confessions 1521
62. Argument of two lives for one 1523
63. Power of appellate Court 1523

64. High Court's power to enhance sentence 1524
65. Relative eye witness 1524
66. Interested witness 1526
67. Child witness 1527
68. Injured witness 1528
69. Approver's evidence 1530
70. Chance-witness 1531
71. Accused belonging to a particular community 1532
72. Other extenuating circumstances 1533
73. Kidnapping and murder 1533
74. Murder committed in consequence of abduction 1533
75. Section 302 and Section 149 1533
76. Imposition of fine in addition to death 1537
77. Difference of opinion between Judges 1538
78. Deterrent sentence 1538
79. Conviction under different sections 1540
80. Acquittal 1546
81. Duty of Judge not passing sentence of death 1554
82. Evidence and proof 1558
83. Inconsistency between ocular and medical evidence 1585
84. Inconsistent/Doubtful/Insufficient Evidence 1591
85. Last seen together 1597
86. Benefit of doubt 1601
87. Confession 1604
88. Extra Judicial Confession 1607
89. Private defence 1607
90. Murder in private defence 1610
91. Presumption 1611
92. Mode of leading evidence 1612
93. Murder extenuating circumstances 1612
94. Motive, adequacy of 1612
95. Illicit Relations 1615
96. Joint offence 1615
97. Sections 302, 34, 149 and 147 1617
98. Sections 302 and 304 1618
99. Sections 302 and 303 1621
100. Murder and unlawful assembly 1621
101. Sections 302 and 34 1623
102. Sections 302 and 325 1625
103. Several accused 1625
104. Abettor 1626
105. Murder or culpable homicide 1626
106. Homicide or suicide 1628
107. Determination as to murder or suicide 1629

108. Procedure 1630
109. Right of private person to insist upon enquiry 1630
110. Charge 1630
111. Bail 1631
112. Dying declaration 1631
113. Capital Punishment—Rarest of Rare cases 1641
114. Punishment in cases where self defence is borne out 1653
115. Term "imprisonment" 1657
116. Eye-witness—Testimony of 1657
117. Delay in examination of 1665
118. Testimony of eye-witness in darkness 1665
119. Interested witness 1666
120. Evidence of Solitary Eye witness 1666
121. Solitary eye-witness 1667
122. End of Socitary Witness 1667
123. Conviction 1668
124. Conviction held not sustainable 1671
125. Medical evidence 1676
126. Death Sentence 1677
127. Appreciation of Evidence 1684
128. Awarding of Sentence—Interpetation of Judgement 1684
129. Death Sentence reduced to life Imprisonment 1685
130. Injuries 1693
131. Conduct of witness 1693
132. Conversion of offence—Permissibility 1694
133. Time of death—Determination. 1694
134. Intention to cause death—Determination. 1694

* * * * *

Sec. 303. Punishment for murder by life-convict.................... 1695

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1695
2. Scope of 1695
3. Applicability 1695
4. Witness 1695
5. Procedure 1695
6. Charge 1695

* * * * *

Sec. 304. Punishment for culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 1696

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1697
2. Scope 1697
3. Onus 1706
4. Sections 304 and 323 1707
5. Sections 304 and 324 1708

6. Sections 304 and 325 1709
7. Sections 304, Part I and 34 1709
8. Section 304 (2)—Applicability of 1711
9. Section 304 Part II and Section 34 1716
10. Cases 1723
11. Abetment of suicide 1741
12. Section 304, Second part & Section 299 1741
13. Sections 304 and 300 1741
14. Sections 304 and 326 1744
15. Jury 1745
16. Sentence 1745
17. Evidence and proof/Eye-witness 1754
18. Power of High Court 1760
19. Interference by Supreme Court 1760
20. Procedure 1760
21. Retrial 1761
22. Charge 1761
23. Intention 1761
24. Conviction 1763
25. Acquittal 1767
26. Motive 1767
27. Dying declaration 1768
28. Knowledge 1769
29. Benefit of doubt 1769
30. Confession 1770
    (a) Confession—Various discrepancies. 1770
31. Sudden quarrel 1771
32. Severe Beating 1773
33. Culpable Homicide 1773
34. Circumstantial Evidence 1777
35. Private defence 1779
36. Injuries. 1782
37. Bail 1782
38. Benefit of probation 1783
39. Single blow or injury. 1783
40. Murder or Culpable Homicide—Proof. 1783
41. Non examination of minor injury on accused—Effect of. 1785
42. Appropriate sentence—Factors to be taken into consideration. 1786
43. Unlawful Assembly 1786
44. Administration of drug—Error in stating offence 1787

* * * * *

Sec. 304-A. Causing death by negligence. 1787

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1788

2. Mens rea. 1788
3. Scope........ 1788
4. Culpable rashness, etc. 1792
5. Rash or negligent driving........ 1795
6. Causing death by negligence driving. 1800
7. Inadequate sentence 1801
8. Duty of motor car driver 1802
9. Negligence 1803
10. Allegation of gross negligence 1808
11. Criminal Negligence 1809
12. Criminal proceedings—Quashing of 1811
13. Criminal negligence of a medical practitioner 1812
14. Guidelines for Medical practitioners 1818
15. Death must be causa causans of rash or negligent act 1819
16. Conviction 1819
17. Sentence........ 1820
18. Procedure 1824
19. Acquittal........ 1824
20. Charge 1824
21. Benefit of probation........ 1825
22. Witnesses/Evidence and proof. 1826
23. Intention and Knowledge......... 1828
24. Professional negligence........ 1829
25. Road traffic fatalities. 1829
26. Sections 279 and 304A. 1829
27. Overtaking prohibited in certain cases......... 1831
28. Deceased herself a medical student 1832
29. Separate sentence under Sec. 279. 1832
30. Scene of offence Panchanama is not substantive evidence 1833

* * * * *

Sec. 304-B. Dowry death. 1834

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope........ 1835
2. Section 304B does not conceive agreement 1838
3. Applicability of 1839
4. Offence 1841
5. Dowry death 1843
    (a) What amounts to?........ 1843
    (b) 'Dowry'—Words and Phrases......... 1845
    (c) Ingredients of offence. 1845
6. Demand of dowry in respect of invalid marriage 1845
7. Presumption 1847
8. Non-Examination of doctor conducting post-mortem........ 1849
9. "Soon before death"—Interpretation........ 1849

10. Culpable Homicide 1855
11. Normal Circumstances 1855
12. Evidence and Proof 1855
13. Circumstantial evidence 1859
14. Burden of Proof 1859
15. Procedure 1860
16. Dying Declaration 1860
17. Bail 1861
18. Conviction 1861
19. Acquittal. 1866
20. Sentence 1873
21. Cruelty 1873
22. Framing of Charge 1876
23. Death of wife in her matrimonial home. 1876
24. Symbolic marriage—Scope. 1876
25. Unnatural death. 1877
26. FIR 1877
27. Murder or suicide—Determination of—Post mortem report. 1877
28. Cruelty and dowry death—Distinction between 1878
29. Investigation—Slip-shod investigation 1879
30. Dowry death or Abetment of suicide 1880

* * * * *

Sec. 305. Abetment of suicide of child or insane person 1880

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1880
2. Scope 1881
3. Procedure 1881
4. Charge 1881

* * * * *

Sec. 306. Abetment of suicide. 1881

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 1882
2. Sentence 1887
3. Procedure 1888
4. Absence of charge 1888
5. Charge 1889
6. Abetment of suicide 1889
7. Husband Committing suicide: Instigation by wife 1893
8. Conviction 1894
9. Evidence 1897
10. Wife subjected to harassment in connection with demand to give consent for husbands' second marriage—Abetment of suicide 1900
11. Acquittal 1901
12. Summoning order—Validity of 1907

13. Bail 1907
14. Suicide by newly married women 1907
15. Suicide by Wife 1907
16. Bride burning 1908
17. Cruelty and abetment of suicide 1909
18. Essential to constitute offence. 1912
19. Mental imbalance 1912
20. Mental torture 1912
21. "Abetment"—Meaning of 1914
22. Dowry Demand 1914
23. Difference between Sec. 306 and 498-A 1915
24. Intention and mens rea for offence 1916
25. Conversion of offence under Sec. 302 to Sec. 306—Permissibility 1916
26. Mention of names of persons responsible in suicide note 1917
27. Abetment of unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide 1917

* * * * *

Sec. 307. Attempt to murder. 1917

Attempt by wife convicts. 1917

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment. 1919
2. Attempt to murder. 1919
   (a) Attempt to murder—Ingredients. 1928
3. Scope 1928
4. Intention or knowledge. 1935
5. Under such circumstances. 1938
6. Evidence and proof 1939
7. Sections 307 and 34. 1943
8. Sections 307 and 148 1945
9. Sections 307 and 324 1947
10. Sections 307 and 325, IPC. 1950
11. Sections 307 and 149 1950
12. Sections 307 and 326 1952
13. Sections 307 and 511 1955
14. Sentence 1955
15. Procedure 1960
16. Charge 1960
17. Probation. 1961
18. Conviction. 1961
19. Conviction and sentence 1963
20. Acquittal. 1967
21. FIR. 1972
22. Bail 1972
23. Absence of proof of motive 1972
24. Mentally deranged accused 1972

25. Motive. 1973
26. Plea of alibi 1973
27. Cruelty and attempt to murder. 1973
28. Injuries. 1973
29. Chances of false implication 1974
30. Mischief of fire and causing injury 1975

* * * * *

Sec. 308. Attempt to commit culpable homicide. 1975

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope. 1976
2. Sentence 1976
3. Procedure 1977
4. Charge 1977
5. Conviction 1977
6. Acquittal 1978
7. Compromise 1978
8. Intention 1978

* * * * *

Sec. 309. Attempt to commit suicide. 1979

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1979
2. Principle 1979
3. Scope 1980
4. What is suicide ? Right to die 1981
5. Proof. 1982
6. Conviction. 1982
7. Delay in lodging FIR 1982
8. Abetment of unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide 1983
9. Procedure 1983
10. Charge 1983

* * * * *

Sec. 310. Thug. 1983

* * * * *

Sec. 311. Punishment 1984

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1984
2. Procedure 1984
3. Charge 1984

* * * * *

Sec. 312. Causing miscarriage. 1984

SYNOPSIS

1. Miscarriage 1985
2. If the woman be quick with child 1986

3. Procedure 1986
4. Charge 1986
5. Sentence 1986
6. The Medical Termination of Pregnancy Act, 1971 1986
   (1) Short title, extent and commencement 1986
   (2) Definitions 1987
   (3) When pregnanices may be terminated by registered medical practitioners 1987
   (4) Place where pregnancy may be terminated 1988
   (5) Sections 3 and 4 when not to apply 1988
   (6) Power to make rules 1988
   (7) Power to make regulations 1989
   (8) Protection of action taken in good faith 1989

* * * * *

Sec. 313. Causing miscarriage without woman's consent. 1989

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1989
2. Scope 1989
3. Procedure 1990
4. Charge 1990
5. Jurisdiction 1990
6. Cognizance of offence 1990

* * * * *

Sec. 314. Death caused by act done with intent to cause miscarriage. 1990 if act done without woman's consent. 1990

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 1991
2. Scope and applicability 1991
3. Procedure 1992
4. Charge 1992
5. Evidence 1992

* * * * *

Sec. 315. Act done with intent to prevent child being born alive or to cause it to die after birth. 1992

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 1993
2. Death of unborn child 1993
3. Procedure 1993
4. Charge 1993

* * * * *

Sec. 316. Causing death of quick unborn child by act amounting to culpable homicide. 1994

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 1994

2. Scope..1994
3. Procedure..1995
4. Charge..1995

* * * * *

Sec. 317. Exposure and abandonment of child under twelve years, by parent or person having care of it. 1995

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes..1995
2. Being the father or mother..1997
3. Shall expose or leave, etc..1997
4. Procedure..1998
5. Charge..1998

* * * * *

Sec. 318. Concealment of birth by secret disposal of dead body. 1998

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..1998
2. Conceals or endeavours to conceal birth, etc..1999
3. Evidence..1999
4. Section 318 and Section 34..2000
5. Procedure..2000
6. Charge..2000

* * * * *

Sec. 319. Hurt. 2000

* * * * *

Sec. 320. Grievous hurt. 2001

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..2002
2. Hurt or grievous hurt..2002
3. Emasculation..2003
4. Sixthly..2003
5. Seventhly..2003
6. Eighthly..2004
7. Evidence..2004
8. Acquittal..2004
9. Conviction..2004
10. Sentence..2004
11. Attempt to murder..2005

* * * * *

Sec. 321. Voluntarily causing hurt. 2005

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..2005
2. Intention..2005
3. Conviction..2005

* * * * *

Sec. 322. Voluntarily causing grievous hurt. 2006

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......... 2006
2. Cases.......... 2007

* * * * *

Sec. 323. Punishment for voluntarily causing hurt. 2007

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......... 2008
2. Sections 323, 302, 320 and 326. 2014
3. Sections 323 and 342, IPC 2014
4. Evidence and proof. 2016
5. Headmaster. 2018
6. Assault by Master/Supervisor of School. 2018
7. Right of private defence 2018
8. Application of the section. 2019
9. Common object and intention.......... 2019
10. Procedure 2023
11. Charge.......... 2023
12. Sentence. 2024
13. Acquittal. 2026
14. Conviction 2028
15. Conviction for substantive offence 2028
16. Self-defence 2029
17. Probation 2029
18. Jurisdiction 2029
19. Compromise 2029
20. Non–Explanation of injuries 2029
21. Voluntary causing heart 2030
22. Principles of unlawful assembly—Applicability. 2031
23. Outraging modesty of woman and hurt.......... 2032
24. Death of complainant. 2033
25. FIR 2034
26. Cognizance of offences 2035

* * * * *

Sec. 324. Voluntarily causing hurt by dangerous weapons or means. 2035

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......... 2036
2. An instrument, etc. 2036
3. Section 334.......... 2036
4. Object.......... 2036
5. Common object 2037
6. Common intention 2038
7. Instrument 2038

8. Procedure 2038
9. Acquittal 2038
10. Conviction 2041
11. Sentence 2044
12. Probation 2046
13. Evidence and Proof 2046
14. Jurisdiction 2048
15. Complaint 2048
16. Voluntarily causing hurt 2048
17. Free fight. 2049
18. Private defence. 2049
19. Doubts as to weapon of offence. 2049
20. Determination of Co-accused—Similarity of cases 2050
21. FIR 2050
22. Unlawful assembly 2051

* * * * *

Sec. 325. Punishment for voluntarily causing grievous hurt.... 2051

SYNOPSIS

1. Number of accused 2052
2. Voluntarily causes grievous hurt. 2053
3. Scope 2054
4. Sections 325 and 34—Common intention. 2058
5. Sections 325, 323. 2060
6. Evidence and Proof 2060
7. Sentence 2061
8. Procedure 2063
9. Abetment 2064
10. Charge 2064
11. Probation. 2064
12. Grievous hurt. 2065
13. Causing Grievous Hurt 2065
14. Acquittal. 2066
15. Private defence. 2067
16. Any Instrument 2068
17. Conviction 2068
18. Culpable homicide. 2068
19. Death of complainant. 2068
20. Non examination of minor injury on accused. 2068
21. De facto complainant 2068

* * * * *

Sec. 326. Voluntarily causing hurt by dangerous weapons or means. 2069

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment. 2070
2. Scope 2070

3. Dangerous weapon....2076
4. Procedure. 2076
5. Charge. 2076
6. Sentence. 2076
7. Evidence and Proof. 2082
8. Acquittal. 2083
9. Probation. 2084
10. Wrongful confinement. 2084
11. Conviction. 2085
12. Murderous assault. 2087
13. Applicability....2088
14. Compromise. 2088
15. Voluntary causing hurt. 2089
16. Free fight. 2089
17. Volunteering causing grievous hurt. 2089
18. Sex crime. 2090
19. Principles of Unlawful assembly—Applicability....2090
20. Offence of Attempt to murder. 2091
21. De facto complainant....2092

* * * * *

Sec. 327. Voluntarily causing hurt to extort property, or to constrain to an illegal act. 2092

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2093
2. Person interested in the sufferer. 2093
3. Procedure 2093
4. Charge. 2093
5. Separate conviction. 2093
6. Offence. 2093
7. Plea of false implication not tenable. 2093

* * * * *

Sec. 328. Causing hurt by means of poison, etc., with intent to commit an offence. 2094

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2094
2. Hurt 2095
3. Procedure 2096
4. Charge....2096
5. Offence 2096
6. Administration of drug—Error in stating offence 2096

* * * * *

Sec. 329. Voluntarily causing grievous hurt to extort property or to constrain to an illegal act. 2097

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2097
2. Scope....2097
3. Non-compliance of Sections 239 and 240. 2098
4. Procedure 2098
5. Charge....2098

* * * * *

Sec. 330. Voluntarily causing hurt to extort confession, or to compel restoration of property. 2098

SYNOPSIS

1. Elements 2099
2. Cases....2099
3. Sanction 2100
4. Sentence....2100
5. Framing of charges 2100
6. Procedure 2101
7. Charge....2101

* * * * *

Sec. 331. Voluntarily causes grievous hurt to export confession, or to compel restoration of property. 2101

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2101
2. Charge....2101

* * * * *

Sec. 332. Voluntarily causing hurt to deter public servant from his duty. 2102

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2102
2. Procedure 2105
3. Charge....2106
4. Sentence....2106

* * * * *

Sec. 333. Voluntarily causing grievous hurt to deter public servant from his duty. 2106

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2106
2. Sentence....2107
3. Procedure 2108
4. Charge....2108
5. Conviction 2108
6. Probation....2108

* * * * *

Sec. 334. Voluntarily causing hurt on provocation. 2108

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2109
2. Procedure....2109
3. Charge....2109

* * * * *

Sec. 335. Voluntarily causing grievous hurt on provocation.....2109

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment....2110
2. Notes....2110
3. Compoundable....2110
4. Evidence of eye-witnesses of accident—Credibility....2110
5. Overtaking prohibited in certain cases....2111
6. Procedure....2113
7. Charge....2113

* * * * *

Sec. 336. Act endangering life or personal safety of others.....2113

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2113
2. Rashly....2114
3. Procedure....2115
4. Charge....2115

* * * * *

Sec. 337. Causing hurt by act endangering life or personal safety of others.....2115

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2115
2. Procedure....2116
3. Charge....2116
4. Acquittal....2117
5. Local witnesses..../2117
6. Sentence....2117

* * * * *

Sec. 338. Causing grievous hurt by act endangering life or personal safety of others.....2118

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes....2118
2. Procedure....2120
3. Charge....2120
4. Identification....2120

* * * * *

Sec. 339. Wrongful restraint.....2121

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2121
2. Exception....2124

3. Liability of Director of Company 2124

* * * * *

Sec. 340. Wrongful confinement. 2124

SYNOPSIS

1. What constitutes 2125
2. When authority 2125

* * * * *

Sec. 341. Punishment for wrongful restraint. 2125

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2126
2. Essentials of an offence 2127
3. Procedure 2131
4. Charge 2131
5. Separate conviction 2131
6. Punishment 2131
7. Sentence 2131
8. Proof of offence 2132
9. Liability of Director of Company 2132
10. FIR 2133

* * * * *

Sec. 342. Punishment for wrongful confinement. 2134

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2134
2. Procedure 2136
3. Summary trial 2136
4. Sanction 2136
5. Sentence 2136
6. Private defence. 2138
7. Evidence and Proof. 2138
8. Cognizance of offences 2139
9. Charge 2139

* * * * *

Sec. 343. Wrongful confinement for three or more days. 2139

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2139
2. Procedure 2140
3. Charge 2140

* * * * *

Sec. 344. Wrongful confinement for ten or more days. 2140

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2140
2. Sentence 2140
3. Procedure 2140

4. Charge 2140

* * * * *

Sec. 345. Wrongful confinement of person for whose liberation writ has been issued.... 2140

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2141
2. Procedure 2141
3. Charge 2141

* * * * *

Sec. 346. Wrongful confinement in secret. 2141

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2141
2. Procedure 2142
3. Charge 2142

* * * * *

Sec. 347. Wrongful confinement to extort property, or constrain to illegal act. 2142

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2142
2. Procedure 2143
3. Charge 2143

* * * * *

Sec. 348. Wrongful confinement to extort confession, or compel restoration of property. 2143

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2143
2. Procedure 2144
3. Charge 2144
4. Conviction 2144

* * * * *

Sec. 349. Force 2144

SYNOPSIS

1. Raisinga lathi 2145
2. Force 2145

* * * * *

Sec. 350. Criminal force. 2145

SYNOPSIS

1. Intentionally 2146
2. Without his Consent 2146
3. Criminal Force 2147
4. Scope 2147

* * * * *

Sec. 351. Assault. 2147

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.....2148
2. Gesture or preparation.....2149
3. Cases.....2149

* * * * *

Sec. 352. Punishment for assault or criminal force otherwise than on grave provocation. 2149

SYNOPSIS

1. Criminal force.....2150
2. Scope.....2151
3. Procedure.....2152
4. Charge.....2152
5. Sentence.....2152

* * * * *

Sec. 353. Assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty. 2152

SYNOPSIS

1. Assault.....2153
2. Scope.....2153
3. In the execution of his duty.....2157
4. Conviction and Sentence.....2159
5. For punishment.....2159
6. Procedure.....2160
7. Charge.....2160
8. F.I.R. 2160
9. Probation.....2160
10. Hurdle in discharge of duties by police personnel.....2160
11. Identification parade.....2161

* * * * *

Sec. 354. Assault or criminal force to woman with intent to outrage her modesty. 2161

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.....2163
2. Attempt to commit rape.....2165
3. Cases.....2166
4. Evidence and Proof.....2168
5. FIR. 2169
6. Delay in filing complaint.....2170
7. Abduction and outraging modesty. 2170
8. Conviction. 2171
9. Procedure. 2173
10. Charge......2173
11. Sentence.....2173
12. Acquittal.....2174

13. Re-trial. 2174
14. Probation. 2174
15. Intention. 2175
16. Quashing of. 2175
17. Essential Ingredients of offence 2175
18. Rape is most serious offence then outraging modesty....................2176
19. Attempt to rape—Outrage Modesty of Woman 2176

* * * * *

Sec. 355. Assault or criminal force with intent to dishonour person otherwise than on grave provocation. 2177

SYNOPSIS

1. Provocation....................2177
2. Intention....................2177
3. Cases....................2178
4. Sentence....................2178
5. Procedure 2178
6. Charge....................2178

* * * * *

Sec. 356. Assault or criminal force in attempt to commit theft of property carried by a person. 2178

SYNOPSIS

1. Application 2178
2. Procedure 2179
3. Charge....................2179

* * * * *

Sec. 357. Assault or criminal force in attempting wrongfully to confine a person. 2179

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2179
2. Procedure 2179
3. Charge....................2179

* * * * *

Sec. 358. Assault or criminal force on grave provocation. 2179

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2180
2. Procedure 2180
3. Charge....................2180

* * * * *

Sec. 359. Kidnapping. 2180

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2180
2. Notes 2180

* * * * *

Sec. 360. Kidnapping from India. 2181

* * * * *

Sec. 361. Kidnapping from lawful guardianship.................... 2181

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2183
2. State amendment, Manipur....................2183
3. Object....................2183
4. Application 2183
5. Essence of the offence 2183
6. Age 2184
7. Scope....................2185
8. Word "takes or entice" 2187
9. Minor....................2188
10. Unsound mind 2188
11. Consent of minor 2188
12. Keeping out of the lawful guardian 2189
13. Constructive guardianship 2189
14. Lawful 2189
15. Consent 2191
16. Charge....................2191
17. When the offence is completed....................2191
18. Explanation 2191
19. Exception 2193
20. Cases....................2193
21. Abetment of kidnapping 2194
22. Sentence....................2194
23. Procuration of minor girl 2195

* * * * *

Sec. 362. Abduction. 2195

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....................2195
2. Abduction....................2196
3. Proof of abduction by deceitful means 2197

* * * * *

Sec. 363. Punishment for kidnapping. 2197

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2198
2. Scope or object....................2198
3. Lawful guardianship... 2201
4. From India............ 2204
5. Age of the girl....................2204
6. Cases....................2207
7. Procedure 2207

8. Charge 2208
9. Sentence 2208
10. Custody of minor 2209
11. Conviction 2209
12. Evidence 2210
13. Consenting party 2212
14. Motive 2213
15. Acquittal 2214
16. Abetment 2215
17. Kidnapping and abduction 2215
18. Proof of kidnapping 2215
19. Kidnapping & rape 2217
20. Kidnapping for ransom 2217
21. Non-disclosure of name of informer. 2218
22. Circumstantial evidence—Last seen evidence 2218

* * * * *

Sec. 363-A. Kidnapping or maiming a minor for purpose of begging. 2219

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2220
2. Procedure 2220
3. Kidnapping 2220
4. Kidnapping and murder 2220
5. Poof required 2220
6. Charge 2220

* * * * *

Sec. 364. Kidnapping or abducting in order to murder. 2221

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2221
2. Notes 2221
3. Procedure 2223
4. Charge 2223
5. Evidence and proof 2224
6. Acquittal 2226
7. Conviction 2227
8. Abduction 2227

* * * * *

Sec. 364-A. Kidnapping for ransom, etc. 2228

SYNOPSIS

1. Procedure 2228
2. Ingredients. 2228
3. Scope and applicability of section 2229
4. Evidence and proof 2230
5. Sentence 2231

6. Non-disclosure of name of informer. 2232
7. No incriminating evidence. 2232
8. Charge 2232
9. Common Intention 2233

* * * * *

Sec. 365. Kidnapping or abducting with intent secretly and wrongfully to confine person....2233

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2233
2. Sentence 2235
3. Procedure 2235
4. Charge 2235

* * * * *

Sec. 366. Kidnapping, abducting or inducing woman to compel her marriage, etc. 2235

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2236
2. Scope 2236
3. Kidnaps. 2239
4. Ingredients. 2242
5. Seduce 2242
6. Seduction 2243
7. Illicit Intercourse 2243
8. Intent of knowledge. 2244
9. Husband and minor wife. 2245
10. Age of the girl 2245
11. Charge of rape 2247
12. Proof of Outraging Modesty 2247
13. Proof of Abduction 2247
14. Abduction and Rape. 2247
15. Not a continuing offence. 2248
16. Separate offences. 2248
17. Procedure—Duty of Judge to specifically question jury 2248
18. Cases 2248
19. Proof of inducement. 2251
20. Charge under Section 366, against two persons. 2251
21. Sections 363 and 366, charges framed under both. 2252
22. Procedure. 2252
23. Charge 2252
24. Evidence and proof. 2252
25. Approbation of Evidence. 2255
26. Sentence. 2255
27. Probation of offenders Act if to extend. 2256
28. Conviction. 2256

29. Acquittal........2257
30. Consent........2259
31. Custom—No valid defence........2260
32. Kidnapping, rape and offence of business of prostitution........2260
33. FIR........2261

* * * * *

Sec. 366-A. Procuration of minor girl. 2261

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment........2262
2. Scope........2262
3. Onus of proof........2264
4. Evidence and Proof........2264
5. Corroboration........2265
6. Procedure........2265
7. Charge........2265
8. Age........2265
9. Conviction........2266
10. Consent........2266
11. Bail........2267
12. Essential ingredient........2267
13. Kidnapping, rape and offence of business of prostitution........2267
14. Procuration of minor girl........2268

* * * * *

Sec. 366-B. Importation of girl from foreign country........2268

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment........2268
2. Notes........2269
3. Procedure........2269
4. Charge........2269

* * * * *

Sec. 367. Kidnapping or abducting in order to subject person to grievous hurt, slavery, etc. 2269

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope........2269
2. Procedure........2270
3. Charge........2270
4. Motive........2270
5. Evidence and Proof........2270
6. Kidnapping for ransom........2271

* * * * *

Sec. 368. Wrongfully concealing or keeping in confinement, kidnapped or abducted person. 2271

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......2272
2. Kidnapping for ransom.......2273
3. Procedure.......2273
4. Charge.......2273

* * * * *

Sec. 369. Kidnapping or abducting child under ten years with intent to steal from its person. 2273

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes.......2274
2. Separate sentences.......2274
3. Evidence and Proof.......2274
4. Procedure.......2275
5. Charge.......2275

* * * * *

Sec. 370. Buying or disposing of any person as a slave........2275

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......2275
2. Slavery.......2276
3. Evidence.......2276
4. Procedure.......2276
5. Charge.......2276

* * * * *

Sec. 371. Habitual dealing in slaves. 2276

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment.......2277
2. Scope.......2277
3. Procedure.......2277
4. Charge.......2277

* * * * *

Sec. 372. Selling minor for purposes of prostitution, etc........2277

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment.......2278
2. Ingredients of offence.......2278
3. Prostitution.......2279
4. Disposes of.......2280
5. Conviction.......2280
6. Jurisdiction of Court.......2280
7. Procedure.......2280
8. Charge.......2280

* * * * *

Sec. 373. Buying minor for purposes of prostitution, etc........2281

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2281
2. Scope and Object 2281
3. Otherwise obtains possession 2283
4. Explanation 1 2283
5. Procedure 2283
6. Charge 2283

* * * * *

Sec. 374. Unlawful compulsory labour. 2283

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2284
2. Procedure 2284
3. Charge 2284

* * * * *

Sec. 375. Rape 2284

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2285
2. Scope 2286
3. Presumption as to obsence of consent in certain prosecutions for rape .2286
4. Amendment of Section 327. 2287
5. Amendment of the Schedule. 2287
6. Consent. 2288
7. Age of the Prosecutrix. 2291
8. Penetration. 2292
9. Jurisdiction. 2294
10. Attempt. 2294
11. Evidence. 2295
12. Burden of proof. 2300
13. Rape and outraging of modesty of woman 2300
14. Amendment in provisions—Object of 2300
15. Intention to introduce Sexual offences — Scope — Discussed 2301
16. Promise of marriage 2301

* * * * *

Sec. 376. Punishment of rape. 2302

SYNOPSIS

1. Corroboration. 2305
2. Scope 2311
3. Cases 2312
4. Rape on girl of loose morale and easy virtuess. 2317
5. Absence of injuries on back or other part of body of prosecutrix. 2318
6. Girl's age, proof of. 2319
7. Procedure. 2321
8. Triable by Magistrate with Section 30, Cr PC—Powers 2321

9. Sentence. 2321
10. Conviction. 2336
11. Evidence and proof. 2345
12. Duty of Court. 2360
13. Interrogation of victim. 2360
14. Rape and Murder — Evidence. 2360
15. Evidence of deaf and dumb or mentally retarded prosecutrix. 2364
16. Proof of Rape. 2364
17. Statement of Prosecutrix. 2365
    (a) Proof of Rape and Murder. 2365
    (b) Circumstantial Evidence. 2367
    (c) Proof of — Gang Rape. 2372
18. Plea of alibi. 2375
19. Probation. 2376
20. Acquittal. 2376
21. Benefit of doubt. 2381
22. Defence injuries. 2383
23. Penetration. 2384
24. Absence of dead or mobile spermatazoa in vaginal smears and slide. ...2385
25. FIR. 2385
26. Consent 2389
27. Testimony of Prosecutrix. 2398
28. Compensation. 2402
29. Attempt to rape 2402
30. Gang rape 2406
31. Rape of married woman. 2410
32. Presumption. 2411
33. Abetment. 2411
34. Sexual Assault. 2411
35. Charge. 2411
36. Medical Evidence. 2412
37. Application for Bail. 2413
38. Conspiracy of wife of accused. 2413
39. Kidnapping, rape and offence of business of prostitution. 2413
40. Rape and unnatural offence. 2414
41. Rape and Unnatural intercourse—Intercourse is necessary ingredient in both offences. 2414
42. Delay. 2415
43. Evidence of prosecutrix—Evidentory value. 2416
44. False implication due to enmity. 2419
45. Extra-judicial confession. 2419
46. Rape and outraging of modesty of woman 2420
47. Abduction and rape 2420
48. Amendment in provisions—Object of 2421

49. Intention to introduce Sexual offences — Scope — Discussed..............2422
50. Rape—Meaning of 2422
51. Adequate and special reasons for Imposition of less than prescribed minimum..........2422
52. Promise of marriage 2423
53. Rape and attempt to rape — Distinction between. 2424
54. Sodomy & Rape 2424
55. Rape is most serious offence then outraging modesty..........2425
56. Rape on minor girl 2425

* * * * *

Sec. 376-A. Intercourse by a man with his wife during separation. 2426

COMMENTS

Series of sexual acts. 2426

* * * * *

Sec. 376-B. Intercourse by public servant with woman in his custody............ 2428

* * * * *

Sec. 376-C. Intercourse by superintendent of jail, remand home, etc. 2428

* * * * *

Sec. 376-D. Intercourse by any member of the manage-ment or staff of a hospital with any woman in that hospital.. 2428

SYNOPSIS

1. Reduction of sentence 2429
2. Statement of prosecution does not require corroboration..........2429
3. Procedure 2429
4. Intention to introduce Sexual offences—Scope—Discussed..........2429
5. Charge..........2430

* * * * *

Sec. 377. Unnatural offences. 2430

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2431
2. Consent..........2431
3. Carnal intercourse 2431
4. Cases..........2431
5. Evidence 2432
6. Medical evidence 2432
7. Sentence..........2432
8. Procedure 2433
9. Evidence 2433
10. Charge..........2433
11. Acquittal..........2433
12. Conviction 2433
13. Attempt 2433
14. Rape and unnatural offence. 2434

15. Sodomy & Rape. 2434
16. Rape and Unnatural intercourse—Intercourse is necessary ingredient in both offences. 2434

* * * * *

CHAPTER XVII

OF OFFENCES AGAINST PROPERTY

Scope of the chapter. 2436
Sec. 378. Theft. 2436

SYNOPSIS

1. Essentials of offence 2438
2. Intending dishonestly 2439
3. Moveable property 2442
4. Possession 2443
5. Husband and wife 2446
6. Master and servant 2446
7. With consent 2446
8. Bona fide claim 2446
9. Creditor removing property of debtor 2446
10. Removal of property for taking 2446
11. Explanation 1 2448
12. Explanation 2 2448
13. Evidence 2448
14. Summary procedure 2449
15. Theft and simialr offences 2449
16. Common intention 2449

* * * * *

Sec. 379. Punishment for theft. 2450

SYNOPSIS

1. Cases 2450
2. Sentence. 2456
3. Who can complain ? 2456
4. Scope 2457
5. Applicability 2457
6. Conviction. 2457
7. Sentence. 2458
8. Theft by Minor. 2458
9. Acquittal. 2458
10. Omissions-Effect of. 2459
11. Practice and procedure 2459
12. Recovery. 2459
13. Removal of crop. 2459
14. Mere travelling in stolen car. 2460
15. Hire-purchase agreement 2460

16. Procedure.......2460
17. Charge.......2460

* * * * *

Sec. 380. Theft in dwelling house, etc. 2460

SYNOPSIS

1. Essential for the offence.......2461
2. Sentence.......2463
3. Procedure.......2464
4. Charge.......2464
5. Convicition.......2464
6. Acquittal.......2464
7. Cases.......2465
8. Evidence.......2465

* * * * *

Sec. 381. Theft by clerk or servant of property in possession of master.......2466

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......2466
2. Clerk or servant.......2466
3. Object.......2466
4. Abetment.......2467
5. Cases.......2467
6. "Shall also be liable to fine".......2467
7. Procedure.......2467
8. Charge.......2467
9. Appeal.......2467

* * * * *

Sec. 382. Theft after preparation made for causing death, hurt or restraint in order to the committing of the theft.......2467

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......2468
2. Procedure.......2468
3. Charge.......2468

* * * * *

Sec. 383. Extortion.......2469

SYNOPSIS

1. Theft or extortion.......2469
2. Extortion, what constitutes.......2470
3. Put any person in fear of any injury.......2470
4. Abetment of extortion.......2472
5. To any other.......2472
6. Thereby indues the person so put in fear to deliver.......2472
7. Valuable Security.......2472
8. Picketing.......2473

* * * * *

Sec. 384. Punishment for extortion. 2473

SYNOPSIS

1. Criticism 2473
2. Fear of injury 2473
3. Extortion and cheating 2474
4. Robbery or extortion 2474
5. Conviction 2474
6. Procedure 2475
7. Charge 2475

* * * * *

Sec. 385. Putting person in fear of injury in order to commit extortion. 2475

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2475
2. Procedure 2476
3. Charge 2476
4. Sentence 2476

* * * * *

Sec. 386. Extortion by putting a person in fear of death or grievous hurt. 2476

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2476
2. Procedure 2477
3. Charge 2477

* * * * *

Sec. 387. Putting person in fear of death or of grievous hurt, in order to commit extortion. 2477

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2477
2. Procedure 2477
3. Charge 2477
4. Sentence 2478

* * * * *

Sec. 388. Extortion by threat of accusation of an offence punishable with death or transportation, etc. 2479

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2479
2. Scope 2479
3. Offence 2479
4. Procedure 2479
5. Charge 2479

* * * * *

Sec. 389. Putting person in fear of accusation of offence, in order to commit extortion. 2480

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2480
2. Procedure 2480
3. Charge 2480
4. Conviction 2480

* * * * *

Sec. 390. Robbery ; When theft is robbery ; When extortion is robbery........ 2480

SYNOPSIS

1. Robbery 2481
2. When theft is robbery 2482
3. When extortion is robbery 2483
4. Acquittal 2483
5. Confession made to Police Officer 2483

* * * * *

Sec. 391. Dacoity. 2484

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope of 2484
2. Conjointly 2486

* * * * *

Sec. 392. Punishment for robbery. 2487

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2487
2. Evidence and proof 2488
3. Robbery and murder 2493
4. Procedure 2495
5. Charge 2495
6. Sentence 2495
7. Acquittal 2496
8. Conviction 2496
9. Indentification of accused 2496
10. Motive 2497

* * * * *

Sec. 393. Attempt to commit robbery. 2498

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2498
2. Procedure 2498
3. Charge 2498
4. Cases 2498
5. Additional fine 2499
6. Sentence 2499
7. Attempt to commit robbery 2499

* * * * *

Sec. 394. Voluntarily causing hurt in committing robbery. 2499

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2500
2. Scope....2500
3. Jurisdiction 2501
4. Doubt 2501
5. Procedure 2501
6. Charge....2502
7. Recovery 2502
8. Conviction 2502
9. Causing heart attack during robbery 2504
10. Sentence....2505
11. Evidence and Proof 2506
12. Acquittal....2507
13. Murder and robbery—Appreciation of evidence 2507

* * * * *

Sec. 395. Punishment for dacoity.... 2508

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2509
2. Scope....2509
3. Proof....2510
4. Recent possession of dacoited property....2513
5. Dacoity and retaining of looted articles. 2513
6. Punishment. 2514
7. Sections 395 and 397....2514
8. Sections 395 and 412....2515
9. Sections 395, 396 and 302. 2515
10. Section 398....2516
11. Cases....2516
12. Sentence....2518
13. Procedure. 2519
14. Charge....2519
15. Bail. 2519
16. Identification....2519
17. Conviction. 2522
18. Acquittal....2522
19. Other co-accused acquitted—On same evidence....2523
20. Witnesses/Evidences 2523

* * * * *

Sec. 396. Dacoity with murder. 2524

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment. 2524
2. Scope 2524
3. Sentence....2526
4. Evidence and Proof. 2527

5. Procedure 2530
6. Charge 2530
7. Identification 2530
8. Common on common object—Onus. 2531
9. Simultaneous Conviction for offence under Section 396 IPC and also under Section 302 IPC 2531

* * * * *

Sec. 397. Robbery or dacoity, with attempt to cause death or grievous hurt... 2532

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2532
2. Uses. 2534
3. Deadly weapon 2535
4. Permissibility of conviction with assistance of Section 34. 2536
5. Such offender. 2536
6. Joint-liability. 2536
7. Sentence 2536
8. Procedure 2538
9. Charge 2538
10. Conviction. 2538
11. Acquittal. 2539
12. Identification 2539
13. Circumstantial evidence. 2539
14. Injuries. 2543

* * * * *

Sec. 398. Attempt to commit robbery or dacoity when armed with deadly weapon. 2543

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2544
2. Procedure 2544
3. Charge 2544
4. Acquittal 2544

* * * * *

Sec. 399. Making preparation to commit dacoity. 2545

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2545
2. Procedure 2548
3. Charge 2548
4. Acquittal 2548
5. Sentence 2549

* * * * *

Sec. 400. Punishment for belonging to gang of dacoits 2549

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2550

2. What constitutes offence 2550
3. Scope....2550
4. Evidence and proof 2552
5. Sentence....2552
6. Procedure 2552
7. Charge....2552

* * * * *

Sec. 401. Punishment for belonging to gang of thieves....2552

Synopsis

1. Scope 2553
2. Evidence 2554
3. Two serious cases 2554
4. Criminal Procedure Code, Section 271 2554
5. Punishment 2555
6. Procedure....2555
7. Charge 2555

* * * * *

Sec. 402. Assembling for the purpose of committing dacoity. 2555

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2555
2. Assembly for dacoity 2556
3. Procedure 2556
4. Charge....2556

* * * * *

Sec. 403. Dishonest misappropriation of property....2557

SYNOPSIS

1. Gist of offence 2558
2. Theft and misappropriation—Distinguished. 2560
3. Misappropriation and murder....2560
4. Dishonestly....2561
5. Misappropriation and conversion....2562
6. Moveable property....2563
7. Explanation 1. 2563
8. Explanation 2. 2564
9. Charge....2564
10. Proof....2564
11. Completion of the offence. 2564
12. Cases....2565
13. Procedure. 2566
14. Charge....2566

* * * * *

Sec. 404. Dishonest misappropriation of property possessed by deceased person at the time of his death. 2566

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......... 2567
2. Procedure 2568
3. Charge.......... 2568

* * * * *

Sec. 405. Criminal breach of trust. 2568

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment. 2570
2. Civil and criminal liability. 2571
3. Applicability of. 2571
4. Scope.......... 2572
5. Criminal Breach of Trust—Proof of mens rea. 2574
6. Property.......... 2575
7. Entrusted. 2576
8. Actual abandonment or destruction.......... 2578
9. Sections 405 and 415. 2578
10. Dishonestly.......... 2579
11. Disposal of property in violation of any direction of law, etc.......... 2581
12. Proof required. 2581
13. Cases.......... 2582
14. Debtor and creditor.......... 2583
15. Agent.......... 2584
16. FIR against Director of company.......... 2584
17. Prosecution against company by making character as accused director.......... 2584
18. Prosecution of Director of company for criminal breach of trust. 2584
19. Element of entrustment in the matter of Provident Fund.......... 2584
20. Employees' Provident funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952, Section 14—Constitution of India, Article 20(2)—Quashing of complaint on ground of doubt jeopardy. 2584
21. Effect of writ petition for quashing complaint.......... 2585
22. Hire-purchase agreement. 2585
23. Jurisdiction of Court.......... 2585
24. Analogous law—Prevention Act, 1947. 2585
25. Ingredients of offence under 2585
26. Criminal breach of trust and cheating 2586
27. Partnership—Criminal breach of trust 2586

* * * * *

Sec. 406. Punishment for criminal breach of trust. 2587

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope of.......... 2588

2. Question of wrongful loss or wrongful gain in complaint for criminal breach of trust. 2589
3. Agreement. 2589
4. Breach of contract does not necessarily result but offence under Section 406 or 420. 2589
5. Partnership. 2590
6. Burden of proof. 2590
7. Evidence. 2591
8. Cases. 2592
9. Compounding of Offences. 2597
10. Procedure. 2597
11. Charge. 2597
12. Conviction and sentence 2598
13. Practice and procedure. 2598
14. Jurisdiction. 2598
15. Probation. 2599
16. Quashing of Criminal Procedure. 2599
17. Investigation. 2600
18. Bail. 2600
19. Limitation. 2601
20. Revision. 2601
21. Liability—Nature of. 2601
22. Compromise. 2601
23. Acquittal. 2601
24. Nonpayment of Provident Fund dues—Offences by Companies 2601

* * * * *

Sec. 407. Criminal breach of trust by carrier, etc. 2602

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2602
2. Procedure 2603
3. Charge 2603

* * * * *

Sec. 408. Criminal breach of trust by clerk or servant 2603

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2603
2. Charge of general deficiency. 2605
3. Cases 2605
4. Sentence. 2608
5. Procedure. 2609
6. Charge. 2609
7. Quashing of prosecution. 2609
8. Conviction. 2610
9. Probation. 2610

10. Acquittal. 2610

* * * * *

Sec. 409. Criminal breach of trust by public servant, or by banker, merchant or agent. 2610

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2611
2. Scope. 2611
3. Intention. 2613
4. Section 409 and Prevention of Corruption Act. 2613
5. Criminal breach of trust or cheating. 2614
6. Essentials of the offence. 2614
7. Trust. 2615
8. General deficiency. 2615
9. Dishonesty 2615
10. Public servant. 2616
11. Breach of trust by agent. 2616
12. Sale Transactions. 2616
13. Principal and Agent. 2616
14. Guidelines value under Stamp Act for determination of value of property. 2617
15. Splitting up and Joinder of charges. 2617
16. Cases. 2617
17. Banker. 2618
18. Breach of trust by employee of post office. 2619
19. Criminal mis-appreciation of money by bus-conductor of corporation. 2620
20. Criminal mis-appreciation of property. 2620
21. Purchase of land by Chief Minister. 2620
22. Other cases. 2620
23. Temporary misappropriation. 2625
24. Evidence and proof. 2625
25. Confusing and conflicting type of evidence of accused denied opportunity to defend. 2626
26. Defence. 2627
27. Whether triable by Second Class Magistrate. 2627
28. Jurisdiction. 2627
29. Sentence. 2627
30. Procedure 2629
31. Charge. 2630
32. Sanction. 2630
33. Conviction, ...2631
34. Acquittal. 2632
35. Quashing of Proceeding. 2633
36. Bail. 2633
37. Probation. 2633

38. Expression "direction of law" in context of Secs. 405 and 409 2633
39. Meaning of "illegal" and "legally bound to do so" 2633
40. Essential ingredients of..2634
41. Securities scam—Bank officers dominion over bank funds.................2634

* * * * *

Sec. 410. Stolen Property. 2635

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2635
2. Principle 2635
3. Stolen property 2636
4. But if such property, etc...2636
5. Indentification 2636
6. Theft..2637

* * * * *

Sec. 411. Dishonestly receiving property. 2637

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope...2638
2. Receivers. 2639
3. Dishonestly retains 2639
4. Possession...2640
5. Stolen property. 2641
6. Believe. 2642
7. Knowing or having reason to believe the goods to be stolen. 2642
8. Guilty knowledge. 2642
9. Charge to the jury. 2642
10. Proof...2642
11. Possession satisfactorily accounted for. 2645
12. Cases...2645
13. Joint trial..2650
14. Sentence..2650
15. Procedure 2650
16. Charge 2650
17. Conviction 2651
18. Acquittal...2651
19. Recovery of stolen articles later on—Presumption 2651

* * * * *

Sec. 412. Dishonestly receiving property stolen in the commission of a dacoity. 2652

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendemnt 2652
2. Scope 2652
3. Procedure 2655
4. Charge...2655
5. Acquittal...2656

6. Sentence 2656
7. Exclusive possession 2656
8. Identification....................2656
9. Dacoity and receiving stolen property—Simultaneous conviction for both offences not possible 2656
10. Conviction 2656

* * * * *

Sec. 413. Habitually dealing in stolen property. 2657

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2657
2. Scope....................2657
3. Procedure 2657
4. Charge....................2657
5. Conviction 2658

* * * * *

Sec. 414. Assisting in concealment of stolen property. 2658

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....................2658
2. Procedure 2660
3. Charge....................2660
4. Scope of the offence of cheating....................2660
5. Necessary ingredients 2661

* * * * *

Sec. 415. Cheating. 2661

SYNOPSIS

1. Suggested amendment. 2663
2. Object of the section....................2663
3. Ingredient of offence....................2663
4. Delivery of property....................2665
5. Fraudulently or dishonestly....................2665
6. Deception. 2666
7. Sale. 2666
8. What constitutes offence. 2666
9. Intentionally. 2668
10. Sale—False representation. 2668
11. Prosecution against company for cheating and criminal conspiracy.....2669
12. Scope of this section whether excluded by Section 32 of the Sea Customs Act 2669
13. Cases....................2669
14. Illustration (f)....................2673
15. Illustration (g). 2673
16. Illustration (i) 2673
17. False representation....................2673
18. Bail 2673

19. Quashing of proceedings 2673
20. Complainant not required to produce verbatim all ingredients of offence 2674
21. Ingredients of offence 2674
22. Sections 415 and 420—Ingredients of offence of 2675
23. Cheques—Post dated 2675
24. Civil dispute—Quashing of complaint 2676

* * * * *

Sec. 416. Cheating by personation. 2676

COMMENTS

Scope. 2676

* * * * *

Sec. 417. Punishment for cheating. 2678

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and applicability 2678
2. Illega; Contract 2684
3. Procedure 2684
4. Charge 2684
5. Sentence 2684
6. False promise to marry 2685

* * * * *

Sec. 418. Cheating with knowledge that wrongful loss may ensue to person whose interest offender is bound to protect. 2685

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2686
2. Procedure 2686
3. Charge 2686

* * * * *

Sec. 419. Punishment for cheating by personation. 2686

SYNOPSIS

1. Cases 2687
2. Procedure 2688
3. Charge 2688
4. Jurisdicition 2689
5. Ingredients 2689
6. Quashing of proceeding 2689
7. Acquittal 2689
8. Evidence 2689
9. • Review 2689
10. Sentence 2689

* * * * *

Sec. 420. Cheating and dishonestly inducing delivery of property. 2690

SYNOPSIS

1. Criminial intent 2691
2. Cheating ingredients of 2692
3. Scope..........2695
4. Juristic person..........2702
5. Conspiracy to cheat 2703
6. Abetment of the offence..........2705
7. Attempt to cheat 2705
8. Procedure 2706
9. Charge..........2706
10. Punishment 2706
11. Fraudulent represention 2706
12. Property..........2707
13. Proof and evidence 2707
14. Cheating by impersonation..........2708
15. Acquittal under sections 419 and Section 420 2709
16. Sanction 2710
17. Conviction 2711
18. Sentence..........2712
19. Cases..........2712
20. Quashing of proceeding..........2717
21. Offence–what constitutes 2722
22. Jurisdiction 2725
23. Offence compoundable..........2725
24. Protection 2726
25. Probation 2726
26. Bail 2726
27. Criminal matter—Stay of..........2726
28. Arbitration clause in agreement..........2726
29. Sale of misbranded ghee 2726
30. Bank Account—Cheque..........2727
31. Cheating and forgery..........2727
32. Forgery or permit 2728
33. Framing of charge 2728
34. Criminal breach of trust and cheating 2729
35. Sections 415 and 420—Ingredients of offence of 2729
36. Civil dispute—Quashing of complaint..........2730
37. Cheque discounting facility 2731
38. Transfer of criminal case—Apprehension of miscarriage of justice. 2732

* * * * *

Sec. 421. Dishonestly or fraudulent removal of concealment of property to prevent distribution among creditors. 2732

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..........2733

2. Procedure 2733
3. Charge 2733

* * * * *

Sec. 422. Dishonestly or fraudulently preventing debt being available for creditors 2734

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2734
2. Procedure 2734
3. Charge 2734

* * * * *

Sec. 423. Dishonest or fraudulent execution of deed or transfer containing false statement of consideration. 2734

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2735
2. Procedure 2735
3. Charge 2735

* * * * *

Sec. 424. Dishonest or fraudulent removal or concealment of property. 2735

SYNOPSIS

1. Gist of the offence 2736
2. Procedure 2738
3. Charge 2738

* * * * *

Sec. 425. Mischief. 2738

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2739
2. Intention 2741
3. Wrongful loss 2741
4. Damage 2741
5. Property 2742
6. Bona fide claim 2742
7. Change 2743

* * * * *

Sec. 426. Punishment for mischief. 2743

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2743
2. Procedure 2748
3. Charge 2748
4. Conviction 2748
5. Sentence 2748

* * * * *

Sec. 427. Mischief causing damage to the amount of fifty rupees. 2748

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2748
2. Procedure 2750
3. Charge....2750
4. Evidence and proof 2750
5. Acquittal....2750
6. Quashing of proceeding....2751

* * * * *

Sec. 428. Mischief by killing or maiming animal of the value of ten rupees..... 2751

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2751
2. Maiming 2751
3. Procedure 2751
4. Charge....2751

* * * * *

Sec. 429. Mischief by killing or maiming cattle, etc., of any value or any animal of the value of fifty rupees. 2752

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2752
2. Maiming 2753
3. Intention....2753
4. Mischief by killing 2753
5. Procedure 2754
6. Charge....2754
7. Sentence....2754
8. Conviction 2754

* * * * *

Sec. 430. Mischief by injury to works of irrigation or by wrongfully diverting water. 2754

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2754
2. Object....2756
3. Procedure 2756
4. Charge....2756

* * * * *

Sec. 431. Mischief by injury to public road, bridge, river or Channel.... 2756

SYNOPSIS

1. Public road 2757
2. Scope....2757
3. Procedure 2757
4. Charge....2757

* * * * *

Sec. 432. Mischief by causing inundation or obstruction to public drainage attended with damage. 2757

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......2757
2. Procedure.......2758
3. Charge.......2758

* * * * *

Sec. 433. Mischief by destroying, moving or rendering less useful, a light-house or sea-mark. 2758

SYNOPSIS

1. Procedure.......2758
2. Charge.......2758

* * * * *

Sec. 434. Mischief by destroying or moving, etc., a land-mark fixed by public authority.......2759

SYNOPSIS

1. Applicability.......2759
2. Cases.......2759
3. Procedure.......2759
4. Charge.......2759

* * * * *

Sec. 435. Mischief by fire or explosive substance with intent to cause damage to the amount of one hundred or (in case of agricultural produce) ten rupees.......2759

SYNOPSIS

1. Amemdment.......2760
2. Scope.......2760
3. Procedure.......2761
4. Mischief by fire.......2761
5. Charge.......2761

* * * * *

Sec. 436. Mischief by fire or explosive substance with intent to destroy house etc.......2762

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendments.......2762
2. Scope.......2762
3. Person causing loss to his own property. 2764
4. Building.......2764
5. Abetment.......2764
6. Sentence.......2764
7. Procedure.......2765
8. Charge.......2765
9. Conviction.......2765
10. Acquittal.......2765
11. Bail.......2766
12. Proof of arson.......2766

13. Mischief by fire. 2767

* * * * *

Sec. 437. Mischief with intent to destroy or make unsafe a decked vessel or one of 20 tons burden. 2768

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..........2768
2. Procedure..........2768
3. Charge..........2768

* * * * *

Sec. 438. Punishment for mischief described in Section 437, committed by fire or explosive substance. 2768

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment..........2768
2. Procedure..........2769
3. Charge..........2769

* * * * *

Sec. 439. Punishment for intentionally running vessel a ground or shore with intent to commit theft, etc. 2769

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..........2769
2. Procedure..........2769
3. Charge..........2769

* * * * *

Sec. 440. Mischief committed after preparation made for causing death or hurt. 2770

SYNOPSIS

1. Procedure..........2770
2. Charge..........2770
3. Criminal Trespass..........2770

* * * * *

Sec. 441. Criminal trespass. 2771

SYNOPSIS

1. U.P. Amendment Act..........2771
2. Of Criminal Trespass..........2772
3. Division of the chapter..........2772
4. Distinguishing nature of the crime..........2773
5. Scope..........2773
6. Applicability of the sections as amended in U.P..........2775
7. Jurisdiction of criminal court..........2776
8. Property..........2776
9. Entry into or upon property..........2776
10. Intention..........2777
11. Intimidate..........2779

12. Offence 2779
13. With intent to annoy 2779
14. Knowledge 2780
15. Remains there, etc 2780
16. Possession 2780
17. Cases 2781
18. Any person in possession 2781
19. Bona fide 2781
20. Who can complain 2782

* * * * *

Sec. 442. House trespass. 2782

SYNOPSIS

1. Building 2783
2. Vessel 2783
3. Entry 2784
4. Possession 2784
5. Custody of property 2784
6. Injury annoyance, etc 2784
7. Bona fide claim 2784

* * * * *

Sec. 443. Lurking house-trespass. 2784

* * * * *

Sec. 444. Lurking house-trespass by night. 2784

* * * * *

Sec. 445. House-breaking. 2784

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2786
2. Illustration (a) 2786

* * * * *

Sec. 446. House-breaking by night. 2786

* * * * *

Sec. 447. Punishment for criminal trespass. 2786

SYNOPSIS

1. Possession 2787
2. Intention 2787
3. Cases 2788
4. Sentence 2792
5. Procedure 2792
6. Charge 2792
7. Quashing of proceedings 2792
8. Jurisdiction 2793
9. Right of Private defence against property 2793
10. Appeal against conviction 2794

* * * * *

Sec. 448. Punishment for house-trespass. 2795

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope........ 2795
2. Intention........ 2795
3. House trespass 2795
4. Sentence........ 2798
5. FIR 2798
6. Procedure 2798
7. Charge........ 2798

* * * * *

Sec. 449. House-trespass in order to commit offence punishable with death. 2799

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2799
2. Sections 449 and 460........ 2799
3. In order to the committing........ 2799
4. Evidence and Proof 2801
5. Procedure 2803
6. Charge........ 2803
7. Presumption 2803

* * * * *

Sec. 450. House-trespass in order to commit offence punishable with transportation for life. 2804

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2804
2. Mens rea........ 2804
3. Trespass 2804
4. Procedure 2804
5. Charge........ 2804

* * * * *

Sec. 451. House-trespass in order to commit offence punishable with imprisonment. 2804

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope........ 2805
2. Sentence........ 2807
3. Procedure 2807
4. Charge........ 2807

* * * * *

Sec. 452. House-trespass after preparation for hurt, assault or wrongful restraint. 2807

SYNOPSIS

1. Cases........ 2807
2. Procedure 2808

3. Charge 2808
4. Conviction 2808
5. Evidence and proof 2808
6. Proof of house trespass and attempt to rape 2811
7. Delay in lodging—When not fatal 2811

* * * * *

Sec. 453. Punishment for lurking house-trespass or house-breaking. 2811

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2812
2. Sentence 2812
3. Procedure 2812
4. Charge 2812

* * * * *

Sec. 454. Lurking house-trespass or house-breaking in order to commit offence punishable with imprisonment. 2812

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2813
2. Private defence 2813
2. Procedure 2813
3. Charge 2813

* * * * *

Sec. 455. Lurking house-trespass or house-breaking after preparation for hurt, assault or wrongful restraint. 2813

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2814
2. Procedure 2814
3. Charge 2814

* * * * *

Sec. 456. Punishment for lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night. 2814

SYNOPSIS

1. Intention 2814
2. Procedure 2816
3. Charge 2816
4. Conviction 2816

* * * * *

Sec. 457. Lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night in order to commit offence punishable with imprisonment. 2816

SYNOPSIS

1. Adultery 2817
2. Scope 2817
3. Proof of offence of lurking house trespass. 2819
4. Sentence 2820

5. Procedure 2820
6. Charge 2820
7. Appeal 2820
8. Acquittal 2820
9. Conviction 2821

* * * * *

Sec. 458. Lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night after preparation for hurt, assault wrongful restraint. 2822

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2823
2. Cases 2823
3. Procedure 2823
4. Charge 2823

* * * * *

Sec. 459. Grievous hurt caused whilst committing lurking house-trespass or house-breaking. 2823

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2823
2. Scope 2823
3. Procedure 2824
4. Charge 2824

* * * * *

Sec. 460. All persons jointly concerned in lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night punishable where death or grievous hurt caused by one of them. 2824

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2824
2. Scope 2824
3. Cases 2825
4. Procedure 2826
5. Charge 2826
6. Sentence 2826

* * * * *

Sec. 461. Dishonestly breaking open receptacle containing property. 2826

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2827
2. Procedure 2827
3. Charge 2827

* * * * *

Sec. 462. Punishment for same offence when committed by person entrusted with custody 2827

SYNOPSIS

1. Forged document 2827

2. Procedure 2827
3. Charge....................2827

* * * * *

CHAPTER - XVIII

OF OFFENCES RELATING TO DOCUMENTS AND TO [x x x] PROPERTY MARKS

Sec. 463. Forgery. 2829

SYNOPSIS

1. Forgery 2829
2. Intent to defraud....................2831
3. Claim....................2832
4. Illustrative cases....................2832
5. Essentials of offence....................2834
6. Forgery committed for the purpose of defending one-self....................2834
7. Private Complaint 2835

* * * * *

Sec. 464. Making a false document. 2835

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....................2838
2. Fraudulently....................2838
3. Making a false document....................2838
4. Document....................2839
5. Or by the authority of a person etc. 2840
6. Or at time at which he knows that it was not made. etc.....................2840
7. Forged document 2840
8. Clause (2) 2841
9. Clause (3) 2841
10. Explanation (1) 2841
11. Explanation (2) 2842
12. Cases....................2842
13. False description....................2842
14. Conviction 2842
15. Alteration of....................2842

* * * * *

Sec. 465. Punishment for forgery. 2842

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....................2843
2. Intention....................2843
3. Evidence....................2843
4. Case 2843
5. Quashing of criminal proceedings—on the ground of civil nature 2845
6. Procedure 2845

.......2845
7. Charge.......2846
8. Jurisdiction 2846
9. Acquittal.......

* * * * *

Sec. 466. Forgery of record of Court or of public register etc. 284

SYNOPSIS

1. Elements of fraud or dishonesty 2846
2. Cases.......2847
3. Procedure 2848
4. Charge.......2848
5. Sanction 2848

* * * * *

Sec. 467. Forgery of valuable security, will etc........2849

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2849
2. Scope.......2849
3. Proof of handwrting.......2851
4. Cases.......2851
5. Procedure 2854
6. Charge.......2854
7. Sanction 2855
8. Sentence.......2855
9. Conviction 2855
10. Cognizance of offence 2855
11. Limitation.......2855
12. Quashing of proceedings 2855
13. Acquittal.......2856
14. Offence of forgery 2856
15. Framing of charge 2856
16. Transfer of criminal case — Apprehension of miscarriage of justice 2857

* * * * *

Sec. 468. Forgery for purpose of Cheating.......2857

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.......2858
2. Cheating.......2858
3. Procedure 2859
4. Charge.......2859
5. Offence of conspiracy 2859
6. Quashing of proceedings 2859
7. Cheating and forgery.......2860
8. Sections 409 and 468 and Prevention of Corruption Act.......2860
9. Framing of charge 2860
10. Conviction 2861

* * * * *

Sec. 469. Forgery for purpose of harming reputation. 2861

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2861
2. Procedure 2862
3. Charge 2862

* * * * *

Sec. 470. Forged document or electronic record. 2862

* * * * *

Sec. 471. Using as genuine a forged document or electronic record. 2862

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 2862
2. Proof 2864
3. User 2864
4. Cases 2864
5. Execution of forged will 2868
6. Benefit of probation to convicted accused medical-students who got admitted in college by forged documents 2869
7. Procedure 2869
8. Charge 2869
9. Jurisdiction of Court 2869
10. Sentence 2870
11. Conviction 2871

* * * * *

Sec. 472. Making or possessing counterfeit seal, etc. with intent to commit forgery punishable under Section 467. .... 2871

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2871
2. Scope 2871
3. Procedure 2871
4. Charge 2871

* * * * *

Sec. 473. Making or possessing counterfeit seal, etc. with intent to commit forgery punishable otherwise. 2871

SYNOPSIS

1. Cases 2872
2. Procedure 2872
3. Charge 2872

* * * * *

Sec. 474. Having possession of document described in Section 466 or 467, knowing it to be forged and intending to use it as genuine. 2872

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2872
2. Gist of the offence 2872

3. Procedure 2873
4. Charge 2873
5. Acquittal 2873

* * * * *

Sec. 475. Counterfeiting, device or mark used for authenticating documents described in Section 467 ; or possessing counterfeit marked material. 2873

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2874
2. Scope 2874
3. Procedure 2874
4. Charge 2874

* * * * *

Sec. 476. Counterfeiting device or mark used for authenticating document other than those described in Section 467, or possessing counterfeit marked material. 2874

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 2875
2. Procedure 2875
3. Charge 2875
4. Sanction 2875

* * * * *

Sec. 477. Fraudulent cancellation, destruction, etc. of will, authority to adopt or valuable security. 2875

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2875
2. Scope 2875
3. Valuable security 2876
4. Conviction 2876
5. Procedure 2876
6. Charge 2876

* * * * *

Sec. 477-A. Falsification of accounts 2877

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2877
2. Scope 2877
3. Intent to defraud 2880
4. Criminal Breach of Trust 2880
5. Sentence 2881
6. Procedure 2881
7. Sanction 2881
8. Charge 2881
9. Conviction 2881
10. Forgery or permit 2881

* * * * *

Sec. 478. Trade Mark.......... 2882

* * * * *

Sec. 479. Property mark.......... 2882

Comments

Property mark.......... 2882

* * * * *

Sec. 480. Using a false trade mark.......... 2882

* * * * *

Sec. 481. Using a false property mark. 2883

* * * * *

Sec. 482. Punishment for using a false property mark.......... 2883

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2883
2. Facts to be determined 2883
3. Cases.......... 2884
4. Procedure 2886
5. Charge.......... 2886

* * * * *

Sec. 483. Counterfeiting a property mark used by another.......... 2887

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2887
2. Notes 2887
3. Procedure 2887
4. Change 2887

* * * * *

Sec. 484. Counterfeiting a mark used by a public servant. 2888

SYNOPSIS

1. Procedure 2888
2. Charge.......... 2888

* * * * *

Sec. 485. Making or possession of any instrument for counterfeiting a property mark. 2888

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2889
2. Notes 2889
3. Procedure 2889
4. Charge.......... 2889

* * * * *

Sec. 486. Selling goods marked with a counterfeit property marked. 2889

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 2890
2. Scope.......... 2890
3. Burden of proof.......... 2891

4. Sentence........2891
5. Procedure........2891
6. Charge........2892

* * * * *

Sec. 487. Making a false mark upon any receptacle containing goods. 2892

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes........2892
2. Procedure........2892
3. Charge........2892

* * * * *

Sec. 488. Punishment for making use of any such false mark. 2893

SYNOPSIS

1. Procedure........2893
2. Charge........2893

* * * * *

Sec. 489. Tampering with property mark with intent to cause injury, #2893

SYNOPSIS

1. Procedure........2893
2. Charge........2893

* * * * *

Sec. 489-A. Counterfeiting currency notes or bank notes. 2893

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment........2894
2. Scope........2894
3. Evidence and proof........2895
4. Procedure........2895
5. Charge........2895
6. Knowingly use of........2895

* * * * *

Sec. 489-B. Using as genuine, forged or counterfeit currency-notes or bank-notes. 2895

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment........2896
2. Object of Sections 489-A to 489-E, IPC........2896
3. Scope........2896
4. Mens rea........2898
5. Counterfeiting........2898
6. Sentence imitation counterfeit deception resemblance........2900
7. Procedure........2900
8. Charge........2900
9. Resemblance........2900

* * * * *

Sec. 489-C. Possession of forged or counterfeit currency notes or bank-notes. 2901

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2901
2. Procedure....2902
3. Charge....2902
4. Punishment....2903
5. Possession of counterfeit currency notes....2903
6. Resemblance....2905

* * * * *

Sec. 489-D. Making or possessing instruments, or materials for forging or counterfeiting currency notes or bank-notes.....2905

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment....2906
2. Scope....2906
3. Sentence imitation counterfeit deception resemblance....2906
4. Procedure....2907
5. Charge....2907

* * * * *

Sec. 489-E. Making or using documents resembling currency-notes or bank-notes.....2907

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment....2907
2. Procedure....2907
3. Charge....2907

* * * * *

CHAPTER - XIX

OF THE CRIMINAL BREACH OF CONTRACTS OF SERVICE

Sec. 490. Breach of contract of service during voyage or journey.....2909

* * * * *

Sec. 491. Breach of contract to attend on and supply wants of helpless person.....2909

SYNOPSIS

1. Application....2909
2. Principle....2909
3. Procedure....2909
4. Charge....2909

* * * * *

Sec. 492. Breach of contract to serve at distant place to which servant is conveyed at master's expense.....2910

CHAPTER - XX

OF OFFENCE RELATING TO MARRIAGE

Sec. 493. Cohabitation caused by a man deceitfully inducing a belief of lawful marriage.....2911

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..........2911
2. Procedure..........2912
3. Charge..........2913
4. Complaint—Maintainability of..........2913
5. Practice of deception..........2913

* * * * *

Sec. 494. Marrying again during life-time of husband or wife. 2914

SYNOPSIS

1. Essentials..........2914
2. Scope..........2915
3. Marries..........2916
4. Abatement of bigamy..........2917
5. Duty of Court to prevent abuse..........2917
6. Cases..........2917
7. Procedure..........2922
8. Charge..........2922
9. Conviction..........2922
10. Evidence and Proof..........2922
11. Cognizance of offence..........2923
12. Section 494, and Hindu Marriage Act, 1955..........2923

* * * * *

Sec. 495. Same offence with concealment of former marriage from person with whom subsequent marriage is contracted. 2926

SYNOPSIS

1. Object..........2926
2. Ingredients..........2926
3. Procedure..........2927
4. Charge..........2927
5. Complaint..........2927

* * * * *

Sec. 496. Marriage ceremony fraudulently gone through without lawful marriage. 2927

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..........2927
2. Procedure..........2928
3. Charge..........2928

* * * * *

Sec. 497. Adultery. 2928

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope..........2929
2. Object..........2930
3. If void as Contravening Act 14 & 15 of the Constitution..........2930

4. Cases....2930
5. Legal complaint....2933
6. Procedure....2933
7. Charge....2933
8. Notes....2933
9. Limitation....2934

* * * * *

Sec. 498. Enticing or taking away or detaining with criminal intent a married woman. 2934

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....2934
2. Proof of marriage....2940
3. Detain....2940
4. Such women....2941
5. Proof and evidence....2941
6. Procedure....2941
7. Charge....2941
8. Jurisdiction....2941
9. Acquittal....2942

CHAPTER - XXA

OF CRUELTY BY HUSBAND OR RELATIVES OF HUSBAND

Sec. 498-A. Husband or relative of husband of a woman subjecting her to cruelty.... 2943

SYNOPSIS

1. Procedure....2944
2. Constitutionality of Section 498A—Mere possibility of abuse—Effect ...2944
3. Scope....2945
4. Evidence....2949
5. Bail—Grant of....2955
6. Acquittal....2956
7. Conviction....2960
8. Sentence....2962
9. Quashing of Proceeding....2962
10. Valid marriage....2963
11. Cases....2963
12. Intention....2966
13. Compromise....2966
14. Suicide by wife....2966
15. Cruelty to Wife....2970
16. Section 498A and 366 IPC....2971
17. Domestic violence....2971
18. Muslim woman (Protection of Rights on Divorce) Act, 1986—Applicability....2972

19. Prima facie case 2972
20. Death of wife by burning 2973
21. Cruelty and demand of dowry....................2974
22. Charge....................2977
23. Jurisdiction of court....................2977
24. Bail 2978
25. Deceased died in her matrimonial home. 2979
26. Cruelty and dowry death — Distinction between. 2979
27. Cruelty, soon before death of deceased. 2981
28. "Husband" — Need not be legally wedded person. 2981
29. Dowry Prohibition Act. 2982
30. Difference between Sec. 306 and 498-A. 2983
31. Harassment of wife and bigamy by husband—Scope. 2984
32. Circumstantial evidence. 2986
33. Dying declaration—When reliable. 2986
34. Investigation—Slip-shod investigation....................2987
35. Cruelty and harassment—Elements of. 2988
36. Inherent Powers 2989
37. Complaint for Cruelty—Taking cognizance....................2989
38. Matrimonial cruelty....................2989
39. Past ill-treatment 2989

* * * * *

CHAPTER - XXI
OF DEFAMATION

Sec. 499. Defamation. 2991
Imputation of truth which public good requires to be made or published. 2991
Public conduct of public servants. 2991
Conduct of any person touching any public question. 2992
Publication of reports of proceedings of Courts. 2992
Merits of case decided in Court or conduct of witnesses and others concerned. 2992
Merits of public performance. 2992
Censure passed in good faith by person having lawful authority over another. 2993
Accusation preferred in good faith to authorised person. 2993
Imputation made in good faith by person for protection of his or other's interests. 2994
Caution intended for good of person to whom conveyed or for public good. 2994

SYNOPSIS

1. Principle 2995

2. Scope..........2995
3. Harm the reputation..........2998
4. Words either spoken or intended to be read, etc..........3000
5. Cases..........3000
6. Intention..........3001
7. Makes or publishes any imputation concerning any person..........3002
8. Explanation 1..........3004
9. Explanation 2..........3005
10. Explanation 3..........3006
11. Explanation 4..........3006
12. Exceptions..........3007
13. Good faith is of the essence of exceptions..........3008
14. First Exception..........3008
15. Second Exception..........3010
16. Third Exception..........3011
17. Fourth Exception..........3011
18. Explanation..........3012
19. Cases..........3012
20. Fifth Exception..........3012
21. Sixth Exception..........3012
22. Seventh Exception..........3014
23. Eighth Exception..........3014
24. Ninth Exception..........3016
25. Protection of trust fund..........3021
26. Communication by members of caste..........3021
27. Public good..........3022
28. Good faith..........3022
29. Remarks in judgment..........3023
30. Tenth Exception..........3023
31. Who can complain in a defamation case..........3024
32. Right of corporation to maintain action..........3025
33. Publication..........3025
34. Defamatory Letter..........3026
35. Pleadings were not per se defamatory..........3026
36. Freedom of speech and expression..........3027
37. Defamation—Ingredients..........3028
38. Mens rea..........3028

* * * * *

Sec. 500. Punishment for defamation..........3029

SYNOPSIS

1. Cases..........3030
2. Defamation—Connotation of..........3033
3. Complaint..........3033
4. Sentence..........3034

5. Procedure 3034
6. Special period of limitation 3034
7. Charge 3035
8. Sanction 3035
9. Intention 3035
10. Quashing of proceedings 3035
11. Errata 3037
12. Wrong News item in News Paper 3037
13. Mens rea 3037

* * * * *

Sec. 501. Printing or engraving matter known to be defamatory. 3038

SYNOPSIS

1. Notes 3038
2. Procedure 3038
3. Charge 3038

* * * * *

Sec. 502. Sale of printed or engraved substance containing defamatory matter. 3038

SYNOPSIS

1. Procedure 3039
2. Proof 3039
3. Charge 3039

* * * * *

CHAPTER - XXII

OF CRIMINAL INTIMIDATION, INSULT AND ANNOYANCE

Sec. 503. Criminal intimation. 3040

COMMENTS

Scope. 3040

* * * * *

Sec. 504. Intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of the peace. 3043

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope 3043
2. Insult—Breach of peace 3046
3. Cognizance of offences 3047
4. Procedure 3047
5. Charge 3047

* * * * *

Sec. 505. Statements conducing to public mischief. 3047

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 3048
2. Principle of construction 3048
3. Constitutionality of the section 3048

4. Scope....3049
5. Clause (C)....3049
6. Procedure....3049
7. Charge....3049

* * * * *

Sec. 506. Punishment for criminal intimidation.... 3050
If threat be to cause death, or grievous hurt, etc..... 3050

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment....3051
2. Criminal Intimidation....3051
3. Scope....3051
4. Cases....3053
5. Permission of Magistrate—Necessity....3053
6. Procedure....3053
7. Charge....3053

* * * * *

Sec. 507. Criminal intimidation by an anonymous communication.... 3054

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....3054
2. Procedure....3054
3. Charge....3054
4. Legal aid....3054

* * * * *

Sec. 508. Act caused by inducing person to believe that he will be rendered an object of the Divine displeasure.... 3054

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....3055
2. Procedure....3055
3. Charge....3055

* * * * *

Sec. 509. Word, gesture or act intended to insult the modesty of a woman.... 3056

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....3056
2. Procedure....3057
3. Charge....3057
4. Benefit of doubt....3057
5. Complaint—Dismissal by Magistrate—Validity....3057

* * * * *

Sec. 510. Misconduct in public by a drunken person.... 3058

SYNOPSIS

1. Scope....3058
2. Procedure....3058
3. Charge....3059

* * * * *

CHAPTER - XXIII

OF ATTEMPTS TO COMMIT OFFENCES

Sec. 511. Punishment for attempting to commit offences punishable with transportation or imprisonment. 3060

SYNOPSIS

1. Amendment 3061
2. Application 3061
3. Attempt 3061
4. Scope..........3064
5. Preparation..........3065
6. Or to cause such an offence to be committed 3066
7. For a term, etc 3066
8. Section 75 3066
9. Attempt to abet 3066
10. Section 307..........3066
11. Cases..........3066
12. Attempt to forgery 3067
13. Attempt to commit murder 3067
14. Attempt to commit suicide..........3067
15. Attempt to commit dacoity 3067
16. Attempt to commit house-breaking..........3067
17. Attempt to commit adultery..........3067
18. Attempt at extortion 3067
19. Attempt to cheat 3067
20. Attempt to commit rape..........3067
21. Administering harmless substance believing it to be poison 3070
22. Attempt to export without permit..........3070
23. Procedure 3070
24. Charge..........3070
25. Enhancement of sentence 3070
26. Attempt to kidnapping 3071
27. Attempt to commit robbery..........3071
28. Rape and attempt to rape — Distinction between 3071
29. Abetment of unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide..........3072
30. Attempt to rape—Outrage Modesty of Woman 3072

* * * * *

Subject Index..........I

* * * * *

THE INDIAN PENAL CODE

TABLE OF CASES

Volume II

A

A Jayaram v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1995) 3 Crimes 283 : 1995 AIR BCW 3285 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 801 (SC)....................................2881

A. Devendran v. State of T. N., 1998 SCC (Cri) 1004: (1996 Cri LJ 2307. 1470

A. Ramu v. Ramasway, 1993 Cri LJ 2544 (Mad)..2174

A. Vasantha Kumar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4354 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2528 : 2003(4) All Cri LR 279...................................... 1904

A.K. Kacharoo v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3510 (HP). 2719

A.K. Mitra v. P.K. Mohanty, (1993) I CCR 317 (Ori). 2702

A.N. Venkatesh v. State of Karnataka, 2005 Cr LJ 3732 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3809 : 2005(3) AndhLT (Cri) SC 264 : 2005(3) Crimes 231 : 2005(5) Kant LJ 321 : 2005(7) SCC 714 : 2005(6) Scale 348 : 2005(5) Supreme 746. 2210

A.P. Raju v. State of Orissa, 1995 SCC (Cr) 675 : (1995) 2 East Cr C 486 (SC)................... 1799

A.S. Krishnan v. State of Kerala, (2004) 2 Crimes 317 (SC) : (2004) 11 SCC 576 : AIR 2004 SC 3229 : AIR Cr LJ 2833... 2868, 2869

Abdul Fakirsaheb Mamtule v. State of Maharashtra 2001 Cri LJ 3396 (Bom).... 2897

Abdul Hamid alias Phoulad v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 212 (MP)........................... 1627

Abdul Hamid Ismail v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 235. 2711

Abdul Kasem v. State, 2003 CrLJ 3667 (Gau). 1635

Abdul Khaleel v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 368 : 2004 AIR Kant HCR 973 : 2004(2) Crimes 325 : ILR (Kant) 2003(4) KAR 4358 : 2004(1) KCCR 127 : 2003 (6) Kant LJ 193. 2457

Abdul Latif v. Latif Mian, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 175 : 2004 AIR Jhar HCR 640...................... 2942

Abdul Latif v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 55 N (MP). 1948

Abdul Majeed Rehaman, Sarkhot v. State of Maharashtra, 2002 Cri LJ 720 (Bombay) : 2002(4) All Cri LR 479 : 2001 All MR (Cri) 1311 : 2001(3) Bom LR 542.................. 2895

Abdul Rehman v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 663 (Raj). 1636

Abdul Salam v. A.C.J.M., (1995) 2 CCR 545 (Alld). 2599

Abdul Wahid Bahadur Ali Shaikh v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 339. 2332

Abdul Wahid v. State of Rajasthan. AIR 2004 SC 3211 : 2004 Cr LJ 2850 : 2004(3) Crimes 75 (SC) : 2004(4) Supreme 103 : 2004(4) Scale 719. 1671

Abdulwahab Abdulmajid Baloch v. State of Gujarat, 2009 (11) SCC 625 : 2009 (5) JT 58 : 2009 (3) SLT 339 : 2009 (4) SCR 956 : 2009 (4) Scale 211. 1501

Abhaya Jena v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 531 (Ori). 2209, 2214

Abhi Ram Mukhi v. State of Orissa. 1996 Cr LJ 2341 (Ori). 1924,1925,2043

Abhilakh Singh v. State of U.P.. 2006 Cr LJ 1419 (All)...2061, 2063

Abu Bahar Siddik alias Abu Mia v. State of Tripura, 2005 CriLJ 1332 (Gau)............. 1507

Abuthagir v. State, AIR 2009 SC 2797 : 2009 CrLJ 3987 : 2009 (7) Scale 585 : 2009 (5) Supreme 138 : 2009 (5) SLT 352 : 2009 (8) SCR 432. 1658

Achyut Das v. State of Assam. 1994 SCC (Cri) 326 : (1994) 1 SCC 387 : (1994) 1 East Cr C

449 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 968 : 1994 JIC 489 : 1994 Cr LJ 1119. 2651

Adikanda Muni v. State of Orissa, (1995) 8 OCR 536 (Ori).......... 2808

Adman Dung Dung v. State of H.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2882 (H.P.).......... 1855

Affaai v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 36 (SN) (Cal) (DB). 2341

Aftab Ahmad Anasari v. State of Uttaranchal, AIR 2010 SC 773 (Uttar).......... 2345, 2349, 2362, 2368, 2369, 2420.

Afzauddin Ansari v. State, 1997 (2) Crimes 53 (Cal) (DB). 1520

Agnelo alias Robert Fernandes v. The State 2002 Cr LJ 3007 : 2002 All MR (Cri) 1294.......... 2408

Ahir v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 900 : AIR 2005 SC 712 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 427 : 2005(1) SCC 582 : 2005(1) JT 425 : 2005(1) Supreme 166 : 2005(1) Crimes 121 (SC).......... 1505

Ainuluddin Ahmad v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1171 (Gau) : 2004(3) Crimes 211.......... 2330

Ajai Kumar v. Raj Narain, 1993 JIC 529 (All). 2601

AJaib Kaur v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Recent CR 376 (P&H).......... 2588

Ajay Gupta v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 34 (Del). 1494

Ajay Mehta v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 1249 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 1069 : 2003 AIR SCW 592 : 2003(2) Crimes 196. 2719

Ajay Patodia v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 797 (MP). 1905

Ajit Singh v. Sohan Singh, 1994 (1) Recent Cr R 83 (P&H). 2721

Ajit Singh v. State of Haryana, 1997 Cri LJ 659 (P&H). .... 2949, 2965.

Ajith (Dr.) v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4458 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3843 : 2003(10) SCC 472 : 2003(4) Crimes 89 (SC) : 2003(6) Supreme 677.. 1730

Ajmer Singh v. Deputy Commissioner. 1994 (2) SLJ 1121 (P&H).......... 2600

Ajmer Singh v. State of Haryana, 1994 (2) SLJ 1049 (P&H). 2689

Ajoy Sen alias Mahanta vs State of West Bengal, 2010 Cri LJ 943 (Calcutta). 1930

Akbar Sheikh v. State of West Bengal, 2009 (7) SCC 415 : 2009 (6) Scale 745 : 2009 (6) JT 315 : 2009 (7) SCR 518 : 2009 (4) SLT 328. 1622

Akhi v. State of Orissa, 1996 Cr LJ 2352 (Ori). 2043, 2045

Akhtar v. State of U.P., 1999 Cri LJ 5007 (SC) : 1999(6) SCC 60 : 1999(9) JT 348 : 1999 SCC (Cr) 1058. 1653

Akshay Kumar Gaur v. State of U.P., (1995) 32 ACC 93 (Alld). 1576

Akula Ravinder v. The State of Andhra Pradesh. AIR 1991 SC 1142. .... 1879, 2980

Alagiri v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 2978 (Mad). ... 2574

Alamuri Lalitha Devi v. State of A.P., (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 139 (AP) : 1995 Cr LJ 2127 : 1995(2) CCR 362 : 1995(1) Andh LT (Cr) 139 (AP). 2954, 2960, 2962

Alimulah v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3912 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1893 : 2003(47) All Cri C 69 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1237. 1691

Alka jaiswal v. State of MP., 2000 Cri LJ 672 (MP). 1894

Alka Katari v. State of Haryana, 1993 (2) CC Cases 76 (P&H). 2715

Alluri Surya Prasad v. Kalidindivenkataraja, 1991 (3) ALT 595. 2835

Almadia A.D. v. State, 1996 (1) Crimes 416 (Mad). 2708

Aloshia Joseph v. Rev. Dr. Joseph Kollamparambil, 2009 CriLJ 2190 (Ker). 3059

Amalendu Pal alias Jhantu vs State of West Bengal, 2009 AIR SCW 7070 : AIR 2010 SC 512. .... 1901, 2969

Aman Kumar v. State of Haryana., (2004) 4 SCC 379 : 2004 AIR SCW 827.......... 2293, 2295, 2337, 2412, 3061, 3067

Aman Pal v. State 2002 Cri LJ 290(All). 1808

Aman Saren v. State of Jharkhand, 2006 Cr LJ (NOC) 127 (Jha). 1566

Amar alias Amarendra v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 CCR 163 (Bom).......... 2046

Amar Gond v. State of U.P., 2002 Cri LJ 1234 (All) : 2002 All LJ 76 : 2001(43) All Cri C 992 : 2001(3) All Cri R 2263.......... 1782

Amar Nath Singh v. Savinderi Singh, (1993) 1 Recent Cr R 134 (P&H).......... 2723

Amar Nath v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 1379 (All) : 2005 All LJ 405 : 2005(51) All Cri C 65 : 2005(1) All Cri R 608.......... 2326, 2342

Amar Pal v. State of U.P. 2002 Cri LJ 290 (All.). 1645

Amar Singh v. Balwinder Singh, 2003 CrLJ 1282 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 1164 : 2003 (2) SCC 518 : 2003 (2) Supreme 155 : 2003 (2) Crimes 186 (SC). 1661

Amar Singh v. State of M.P., (1995) 4 Crimes

354 (MP)... 2339

Amar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1171. 1540

Amar Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1321 (All) : 2003 All LJ 516 : 2003 (46) All Cri C 316 : 2003 (1) All Cri R 256............................. 2549

Amar Soni vs State of Jharkhand, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4003 (Jhar). 1919, 2028, 2092

Amarinder Singh v. Prakash Singh Badal, 2009 (6) SCC 260 : 2009 (3) Crimes 174 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 187 : 2009 (7) Scale 382 : 2009 (9) SCR 194 : 2009 (5) Supreme 95 : 2009 (4) SLT 415. ....2732, 2857, 2870

Amarjeet Singh v. State of Rajasthan. (1995) 1 RCD 10 (Raj). 1498

Amarjit Singh alias Mintu vs State of Punjab, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4134 (P&H)........... 1880, 1915

Amarjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 409 : (1995) 3 CC Cases 124 (P & H). 1543, 1582

Amba Lal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 115 (Raj) : 2003(1) WLC 587. 1669

Ambati Vykunta Rao v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 241 (AP) : 2003(2) Crimes 255 (AP). 2084

Ameen v. State of M.P., 2001 Cri LJ 1947 (MP) : 2001(2) MPHT 144 (M.P.)...................... 2097

Amicito Lobo v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 1582 (SC). 2713

Amir Singh v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 57 (All). 2518

Amir v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3686 (MP) : 2004 All LT 1533 : 2004(48) All Cr C 839 : 2004(1) All Cri R 877. 1965

Amirthingam v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 515 (Mad). 2316

Amit v. State of Maharashtra, 2003 Cr LJ 3873 : AIR 2003 (SC) 3131 : 2003(3) Crimes 318 : 2003(8) SCC 93 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1959 : 2003(6) Scale 244................................. 2388

Amit v. State, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3154 (Del). .. 2373, 2406, 2408, 2538

Amna v. Tasleem, [1994) 31 All Cr C 653 (II). 2029

Amod Kumar Sharma v. State of U.P., 1995 UP Cr R 35 (All). 1783

Amra Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 532 (Raj). 2708

Amreek Singh v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 CC Cases 114 (P&H). 2689, 2706

Amrik Chand v. Karnail Singh, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 390 (P&H). 2720

Amrik Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Crimes 789 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 505 : (1994) 2 CC Cases 71 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 326 (P&H). 2715, 2717, 2718

Amrik Singh v. State of Punjab, 1993 Cri LJ 2857 (SC) : 1994 Supp(1) SCC 320 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 387...............................2049, 2089

Amrit Lal Sharma v. State of Punjab, (1994) 3 CC Cases 125 (P&H)............................. 2963

Amrit Lal v. State of HP, 2001 Cr LJ 1047 (HP). 2299

Amruta Gadtia v. Trilochan Pradhan, (1993) 6 OCR 14 : 1993 Cri LJ 1022. 2913

Amrutlal Someshwar Joshi v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 CCR 32 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 2582 : 1994(5) JT 509 : 1994(6) SCC 200 : 1994(3) Scale 901 : 1995(1) UJ 130 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1604. ....1469, 1470, 1518, 1644

Anama Naik v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 39 (Orissa) : 2002(3) All Cri LR 64 : 2002(93) Cut LT 28 : 2002(2) Rec Cri R 437......... 2087

Anand Kumar v. State of M. P., AIR 2009 SC 2155 : 2009 (2) SCR 775 (56) : 2009 (3) SCC 799 : 2009 (2) JT 662 (SC) : 2009 (3) Scale 1 (SC) : 2009 (2) Supreme 72 (SC) : 2009 (1) Crimes 383 (SC) : 2009 (2) JCC 1092 (SC). 1843, 1873, 1900, 1902

Anand Mohan Srivastava v. State of U.P, 1994 JIC 750 (All)... 2726

Ananda Gavaji Valvi v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 2826 (Bom)....................... 1628

Ananda Moharana v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 2654 (Ori).. 1958

Anandhan v. State, 1995 Cr LJ 832 (Mad). 2214

Anant Pal Singh (Lt. Col.) v. Bharat Pal Singh, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 368 (P&H) : (1994) XXI Cr LT 202 (P&H).................................. 2833

Ananta Deb Singha Mahapatra v. State of W. B., 2007 CriLJ 1705 (Calcutta). 1786

Anath Bandhu Kandu v. State of W.B., 1996 Cr LJ 3449 (Cal). 2397

Andhra Bank v. S.H.O., Pattabhipuram, 1996 Cri LJ 277... 2713

Andrews v. Chapman, 3 C & K 288. 3011

Andrews v. Director of Public Prosecution. 2 All ER 552 : 1937 AC 576. ....1789, 1805, 1803, 1828

Anil alias Bowa S/o Ashanna Nannewar. 2009 All MR (Cri) 15. 2427

Anil Chandra Deka v. State. 2003 Cr LJ 2458 (Gau)........ 1667

Anil Chandra Pitambardas Sagar v. Rajesh Harjivandas Jhaveri, 1991 Cri LJ 487 (Bom). 2683

Anil Kr. Sarkar v. The State of W. B., 2009 CriLJ 4678 (Cal). 1917

Anil Kumar Katyal v. State of Punjab, 1994 XXI Cr LT 207 (P&H)........ 2596

Anil Kumar Samartha v. State of Orissa 2002 Cr LJ 1194 (Ori.) : 2002(4) All Cri LR 118... 2413

Anil Kumar v. Ajay Butail, 1992 (2) SLJ 1472 (HP)........ 2702

Anil Kumar v. State of U.P. 2004 Cr LJ 4881 : AIR 2004 SC 4662 : 2004(8) JT 355 : 2004(7) Scale 684 : 2004(6) Supreme 591 : 2004(4) Crimes 44 (SC) : 2004(3) JCC 1476. .... 1504, 2321

Anil S/o Balaji Lade v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 2149 (Bom). 1767

Anil Sharma v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3497 (Uttranchal) : 2003(2) UC 1156........ 2507

Anisetti Swaprasadarao v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 ALT 13 (NRC) (AP)...... 1630

Anita (Smt) v. State of M.P., 1997 (3) Scale 473. 2960

Anita v. State of M.P., 1997 (2) East Cr C 388 (SC)........ 1843

Anitesh v. State, AIR 1951 Assam 122 : 52 Cr LJ 1222........ 2678

Anju Devi v. Commissioner of Police, (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 71........ 2793

Anju Kulshrestha (Smt.) v. Harvijai Singh, 1995 (32) ACC 227 (All)........ 3002

Ankoos v. The Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P. AIR 2010 SC 566........ 1499

Ankush Maruti Shinde v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2609 : 2009 (6) SCC 667 : 2009 (6) JT 358 : 2009 (7) SCR 182 : 2009 (6) Scale 388 : 2009 (3) Supreme 760 : 2009 (4) SLT 470. .... 1957, 2208, 2336, 2518, 2537, 2628

Anmula Raji Reddy v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 220 (AP) : 2005(3) Cur CriR 135 : 2005(3) JKJ 351. 2379

Anna Reddy Sambasiva Reddy v. State of A. P., AIR 2009 SC 2661 : 2009 (6) SCR 755 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 546 : 2009 (3) Crimes 17 (SC) : 2009 (5) JT 617 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 223 (SC) : 2009 (4) Supreme 506 (SC). 1529, 1535, 1536, 1623, 1930, 1961, 2127, 2131

Anna v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 794. 1766

Annakodi v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 2 (Mad). 2206

Annapurna Bai (Smt.) v. State of Madhya Pradesh 1999 Cri LJ 2696 (M.P.). 2965

Anokha Lal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2602 (Uttranchal) : 2003 (46) All Cri C 1071 : 2003(6) All Ind Cas 77 : 2003(2) Cur Cri R 638 : 2003(1) UC 420. 2404

Anokhelal v. State of M.P., (1995) 3 CCR 166 (MP). 1972

Anokhey v. State of U.P., (1995) 4 Crimes 335 (SC) : 1995(6) Scale 368 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 106 : 1996(1) CCR 9 (SC). 1501

Anoop Kumar v. State of M.P., 1999 Cri LJ 2938 (M.P.). 2954

Anoop Singh v. State, 1994 (3) CC Cases 141 (Delhi). 2807

Anshad v. State of Karnataka. (1994) 2 Crimes 192 (SC) : (1994) 4 SCC 381 : 1994(3) JT 324 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1204. 2650

Anter Singh v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2004 SC 2865 : 2004 Cr LJ 1380 : 2004(1) Supreme 1005 : 2004(2) Crimes 38 (SC) : 2004(2) JT 332 : 2004(1) JCC 470. 1672

Antony v. State of Kerala, AIR 1995 SC 2451 : 1995 Cr LJ 4167. 1936

Anup Kumar Verma v. State of Jharkhand, 2004 Cr LJ 1712 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 933 : 2004 (1) DMC 192 : 2003(4) JCR Jha 473..... 1857, 1921, 1950, 2058

Anupam v. State of Haryana, 2006 CriLJ 852 (P&H). 2484

Anver v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 727 (Mad). 1765

Anwar Khan Iqbal Khan v. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3597 (Bombay) (Nagpur)........ 2390, 2428

Anwar v. State of Haryana, 1997 (2) Scale 322 (SC)........ 1585

Anwarul Haque v. State of M.P., 2005 Cr LJ 2602 (SC) : 2005(2) Crimes 159 : 2005(10) SCC 581 : 2005 SCC Cri 1629 : 2005(3) Supreme 618. 2038

Anwarul Haw v. State of U.P.. 2005 Cr LJ 2602 (SC) : 2005(2) Crimes 159 : 20058(5) JT 9 : 2005(10) SCC 581 : 2005(4) Scale 442 : 2005(3) Supreme 618 : 2005(2) Raj Cri C 437. 2044

Anwarul Islam v. State of West Bengal, 1996 Cr LJ 2912 (Cal). 2590

Appasaheb Maruti Shedge v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 1503 (Bom) : 2005 All MR (Cri) 575....................................2353

Appukuttan v. State of Kerala, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3186 (Kerala)..............................2774, 2806

Appukuttan vs Prakasan, 2006 (4) KLT SN 27. 2774

Apronto Tools Pvt. Ltd. (M/s.) v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 421. 2714

Aqeel Ahmad v. State of U. P., AIR 2009 SC 1271 : 2008 (17) SCR 1330 (SC) : 2009 (1) JT 136 (SC) : 2008 (16) Scale 251 (SC) : 2009 (2) SLT 11 (SC). 1558, 1680

Arasappa v. State, 1997 Cr LJ 1456 (Kant) : 1997(1) All Cr LR 580 : 1997(1) Cur Cr R 480 : 1997(1) Kant LJ 25.............................2300

Aravdily Shankar v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ 4456 (AP) : 2004(2) ALD (Crl) : 2004(2) Andh LT (Cr) AP 629...1965

Archi Nawal Kishore Kujur v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 548 (Pat). 1549

Ardhala Veera Venkata Vidya Sagar v. State, (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 615 : (1994) 2 ALT 8 (AP). 2174

Arjun Kushwah v. State of M.P., 1999 Cri LJ 2538 (M.P.)...1892

Arjun Marik v. State of Bihar, 1994 (1) Crimes 777 (SC) : 1994 Supp(2) SCC 372 : 1994(2) JT 627 : 1994(1) UJ 610 : 1994(1) Scale 821 : 1994(2) CCR 445 (SC)...........................1549

Arjun Mehra v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 3676 (Jhar) : 2005(3) East Cri C 230 : 2005(3) JCR JHA 222 : 2005(4) JLJR 589. 1750

Arjun Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimes 130 : 1995 Cr LR 348 : (1995) 2 RCD 507 (Raj) (DB).....................1487, 1576, 1625

Arjun Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 552 (Raj). 1605

Arjun Thakur v. State, 1994 Cri 3526 (1994) : CLR 234 (Ori). 1962

Arjun v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 161. 1609

Arjun v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 3 Crimes 383 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 2507 : 1994 (5) JT 410 : 1994 Supp (3) SCC 189 : 1994 (3) Scale 280 (2) : 1994 (2) UJ 418 : 1995 Cr. LJ 410 : 1994 (3) CCR 685 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1685. 1580

Arshad vs The State, 2010 Cri LJ 954 (Delhi). 2311, 2417

Arti Panchpuri (Smt) v. Deena Nath, 1995 JIC 315 (All). 2962

Arumugham v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 520 (Mad). 2224

Arun Anthony Swamy v. State of Karnataka, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1948 (Karn)............3071, 2544

Arun Bhakta v. State of West Bengal, AIR 2009 SC 1228 : 2008 (15) Scale 145 : 2009 (12) JT 513 : 2008 (17) SCR 73 : 2008 (2) JCC 300. 1600

Arun Das v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1337 (Cal) : 2003 Cal Cri R 231 : 2003(2) Cal HN 180 : 2003(2) Crl LT 226... 1661

Arun Dewangan (Dr.) v. State of Chhatisgarh, 2006 Cr LJ 1440 (Chattis)..................... 1709

Arun Kumar Sharma v. State of Bihar, 2010 (1) SCC 108 : 2009 (4) Crimes 92 (SC) : 2009 (13) Scale 124 : 2009 (6) Supreme 732 : 2009 (7) SLT 659 : 2009 (14) SCR 1023 : 2009 (4) JCC 2925..........................1500, 1880, 2988

Arun Kumar Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2006 Cr. LJ (NOC) 40. 2963

Arun Kumar v. State Madhya Pradesh 1999 CriLJ 717 (MP) : (1994) 2 Crimes 164 (MP). 1860, 1960

Arun Parshuram Sutar v. State of Maharashtra 1999 Cri LJ 438 (Bom)......................... 2629

Arun v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 1044. 2345

Arun v. State of Maharashtra, 2009 CrLJ 2065 : 2009(2) Crimes 6(SC) : 2009(4) SCC 615 : 2009(3) Scale 803 : 2009(4) JT 78 : 2009(3) SLT 220. .... 1608, 2049, 2138, 2813

Arun v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 1994 UP Cr R 307 (All). 2107

Arun v. State, AIR 2009 SC 1256 : 2008 (15) SCC 501 : 2008 (16) Scale 361 : 2008 (12) JT 571 : 2008 (1) Supreme 355 : 2009 (1) SLT 492 : 2008 (17) SCR 279 : 2009 (1) JCC 609. ....1594, 2801, 2822

Arun Vinayak Garkar v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1053 (Bom) : 2003( ) All MR (Cri) 1481 : 2004 (Sup) Bom CR 103. 2549

Arun Vyas v. Anita Vyas 1999 Cri LJ 4379 (SC). 2969

Arunachalam Kodaloor v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3980 (Ker) : 2003(2) Ker LJ 225 : 2003(4) All Cri R 842. 1600

Arvind Balashankar Goshi v. State, 1991 Cri LJ 2241 (Guj).. 2631

Arvind Kumar Tomar v. State of U.P., (1995) 2 CCR 230 (Alld). 1869

Arvind Singh v. State of Bihar, AIR 2001 SC 2124 = 2001 (6) SCC 407 = 2001 Cri LJ 2556. .... 1884, 1895

Aseekkattu v. State of Kerala, 1996 Cri LJ 1036 (Ker). 2764

Asha Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 531 : 1994 Cr LJ 2431 : (1994) 2 EFR 39 : 1994 (2) WLC 443 (Raj). 1509, 1542

Asha Shukla v. State of U.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2233 (All.) : 2002 All LJ 823 : 2002(44) All Cri C 542 : 2002(1) All Cri R 544. 1893

Ashani Vashist v. State of U.P., 2002 Cri LJ R-D. 1482

Ashfaq v. State (Govt. of NCT of Delhi), (2004) 1 Crimes 117 (SC) : (2004) 3 SCC 116 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 687 : AIR 2004 SC 1253 : 2004 Cr LJ 936. ....2490, 2535, 2536

Ashish Kumar Ray v. Jitu Andia, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 236 (Orissa) : 2004(27) OCR 288. 2459

Ashish Singh alias Ram Kishore Singh v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 339 (Pat). 2510, 2513

Ashok Gavade v. State of Goa., (1995) 1 Bom CR 363 : (1995) 1 B Cr C 41 (Bom) (DB). 1480, 1580

Ashok Kalyan Dass v. State of U.P., 2005 Cr LJ 1009 (All) : 2005 All LJ 130 : 2004(50) All Cri C 373 : 2004(3) All Cri R 2996..... 1960, 1967

Ashok Kumar alias Govind v. State, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2329 (Delhi).....2211, 2214, 2218, 2232

Ashok Kumar Pandey v. State of Delhi, AIR 2002 SC 1468 : 2002(4) SCC 76 : 2002(3) JT 103 : 2002(2) Scale 647 : 2002(2) Supreme 430 : 2002 Cr LJ 1844. 1666

Ashok Kumar Pradhan v. State of Orissa, (1995) 3 Crimes 155 (Ori)...................... 2083, 2085

Ashok Kumar Seth v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 642 (Orissa) : 2002(94) Cut LT 447 : 2003(23) OCR 425. 2203

Ashok Kumar v. Bal Krishan Das with Mahesh Narain v. State of U.P., 1997 Cri LJ 73 (SC). 1618

Ashok Kumar v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 4 Crimes 50 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 1085 (SC) : 1996 Cr. LJ 421 : 1996 AIR (SC) 265 : 1995 Supp (3) SCC 626 : 1995 (6) JT 660 : 1995 (5) Scale 443 : 1995 (4) CCR 52 (SC). 1643

Ashok Kumar v. State of Haryana, 1997 Cri LJ 1379 (P&H). 1907

Ashok Kumar v. State of M.P, 1994 Cr LR (MP) 257 (N)..............................1894, 2352, 2382

Ashok Kumar v. State, (1995) 57 DLT 239 : (1995) 1 CC Cases 398 : (1995) 1 Crimes 347 : 1995 JCC 226 (Del)............................ 1615

Ashok Kumar Yagnik v. State of WB, 2005 Cr LJ 3620 (Cal) : 2005(4) All Cri LR 758 : 2005 Cal Cri R 348. 2834

Ashok Nivruti Desai v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 826 (Bom) : 1995(1) Bom Cr 288 : 1995(1) Mah LR 312 : 1995(3) CCR 10 : 1995 Cr R 356 (Bom). 2213, 2332

Ashok Nivruti Desai v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 826 (Bom).......................... 2411

Ashok Podar v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 601 (Pat)... 1842

Ashok Rai vs State, 2010 (1) Cri LJ 1105 (Delhi)..............................1982, 2322, 2423.

Ashraf v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 291 : (1995) 1 RCD 175 : 1995 Cr R 470 (Raj). 1609

Ashraful Seikh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3716 (Jhar) : 2004 AIR Jhar HCR 2210 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 880 : 2004 AIR Kant HCR 2638. 2513

Ashutosh Chodhury v. State. 1995 4 CCR 132 (Cal)... 2964

Ashwani Kumar v. State of Punjab, (1995) 2 CC Cases 484 (P & H). 1942

Ashwani Vahisht v. State of U.P. 2002 Cr LJ 619 : 2001 All LJ 2683 : 2001(43) All CriC 7047 : 2001(3) All Cri R 2000.......................... 1482

Atar Nag v. State of Orissa, (1995) 1 Crimes 124 (Ori). 1508

Atawari Mandal v. State of Jharkhand, 2006 Cr LJ 291 (Jhar). 1949

Atique Ahmad v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3431 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1640 : 2003(1) All Cri R 888. 2720

Atiqur Rahman Mazumdar v. State of Assam, 2004 Cr LJ 2362 (Gau) : 2005(1) Gau LR 91. 2087

Atish Behera v. State of 'Orissa, 1996 Cr LJ 270 (Ori). 1941

Atma Ram v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 Crimes 416 (P&H). 2609

Atmaram Sitaram Dhulap v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 126 (Bom). 2025

Attru alias Attar Khan v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 293 (P&H). 1602

Attuluri Krishna Murthy v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1995 Cr LJ 1653 (AP)............. 1866

Atul Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 111 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2742 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1917 : 2003 All LJ 2782................................ 1664, 1674

Augustine alias Babu v. State of Kerala, (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 50 (SC). 1620

Augustine Saldanhe v. State of Karnataka, 2003 Cr LJ 4458 : (2003) 10 SCC 472............ 1730

Autar Singh v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 26 (MP). 2625

Auwar v. State of Haryana, 1997 (1) Crimes 232 (SC) : 1997(3) JT 1 : 1997(2) Scale 322 : 1997(2) Supreme 569.............................. 2018

Avinash Kumar v. State of Punjab. (1994) 3 CC Cases 305 (P&H). 2856

Avinash Shobhasing v. State of Gujrat, 2002 Cri LJ 3476 : 2002(2) Cur Cri R 278 : 2002(1) GCD Guj 681. 2499

Avinash v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 119 (MP). 2432

Avtar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 CrLJ 876 (P&H)... 1769

Avula Venkateswarlu v. State, (1994) ALT (Cri) 593 : (1994) 1 ALT 726 : 1994 Cr LJ 2232 (AP) (DB). 1509

Awadhesh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (1995) CCR 16 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 375 : 1999 (Supp (3) SCC 151 : 1994 (5) JT 617 : 1994 (3) Scale 914 : 1994 (2) UJ 524 : 1994 (3) Crimes 283 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1676. 1480

Ayodhya Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 356 (All).. 1542

Ayub (Sk.) v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) Cr LJ 420 (SC) : 1994 Supp (2) SSC 269 : 1994 (4) JT 129 : 1994 (2) Crimes 312 : 1994 (2) Scale 859 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1222 1496

Ayub v. State of U.P., 1994 All LJ 305 : 1994 Cr LJ 1219 (SC). 2063

Azaz Hussain v. J.J. Jan and State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 231 (MP)............................ 1744, 2083

Aziz Mian v. State of Bihar, 2005 (2) Crimes 567 (Pat). 2511

B

B. Balanathan Mahendran v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 2619 (Mad)... 2689

B. Nagabhushanam v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2008 SC 2557 : 2008 (8) SCR 444 (SC) : 2008 (5) SCC 730 : 2008 (6) JT 568 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 716 (SC) : 2008 (6) SLT 292 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 61 : 2008 (2) JCC 1423 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 50 (SC). 1821

B.D. Kalra v. State of Haryana, 1992 Cr LT 254 (P&H)... 2589

B.L. Dalmia v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CrR 305 : 1994 CrLJ 2493 (P&H). 2601, 2712

B.M. Singh v. State of Karnataka, 2001 Cri LJ 36 (Kant)... 1950

B.R. Gupta v. Kaushal Kumar, 1995 (XXII) Cr LT 297 (P&H). 2838

B.S. Joshi v. State of Haryana, 2003 Cr LJ 2028 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 1386 : 2003 AIR SCW 1824 : 2003(3) Scale 214 : 2003(3) Supreme 227.. 2966

Babaji Charan Barik v. State, (1994) 1 OLR 66 (Ori). 1841

Baban Ramchandra Pawar v. State of Maharashtra. (1995) 1 B Cr C 4 (Bom)... 1613

Babasaheb Apparao Patil v. State of Maharasthra, AIR 2009 SC 1461 : 2009 (1) JT 55 : 2008 (15) Scale 205 : 2008 (16) SCR 769. 1694

Babla v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3061 (MP) (Gwalior).......2013, 2031, 2091

Bablu @ Om Prakash v. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1728 (Raj).......................2234, 2457

Bablu alias Mubarik Hussain v. State of Rajasthan, 2007 CriLJ 1160 (SC). 1677

Bablu Singh alias Surya Deo Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2010 (1) Cri LJ 622 (Jhar). 2375, 2407

Babu alias Umakanta Nayak v. State of Orissa, 2005 Cr LJ 865 (Orissa) : 2004(29) OCR 214 : 2004(2) Orissa LR 405. 1483

Babu Bhika Yaahau v. State of Maharashtra. 1996 Cri LJ 3952 (Bom). 2028

Babu Das v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 2536 (SC) : 2003(9) SCC 86 : 2003(4) JT 289 : 2003(3) Supreme 562 : 2003 SCC (Cr) 1749 : 2003(2) Crimes 520 (SC)................................... 1674

Babu Lal v. State of M.P.. 1993 Cri LJ 2667 (SC) : 1993 AIR (SC) 1941........................... 1510

Babu Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 RCC 117 (Raj)...2522, 2332

Babu Lal v. State of U.P., 1995 UP Cr R 5 : 1995 (32) ACC 168 : 1995 Cr LJ 1188 : 1995 ALJ 709 (Alld). 1478

Babu Lal v. State, (1994) 2 CC Cases 477 (P&H). 1945

Babu Ram v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 165 (All) : 2004 All LJ 3665 : 2004(50) All Cri C 93 : 2004(3) All Cri C 93.............................. 1965

Babu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1174 (Bom) : 2002 All MR (Cri) 2204............................ 1602, 2093

Babu Varghese v. Deputy Superintendent of Police, Kottayam 1999 CriLJ 1111 (Ker). 2702

Babu Yadav v. State of U.P., 2001 Cr LJ 356 (All) : 2001 (1) Femi-Juris CC 54 (All). 2299, 2328

Babul Chakraborty v. State of Tripura, 2005 Cr LJ 4712 (Gau) : 2006(39) All Ind Cas 842 : 2006(1) Gau LR 568............................ 1822

Babula Kundu v. State of Orissa, (1994) 3 Crimes 390 (Ori)................................... 1898

Babula v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1992 SC 2091 : (1992) 3 Crimes 341 (SC)..................... 1898

Babulal Jairam Maurya v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 281 (Bom). 2535

Babulal Sahu. v. State of Orissa, (1994) 1 OLR 240 (Ori)... 2027

Babulal Sao v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 2465 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1314 : 2003(3) East Cri C 140. ....2168, 2027, 2404

Babulal v. State of Haryana, (1993) 3 Recent Cr R 725 (P&H). 2721

Babulal v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 2095 (MP). 1658

Babuli v. State of Orissa, AIR 1974 SC 775; (1974 Cri LJ 510). 1666

Baburao Ramdas Padgil v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 4 Crimes 15 (Bom) (DB). 2377

Baburao v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2181 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (Cri) 680 : 2003(3) CUR Cri R 386 : 2003(4) Mah LJ 943. 1904

Baby Mathew D'Souza v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 608 (Bom). 1627

Buchan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1980) 2 SCC 684 (AIR 1980 SC 898 : 1980 Cri LJ 636). 1652

Bachan Singh, AIR 1983 SC 898 : 1980 Cri LJ 6361. 1651

Bachitar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 Crimes 767 (P & H)................................ 1614

Bada China Rao v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 807 : 2003(2) ALD (CRI) 622 : 2004(1) Rec Cri R 1018. 2684

Bada Lokya v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 255 (AP) : 2005(1) Andh WR 116 (AP). 1759

Badam Singh v. State of MP, AIR 2004 SC 26 : 2004 Cr LJ 22 (SC) : 2003(4) Crimes 439 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 7 : 2003(9) Scale 222 : 2003(8) JT 547.................................... 1690

Badda v. State of M.P., (1995) 1 CCR 540 (MP). 1580

Badi Chinna Rao v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 807 (AP) : 2003 (2) ALD (CRL) 622 : 2004 (1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 138. 2672

Badri Prasad v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 757. 1761

Badri v. State of U.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 135 (All). 1945

Bagdi Ram v. State of MP, AIR 2004 SC 387 : 2004 Cr LJ 632 : 2003(8) Supreme 579 : 2004(1) Crimes 108 (SC) : 2003(10) JT 219. 1749

Bagga Singh v. State of Punjab, 1996 Cri LJ 2003 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 3035 : 1996(8) SCC 217 : 1996(2) JT 595 : 1996(2) Scale 462. 2632

Bagoo Ram v. State, (1994) 31 ACC 767 (All). 1966. 1971

Bahadur Singh v. State, 1995 Cr LR 346 (MP). 2709

Baida Ram v. State, 2004 Cr. LJ 1923 (Jhar) : 2005 AIR Jhar HCR 1112 : 2004(1) East Cri C 643.. 2396

Baij Nath v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3526 : 2004 All LJ 1971 : 2004 (49) All Cri C 303 : 2004(3) Crimes 160. 2654

Baijanti Bai v. State of M.P., 2000 Cri LJ 3253 (M.P.). 1715

Baikunth Mahto v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2135 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 569........... 1673

Bajirao Maruti Dale v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 1638 (Bom) : 2004(1) Bom CR (Cri) 685. ....1729, 1749

Bajranga v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 200 (Raj) : 2005 Cri LR (Raj) Rai 1229 : 2005(2) Raj LR 651 : 2005(3) WLC 274.. 2330

Bakhtawar Singh v. State of Punjab, [1994) 2 CC Cases 207 : 1944 (2) SLJ 1122 (P & H). 2046

Bakkiaraj v. State by Inspector of Police, 1997 Cri LJ 429 (Mad). 1708

Bakkiaraj v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 429 (Mad). 2068

Bakshish Ram v. State of Punjab, 2009 (6) SCC 561 : 2009 (2) Crimes 351 (SC) : 2009 (6) JT 431 : 2009 (7) Scale 231 : 2009 (3) Supreme 757 : 2009 (4) SLT 366.................1861, 2978

Bal Kishan v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 CC Cases 119 (P&H). 2357

Bala Baine Linga Raju v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2009 CrLJ 3426 : 2009 (2) Crimes 394 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 706 : 2009 (13) JT 657 : 2009 (7) SCR 595 : 2009 (7) Scale 73 : 2009 (4) Supreme 75 : 2009 (4) SLT 219. .... 1489, 1783

Bala Pandurang Kesarkar v. State of Maharashtra, 2000 Cri LJ 693 (Bom) : 2000(1) Crimes 38 : 2000 Cr Lr (Mah) 172 : 1999(3) Bom LR 334.................... 2491, 2498

Bala Seetharamaiah v. Perik S. Rao, 2004 Cr LJ 2034 : AIR 2004 SC 2172 : 2004(4) SCC 557 : 2004(4) JT 549 : 2004(2) Supreme 741 : 2004(2) Crimes 385 (SC)........................ 2080

Balabhadra Prasad Das v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 1288 (Ori). 2194

Balaji Laxman Itkar v. State of Maharashtra, 2008 CriLJ 3224 (Bom). 2372

Balasaheb v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 Cri LJ 3044 (Bom). 2241

Balbir Singh v. Amarit Kaur, (1995) 1 CC Cases 428 (P & H). 2927

Balbir Singh v. State of Haryana, 1996 Cri LJ 2663 (P & H). 1775

Balbir Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 Crimes 27 : (1955) 1 CCR 459 : 1995 CrR 91 (P&H). 1605

Balbir Singh v. State of UP, 1994 Cri LJ 3400 (Alld) : 1994 UP Cr R 622 : 1994 JIC 823 (All). 1517, 2504

Balbir Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3148 (P&H) : 2003(55) Chand LR (Civ & Cri) 339 : 2003(2) Rec Cri R 204............................ 2086, 2429

Baldeo v. State of U.P., 1993 Cri LJ 1915 (Alld). 2194

Baldev Raj v. State of Punjab, (1995) 2 CC Cases 101 (P & H). 1888

Baldev Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 232 (P & H). 2025

Baldev Singh v. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 963 : 2008 CrLJ 948 : 2008 (14) SCC 768 : 2009 (2) SLT 243 : 2008 (15) Scale 366 : 2008 (16) SCR 826. ....1514, 3069, 2361

Baldev Singh v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 880 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2098 : 2003(9) SCC 45 : 2003(1) Supreme 306 : 2003(1) Crimes 384 (SC)... 1674

Baldev Singh v. State of Punjab, 2009 (3) Crimes 8 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 564 : 2009 (7) JT 334 : 2009 (7) Scale 493 : 2009 (4) Supreme 497 : 2009 (7) SCR 855................................ 1523

Baldev Singh v. State of Punjab, VII (2008) SLT 626. ....1836, 1850

Baldhari Ohdar v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cr LJ 883 (Pat). 2398

Balia v. State of Orissa, (1994) 1 CCR 70 (Ori) ; (1994) 2 East Cr C 282......................... 2343

Baljit Singh v. State of Haryana. AIR 2004 SC 1714,. 1839, 1843

Baljit Singh v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 2574 (P & H). 1838

Baljit v. State of Punjab. (1995) 1 CCR 26 (P&H). 2610

Balkrushna v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Crimes 96 (Bom). 1580

Ballu Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1147. 1577

Balo Yadav v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) Crimes 38 (SC) : 1997(5) SCC 360 : 1997(5) JT 117 : 1997(3) Scale 729 : 1997(4) Supreme 278. 1536

Balram Prasad Agarwal v. State of Bihar, 1995 East Cr C 391 (Pat)..1549, 2962, 2966, 2969.

Balram v. State of UP, 1994 SCC (Cri) 37... 1487

Baltina Dharma Rao v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 362 (AP) : 2006(2) ALD (CRL) 784 : 2005(1) Andh LT (Cri) 381... 2168

Balu Dnyanoba Chandere v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 319 (Bom). .. 2024

Balu Raosaheb Navale v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 366 (Bom) : 2004 Adl MR (Cri) 2602 : 2004(2) Bom CR (Cri) 730.......... 1764

Balu Sendappriyar v. State by Inspector of Police, Patukottaim, 1995 Cr LJ 155 (Mad). 1751

Baluakas Pradip Moreshwar v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Crimes 534 (Bom). 1638

Balwan Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 CC Cases 322 : (1994) 2 RCR 142 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 359 (P & H)........................ 2380

Balwan Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 Cri LJ 2052 (All)... 1774

Balwant Singh v. Balwinder Kaur, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 294 (P & H)........................ 3031

Balwant Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Crimes 745 (SC) : 1994(2) JT 30 : 1994 Supp (2) SCC 67 : 1994(1) Scale 679 : 1994 JCC 258 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 844. ....1516, 2395

Balwant Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 3962 (MP) : 2004 (2) Ker LJ 732 : 2004 (4) MpLJ 423.......... 2259

Balwinder Kumar Sharma v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 483 : (1994) 2 SLJ 1597 (P&H).......... 2963

Balya and Pramod v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 4 Crimes 427 (Bom).......... 1606

Bana Ram v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 461 (Raj).2025

Banamali Saman v. State of Orissa, AIR 1968 SC 43 : 1970 Cr LJ 780 ; 1979 Cr LJ 1086 : AIR 1979 SC 1414.......... 1538, 2299

Bananbar Misra v. State of Orrissa, 2000 Cri LJ 3260 (Orissa) : 2000(1) Cri LR 670 : 2000(18) OCR 720 : 2000(90) Cut LT 630 (Ori)..... 1857

Banarasi Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 1532 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 241 : 2004(1) East Cri C 364.......... 2377

Bandamedi Shanker v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2242 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (CRL 518 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 266.......... 2511

Bandar (Sk.) alias Badiruddin v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 63 (Ori).......... 2083

Bandu Charandas Dighade v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1990 (Bom).......... 2393

Bans Raj v. State of U.P., 1994 Cr R 114.... 1760

Bansidas v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (N) 270 (MP).......... 1923

Bansiya v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimes 75 (Raj).......... 1899

Bantu alias Naresh Giri v. State of M.P. 2002 Cri LJ 211 (S.C.) : 2002 AIR (SC) 70 : 2001 (7) Scale 523: 2001 (8) Supreme 7 : 2001 (7) SLT 577.......... 1513

Banwalal Mandal v. State of Bihar, (1994) 1 Crimes 460 (Pat).......... 1542

Banwarilal Agarwal v. A. Suryanarayan. 1994 Cr LJ 370 (Ori).......... 2610

Baraf Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2005 Cr LJ 3212 (Uttar) : 2005(3) UC 1539 UTR...... 1740

Barakatullakha v. State of Maharashtra 2002 Cr LJ 427 (Bom.) : 2001 All MR (Cri) 2024. 2405

Baran Singh v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3636 (Alld). 2257

Barikanoo v. State of U.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 500 (All).......... 1494

Barkat-ullah v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 4482 (All) : 2004 All LJ 3370.......... 1749

Barkatullakha v. State of Maharashtra, 2002 Cri LJ 427 (Bom) : 2002(1) B Cri C 642 : 2002(2) Femi-Juris CC 168 : 2002(4) CRJ 117 (Bom). 2406, 3071

Basai Venkata Ramana Murthy v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4708 (AP) : 2003(3) ALD (CRL) 33 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 367 : 2003(4) RecCriR 597.......... 2949

Basant Kaur (Smt.) v. State (NCT of Delhi), 2003 Cr LJ 803 (Delhi) : 2002(101) DLT 470 : 2003(66) DRJ 119.......... 2965

Basant Samal v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 98 : (1994) 1 East Cr C 360 (Ori).......... 2496

Basantheswar Prasad v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ 3809 (Jhar.) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1007 : 2003(2) Crimes 163 : 2003(1) East Cri C 641. 2721

Basanti Devi (Smt.) v. State of Bihar, 2002 Cri LJ 161.......... 2974

Basappa Balappa Bhangi v. State of Karnataka, 1999 Cri LJ 2689 (Kant).......... 2071

Basappa v. State of Karnataka, (1995) 3 Kar LJ 649 (Karn).......... 2503

Basco Laurence Fernandes v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 441 (Bom) : 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 304 (Bom).......... 2042

Bashir Shah v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 Crimes 850 (Raj) : 1994 Cr LJ 2526...... 1636

Bass v. State of T.N., 2005 (2) Crimes 648 (Mad).......... 1658

Basudeo v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 927 (All). 1553

Basudev Kar v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1572 (Ori) : 2004(18) All Ind Cas 432 : 2004(1) Orissa LR 318.......... 2086

Baswapuram alias Dontaraboina Narsimloo v. State of A.P., (1995) 2 Crimes 455 (AP). . 1869

Bathula Nagamalleswar Rao v. State, Rep. by Public Prosecutor., AIR 2008 SC 3227 : 2008 (6) SCR 829 (SC) : 2008 (11) SCC 722 : 2008 (6) JT 162 (SC) : 2008 (6) Scale 169 (SC) : 2008 (3) Supreme 129 (SC) : 2008 (4) SLT 646 (SC) : 2008 (6) SRJ 72 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 898 : 2008 (2) Crimes 188 (SC).1539

Batool v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3286 (Raj) : 2003(2) Crimes 101 : 2003(2) Hindu LR 421 : 2003(3) Rec Cri R 683.......... 1897

Batra Ram v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 480 (Raj). 2027

Battilal, Ramjilal and Ramkishore v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 1 WLC (Raj) 190 : 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 41.......... 1626 edaria v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 3 CCR 365 (MP)..2465

engai Mandal alias Begai Mandal vs State of Bihar, 2010 Cri LJ 1420 (SC). 2074, 1720, 1721, 2074, 2075

enumadhab Padi Mohapatra v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 615 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 503 : 2004(1) Crimes 31 : 2003(10) Scale 61 : 2003(8) Supreme 424 : AIR 2003 SCW 6542. 2960

erin P. Varghese v. State of Kerala, 2008 CriLJ 1759 (Ker). 1917, 1983, 3072

eswa v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 455 (Raj). 1548

etu alias Kamal Khan v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1994 MP LJ 874........... 2312, 2315

habakhatwar v. State of Haryana, AIR 1979 SC 1006 : 1979 Cr LJ 883.................... 1507

hag Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (1994) 1 SLJ 70 (HP)....................................... 1518

haga Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 375 : (1995) 2 RCD 31 (Raj) (DB)... 1628

hagat Singh v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 165 (N) (MP). 2331

hagirath v. State of U.P, (1994) 31 ACC 685.1624

hagona v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 84 (MP). 2650

hagwan Das v. State, 1995 JCC 301 (Del). 1620

hagwan Sahai v. Raju and Rajendra Kumar, 1995 Cr LJ 806 (Raj). 1837

hagwan Sahai v. Raju, 1996 Cr LJ 2290 (Raj). 1856

hagwan Singh v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 1262 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 1088 : 2003 AIR SCW 617 : 2003(2) Crimes 82 : 2003(1) Rec Cri R 660. 3061

hagwania v. State of Rajasthan 2001 Cr LJ 3719 (Raj.). 2293, 2364

hagwati Prasad v. State, 1994 Cr LJ 2310 (All). 2483

hairon Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2603 : 2009 CrLJ 3738 : 2009 (3) Crimes 199 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 495 : 2009 (9) SCR 875 : 2009 (8) Scale 634 : 2009 (5) Supreme 153 : 2009 (4) SLT 793 : 2009 (3) JCC 2114..2957

hairon Singh vs State of Rajasthan, 2010 Cri LJ 1177 (Raj).............................. 1942, 2160

haiyyaji v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 87 : 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 227 (Bom). 2066

Bhajan Lal v. State of U.P., (1995) 3 CCR 94 (All)..................................2206, 2208, 2689

Bhakhar Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 Crimes 539 (Raj). 1869

Bhala Kumar v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 268. 1899

Bhalinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CCR 26 (SC) : 1994 JIC 153 : (1994) 1 SCC 726 : (1994) 1 Crimes 294 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 462 (SC)... 2004

Bhalla v. State of M.P., 1992 Cr LJ 3527 (MP) (DB). 1579

Bhalyyaji v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 227 : (1994) 2 Crimes 87 (Bom)... 2061

Bhamber v. State of Punjab, (1995) 2 CC Cases 314 (P & H). 1486

Bhan Raj v. Rajesh, (1995) 1 CC Cases 336 (P & H). 1961

Bhan Singh Lodhi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 287 (MP) : 2003(1) Jab LJ 310 : 2003(2) MPHT 170... 2377

Bhani Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 245 (Raj). 1549

Bhanker v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 88 (Raj)... 2311

Bhansaheb v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 Cri LJ 467 (Bom). 1770

Bhanurao Shanker Lokhande v. State of Maharasthra AIR 1965 SC 1564 : 1965 Cri LJ 544. 2924

Bhanwar Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR 467 (Raj). 2025

Bhanwar Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 RCD 241 (Raj). 1605

Bhanwara Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 2001 Cri LJ 3230 (Raj). 1621

Bhanwaria v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LJ 3742 (Raj). 2344, 2651

Bharamarbar Prusty v. State of Orissa, (1995) 8 OCR 411 (Ori). 1708

Bharat Kishormal Shah vs State of Maharashtra & Anr., 2010 (4) CriLJ 4088 (Bom). 2122

Bharat Pandhari Nath More v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 205 (Bom) : 2004 All MR CCRi 136 : 2004(1) Bom Cr (cri) 958. ....1749, 1822

Bharat v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 1297 : AIR 2003 SC 1433 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 738 : 2003(3) Crimes 79 (SC) : 2003(3) SCC 166......... 1570

Bharatlal v. Topsingh, 1995 Cr LR 139 (MP). 2934

Bharatsinh Pratapsinh Parmar v. State of Gujarat, 2005 (2) Crimes 563 (Guj). 1502

Bharthan Kurmi v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) East Cr C 451 (Pat). 2510

Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat, AIR 1983 SC 753: 1983 Cr LJ 1096. ...., 2309

Bhaskar Chandra Nayak v. State of Orissa, 2009 CriLJ 3875 (Ori). 2657

Bhaskar Ramappa Madar v. State of Karnataka, 2009 (11) SCC 690 : 2009 CrLJ 2422 : 2009 (2) Crimes 80 (SC) : 2009 (4) JT 640 : 2009 (5) SCR 256 : 2009 (5) Scale 100 : 2009 (3) Supreme 5. 2983

Bhaskaran v. State, (1995) 1 LW (Cr) 57 (2) (Mad)........ 1869

Bhau, Gir v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 57 (N) (MP). 1949

Bhaurao Shanker Lokhande v. State of Maharashtra (1965) 2 SCR 837 : AIR 1965 SC 1564; 1965) 2 Cri LJ 544. 2924

Bhavi Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 93 (Raj). 1582

Bhawani Gil alias Deo Karan v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 Crimes 559 (Raj). ... 2356

Bheralal v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 190 (MP). 1766

Bherulal v. State of Rajasthan, 1999 Cri LJ 4257 (Raj). 2764

Bhikha Bhai Patel v. State, AIR 2004 Jhar 662 : 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 177 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 662 : 2003(2) East Cri C 631. 2583

Bhim Singh v. State of Haryana, 2003 Cr LJ 857 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 693 : 2002(10) SCC 461 : 2003(1) Crimes 419 (SC) : 2003(1) Supreme 386 : 2003 SCC (Cr) 1469. 1601

Bhimsen v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 17. 1767

Bhirng v. State of U.P. 2002 CriLJ 271 (All : 2001 All LJ 2337 : 2004(43) All Cri C 268 : 2001(2) All Cri R 1404 : 2002(1) Rce Cri R 51. 2026

Bhirug Revisionist v. State of U.P. 2002 Cri LJ 271 : 2001 All LJ 2337 : 2001(43) All Cri C 268 : 2001(2) All Cri r 1404 : 2002(1) Rec Cri R 51........ 2031

Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v. State of Gujarat AIR 1983 SC 753 = 1983 CriLJ 1096. 2366, 2417

Bhola Dass v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 262 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 88 (P & H). 1824

Bhola Ram Tewari v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 175 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (CRL) 906 : 2003(2) Andh (Cri) AP 490. 2380

Bhola v. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1338 : 2009 CrLJ 1885 : 2009 (11) SCC 460 : 2009 (2) SCR 750 : 2009 (3) Scale 186. 1755

Bhola Yadav v State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 377 (All). 1604

Bhoma Acharya v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 132 : 1994 R Cr C 52. ......1492, 1600

Bhondu v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 172 (All). 1637

Bhoop Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cri LJ 3790 (Raj). 2063

Bhoor ji v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 154 (Raj). .. 1639

Bhoora Singh v. State, 1993 Cri LJ 2636 (Alld). 1517, 1869

Bhoora v. State of U.P., 2002 Cri L.J. 2716 (Allah.) : 2002 All LJ 1023 : 2002(44) All Cri C 830 : 2002 All Cri R 932. 1926

Bhopa S/o Sh. Jiya vs State of Rajasthan, 2010 Cri LJ 1339 (Rajasthan). 2311

Bhudevo Snigh v. State, 2004 CR LJ 4544 : 2004 All LJ 3508 : 2004(50) All Cri C 203 : 2004(3) Crimes 611........ 2087

Bhukhlal Tewari v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 194 (Jhar). 1663

Bhukya Babilal v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 1315 (AP) : 2004(2) ALD (CRL) 689........ 1740

Bhulau v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 21. ....1764. 1766

Bhuneshwar Prasad Chaurasia v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 3541........ 1859

Bhuneshwar Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1008 (Pat). 2511

Bhup Ram vs State of Himachal Pradesh, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4035 (HP)........ 1902

Bhup Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 159 : (1994) 2 CC Cases 527 (P&H). 2608

Bhupesh Ramchandra More v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 (1) Crimes 2 : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 5 : (1994) 2 Bom CR 403 (Bom). 1751

Bhupinder alias Mohinder Singh v. State of Haryana, 2002 Cr LJ 1286 (P&H) : 2001(4) All Cri LR 460. 2365

Bhupinder Sharma v. State of HP, 2004 Cr LJ 1 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 4684 : 2003(8) SCC 551 : 2004 SC Cri R 488 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 31 : 2003(8) Scale 735. ....2354, 2409

Bhupinder Singh v. State of H.P., 1997 Cr LJ 339 (HP)........ 2358

Bhura Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 (2) CC Cases 554 (P & H). 1751

Bhursa v. The State, 2000 Cr LJ 2722 (Orissa). 2403

Bhurya alias Subhan v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 3 Crimes 62 (Bom)........ 1602

Bibhisan Barik v. State, 1995 Cr LJ 390 (Ori). 2004

Bibhishan Kanhar v. State of Orissa, (1994) 3 Crimes 388 (Ori)........ 2765

BibhshanYadav Deshmukh v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 4 Crimes 157 (Bom). 1751

Bihari Lal v. U.T. Chandigarh, (1994) 2 CC Cases 331 (P&H). 2808

Bijay Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 223 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 2252 : 2003(3) East Cri C 530........ 1970

Bijaya Kumar Sahu v. State of Orissa, (1994) 2 Crimes 746 (Ori)........ 2344

Bijendra Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 469 (P&H)........ 2210

Bijendra Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1892 (All) : 2004 All LJ 1019 : 2004(48) All Cri C 544 : 2004(2) All Cri R 1519 : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 193........ 2042

Bijjanki Kishan v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 3780 (AP) : 2005(2) LAD (CRL) 185........ 1868

Biju. Varghese v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 (1) Crimes 698 (Bom)........ 1631

Bikram Dorjee v. State of West Bengal, AIR 2009 SC 2539 : 2009 (2) Crimes 354 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 325 : 2009 (6) Scale 325 : 2009 (6) SCR 884 : 2009 (3) Supreme 772. .... 1746, 2208, 2336, 2628

Bikram Singh v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 211 (Pat). 1530

Bimal Kanti Ghose Dastidar v. Sri Sukhen Roy, (2004) 1 Crimes 544 (Cal)........ 2845

Bimbadhar Parida v. State of Orissa, 1994 SCC (Cri) 26 : 1993(4) JT 551 : 1993 Supp(4) SCC 34 : 1993(3) Crimes 284 : 1993(3) Scale 361. .... 1765, 1769

Bina Dey v. Pratibha Dey, 2003 Cr LJ 3618 (Gau.) : 2003 (3) GauLT 659........ 2977

Bipei Kumar Bhatnagar (Shri) v. Pt. Raghbir Sarma, 1992 Cr LT 66 (P&H). 2599

Bipin Bihari v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 2048 (MP) : 2005(1) MPHT 285 : 2005(2) MPLJ 514........ 1963

Biplab Kumar Chatterjee v. State, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2638 (Cal)........ 2033, 2167, 2175

Bipul Medhi v. State of Assam, 2008 CriLJ 1099 (Gau). 2685

Bira Dang v. Dhyana Dang, (1995) 8 OCR 481 Ori)........ 2922

Bira Naik v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 1169 (Ori). 1516

Birbal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 277 (Raj)........ 1499

Bire v. State of U.P., 2000 Cr LJ 87 (All) : 2000(1) JI 834 (836)........ 2331

Biren Lal v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 526 (Pat)........ 2433

Birendra Sah v. State of Bihar, 2000 Cr LJ 3673 (Pat.) : 2000(1) BLJ 605 (Pat)........ 2308

Bisheshwar Murmu v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 326 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1366 : 2003(4) JCR JHA 468. 2165

Bishnu v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3572 (Del)..... 1966

Bishundeo Poddar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1558 (Pat) : 2003(2) DMC 64 : 2003(3) BLJ 771 : 2002(3) East Cri C 176........ 1615

Biswajit Halder's @ Babu Halder v. State of W.B., 2008 (1) SCC 202 = 2007 AIR SCW 2189,........ 1856, 2981

Biswanath Mallick v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 1416 (Ori)........ 2195

Biswanath Prasad Singh v. State of Bihar. 1994 Cr LJ 242 (SC) : 1994 Supp(3) SCC 97 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1663........ 2610

Bodho Sah v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4215 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1162 : 2003(2) Crimes 151 : 2003(2) JCR Jha 213 : 2003(2) JLJR 316........ 2377

Bodo Lokya v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 255 (AP) : 2005(1) Andh WR 116 (A.P.)........ 1750

Bolineedi Venkataramaiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1994 SC 76 : 1994 Cri LJ 61 (SC) : 1994 Supp(3) SCC 732 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 191........ 1543

Bolleddu Sreenu v. State, (1994) 3 Crimes 602 (AP)........ 2404

Bolleddu Sreenu v. State, Inspector of Police. Jaggayyapeta, (1994) 2 ALT (Cri) 469 (AP). 2404

Boma Mallaih v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 14 (AP) : 2002(2) ALD (CRL) 548: 2002(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 400........ 2961

Bomma Haiah v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2439 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (Crl) 965 : 2003(2) Andh LT AP 340. 2086

Bommidi Malli Kharjuna alias Malka v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2162 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (CRL) 391 : 2004(3) All Cri LR 561 : 2004(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 128 : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 655. 2511

Bommidi Rajamallu v. State of H.P., 2001 Cri LJ 1318 (A.P.). 1887

Bosce Laurence Fernandes v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 441 (Bom) : 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 304 (Bom). 2048

Boya T. Venkatewarlu v. State of A.P. AIR, 2002 SC 2419 : 2002 (10) SCC 208 : 2001 (5) JT 309 : 2001 (5) Supreme 675 : 2001 (4) SLT 489. 1684

Boydell v. Jones, 4 M. & W. 446. 3006

Braham Dass v. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 3181 : 2009 CrLJ 4297 : 2009(8) SCR 908 : 2009(7) SCC 353 : 2009(9) Scale 43 : 2009(8) JT 615 : 2009(4) Crimes 70(SC) : 2009(6) Supreme 646. 1830

Brahmanand v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent CR 358 (P&H). 2495

Braj Behari Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 85 (Pat.). 1502

Brij Bhushan Sharma v. State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 1384 (All) 1648

Brij Lal Bishnoi v. State. 1996 Cri LJ 4286 (Del). 2933

Brij Mohan Datta v. State of Haryana, 1991 (1) CC Cases 180 (P&H) 2720

Brij Mohan Singh v. Priya Brat Narain Singh, AIR 1965 SC 285. 2319

Brij Nandan Rai v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 CCR 769 (Pat). 1554

Brij Pal Singh v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 2533 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2460 : 2003(11) SCC 219 : 2003(4) JT 378 : 2003(4) Crimes 40 (SC) : 2003(2) Supreme 866. 1673

Brij Rani v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 3756 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3566 : 2003(3) Crimes 238 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 301. .... 1669, 1676

Brij Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 CC Cases 328 (P&H). 2631

Brijendra v. State, 1994 All LJ 83 (All). 1466

Brijlal v. Premchand, AIR 1989 SC 166. 1892

Broom v. Richie, (1905) 6 F 942 : 5 Bom 580. 3004

Buchu alias Shyamsundar Hembram vs State of Orissa, 2010 Cri LJ 1070 (Orissa) 1707

Buddin v. State of .U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 116 (All). 1949

Budh Ram v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 115 (All). 2206

Budh Singh v. State of U.P., 2005 CriLJ 2005 (Allahabad) 1782, 2019

Budhan Pandit v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 179 (Jhar). 2063

Budhan v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 72. 2079

Budhi Lal vs State of Uttarakhand, AIR 2009 SC 87 : 2009 CriLJ 360 (SC) 1743, 1773

Budhi v. State of U.P, (1994) 1 Crimes 966 (All). 1708

C

C.A. Thomas Master v. Union of India, 2000 Cri LJ 3729 (SC). 1981

C.B.I. v. Duncans Agro Industries Ltd., Calcutta. 1996 Cri LJ 3501 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 2452 : 1996(5) SCC 591 : 1996(6) JT 227 : 1996(5) Scale 99 : 1996(5) Supreme 462. 2583

C.B.I. v. V.K. Bhutiani, 2009 (10) SCC 674 : 2009(13) Scale 64. .... 2729, 2857, 2861

C.H. Logani v. State of Rajasthan, 1992 RCC 335. 2692

C.K. Sreedharan v. State of Kerala 1999 Cri LJ 758 (Ker). 2597

C.L. Sagar v. Mayawati, 2003 Cr LJ 690 (All) : 2002 All LJ 2860 : 2002 (45) All Cri C 1150 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2880 3035

C.S. Nair v. G.M. State Bank of Travancore, 1996 Cri LJ 4289 (Ker) 2668

Caetano Pacheco v. Antonio Borges. 1994 B Cr C 323 (Bom). 2028

Camilo Rodrigues v. State of Goa, (1995) 1 CCR 160 (Bom). 2336

Camilo Vaz v. State of Goa, 2000 Crl. LJ 1816 (SC) see also 1963 (1) Cr LJ 762 : AIR 1963 HP 18. 1711

Chakhan Lal v. Prem Chand, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1142. 1639

Chakkarvarthy v. State, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 776 (Mad). 1789

Chand Patel v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 3420 (MP) : 2005 Cri LR (SC & MP) Mpi 691 : 2005(4) MPHT 125. 1950

Chand v. state of Haryana 2002 Cr LJ 752 (P&H) : 2002(1) All Cri LR 397 2365

Chandan Paswan v. State of Bihar, 1999 Cr LJ 371 (Pat.). 2310

Chander Kanta v. Krishan Lal, (1994) 2 CC Cases 343 (P&H). 2795

Chander Pal v. Rajpal v. State of Haryana, 2004 Cr LJ 285 (SC) : Air 2004 (SC) 625 : 2003(8) JT 545 : 2003(4) Crimes 460 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 442........ 2086

Chander Prakash alias Chander v. State, (1995) 58 DLT 238 (Del)........ 1581

Chander Singh vs State of Himachal Pradesh, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4031 (HP)........ 2199, 2238

Chandra Devi (Smt.) v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 1075 (Raj.) : 2002(1) Cur Cri R 213 : 2002 (1) Dme 104 : 2002 (1) East Cri C 418. 1845

Chandra Mohan Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2003 Cr LJ 3988 (Uttaranchal) : 2003(12) All Ind Cas 190 : 2003(47) All Cri C 740. 1637

Chandra Mohan Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3988 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1555 : 2003(2) SCC 492 : 2003(1) JT 377 : 2003(1) Supreme 659. 1566

Chandra Papa Rao v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 62 (AP) : 2002(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 300 : 2003(2) DMC 239........ 2966

Chandra Prakash v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3443 (Del)........ 2949

Chandra Sekhar Pandey v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 2 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 266 : 2003(3) East Cri C 344........ 2254

Chandra Sen v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 661 (All)........ 1971

Chandra Shekhar Pandey v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 2 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 266 : 2003(3) East Cri C 344........ 2342

Chandrabai Balu Kapase (Smt) v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Bom CR 503 : (1995) 1 Mah LR 792 : (1995) 2 B Cr C 156 (Bom). 1517, 1634, 1635, 1639

Chandrabhusan v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1995 SC 2406 : 1994(5) SCC 479 : 1994(3) Scale 176 : 1994(4) SLR 464........ 1970

Chandrabhushan Bhimaj Bhushanwar v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 101 (Bom).. 1906

Chandrakant Mahadu Mhaire v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Bom CR 97. 1710

Chandramohan Nair v. State of Kerala, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1750........ 1823

Chandran v. State of Kerala, (1994) 2 KLJ 215 (Ker)........ 1641

Chandrappa v. State of Karnataka. AIR 2008 SC 2323 : 2008 (11) SCC 328 : 2008 (5) JT 540 (SC) : 2008 (6) Scale 454 (SC) : 2008 (4) SLT 278 (SC) : 2008 (6) SRJ 25 (SC)........ 1743

Chandrashekhar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 1 CCR 86 (MP)........ 2433

Chandrawati v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 975 (Del). 1646, 1647

Chandrika Prasad v. Rajaram, (1995) 3 CCR 742 (MP). 1942

Changala Jaya Sankara Rao v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 122 (AP)........ 1906, 1908

Channabasappa v. State by Honnali Police, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3369 (Karn). 2403, 2415, 2425, 2434, 3070

Channappa Advyappa Ambi v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 89 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 3284 (Bom)........ 1651

Charan Hansda v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 189 (Jhar) : Air 2004 Jhar HCR 1610 : 2003(3) East Cri C 152........ 2026

Charan Singh Sharma v. State, 1992 JCC 533 (Del)........ 2720

Charan Singh v. State of UP, (2004) 1 Crimes 423 (426, 427) (SC) : (2004) 4 SCC 205 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 104 : 2004(2) Supreme 421 : 2002(3) Scale 71. 1663

Charipalli Shankarao v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P., Hyderabad, (1995) 1 Andh LT (Cr) 421 (SC) : (1995) 1 Crimes 393 : 1995 JIC 684 : 1995 (32) ACC 430 : 1995 Cr R 253 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 777 : 1995 Supp (4) SCC 24 : 1995 (10 JT 364 : 1995 (1) Scale 192 : 1995 (1) CCR 66 (SC) : 1995 (1) UJ 354 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 21........ 1545, 1636, 1639

Charles Cardozo v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 491 ; 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 6 (Bom)........ 2502

Charna v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 203 (MP). 1967

Chaudhari Ramjibhai Narasanghbhai v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 280 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 313 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 269 : 2003(4) Crimes 471 SC : 2003(8) Supreme 67. ..... 1727, 1783

Chekka Venkataswamy v. State of A.P., (1994) 2 ALT (Cri) 252 (AP)........ 2961

Chellappan Mohandas v. State of Kerala, 1995 SCC (Cr) 366 (SC) : 1998 AIR (SC) 90 : 1995 Supp (1) SCC 259 : 1994 (6) JT 361 : 1994 (4) Scale 351 : 1994 (2) UJ 614. 1487

Chetan v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 554 : 1995 RCrC 237 (Raj)........ 1579

Chhaku Lal Thakur v. State, (2003) 3 East Cri C 160 : 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 146 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1252 : 2003(3) East Cri C 160 : 2003(3) JLJR 674. 2512

Chhanga Ram v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 112 (Raj). 1867

Chhanga v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4306 (MP). .. 1797

Chhatey Singh v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 1015 (All.). 2547

Chhota Tael v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 88 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 331 : 2002(3) East Cri C 4. 2227

Chhota v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 108 (Raj). 1952

Chhotanney v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2013 : 2009 (2) Crimes 139 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 71 : 2009 (3) JT 175 : 2009 (2) SCR 756 : 2009 (3) Scale 171 : 2009 (2) Supreme 443. 1588

Chhotey Lal alias Dulla v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 340 (All). 2059

Chhotey v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 125 (All). . 2548

Chhotu Harijan v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 3926 (Raj). 2344

Chhotu v. State of Haryana, 1996 Cri LJ 4164 (SC) : 1996(7) JT 346 : 1996(6) Scale 80 : 1996(6) Supreme 380 : 1996(3) Crimes 178 (SC). 1970

Chhotu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 82 (P&H) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 561 : 2004(1) DMC 260 : 2004(1) JCJR 33. 1675

Chiddu v. State of Utranchal, 2005 CrLJ 4251 (Utra). 2345

Chimanbhai Jagabhai Patel v. State of Gujarat, AIR 2009 SC 3223 : 2009 (11) SCC 273 : 2009 (2) Crimes 34 (SC) : 2009 (4) JT 102 : 2009 (4) SCR 275 : 2009 (4) Scale 188 : 2009 (2) Supreme 712. 1928

Chinnam Chandraiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1994 Cri LJ 1210 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 959. 1543

Chinnan alias Chinnaswami v. State, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 589 (Mad). 1497, 1615

Chintamani Mohapatra v. State of Orissa, (1995) 4 Crimes 348 (Ori). 2046

Chintamani Seth v. Raghunath Mohanty, 2003 Cr LJ 2866 (Orissa) : 2003 (25) OCR 700.2797

Chitarmal Oil Co. (M/s.) v. State, 1992 (29) ACC 332. 2854

Chitresh Kumar Chopra vs State (Govt. of NCT of Delhi). 2010 AIR SCW 645 : AIR 2010 SC 1446. .... 1890, 1913

Chittar Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 3548 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3590 : 2003(3) Crimes 131 : 2003(7) JT 270 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1377 : 2003(6) SCC 397. 1660

Chora Ban Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 569 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 292 : 2004(1) JCJR 29. 2343

Choudhury Surendranath Mishra v. State of Orissa. (1995) 9 OCR 57 (Ori). 2949

Chouhal Singh v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 237 (Raj). 2253, 2312, 2432

Chowas Mandal v. State of Bihar (Jhar), 2004 CR LJ 1405 (SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 1603 : 2004(1) Crimes 331 : 2004(2) Scale 217 : 2004(1) Supreme 861. 2086

Chunni Lal v. State of Rajasthan. 2000 Cri LJ 2499 (Raj). 1823

Chunnu Lal v. State, 1995 JIC 219 (All). 1767

Cingiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 626 : 1994 Cr LJ 1242 (AP) (DB). 1633

Court on its own motion v. Jaspal Singh, (1995) 2 CC Cases 300 (P&H). 1838

D

D. Atchyutha Reddy v. State of A.P.,& Anr. 2010 (2) CrLJ 1265 (AP). 2727

D. Chinnagurappa v. K. Gopal Reddy, 2004 Cr LJ 3158 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (Crl) 796 : 2004(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 351. 2014

D. Narsimloo v. State of A.P., (1994) 2 APLJ 455 (AP). 1842

D. Surender Reddy v. State of A.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2611 (A.P.). 2972

D. Vyayalakshmi v. D. Sanjeeva Reddy, 2001 Cri LJ 1583 (A.P). 2922

D.A. Jakati v. State of Karnataka, 2005 Cr LJ 2687 (Kant) : AIR 2005 Kant HCR 1289 : 2005(3) All Cri LR 871 : 2005(4) Crimes 382 : 2005(3) Rec Cri R 290. .... 2294, 2364

D.C. Jain v. Union Territory. Chandigarh. (1994)1 RecentCrR 202 (P&H). 2588

D.V. Shanmugham v. State of A.P., 1997 (2) Crimes 41 (SC) : 1997(5) JT 4 : 1997(5) SCC 349 : 1997(3) Scale 638 : 1997(2) CCR 36 (SC) : 1997(4) Supreme 267. 1972

D' Souza v. Annappa. 1932 MWN 478. 2127

Daba Munda alias Jaga v. State, (1995)1 Crimes 814 (Ori). 1577

Dabbetti Pedda Rajaiah v. Rachakonda Rajkumari, (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 126 (AP)... 2835

Dagghopati Jayalashmi (Smt.) v. State, 1993 Cri LJ 3162 (AP)..2966

Dalbir Singh v. State of Haryana, 2000 Cri LJ 2283 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 1677 : 2000(5) JT 463 : 2000(4) Scale 323 : 2000(3) Supreme 749. .... 1802, 1825

Dalbir Singh v. State of U.P., 2004 Cr LJ 2025 : AIR 2004 SC 1990 : 2004 (5) SCC 334 : 2004 (3) Supreme 506 : 2004 (2) Crimes 471 (SC) : 2004(4) JT 455. 1889

Daler Singh v. State of Haryana, 1995 Cr LJ 614 (P & H). 2356

Dalip Kumar v. State (Delhi Administration), (1994) 3 CC Cases 152 (Del). 2547

Dalip Kumar v. State, (1995) 1 East Cr C 38 (Del). 2548

Dalip Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 239 (P&H). 2065

Dalip Singh's case, AIR 1953 SC 364 = 1953 Cri LJ 1465...................................... 1792, 1826

Damarudhar Nath v. State of Assam, 2004 Cr LJ 1129 (Gau) : 2004(2) Gau LT 1. 1759

Damber Bahadur Chettri v. State of Sikkim, 2005 Cr LJ 808 (Sikkim). 1767

Dammu Ireenu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2185 (AP) : 2003 (1) ALD (Crl) 664 : 2003 (2) CW Cri R 475. 1896

Dammu Sreenu v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2532 : 2009 CrLJ 3728 : 2009 (3) Crimes 35 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 478 : 2009 (9) SCR 858 : 2009 (8) Scale 731 : 2009 (4) Supreme 525....................................... 1895

Damodharan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 279 (Mad). 1729

Dana Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1993 Cr LR 597 (Raj). 2726

Darnsing Durgasing v. State of Gujarat, 2006 Cr LJ 720 (Gujarat)................................... 3037

Daroga v. Emperor, AIR 1930 Pat 347........ 1736

Daropadi Devi (Smt.) v. Daulat Ram, (1995) 1 Crimes 617 (P&H)................................. 2763

Darsban Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Crimes 742 (P & H) : (1994) 2 CC Cases 102 : (1994) XXI Cr LT 147..........1823, 1825, 2270

Darshana Devi v. State of Punjab, (1995) 4 Crimes 225 : (1995) 3 CC Cases 122 (SC) : 1995 Supp(4) SCC 126 : 1995(7) JT 269 : 1995(5) Scale 695 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 38.... 1635

Dasarathi @ Bhalana Nath Madal v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) East Cr C 435 (Pat). 2629

Dashavatar Gopalkrishna Bade vs State of Maharashtra, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4056 (Bom). 1812, 1820

Dashrath Bhuiyan v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 35 (Pat). 1905

Dattatraya v. Dilip, 1991 (2) Crimes 413 (Bom). 2724

Daula Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr. LR 368 (Raj). 1603

Daulat Radhu Bhatjia v. State. (1994) 2 CC Cases 433 (Del). 2717

Daulat Ram v. State of Punjab, 1997 (2) Crimes 63 (SC).. 1521

Dautla Radhu Bhatija v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 2158 (Del). 2714

David v. State, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 40 (Mad). 1760

Daya Nand Malik v. State of Haryana, 1994 (1) SLJ 720 (P&H). 2846

Daya Nand v. State of U.P., 1996 Cr LJ 4263 (Alld). 2316

Daya Nand Yadav (in Jail) v. State of U.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2230 (All.) : 2002 All LJ 818 : 2002(44) All Cri R 650 : 2002(1) All Cri R 318 : 2002(2) Crimes 7. 1926

Dayal v. Union of India. AIR 1963 Him Pra 18: (1963 (1) Cri LJ 762). 1855

Dayanandhi Nayak v. State of Orissa 2002 Cri LJ 371 (Orissa) : 2002(1) CCR 29 (Ori). 2912, 2913

Dayanidhi Bisoi v. State of Orissa, 2003 Cr LJ 3697 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3915 : 2003(9) SCC 310 : 2003(5) Supreme 74 : 2003(3) Crimes 167 (SC).................................... 1678

Dayaram v. State of M.P., 1995 C LR (MP) 272. ....1576, 1616

Debendranath Bhai v. State of Orissa, (1995) 1 Crimes 26 (Ori). 2480

Debu v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 1903 (On). 1620

Dedukula Khabala v. State of A.P. 1996 Cr LJ 2196 (AP). 1767

Dee Cee Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 3 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 293 (P & H). 1530

Deen Dayal v. State of U.P., AIR 2009 SC 1238 : 2009 CrLJ 1119 : 2009 (1) Crimes 243 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 157 : 2009 (1) JT 170 (SC) : 2009 (1) SCR 56 : 2009 (1) Scale 408 (SC) : 2009 (1) SLT 341 : 2009 (1) JCC 540 (SC). 1837, 1854, 1876, 2981

Deep Chand v. State of Haryana, 1993 (2) Recent Cr R 369 (P&H). 2712

Deep Chand v. State of U.P., 1994 All Cr C 466 (All) (DB). 1614

Deepak Kumar Goyal v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 453 (Raj)............................ 2955

Deepak Kumar v. Ravi Virmani, AIR 2002 SC 1320 : 2002 Cr LJ 1781 : (2002) 2 SCC 737 : 2002(1) Supreme 458 : 2002(1) JT 555 : 2002(1) Sale 570. 1688

Deepak Kumar v. State of A.P., (1994) 2 ALT 6 (NRC) : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 601 (AP). 1863

Deepak Naragauappa Teware v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B CR C 223 (Bom). 1576

Deepak Narayanappa Teware v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B Cr C 223......... 1477

Deepak Sunderlal Pardeshi v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B Cr C 448 (Bom). 1971

Deepak v. Chander Kanta, (1994) 2 Recent CR 55 (P & H). 2013

Deepak v. State of M.P., 1994 Cri LJ 767 (MP). 1903

Deepak v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 CrLJ 2219 (Bom). 1908

Deepak v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 4736 (Raj) : 2003(3) Raj Cri C 1642 : 2003(3) Raj LR 716. 2529

Deivendran v. State of Tamil Nadu (1997) 4 Crimes 181: (1988 Cri LJ 814) (SC),. 1654

Dellu v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 103 (N). 2506

Deokabai v. Namdeo Dhoke, (1995) 2 Crimes 443 (Bom). 2954

Deoki Devi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 204 (Jhar.) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 924 : 2003(2) JCR JHA 682 : 2003(3) JLJR 95. 1659

Deomuni Sharma v. State of Jharkhand., AIR 2009 SC 2731 : 2009 (9) SCR 587 (SC) : 2009 (8) Scale 303 (SC) : 2009 (4) Supreme 459 (SC) : 2009 (6) SLT 83 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 490 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3948 (SC)... 1764, 1946

Deori Bankere v. the State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 3579 (Jharkhand). 2221

Desari Narayana Rao v. Smt. B.V.S. Lakashmi. 1994 (2) APLJ 150............................... 2588

Desari Siva Pd. Reddy v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P., 2004 Cr LJ 4868 : AIR 2004 SC 4383 : 2004(5) SLT 147 (SC) : AIR 2004 SCW 5068 : 2004 ALD (Cri) 677 : 2004(7) Scale 59. 1480

Deshraj Yadav v. State of M.P., 2002 Cri LJ 467 M.P. : 2002(1) Jab LJ 47 : 2002(1) MPLT 520. ....1722, 1855

Dev Kishan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1118 (Raj) : 2002(3) Raj LR 441 : 2003(4) Raj LW 2606 : 2003(1) WL 661.................................... 2409

Dev Raj v. State of Punjab, AIR 1992 SC 950 : 1992 Cr LJ 1292 : 1992(2) JT 302 : 1992(1) Crimes 980 : 1992 SCC (Cri) 519 : 1992(1) Scale 608... 2087

Dev Singh v. State of Punjab, 2000 Cri LJ 347 (P&H)...1716, 1753

Deva Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 574. 1469

Deva v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 160 : 1995 Cr LR 837 (Raj)............................ 1545

Devalla Raghavulu v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 1041 (AP) : 2005(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 9 : 2005 (2) Rec Cri R 344.........................2330, 2364.

Devanand Diwan v. State of M.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 173 (MP). 2404

Devanand v. State (NCT of Delhi), 2003 Cr LJ 242 (Del) : 2003(102) DLT 708 : 2003(66) DRJ 703 : 2003(1) Rec Cri R 771.......... 2378

Devatha Venkataswamy v. State of AP, 2003 Cr LJ 4332 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3217 : 2003(10) SCC 700 : 2003(4) Crimes 235 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 101. 1528

Devender Pal Singh v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 918 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 886 : 2003(2) SCC 501 : 2003(1) Supreme 316 : 2003(1) Crimes 393 (SC)... 1677

Devesh Dattabhau Pathrikar v. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3560 (Bombay) (Aurangabad). 1888, 1902, 1916

Devi Lal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 80 (Raj)... 1478

Devinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 525 (P & H)..............1798, 1861

Devinder v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 78 (P&H). 2958

Devndar Singh v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 4160 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3501 : 2005(53) All Cri C 787 : 2005(4) All Cri LR 559 : 2005(6 Supreme 478. 1869

Devo v. State, 1994 Cr LJ 2971 (HP)......... 2291

Devykinandan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1502 (MP) 2003(2) All Ind Cas 123 : 2003(3) Rec Cri 379 : 2003 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPJ 55. 1896

Dewan Chand v. State of Haryana, (1992) 2 Crimes 1 (P&H). 2712, 2719, 2720

Dhan Raj v. Rajesh, (1994) 2 SLJ 996 (P&H). 2808

Dhanaj Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2004 SC 1920 : 2004 Cr LJ 1807 : AIR 2004 SCW 1609 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 148 : 2004(2) Crimes 2 : 2004(3) Scale 93........ 1499, 1657, 1668

Dhananjoy Chaterji v. State of West Bengal, 1994 JIC 260 ; (1994) 1 CCR 89 ; (1994) 2 Crimes 319 ; 1994 SCC (Cr) 358 ; (1994) 2 SCC 220 ; (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 388 ; (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 429 ; (1994) 1 East Cr C 245 (SC)..2315

Dhananjoy Chatterjee alias Dhana v. State of West Bengal, (1994) 2 S.C.C 220. 1641

Dhandapani v. Dhandapani, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 406 (Mad)..2063

Dhandapani v. State, 2005 CriLJ 2847 (Madras).. 1677

Dhanna s/o Lalu Kalbelia v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 698 (Raj)..............................2224

Dhanpal Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2724 : 2004(111) DLT 464 : 2004(74) DRJ 506. 1822

Dhanraj v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 127 (All). 2356

Dharam Chand Rajbhar v. State of West Bengal, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2516 (Cal). 1923, 1940

Dharam Chand v. State of Punjab, AIR 2009 SC 1304. 1842

Dharam Jeet Khera v. State, (1994) 2 CC Cases 292 : (1994) 3 Crimes 22 (Del)...............2792

Dharam Pal v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 Crimes 629 (P&H)..................................2085

Dharam Pal v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 Crimes 291 : (1994) 2 Recent CR 283 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 332 (P&H)................ 2718, 2720

Dharam Pal v. State, 2004(3) Crimes 220 (All) : 2004 Cr LJ 3879 : AIR 2005 (SC) 4122 : 2004(6) SCC 513......................... 2214, 2227

Dharam Pat v. State of U.P., 1995 SCC (Cr) 140 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 127 : 1994 Supp(3) SCC 668 : 1994 Cr LJ 615. 1609

Dharamendra Singh alias Mansing Ratansingh v. State of Gujarat, 2000 Cri LJ 2631 SC. 1692

Dharampal v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 407 (P & H). 1811

Dharamvir Singh v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 192 (Gau) : 2003 All LJ 1241 : 2003(3) Cri R 123.. 1607

Dharmapal v. State of Punjab, 1993 Cri LJ 2856 (SC).. 1947

Dharmendar v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 CC Cases 177 (P & H). 1554

Dharmender alias Chiniya v. State of Haryana. (1995) 2 CC Cases 177 : (1995) 3 Crimes 815 : 1995 Cr LJ 3119 (P&H). 1602, 1485

Dharmindhar Rana v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 114 : (1994) 1 East Cr C 278 (Ori)......... 2502

Dheera v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 396 : 1994 UP Cr R 400 (All)..........................2083, 2084

Dhir Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2001 Cr LJ 235 (Raj). 2298

Dhiraj Bhai Gorakhbhai Nayak v. State of Gujarat, 2003 Cr LJ 3723 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2855 : 2003(9) SCC 322 : 2003(6) JT 189 : 2003(3) Crimes 219 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 223. 1660

Dhirubhai (Shri) v. Shri Tulsi, (1995) 8 OCR 22. 2851

Dhirubhai v. Tulsi, (1995) 8 OCR 22 (Ori). 2625, 2851

Dhoba v. State of Orissa, (1994) 2 Crimes 823 (Ori). 1603

Dhruvdeo Mishra v. State of Bihar, 1991 (1) PLJR 121......................................2665, 2673

Dhyandevrao L Waghmode v. Allaabuksh Gulab Nadab 1999 Cri LJ 1754 (Bom). 3001

Digambar Gope v. State of W.B., 1997 Cri LJ 2072 (Cal). 1980

Digamber Baburao Ingavale v. State of Maharashtra, 2008 CriLJ 2418 (Bom). .. 2117

Dilawar v. State, 1994 UP Cr R 288 (All).... 1949

Dilbagh Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 215 (P & H). 1945

Dilbagh Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2466 (P&H) : 2003(2) All Cri LR 384 : 2003(1) Rec Cri R 786. 2626

Dildar Peer Mohammad Khan v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 403 (Bom).... 2487

Dildar Singh v. State of Punjab, 2006 CriLJ 3914 (SC)..................................2389, 2416

Dilip Darjee v. State of Sikkim, 2002 Cri LJ 1063 (Sikkim) : 2002(2) Crimes 527.............. 2641

Dilip Maheshwari v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 80 (MP). 2433

Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari vs State of Maharashtra, 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT

1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC). 1555, 1557, 1579, 1677, 1680. 1683. 1687

Dilip Ranjan Sinha v. Manojbhai, Bhai Shankar Chandalia, 2002 Cri LJ 3239 (Guj.). 3026

Dilip Singh v. State of Haryana, 1993 Cri LJ 2092 (SC). 1704

Dilip Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) RCC 520. .... 1779, 1894

Dilip v. State of Gujarat 1999 Cr LJ 704 (Guj). 2359

Dilkish F. Dessai v. State, (1994) 3 Crimes 1046 (Bom) 2457

Dina and Dinabhandh v. State, (1995) 4 Crimes 480 (Ori)... 1763

Dina Bawari v. State of Assam 2002 Cri LJ NOC 9 (Gau) : 2001(4) Cur Cri R 355 : 2001(3) Gau LR 101.. 1644

Dinbandhu Mahapatra v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1931 (Ori) : 2004(27) OCR 228. 2490

Dinesh Chaudhary v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 4360 (Pat) : 2004 (3) BLJ 488. ..... 2713, 2766

Dinesh Gopal Bhure v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3083 (Bom) : 2003(4) Crimes 502 : 2003 All MR (cri) 637. 1637

Dinesh Jaiswal vs State of M.P., 2010 AIR SCW 1606 : AIR 2010 SC 1540...2401, 2402, 2418

Dinesh Kumar Singh v. State of U.P. 1995 UR Cr R 22 (All). 2955

Dinesh Seth v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4532 (Delhi) : 2003(70) DRJ 556. 2977

Dinesh v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 1452 (Raj) : 2005 All MR (Cri) 193 : 2005(30) OCR 317 : 2004(1) Orissa LR 127 : 2005(2) Rec CriR 677. 2353

Dinesh v. State of Rajasthan, 2006 AIR SCW 1123 = 2006 (3) SCC 771,. 1640, 1682, 2293, 2300

Dinesh v. State, 1995 JCC 549 (Del). 1631

Dinkar Vishram v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 269 (Bom)............................ 1609

Director of Public Prosecutions v. Camplin (1978) 2 All ER 168.. 1805

Divakar Mishra v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 184 (MP). 1961

Diwakar Maniram Kohale v. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (2) CriLJ 1411 (Bom.). 2750

Doongar Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2000 Cr LJ 1646 (Raj) : 2000(3) RecCri R 534 : 2000(2) Cur Cri R 608 (Raj). 2328

Dubraj Oraon v. State of Bihar (now Jharkhand), 2007 CriLJ 4667 (Jhar)........................ 1605

Dudala Edukondalu v. Eduru Ramanaiah, (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 73 (AP). 2257

Dukhi Ram v. State of U.P. 1993 Cri LJ 2539 (Alld). 2964

Dulal Chandra Baruah v. Union of India, 1992 Cri LJ 3118 (Gau). 2618

Dumpala Chandra Reddy v. Nimakayala Balireddy, AIR 2008 SC 3069 : 2008 (10) SCR 938 (SC) : 2008 (8) SCC 339 : 2008 (8) JT 117 (SC) : 2008 (10) Scale 178 (SC) : 2008 (5) Suprem 129 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3936 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 493 : Crimes 71 (SC). 2091

Duresh Gupta (Dr.) v. Govt. of NCT of Delhi, 2004 Cr LJ 3870 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 4091 : 2004 (3) Crimes 149 : 2004 (6) Scale 432....... 1814

Durga Charan v. State of Delhi 2000 Cri LJ 3530 (Delhi) : 2000(86) DLT 795 : 2000(2) Chand Cri C 270 : 2000(3) Cur Cri R 681 (Del)...2924, 2925

Durga Prasad v. State of M.P., 2010 (3) CrLJ 3419 (SC)....................................1856, 2981

Durga v. Viswanathan, 1994 MLJ (Cri) 617. 2683

Durgashankar alias Durgalal v. State of M.P., 2006 CriLJ 2494 (DB) (MP).................... 2233

Duryodhan Patra v. State of Orissa, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2505 (Orissa)............2614, 2631, 2861

Dusadan Bhoi v. State of Orissa, 1996 Cri LJ 3806 (Ori). 1966

Dwarika Prasad Soni v. State of M.P., 2002 Cr LJ 1080 (M.P.) : 2002(3) Cur Cri R 196 : 2002(7) DMC 122 : 2002(2) Hindu LR 720. 1893

Dwarkadas Rameshwar Paldiwal v. Satyanarayan Makhanlal Gododiya 1999 Cri LJ 4425 (Bom). 2608

E

E.K. Chandrasenan v. State of Kerala, 1995 Cr LJ 2060 (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 329 : (1995) 2 SCC 99 : (1995) 1 Crimes 421 : (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 464 (SC). 2004

Ekambaram v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 278 (Mad) : (2003) 1 Mad LW (Cri) 282......... 1727

Eknath Pandari Tari v. State of Goa, 1994 B Cr C 329.............. 2748

Ekos Joseph Vargese v. State of Maharashtra, 1999 Cri LJ 1430 (Bom)............... 1926

Ekram Khan vs State of Jharkhand, 2010 Cri LJ 1536 (Jharkhand)............... 2218, 2230

Elango v. State, 2000 Cri LJ 4343 (Madras). 1837

Elbish Guriya vs State of Jharkhand, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4014 (Jhar)............... 2376, 2797

Emlen Henry v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 11 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 165 : 2004(1) DMC 227 : 2003(2) East Cri C 653 : 2003(3) JCR JHA 249............... 2041

Emperor v. More Balvant, 15 Bom LR 1039.2177

Essar Constructions Ltd. v. Central Bereau of Investigation, 1999 Cri LJ 1861 (Bom)... 2702

Eswaran @ Shanmugavel v. State, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3180 (Mad)............... 1702, 1772

F

Fanibhusan Behara v. State of Orissa, (1995) 1 East LJ 244 (Ori)............... 2334

Farooq v. State of Kerala, 2002 CrLJ 2534 (SC) : AIR 2002 SC 1825 : 2002 (4) SCC 697 : 2002 (2) Crimes 183 (SC) : 2002 (3) Supreme 199. 1689

Fattu alias Fateh Singh v. State of M.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 279 (MP)............... 2067

Franco 'D' Souza v. State of Goa, 2000 Cri LJ 1985 (Bom)............... 1753

Fulo Devi v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 531 (Pat)............... 1638

Furniss v. Cambridge Daily News Ltd., (1907) 23 TLR 706............... 3011

G

G. Janardhana Reddy v. A. Narayana Reddy, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2660 (AP)............... 3027

G. Nageswara Rao v. State of A.P., 1992 (3) ALT 546............... 2724

G. Ramachandraiah v. State, 1993 (2) ALT (Cri) 292............... 2698

G. Satyanarayana Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh. (1994) 2 Crimes 318 (SC) : 1994 Supp(2) 287 : 1994(4) JT 216 : 1994(2) Scale 857 : 1994(1) UJ 685 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1239. .... 1544, 2079

G.D. Ghai v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 1024 : 2004(2) Crimes 34 : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 561 : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 205............... 1805

Gajanan Singh v. State of Maharashtra, 1996 Cri LJ 2921 (Bom)............... 1891

Gajipisetty Madhu v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3978 (AP) : 2004(2) ALD (CRL) 452............... 2338

Gajroo v. State of U.P., 1994 Cr LJ 501 (All).2522

Gajula Surya Prakasarao v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 (1) SCC 88 : 2009 (4) Crimes 199 (SC) : 2009 (13) Scale 656 : 2009 (14) JT 203 : 2009 (8) SLT 546. .... 1524, 1530, 1975, 1943

Gamina Bala Koteswara Rao v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2009 (4) Crimes 87 (SC) : 2009 (10) SCC 636 : 2009 (12) JT 416 : 2009 (12) Scale 611 : 2009 (14) SCR 1 : 2009 (6) Supreme 718 : 2009 (7) SLT 745............... 1596

Gamparai Hrudayaraju v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2364 : 2009 CrLJ 2845 : 2009 (2) Crimes 259(SC) : 2009 (5) JT 475 : 2009 (5) Scale 595 : 2009 (3) Supreme 447 : 2009 (6) SCR 396............... 1475

Gananath Jena v. State of Orissa, (1995) 9 OCR 484 (Ori)............... 2311

Ganapati Dnyanu Patil v. State of Maharashtra. 1997 Cri LJ 485 (Bom)............... 2605, 2608

Ganesan v. State rep. by Sub-Inspector of Police, Central Crimes Branch, Egmore, Madras, (1995) 1 LW (Cr) 97 (Mad)............... 2721

Ganesan v. State, 1995 (1) LW (Cri) 97 (Mad). 2723

Ganesh Chandra Dilingia. v. D.S.P.E. (CBI), (1995) 3 Gau LR 186............... 2631

Ganesh Chandra Pati v. Baidhar Pati, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 99 (Orissa) : 2004(27) OCR 226. 2459

Ganesh Dhar Dubey v. Prem Pd. Srivastava, Branch Manager, State Bank of India, Govindpur Branch, District Sonbhadra, 1994 UP Cr R 98 (DB)............... 2713

Ganesh v. Bhutekar State, 2005 Cr LJ 1221 (Bom) : 2005 All MR (CRI) 440 : 2005 Mat LR 326............... 1837

Ganesh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 441 (Raj)............... 2332, 2388

Ganeswar Bhola v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 80 (Ori)............... 2013

Ganga Dayal Singh v. State of Bihar, (1994) 1 PLJR (SC) 108 ; 1994 Cr LJ 951 : AIR 1994 SC 859............... 2256, 2266, 2343

Ganga Paller v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4339 : AIR 2003 (SC) 3191 : AIR 2003 SCW 4547 : 2003(7) Scale 387 : 2003(6) Supreme 649. 1744

Ganga Singh v. State of UP, 2000 Cri LJ 1965, (All). 1753

Ganga Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 653 (All) : 2002 All LJ 2659 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2652. 1674

Ganga v. State, 1999 Cri LJ 488 (Orissa)... 1489

Gangula Mohan Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2110 (SC).......... 1912

Ganpal v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 280 (All). 1961

Ganpat Kondiba Chavan v. State of Maharashtra. 1997 (2) Crimes 38 (Bom). 1662

Ganpat Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 2246 (Raj.). 2973

Ganpat v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 CC Cases 200 (P&H). 2028

Garjan Sahu v. State of Orissa, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1880 (Ori)..........1508, 1693, 1782

Gauri Shankar v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 297 : (1995) 3 CCR 346 : (1995) 4 Crimes 96 (Raj) (DB).......... 1614

Gaurish v. State of Goa, 1997 Cr LJ 1018 (Bom). 2194, 2316

Gautam Maroti Umale v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1721. 2641

Gaya Yadava v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 1564 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1759 : 2003(2) Crimes 257 : 2003(3) JT 479 : 2003(9) SCC 122 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1767.......... 1659

Gayadhar Naik v. State of Orissa, 1997 Cri LJ 1950 (Ori).......... 1706

Geeta Rani v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 397 (P&H). 2628

Geetam Singh v. Slatig U.P. 2001 Cri LJ 4791 (All). 1479

Gellapudi Satyam v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 762 (AP) : 2001(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 503 : 2001(1) Crimes 408 : 2002(1) Cur Cri R 202. 1927

Gendom Lal v. State of U.P., 1996 Cri LJ 4252 (Alld). 2018

Gengia v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 193 (Raj). 1508

Gentela Vijaya Vardhan Rao v. State of A.P., 1996 Cri LJ 4151 (SC). : 1996 AIR (SC) 2791 : 1996(7) JT 491 : 1996(6) SCC 241 : 1996 (6) Scale 231 : 1996 (6) Supreme 356 : 1996 (3) Crimes 197 (SC) : 1996(3) SCJ 247 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 1290 : 1996 (6) AD (SC) 352 : 1997 (2) CCR 119 (SC).......... 1520

George Zacharia alias Raju Karuvampiakka v. T.K. Varghese, (1995) 1 CCR 33 (SC) : (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 137 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 374 : 1995 MLJ (Cr) 302 (SC).......... 2689

Ghansham Dashrath Waghmore v. State of Maharashtra. 2004 Cr LJ 4889 (Bom) : 2004 (4) Crimes 188 : 2004 (2) Bom CR (Cr) 837 ; 2004 (7) All MR (Cri) 1847.......... 1729

Ghansham Dass v. State of Haryana, (1993) 1 Recent CR 34 (P&H). 2588

Ghansham v. State of Maharashtra, 1996 Cr LJ 27 (Bom). 1775

Ghanshyam Das Kuffepar v. State of Bihar, 1994 (2) East Cr C 210 (Pat).......... 2600

Ghanshyam Panjiyar v. State, (2004) 2 Crimes 428 (Pat) : 2004 Cr LJ 2642 : 2004 (19) All ind Cas 445 : 2004 (4) Cur Cri R 4 : 2004 (2) MPHT 153.......... 2227

Ghanshyam Punjiyar v. State, 2004(2) Crimes 428 (Pat) : 2004 CR LJ 2642 : 2004(19) all Ind Cas 445 : 2004(4) Cur Cri R 4 : 2004(2) MPHT 153.......... 2210

Ghanshyam v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 1663 (Raj). 1730

Ghanshyam v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 310 : 1994 JIC 294 : 1994 (23) ALR 561 : 1994 U.P. Cr R 226 (All).......... 1631

Ghasiram Lakra v. State of Orissa, 1997 Cri LJ 939 (Ori). 1754

Ghewar Ram v. State of Rajasthan 2001 Cr LJ 4460 (Raj). 2313

Ghisa Lai Saini v. State of Rajasthan, (1992) 1 RLR 543.......... 2720

Ghunsal alias Lalee alias Ram Singh v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 203 (MP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 902 : 2004(2) Cri R 332 : 2004(1) DMC 693 : 2004(1) Hindu LR 332.......... 1957

Ghuttar Turi v. State, 2004 AIR Jhar 1622 : 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 136 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1622 : 2003(3) East Cri C 118....... 2529

Giani Harjit Singh v. Parmjit. 1995 Cr R 859 (P&H).......... 2596

Gilbert Pereria v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 4837 : AIR 2004 SC 4454 : 2004(6) Supreme 644 : 2004(4) Crimes 65 : 2004(8) SRJ 220 : 2004(3) JCC 1347..........1479, 1668

Girdhar Shankar Tawade v. State of Maharashtra, 2002 Cri LJ 2814 (SC) : AIR

2002 (SC) 2078 : 2002(5) SCC 177 : 2002(4) JT 357 : 2002(4) Scale 44 : 2002(3) Supreme 583. 1894

Girdhari v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 546 (P & H). 2065

Girideb v. State, (1995) 8 OCR 212 (Ori). ... 2405

Giridhar Shankar Tawade v. State of Maharashtra, 2002 (5) SCC 177 = 2002 Cri LJ 2814........ 1910, 2984

Girija Shankar v. State of UP, AIR 2004 SC 1808 : 2004(3) SCC 793 : 2004(1) Supreme 876 : 2004 Cr LJ 1388 : 2004(1) Crimes 337 (SC). 1962

Girijanandini v. Bijendra Narain, reported in AIR 1967 SC 1124. 2761

Girinath Singh vs State of Jharkhand & Ors., 2010 (4) CriLJ 4006 (Jhar). 2035, 2139, 3048

Girish Singh v. State of Uttaranchal., AIR 2008 SC 3136 : 2008 (8) SCR 47 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 586 (SC) : 2008 (6) SLT 194 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1417 (SC) : 2008 (3) RecentCR 58 (SC)........1828, 1854

Girish v. State, 2004(2) Crimes 9 (Ker) :AIR 2004(SC) 1933 : 2004 Cr LJ 1791 : 2004(1) DMC 586 : 2004(3) JT 560 : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 330 : 2004(4) SCC 470 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1306 : 2004(2) Supreme 478. 2503

Glucose India Private Ltd. v. Metalman Industries Ltd., 2003 Cr LJ 3368 (MP) : 2003(9) All Ind Cas 197 : 2003(3) MPLJ 161. 2722

Gobind Oraon v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 PLJR 233. 1486

Godavaribai Saiyal (Smt.) v. I.D. Chandani, 1995 (2) Bom CR 470. 2669

Godugula Adellu v. State of A.P., 2008 CriLJ 206 (AP). 1694, 1917

Gokak Patel Valkart Ltd. v. Dundayya Gurushiddaih Hiremath, 1991 (2) SCC 141 : 1991 AIR SCW 505........ 2604

Gokaraju Venkatanarasa Raju v. State of A.P., 1994 SCC (Cri) 376 : 1994 JIC (SC) : 1993(5) JT 71 : 1993(3) Scale 495 : 1993(3) Crimes 235. 1605

Gokul v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1100 (All) : 2003 All LJ 138 : 2003(46) All Cri C 174 : 2003(1) All Cri R 386. 2394

Golak Chandra Nayak v. State of Orissa, 1993 Cri LJ 274 (Ori). 2049

Golam Mustafa Laskar v. State of W.B., 2005 (3) East Cr C 32 (Cal) : 2005(2) All Cri LR 350 : 2005(1) All Cri LR 350 : 2005(1) Crimes 685 : 2005(1) Cal HN 184........2327, 2377

Golapi Bibi v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2209 (Gau) : 2004(1) Gau LT 607 : 2004(2) Gau LR 338: 2004 Cr LJ 2211 (Gau) : 2004(3) All Cri LR 608 : 2005(1) Bank Cas 170 : 2004 Mad LJ (Cri) 438 : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 628........ 2263

Golo Mandha Ram Rao v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1738 (Jha) : 2004 AIR Jhar HCR 453 : 2003 (3) East Cri C 372. 2895

Gomathi v. Vijayaraghavan, 1995 Cr LJ 81 (Mad). 2921

Gonpat Waman Shelar v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Mah LR 688 (Bom)........ 1624

Gopa Bagarty v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 1171 (Ori). 1705

Gopa Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cri LJ 2987 (Raj). 2196

Gopal Anjayya v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Mah LR 265 (Bom). 1738

Gopal Kishan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2851 (P&H) : 2003(2) Marai LJ 339 : 2003(2) Rec Cri R 253. 2343

Gopal Lal v. State of Rajasthan AIR 1979 SC 713 : 1979 (2) SCR 1171: 1979 (2) SCC 170: (1979 Cri LJ 652). 2923, 2925

Gopal Lekharu v. State of Assam, 2005 Cr LJ 4719 (Gau) : 2006 ALJ 163 N : 2005 (4) Gau LT 77. 2917

Gopal Sah v. State of Bihar, 2008 (16) Scale 224 : 2009 (1) SLT 369 : 2009 (1) JCC 322. ....1598, 1779

Gopal Singh v. State of Bihar, 1995 SCC (Ori) 146 (SC)........ 1625

Gopal Singh v. State of M.P., (1995) 2 CCR 721 (MP). 2106

Gopal Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2007 CriLJ 1972 (Uttaranchal)........ 1599

Gopal v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1928 : 2009 (11) SCC 314 : 2009 (2) JT 419 : 2009 (2) SCR 423 : 2009 (2) Scale 704 : 2009 (2) SLT 193 : 2009 (2) JCC 920. 2975

Gopal v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1928. : 2009 (2) SCR 423 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 314 : 2009 (2) JT 419 (SC) : 2009 (2) Scale 704 (SC) : 2009 (2) SLT 193 (SC) : 2009 (2) JCC 920 (SC)........ 1879, 2009, 2980

Gopal v. State of U.P., 1955 (32) ACC 359 (All). 2656

Gopal v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (1995) 1 Crimes 806 (Alld). 2522

Gopal v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 131 (Raj). 1959

Gopalakrishnan v. State of Kerala, 1996 Cr LJ 2438 (Ker) : 1996 (2) Crimes 16 : 1996 (1) Ker LJ 232 : 1996 (1) Ker LT 237 : 1996 MLJ (Cr) 406 : 1996 (2) Cur Cr R 236 : 1996 (20 ILR (Ker.) 592. 1545

Gopalakrishnan v. State, 1994 Mad LJ (Cr) 494. 2723

Gopinath Nayak v. Lepa Majhi, 1996 Cri LJ 3814 (Ori).......... 2747, 2779

Gopol Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 498 (Raj). 1488

Gora Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR 140 (Raj). 1609

Gordhan Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 491 (Raj). 1843

Gordhan Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cri LJ 273. 1837

Gordhan v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LJ 8 (MP). 1477

Gorelal v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 59 (MP). 2333

Gorey Lal v. State of U.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 168 : (1994) 2 Crimes 560 : 1994 ACC 420 : 1994 Cr LJ 1337 (All). 1581

Gorle S. Naidu v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ 924 : AIR 2004 SC 1169 : 2004(1) Crimes 212 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 893 : 2003(10) JT 170 : 2003(10) Scale 698.......... 1673

Gouri Shanker Saraf v. State of M.P., 1991 Cr LR 171 (MP).......... 2688

Gourish v. State of Goa, 1997 Cri LJ 1018 (Bom). 2188

Goverdhan Shobnath Bind v. State of M.P., 2008 CriLJ 529 (Chattisgarh).......... 2955

Goverdhan v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LJ 633 (MP). 2253

Govind Ram v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4189 (Raj) : 2003 (47) All Cri C 730.......... 1590, 1600

Govind Shripat Maraskolhe v. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (3) CriLJ (NOC) 1051 (Bom). 2391

Govind v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 165 (MP). 2083, 2085

Govinda Reddy v. State, 1997 Cr LJ 148 (Mad). 2297

Govinda v. State of Orissa, 2005 Cr LJ NOC 43 (Ori) : 2004(29) OCR 71. 1970

Govindappa v. State of Karnataka, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3439 (SC). 2945

Govu v. State of A.P. (1995) 3 Crimes 801 (AP). 1619

Gudev Singh v. State. 2003 Cr LJ 552 (Raj) : 2002(1) Raj LR 724 : 2003(1) Raj LW 146 : 2002(2) WLC 710. 1731

Gudise Venkappa v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 43 : (1995) 3 CCR 129 (AP).......... 1542

Gula v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 323 (MP). 2505

Gulab Chand Mehra v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 3802 (Pat). 1858

Gulab Jharia v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 254 (MP) : 2005 Cir R (SC & MP) MPJ 325 : 2005(4) Cur Cri R 193 : 2005(2) MPHT 366. 2379

Gulab Singh v. State of H.P, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1783. 2650

Gulab Singh v. The State, 2002 Cri LJ 1575 (Allah.) : 2002 all LJ 267 : 2002(44) All Cri C 212 : 2001(3) All Cri R 2818.......... 2220

Gulam Dastageer v. State, (1994) 2 WLC 607 (Raj)..........1948, 1934

Gulam Mohamed Mohamed Yusuf v. State of Gujarat, (1995) 2 CCR 524 (Guj.) (DB). .. 2382

Guldas s/o Galma Hatwar v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 2402 (Bom). .. 2061

Guldas v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 2402 (Bom). 2060

Gullu v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 36 (N) (MP). 1542

Gulthu Soren v. State of Bihar. 2005 (3) East Cr C 184 (Jhar).......... 2409

Guman Singh v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 4284 (MP) : 2005(4) MPHT 329. 1560

Gundala Reddeppa Naidu v. State of A.P., 2005 Cr LJ 4702 (AP) : 2005 (2) ALD (Crl) 206 : 2006 (1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 152 : 2006(1) Rec Cri R 547. 1897

Gunti Yadagiri v. State of A.P., (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 302 : (1995) 3 Crimes 366 (AP)..... 1484, 1518

Guntuboyin Gangulu v. State of A.P., (1995) 2 Crimes 356 (A.P.). 2141

Guntuboyina Gangulu v. State of A.P, (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 323 (AP).......... 2384

Gurbachan Singh v. Satpal Singh, AIR 1990 SC 209 : 1990 Cri LJ 592). 1892, 2965

Gurcharan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 1 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 267 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 580 : (1994) 3CC Cases 35 (P&H) : 1999 Cri LJ 1616 (P&H)... 1822, 1873, 2633

Gurcharan v. State, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3339 (Delhi). 2971

Gurdeep Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 CC Cases 232 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 190 (P&H) (DB). 2961

Gurdeo Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 115. 1625

Gurdev Singh v. State of Punjab, 2003 Cr LJ 3764 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 4187 : 2003(7) SCC 258 : 2003(3) Crimes 242 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 320...... 1678

Gurdip Singh v. Gurjit Kaur. (1994) 3 CC Cases 551 (P & H). 2589

Guria v. State of Orissa, (1994) 3 Crimes 226 (Ori). 1955

Gurinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 3 CC Cases 548 (P & H). 1824, 1711

Gurmeet Singh v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 4384 : 2005 (4) Crimes 84 (SC) : 2005(8) JT 628 : 2005(6) Supreme 571 : 2005(7) Scale 610. 1659

Gurmej Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 162 (P & H). 1825

Gurmit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 4 Crimes 185 : (1995) 7 JT (SC) 171 : (1995) 3 CC Cases 113 (SC) : 1995 Supp (4) SCC 146 : 1996 Cr. LJ 390 : 1995 (5) Scale 630 : 1995 (4) CCR 56 (SC) : 1996 SCC (Cr) 45. 1543

Gurmukh Singh v. Jaswant Singh, (1994) 2 Recent CR 717 (P & H). 2048

Gurmukh Singh v. State of Haryana, 2010 (1) CrLJ 450 (SC)...... 1502, 1619, 1784

Gurmukh Singh v. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 2697 : 2009 (3) Crimes 416 (SC) : 2009 (11) JT 122 : 2009 (11) Scale 688 : 2009 (13) SCR 548 : 2009 (8) SLT 122. 1786

Gurnam Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 4 Crimes 260 (SC). 1619

Gurram Sambaiah v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 238 (AP) : 2005(1) Andh LT (Cri) 299 (AP). 1950

Guru Bipin Singh v. Chougtham Manihar Singh, 1997 Cri LJ 724 (SC) : 1996(11) SCC 622 : 1996(9) JT 516 : 1996(7) Scale 694 : 1996(7) Supreme 678 : 1996(4) Crimes 135 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 1448. 2725

Gurubandhu Bhatra v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 474 (Ori)...... 2539

Gurucharan Dusadh alias Sarin Disadh v. State of Bihar, 2002 Cri LJ 1459 (Pat.) : 2001(3) East Cri C 454. 2526

Gurucharan Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 1234 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 992 : 2003(2) SCC 698 : 2003(1) Supreme 165 : 2003(1) Crimes 329 (SC). 1905

Gutalpathi Prasada Rao v. Public Prosecutor, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 41 (AP)...... 3004

Gutlthir Soren v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 184 (Jhar)...... 2327

Guzari Lal v. State of U.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 390 (All). 2025

Gyarsa v. State of M.P., 1995 MPLJ 1041 (MP). 2343

Gyasuddin Khan v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 395 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 210 : 2003(9) JT 1 : 2004(1) Crimes 90 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 499. ...... 1688, 1957, 1584

H

H. Madduleti v. State, (1995) 3 Crimes 160 (AP). 1509

H. Shanker v. State of A.P., (1994) 2 AP LJ 60 (AP). 2956

H.N. Venaktesh v. State of Karnataka, 2002 CriLJ 328...... 2793

Habil Mia v. State of Tripura. 1997 Cri LJ 1866 (Gau). 2014

Haji Zainulla Khan v. Nagar Mahapalika, Allahabad, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1568...... 1824

Halloo v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 9 (MP). 1886

Hamam Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 549 (P & H). 2084

Hameed v. State of U.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 847 (All). 1945

Hanamanth Ramanna v. State of Karnataka, (1995) 3 KarLJ 461 (Kant) (DB)...... 1543

Hanmant Ramhari Godake v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4368 (Bom) : 2003 Att MR (Cri) 236 : 2003(3) Andh LJ 584. 2394

Hans Raj v. State of Haryana, 2004 CrLJ 759 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 2790 : 2004(3) Crimes 11 : 2004(2) Scale 727 : 2004(3) Supreme 676 : 2004(2) All Cri LR 698 : 2004(3) JT 45. ...... 1638, 1908, 2977

Hanumant v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1952 SC 343 = 1953 Cri LJ 129 = 1952 SCR 1091. ...... 2350, 2371

Hanumantappa Bhimappa Dalavai v. State of Karnataka, 2009 CrLJ 3045 : 2009 (11) SCC 408 : 2009 (4) JT 634 : 2009 (5) SCR 286 : 2009 (5) Scale 142. 1503

Har Chand v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 Cri LJ 345 (Raj). 2804

Har Kishan Lal Chopra v. State of Punjab. (1995) 4 Crimes 144 (P & H).......... 3033

Harakchand Bhagchand Oswal v. Santinggappa Bhagwanappa, Hapse, 1991 (1) Crimes 531 (Bom). 2722

Harbans Kaur v. U.T. Chandigarh, (1994) 2 SLJ 1109 (P&H). 2717

Harbans Lal v. State of Punjab, 1991 (2) CC Cases 130 (P&H). 2596

Harbhajan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 (1) Crimes 253 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 1183 : 1997 (3) JT 278 : 1997 (2) Scale 528 : 1997 (1) CCR 263 (SC) : 1997 CrLJ 1638 : 1997 (2) Supreme 719.......... 1582

Harcharan v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 70 (P & H). 1905

Hardeep Singh v. State of Haryana, AIR 2008 SC 3113 : 2008 (9) SCR 1114 (SC) : 2008 (10) JT 593 (SC) : 2008 (8) Scale 686 (SC) : 2008 (4) Supreme 501 (SC) : 2008 (8) SLT 38 (SC) : 2008 (3) Crimes 28 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 1818 (SC) : 2008 (4) Recent CR 125 (SC). 1756

Harendra Nath Mandal v. State of Bihar, 1993 Cri LJ 2830 (Pat).......... 1767

Hari Kishore v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 2540 (Del). 1646

Hari Krishan v. State of Haryana, 1999 Cr LJ 938 (P&H). 1499

Hari Mohan Mandal v. State of Jharkhand, 2004 Cr LJ 3112 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 3687 : 2004(2) Crimes 434 (SC) : 2004(2) Supreme 460 : 2004(4) JT 377 : 2004(3) Scale 466. .... 1931, 1963

Hari Mohan Mandal v. State of Jharkhand, 2005(3) East Cr C 57 (SC). 1925

Hari Om v. State (NCT), 2010 (2) CrLJ 1281 (Delhi).......... 2366, 2417

Hari Ram Bhagat v. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand), 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 71 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 489 : 2003(2) JCR Jha 533. .. 1867

Hari Ram Rastogi v. Union Territory, Chandigarh. (1994) 1 Recent Cr 5 (P&H).2598

Hari Ram Sastri v. Inspector of Police, 1991 MLJ (Cri) 258.......... 2724

Hari Ram v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 40 [Del). 1823

Hari Shankar Tewari v. State of Tripura, 2005 Cr LJ 3323 (Gau.).......... 2345

Hari Shankar v. State of Rajasthan, 1999 Cri LJ 2902 (SC).......... 1714

Hari Shanker alias Tillu v. State, 1995 JIC 201 (All).......... 2284

Hari Singh v. State, 2008 CriLJ (2) 2133, ... 1507, 1761

Haribai (Smt.) v. State of M.P., 1996 Cr LJ 2143 (MP). 1770

Hariballabh K. Rawat v. State of M.P., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2309 (Gwalior).......... 1964, 2501,#2534

Harichandran v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 41 (Mad). 2456

Haridas v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 Cri LJ 122 (Bom).......... 3058

Harinder Kumar Gulati v. State of Haryana. 1994 Cr LT 309 (P&H).......... 2723

Haris Chandra Jain v. State, 2002 Cr LJ 1983 (Orissa) : 2002(93) Cut LT 334 (Ori)....... 2044

Harish Chander alias Billa v. State, (1995) 3 Crimes 189 : 1995 Cr LJ 3030 : (1995) 2 CC Cases 503 (Del).......... 1472, 1615

Harish Ram v. State of Uttaranchal, 2005 Cr LJ 1596 (Uttar). 2342

Harjeet Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2151 (Delhi) : 2003(3) All Cri LR 982 : 2003(103) DLT 217 : 2003(67) DRJ 46.......... 1727

Harjit Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 269 (P & H). 2062

Harkesh Kumar v. State of Punjab, 1994 Cr LT 316 (P & H). 1789

Harkesh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4181 (Raj) : 2003(4) WLC 522.......... 1607

Harmanpreet Singh Ahluwalia v. State of Punjab, 2009 (7) SCC 712 : 2009 CrLJ 3462 : 2009 (7) SCR 563 : 2009 (6) JT 375 : 2009 (7) Scale 85 : 2009 (4) SLT 341.......... 2675, 2730

Harminder Singh Atwal v. D.P. Majumdar (1995) 3 CCR 786 (Cal). 2518

Harpal Singh v. State of H.P., AIR 1981 SC 361: (1981 Cr LJ 1).......... 2359

Harum Ilani Mugani v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2462 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 2460.......... 2711

Hasmal Ullah Khan v. State of Uttaranchal, 2005 Cr LJ 2266 (Uttar) : 2005 (53) All Cri C 920 : 2005(3) East Cri C 244.......... 2821

Hasmukhbhai Gokaldas Shah v. State of Gujarat, 2009 CriLJ 2919 (Guj). 2018

Hazura Singh v. Nirmal Singh, 1991 (1) CC Cases 573 (P&H). 2701

Heeralal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2009 CrLJ 2787 : 2009 (12) SCC 671 : 2009 (4) JT 115 :

2009 (3) Scale 715 : 2009 (4) SCR 283. ....1548, 1631

lem Chand v. State of Haryana, 1995 SCC (Cr) 36 : (1994) 3 Recent CR 625 (SC) : AIR 1995 (SC) 120 : 1994(6) SCC 727 : 1994(6) JT 475 : 1994(3) Crimes 608 : 1994(4) Scale 401. 1873

Iem Raj v. Raja Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 901 : AIR 2004 SC 1489 : 2004(1) Supreme 510 : 2004(1) Crimes 317 (SC) : 2004(4) Scale 637. 1669

Iem Raj v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 2152 : (2005) ACR 374 : AIR 2005 SC 2110 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1646 : 2005 (2) Crimes 45 (SC) : 2005(10) SCC 614 : 2005(2) Crimes 45 (SC) : 2005(3) Supreme 2005 SCC (Cr) 1646. .... 1525, 1553, 1584, 1968, 2161, 3062,

Hema Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 527 : 1995 Crimes 253 : (1995) 2 RCD 283 (Raj). 1580

Hemanta Kumar Behera v. State of Orissa, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3206 (Orissa). 1839, 1843

HICEL Pharma Ltd. (M/s.) v. State of AP, 2000 Cri LJ 2566 (AP) : 2000(2) An LT (Cri) 260(262)........ 2616

Hifazat Mian v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3218 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1892 : 2003(3) East Cri C 209........ 2529

High Court of A.P v. Gali Satyanarayana, 2000 Cri LJ 1753 (A.P.),........ 1761

Hira Devi v. Smt.Deola Khan Devi, AIR 2002 NOC 97........ 1773

Hira Lal Hari Lal Bhagwati v. CBI, New Delhi, 2003 Cr LJ 3041 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 2545 : 2003 AIR SCW 2735: 2003(3) Crimes 100: 2003(4) Scale 471........ 2719

Hira Lal v. State (NCT of Delhi), 2003 Cr LJ 3711 (SC) : 2003 (2) DMC 206 : 2003 (69) DRJ 714 : 2003 (4) PatLJR 100 : 2003 (4) Raj LW 541 : 2003 (8) SCC 80........1837, 1888, 2977

Hira Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 435 (P & H)........ 2206

Hiralal Motibhai Patel v. State of Gujarat. 2002 Cri L.J. 2781. Guj. H.C. : 2002 Cri LR (SC MAH GUJ) Guj 280 : 2002(2) GCD GUJ 907. 1777

Hiralal v. State Govt. of NCT of Delhi, 2003 (3) GCD 134 (NOC)........ 1851

Hiralal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1995) 3 CCR 434 (MP)........ 1738

Hiran Mia vs The State of Tripura, 2010 Cri LJ 189 (Gauhati)........ 2118

Holiram Bordoloi v. State of Assam, 2005 Cr LJ 2174 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2059 : JT 2005(4) SC 249 : 2005(3) Supreme 232. 1681

Hom Singh v. State of U.P., (1995) 3 CCR 335 (Alld)........ 2464

Homen Borgohain v. Brahmaputra Valley Regional Handloom Weavers Co-operative Society Ltd., 1995 GLR 401 (Gau)........ 2998

Hori Lal v. State 2000 Cri LJ 3804 (All)........ 1604

Hulsi (Smt) v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 234 (Raj)........ 1578

Hunuman Kanhar v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 676 (Pat)........ 2820

Hurji v. State of Rajasthan. 2002 Cr LJ 472. (Raj.)........ 2398

Hussain Ahmad v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 122 (All) (DB)........ 1769

I

Ibrahim (Ms.) v. State of Bihar & Anr., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2223 (SC)........ 3047

Ibrahim Khan v. State, 2003 CrLJ 1572 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1813 : 2003 (3) SCC 355 : 2003 (2) Supreme 852 : 2003 (2) Crimes 268. 1525

Iftekhar Ali alias Lalla Master v. State, 2004 AIR Jhar 686 : 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 173 (Jhar) : AIR Jhar HCR 686........ 2212

Imtiaz Ansari v. State of Bihar 2000 Cr LJ 2576 (Pat.) : 2000(1) East Cri C 119 : 2000(2) PLJR 517 : 2000(1) PccR 318........ 2308

Imtiyaz Khan v. State of Jharkhand, 2004 Cr LJ 2560 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1395 : 2004(2) DMC 202........ 1857

Inam v. State of U.P., 1994 (24) ALR 362 (All). 1959

Inayathullah v. Guruswamy, (1994) 38 MLJ (Cri) 316. ....2701, 2711

Indar Ali Sheikh v. State of West Bengal, AIR 2009 SC 1467 : 2009 (3) SCC 761 : 2009 CrLJ 1324 : 2009 (1) Crimes 315 (SC) : 2009 (2) JT 253 : 2009 (1) SCR 968 : 2009 (2) Scale 248 : 2009 (1) Supreme 617 : 2009 (2) JCC 861. ....2306, 2400

Inder Raj v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cr LJ 924 (Raj)........ 1824

Inder Sain Jain v. State of Punjab, 1994 Cr LJ 1224 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 1065. ....1582, 2631

Inder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 Crimes 854 (SC) : 1995 (2) CCR 5 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 542 : 1995 AIR SCW 1545 : 1995 Cr LJ 2627 : (1995) 3 CCR 30 : (1995) 3 SCC 702 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 586 (SC)................................ 1546

Inder Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 CrLJ 721 (Raj) : 2002(1) RajCriC 398 : 2002(2) RecCriR 428.. 2309

Inder Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3434 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1643 : 2003(46) All Cri C 897 : 2003(2) All Cri R 985........................... 2539

Inder Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 CC Cases 59 (P&H). 1864

Inderchand v. State of M.P., 1991 Cr LR 178 (MP). 2725

Indian Oil Corpn. v. NEPC India Ltd., (2006) 6 SCC 736 : 2006 AIR SCW 3830].. 2729, 2586

Indra Pal Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 958 : 2009 CrLJ 942 : 2008 (16) SCR 990 : 2008 (15) Scale 400. 1532

Indrajit Deb v. State of Tripura, (1995) 2 GLR 131 (Gau).. 1606

Indrasan v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2760 : 2009 (8) JT 680 : 2009 (3) Crimes 217 (SC) : 2009 (9) Scale 58 : 2009 (9) SCR 1127 : 2009 (5) Supreme 198.......................... 1782

Indu Jain v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 (SC) 976 : 2008 (15) SCC 341 : 2009 CrLJ 951 : 2008 (12) JT 524 : 2008 (14) SCR 1137 : 2008 (15) Scale 168 : 2009 (2) SLT 72 : 2009 (1) JCC 246. .... 2024, 2101

Indu Mian v. State of Bihar, 1997 (1) Crimes 369 (Pat). 1545

Iqbal Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 4163 (Raj). 2080

Ishar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) XXII Cr LT 322 (P&H). 2633

Ishwar Singh v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 2776 (MP) : 2004 Cri LR (SC & MP) 454 : 2004(3) Cur Cri R 310 : 2004(2) MPHT 506 : 2004(2) MPLJ 479.. 1941

Ishwar Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2774 (MP). 1969

Ishwar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 SLJ 1606 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 161 (P&H). . 2688, 2689

Ishwarbhai Ranchoddas Parmar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4715 (Bom) : 2003(4) Cur Cr R 407 : 2003 All MR (CRI) 1230........................ 2330

Islam Mian v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 27 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 112................ 2226

Islam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2688 (All) : 2003(46) ACC 1085 : 2003(2) A Cri R 1620 (All)... 1526

J

J. Yadamma (Smt) v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 3 Crimes 615 (AP).............2956, 2961

J.B. Katariaya v. State of U.P. 2002 Cri LJ 2220 (All.) : AIR 2002 (SC) 1529 : AIR 2002 Kant HCR 990 : 2002(3) Scale 83 : 2002(2) Supreme 500. 2084

J.P. Chandra Bose v. V. Palani, (1994) 2 Crimes 386 (Mad) : 1994 MLJ (Cr) 384 : (1994) 1 LW (Cr) 270. 3021

J.S. Ghura v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cr LJ 2158 (Raj). 1891, 1892

J.V. Ganatra v. Ramesh Chandra Nathalal Machchhar, (1995) 3 CCR 160 (Guj). 3001, 3036

JAC Poonen v. Hedlden Treasure Literature Incorporated in Canada, 2002 Cri LJ 481 (Kant)... 2998

Jacob George (Dr.) v. State of Kerala, (1995) 1 LW (Cr) 17 (SC) : 1994(3) SCC 430 : 1994(3) JT 225 : 1994(2) Scale 563 : 1994(2) Crimes 100 : 1994 Cr LJ 3851......................... 1991

Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab, 2005 CR LJ 3710 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3180 : 2005(6) SCC 1 : 2005(5) Supreme 297 : 2005(3) Crimes 63 (SC).................................... 1804, 1811, 1812, 1814, 1815, 1818, 1819.

Jaddu Choudhary v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2144 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1178 : 2004(01) East Cr C 631 : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 639. . 2512

Jag Mohan alias Birju v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 188 (Del). 2201

Jag Mohan. Singh v. Union Territory of Chandigarh, (1994) 3 CC Cases 562 (P&H). 2589

Jagan Ramsingh Nepali v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 156 (DB). 2487

Jagan Saha v. State, (1995) 2 CCR 469..... 2754

Jagan Shravan Patil v. State of Maharashtra, 2009(11) SCC 517 : 2009 (3) Scale 615 : 2009(3) JT 284 : 2009(2) Supreme 352. .... 1624, 2022, 2023

Jagannath Bania v. State, 2001 Cr LJ 282 (Orissa). 2310

Jagannath Narayan Nikam v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 795 (Bom). 2068

Jagannivasan v. State of Kerala, (1995) 9 OCR 480 (SC). 2356

Jagat Narayan Jha v. State of Bihar, 1995 SCC (Cr) 466 (SC). 2626, 2632

Jagatram Major v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 383 (Ori). 1607

Jagbandhu Kishan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 378 (Orissa). 1670

Jagdish Mahto v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) East Cr C 321 (Pat). 1773

Jagdish Narain v. Krishna, 2005 Cr LJ 4513 : AIR 2005 SC 4341 : 2005(4) Crimes 109 (SC) : 2005(6) Supreme 629 : 2005(12) JT 327. 1664

Jagdish Pd. Sharma v. State, 1995 Cr LJ 2501 (Del). 2291

Jagdish Prasad v. State, (1995) 58 DLT 740 (Del) (DB). 2344

Jagdish Prashad Sharma v. C.B.I., 1996 Cri LJ 946 (Del). 2673

Jagdish Singh v. State of Punjab, 1991 (1) CC Cases 112 (P&H). 2689

Jagdish v. The State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 2171 (Raj). 2869

Jagebar Ali v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2009 SC 1774 : 2009 CrLJ 1711 : 2009 (1) Crimes 237 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 108 : 2009 (2) JT 17 : 2009 (1) Scale 674 : 2009 (1) SCR 407. .... 1482, 1701, 2050

Jageshwar Mahto v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 4589 (Jharkhand). 1849

Jagga Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 3 Crimes 567 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 135 : 1994 Supp (3) SCC 463 : 1994 (6) JT 99 : 1994 (4) Scale 188 : 1994 (2) UJ 620 : 1994 (4) CCR 729 (2) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1798. .... 1634, 1823, 2380

Jagit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 270 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 630 : (1994) 2 Crimes 566 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 118 (P & H). 1519

Jagjit Singh v. State of Punjab., AIR 2009 SC 2133 : 2009 (4) SCR 75 (SC) : 2009 (4) SCC 759 : 2009 (3) JT 382 (SC) : 2009 (3) Scale 680 (SC) : 2009 (2) Supreme 422 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 2440 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 134 (SC). 1848, 1863, 2979

Jagmer Singh v. Laheri, 1995 JIC 700 (All). 2038

Jagpal Singh v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 603 (All). 2025

Jagpati v. State of M.P., 1995 SCC (Cr) 397 (SC) : AIR 1993 (SC) 1360 : 1994 Supp(1) SCC 460 : 1993 CrLJ 1058. 1762

Jagriti Devi v. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2869 : 2009 (3) Crimes 289 (SC) : 2009 (8) JT 648 : 2009 (10) SCR 167 : 2009 (9) Scale 48 : 2009 (5) Supreme 691 : 2009 (5) SLT 614. 1775

Jagroop Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR 87 (Raj). 1466, 1600

Jagrup SIngh v. State of Haryana, AIR 1975 SC 1703 : 1975 Cr LJ 1494 ; 1982 Cr LJ 1043 : AIR 1983 SC 682 ; AIR 1982 SC 70 : 1982 Cr LJ 396 ; 1981 Cr LJ 1136 ; 1977 Cr LJ 795 : AIR 1977 SC 1685 : AIR 1981 SC 1552. 1496

Jagtar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 234 (P & H). 1511, 1824

Jahagir v. State of Haryana, 1997 Cri LJ 48 (P&H). 2497

Jahid v. The State, 1999 Cri LJ 4430 (Raj). 1709

Jahpam Ramesh v. State of A.P., 2006 Cr LJ (NOC) 111 (AP). 1869

Jai Karan v. State of UP, 2003 (4) Crimes 503 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 1148 : 2004 Cr LJ 403 : JT (2003) 8 SC 220. 1663

Jai Kumar v. State of M.P., 1999 Cri LJ 2569 (SC). 1650

Jai Narain v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 168 (All) : 2002 All LJ 2415 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2264 : 2003(1) All LJ 73. .... 1615, 1675

Jai Prakash Chaurasia v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 PLJR 66 (Pat). 2601

Jai Shree Yadav v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 4826 : AIR 2004 SC 4443 : 2004 All LJ 3232 : 2004(3) Crimes 286 (SC) : 2004(6) Supreme 236 : 2004(6) JT 519 : 2004(6) Scale 587. .... 1585, 1669

Jai Singh v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 325 (P & H) : 1996 Cr. LJ 1859 : 1996(1) Crimes 170 : 1996 (1) All Cr LR 310. 1481

Jai v. State of Rajasthan, 1993 Cri LJ 2572 (Raj). 2028

Jaikaransingh v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 32 (MP). 1479

Jaikishan v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimes 480 (Raj). 1628

Jain v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 976 : 2009 CrLJ 951= 2008 (15) SCC 341 : 2008 (12) JT 524 : 2008 (14) SCR 1137 : 2008 (15) Scale 168 : 2009 (2) SLT 72... 1700

Jaipal Lal v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 376 : 1994 Cr R 176. 1516

Jaipal v. Narain Singh, 1997 (1) Crimes 525 (P&H). 2726

Jairaj v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1479 (Mad) : 2002(2) Mad LW (cri) 943. 1635

Jairam v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 Crimes 611 : (1995) 2 CCR 534 (Raj). 1837, 1849, 2961

Jaishree Anant Khandekar v. State of Maharashtra, 2009 (2) Crimes 23 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 647 : 2009 (4) Scale 172(2) : 2009 (4) JT 198 : 2009 (2) Supreme 639 : 2009 (4) SCR 992 : 2009 (3) SLT 282 : 2009 (2) JCC 1461. 1547

Jaisingh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1995 Cr LR 194 (MP). 1923

Jaivir Singh v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 663 (Delhi). 2507

Jakir Hussin v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 403 (Raj). 1636

Jakir Mian v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 375 (Pat) (RB). 1490

Jalamsingh v. State M.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2586 (M.P.) : 2002 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPI 372 : 2002(3) MPHT 537. 2504

Jalba son of Santuka Kamble v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Bom CR 575 (Bom). 1517

Jaleshwar Singh v. State of Bihar, 2009 CrLJ 3995 : 2009 (2) Crimes 383 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 572 : 2009 (7) Scale 219 : 2009 (8) SCR 130. .... 1541, 1964

Jameel v. State of U.P., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2106 (SC). 1977, 1979, 2005, 2024

Jamil Ahmad v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3663 (Bom). 2044

Jamnalal Pande v. State of MP, 2010 (1) CrLJ 538 (MP).................................... 1910, 2984

Jamni (Smt.) v. State, (1995) 2 WLC (Raj) 84: (1995) 3 Crimes 350 : 1995 Cr LJ 3071 : (1995) 1 RCD 325. (Raj)........................ 1602

Janak Raj Rana v. Abhimanyu Singh, (1994) 3 CC Cases 389 (P&H)............................ 2455

Janak Singh v. State of UP, AIR 2004 SC 2495 : 2004 Cr LJ 2533 : 2004(4) Supreme 110 : 2004(3) Crimes 79 (SC) : 2004(2) Recent CR 711. 1662

Janaki Kumar Das v. Gajendra Das, (1990) 3 DCR 367. 2913

Janardan Samal v. State of Orissa, 1995 (11) OLR 520 (Ori)...................................... 2821

Janardhan Dass v. Prem Chand, 1994 (3) Recent Cr R 55 (P&H).......................... 2710

Jang Bahadur Singh v. State, (1994) 1 CCR 69 (All) : 1994 UP Cr R 112 (All). 2027

Jangir Kaur v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1479 : 1994 Supp(2) SCC 397............. 1992

Jangir Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 133 (Raj). 1478

Janki Das v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 2 CCR 35 : 1995 Cr LJ 1464 (SC) : (1995) 2 CCR 35 (SC) : 1995 Cr LJ 1464 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 1002 : 1992 Supp (3) SCC 143 : 1994 (5) JT 604 : 1994 (3) Scale 905 : 1994 (2) UJ 535 : 1994 (3) Crimes 375 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1673 : 1995 (1) CCR 51 (SC)..1643, 1645

Janki Dass v. State, 1995 Cr LJ 2175 (Del). 1643

Jarnail Singh v. State of Haryana, 1992 Cr LT 103 (P&H). 2698

Jarnail Singh v. State of Punjab, 1996 Cr LJ 1139 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 755 : 1996 (10) SCC 527 : 1995 (8) JT 279 ; 1995 (6) Scale 563 : 1996 (1) Supreme 1 : 1996 (1) CCR 131 (SC) : 1996 SCC (Cr) 146 : 1996 (2) SCJ 130. 1576

Jarnail Singh v. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 1141 (SC): 2009 (3) SCC 391 : 2009 (1) JT 644 : 2009 (1) Scale 610 : 2009 (1) SCR 311 : 2009 (1) Supreme 224 : 2009 (1) SLT 679. .... 1756, 1746, 1757

Jasbir v. State of Haryana, 2003 Cr LJ 826 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 554 : 2002(10) SCC 324 : 2003(1) Supreme 311 : 2003(1) Crimes 389 (SC)... 1649

Jashubha Bharatsinh Gohil v. State of Gujarat, (1994) 2 Crimes 92 (SC) : (1994) 4 SCC 353 : 1994 (3) JT 250 : 1994 (2) Scale 534 : 1994 (3) CCR 710 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1193. 1645

Jasim Mian v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 205 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1110 : 2003 (2) JCR Jha 491.. 1667

Jaskaran Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1468 : 1994 AIR (SC0 157 : 1994 Cr. LJ 3837. 1543

Jaspreet Singh. v. State of Punjab, (1995) 4 Crimes 296 (P & H). 1765

Jassa Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 115 : 1994 Cr LJ 916 (P & H). 1708

Jaswant Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2010 SC 894. ....2261, 2388, 2415, 2419

Jaswant Singh v. State of Rajasthan. 2002 Cr LJ 3260 Raj. H.C................................2411

Jaswinder Kaur v. Harjinder Kaur, (1994) 1 CC Cases 166 (P&H). 2599

Jaswinder Pal Kaur v. Iqbal Singh. (1994) 2 SLJ 1111 (P&H). 2964

Jaswinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 522 (P & H). 2080

Jata Shanker Jha v. State of Rajasthan, 2000 Cri LJ 2108 (Raj) : 2000(1) Raj Cri C 344 : 2000(2) Raj Lr 266 (Raj)........................2870

Jatinder Gupta v. U.T. Chandigarh, (1994) 2 CC Cases 562 : (1994) XXI Cr LT 150 (P&H). 2718

Javed Alam v. State of Chhattisgarh, AIR 2009 SCW 3918,................................ 1923, 1931

Jawaharlal v. State of Punjab, AIR 1983 SC 284 : 1983 Cr LJ 429................................ 1507

Jay Nath v. State of Maharashtra, 2006 Cr LJ 202 (Bom.). 2335

Jaya mala v. Home Secretary Government of J & K AIR 1982 SC 1297 (1982 Cri LJ 1777). 2246

Jayabalan v. U.T. of Pondicherry, 2009 (4) Crimes 172 (SC) : 2010 (1) SCC 199 : 2009 (14) JT 401 : 2009 (13) Scale 614 : 2009 (8) SLT 322. .... 1474, 1982

Jayapal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 258 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2470..................... 1493

Jayaseelan v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 732 (Mad) : 2002(2) Rec Cri R 484. 2629

Jaydev Shrichand Danani v. State of Gujarat, 1992 Cr LJ 3595 (SC)...........................2629

Jayendra Saraswathi Swamigal v. State of T.N., 2005 Cr LJ 883 : AIR 2005 SC 716 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 481 : 2005(1) Crimes 113 (SC) : 2005(1) Supreme 82 : 2005(2) SCC 13... 1638

Jayendra v. State, AIR 1982 SC 685. 2458

Jaynti Ram Panda v. State of West Bengal, 1984 Cr LJ 1535 (Pat)..................................2398

Jeev Dan v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3929 (Raj).. 1775

Jeevan Babu Desai v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 325 (Bom). 1886

Jerald v. State by Inspector of Police, 2001 Cri LJ 3656 (Madras)................................ 1797

Jerka Munda v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4764 (Cal). 1739

Jethar Maheta v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 6 (Jha) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 61 : 2002(2) DMC 733 : 2003 Hindu LR 74 : 2002(3) JCR Jha 348.. 1865

Jhadi v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 219 (MP). 2329, 2379

Jhantu Sardar v. State of West Bengal. 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3012 (Cal)...... 1862, 1874, 1911, 2975

Jhillar v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 669 (All)..... 1551

Jhingal v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 121. 2334

Jhuri Lal v. Union Territory, Chandigarh, (1994) 2 CC Cases 161 (P & H)........................ 1469

Jillela Madhu v. State of A.P., (1994) 2 ALT (Cri) 209 (AP)... 2227

Jit Masih v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 335 (P & H).. 2432

Jitu v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1337 : 2009 CrLJ 1884 : 2009 (2) Crimes 143 (SC) : 2009 (3) JT 602 : 2009 (3) Scale 534 : 2009 (3) SCR 1158 : 2009 (2) Supreme 387. ....2045, 2079

Jivan Lal v. State of M.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 1 (SC) : 1996 (9) Scale 262 : 1996 (8) Supreme 791 : 1997 (1) CCr 125 (SC). 1618, 1662

Jiwanlal v. State of M.P.. 1994 Cr LR (MP) 149. 1606

Joaguim Constantinho Carvalho v. State, 1992 Cr LR 215 (Bom). 2311, 2393

Jodh Raj. v. State of H.P., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2488 (HP). 1627, 1693, 1774

Jodu Ramulu v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 216 (AP) : (2005) 1 Andh LT (Cri). 9....... 1811

Jogender v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 1400 (All) : 2005 All LJ 485 : 2005 (51) All Cri C 128 : 2005(1) All Cri R 152. 2503

Jogi Dan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1726 (Raj) : 2004 Cri LR (Raj) RAJ 411 : 2004(2) Raj Cri C 780 : 2004(2) Raj LR 635 : 2004(3) WLC 73.... 2289

Jogi Dass v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1926 (Raj).. 2378

Jogidan v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 1726 (Raj) : 2004 Cri LR (Raj) RAJ 411 : 2004(2) Raj Cri C 780 : 2004(2) Raj LR 635 : 2004(3) WLC 73.....................................2296, 2300

Joginder Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2009 SC 2263 : 2009 CrLJ 2805 : 2009 (11) SCC 467 : 2009 (7) JT 310 : 2009 (3) SCR 714 : 2009 (4) Scale 329..........................1525, 1582, 1956

Jograj v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 72 (Alld). 2339, 2340

Johan Thomas v. K. Jagadeesan 2001 Cri LJ 3322 (SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 2651 : 2001(6) SCC 30 : 2001(5) JT 398 : 2001(4) Scale 323

: 2001(5) Supreme 106 : 2001(3) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2001(2) JCC (SC) 39.......... 3025, 3034

Johar Singh v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 2035 (Jhar) : 2006(54) All Cri C 77 UTR. 1493

John Bosco v. State, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 661 (Mad). 2379

Jontam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4646 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2412 : 2003(47) All Cri C 150 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1646. 1689

Joseph Kurian v. State of Kerala, 1995 Cr LJ 502 (SC) ; 1995 SCC (Cr) 20 : (1995) 1 East Cr C 487 : 1995 Cr R 325 (SC). 2094

Joseph Oraon v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4405 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 2640 : 2004(2) JCJR 53. 2354

Joseph v. State of Kerala, 2000 Cr LJ 2467 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 1608 : 2000(6) JT 195 : 2000(4) Scale 92 : 2000(3) Supreme 588. ....1530, 1644, 2317

Jote Ram v. State, (1994) 54 DLT 648 (Del). 1978

Judhister Gouda v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 569 (Ori). 2105

Jugal Kishore Saraf v. State of Assam, (1994) 2 GLR 174 (Gau). 2574

Jugraj Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 437 (P&H). 1462

Juneja v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3664 (Del.) : 2004(5) All Ind Cas 179 : 2003(108) DLT 761 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 840. 2600

K

K. Ashokan v. State of Kerala, 1998 (3) SCC 570 : 1998 Cri LJ 2834. 2071

K. Hashim v. State of T.N., 2005 Cr LJ 143 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 128 : 2005(52) All Cri c 802 : 2005(1) crimes 12 : 2004(9) Scale 290 : 2004(190) Supreme 579. 2895

K. Hashim v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2005 SC 128 = 2005 (1) SCC 237 = 2005 CrLJ 143. ....2895, 2897, 2899, 2900, 2905, 2906,

K. Kunhaman v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 245 (Ker) : 2003(2) Crimes 39 (Ker) : 2002(4) Cur Cri R 475. 1568

K. Nageswar Rao v. State, 1993 Cr LJ 1822 (Ori). 2316

K. Prema S. Rao v. Yadla Srinivas and Ranga Rao, 2003 Cr LJ 69 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 11 : 2002 AIR SCW 4391 : 2003 (2) All Cri R 1374 : 2003 (1) Crimes 62 : 2002 (8) Scale 153 2964

K. Rama Krishnan Unithan v. State of Kerala, 1999 Cri LJ 2101 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 1428 : 1999(3) SCC 309 : 1999(2) JT 235 : 1999(2) Scale 128 : 1999(3) Supreme 162......... 1714

K. Ravindra v. State, (1994) 2 ALT 10 (NRC). 2962

K.A. Ravindranathan v. K. Ravindra Nair, 2005 Cr LJ 3828 (Chattisgarh) : 2005 CgLJ 98 : 2005(32) AllIndCas 350........................ 3037

K.C. Chibber v. State, (1994) 2 CC Cases 311 (Del).. 2715

K.K. Sidharthan v. T.P. Praveenachandran, 1996 (4) Crimes 102 (SC) : 1996(9) JT 191 : 1996(6) SCC 369 : 1996(7) Scale 454 : 1996(7) Supreme 453........................... 2715

K.L. Ramaiya v. Ram Charan, (1995) 1 CCR 219 (All)..2722, 2723

K.N. Sadagopan v. State, 1991 MLJ (Cri) 245. 2725

K.P.S. Kanakaj v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cri) 674. 2841

K.R. Soorachari v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2005 (SC) 2674 : AIR 2005 SCW 2940 : 2005(2) Crimes 128 : 2005(2) JT 252 : 2005(3) Supreme 414 : 2005(4) Scale 200 : 2005(4) KantLJ 444 : 2005(3) East Cr. C 75 (SC). 2941

K.T. Balgujar v. State of Maharashtra, (1996) Cr LJ 2482 (Bom). 1935

K.V. Ramesh v. H. D. Ramesh, 2001 Cri LJ 3556 (Kant) : 2001(3) CCR 503. ....3030, 3033

Kabirmali v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) East Cr C 323 (Pat). 2266

Kachbeswaran v. State, 1994 Mad LJ (Cr) 127 (Mad). 2618

Kachra v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 392 : (1995) 2 RCD 547 (Raj) (DB)........ 1580

Kaduvakuzhiyul Sudhakaran v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 210 : 1995 Cr LJ 721 (Ker) (DB). ... 1628

Kailash Chand Agarwal v. State of Rajasthan 1994 Cr LR 260 (Raj).......................... 246

Kailash Chand Gupta v. State of Rajasthan 2002 Cri LJ 2439 (Raj.) : 2002(1) FAC 388 2002(2) Raj LW 1004 : 2002(2) WLC 740 272

Kailash Chand Gupta v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 284 (Delhi) : 2005(2) Crimes 359 : 2005(2) Cur Cri R 138 : 2005(118) DLT 60 : 2005(1) FAC 140. 2095

ailash Hazari Lal v. State of M.P. 1995 Cr LR 182 (MP).. 1762
ailash Laxman Khamkar v. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3255 (Bom). 2263, 2267, 2404, 2415, 2435, 3068 ailash Potlia v. State of A.P., AIR 1996 SC 66 : 1995(3) SCJ 594 : 1995(4) Scale 724 : 1995(3) Crimes 514.............................. 2465
ailash v. State of Haryana, 2004 Cr LJ 310 (P&H) : 2003 (3) Rec Cri R 462. 2433
ailash v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 318 (MP). 2339
ailash v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 704 (All). 2025
ailash v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 310 (P&H) : 2003 (3) Rec Cri R 462. 2433
ailash v. The State of Rajasthan 2002 Cri LJ 390 (Raj.). 1927, 1923, 1928
aki Ramesh v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 Crimes 268 (SC) : (1994) 4 SCC 397 : 1994 (3) JT 532 : 1994 (2) Scale 753 : 1994 (1) UJ 776 : 1994 (2) CCR 503 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1214. ....1519, 1544, 1618 alawati v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 1932 : 2009 (4) SCC 37 : 2009 (2) JT 362 : 2009 (2) Scale 488 : 2009 (3) SCR 187 : 2009 (1) Supreme 800.................................. 1528 alegura Padma Rao v. State of Andhra Pradesh, represented by the Public Prosecutor, AIR 2007 SC 1299 = 2007 (12) SCC 48. .... 1792, 1826 aleshwar Ahir v. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand), 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 12 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 170 : 2003(4) JCR JHA 85 : 2003(4) JLJR 567................................ 1729 ali Charan v. State (Delhi Administration), (1994) 55 DLT 642. 2341
ali Charan v. State, 1995 Cr LJ 663 (Del). 2344 alia alias Kalakar Naik v. State of Orissa. 2002 Cr LJ 3233. Oril H.C. ...., 2401 aliaperumal v. State of T.N., 2003 Cr LJ 4321 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3828 : 2003(7) JT 392 : 2003(3) Crimes 374 (SC) : 2003(6) Supreme 101. 1866
aliaperumal v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3658 (Mad). 1799
aliben Rabari v. State of Gujarat, 2009 CrLJ 2843 : 2009 (11) SCC 797 : 2009 (7) JT 360 : 2009 (5) Scale 26 : 2009 (5) SCR 331 : 2009 (4) Supreme 392.................................. 1748
Kalika Tiwari v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) East Cr C 421 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 2186 : 197(4) SCC 45 : 1997(4) JT 405...........2528, 2530, 2534
Kaliyan Singh v. State of UP. 2004 Cr LJ 4262 (All) : 2004 All LJ 2727.......................... 2226
Kaliyaperumal v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 129 : (1995) 1 Crimes 873 : (1995) 2 CCR 499 (Mad) (DB)....................................1519, 1614
Kalla Srinivas v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 2440 (AP) : 2005(2) ALD (CRL) 250 : 2005(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 36 : 2005(4) Crimes 395. 3044
Kallan v. State of U.P. 2001 Cri LJ 4403 (All). 1631, 2530
Kalru Rai v. State of Jharkhand, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3509 (Jhar). 2031, 2767
Kalu alias Kalu Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 RCC 224 (Raj). 2522
Kalu Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 258 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2470. 1493
Kalyanam v. Ramesh, 2003 Cr LJ 3390 (Mad) : 2003(2) Crimes 157 : 2003(2) Cur Cri R 178. 3037
Kalyani Modern Rice Mill (M/s.) v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 1123 (AP)..........................2719, 2724
Kamadev Naik v. State of Orissa, (1994) 3 Crimes 248 (Ori). 2241
Kamail Singh v. Risal Singh. (1994) 2 Recent CR 291 (P & H). 2459
Kamail Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 UP Cr R 330. 2718
Kamal Bora (Sri) v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3275 (Gau) : 2003(4) Crimes 118 : 2003(2) Gauhati LR 595.. 1568
Kamal Kishore Shukla v. State of U.P., 1993 (2) JIC 608 (All).. 2715
Kamal Kishore v. State of HP 2000 Cr LJ 2292 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 1920 : 2000(4) SCC 502 : 2000(5) JT 202 : 2000(4) Scale 52 : 2000(3) Supreme 762. 2329
Kamal Krishna Chopra v. State of U.P., 1999 Cri LJ 2345 (All). 2703
Kamal Kumar v. State of H. P., 2009 CriLJ 36 (HP). 2177, 2420, 3072
Kamal Kumar v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 735 : 1995 JCC 280 : 1995 Cr LJ 2240 : (1995) 59 DLT 65 : (1995) 3 CCR 498 (Del) (D.B.).. 1636
Kamal Singh v. State of H.P., (1994) 3 Crimes 134 (HP) (DB).. 1474
Kamal Singh v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 PLJR (SC) 111 : 1994 Cr LJ 136 (SC)...........1609, 1772

Kamalakar Nandram Bhavsar v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 615 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 503 : 2003(9) JT 570 : 2003(8) Supreme 424 : 2004(1) Crimes 31 (SC)................ 1897

Kamalakar Padhu Mahapatra v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 615 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 503 : 2004(1) Crimes 31 : 2003(10) Scale 61 : 2003(8) Supreme 424 : AIR 2003 SCW 6542. 2973

Kamalanatha v. State of T.N., 2005 (3) East Cr C 78 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2132 : 2005(5) SCC 194 : 2005(5) SCC 194 : 2005(4) JT 170 : 2005(4) Supreme 501 : 2005 SCC (Cr) 1121 : 2005(3) Crimes 24 (SC).............. 1657, 1688, 2290, 2360

Kamalesh (Miss) v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 508 (P&H). 2963

Kamaludin @ Kamal v. Mangal Das, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 82 (P&H). 2721

Kamati Rajam v. State of A.P, (1995) 1 CCR 360 : (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 217 (AP). 1542

Kamesh Panjiyar v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 1418 (SC) : 2004(3) SCC 609 : 2004(2) Supreme 213 : 2004(2) JT 299 : 2004(2) Crimes 197 (SC). 1852, 1857

Kamji v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 126 (Raj). 1492

Kamla Muntaratnam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4782 (AP) : 2003(3) Crimes 109 : 2003(2) DMC 340 : 2003(2) GCD Guj 1109....................... 1607

Kamla Nand v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 547 (HP) : 2003(1) Shim LC 75. 2404

Kamlabai Dattatraya Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 BCrC 474 (Bom.)..... 1549

Kampuri (Smt) v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 WLC (Raj) 570. 1635

Kamta Prasad v. State of U.P. 1994 SCC (Cri) 290 : 1994 JIC 136 : (1994) 1 East Cr C (NOC) 22 : 1994 Cr LJ 1202 : AIR 1994 SC 1519. : 1993 (5) JT 171 : 1993 –Scale 666 : 1993 (3) Crimes 370.................... 1466, 1581

Kamta Tiwari v. State of M.P., 1996 Cri LJ 4158 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 2800 : 1996 (8) JT 198 : 1996 (6) Scale 337 : 1996 (6) SCC 250 : 1996 (6) Supreme 482 : 1996 (3) Crimes 241 (SC0 : 1996 (3) CCr 141 (SC) : 1996 SCC (Cr) 1298 : 1996 (6) AD (SC) 362...............................1520

Kanak Singh Rai Singh Rav v. State of Gujarat, 2003 Cr LJ 855 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 691 : 2003(1) SCC 78 : 2003(1) Crimes 168 (SC) : 2002(8) Supreme 419. 1633

Kanakaraj K.P.S. v. State. (1995) 2 LW (Cri) 663 (Mad)... 2854

Kanakaraj v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 674 (Mad). 2842

Kanchan Dass v. State of Delhi, 1991 Cr LJ 2036 (Delhi). 2320,

Kanhaiya Lal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 WLC 286 (Raj). 2334

Kanhaiya Lall v. Emperor, 168 Ind Cas 58 : 38 Cr LJ 491 : 1937 OLR 202 : 1937 OWN 505 : AIR 1937 Oudh 331. 2574

Kanik Lal Thakur v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 375 (Pat) : 2001(3) East Cri C 43.......... 2651

Kanku v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 CCR 317 : 1995 (1) RCD 49 (Raj). 1545

Kanku. (Smt) v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 Crimes 527 : 1994 Cr LJ 2077 (Raj). 1602

Kanna v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 253. ....1613, 1615

Kannaboina Vittal Rao alias Vittal v. State of Andhra Pradesh rep. by Public Prosecutor, (1994) 2 ALT (Cri) 482 (AP) (DB). 1603

Kans Raj v. State of Punjab, 2000 CriLJ 2993 (SC) : AIR 2000 SC 2324 : 2000 (5) SCC 207 : 2000 (5) JT 223 : 2000 (2) Crimes 213 (SC). 1850, 1855, 2954

Kante Venkata Rao v. State, 2001 CriLJ 3445. 1858

Kanti Lal v. State of Gujarat, 2003 Cr LJ 850 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 684 : 2002(10) SCC 39 : 2002(8) Supreme 629 : 2003(1) Crimes 6 (SC)... 1547

Kanti Lal v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 2703 : 2009 (6) SCR 525 (SC) : 2009 (3) SLT 569 (SC) : 2009 (5) JT 635 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 116 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 498 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 360 (SC) : 2009 (3) JCC 1604............ 1599, 1841, 1845, 2496, 2974,

Kanti v. State of U.P., 1994 UP Cr R 374 (All). 1606

Kanwal Ram v. H.P. Administration, AIR 1966 SC 614 ; 1970 Cr LJ 838; AIR 1971 SC 1153; AIR 1969 Cal 55; AIR 1969 Assam 90. ....2917, 2925

Kanwal Sood (Smt.) v. Nawal Kishore, AIR 1983 SC 159 : 1983 Cri LJ 173..................... 2787

Kanwar Pal S. Gill v. State (Administration UT, Chandigarh) v. Mrs. Rupan Deol Bajaj, IAS, 2005 Cr LJ 3443 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3104 : 2005(6) JT 452 : 2005(6) SCC 161 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1420 : 2005(5) Supreme 218. ....2170, 2173, 2174

Kapil Gary (Dr.) v. State, 2004(1) Crimes 101 (Delhi). 2476

Kapoora v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 498 (Raj). 1546, 1577

Kaptan v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 1556 (All) : 2004 All LJ 492 : 2004(48) All Cri C 94. 2226

Kapur Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 499 (P&H). 1542

Karakiappa v. Smt. Renuka, (1995) 3 Kar LJ 303 (Karn). 2923

Karam Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 64 (SC) : 1993 Cr LJ 3673. 1705

Karam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1999 Cri LJ 1791 (Raj). 2463

Karambir v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 CCR 582 (P&H) : (1994) 3 CC Cases 570 (P&H). 2962, 2963

Karamjit Singh v. Smt. Kaushalya Devi, (1993) 2 Recent Cr R 52. 2698

Karamjit Singh v. State (UT) Chandigarh, 2005 Cr LJ 1306 (P&H) : 2005(1) All Cri LR 825 : 2005(2) Cur Cri R 263 : 2005(1) Rec Cri R 686. 2711

Karna Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 266 (Raj). 1488

Karnel Singh v. State of M.P. (1995) 5 SCC 518 : 1995 AIR SCW 3644 : AIR 1995 SC 2395. 2472

Karnel Singh v. State of M.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 527 (MP). 2316, 2343, 2388

Karpal Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 536 (P&H). 2723, 2724

Kartar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 221 : (1994) XXI Cr LT 173 (P&H). 2610

Kartar Singh v. State, 1993 Cr LJ 1483 (Del). 2355

Karu Mian v. State of Bihar, 2006 Cr LJ (NOC) 151 (Jhar). 2522

Karunakaran Nadan v. State, 2000 Cri LJ 3748 (Kerala) : 2000(2) ALT (Cri) 313 : 2000(2) Ker LT 210. 2902

Karunakaran v. C. Jayasooryan, 1992 Cr LJ 3540 (Ker). 3001

Karunamoy Sarmah v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2270 Orissa : 2003(95) Cut LT 477. 1948

Karuppa Pillai v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3880 (Mad). 1776

Karuppiah v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3776 (Mad). 1767

Kasan v. State of Rajasthan 2002 Cri LJ 1460 (Raj.) : 2002(3) All Cri LR 794 : 2002(2) Rec Cri R 648. 2215

Kashi Naresh and Nanhhu Singh v. State of U.P., (1995) 4 Crimes 356 (All). 1766

Kashibai v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 3 CCR 323 (MP). 1768

Kashmir Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 (1) Crimes 111 (SC). 1511

Kashmira Singh Mohan Singh Lathi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3497 : 2003(2) UC 1156. 2503

Kashmira Singh S/o Jeet Singh v. State of Delhi. 1995 JCC 208 (Del). 1581

Katcherla Venkata Sunil v. Dr. Vanguri Seshumamba, 2008 CriLJ 853 (AP). 1832

Kathandapani v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 151 (Mad) : 2002(2) Mad LW (Cri) 826. 2087

Katta Ramudu v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 302 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 2428 : 1997 (3) JT 498 : 1997 (2) Scale 726 : 1997 (3) Supreme 209 : 1997 (1) CCR 279 (SC). 1510

Kattaiyan Rajangam v. State, 1997 Cr LJ 382 (Mad). 2328

Kaur Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cas 263 (P&H). 2174

Kaushal Prasad v. State of M.P., 1996 Cr LJ 2268 (MP). 2096

Kaushal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3458 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1799 : 2003(46) All Cri C 401 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1790. 2504

Kaveri v. State, (1994) 1 CCR 25 (Mad). 1492

Keashavamurthy v. State 2002 Cri LJ 103 (Kant). 1807

Kehar Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 Cri LJ 1753 (Raj). 1780

Keki Hormusji Gharda v. Mehervan Rustom Irani, AIR 2009 SC 2594 : 2009 (9) SCR 183 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 475 : 2009 (13) JT 540 (SC) : 2009 (8) Scale 289 (SC) : 2009 (5) Supreme 343 (SC) : 2009 (4) SLT 579 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3733 (SC) : 2009 (3) Crimes 243 (SC) : 2009 (3) JCC 2086 (SC) : 2009 (150) Comp Cas 70. .... 2124, 2127, 2133

Kelu Cheran Behera v. State of Orissa, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2280 (Orissa). 2019, 2033, 2171

Kerma v. State, (2004) 2 Crimes 289 (MP). . 2523

Keshab Chandra Panda v. State,(1995) 1 CCR 427 (Ori). 1835, 1848

Keshav v. State, 2001 Cri LJ 1201 (Delhi) : 2001(1) JCC 273 : 2001(1) B Cr C 683 : 2001(2) Rec Cri R 254 (Del.). 2260

Kamalakar Nandram Bhavsar v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 615 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 503 : 2003(9) JT 570 : 2003(8) Supreme 424 : 2004(1) Crimes 31 (SC)................. 1897

Kamalakar Padhu Mahapatra v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 615 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 503 : 2004(1) Crimes 31 : 2003(10) Scale 61 : 2003(8) Supreme 424 : AIR 2003 SCW 6542. 2973

Kamalanatha v. State of T.N., 2005 (3) East Cr C 78 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2132 : 2005(5) SCC 194 : 2005(5) SCC 194 : 2005(4) JT 170 : 2005(4) Supreme 501 : 2005 SCC (Cr) 1121 : 2005(3) Crimes 24 (SC).............. 1657, 1688, 2290, 2360

Kamalesh (Miss) v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 508 (P&H). 2963

Kamaludin @ Kamal v. Mangal Das, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 82 (P&H). 2721

Kamati Rajam v. State of A.P, (1995) 1 CCR 360 : (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 217 (AP). 1542

Kamesh Panjiyar v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 1418 (SC) : 2004(3) SCC 609 : 2004(2) Supreme 213 : 2004(2) JT 299 : 2004(2) Crimes 197 (SC). 1852, 1857

Kamji v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 126 (Raj). 1492

Kamla Muntaratnam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4782 (AP) : 2003(3) Crimes 109 : 2003(2) DMC 340 : 2003(2) GCD Guj 1109........................ 1607

Kamla Nand v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 547 (HP) : 2003(1) Shim LC 75. 2404

Kamlabai Dattatraya Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 BCrC 474 (Bom.)..... 1549

Kampuri (Smt) v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 WLC (Raj) 570. 1635

Kamta Prasad v. State of U.P. 1994 SCC (Cri) 290 : 1994 JIC 136 : (1994) 1 East Cr C (NOC) 22 : 1994 Cr LJ 1202 : AIR 1994 SC 1519. : 1993 (5) JT 171 : 1993 –Scale 666 : 1993 (3) Crimes 370.................. 1466, 1581

Kamta Tiwari v. State of M.P., 1996 Cri LJ 4158 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 2800 : 1996 (8) JT 198 : 1996 (6) Scale 337 : 1996 (6) SCC 250 : 1996 (6) Supreme 482 : 1996 (3) Crimes 241 (SC0 : 1996 (3) CCr 141 (SC) : 1996 SCC (Cr) 1298 : 1996 (6) AD (SC) 362................................1520

Kanak Singh Rai Singh Rav v. State of Gujarat, 2003 Cr LJ 855 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 691 : 2003(1) SCC 78 : 2003(1) Crimes 168 (SC) : 2002(8) Supreme 419. 1633

Kanakaraj K.P.S. v. State. (1995) 2 LW (Cri) 663 (Mad).. 2854

Kanakaraj v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 674 (Mad). 2842

Kanchan Dass v. State of Delhi, 1991 Cr LJ 2036 (Delhi). .... 2320.

Kanhaiya Lal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 WLC 286 (Raj). 2334

Kanhaiya Lall v. Emperor, 168 Ind Cas 58 : 38 Cr LJ 491 : 1937 OLR 202 : 1937 OWN 505 : AIR 1937 Oudh 331. 2574

Kanik Lal Thakur v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 375 (Pat) : 2001(3) East Cri C 43........... 2651

Kanku v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 CCR 317 : 1995 (1) RCD 49 (Raj). 1545

Kanku. (Smt) v. State of Rajasthan. (1994) 2 Crimes 527 : 1994 Cr LJ 2077 (Raj). 1602

Kanna v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 253. ....1613, 1615

Kannaboina Vittal Rao alias Vittal v. State of Andhra Pradesh rep. by Public Prosecutor, (1994) 2 ALT (Cri) 482 (AP) (DB). 1603

Kans Raj v. State of Punjab, 2000 CriLJ 2993 (SC) : AIR 2000 SC 2324 : 2000 (5) SCC 207 : 2000 (5) JT 223 : 2000 (2) Crimes 213 (SC). 1850, 1855, 2954

Kante Venkata Rao v. State, 2001 CriLJ 3445. 1858

Kanti Lal v. State of Gujarat, 2003 Cr LJ 850 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 684 : 2002(10) SCC 39 : 2002(8) Supreme 629 : 2003(1) Crimes 6 (SC).. 1547

Kanti Lal v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 2703 : 2009 (6) SCR 525 (SC) : 2009 (3) SLT 569 (SC) : 2009 (5) JT 635 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 116 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 498 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 360 (SC) : 2009 (3) JCC 1604............ 1599, 1841, 1845, 2496, 2974.

Kanti v. State of U.P., 1994 UP Cr R 374 (All). 1606

Kanwal Ram v. H.P. Administration, AIR 1966 SC 614 ; 1970 Cr LJ 838; AIR 1971 SC 1153; AIR 1969 Cal 55; AIR 1969 Assam 90. ....2917. 2925

Kanwal Sood (Smt.) v. Nawal Kishore. AIR 1983 SC 159 : 1983 Cri LJ 173...................... 2787

Kanwar Pal S. Gill v. State (Administration UT. Chandigarh) v. Mrs. Rupan Deol Bajaj, IAS. 2005 Cr LJ 3443 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3104 : 2005(6) JT 452 : 2005(6) SCC 161 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1420 : 2005(5) Supreme 218. ....2170, 2173. 2174

Kapil Gary (Dr.) v. State. 2004(1) Crimes 101 (Delhi). 2476

Kapoora v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 498 (Raj). 1546, 1577

Kaptan v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 1556 (All) : 2004 All LJ 492 : 2004(48) All Cri C 94. 2226

Kapur Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 499 (P&H). 1542

Karakiappa v. Smt. Renuka, (1995) 3 Kar LJ 303 (Karn). 2923

Karam Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 64 (SC) : 1993 Cr LJ 3673. 1705

Karam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1999 Cri LJ 1791 (Raj). 2463

Karambir v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 CCR 582 (P&H) : (1994) 3 CC Cases 570 (P&H). 2962, 2963

Karamjit Singh v. Smt. Kaushalya Devi, (1993) 2 Recent Cr R 52. 2698

Karamjit Singh v. State (UT) Chandigarh, 2005 Cr LJ 1306 (P&H) : 2005(1) All Cri LR 825 : 2005(2) Cur Cri R 263 : 2005(1) Rec Cri R 686. 2711

Karna Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 266 (Raj) 1488

Karnel Singh v. State of M.P. (1995) 5 SCC 518 : 1995 AIR SCW 3644 : AIR 1995 SC 2395, 2472

Karnel Singh v. State of M.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 527 (MP) 2316, 2343, 2388

Karpal Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 536 (P&H). 2723, 2724

Kartar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 221 : (1994) XXI Cr LT 173 (P&H). 2610

Kartar Singh v. State, 1993 Cr LJ 1483 (Del). 2355

Karu Mian v. State of Bihar, 2006 Cr LJ (NOC) 151 (Jhar). 2522

Karunakaran Nadan v. State, 2000 Cri LJ 3748 (Kerala) : 2000(2) ALT (Cri) 313 : 2000(2) Ker LT 210. 2902

Karunakaran v. C. Jayasooryan, 1992 Cr LJ 3540 (Ker). 3001

Karunamoy Sarmah v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2270 Orissa : 2003(95) Cut LT 477. 1948

Karuppa Pillai v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3880 (Mad). 1776

Karuppiah v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3776 (Mad). 1767

Kasan v. State of Rajasthan 2002 Cri LJ 1460 (Raj.) : 2002(3) All Cri LR 794 : 2002(2) Rec Cri R 648. 2215

Kashi Naresh and Nanhhu Singh v. State of U.P., (1995) 4 Crimes 356 (All) 1766

Kashibai v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 3 CCR 323 (MP). 1768

Kashmir Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 (1) Crimes 111 (SC). 1511

Kashmira Singh Mohan Singh Lathi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3497 : 2003(2) UC 1156. 2503

Kashmira Singh S/o Jeet Singh v. State of Delhi. 1995 JCC 208 (Del). 1581

Katcherla Venkata Sunil v. Dr. Vanguri Seshumamba, 2008 CriLJ 853 (AP). 1832

Kathandapani v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 151 (Mad) : 2002(2) Mad LW (Cri) 826. 2087

Katta Ramudu v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 302 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 2428 : 1997 (3) JT 498 : 1997 (2) Scale 726 : 1997 (3) Supreme 209 : 1997 (1) CCR 279 (SC). 1510

Kattaiyan Rajangam v. State, 1997 Cr LJ 382 (Mad). 2328

Kaur Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cas 263 (P&H). 2174

Kaushal Prasad v. State of M.P., 1996 Cr LJ 2268 (MP). 2096

Kaushal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3458 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1799 : 2003(46) All Cri C 401 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1790. 2504

Kaveri v. State, (1994) 1 CCR 25 (Mad). 1492

Keashavamurthy v. State 2002 Cri LJ 103 (Kant) 1807

Kehar Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 Cri LJ 1753 (Raj). 1780

Keki Hormusji Gharda v. Mehervan Rustom Irani, AIR 2009 SC 2594 : 2009 (9) SCR 183 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 475 : 2009 (13) JT 540 (SC) : 2009 (8) Scale 289 (SC) : 2009 (5) Supreme 343 (SC) : 2009 (4) SLT 579 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3733 (SC) : 2009 (3) Crimes 243 (SC) : 2009 (3) JCC 2086 (SC) : 2009 (150) Comp Cas 70. .... 2124, 2127, 2133

Kelu Cheran Behera v. State of Orissa, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2280 (Orissa). 2019, 2033, 2171

Kerma v. State, (2004) 2 Crimes 289 (MP).. 2523

Keshab Chandra Panda v. State,(1995) 1 CCR 427 (Ori). 1835, 1848

Keshav v. State, 2001 Cri LJ 1201 (Delhi) : 2001(1) JCC 273 : 2001(1) B Cr C 683 : 2001(2) Rec Cri R 254 (Del.). 2260

Keshavalal v. State of Madhya Pradesh AIR 2002 SC 1221 : 2002(3) SCC 254 : 2002(2) JT 628 : 2002(2) Scale 410 : 2002(2) Supreme 184 : 2002(2) Crimes 92 (SC).. 1711

Keshvamurthy v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 103 (Kant.). 1801

Keshwa Nand v. Bhag Singh, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 453 (P&H). 2845

Kevji v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 725 (Raj) : 2002 (1) Raj (Cri) C 61 : 2002 (1) Raj W 525 (Raj) : 2002(1) WLC 547 (Raj). 1666

Kewal Singh v. State of Punjab, 2004 Cr LJ 31 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 72 : 2003(7) Supreme 468 : 2003(4) Crimes 352 (SC) : 2003(3) JCC 1906. .... 1495, 1610

Khadi Oraon v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 87 (Jhar) : Air 2003 Jhar HCR 303 : 2003(1) JCR JHA 2914 : 2003(1) JLR 146. 1673

Khairaj v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 3 Crimes 788 (Raj). 2459

Khairatilal v. Union Territory of Chandigarh, (1994) 2 Recent CR 86 (P & H). 2539

Khairu Ravidas v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3658 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1016 : 2003(3) East Cri C 21 1863

Khali v. State of Rajasthan. 1994 RCC 290 (Raj). 3031

Khandu Pandu Jadhav v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 3 Crimes 818 (SC) 2963

Kharag Singh v. State of U.P., 1999 Cri LJ 82 (All). 2496, 2489

Khatoon Bibi v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 301(Jhar). 1865

Khem Chand v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 426 (All). 2014

Khem Singh v. State of H.P., 2000 Cri LJ 4326 (H.P.) 1887

Khem Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 381 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr 214 (P & H). 1519

Khemraj H. Agarwal v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 2271 (Bom). 1899

Kheraj v. Sona Ram, 1995 Cr LR 314 (Raj). 2459

Khetramohan Panda v. State of Orissa, 2010 (1) Cri LJ 498 (Orissa). 1876, 2971, 2980

Khoddas Manjibhai Savriaya v. State of Gujarat, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1410. 2608

Khyali v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 45. 2548

Kidia v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 247 : 1994 RCC 2 (Raj) 1524

Kinu Mahto v. State of Bihar (1994) 2 East Cr C 292 (Pat). 1477

Kiran Mandal v. (Smt) Mohini Mandal, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 329 (P&H). 2598

Kiran Yadav v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 1711 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 967 : 2004(1) East Cri C 629. 2353

Kirender Sarkar v. State of Assam, AIR 2009 SC 2513 : 2009 CrLJ 3727 : 2009 (12) SCC 342 : 2009 (6) JT 114 : 2009 (6) SCR 1133 : 2009 (6) Scale 589. .... 1626, 2034, 2798

Kirti Mahto v. State of Bihar, 1-994 SCC (Cri) 1493 : 1994 Supp(2) SCC 569. 1738

Kisan v. State of Maharashtra, 2007 CriLJ 130 (Bom). 1630, 1909, 2974

Kishan Bahadur v. State of A.P., (1994) 2 ALT 9 (NRC) : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 620 (AP). 1962

Kishan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 1519 (Raj) : 2005 Cri LR (Raj) 19 : 2005(2) Raj Cri C 545 : 2005(2) Raj LR 748 : 2005(2) Rec Cri R 686 : 2005(2) WLC 200. 2353

Kishan Singh v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 RCC 123 : 1995 Cr LR 176 : 1995 Cr LJ 2127 : (1995) 2 RCD 38 : 1995 Cr LR 547 : (1995) 1 RCD 76 : (1995) 2 RCD 189 (Raj). 1492, 1518, 1625, 1924

Kishangiri Mangalgiri Goswami v. State of Gujarat, AIR 2009 SC 1808 : 2009 CrLJ 1720 : 2009 (4) SCC 52 : 2009 (2) JT 84 : 2009 (2) Scale 31 : 2009 (1) Supreme 491 : 2009 (1) SLT 698. .... 1912, 1914, 2967, 2983.

Kishnia v. State of Rajasthan. 2004 Cr LJ 4227 : AIR 2004 SC 4318 : 2004(6) Supreme 474 : 2004(3) Crimes 20 (SC) : 2004(4) Recent Cr 294. 1661

Kishore Chand v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ 3321 (Delhi) : 2002(97) DLt 705 : 2002(62) DRJ 519 : 2002(3) Rec Cri R 401. 1797

Kishore Jain v. The State, 2002 Cri LJ 1154 (Del.) : 2002(3) all Cri LR 229 : 2001(4) Cur Cri R 409 : 2001(4) Cur Cri R 409. 2772

Kishore Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 537. 2378

Kisto Majhi v. State, (1995) 2 Crimes 623 (Cal). 1942

Kodamala Prabhakar v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 243 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (CRL) 779 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 169. 1588

Koja Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LJ 1575 (Raj). 2358

Komal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1958 : 2009 (1) Crimes 373 : 2009 (11) SCC 55 : 2009 (2) Scale 479 : 2009 (1) SCR 1142 : 2009 (2) Supreme 25 : 2009 (2) SLT 480. .... 1701, 2031

Komati Rajam v. State of A.P., (1994) 1 APLJ 47 (SN) : (1994) 1 APLJ 366 : (1994) 1 ALT 639 : (1994) 2 Crimes 511 (AP) (DB). 1579

Komilla Satyanarayana v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1994 Cr LJ 37 (AP).......... 2519

Konda v. State of Bihar 2001 Cr LJ 442 (Pat.) : 2001(3) Crimes 148 : 2001(1) BLJR 401 (Pat) (Ranchi Branch). 2328

Kondana Laxminarayan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 53 (Orissa) : 2002 (23) OCR 604. . 1539

Kondapallai Laxman Rao v. State of A.P. 1999 Cr LJ 1928 (AP).......... 2320

Koppisetti Subbharao alias Subramaniam v. State of A. P., AIR 2009 SC 2684 : 2009 (7) SCR 157 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 331 : 2009 (4) SLT 687 (SC) : 2009 (6) JT 212 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 528 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 688 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3480 (SC) : 2009 (4) JCC 3061 (SC).......... 1846, 2982

Koppisetti Subbharao v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2684 : 2009 CrLJ 3480 : 2009 (12) SCC 331 : 2009 (6) JT 212 : 2009 (7) SCR 157 : 2009 (6) Scale 528 : 2009 (3) Supreme 688 : 2009 (4) SLT 687. 1840

Koppula Venkat Rao v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ 1804 : (2004) 2 Crimes 306 (SC) : (2004) 3 SCC 602 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 840 : AIR 2004 SC 1874. 3061

Korma Munda v. State of Bihar, (1995) East Cr C 691 (Pat).......... 1763

Koshalya v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 Recent CR 48 (P&H) (DB).......... 1844

Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd. v. Nabitetto Finlease and Indvestment Pvt. Ltd., 2005 Cr LJ 3500 : 2005 All MR (CRI) 1983 : 2005(2) Bom CR (Cri) 219 : 2006(1) East Cri C 184.......... 2590

Kotwal v. State of M.P., 1994 SCC (Cri) 92 : 1994 Cr MLJ 255 : AIR 1994 SC 564 : 1993(4) Scale 517 : 1994 Cr LJ 255....... 1752

Kripal singh v. State of Haryana, 1999 Cri LJ 5031 (SC).......... 2495

Kripal Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2002 SC 2547 : 2001(10) JT 341 : 2002(3) Supreme 89 : 2002(2) Crimes 166 (SC). . 1722

Kripal Singh v. Wazir Singh 2001 Cri LJ 1566 (Delhi) : 2001(1) CCR 486 : 2001(1) JCC 104 (Del.).......... 2604

Kripan Gian v. Emperor. AIR 1930 Lah 532 : 122 Ind Cas 721 : 31 Cr LJ 448. 1735

Kripasing Sheetala Prasad Srivastava v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 38 (Bom). 1722

Krishan Kumar v. State (Delhi Administration), 1993 Cri LJ 19 (Del).......... 1934

Krishan Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 274 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 169 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 71 (P&H).......... 2633

Krishan Kumar v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Recent CR 148 (P&H). 2685

Krishan Lal Sharma v. The State of Rajasthan, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2316 (Raj). 1866, 2956

Krishan Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent CR 259 (P & H).......... 1811

Krishan Pal Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 (31) ACC 29. 1581

Krishan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 655 (P&H). 1825

Krishan Sinh v. State of HP, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3048 (HP)..........1792, 1826

Krishan v. State of Haryana, 1997 (2) Crimes 59 (SC) ; 1997 AIR SCW 2554. .... 1530, 1602, 1652

Krishko International (M/s.) v. M/s. Adwait Steel and Metal (P.) Ltd., 1994 (3) CC Cases 97 (Del).......... 270l

Krishna Devi v. Rajni Bala, (1994) 1 Recent Cr 493 (P&H). 2598

Krishna Ghosh v. State of W. B., AIR 2009 SC 2279 : 2009 (5) SCR 333 (SC) 2009 (12) SCC 413 : 2009 (4) JT 658 (SC) : 2009 (5) Scale 124 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 39 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 2820 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 102 (SC) : 2009 (2) JCC 1389 (SC)..........2951, 1475

Krishna Gope v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 3890 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3114 : 2003(10) SCC 45 : 2003(3) Crimes 343 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 606. 1690

Krishna Kamble v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 678 (Bom).......... 1510

Krishna Kant Pathak v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 14 (All). 2948

Krishna Naik v. State of Orissa, 2005 Cr LJ 1343 (Orissa) : 2005(2) Crimes 361 : 2005(30) OCR 253. 1684

Krishna Ram v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 294

(Raj) : 20034) Crimes 2 : 2003(3) Raj CriC 1211 : 2003(3) Raj LR 572 : 2003(4) Raj LW 2197 : 2003(3) WLC 387. 1529

Krishna Rao Keshav v. State of U.P. 1997 Cri LJ 1129 (Alld). 2614

Krishna v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4075 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2012 : 2003(46) All Cri C 930 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1259. 1691

Krishnamurthy v. State of A.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 357 (AP). 2962

Krishnan and O. Ayyar Thavar v. State of T.N., 2003 Cr LJ 3705 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2978 : 2003(7) SCC 56 : 2003(5) Supreme 173 : 2003(3) Crimes 197 (SC). 1663

Krishnan Kumar v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 169 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 148 (P&H). 2599

Krishnawanti v. State of Punjab, (1994) 3 Recent CR 593 (P&H). 2600

Krupasindhu Bhoi v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 1488 (Ori). 1763

Krushanahari Debath v. State, (1995) 8 OCR 568 (Ori). 1881

Krushna Naik v. State of Orissa, 2005 Cr LJ 1343 (Ori) : 2005(29) All ind Cas 588 : 2005(2) Crimes 361 : 2005(99) Cut LT 283 : 2005(30) OCR 253 : 2005(1) Orissa LR 284. 1681

Kuber Chandra Das v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4776 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 2944 : 2004(2) Crimes 421 : 2004(2) JCR Jha 88. .... 2265, 2267

Kul Bahadur v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 293 (Orissa). 2340

Kulamani Sahu v. State of Orissa, 1994 Cri LJ 2245 : (1994) 3 Crimes 250 (Ori). 1954

Kuldeep Singh v. State of H.P., AIR 2008 SC 3062 : 2008 (10) SCR 1063 (SC) : 2008 (8) JT 219 (SC) : 2008 (10) Scale 64 (SC) : 2008 (7) SRJ 560 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3932 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 2141 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 933 (SC). 1796, 1802, 1821

Kuldeep Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 CC Cases 156 (P&H). 1549

Kuldeep Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3777 (P&H) : 2003(3) Rec Cri R 455. 2409

Kuldip Sharma v. State, (1995) 4 Crimes 225 (SC). 1471, 1597

Kuldip Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 Cri LJ 2201 : (1994) 3 Recent CR 137 (SC). 1945

Kuldip Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2931 (P&H) : 2003 ILR(2) P&H 73. .... 2326, 2326

Kulvendra Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 605 (Raj). 1501

Kulwant Rai v. State of Punjab. AIR 1982 SC 126. 1698

Kuman Razda v. Noor Mohd., (1994) 1 Crimes 227 (All) : 1994 ACC 129 : (1994) 1 CCR 430 (All). 2206

Kumar (Sri) v. State, 2003 Cr LJ. 1637

Kumar Nanaso Jadhav v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 8 (Bom). 1710

Kumar v. Ashish Enterprises, Registered Partnership Firm, 1992 Cr LJ 1619 (Bom). 2702

Kumari Razda v. Noor Mohd., 1994 ACC 129 : (1994) 1 CCR 430 ; 1994 (1) Crimes 227. 2209

Kumudi Lal v. State of U.P., 1999 Cri LJ 2523 (SC) : AIR 1999 SC 1699 : 1999 (4) SCC 108 : 1999 (3) JT 121 : 1999 (2) Scale 622 : 1999 (4) Supreme 121 : 1999 (3) Crimes (SC) : 1999 (2) CCR 81 (SC) : 1999 SCC (Cr) 491 : 1999 (2) Recent CR 485. 1650

Kundan v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 164 : 1994 R Cr C 213. 2820

Kundu Mishra v. State of MP., (1997) 10 SCC 130 : AIR 1997 SC 2622 : 1997 Cri LJ 3182. 2491

Kunduru Vinaya Reddy v. State of A.P., 2005 Cr LJ 3896 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (CRL) 125 : 2006(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 294. 2801

Kunhiabdulla v. State of Kerala, AIR 2004 (SC) 1731 : 2004(4) SCC 13 : 2004(3) JT 206 : 2004(3) Scale 57 : 2004(2) Supreme 354. .... 1836, 1865

Kurale Pullaiha v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1060 (AP) : 2002(2) ALD (CRI) 659 : 2003(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 58. 1687

Kuriakose v. State of Kerala, (1994) 1 Crimes 935 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 614 : 1994 (1) CCR 132 (SC) : 1994 (1) JT 268 : 1994 (1) Scale 270 : 1995 Cr. LJ 2687. 1466

L

L. Baljeet v. State, 2003 CrLJ 2951 (P&H) : 2003 (2) DMC 825 : 2003 (2) MarriLJ 12 : 2003(2) RecCriR 66. 1864

L. Chandraiah v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ 365 (SC) : (2003) 12 SCC 670 : AIR 2004 SC 252. 2620

L. Chandraiah v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 365 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 252 : 2003(10) JT 165 : 2003(9) Scale 537 : 2003(8) Supreme 89. 2868

Lacheppu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 668 (All) : 2002 All LJ 2721 : 2002(45) All Cri C 1035 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2471. 1675

Lachi Bai v. State of M.P., (1995) 2 CCR 201 (MP). 1906

Ladu Kishore Chaudhary v. State of Orissa, 2000 Cri LJ 3617 (Orissa). 1799, 1788

Lahari Bai (Smt.) v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 166 (Raj). 1907

Lakhan Rabidas v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 127 (Pat). 2223

Lakhan Singh v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 2473 (MP) : 2004(2) Jab LJ 136 : 2004(2) MPHT 146 : 2004(2) MPLJ 132. 2354

Lakhan Singh v. State of U.P., 1999 Cr LJ 4087 (All). 2397

Lakhan v. Raju Balian Yadava, 2003 Cr LJ 4424 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (CRI) 1741. ... 1727

Lakhanlal v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3962 (MP) : 2004(2) Ker LJ 732 : 2004(4) MPLT 423. .... 2239, 2247

Lakhbir Singh v. (Smt.) Paramjit Kaur, (1994) 1 CC Cases 194 : (1994) 1 SLJ 528 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 188 : (1994) Cr LT 64 : (1994) 1 Crimes 285 (P&H).2576

Lakhjit Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 235 : 1994 Supp(1) SCC 173. 1839

Lakhpat Rai v. State of U.P., 1992 (29) ACC 361. 2726

Lakhwinder Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1694 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1897 : 2003(9) SCC 444 : 2003(2) Supreme 806 : 2003(2) Crimes 62 (SC). 1672

Lakshmanan Prakash v. State, 1999 Cri LJ 2348 (Madras). 1813

Lal Diwan v. State of U.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 343 : 1995 ALJ 1456 (Alld). 1577

Lal Singh v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 378 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 299 : 2003(4) Crimes 482: 2003(8) JT 488 : 2004(1) Rec Cr R 209: 2003(9) Scale 256: 2003(8) Supreme 93. .... 2503, 2504

Lala v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 403 : (1995) 2 RCD 511 (Raj). 1581

Laldeep Bhagat v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 Crimes 484 (Pat) (DB). 1477, 1612

Laldhari Rai v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1951 (Pat) : 2003(1) East Cri C 118 : 2003(1) BLJ 521 (Pat). 1727

Lalhunpuia (Shri) v. State of Mizoranm, 2004 Cr LJ 3447 (Gau) : 2004(2) Crimes 165 : 2004(3) Gauhati LR 196 : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 205.2380

Lalit Kumar v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 848 (Del). 1533

Lalit Kumar v. Union of India, 1990 (2) Sim LC 233. 1799

Lalit Seth v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Recent CR 68 (P&H). 1903

Lalji alias Lal Babu v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2640 (MP) : 2004(18) All Ind Cas 428 : 2004(2) MPLJ 138. 2819

Lall Chand v. State of Punjab & Anr., 2010 (1) Cri LJ 699 (P&H). 2700, 2708, 2712

Lallu Manjhi v. State of Jharkhand, 2003 Cr LJ 914 (SC) : AIR 2003(SC) 886 : 2003(2) SCC 501 : 2002(10) JT 377 : 2003(1) Supreme 316 : 2003(1) Crimes 393 (SC). 1667

Lalo Mandal vs State of Bihar & Anr., 2010 Cri LJ 941 : 2010 (2) CrLJ 1608 (Pat) (Patna). 2509, 2522

Laloo v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 355 : 1995 Cr LR 818 (Raj). 1510

Lalsahay Uraon v. State of Jharkhand, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3351 (Jhar). 1975, 2039, 2767

Laltu Sardar v. State of Jharkhand, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 2955 (Jhar). 2510

Lalu Mai v. State of Tripura, (1995) 2 GLR 145 (Gau). 1478, 1516, 1543

Lalu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1677 (Orissa). 2512

Lalya Dharma Khadkya v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 564 (Bom). 1485

Lambert Krofer v. NCT of Delhi, 2004 Cr LJ 992 (Delhi) : 2004(2) Cur Cri R 68. 2614

Lanka Hanumantha Rao v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 4327 (AP) : 2005(1) ALD (CRL) 986 : 2005(3) Andh LT (Cri) Ap140. 2472

Lanter v. The King, 1913 AC 221 : see also 41 CLJ 280 : 29 CWN 492 : 86 Ind Cas 213 : 26 Cr LJ 725 : AIR 1925 Cal 613. 2580

Latel v. State of M.P., 1994 Cri LJ 1122 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 763. 2523

Lawrence v. State of Kerela, 2002 Cri. L.J. 3458 (Ker.). 2970

Laxman Das v. State of Rajasthan, 2001 Cr LJ 4501 (Raj). 2310

Laxman Irayya Yengan ti v. State of Maharashtra. (1995) 1 Bom CR 219 (222) : (1995) 1 B Cr C 265 : (1995) 1 Mah LJ 403 (Bom). 1898, 1899

Laxman Naik v. State of Orissa. 1994 (1) Crimes 806 (SC) : AIR 1995 SC 1387 : 1995 Cr. LJ 2692 : 1994 (3) SCC 381 : 1994 (2) JT 39 : 1994 (1) UJ 645 : 1994 (1)Scale 692 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 656 : 1994 (2) CCR 299 (SC) : 1994 JCC 376.. 1645

Laxman Singh v. Poonam Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 4478 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 3204 : 2003 AIR SCW 4566 : 2003(4) Crimes 1 : 2003(6) Scale 334. 2789

Laxman v. State of Karnataka, 1997 (1) Crimes 388 (Kant). 1582

Laxmi Bai v. State of M.P., 2000 Cri LJ 3597 (M.P.). 1894, 1898

Laxmi Chakraborty vs State of Tripura, 2010 Cri LJ 1360 (Gauhati). 2215, 2224, 3071

Laxmi Devi (Smt) v. Satya Narayan, 1996 JIC 402 : (1995) 1 LW (Cr) : (1995) 1 East Cr C 415 (SC). 2915, 2919, 2922

Laxmi Sales (M/s.) v. M/s. Bakemen's Hare Projects Pvt. Ltd., 1994 (2) CC Cases 435 (P&H). 2588

Laxmi Singh v. State of Bihar, AIR 1976 SC 2263 : 1976 Cri LJ 1736. 2029

Laxminath v. State of Chhattisgarh, AIR 2009 SC 1383 : 2009 (3) SCC 519 : 2009 (1) JT 365 : 2009 (1) SCR 348 : 2009 (1) Scale 459 : 2009 (2) SLT 754.........................1747, 1748

Liddu v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 599 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 364 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R (P & H). 1637

Lily Thomas v. Union of India 2000 CriLJ 2433 (SC) : 2000 Luck Cri R 375 : 2000(1) An LT (Cri) 363 : 2000 SCC (Cri) 1056... 2924, 2925

Lingaraj Pillai v. State of Orissa, (1995) 1 OLR 380 (Ori).................................. 2405, 2339

Liyakat Ali v. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2450 (Raj). 2900, 2905, 2906

Liyakat Miyan vs State of Jharkhand, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4008 (Jhar)............................... 2975

Loke Nath v. Ashwini Kumar De, (1938) 1 Cal 665 : AIR 1938 Cal 216 : 39 Cr LJ 537.. 2884

Loki v. State of Karnataka 2000 Cri LJ 149 (Kant)... 1698

Lord Kenyon in Rex v. Topham. 41 TR 126. 3005

M

M. Abbas v. State of Karnataka. (1995) 4 CCR 682 (Kant)... 1554

M. Bhadraiah v. State of A.P., (1994) 1 APLJ 6 (SN) : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 1....................... 1633

M. Bhaskar v. Convenor, Eamcet 1993, Andhra University College of Engineering (1994) 1 ALT (NRC) 33 ; (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 191. 2132

M. Mammutti v. State of Karnataka. AIR 1979 SC 1705; 1979 Cri LJ 1383.................. 2903

M. Muniswamy v. State of Karnataka, 1993 (1) Kar LJ 72... 2711

M. Ramachandran v. State of Kerala, 1996 Cr LJ 3566 (Ker). 2330, 2397

M. Saravana Porselvi v. A. R. Chandrasekar, AIR 2008 SC 2462 : 2008 (9) SCR 937 (SC) : 2008 (11) SCC 520 : 2008 (7) JT 245 (SC) : 2008 (9) Scale 411 (SC) : 2008 (4) Supreme 7 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3034 (SC) : 2008 (2) Crimes 301 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 1597 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 454 (SC).............................. 2989

M. Shafi Garoo v. The State, 2000 Cri LJ 2172 (Del.).. 1806

M. Srinivasulu Reddy v. State 1991 (3) ALT 542. 2880

M. Thulasidass v. K. Govindarajan, 1995 Cr LJ 1660 (Mad).. 2534

M.A. Antony v. State of Kerala, AIR 2009 SC 2549 : 2009 (6) SCC 220 : 2009 (7) JT 372 : 2009 (6) SCR 829 : 2009 (6) Scale 36 : 2009 (8) SLT 255. ....1492, 2453, 2456, 2457, 2465, 2803

M.A. Taide v. State of Maharashtra, 1996 Cri LJ 4025 (Bom). 2065

M.A. Waheed v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 1059 (AP). 1820

M.C. Gangadharappa v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 2755 (Kant.) : AIR 2002 Kant HCR 1551 : 2002(4) All Cri R 790 : 2002(5) Kant LJ 237 : See also Badri Lal Gupta v. State of M.P., 2006 Cr LJ 1375 (M.P.). 2627

M.C. Prasannan v. State, 1999 Cr LJ 998(Call). 2295

M.C. Saxen v. Madan Mohan, (1993) 3 Recent Cr R 391.. 2701

M.M. Hasies v. State of Kerala, 2005 Cr LJ 3314 (Ker) : 2005(4) All Cri R 533 : 2005(4) Crimes 153 : 2005(4) Cur Cri R 99 : 2005(4) East Cri C 511.. 3058

M.P. Khachar v. State of Gujarat, 1996 Cr LJ 2465 (SC). 1924, 1962

M.P. Narayana v. M.P. Chako, 1986 Cri LJ 2002 (Kerala). 3001

M.S. Ahuja v. Ami Chand, 2006 Cr LJ 1503 (P&H). 2997

M.S. Natarajan v. Ramasis Shaw, (1995) 2 Cal HN 78 (Cal). 2723, 2724

M.S. Prasannan v. State, 1999 Cr LJ 998 (Cal). 2291

Macha Rajam v. State of A.P., (1995) 1 Andh LT (Cr) 403 (AP) (DB). 1580

Machhi Singh AIR 1983 SC 957; 1983 Cri LJ 1457. 1651

Machhi Singh v. State of Punjab (1983) 3 SCC 470; (1983 Cri LJ 1457); Suresh v. State of UP, (1981) 2 SCC 569 : (1981 Cri LJ 746);. 1654

Machhindra Sidu Chavan v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 CCR 140 (Bom). . 1945

Madan Chettri v. State of Sikkim 2002 Cr LJ 3149 (Sik). 2411

Madan Kandl v. State of Orissa. (1995) 9 OCR 210 (Ori)... 2510

Madan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 451 (Raj). 1488

Madan Lal v. Dr. Jaswant Singh, (1994) 53 DLT 326 ; (1994) 1 CCR 392 (Del). 2187, 2204

Madan Lal v. State of J & K, AIR 1998 SC 386 = 1998 CriLJ 667. .... 2366, 2417

Madan Lal v. State of Punjab, 1997 (1) Crimes 561 (P & H). 2241, 2260

Madan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimes 112 (Raj) : (1995) 2 RCD 504 : 1995 Cr LR 422 : 1995 R Cr C 321 : (1995) 1 RCD 446 : (1995) 2 RCD 74 : 1995 Cr R 865 (Raj). 1478, 1824

Madan Lal v. State of U. P., AIR 2009 SC 2175 : 2009 (4) SCR 501 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 527.: 2009 (7) JT 679 (SC) : 2009 (4) Scale 102 (SC).. 1863

Madan Lal v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 (SC) 2175 : 2009 (11) SCC 527 : 2009 (7) JT 679 : 2009 (4) SCR 501 : 2009 (4) Scale 102. 1842

Madan Pal v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 354 (P & H). 1493

Madan v. State of M.P., AIR 2008 SC 3083 : 2008 (10) SCR 855 (SC) : 2008 (11) SCC 657 : 2008 (8) JT 156 (SC) : 2008 (10) Scale 33 (SC) : 2008 (5) Supreme 260 (SC) : 2008 (7) SRJ 401 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3950 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 942 : 2008 (3) Crimes 102 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 1944 (SC)......................... 1781

Madani (Mst.) v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cri LJ 1978 (SC) : 1994 AIR (SC) 1713 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1402. 1497

Madas Venkat Goud (Dr.) v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3501 (AP). 1840, 1862

Madhab Digai v. State, 1995 Cr LJ 1206 (Ori). 2042

Madhosingh v. Kamla Devi, 1994 (1) Bom CR 165. 2574

Madhukar Chandar v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Bom CR 617............................ 1750

Madhukar vs State of Madhya Pradesh (now Chhattisgarh), 2010 Cri LJ 1623 (Chha). 1912

Madhusudan Sathpathy v. State of Orissa. 1995 SCC (Cr) 155 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 474 : 1994 Cr LJ 144... 1703

Madkami Irma v. State of Orissa, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 225 (Orissa) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 2295 : 2003(3) BLJR 2190 : 2003(3) East Cri C 511.. 1740

Madkami Laka v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 1484 (Ori). 1510

Magan Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 189 : (2005) 2 Crimes 516 (Uttaranchal) : 2005 (52) All Cri C 396 : 2005(2) Crimes 516 : 2004 (4) Cur Cri R 143. ....1628, 1765,

Maganbhai Prasanbhai v. State, (1994) 3 Crimes 530 (Guj)................................. 1625

Maghanan v. State, 2006 Cr LJ 36 (Mad). . 1583

Maghar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1965 (2) Cr LJ 366 : AIR 1965 Mad 385 : AIR 1975 SC 1320. 1500

Magnum Enterprises (M/s.) v. State and Sanjib Kishore Basu, (1995) 1 CCR 574(Cal)..... 3033

Magnum Enterprises (M/s.) v. State, (1994) 2 CHN 282... 3035

Maguni Ranjan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 530 (Orissa) : 2002(4) Crimes 101 : 2002(94) Cut LT 455 : 2002(2) Orissa LR 142. 2342

Mahabir Biswas v. State of West Bengal, (1994) 3 Crimes 809 (SC) : 1995(2) SCC 25 : 1994(7) JT 279 : 1994(4) Scale 736 : 1995(1) SCJ 193 : 1995(1) CCR 10 (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 308. 1544

Mahabir Singh v. State of U.P., 1995 UP Cr R 9 (All). 2748

Mahabir v. State of Delhi, AIR 2008 SC 2343 : 2008 (6) SCR 361 (SC) : 2008 (5) JT 308 (SC) : 2008 (6) Scale 52 (SC) : 2008 (3) Supreme 111 (SC) : 2008 (4) SLT 127 (SC) : 2008 (5) SRJ 412 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3036 (SC) : 2008 (2) Crimes 180 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1244 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 5 (SC). 2507

Mahabir v. State of U.P, (1995) 2 Crimes 575 (All) (DB). 1578, 2224

Mahabir v. State, (1994) 3 CC Cases 61 : (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 46 (Del). 2397

Mahadeva v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cr LJ 4219 (Raj) : 1996(2) Raj LW 608 (Raj). ... 2297

Mahendra Murtiyan Madras v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 539 (Guj) : 2004(2) All Cri LR 325 : 2004 Cri LR (SC Mah Guj) Guj 242 : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 913. .... 2238, 2262

Mahendra Paras Yadav v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1492 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 553 : 2004(1) JCJR 142. 1743

Mahendra Pratap Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2009 (11) SCC 334 : 2009 (1) Crimes 424 : 2009 (3) JT 120 : 2009 (2) SCR 1033 : 2009 (3) Scale 122 : 2009 (2) Supreme 175 : 2009 (2) SLT 520 : 2009 (2) JCC 1131. ....1759, 1969, 2040

Mahendra Rai v. Mithilesh Rai, 1997 (1) Crimes 41 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 2800 : 1996 (8) JT 198 (SC): 1996 (6) Scale 337 (SC): 1996 (6) SCC 250 : 1996 (6) Supreme 482 : 1996 (3) Crimes 241 (SC) : 1996 (3) CCR 141 (SC) : 1996 SCC Cr 1298 : 1996 (6) AD (SC) 362. 1521

Mahendra Raut v. State of Bihar (New Jharkhand), 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 82 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 581 : 2003(3) JLJR 776. 1713

Mahendra Sahu v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 873 (MP) : 2005(2) DMC 90 : 2004(4) MPLJ 130. 1868

Mahendra Singh (Dr.) v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1908 (Delhi) : 2003(102) DLT 592 : 2003(66) DRJ 616. 1570

Mahendra Singh v. State of M.P., 1995 SCC (Cr) 1157 (SC). 1892, 1894, 2340

Mahendranath Panda v. State. (1995) 1 CCR 777 (Ori). 2536, 2647

Mahesh Chand v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1988 SC 2111 : 1989 Cri LJ 121 (Supra)....... 2064, 2088

Mahesh Chandra v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 2480 (MP). 1569

Mahesh Kumar v. State, 2001 Cri LJ 4417 (All.). 1873

Mahesh Kumar v. State. 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3208 (Del). 2218, 2229, 2271, 2073

Mahesh Rajbhar v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 139 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1359 : 2003(3) East Cri C 492 : 2003(4) JLJR 273. ....2026, 2044

Mahesh v. State of M.P., 1994 MPLJ 71 (N) (MP). 2213

Mahesh v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 114 (Raj). 2625

Mahesh v. State of U.P.. (1994) 31 All Cr C 658 (All). 2043

Maheshwar Sahu v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cr LJ 1035 (Pat). 2299

Maheshwar Singh Munda vs State of Jharkhand, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4011 (Jhar). 2213, 2391

Mahindra Dipchadn Jain v. Ashok Sardarmal Parekh, 2008 CriLJ 3825 (Bom)............ 2587

Mahla Ram v. Hawa Singh 1991 (2) CC Cases 473 (P&H). 2858

Maideen Sab v. State of Karnataka. 1993 Cri LJ 1430 (Kar).......... 1992

Maj. Gen. V.N. Kapur v. M/s. Proco Systems (P) Ltd., 1991 JCC 543 (Del). 2724

Major Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 303 (P & H). 2061

Makhan Singh s/o Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 671 (Raj). 1508

Makhan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2777 (MP) : 2003(9) All Ind Cas 202 : 2003(4) Crimes 396 : 2003(3) MPHT 284 : 2003(3) MPHT 284 : 2003(3) Rec Cri R 674. 2206

Makhlal Mahto v. State of Bihar. 1997 (1) Crimes 568 (Pat). 1670

Mal Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 635 (Raj) : (1995) 2 Crimes 511 : 1995 Cr LJ 2279 : 1995 R Cr 277 : (Raj).........1478, 1493

Mala v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LJ 1266 (Raj). 1977

Mala Yadav v. State of Bihar, (1994) 1 East Cr C 299 : 1 BLJ 343 (Pat). 1962

Malay Kumar Ganguly v. Sukumar Mukherjee, 2009 (9) SCC 221 : 2009 (10) JT 256 : 2009 (13) SCR 1 : 2009 (10) Scale 675 : 2009 (6) SLT 164. .... 1809. 1816. 1817, 1818. 1829. 1854

Maleshwar Bhagat v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 650 : (1995) 3 Crimes 163 : 1995 Cr R 46 (Pat). 1545

Malindo Marandi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4431 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1264. 2378

Maliya v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1413. 1627

Malkhan Singh v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 690 (Ali). 2171

Malkhan Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1790 (MP) : 2003(2) Jab LJ 151 : 2002(4) MP LJ 466. 2344

Malkiat Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 530 (P & H). 1644, 1645

Malla Govindaraju alias Govu v. State of A.P., (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 9 (AP). 1508

Mallappa Siddappa Alakanur v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2009 SC 2959 : 2009 (3) Crimes 230 (SC) : 2009 (9) JT 33 : 2009 (9) Scale 159 : 2009 (5) Supreme 242 : 2009 (10) SCR 196 : 2009 (6) SLT 33. 1589

Malleshi v. State of Karnataka, 2004(4) Crimes 53 (SC) : 2004(8) SCC 95 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 2115 : 2004(8) JT 72 : 2004(6) Supreme 609. .... 2230, 2231

Mallinath Ambanna Shedjale v. Purushotam vasudeo Somshetty, 2002 Cri LJ 506 Bom. : 2001 All MR (CRI) 1324 : 2001(3) Bom LR 712. 2856

Malok Raj Makkar (Dr.) v. Daya Nand, 1992 (1) SLJ 812 (P&H). 2846

Mammnan Mathew v. Kuneel Kumar, 2004 Cr LJ 852 (Bom) : 2004(7) All MR (Cri) 1844. .... 3035, 3036

Man Mohan Chopra v. Ravi Prakash, 1992 (l) Crimes 607 (Mad). 2714

Man Singh v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 3369 (P&H); Wakil Khan v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 3410 : 2006(1) MPLJ 259. 1585

Manan Seikh v. State, 1995 JCC 171 (Del). 2257

Manbir Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 SCC (Cri) 1150. 1626

Mancheswar Service Cooperative Society Ltd. v. Anand Narayan Mishra, 2003 Cr LJ 4390 (Ori) : 2003(25) OCR 646. 2608

Mandhari v. State of Chhattisgarh, 2002 Cr LJ 2630 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 1961 : 2002(4) SCC 308 : 2002(2) Crimes 277 (SC) : 2002(3) Supreme 447. 1568

Manepalli Anjaneyulu v. State of A.P., 1999 Cri LJ 4375 (AP). 2534

Mangal Prasad v. State of M.P., (1995) 4 CCR 67 (MP). 1842

Mangal Ram v. State of M.P., 1999 Cri LJ 4342 (M.P). 1848

Mangal Singh v. Kishan Singh, AIR 2009 SC 1535 : 2008 (12) JT 582 : 2008 (16) SCR 505 : 2008 (15) Scale 33 : 2008 (9) SLT 564. .... 1956, 2077

Mangal Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 277 : (1994) 2 SLJ 1382 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 107 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 390 (P&H) (DB). 2061

Mangaldeen Dubey v. Naresh Kumar Jain, 1995 Cr LR 200 (MP). 1486

Mangara Harijan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 128 (Orissa) : 2004(2) Crimes 364 : 2004(2) JCJR 23 : 2004(27) OCR 869. 2168

Mangi Ram alias Mangi Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 264 (Raj). 2356

Mangla v. State of Haryana, 1995 (XXII) Cr LT 270 (P & H). 1891

Mangoo Prasad Gupta v. State of Bihar, 1997(2) East Cr C 448 (Pat). 2120

Mani Ram v. State of Uttranchal, 2001 Cr. LJ 3403 (Uttaranchal) : 2001 (3) Crimes 1 (6) : 2001 (43) ACC : 137 (Utt) (DB). 1643

Maniben v. State of Gujarat, 2009 (12) SCR 753 : 2009 (8) SCC 796 : 2009 (3) Crimes 298 (SC) : 2009 (12) JT 82 : 2009 (10) Scale 654 : 2009 (5) Supreme 700 : 2009 (4) JCC 2564. .... 1699, 1508, 1762

Maniben vs State of Gujarat, 2010 AIR SCW 570 : AIR 2010 SC 1261. .... 1742, 1774, 1785

Manik Das v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 225 (Gau) : 2003(3) Gauhati GAU LR 526. 1725

Manik Debnath v. State of Tripura, 1999 Cr LJ 607 (Gau). 2310

Manik Devrao Shinde v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1761. 2651

Manik Mukherjee v. State of Bihar, 2000 Cri LJ 3661 (pat). 1655

Manik Shankarrao Dhotre v. State of Maharashtra, 2008 CriLJ 1505 (Bom). 2535, 2536

Manish Jalan v. State of Karnataka., AIR 2008 SC 3074 : 2008 (8) SCC 225 : 2008 (7) JT 643 (SC) : 2008 (9) Scale 814 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3941 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 456 : 2008 (3) JCC 1846 (SC). 1830

Manjit Kaur v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 Crimes 164 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 303 (P & H). 2923

Manju Baradia (Smt.) v. State Chhattisgash, 2001 Cri LJ 3762 (Chathisgarh). 1797

Manju Devi (Smt.) v. State of Bihar 2000 Cri LJ 3382 (Pat) : 2000(3) East Cri C 1901 (Pat). 2916

Manju Mohanka (Smt.) v. Smt Renuka Banerjee. 1996 Cri LJ 4422 (Cal) : 1996(2) Cal LT 166 (Cal). 3034

Manjula Nayak v. Rama Chandra Nayak. OLR 520 (Ori).......... 2923

Manjur Faiju Inamdar v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 East Cr C 5 (SC) : AIR 1993 (SC) 2322 : 1993 Cr LJ 2832 : 1993(2) UJ 323 : 1993(4) JT 147 : 1993(3) Scale 94. 2870

Mankamma vs State of Kerala, 2009 AIR SCW 7053 : 2010 CrLJ 389 (SC) : AIR 2010 SC 499. 1910

Manke Ram v. State of Haryana, 2003 Cr LJ 2328 (P&H). 1730

Manmohan Choubey v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 70 (N) (MP). 1540

Manmohan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 AIR SCW 1003 : AIR 1997 SC 1773 : 1997 (2) JT 72 : 1997 (1) Scale 538 : 1997 (1) Supreme 671 : 1997 (1) Crimes 114 (SC) : 1997 Cr. LJ 1632. ....1484, 1487, 1670

Mannu Lal Yadav v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 202 : (1994) 1 Crimes 653 : 1994 UP Cr R 247 (All). 1936

Mannu v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 3469 (All) : 2005 All LJ 2280 : 2005(52) All Cri C 831 : 2005(2) All Cri R 2185.......... 2231

Manohar Lal v. State (N.C.T. of Delhi) 2000 Cri LJ 581 (SC). 1652

Manohar Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Crimes 147 (P & H).......... 1862

Manohar v. State of Karnataka, 1997 Cri LJ 398. 1949

Manohardas v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 146 (N).......... 2787

Manoj Kumar Hunda v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3431 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1923 : 2004(2) Cur Cri R 273 : 2004(1) JCJR 226......... 2242

Manoj Kumar v. State of M.P. 1991 (1) Crimes 614 (MP).......... 2725

Manoj v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 CC Cases 469 (P & H). 1958

Manoranjan Das v. State of Jharkhand, 2004 CR LJ 3042 : 2004(5) SRJ 180 : 2004(5) Scale 157. 2710

Manoranjan Tripathy v. Ganesh Prasad Singh, 1994 Cr LJ 204 (Ori). 2574

Manpyara v. The State, 2002 Cri LJ 3046 MP : 2002 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPJ 133 : 2002(1) MPHT 253 : 2002(2) MPLJ 11.......... 2255

Mansharam v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 215 (MP). 1508

Maqbool Ahmad v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 44 (Alld). 2548

Maqi Bhim Raj Sharma v. State, 1992 JCC 382 (Del). 2720

Maran Chandra Paul v. State of Tripura, 1997 Cr LJ 715 (Gau) : 1996(2) Gau LR 15 (Gau). 2316, 2344

Maran Nama (Sri) v. State of Tripura, 2010 (2) CriLJ 1594 (Gau). 1939, 1973, 2985

Mariana D' Souza (Miss) v. State, 1994 (2) Crimes 435 (Bom). 1765

Mariappan v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 749 (Mad). 1553, 1970

Martam Sinku v. State of Bihar, 1999 Cri LJ 4159 (Pat.). 1716

Martin F. D'Souza v. Mohd. Ishfaq, AIR 2009 SC 2049 : 2009 (3) SCC 1 : 2009 (2) JT 486 : 2009 (3) SCR 273 : 2009 (2) Scale 629 : 2009 (2) Supreme 40 : 2009 (2) SLT 20. 1818

Masina Kusuma Kumari v. Yeramati Venkatalakshmi, (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 562 : (1994) 2 ALT 4 (AP). 2922

Maskandar Ali v. State of Assam, (1995) 1 GHC 73 : (1995) 3 CCR 604 (Gau). 1544

Massrath Balchandran v. Forbes Campbell & Co. Ltd., 1996 Cri LJ 2131 (Bom). 2854

Mathai v. State of Kerala, 2005 Cr LJ 898 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 710 : 2005(1) Crimes 181 : 2005(2) JT 365 : 2005(3) SCC 260 : 2005(1) Supreme 215. ....2061, 2076

Mathura Murmu v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 869 (Ori). 1509

Matu Munda v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC)162 (Orissa) : 2003(25) OCR 22 Ori.....1589, 1600

Maveri Surya Satyanarayan v. State of A.P., (1995) 2 Crimes 585 : 1995 Cr LJ 689 : (1995) 2 CCR 84 (AP).......... 1485

Mavila Thamban Nambiar v. State of Kerala, 1997 (1) Crimes 72 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 687 : 1997 (1) JT 367 : 1997 (1) Scale 145 : 1997 (1) Supreme 452 : 1997 (1) CCr 156 (SC). 1620, 1705, 1714, 1769

Mazhar Hussain v. State, 2004(2) Crimes 432 (Pat). See also Pappu v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 3380 (Delhi) : 2006 (1) East Cri C 129. .. 2231

Mazid Ali v. State of Assarn, (1994) 1 Gau LR 196. 2357

Medni Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 164 (Pat) : AIR 2004 (SC) 313 : 2004(1) SCC 184 : 2003(9) JT 96 : 2003(4) Crimes 471 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 67.... 1738, 1667

Meesala Ram Krishan v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 Crimes 114 (SC) : (1994) 54 DLT 336 : (1994) 4 SCC 182 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 251. 1638

Meghnath De v. The State 1999 Cri LJ 2252. 1921

Mehar Das v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2203 (P&H) : 2003(3) Crimes 505 : 2003(3) Rec Cri R 431 : 2003(2) All Cri LR 597. 1904

Meharunnissa Khan v. Kamlesh Naik, 1994 B Cr C 111 (Bom). 2184

Mehmood Ali vs State, 2010 (4) CriLJ 3985 (Del). 2507

Mehmood v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 413 (Raj). 1611, 1670

Mehtab Singh alias Kala Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 351 (Raj). 1577

Mekala Raji Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh 2002 Cr LJ 3407 A.P. H.C. : 2002(1) ALD (CrL) 477 : 2002 Andh LT (Cri) AP 306... 2411

Mela Singh v. State of Punjab, 1996 Cri LJ 3695 (P&H). 1554

Mercier Bento Morenas v. State of Goa, (1995) 4 Crimes 532 (Bom)................................ 2356

Mihir Das v. State of Tripura, 2006 Cr LJ 1500 (Gau).. 2259

Milind Bhagwanrao Godse v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 1828 : 2009 (3) SCC 699 : 2009 CrLJ 1736 : 2009 (1) Crimes 439 : 2009 (2) JT 574 : 2009 (2) SCR 39 : 2009 (2) Scale 621 : 2009 (2) Supreme 94 : 2009 (2) SLT 207 : 2009 (2) JCC 948. .... 1913, 2948

Millissilah v. Lloyds, 46 LJCP 404. 3011

Minaben Meerabhai v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 1 (Guj) : 2002 Cri LR (SC Mah Guj) Guj 292 : 2003(2) DMC 10 : 2002(3) GCD GUJ 2080 : 2002(2) GUJ LR 1662........................... 1629

Mintu Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 396 : (1995) 2 RCD 523 (Raj)......... 1477

Mir Nagvi Askari vs C.B.I., AIR 2010 SC 528 : 2009 AIR SCW 7089.................... 2581, 2633

Mir Wali Mohd v. State of Bihar, 1990 (2) Pat LJR 375. 2398

Mirthagai Ali v. State, 2007 CriLJ 1247 (Mad). 2324

Mirza Ghani Baig v. State of A.P., 1997 (3) Crimes 19 (AP)

Mishrilal v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ NOC 39 (MP) : 2005 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPJ 10. ....1630, 2353

Mishriya v. State of Rajasthan, 1985 Cr LR (Raj). 542. 1837

Miyanlal v. State of M.P. 1999 Cr LJ 2227 (M.P.). 2290

Mod Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 572 (Raj). 1577

Modan v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 1419 (Bom). 1958

Modi Alkalies and Chemicals Ltd. v. State of Rajasthan, 2008 CriLJ 2879 (Raj).......... 2602

Mohabbat Singh v. State of Rajasthan. 1994 RCC 48 (Raj). 1767

Mohabbat v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1893 : 2009 CrLJ 1752 : 2009 (2) JT 169 : 2009 (2) Scale 133 : 2009 (1) Supreme 747 : 2009 (1) SCR 883. 1481

Mohabbat v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 3238 (All) : 2005 all LJ 2219 : 2005(52) All Cri C 635 : 2005(2) All Cri R 1799 : 2005(32) All Ind Cas 526. 2355

Mohammad Abdul Aziz v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ 4410 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (CRL) 970 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 84. 2962

Mohammad Ajmuddin v. State of A.P., 2000 Cri LJ 3508 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 2511 : 2000(7) SCC 72 : 2000(8) JT 317 : 2000(3) Crimes 119 (SC)... 1795

Mohammad Alam v. State (NCT of Delhi), 2007 CriLJ 803 (Del).............................2419, 2426

Mohammad Ali Mohd. Siddique v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4422 (Bom). 2812

Mohammad Arif v. State. 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 261 (Jharkhand). 2972

Mohammad Ashraf v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 2690 (All). 1782

Mohammad Chaman v. State (N.C.T. of Delhi) 2001 Cri LJ 725(SC)............................. 1651

Mohammad Dowlath v. State of AP. 2004 Cr LJ 760 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (CRL) 822 : 2004(1) DMC 447 : 2004 MATLR 261........1744, 1876

Mohammad Farooq Abdul Gafur v. State of Maharashtra, 2009 (11) JT 47 : 2009 (11) Scale 327 : 2009 (6) SLT 676. 1547

Mohammad Gyasuddin v. Jahangeer Karanjrab. 2003 Cr LJ 966 (AP) . 2002(2) ALD (CRL) 654 : 2003(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 1. 2716

Mohammad Habeeba Meera v. State of M.P, 1994 Cr LR (MP) 1 : 1994 MPLJ 235. .... 2714, 2698

Mohammad Habibur Rehman Faizi v. State, 1995 JIC 672 (All). 2600

Mohammad Ibrahim v. State of A.P., 1993 Cri LJ 89 (AP). 2076

Mohammad Ibrahim v. State of Bihar & Anr., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2223 (SC). ...2694, 2705, 2851, 2866

Mohammad Imran Khan v. State, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1756 (Delhi). 2200, 2217, 2238, 2386

Mohammad Imteaz alias Sannu v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 456 (P & H). 2213

Mohammad Isa Khan v. State of U.P, 1993 (1) Crimes 9 (All). 2689

Mohammad Ismail Ansari v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 648 (Pat) (RB). 2266

Mohammad Isub Ali v. State of Tripura, 2008 CriLJ 100 (Gau). 1745

Mohammad Jakir Ali v. The State of Assam, 2007 CriLJ 1615 (Gau). 2290, 2289

Mohammad Kasam v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 5 (P & H). 2210

Mohammad Kutty v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1603 (Ker) : 2004(3) All Cri LR 183 : 2004(2) Crimes 469 : 2004(2) Cur Cri R 143 : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 660. 2156

Mohammad Mahfooj Ansari v. The State of Bihar (now Jharkhand), 2005 CriLJ 1771 (Jhar). 2245

Mohammad Murshid v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 97 (Pat) (RB). 1476, 2201

Mohammad Naimatullah Habibi v. Sagra Bibi, 1997 Cri LJ 706 (Ori). 1990

Mohammad Nizamuddin v. State of Bihar (1995) 1 East Cr C 662 (Pat).........1842, 1873, 1994, 2948,

Mohammad Nur Islam v. State of Assam, 2003 Cr LJ 4370 (Gau). 1731

Mohammad Nur Islam v. State, 2003 CrLJ 4370 (Gau). 1748

Mohammad Rashid Ansari v. State, (1998) 2 cur Cri R 608. 2229

Mohammad Safiulla v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 292 (Orissa). 2512

Mohammad Shafi v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 335 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (Crl) 67 : 2004(4) All Cri Lr 29 : 2004(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 333 : 2004(4) Cur Cri R 86 : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 479. 2105

Mohammad Sharif v. State of Orissa, 1996 Cri LJ 2826 (Ori). 1986

Mohammad Siddique Hussain v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1487 (Gau). 2820

Mohammad Siddique v. State of Bihar, 1994 (1) Crimes 927 (Pat). 2014

Mohammad Yusuf v. State of U.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 642 (SC) : (1994) 1 CCR 137 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 688 : 1994 JIC 280 : 1994(1) Recent Cr R 464 : 1994 ALJ 386 : 1994 (1) East Cr C 269 : AIR 1994 SC 1542. 1609

Mohammad Zuber Noormohamed Changwadia v. State of Gujarat, 1999 Cr LJ 3419 (Goa). 2329; 2298

Mohammed Ali v. State of MP, 2006 Cr LJ 1368 (MP). 2560

Mohammed Ankoos v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 (1) SCC 94 : 2009 (13) Scale 584 : 2009 (14) JT 7 : 2009 (8) SLT 265 : 2009 (15) SCR 616 : 2009 (4) Crimes 158 (SC). 1534

Mohammed Asif v. State of Uttaranchal, 2009 CrLJ 2789 : 2009 (11) SCC 497 : 2009 (4) JT 1(2) : 2009 (3) Scale 695 : 2009 (4) SCR 12 : 2009 (3) SLT 77. 1546

Mohamrmd Kasam v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 5 (P & H). 2215

Mohan Chand Kholi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 710 (Delhi) : 2003(2) All CriLR 559 : 2003(1) Rec Cri R 694. 2966

Mohan Chand v. State of Uttarakhand., AIR 2009 SC 1896. : 2009 (1) SCR 498 (SC) : 2009 (4) SCC 63 : 2009 (1) JT 616 (SC) : 2009 (2) Scale 38 (SC) : 2009 (1) Supreme 429 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 1755 (SC)............ 2347

Mohan Lal v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 16 (MP) : 2005(1) Hindu LR 207 : 2004(4) MPLJ 143. 1849

Mohan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 862 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 698 : 2003(2) Crimes 501 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1383 : 2003(2) East Cri C 144 : 2003(2) Rec Cri R 782. 2380

Mohan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2006 Cr LJ 1333 (Raj). 1714

Mohan Lal v. State of U.P. 1995 (32) ACC 159 (All). 2766

Mohan Mahto v. State of Bihar, (1994) 1 Crimes 250 : (1994) 1 BLJ 772 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 348 (Pat). 1495

Mohan Manjhi v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 1545 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 308 : 2004(3) JCR JHA 413 : 2004(3) JLJR 437. 1658

Mohan Mukherjee v. State, 1992 (3) Crimes 80 (Cal). 2702

Mohan Ojha v. State of Bihar, 2002 Cr LJ 3344 : 2002(2) BLJ 196 : 2002 East Cri C 500. 2432

Mohan Shivaram Yadav v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 BCRC 3 (Bom). 2382

Mohan Singh v. Prem Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 11 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 3582 : 2002(10) SCC 236 : 2002(4) Crimes 453 (SC) : 2002(7) Supreme 163. 1675

Mohan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Recent CR 455 : (1994) XXI Cr LT 346 (P&H). ... 2596

Mohan Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 2127 (Raj) : 2005 Cri LR (Raj) RAJ 692 : 2005(2) Raj Cri C 988 : 2005(2) Raj LR 599 : 2005(2) WLC 768. 2296

Mohan v. S. Mane, 2006 Cr LJ 220 (Bom). . 2084

Mohan v. State of M.P., 2005 CriLJ 79 (MP). 1494

Mohan v. State of Rajasthan. 2002 Cri LJ 3438 Raj. H.C. 2048

Mohan v. State of Tamil Nadu (1998) 5 SCC 363 : (1998 Cri LJ 3276). 2229

Mohan v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 366 : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 442 : (1994) 1-LW (Cr) 78 (Mad). 1898

Mohan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1991 (Raj) : 2003(1) WLC 260 (Raj). 2239

Mohanan v. State of Kerala, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 2920 (Ker). 1640, 1682, 1785, 1933

Mohandas Suryavanshi v. State of M.P., 1999 Cr LJ 3451 (M.P.). 2320

Mohar Singh v. State of U.P., 1995 Cr LJ 649 (Alld). 1944, 1961

Mohendra Singh v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 99 (All). 2027

Mohesh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 50 (MP) : 2002 Cri LR (SC&MP) 411 : 2002(3) Crimes 356 : 2002(2) Cur Cri R 479 : 2002(3) MPHHT 359. 1906

Mohinder Singh Brar v. Rattan Lal Wadhwa, (1994) 1 Crimes 268 (P&H). 2714

Mohinder Singh v. Balwant Singh Saini, 1994 (1) Recent Cr R 212 (P&H). 2702

Mohinder Singh v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 2 CC Cases 110 (Del). 1477

Mohinder Singh v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 Crimes 387 : (1995) 2 CC Cases 284 (P & H). 1501, 2029, 3052

Mohinder Singh Verma v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 349 (Delhi) : 2004 (113) DLT 877 : 2004 (77) DRJ 199. 2131

Mohmed Ari v. State of Gujarat with State of Gujarat v. Mohmed Arif, 1997 Cri LJ 65 (SC). 1925

Mohon Lal v. State (Delhi Admn), (1995) 3 CC Cases 29 (Del). 2487

Moideen Kutty Haji v. Kunhikove, AIR 1987 Kerela 184 : 1986 Cri LJ 1106. 2913

Molai v. State of M.P. 2000 Cri LJ 392 (SC) : AIR 2000 SC 177 : 1999 (9) SCC 581 : 1999 (8) JT 361 : 1999 (6) Scale 606 : 1999 (8) Supreme 664 : 1999 (9) SLT 56 : 1999 (3) SCJ 686 : 1999 (10) SRJ 399 (2) : 1999 (4) CCR 225 (SC) : 1999 (4) Recent CR 844 : 2000 (1) JCC (SC) 30 : 2000 SCC (Cr) 438. 1646

Moni Gogoi v. Sarumani Hazarika, (1992) 2 Gau LR 113. 2664

Moni Neog (Shri) v. State of Assam, 2006 CriLJ 1944 (Gau). 2228

Moniram Hazarika v. State of Assam, 2004(5) SCC 120 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1545 : 2004 Cr LJ 2553 (SC) : 2004(2) Crimes 254 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 2472 : 2004(3) Supreme 294. 2238

Monoj Soni alias Laloo v. State. (1995) 1 CHN 351 (Cal). 1469

Moola Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 1347 (Raj). 2174

Moorthy v. State of Tamil Nadu, 2009 CrLJ 1104 : 2008 (13) JT 265 : 2008 (15) Scale 315 : 2008 (16) SCR 271 : 2008 (9) SLT 344... 1780

Morab Wankhede v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 725 (P&H) : 2002(1) CurLJ (CCR) 621 : 2002(1) Rec Cri R 148. 2257

Moti Chand v. State of Rajasthan 2001 Cr LJ 1916 (Raj) (1923, 1924) : 2001(1) WLC 524 (Raj). 2358

Moti Lal v. State of M.P. (Now Chhattisgarh), 2004 Cr LJ 907 : AIR 2004 SC 2909 : 2004(2) SCC 469 : 2004(1) Supreme 518 : 2004(1) Crimes 341. 1908

Moti Lal v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LJ 1633 (SC) : (1994) 3 Recent CR 77 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 353 : AIR 1994 SC 1544.....1744, 1767, 2085

Moti Lal v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2010 SC 281 : 2010 (1) SCC 581 : 2009 (4) Crimes 276 (SC) : 2009 (14) JT 569 : 2009 (14) Scale 323 : 2009 (7) Supreme 632 : 2009 (8) SLT 668. ....1532, 1672, 2811

Motilal Hansda v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 49 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 148 : 2004(4) JCR Jha 171 : 2004(4) JLJR 263........... 2084

Motilal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2008 SCC (11) 20 : AIR 2008 SC (Supp) 882 : 2008 AIR SCW 4846................................ 2401, 2418

Motorola Incorporated v. Union of India, 2004 Cr LJ 1576 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (Cri) 1903 : 2004(1) Bom Cri (Cri) 26. .... 2665, 2669

Moyan alias Mohan v. State of M.P, 1994 Cr LR 313 (MP).. 1473

Mudavath Hema Naik v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 847 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 85 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 240 : 2003(4) Crimes 140..... 1905

Mukesh Rathore vs State of Chhattisgarh, 2010 Cri LJ 1289 (Chatt). 1920, 2005

Mukesh v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 CC Cases 102 (P & H). 2538

Mukesh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2598 (Uttranchal). 2959

Mukhtalingam v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 2583 : (2005) 11 SCC 242 : AIR 2005 SC 2466 : 2005(2) Crimes 165 : 2006 SCC (cr) 105 : 2005(3) Supreme 624........................... 1531

Mukhtar Singh Mukha v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 CC Cases 337 (P & H). 1959

Mukhtiar Dass v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 225 (P & H). 2080

Mukhtiar Singh and Mukha v. State of Haryana, (1995) 4 Crimes 324 (P&H)................... 2495

Mukund @ Kundu Mishra v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1997 (2) East Cr C 166 (SC) : 1997 Cr LJ 3182 : 1997(2) Crimes 69 : AIR 1997 (SC) 2622 : 1997 SCC (Cr) 799. ... 2539, 2803

Mukund alias Kundu Mishra v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1997 Cri LJ 3182 : AIR 1997 SC 2622 : 1997(10) SCC 130 : 1997(5) JT 134 : 1997(3) Scale 769 : 1997(3) Crimes 69 (SC). 1470, 1854

Mulji Mehta (M/s.) v. M/s. Sugesan Finance Investment, 1991 MLJ (Cri) 168............ 2714

Mummidi Udaya Bhaskar v. State of A.P., 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 244 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 891 : 2004(1) DMC 524 : 2004(1) Hindu LR 257. ....1851, 1857

Muna Jani v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3482 (Orissa). 1964

Munesh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1529 (All) : 2004 All LJ 432 : 2004(13) All Ind Cas 803. ... 2379

Mungeshwar Prasad Chaurasia v. State of Bihar, AIR 2002 SC 2531 : 2002(10) SCC 163 : 2001(10) JT 344 : 2002(2) Supreme 528 : 2002 Cr LJ 3505 : 2002(2) Crimes 38 (SC). 1845

Muni Lal Paswan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1625 (Pat) : 2002(2) BLJ 693 : 2002(2) East Cri C 272. 1948

Municipal Corporation of Delhi v. J.B. Bottling Company Pvt. Ltd., 1975 CrLJ 1148. 3006

Munna Khan v. State of M.P. (Now Chhattisgarh), 2004 Cr LJ 525 (Chh) : 2003(8) All Ind Cas 298 : 2003(2) MPHT 29. 1822

Munna Khan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 525 (Chh) : 2003(8) all Ind Cas 298 : 2003(2) MPHT 29. 1801

Munna Mahto v. State of Bihar, CriLJ 3526 (SC). 2655

Munna v. State of UP, (1994) 1 CCR 245 : 1994 JIC 86 : 1994 UP Cr R 328 (All) (DB). 1469

Munna v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 114 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 879 : 2004(1) Crimes 479 : 2004(1) DMC 554......................... 1865

Munshi Mahto v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4177 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1169 : 2003(3) Cur Cri R 655 : 2003(2) East Cri C 301................ 2512

Murarilal Jivaram Sharma v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 46 (SC) : 1997 (1) JT 317 : 1996 (9) Scale 451 : 1997 (1) Supreme 258 : 1997 Cr LJ 782. 1973

Murli v. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2228 (SC)..1483, 1621

Murlidhar Sahu vs State of Chhattisgarh, 2010 Cri LJ 1599 (Chattisgarh)...................... 1911

Murma v. State ofU.P.. 1997 Cri LJ 274 (Alld). 2173

Murugesan v. State. 1993 Cri LJ 2565 (Mad). 1771

Musauddin Ahmed v. State of Assam, 2009 (3) Crimes 238 (SC) : 2009 (9) JT 65 : 2009 (9) Scale 155 : 2009 (9) SCR 1135 : 2009 (5) Supreme 277 : 2009 (5) SLT 700 : 2009 (3) JCC 2002.. 2319

Mushtaq Abdul Maj Shaikh v. State of Maharahstra, 2006 Cr LJ 628 (Bom). 2504

Mushtaq Ahmad v. Mohd. Habibur Rehman Faizi, 1996 (1) Crimes 80 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 2982 : 1996(7) SCC 440 : 1996(1) JT 656 : 1996(1) Scale 606........................ 2600

Musku Pentu v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 1355 (AP) : 2005(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 504 : 2005(2) Rec Cri R 770.. 2486

Mustaq Ali v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 411 (Raj). 1488, 1634

Mustt. Sajida Begum v. State of Assam, 1996 Cri LJ 4352 (Gau). 1860

Mustt. Saleha Khatun v. State of Assam, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3329 (Gauhati)........................ 2767

N

N. Bhargavan Pillai (dead) Rep. by LRs v. State of Kerala, 2004 Cr JL 2949 (SC) : 2005 SCC (Cri) 142 : AIR 2004 SC 2317. 2620

N. Bhargavan Pillai by LRs v. State of Kerala, (2004) 2 Crimes 415 (SC)........................ 2630

N. Durga Prasad, Spl. Asstt., Syndicate Bank v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ 242 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 545 : 2004(1) Guj LH 408. 2710

N. Kesavan Nair v. State of Kerala, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 239 (Ker) : 2005(4) All Cri LR 530 : 2005(34) All Ind Cas 756 : 2005(2) Ker LJ 517 : 2005 Mad LJ (Cri) 976 : 2005 (4) Rec Cri R 43. 2459

N. Kishan Rao v. State of A.P., 1997(1) Crimes 285 (AP). 2632

N. Mounagurusamy v. K.C. Palanichamy, 1994 MLJ (Cri) 216. 3012

N. Nagarajan v. State of T.N., 1996 Cr LJ 1007 (Mad)... 2254

N. Prabhu Dayal Ahirwar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 270 (MP) : 2003 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPJ 258 : 2003(1) MPHT 512........................ 1896

N. Rajendra Prasad Bhat v. State of Kerala, (1995) 4 CCR 605 (Ker). 1545

N. Vijaya alias Ameen vs State of Karnataka, 2010 Cri LJ 1050 (Karn). 2253, 2255, 2337, 2347

N.H. Muhammed Afras v. State of Kerala, AIR 2009 SC 731 : 2008 (15) SCC 315 : 2008 (14) Scale 683 : 2008 (13) JT 30 : 2008 (16) SCR 560 : 2008 (9) SLT 619. 1597

N.M. Sakhre v. Union of India, 1995 Cr LJ 96 (Bom). 1886

N.W. Ravichandran v. Vellaiyappan, 1992 MLJ (Cri) 618... 2725

Nabab Khan v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 94 (MP) : 2003(2) All Ind Cas 501 : 2003(1) MPHT 165 : 2002(2) Cur Cri R 413......................... 1667

Nagalla Mukhalingam v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 2583 : (2005) 11 SCC 242 : AIR 2005 SC 2466 : 2005(2) Crimes 165 : 2006 SCC 105 : 2005(3) Supreme 624 : AIR 2005 SCW 2432. ....1495, 1531, 1583

Nagappa v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 796 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 279 : 2003(2) Kant LJ 578. 1674

Nagaraj v. State, 2006 CriLJ 3724 (Mad). 1611, 1608

Nagaraja v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2009 SC 1522 : 2009 (1) Crimes 278 (SC) : 2009 (1) JT 48 : 2008 (16) Scale 380 : 2008 (17) SCR 1127 : 2009 (1) Supreme 94. ....1483, 1944, 2022

Nagendra Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 79 (Jharkhand) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 536. 1904

Nageshwar Prasad Singh v. Narayan Singh, 1999 Cri LJ 598 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 1480 : 1998(5) SCC 694 : 1998(6) JT 414 : 1998(9) SLT 296. 2673

Nageshwar Shah v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 327 (P & H)........................ 1959

Nageshwar Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 146 (Pat). 1628

Nagusing v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 127 (MP). 1603

Nahar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 306 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 226 (P&H) : (1994) 1 CC Cases 306.......................... 2855

Naimuddin vs State of West Bengal, 2010 CrLJ 392 (SC) : AIR 2010 SC 505.1746, 1759, 1764

Najukrao v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Crimes 75 : 1995 Cr LR 93 (Bom).......... 1577

Nakli v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 287 (P&H). 2754

Nakul Mahto v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 104 (Jhar).. 2519

Nallam Veera Satyanandam v. State of A.P, 1997 (1) Crimes 245 (AP)...................... 1860

Namdeo Shahuroo Dhanwade v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 160 (Bom). .. 1490

Nanak Chand v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 342 (P & H)....................... 1923

Nanak v. State, 1994 ACC 383 (All). 1469

Nand Kishore Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 389 (Jhar) : 2005(1) DMC 666 : 2004(4) .... 1853 JLJR 686.

Nand Kishore v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 362 : (1994) 1 CCR 390 (MP). 2709

Nand Kishore Yadav v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 190 (Jhar). 1865

Nanda v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 502 (Raj). 1510

Nandakishore v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 2746 (Kant.) : AIR 2002 Kant HCR 1570 : 2001(1) Crimes 184 : 2002(4) Kant JT 490........ 2589

Nandanan v. State of Kerala, (1995) 2 CCR 517 : (1995) 3 Crimes 273 (Ker) (DB)........ 1476

Nandiswar Das v. State of Assam, 2004 Cr LJ 4723 (Gau) : 2004(24) All Ind Cas 105 : 2004(3) Gau LT 117. 1730

Nandjee Yadav v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 29 (Pat). 2207

Nandlal Lakhata v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 1900 (Pat). 2608

Nandlal v. State of H.P., 2000 Cr LJ 3106 (HP). 2326

Nanhey v. State, (1994) 3 Crimes 264 (All). 2530

Nankai v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 176....... 2382

Nanna Venkateswarlu alias Venkateswara Rao v. State of Andhra Pradesh represented by the Public Prosecutor High Court of A.P., (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 573 (AP)........ 1864

Nanulal Singh v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 560 (Pat)........ 2522

Nanuman Kehar v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 BLJR 749 (Pat). 2464

Nara Singh Challan v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 2204 (Ori). 1767

Narain Lal Nirala v. State of Rajasthan, 1993 Cri LJ 3911 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 118 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1404........ 2858, 2859

Narain v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 199 : 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 266 (Raj)........ 1752

Narain v. State, 1994 Cr LR 75 (Raj)......... 1750

Narain v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 2005 (All) : 2005 All LJ 984 : 2005(51) All Cri C 636 : 2005(1) All Cri R 983. 1691

Narasimhan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 226 (Mad)........ 2342

Narayan Prasad v. State of MP, 2006 Cr LJ 123 (SC)........ 2513, 2654

Narayan Sarkar vs State of Tripura, 2010 Cri LJ 986 (Gauhati)........ 1972, 2071

Narayan Singh and Man Singh v. State of M.P., (1994) SCC (Cri) 232 : 1994 Supp(1) SCC 62. 2513

Narayan v. State of Rajasthan, 2009 CrLJ 2248 : 2009 (1) Crimes 451 : 2009 (11) SCC 118 : 2009 (3) JT 179 : 2009 (3) Scale 272 : 2009 (2) SCR 1200 : 2009 (2) Supreme 210. .. 1472

Narayan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 268 (MP) : 2003 Cri LR (SC&MP) MP 16 : 2002(4) MPHT 190. 2167

Narayanamma (Km.) v. State of Karnataka, (1995) 1 CCR 53 (SC) : 1994(5) JT 436 : 1994(5) SCC 728 : 1994(3) Scale 879 : 1994(3) Crimes 286........ 2357, 2393

Narayanamurthy v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2008 SC 2377 : 2008 (8) SCR 403 (SC) : 2008 (6) JT 466 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 673 (SC) : 2008 (5) SLT 697 (SC) : 2008 (2) Crimes 365 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1372 (SC) : 2008 (2) Recent CR 969 (SC)........ 1845

Narender Reddy (Ch.) v. State of A.P., 2000 Cri LJ 4068 (A.P.). The case reported as State by Rural Police v. Siddaraju 2000 Cri LJ 4220 (Kant)........ 2947

Narender Singh v. State of Punjab, 2000 LJ 1890 (P&H). 2496

Narendra Bhojram Patil v. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2762 (Bom) (Nagpur)....... 3054

Narendra Kumar Bhardwaj v. State of Bihar, 1991 (1) Crimes 817 (Pat)........ 2859

Narendra Kumar v. State of M.P, 1994 Cr LR 310 (MP). 2706, 2710

Narendra Nath Singh v. State of M.P., AIR 2004 SC 3249 : 2004 Cr LJ 2842 : 2004(2) Crimes 260 : 2004(3) Supreme 304 : 2004(2) JCC 832........ 1479

Narendra Pandit v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 209. 2507

Narendra Patra v. State of Orissa, (1995) 8 OCR 274........ 2

Narendra Singh v. State of U.P, 1994 ACC 124 (All)........ 2713

Narendra v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2009 SC 1881 : 2009 (7) SCR 585 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 61 : 2009 (7) JT 566 (SC) : 2009 (7) Scale 6 (SC) : 2009 (4) Supreme 101 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 415 (SC)........ 2971

Narendra v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2068 (All) : 2003 All LJ 773 ; 2003(46) Cri C 211 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2949. 1660

Naresh Kumar v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 406 (P&H). 2712, 2700

Naresh Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 181 (Raj) (DB). 1763

Naresh Kumar v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 619 (Del) : (1995) 1 CC Cases 418 : 1995 JCC 179 : 1995 Cr R 431 (Del). 1519

Naresh Kumar. v. State of Haryana, 1994 SCC (Cri) 502. 1888

Naresh Marotrao Sakhre v. Union of India, (1995) 1 Crimes 212 (Bom). 1888

Narinder Singh v. Yash Pal Singh, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 714 : (1994) 3 CC Cases 123 (P&H). 2725

Narinder v. State, (2004) 1 Crimes 140. 2212

Naringham Shyam Kanhai Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1435 (Gau) : 2002(2) Gauhati LR 348. .... 1588, 1600

Narmadeshwar Prasad Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 3295 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 1426 : 2005(2) BLJR 1463 : 2005(3) East Cri C 367 : 2005 SJLJR 251. .... 1648, 1659

Narsoji Rao v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 399 (AP). 1844

Nasaru vs State of Rajasthan, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4016 (Raj). 2060

Naseem alias Bhatey v. State 2000 Cri LJ 3043 (All). 1655

Nashik v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 SCC (Cri) 147 : AIR 1993 SC 1485 : 1993 Cr LJ 2619 : 1993(1) Crimes 1197 : 1993(2) Scale 165 : 1993(1) UJ 619. 1509

Nasir Sikander Sheikh v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 2621 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2533 : 2005(10) SCC 858 : 2005(5) Scale 81 : 2005(2) Crimes 218 : 2005(4) Supreme 49. .... 1963, 1966

Nasir v. State of U.P., (1994) 3 Crimes 660 (All). 1502

Nasiruddin Khan v. State of Bihar., AIR 2008 SC 3198 : 2008 (10) Scale 528 (SC) : 2008 (5) Supreme 431 (SC) : 2008 (7) SLT 436 (SC) : 2008 (8) SRJ 143 (SC) : 2008 (3) Crimes 196 (SC). 1781

Nasru v. State of U.P., 1994 SCC (Cri) 51 : 1994 Supp(2) SCC 493 : 1993(4) Scale 29 : 1993 Cr LR (SC) 731. 2549

Natarajan v. Ramanujam, 1997 Cri LJ 389 (Mad). 2942

Natarajan v. State 2000 Cri LJ 1045 (Mad). 1654

Nathoo v. State. 1995 (32) ACC 56 (All)...... 1524

Nathu Ram v. State of Haryana. 1994 JIC 138 (SC) ; (1994) 1 SCC 491 ; (1994) 1 East Cr C (NOC) 9 ; 1994 SCC (Cr) 88 ; 1994 Cr LJ 1095. 2316

Nathu Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 680 (Raj). 1637

Nathu Singh v. Ram Singh, (1994) 31 ACC 835 (All). 2698, 2601

Nathu v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Crimes 309 (Bom). 1765

Nathu v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 77 : 1996 Cr. LJ 919. 1616

National Small Industries Corporation Ltd. v. M/s. Samudra Corporation, 2005 Cr LJ 3432 (Bom) : 2006 All MR (Cri) 168 : 2006(1) East Cri C 74 : 2005 (4) Rec Cri R 597. 2590

Natraj Organics Ltd. v. State of U.P., 1995 AWC 1056 (All). 1540

Natta v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2222 : 2003(1) Crimes 502 : 2003(2) Cur Cri R 575 : 2003(1) MPLJ 613. 1675

Natthal v. State of U.P., 1995 Cr R 15 (All). 2246

Naurangi Lal v. State of U.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 64 (All) (DB) : 1996 Cr. LJ 81 : 1995 All LJ 1625 : 1996 ACC 96 (sum) : 1995 UP Cr R 395 (All.). 1576, 1580

Naurangi Mahto v. State, 2001 Cri LJ 1525 (Jharkhand). 1951

Navakoti Veera Raghavulu v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 86 (SC). 1640

Naval Kishore Singh v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 4252 : AIR 2004 SC 4421 : 2004(6) Supreme 445 : 2004(3) Crimes 373 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1967. ....1738, 1749

Naval Singh v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 242 (MP). 1762

Navinchandra Ramlal Kayastha v. State of Gujarat, 1995 Cr LR 202 (Guj)............... 1752

Nawal Kishore Sinha v. State of Bihar, 1994 (1) East Cr C (NOC) 4 (Pat). 2633

Nawal Ram v. The State of Rajasthan. 2005 Cr LJ 4726 (Raj) : 2005 Cri R (Raj) 1590 Raj. 2027

Nayana Jaikisan Tekwani vs State of Maharashtra & Anr., 2010 (4) CriLJ 4094 (Bom). 3015, 3023

Nazar v. State of Kerala, 2005 Cr LJ 974 (Ker) : 2005(1) Hindu LR 227 : 2005(1) Ker LJ 1 : 2005(28) All Ind Cas 346.............1865, 1869

Nazirul SK v. State of West Bengal, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2519 (Cal). 1840, 1849

Neelam Bahal vs State of Uttarakhand, 2010 AIR SCW 88 : AIR 2010 SC 428. .... 1920, 1953, 1954, 2078, 2083, 2090

Neelam v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 SLJ 719 : 1994 (3) CC Cases 34 (P & H). 2199

Neelam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 160 (AP) : 2002(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 186 : 2003(2) DMC 268. 1904

Nehal Aagar v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 84 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 411 : 2003(2) JCR Jha 526. 1868

Nellai Ganesan v. State, 1991 Cr LJ 2157 (Mad). 2708

Nepal Singh v. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 (SC) 2913 : 2009 (12) SCC 351 : 2009 (7) JT 172 : 2009 (6) SCR 982 : 2009 (6) Scale 555 : 2009 (4) SLT 2. .... 1873, 2958

Netra Pal v. State (NCT of Delhi) 2001 Cri LJ 1669 (Delhi). 2229

Neyaz Ahmad v. State of Bihar, 1999 Cr LJ 2550 (Pat). 2383

Nijamudeen v. State of Kerala, 2002 Cri LJ 3266 : 12002(2) ALD (CRL) 165. 2556

Nilakantha Pati v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 2472 (Ori). 1899

Niranjan Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 620 (P & H) (DB). 1517, 1578, 1606

Niranjan Singh Karam Singh Punjabi v. Jitendra Bhimraj Bijja & Ors., AIR 1990 SC 1962. .... 1890, 1913

Nirmal Kumar Mehta v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 66 (Jhar) : Air 2004 Jhar HCR 840 : 2003(3) East Cri C 197. 2040

Nirmal Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 672 : AIR 2005 SC 1265 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1461 : 2005(9) SCC 725 : 2004(8) Supreme 696 : 2005(1) Crimes 68 (SC). 1525

Nirmala Devi (Smt.) v. State of J&K, 1994 SCC (Cri) 262 : 1994 (1) SCC 394 : 1994 Cr LJ 599 : AIR 1994 SC 566. 1460

Nirottam v. State of U.P, 1995 (32) ACC 265 (All). 1552

Nirpal Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4668 (P&H). 1668

Nisar Ahmad v. State of U.P., 1995 UP Cr R 16 (All). 1977

Nisar Mohammad v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 182 (N). 2255

Nyasingh v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 233 (MP) : 1994 Cr LR (MP) 10 (N). 2505

O

O. Ravindranath v. State of A.P., rep. by the Inspector of Police, C.B.I., Visakhapatnam, (1995) 2 APLJ (Cr) 157 (AP). 2708

Om Prakash Agarwal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4138 (MP) : 2003(1) MPHT 127. 3058

Om Prakash v. Mangilal, (2004) 1 Crimes 648 (Raj). 2853

Om Prakash v. Ravinder Bhusan, (1994) 3 CC Cases 393 (P&H). 2713

Om Prakash v. State of H.P., 2000 Cri LJ 2675 (HP) : 2000(2) Shim LC 22 : 2000(3) Rec CR R 735 (HP). 2065

Om Prakash v. State of Haryana, 1999 Cri LJ 2044 (SC) : AIR 1999 SC 1332 : 1999 (3) SCC 19 : 1999 (1) JT 599 : 1999 (1) Scale 570 : 1999 (2) Supreme 227 : 1999 SCC (Cr) 334 : 1999 (2) KLT 21 (SN).. ...1647, 1679, 1683, 2359, 2432, 2174, 2688

Om Prakash v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 485 (Raj). 2080, 2298

Om Prakash v. State of U. P., 2009 CriLJ 1677 (All). 1936, 2022, 2312

Om Prakash v. State of U.P., AIR 2009 SC 944 : 2009 (1) Crimes 183 (SC) : 2008 (17) SCR 475 : 2008 (13) JT 466 : 2008 (16) Scale 158 : 2009 Cr LJ 782. .... 1594, 2810

Om Prakash v. State of Uttaranchal, 2003 Cr LJ 483 (SC) : 2003(1) SCC 648 : 2002(8) Supreme 589 : 2003(1) Crimes 180 (SC) : 2003 SCC (Cri) 412. 1678

Om Prakash v. State, 1995 JIC 337 (All). 2042, 2766

Omi v. State of U.P., 1994 All LJ 93 : 1994 Cr LJ 155 (All). 2211

Ongole Ravikanth v. State of A.P., AIR 2009 SC 2129 : 2009 (10) SCR 155 : 2009 (8) JT 88 (SC) : 2009 (8) Scale 824 (SC) : 2009 (5) SLT 137 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3944 (SC) : 2009 (3) JCC 2414 (SC). 1768, 2042

Onkar Prasad v. State of M.P., (1995) 3 CCR 70 (MP). 1869

Oriental Insurance Co. v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 145 (Pat.) ; 2003 MR (CRI) 2430 : 2004(2) DMC 365. 2600

Oroos Fatima alias Nisha v. Senior Superintendent of Police, Aligarh, 1993 Cri LJ 1 (Alld). 2200

P

P. Karunakaran v. C. Jayasooryan. 1992 Cr LJ 3540 (Ker). 3006

P. Krishna Murthy v. State of A.P.. 1994 Cri LJ 506 : (1994) 1 Crimes 357 (AP). 2961

P. Narinder Singh v. Yesh Pal Singh, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 714 (P&H). 2598

P. Rathinam v. State of Gujarat, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1163 (SC). 2402

P. Rathinam v. Union of India, 1994 Cri LJ 1605 (SC) : (1994) 2 Crimes 228 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 740 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 101 : (1994) 3 SCC 394 : AIR 1994 SC 1844. 1980

P. Rathinam, Nagbhusan Patnaik v. Union of India, AIR 1994 (SC) 1844 : (1995) 1 LW (Cr) 209 (SC) : 1994(3) JT 392 : 1994 (3) SCC 394 : 1994 CrLJ 1605 : 1994 (2) Crimes 228. 1980

P. Satyanarayana v. P. Mallaiah, 1997 Cri LJ 211 (SC). 2923

P.K. Gupta v. Amrit Papers, 1992 Cr LT 17 (P&H). 2725

P.L. Kasichettiyar v. Karuppasamy, (1994) 3 Crime 1108 (Mad)................................ 2458

P.P. Zainulabideen v. K.M.H. Sahul Hameed alias Abu Abdulah, (2004) 3 Crimes 54 (Mad) : 2004(3) Crimes 54 : 2004 Mad LJ (Cri) 407 : 2004(3) Cur Cri R 421 : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 190. 3036

P.S. Jose v. State of Kerala, 1994 Cri LJ 363 (Ker). 1819, 2116

Padam Prakash Gupta v. U.T. Chandigarh. (1994) 1 CC Cases 242 (P&H). 2628

Padmanaban v. State, AIR 2010 (SC) 47 : 2009 (10) JT 172 : 2009 (12) SCR 252 : 2009 (10) Scale 526 : 2009 (6) SLT 751 : 2009 (5) Supreme 763.. 1461, 1532, 1785, 2134, 2811

Pala Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 286 (P & H). 2084

Pala v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 CC Cases 477 (P&H). 2334

Pala v. State, 1994 JIC 899 (Alld). 2340

Palaniappa Gounder v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 1977 SC 1323 : 1977 Cr LJ 992. 1537

Palanisami v. Secretary to Government, (1994) 2 LW (Cri) 535 (Mad). 3034

Palaparthy Vijaya Kumar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1670 : 2003(2) ALD (Crl) 611 : 2003(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 355 : 2003(2) Crimes 132 : 2003(2) Cur Cri R 214.......................... 2258

Palaram v. State of Rajasthan. 1994 RCC 427 (II) (Raj). 2340

Palipireddi Satayanarayana alias Sathi Babu v. State of A.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2319 (AP) : 2002(2) ALD (CRL) 327 : 2002(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 170 : 2002(3) Crimes 691...................... 2220

Pallem Denial Victor v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 499 (AP). 1892

Panchavamam v. State, (1995) 21 LW (Cr) 248 (Mad). 1770

Panchdeo Singh v. State of Bihar, AIR 2002 SC 526 = 2002 (1) SCC 577 = 2002 Cri LJ 973. 1885

Panchi V. State of U.P. (1998) 7 SCC 171 : 1998 Cri LJ 4044 the Honourable Apex Court has observed as under (at page 4047-4048/of Cri LJ). 1650

Pandit v. State of Madhya Pradesh. 1995 Cr LJ 226 (MP). 2026

Pandu alias Pandu Kunda v. State. (1995) 1 Crimes 1 (Ori). 1477

Pandurang Dnyandeo Hatkar v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 SCC (Cri) 33 (SC) : 1993 (1) JT 445 : 1993 (1) Crimes 656 : 1993 (1) Scale 410 : 1993 (1) CCR 70 (SC). 1517

Pandurang Kalu Patil v. State of Maharashtra, 2002 Cri LJ 1007 (S.C.) : 2002 AIR (SC) 733 : 2002 (1) SCR 338 : 2002 (2) SCC 490 : 2002 (1) JT 229 : 2002 (1) Scale 290 : 2002 (1) Supreme 233 : 2002 (1) SCJ 378 : 2002 (3) SRJ 172 : 2002 SCC (Cr) 371 : 2002 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2002 (1) CCR 92 (SC) : 2002 (1) JCC 380 : 2002 (1) Recent CR 499 : 2002 (3) CRJ 448................................ 1591

Pandurang Mohan Dhaitadak v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 551(Bom). ... 1580

Pandurang Sitaram Bhagwat v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 880 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 643 : 2005(1) Crimes 104 : 2005(1) JT 92 : 2005(2) SCC 44 : 2004(8) Supreme 916 : See also State v. Anthony Mikolas, 2006 Cr LJ 1582 (Kant)... 2169

Panibhusan Behera v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 1561 (Ori)... 2338

Pankaj Naik v. State of Orissa. 1994 Cri LJ 829 ; (1994) 2 East Cr C 51 (Ori).......... 2224

Panna Lall v. State, (1994) 54 Del LT 426.. 2356

Panna v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1140. 1769

Pannayar vs State of Tamil Nadu by Inspector of Police, 2009 AIR SCW 5608 : 2009 CrLJ 4454 (SC) : AIR 2010 SC 85. Sec. 394. .... 2495. 2541, 2543, 2493

Pantangi Balarama Venkata Ganesh v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 3129 : 2009 CrLJ 4144 (SC) : 2009 (10) Scale 69 : 2009 (5) Supreme 506 : 2009 (6) SLT 364 : 2009 (11) SCR 636 : 2009 (3) JCC 2470. .... 1595, 1974

Paothing Tangkhul v. State of Nagaland, 1993 Cri LJ 2514 (Gau).......... 2125

Paparambaka Rosamme v. State of A.P., 1999 Cri LJ 4321 (SC) : 1999 (4) Crimes 150 (SC) : 1999 (2) JCC (SC) 479 : 1999 (5) Scale 451 : 1999 (6) JT 585 : 1999 (7) Supreme 640. 2949

Papiya v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 Crimes 651 (Raj). 2404

Pappala Venkataramana v. State of A.P., (1995) 1 Andh LT (Cr) 396.......... 2956

Pappu alias Chandrabhan v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 1180 (MP). 1958

Pappu and Balwant v. State of Rajasthan, 2000 Cr LJ 1256 (Raj). 2357. 2357

Pappu Rajak vs State of Jharkhand, 2010 (4) CriLJ 3998 (Jhar). 2267, 2421

Pappu Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LJ 718 (Raj). 1620

Pappu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 45 (Raj) : 2003(1) Raj Cr C 272 : 2002(2) Raj LR 354 : 2003(3) Rec Cri R 333. 2511

Papuria alias Rajesh v. State, 1995 Cr LR 258 (Raj). 2381

Paraman v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3379 (Ker) : 2004(2) DMC 535 : 2004(1) KER LJ 697. 1740

Paramjit Singh v. Harbans Kaur, (1994) 2 Crimes 261 (P&H).......... 2588, 2599

Paras Kumar v. State of Bihar, 2000 Cri LJ 112 (Pat.). 1715

Paras Nath v. State of Delhi, 2004 Cr LJ 731 (Delhi) : 2003(107) DLT 169 : 2004(1) Rec Cri R 154. 1797

Parashram Bapu Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 272 (Bom). 1466

Pariyasami, In re : 1995 Cr LJ 1203 (Mad). 2333

Parkash v. Roshni, (1994) 1 CC Cases 272 (P & H). 1990

Parkash v. State of Haryana, 2004 Cr LJ 595 (SC) : (2004) 1 SCC 339 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 290 : AIR 2004 SC 227 : 2004(1) SCC 339 : 2003(10) JT 58 : 2004(1) Crimes 98 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 555 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 290. .... 2212, 2215, 2184, 2183, 2188

Parmanand Singh v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 4430 (Pat) : 2004(3) BLJ Pat 614 : 2004 (3) East Cri C 231. 2041

Parmanand v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 414. .... 1633, 1634

Parmeshwar Prasad Mehta v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) East Cr C 267 (Pat).......... 1967

Parminder Kaur v. State of U.P., AIR 2010 SC 840. 2842

Parsadi v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 104 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2628 : 2003(47) All Cri C 153. 1524

Parshuram Bhiva Patel v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 3627 (Bom) : 2006(1) Bom CR (Cri) 112 : 2005(4) Bom LR 151. 1560

Parshuram Tukaram Kini v. State of Maharastra, 1994 B Cr C 165 (Bom). 1579

Parsu Ram v. State of U.P., 1996 Cri LJ 2316 (All). 2529

Parasuraman v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1991 (28) ACC (SC) 604; AIR 1993 SC 141 2060

Parvatibai Baban Shinde v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 Cri LJ 1253 (Bom)... 1603

Pashaura Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2010 SC 922. 2984

Pasumarthy Prabhakar Rao v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 434 (AP). 2961

Patal Marandi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2770 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 775 : 2003(2) East Cri C 285. 2028

Patasnam v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 4 Crimes 344 (Bom). 2949

Pati Ram v. State of U.P., (1994) 31 All Cr C 605 (All). 1962

Patra Mirgan v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 613 (Ori). 2311

Patrik Kindo v. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand), 2010 (3) Cri LJ 2961 (Jhar). 1922, 1947, 2049

Pawan Kumar Sibban Kewat v. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1973 (Bom) (Aurangabad). 2535

Pawan Kumar v. State of Haryana, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2077 (P & H).... 2166, 2172, 2403, 3068

Pawan Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 261 (Raj). 1967

Pawan v. State of Uttaranchal, 2009 CrLJ 2257 : 2009 (1) Crimes 406 : 2009 (3) JT 87 : 2009 (3) Scale 195 : 2009 (2) Supreme 139 : 2009 (3) SCR 468 : 2009 (2) SLT 407. 1474

Peer Mohammad v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 45 (Mad). 2897

Penchala Sadaiah v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3827 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 332 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 562. 2959

Penchala Sadaiah v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ 3827 (AP): 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 332 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 562. .... 1868, 1870

Pepsi Foods Ltd. v. Special Judicial Magistrate (1998) 5 SCC 749 : 1997 AIR SCW 4084. 2126

Perumal v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 1773 (Mad).. 1711

Peter Fernandes v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 539 : 1997 Cr LJ 954 (Bom). 2317, 2345, 2358

Phani Bhushan Das v. State of West Bengal, (1994) 3 RCR 638 (SC) : 1994(6) JT 57 : AIR 1995 (SC) 70 : 1994(4) Scale 136 : 1995 Cr LJ 551. .... 1710, 1759

Phoolbhan Sah v. State of M.P., 1995 MPLJ 73 (N) (MP). 1520, 1750

Phul Singh v. State of Haryana. (1979) 4 SCC 413 : 1980 SC 249 : 1980 Cr LJ 81. 2322

Piara Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 CC Cases 42 (P & H). 1606, 1581, 1938

Pichapillai v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3634 (Mad). 1708

Pinki Kumari v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4019 (Jhar) : 2003 AIR Jhar HCR 1126 : 2003(2) East Cri C 636 : 2003(3) JCR JHA 220.......... 2396

Pirthi Singh v. State, 2006 Cr LJ 1393 (P&H). 2905

Pirthi v. State of Haryana, 1995 JIC 554 (SC) : (1995) 1 East Cr C 439 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 1582 : 1993(4) Scale 35 : 1994 Cr LJ 2187 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 402. .... 1703, 2085

Police Hembram v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4408 (Jhar) : 2004 AIR Jhar HCR 273 : 2004(2) JC JR 176. 2766

Ponnusmamy v. State, 1995 AIR SCW 1788 : 1995 Cr LJ 2658 (SC).........1801, 1789, 2711

Pooran Ram v. State of Rajasthan 2001 Cr LJ 91 (Raj) ; See also Durgalal v. State of Rajasthan, 2001 Cr LJ 3652 (Raj). 1752, 2294, 2335

Pooran Son of Bansi v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 317 (Raj).......... 1638, 2063

Posuram Deshmukh v. State of Chhattisgarh.. AIR 2009 SC 2482 : 2009 (5) SCR 807 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 120 (SC) : 2009 (5) Scale 332 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 745 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 346 (SC) 2009 (3) JCC 1699 (SC). 1754

Pothyamsethi Satyanarayana Reddy v. State of A.P., 2006 Cr LJ 27 (AP). 1897

Prabhakar K. Ghate v. State of Maharashtra. 2004 Cr LJ 5074 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 405. 1858

Prabhakar v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 3 Crimes 430 (Bom). 1510

Prabhat Kumar Bose v. Tarun Kanti Bagchi, 1994 Cri LJ 1211 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 960. ....2722, 2724

Prabhu Dayal v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 2990 (MP) : 2004(1) MPHT 30 : 2004(2) MPLJ 81. 1960

Prabhu v. State of Karnataka, 2001 Cri LJ 1427 (Kant).......... 1936

Prabhu v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 745 : 2008 (13) JT 72 : 2008 (16) SCR 1095 : 2008 (15) Scale 228 : 2009 (1) SLT 506. ....2082, 2088

Prabir Mondal v. State of West Bengal, 2010 (1) Cri LJ 444 (SC). 1930, 1957

Pradeep Ambadas Shinde v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 B Cr C 272 (Bom). 2393

Pradeep Kumar Dhawan v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1995 MPLJ 112 (MP).......... 1837

Pradeep Kumar v. State of Karnataka, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2672 (Kant). 1707, 1712

Pradeep Kumar v. State of U.P., 1994 Cri LJ 148 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 104 : 1995 Supp(4) SCC 419 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 395. 1469

Pradeep Kumar Verma v. State of Bihar, 2007 CriLJ 4333 (SC). 2290

Pradeep v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Bom CR 341. 2855

Pradipta Basu Roy Chowdhury v. Babita Basu Roy Chowdhury, 1997 (2) East Cr C 161 (Cal).......... 2564

Prafulla Chandra Panda v. State of Orissa. (1994) 1 Crimes 719 (Ori).........2522, 2522

Prahilad Nath v. State of Assam, (1994) Gau LR 392 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 18 (Gau). 2397

Prahlad Apto v. State of A.P., (1994) 3 Crimes 764 (AP). 1765

Prahlad Das Chale v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 195 1891

Prahlad Oraon v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 84 (Pat). 1509

Prahlod Das Chela v. State of M.P., 1996 Cri LJ 3659 (MP) 1887

Prakash alias Omprakash v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 CCR 411 (Raj). 1764

Prakash Chand v. (Smt) Geeta, 1995 Cr LR 269 (Raj). 2915

Prakash Chandhappa Channur v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 1085 (Bom) : 2005 All MR (CRI) 584 ...... 1954, 2079

Prakash Chandra v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 865 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 442 : (1994) 53 DLT 113 (Del) (DB). 1609

Prakash Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 397 (Raj). 1634

Prakash Singh v. (Smt.) Santosh Kaur, (1994) 1 Crimes 929 : (1994) 2 SLJ 1596 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 20 : (1994) 1 Recent CR 519 (P&H). 2599, 2600

Prakash Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 1 CCR 7 (Raj). 1609

Prakash v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 445 (BD). 1763

Prakash v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 936 (All). 2522

Pramod Mandal v. State of Bihar, (2004) 4 Crimes 123 (SC) : 2005 SCC (Cri) 75 : 2004(7) JT 583 : 2004(7) Supreme 156.. 2531

Pramod v. State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 925 (All). 1754

Pran Nath Sharma v. Union of India, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 485 (P&H). 2721

Pran Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2721 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1380 : 2003(46) All Cri C 531 : 2003(1) All Cri R 488 1663

Pran v. Daula, 1997 (1) Crimes 107 (SC).... 1676

Prasad Mahato v. State of Bihar, 1993 Cri LJ 3136 (SC) : AIR 1993 (SC) 2477 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 55 2085

Prasad v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2009 SC 1911 : 2009 CrLJ 1761 : 2009 (1) Crimes 359 : 2009 (3) SCC 174 : 2009 (2) Scale 524 : 2009 (1) Supreme 815. ...... 2340, 2794

Prasanta Kumar Sahoo v. State of Orissa, 2004 Cr LJ 3501 (Orissa) : 2004(28) OCR 692. 2254

Pratap Chandra Mohanty v. State of Orissa, (1994) 3 Crimes 179 (Ori). 2173, 2171

Pratap v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2421 (Raj) : 2002(3) Raj LR 511 : 2003(4) Rec Cri R 20 : 2003(1) WLC 675 2342

Pravat Kumar Mishra v. State of Orissa, 1996 Cri LJ 4357 (Ori). 1949

Praveen v. State of Haryana, 1997 Cri LJ (SC) 252. 1925

Pravin Kumar Kailash Chandra Shukla v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 Cri LJ 577 (Bom). 2487

Pravin Kumar Shukla v. State of Maharashtra, 1977 Cri LJ 577 (Bom). 2490

Pravinsinh Himatsinh Zala v. State of Gujarat, (1995) 1 GLR 595 (Guj). 1823

Preetam v. State of M.P., Cr LR 234 (MP).... 2498

Prem Chand v. State of H.P., 2000 Cr LJ 951 : 2000(2) All Cr LR 363 (HP). 2310

Prem Das v. State of H.P., 1996 Cr LJ 951 (HP). 1892, 1887

Prem Kanwar vs State of Rajasthan, 2009 AIR SCW 536 : 2009 CriLJ 1123 (SC) : AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 (SC) : 2009 (1) Scale 230 (SC) : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 1123 (SC) : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (1) JCC 482 (SC)..... 1835, 1839, 1845, 1847, 1848, 1851, 1853, 1856, 1878

Prem Kumar v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 CCR 9 (SC) : (1995) 3 Crimes 133 : JT 1995 (3) SC 12 : (1995) 2 East Cr C 69 : (1995) 1 Crimes 889 : (1995) 3 SCC 228 : 1995 AIR SCW 1644 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 445 : 1995 Cr LJ 2634 (SC) 1492

Prem Nath v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 2244 (P&H) : 2005(2) DMC 342 : 2005(2) All Cri LR 731 : 2005(2) Rec Cri R 427. 1702

Prem Sagar v. Dharambir, 2004 Cr LJ 17 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 21 : 2004(1) SCC 113 : 2003(8) JT 76 : 2003(4) Crimes 372 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 502. 1689

Prem Singh v. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 2573 : 2009 (7) SCR 1142 : 2009 (8) JT 185 : 2009 (7) Scale 637. 1547

Prem Singh v. State of M.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 494 (MP). 1639

Prem v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cr LJ 1608 (Bom) 2432

Prem v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 804 (Alld). . 1549

Premchand Mahto v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 3672 (Jhar) : 2005(2) DMC 624 :

2005(3) East Cri C 237 : 2006(1) Hindu LR 117 : 2005(3) JCR Jha 253.................... 1866

Premendra Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 214 (All).. 1631

Premlal v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 1145 (MP). 2320, 2327, 2399

Pritam Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 178 (P&H) : (1994) 1 CC Cases 355 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 514 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 304 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 172 (DB). 2609

Pritam Singh v. State, (1995) 2 CC Cases 519 (Delhi).. 2004

Prithu v. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2070 : 2009 (11) SCC 588 : 2009 (3) JT 440 : 2009 (2) SCR 765 : 2009 (3) Scale 192. 1760

Prithvey Singh v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 2874 (Del.) : 2002(2) Cur Cri R 36 : 2002(96) DLT 785. 1722

Priya Bala Ghosh v. Suresh Chandra Ghosh (1971) 3 SCR 961; AIR 1971 SC 1153:1971 (1) SCC 864; (1971 Cri LJ 939..... 2924, 2925

Priya Patel v. State of M.P., 2006 CriLJ 3627 (SC).. 2323, 2410

Probin Bora v. State of Assam, (1994) 2 GRL 334. 1620

Promoda Kumar Mantri v. State of Orissa, (1995) 3 Crimes 510 (Ori)...................... 1544, 1581

Public Prosecutor High Court of A.P. v. Mohd. Hoshan, 1996 Cri LJ 2834 (AP)............. 1907

Public Prosecutor v. Badana Ramayya, 2004 Cr. LJ 3510 (Mad) : 2004(1) ALD (CRL) 983 : 2004(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 452 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 766. 2396

Public Prosecutor v. Bandi Balaiah. (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 115 : 1994 Cr LJ 331 (AP) (DB)...... 1517

Public Prosecutor v. Godise Devaiah, (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 76 : 1994 Cr LJ 349 (AP).........2175

Public Prosecutor v. Pulicherla Govinda Reddy, 2004 Cr LJ 238 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 606 : 2004(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 413. 1530

Public Prosecutor v. V. Jaya Prakash, 1997 Cri LJ 196 (AP)..2959

Public Prosecutor, High Court of A. P. v. Chandaram Srinivasa Rao Sreenu, 1996 Cr LJ 4412 (AP)..2766

Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P. Hyderabad. v. Potharlanka Venkateswarlu 2002 Cri LJ 3145 AP : 2002(4) All Cri LR 466 : 2002(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 395................... 2167, 2956

Public Prosecutor, High Court of AP v. Sannaila Subba Rao, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 45 (AP) : 2004(2) ALD (Crl) 213 : 2004(2) Andh LT (cri) AP 15.. 2280

Public Prosecutor, High Court v. Jangili Sammaiah, 2004 Cr LJ 4489 (AP) : 2004(2) ALD (CRl) 579 : 2004(4) All Cri LR 836.. 1905

Public Prosecutor, High Court, AP v. Venudhar, 2004 Cr LJ 4364 (AP) : 2004(2) Andh WR 627.. 2458

Public Prosecutor, High Court, Hyderabad, AP v. Pulicherala Govinda Reddy, 2004 Cr LJ 238 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 606 : 2004(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 413..................................... 1530

Public Prosecutor. High Court of A.P., Hyderabad v. Ayinampudi China Apalaraju, (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 189 (AP). 2950

Public Prosecutor, High Court A.P., Hyderabad v. Narsu, (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 88 (AP)........... 1867

Pulabai v. State of Maharshtra. (1995) 1 CCR 333 (Bom)... 2213

Puli Prakasa Rao v. S.H.O. Pithapuram P.S., 1994 (2) ALT (Cri) 216 (AP) (DB). 1490

Pulu Tanti v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3505 (Gau.). 1660

Puna Chand Mahto v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 1358 (Jhar) : 2004(1) All Cri LR 25 : 2003 Cul Cri LR 1035 : 2004(1) Cul LJ 134. .. 2594

Punem Landri v. State of U.P, 1994 Cr LR 176 (N) (MP).. 1518

Pupinder Pal Singh v. State of Punjab. (1994) 1 Crimes 1010 (SC) : 1994(3) JT 14 : 1994(1) Scale 865.. 1604

Puran Babu Chavan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4684 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (CRI) 649.............. 1637

Puran Nath v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 326 (Raj).....................................1543, 1703

Puran Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 509 (P & H)................................ 1705

Puran Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 721.. 1510

Purandar Mirdha v. State. 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 210 (Orissa)... 1725

Purchi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 712 (Raj) : 2003(1) WLC 609.. 1568

Pushpa Raj and Mahesh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 WLC 600 (Raj). 1481

Pushpa Raj v. State of Rajashan, (1995) 2 Crimes 412 (Raj)................................. 1495

Pushpendra Singh v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 2022 (All) : 2005 All LJ 1149 : 2005(51) All

Cri C 858 : 2005(2) All Cri R 1871. 1627

Puttaswamy v. State of Karnataka, 2008 (17) SCR 272 : 2009 (1) SCC 711 : 2008 (15) Scale 483 : 2008 (12) JT 561. 1831

Putti Manda v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 112 (Pat). 1546

Pyara v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 391 (Raj). 1544

Pyare v. State of U.P., 1995 Cr LJ 2343 (All). 1962

Pyarelal Maganlal Jaiswal v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 989 (Bom). 2251

R

R v. Lawrence (1981) 1 All ER 974. 1806

R. Kalyani v. Janak C. Mehta, 2008 (14) Scale 85. 2634

R. Prakash v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 1391 : AIR 2004 SC 1812 : 2004(2) Crimes 72 : 2004(9) SCC 27 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1408 : 2004(2) Supreme 78 : 2004(1) JCC 414. .... 1963, 1965

R. Ramesh v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 174 (AP). 1640

R. Sai Bharathi v. J. Jayalalitha, 2004 Cr JL 286 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 692 : 2003 AIR SCW 6349 : 2004(1) Crimes 43 : 2003(9) JT 343 : 2002(2) ALD (CRL) 654 : (2004) 2 SCC 9 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 377. ....2717, 2618, 2620

R. Shan Mugam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 873 (Mad). 2496

R. Shanmugam v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 873 (Mad). 2458

R. v. Burgess, 32 LJC 55. 1979

R. v. Caldwell (1981) 1 All ER 961. 1806

R v. Doody, 6 Cox 463. 1980

R. v. Ensar, 3 TLR 366. 3005

R. v. Labouchere, (1884) 12 QBD 322. 3005

R. Venkatakrishnan v. Central Bureau of Investigation, 2009 (11) SCC 737 : 2009 (10) JT 597 : 2009 (12) SCR 762 : 2009 (11) Scale 102 : 2009 (6) SLT 375. 2572

R.I. Bappa alias Babu v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 3877 : AIR 2004 SC 4119 : 2004(3) Crimes 214 (SC) : 2004(6) SCC 485 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1794 : 2004(5) Supreme 740. 1964

R.I. Bappala Siddappa v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 242 (AP) : 2002(1) ALD (CRL) 378 : 2002(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 167. 1727

R.K. Mishra v. State, 2010 (2) CriLJ 1292 (Del.). 2761

R.L. Kanoria v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 867 (Cal) : 2003 (3) Cal HN 400 : 2004 (1) Cur LR 401. 2584

R.M. Vellaiyam v. State of Tamil Nadu, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 426 (SC). 2711, 2712

R.N. (Loknathan) v. State of Goa, 1995 Cr LR (Mah) 240 (Bom). 1478

R.S. Bhudwar v. Union of India, 1996 Cr LJ 2862 (SC). 1540

R.T. Badjujar v. State of Maharashtra, 1996 Cr LJ 2482 (Bom). 1924

Rabi Sahu v. State of Orissa, 1994 Cri LJ 2226 (Ori). 2085

Rabindra Chaurasia v. State of Jharkhand, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3349 (Jhar). 2499, 2534

Rabindra nath Ballirsingh v. State, 2000 Cr LJ 2535 (Orissa) : 2000(1) Crimes 168 : 2000(1) Ori LR 612 : 2000(19) OCR 32 (Ori). 2317

Rabindra Nath Murthy Naidu v. State of W.B., 1996 Cri LJ 2928 (Cal). 1924

Rabindra Singh v. State of Bihar, (1994) 2 East Cr C 372 (Pat). 2656

Rabindranath Gounda v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2752 (Orissa). 2766

Rachhpal Singh v. State of Punjab, 2002 Cri LJ 3540 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 2710 : 2002(6) SCC 462 : 2002(5) JT 388 : 2002(5) Scale 308 : 2002(5) Supreme 118. ....1684, 1693

Radha Ballabh v. State of U.P., 1995 SCC (Cr) 797 (SC) : 1995(4) JT 206 : 1995(3) Scale 205 : 1995(2) Crimes 473. 2209

Radha Kumar v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 4925 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 991 : 2004(1) East Cri C 358 : 2003(3) JLJR 285. 1725

Radha Rani w/o Parmod Kumar Oberoi v. Parmod Kumar Oberoi, s/o Charanit Oberoi, 1995 SCC (Cr) 396 (SC) : 1995 Supp(4) SCC 491. 2599

Radha Sasidharan v. State of Kerala, 2006 CriLJ 4702 (Ker). 1787, 2096

Radha Through State v. Khajan Singh, (1995) 1 CCR 104 (Raj). 2376

Radha v. Khajan Singh, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 482. 2343

Radharaman Sahu v. Trilochan Nanda, 1991 Cri LJ 1603. 2723

Radhe v. State of Chhattisgarh, AIR 2008 SC 2878 : 2008 (10) SCR 110 (SC) : 2008 (11) SCC 785 : 2008 (7) JT 386 (SC) : 2008 (9)

Scale 638: 2008 (6) SLT 409: 2008 (7) SRJ 174 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3520 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 928 : 2008 (3) JCC 2083 (SC).. 1706

Radheshyam v. State of M.P, 1994 Cr LR (MP) 159. 2618

Radhey Shyam v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 337 (Raj).......... 1710

Radhey Shyam v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2008 (14) SCC 558 : 2009 CrLJ 1107 : 2008 (14) Scale 686 : 2008 (16) SCR 131 : 2008 (9) SLT 510. 2081

Radhey Shyam v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 69 (Del). 1670

Radheysham Ramkishan Chandak v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Mah LJ 741........ 1624

Radhu v. State of MP, AIR 2007 SC (Supp) 847. .... 2366, 2417

Raess v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 58 (All). 2173

Rafik Khan Asgarkhan Pathan v. State of Gujarat, 2005 Cr LJ 1284 (Guj) : 2005(30) All Ind Cas 837 : 2004(3) Guj LH 601 : 2005(1) Guj LR 913 : 2005(2) Rec Cri R 694....... 2291

Rafikul Alam v. The State of W. B., 2008 CriLJ 2005 (Cal). 2515, 2656

Rafiq v. State of U.P, 1980 CriLJ 1344 = AIR 1981 SC 559. .... 2366, 2417

Raghabachiran Panda v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1397 (Orissa) : 2003 (2) Crimes 366 : 2003 OCR 109 (Ori).......... 2821

Raghbir Singh v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 Crimes 417 (P&H).......... 2628

Raghothaman v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1974 (Kant) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 1204 : 2004(3) All Cri LR 161 : 2004(2) DMC 622. 2963

Raghubir v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 162 (All). 2048, 2045, 2548

Raghunath Day v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ 4592 (Cal) 2656

Raghunath Dey v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4592 (Cal). 2529

Raghunath Padhy v. The State, AIR 1957 Orissa 198 : 1957 Cri LJ 989. 2913

Raghuvir Dessai v. State, 2007 CriLJ 829 (Bom). 2413

Raghuvir v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 283 (All). 2041

Rahimbux v. State of M.P., AIR 2008 SC 3111 : 2008 (8) SCR 213 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 763 (SC) : 2008 (6) SLT 35 (SC) : 2008 (3) Crimes 48 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1369 (SC).......... 1762

Rahmat v. State of H.P., 1997 Cri LJ 764. . 1969

Rahul Singh v. State of H.P., 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3117 (HP).......... 1556

Rai (Shree) v. State of Bihar, 2005 (2) Crimes 504 (Pat). 1970

Raimal alias Raila v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 98 (Raj). 1771

Raisa w/o Mohd. Hussain v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1995 Cr LJ 169 (MP).......... 1942

Raj Kishore Pandey v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 684 (Pat) (Ranchi Bench)....... 1849

Raj Kumar Narayan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 207 (Jhar) : 2003 AIR Jhar HCR 1035 : 2002(3) East Cr C 338.......... 2912

Raj Kumar Pandit v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 3570 (Jharkhand). 2226

Raj Kumar v. State of M.P., 2005 Cr LJ 1072. 1869

Raj Kumar v. State, 1994 All Cr C 481 (All) (DB). 1841

Raj Kumar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 249 (MP). 1896, 2560

Raj Murti v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 193 ; (1994) 1 CCR 13 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 430 ; (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 33 (P & H). 2270

Raj Narain Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2009 (10) SCC 362 : 2009 (12) JT 342 : 2009 (12) Scale 627 : 2009 (14) SCR 755 : 2009 (8) SLT 160..........2016, 2137

Raj Nath v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2056 (All) : 2003 All LJ 699 (ALU). 2393

Raj Nath v. State of U.P., AIR 2009 SC 1422 : 2009 (4) SCC 334 : 2009 (1) JT 373 : 2009 (1) Scale 619 : 2009 (1) Supreme 370 : 2009 (1) SCR 336 : 2009 (1) JCC 801. ....1622, 1946

Raj Pal v. State of H.P., (1995) 2 Sim LC 57 (HP). 2332

Raj Rani (Smt.) v. State of Delhi Admn., 2000 Cri LJ 4672 (SC) : 2000(10) SCC 662 : 2000(7) JT 458 : 2000(6) Supreme 570 : 2000(4) Crimes 104 (SC). 2948

Raj Rani v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 357 (P&H). 2596

Raj Singh State v. (Delhi Administration), (1995) 3 Crimes 484 (Del). 1578

Raj Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 SCC (Cri) 1785 : 1995 Supp(4) SCC 500.......... 2628

Raj Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1588 (P&H) : 2003(1) All Cri LR 607 : 2003(2) Rec Cri R 697. 2764

Raja Ram Yadav v. State of Bihar, (1996) 9 SCC 287 : (1996 Cri LJ 2307)............. 1654, 1644

Rajabai v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 256 (N) (MP). 1995

Rajammal v. State, 1993 Cri LJ 3029 (Mad). 2966

Rajan v. State of Rajasthan 2002 Cri LJ 3152 Raj : 2002(2) Raj Cri C 1035 : 2002(3) Raj LR 788. .... 2216, 2264

Rajan v. State, 2000 Cri LJ 2423 (M.P.). 1925

Rajaram v. State of M.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 1021 (MP). 2253

Rajaram v. State of U.P., 1995 Cr LR 130 (MP). 2028

Rajaram v. State, 2010 Cri LJ 1644 (Madras). 1819, 1833

Rajbabu v. State of M.P., AIR 2008 SC 3212 : 2008 (8) JT 250 (SC) : 2008 (10) Scale 437 (SC) : 2008 (5) Supreme 666 (SC) : 2008 (8) SLT 472 (SC) : 2008 (8) SRJ 119 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 4301 (SC) : 2008 (3) Crimes 313 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 2013 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 890 (SC)................................... 1915, 2968

Rajbir v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 CC Cases 86 (P & H). 1962

Rajbir v. State, (1994) 2 CC Cases 437 (Del). 2333

Rajdhar Dubey v. State of U.P., 1992 (2) Crimes 306 (All). 2713

Rajeevan v. State of Kerala, 2003 Cr LJ 1572 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1813 : 2003(3) SCC 355 : 2003(2) Supreme 852 : 2003(2) Crimes 265 (SC)... 1676

Rajen Boro v. State of Assam, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 42 : 2003(3) Cur Cri R 470 : 2003(2) Gau LT 632. 1739

Rajender Singh v. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 1734 : 2009 CrLJ 1561 : 2009 (11) SCC 382 : 2009 (1) JT 186 : 2009 (1) Scale 344 : 2009 (1) Supreme 400 : 2009 (1) SCR 108. 2139

Rajender v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 143 (HP) : 2002(3) Shim LC HP 141. 2396

Rajendra Chandra Jain v. State of U.P., 1991 Cri LJ (NOC) 29 (All)................................ 2715

Rajendra Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 4344 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3196 : 2003(10) SCC 21 : 2003(4) Crimes 141 (SC) : 2003(6) Supreme 822.. 1567

Rajendra Rai v. State of Bihar 1999 Cri LJ 1448 (SC) : AIR 1999 SC 996 : 1999 (2) SCC 423 : 1999 (1) JT 334 : 1999 (1) Scale 314 : 199 (1) Supreme 362 ; 1999 (1) Crimes 57 (SC) 1999 (1) CCR 65 (SC) : 1999 SCC (Cr) 239 164

Rajendra Shantaram Todankar v. State o Maharashtra, 2003 Cr LJ 1277 (SC) : AI 2003 (SC) 1110 : 2003(1) Crimes 346 2003(2) SCC 257 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 506. . 204

Rajendra Singh Bahadursingh Zala v. State 2003 Cr LJ 3222 (Guj) : 2003(4) Crimes 398 163

Rajendra Singh v. Surendra Singh, 1992 MPL 650. 285

Rajendra v. State of M.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 55 (M.P.). 157

Rajendra v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 S 2558 : 2009 (2) Crimes 150 (SC) : 2009 (5) J 305 : 2009 (5) Scale 423 : 2009 (5) SCR 589 2009 (3) Supreme 77 : 2009 (3) SLT 263 158

Rajendra v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 171 (Mad). . 200

Rajendra v. State, AIR 2009 SC 855 : 2008 (15 Scale 371 : 2009 (16) SCR 1005 : 2008 (1 SLT 283. ....1878, 297

Rajendran v. State of Tamil Nadu 2002 Cr L 2292 (Mad.) : 2003(1) Andh LT (Cri) MD 27 2002(4) Crimes 368............................. 240

Rajendran v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4156 (Mad) 2004(2) Hindu LR 720 : 2004 Mad LJ (Cri 992. 186

Rajendran v. State, AIR 2009 SC 855 : 200 (15) Scale 371 : 2009 (1) SLT 283 : 2008 (16 SCR 1005 : 2009 (1) JCC 200............... 297

Rajesh Aggarwal v. State of Bihar, 1996 (2 Crimes 465 (Pat). 258

Rajesh Anantram Thakur v. State o Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 208 (Bom). ... 177

Rajesh Bajaj v. State of NCT of Delhi, 1999 C LJ 1833 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 1216 : 1999(3 SCC 259 : 1999(2) JT 112 : 1999(1) Scal 697 : 1999(2) Supreme 442. 267

Rajesh Gupta v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 1 (MP). 23

Rajesh Kumar v. Mahendra Jain, (1994) Recent Cr R 135 (P&H). 260

Rajesh Kumar v. State of Haryana 2002 Cri L 756 : 2002(1) Rec Cri R 108. 206

Rajesh Kumar v. State of Jharkhand, 2010 (3 CriLJ 3512 (Jhar)........................2199, 226

Rajesh Madhukar Srisundar v. State o Maharashtra, 2008 CriLJ 1857 (Bom). .. 193

Rajesh Sharma v. State of Uttaranachal, 2005 Cr LJ 2846 (Uttr.) : 2005(2) Crimes 359 : 2005(118) DLT 60 : 2005(1) FAC 140..... 1681

Rajesh v. Chandu Lal Gandhi, 2002 Cr LJ (NOC) 52 (Orissa) : 2001(92) Cut LT 628 : 2001(21) OCR 215 : 2001(2) Orissa LR 215.......... 1662

Rajeshbhai Gamajbhai Idayat v. State of Gujarat, 2005 Cr LJ 1156 (Guj) : 2005(33) All ind Cus 910 : 2005 Cr. LR (SC Mah Guj) Guj 19 : 2005(1) Guj LH 596 : 2005(2) Guj LR 1437. 2327

Rajinder @ Raju v. State of H. P., AIR 2009 SC 3022 : 2009 (10) SCR 248 (SC) : 2009 (9) JT 9 (SC) : 2009 (9) Scale 176 (SC) : 2009 (5) Supreme 233 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 361 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 4133 (SC) : 2009 (3) Crimes 222 (SC).. 2306, 2400

Rajinder Chand Abrol v. State of H.P, 1995 Cri LJ 800 (HP). 2721

Rajinder Golcha v. State of Punjab, 1994 (3) Recent Cr R 521 (P&H). 2855

Rajinder Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 321 : (1994) 2 Recent CR 459 (P & H) (DB)... 1841

Rajinder Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 459 (P&H). 1861

Rajinder Singh v. Ghansham Singh, 1991 (2) CC Cases 300 (P&H). 2724

Rajinder Singh v. State of H.P., (1994) 2 SLJ 1669. 2820

Rajinder Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 68 : (1994) XXI Cr LT 298 (P & H) (DB)... 1705

Rajinder Singh v. Union Territory, Chandigarh. (1995) 3 Recent Cr R 507 (P & H). 2160

Rajinder v. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 3022 : 2009 CrLJ 4133 : 2009 (3) Crimes 222 (SC) : 2009 (9) JT 9 : 2009 (9) Scale 176 : 2009 (10) SCR 248 : 2009 (5) Supreme 233 : 2009 (9) SLT 361....................... 2259, 2390

Rajiv Kumar Gupta v. State of Maharashtra, 2006 Cr LJ 581 (Bombay)..................... 2719

Rajkumar Bhikam Dhobi v. State of Maharashtra. (1994) 2 Crimes 467 (Bom). 2496, 2535

Rajpal v. Smt. Rani, (1995) XXII Cr LT 76 (P&H). 2601

Raju Krishna v. State of Karnataka, (1994) 1 Crimes 156 (SC). 2356

Raju Mahto v. State of Jharkhand, 2010 (3) CrlLJ 3362 (Jhar)............................... 2983

Raju Pandurang Mahale v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 1441 : AIR 2004 (SC) 1677 : 2004(4) SCC 371 : 2004(2) JT 425 : 2004(2) Crimes 204 (SC) : 2004(2) Supreme 234 : 2004(2) Recent CR 936. ....2136, 2163

Raju Ram v State, 2004 Cr LJ 2237 (Raj) : 2004(3) All Cri LR 993 : 2004(1) Bom LR 33 : 2004 (3) Rec Cri R 644. 2960

Raju Singh alias Nageshwar v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 1 (Raj). 1605

Raju v. State of Haryana, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1924 (SC)... 1710, 1776

Raju v. State of Karnataka, 1994 SCC (Cri) 538 ; (1994) 1 SCC 453 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 222 ; 1994 JIC 620 ; 1994 Cr LJ 248 ; (1994) 2 BLJR 1059....................................... 2331

Raju v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 858 : 2008 (15) SCC 133 : 2008 (12) JT 457 : 2008 (16) SCR 1078 : 2008 (15) Scale 375 : 2009 (2) SLT 41. ..... 2306, 2307, 2360, 2374, 2400, 2401

Raju v. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3043 (Raj)... 1841, 1876

Raju v. State, 2002 Cr LJ 1720 (Raj).......... 1970

Raju v. State, AIR 2009 SC 2171 : 2009 (1) Crimes 377 : 2009 (11) SCC 111 : 2009 (2) SCR 783 : 2009 (3) JT 183 : 2009 (3) Scale 179 : 2009 (2) Supreme 65.................... 1777

Raju v. State, by Inspector of Police, AIR 2009 SC 2171 : 2009 (2) SCR 783 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 111 : 2009 (3) JT 183 (SC) : 2009 (3) Scale 179 (SC) : 2009 (2) Supreme 65 : 2009 (1) Crimes 377 (SC). 1778

Rakesh Kr. Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3206 (Goa) : 2003(4) Cur Ci R 9 : 2003(2) DMC 447 : 2003(2) Gau LT 126. 1531

Rakesh Kumar alias Rakesh v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 47 (Alld). 1934, 1972

Rakesh Kumar v. Central Bureau of Investigation, (1993) 3 Recent Cr R 686 (P&H)... 2701

Rakesh Kumar v. State of Haryana, 2009 CrLJ 1895 : 2009 (2) Crimes 119 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 81 : 2009 (3) JT 377 : 2009 (3) SCR 1190 : 2009 (3) Scale 567 : 2009 (2) Supreme 459 : 2009 (3) SLT 153................ 1872, 2953

Rakesh Singh v. State of H.P., 1996 Cr LJ 2311 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 3173 : 1996(4) JT 53 : 1996(9) SCC 89 : 1996(3) Scale 346 : 1996(3) Supreme 430. 1712

Rakesh Singh v. State of M.P., 1996 Cr LJ 2311 (SC). 2063

Rakesh v. State of M.P., 1999 Cri LJ 4915 (MP). 1858

Rakha Ram v. State of Haryana. (1995) 2 SLJ 1163 (P & H). 2334

Rallis India Ltd. v. K.T. Vijay Kumar. 2010 (2) CrLJ 2485 (AP). 3006, 3023

Ram Asrey v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2276 (All) : 2003 (46) ACC 392 (All) : 2003 All LJ 808 : 2003 (46) All Cri C 392. 1673

Ram Babu Kumar v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 452 (P & H). 1704

Ram Babu v. State of U.P., 2010 (3) CrLJ 2856 (SC). 2514, 2520, 2523

Ram Bahadur v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 199 (MP) : 2003 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPJ 669 : 2003(2) MPHT 510 : 2003(3) MPLJ 45. .. 2116

Ram Bali v. State of UP, AIR 2004 SC 2329 : 2004 Cr LJ 2490 : 2004(2) Crimes 498 : 2004(3) Supreme 547 : 2004 SCC (Cr) 2045. 1664

Ram Bharosey v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2009 (4) Crimes 236 (SC) : 2009 (14) JT 260 : 2009 (14) Scale 54 : 2009 (15) SCR 947 : 2009 (7) Supreme 404 : 2009 (8) SLT 415 : 2010 (1) JCC 87. 1526

Ram Bharosey v. State. 1996 Cr LJ 2023 (All). 1966

Ram Briksh Singh v. Ambika Yadav, 2005 (3) East Cr C 60 (SC). 3068

Ram Bux v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 566. 2349

Ram Chandra Sharma v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 684 (Ranchi Bench). 1602

Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 307 (Raj). 1576, 1620

Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, 1992 Cr LR 422 (Raj). 2711

Ram Deo Chauhan v. State of Assam 2000 Cri LJ 3954 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 2679 : 2000(7) SCC 455 : 2000(8) JT 430 : 2000(5) Scale 355 : 2000(5) Supreme 312. 1655

Ram Dev v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1680 (Raj) : 2003(1) WLC 34. 1670

Ram Gopal v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 275 (All). 2026

Ram Gupta v. Bakeman's Home Products. 1992 (2) Crimes 1047 (P&H). 2714

Ram Janam Gareri v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 5 (All). 2036

Ram ji Rat. v. State of Bihar. 1999(8) SCC 389: 2000 Cri LJ 19 : AIR 1999 (SC) 3857 : 1999(8) JT 236 : 1999(6) Scale 565 : 1999(9) Supreme 36. 1657

Ram Jiyavan Jaiswal v. State of U.P. (1995) 2 CCR 162 (All). 2715

Ram Kishan v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 4236 (A) : AIR 2004 SC 4678 : 2004 All LJ 3773 : 2004(6) Supreme 479 : 2004(3) Crimes 397 : 2004(7) Scale 569 : 2004(3) JCC 1694... 1661

Ram Kishun v. State of U.P., 1994 UP Cr R 372 : (1994) 31 ACC 564 (All). 1545

Ram Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 407 (P&H). 2029

Ram Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Recent CR 631 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 280 : 1995 Supp (1) SCC 248 : 1994 (6) JT 502 : 1994 (1) Scale 484 : 1994 (3) Crimes 633 : 1995 (2) SCJ 75 : 1994 (4) CCR 779 (2) (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 355. 1517

Ram Lakhan v. State of Uttar Pradesh) (1983) 2 SCC 65: 1983 Cri LJ 691 (1). 2526

Ram Lal v. State of J & K, 1999, JT (SC) 147 : AIR 1999 SC 895 : 1999(2) SCC 213 : 1999(1) JT 147 : 1999(1) Scale 162 : 1999 Cr LJ 1342. 2088

Ram Lal v. State of Jammu and Kashmir, 1999 Cri LJ 1342 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 895 : 1999(2) SCC 213 : 1999(1) JT 147 : 1999(1) Scale 162 : 1999(1) Supreme 216. 2064

Ram Lal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1995 Crimes 618 : 1995 Cr LR (MP) 341 (MP). 1486, 1624

Ram Lal v. State. 1994 (31) ACC 699 (All). . 2548

Ram Mal v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 250 (Raj). 1869

Ram Maruthi Pawar v. State of Maharashtra. 2009 (12) SCC 406 : 2009 (8) JT 403 : 2009 (5) Scale 551 : 2009 (5) SCR 956. 1534

Ram Muni Yadav v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4131 (All) : 2003(2) A Cri R 1577 (All). 1633

Ram Murti v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 430 : (1994) 1 CCR 13 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 193 : (1994) Recent Cr R 33 (P & H). 2025

Ram Murti v. State of Haryana, 1970 Cr LJ 991. 2310

Ram Narayan v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 236 (Raj). 1524

Ram Nath Mahto v. State of Bihar, 1996 CriLJ 3585 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 2511 : 1996 (8)

SCC 630 : 1996 (3) Scale 441 : 1996 (3) Supreme 567........ 2528

Ram Nath Mandal v. Union of India, (1994) 3 CC Cases 209 (Del). 2211

Ram Nivas v. State of Karnataka, 1994 SCC (Cri) 503 (SC). 2382

Ram Pal v. State of Haryana, 1995 SCC (Cr) 136 (SC) : 1994 Supp(3) SCC 656. : (1994) 1 C CR 157 (Raj). 1550, 2356

Ram Pal v. State of UP, 2003 Cr LJ 3760 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 4168 : 2003(7) SCC 141 : 2003(5) Supreme 297 : 2003(3) Crimes 234 (SC)........1689, 1680, 2522

Ram Pat v. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 2847 : 2009 (7) SCC 614 : 2009(8) Scale 145 : 2009(7) JT 579........ 1611, 2794

Ram Prakash Prajapati v. State of UP, 1994 ACC 185 : 1994 (23) ALR 430 (All)........ 1462

Ram Prasad Meena v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 CCA 795 (Raj). : (1995) 2 WLC (Raj) 584. ....1478, 1602

Ram Prasad v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 374 : 1994 UPCR R 24 (All). 1612

Ram Pujan v. State of U.P. AIR 1973 SC 2418: 1973 Cr LJ 1612. 2088

Ram Pyari v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 46 (All). 1640

Ram Ratan v. State of U.P 2002. Cri LJ 2688 All. H.C : 2002 (2) Crimes 403 (409, 410) : 2002 (44) ACC 845 : 2002 (1) A Cri R 859 (All) (DB). 1494

Ram Sajiwan Singh v. State of Bihar, 1996 Cr LJ 2528 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 3265 : 1996(8) SCC 552 : 1996(4) JT 502 : 1996(4) Scale 63. 1753

Ram Sanchi v. State of U.P., 2005 Cr LJ 153 (All) : 2004 All LJ 3573 : 2004(50) All Cri C 112 : 2004(3) All Cri R 2676........ 1520

Ram Saran v. State, (1995) 4 Crimes 522 (All). 2709, 2711

Ram Sarup v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 379 (P & H). 2059

Ram Sewak v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 3043 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 4592 : 2004 (4) Scale 698 (SC) : 2004 (3) Supreme 501 : 2004 (3) SLT 400 (SC)........ 1671

Ram Sharma (Sri) v. State, (1995) 3 Crimes 331 (Del). 2765

Ram Sharma Sai v. State of Bihar, 2006 Cr LJ 297 (Jhar). 1992

Ram Singh Dhobi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 248 (MP). 1603

Ram Singh Meena v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 601 (Raj). 1518

Ram Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 280 (Raj). 1546

Ram Singh v. State of U.P, 1995 (32) ACC 224 : 1996 Cr LJ 96 : 1995 All LJ 1642 : 1995 A Cr R 38........ 2827

Ram Singh v. State, 1991 JCC 539 (Del).... 2873

Ram Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3678 (MP) : 2003(2) All imd Cas 130 : 2003 Cri LR (SC & MP) MPJ 471 : 2002 (4) MPHT 146........ 1524

Ram Swaroop v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 459 : 1994 Cr LR 596 : 1994 Cr LJ 3382 (Raj). 1466

Ram Swaroop v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3960 (Raj) : 2003(12) All India Cus 616 : 2003(4) WLC 65. 1532

Ram Swarup v. State of U.P., 2000 Cri LJ 3926 (All). 2458

Rama Kant Rai v. Madan Rai, 2004 Cr LJ 36 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 77 : 2003(4) Crimes 310 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 326 : 2004(1) Recent Cr 83. 1691

Rama Mangaruji Chacherkar v. State of Maharashtra 2002 Cri LJ 573 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 283 : AIR 2001 SCW 5000 : 2002(1) Crimes 202. 1704

Rama Nand Singh v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 570 (Pat). 2638, 2650

Rama Shish Rai v. Jagdish Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 669 : AIR 2005 SC 335 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1611 : 2004(4) Crimes 306 (SC) : 2005(10) SCC (10) 498 : 2004(8) Supreme 54. 1493

Rama v. State of M.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 497 (MP). 2062

Rama v. State of U.P., (1995) 1 Crimes 468 : 1995 (32) ACC 113 (Alld)........1547, 1639

Ramachandrappa v. State by CPI, Hiriyur, 2007 CriLJ 3504 (Kar). 2384

Ramadhar Sharma v. State of Bihar, 2005 CrLJ 3874 (Pat) : 2005 (2) EastCriC 84. 1740

Ramadhar v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2378 : 2004 All LJ 1205 : 2004 All LJ 1205 : 2004(48) All Cri C 534 : 2004(2) All Cri R 1526. 2067

Ramadheen v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 14. 1949

Ramakanta Panda v. Smt. Satyabhama Panda, 1995 Cr LJ 2409 (Ori). 2241

Raman Kumar v. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 3034 : 2009 (6) SCR 933 : 2009 (8) JT 422 : 2009 (6) SCR 933 : 2009 (6) Scale 335. .... 1847, 1850, 1872, 2952

Ramanand Yadav v. Prabhu Nath Jha, 2004 Cr LJ 828 : AIR 2004 SC 124 : 2003 Crimes 446 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 21 : 2003(8) JT 514. : AIR 2004 SC 1053 : 2004 Cr LJ 640 : 2003(8) JT 404 : 2003(7) Supreme 576 : 2003(4) Crimes 399 (SC). 1665

Ramanathan v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 579 (Mad). 1891

Ramaotar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1993 Cri LJ 57 (SC). 1510

Ramappa Vasappa Badiger v. State of Karnataka, (1994) 1 Crimes 750 (SC) : 1994 (2) JT 91 : 1994 (1) Scale 704 : 1994 (2) CCR 312 (SC) : 1995 (Cr. LJ 1535. 1491

Ramashish Rai v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 Crimes 457 (Pat). : (1995) 1 BLJ 399 (Pat). 2017, 2027

Ramaswamy v. State of T.N., 1995 SCC (Cri 143 (SC) : 1993 Cr. LJ 3253 : 1994 Supp (3) SCC 680 1576

Rambharos v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 231 (MP). 1535

Ramchandra Mohadev Shinde v. State Maharashtra, 1999 Cr LJ 1428 (Bom).... 2297

Ramchandra v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 11 (MP). 2002

Ramcharan v. State of M.P., 1993 Cr LJ 1825 (MP) : 2007 CriLJ 2884 (Chattisgarh).... 1800, 2382, 2411

Ramdas Kondaji Pekhale v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Mah LR 428 (Bom). 2043

Ramdas v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 209-B (Raj). 2963

Ramdayal v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 1496 (Raj) : 2005 Cri LR (Raj) Rai 428 : 2005(1) Raj Cri C 469 : 2005(2) WLC 47. 1600

Ramdhan v. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2652 (Raj). 2388, 2415

Ramdil v. State of M.P. 2002 Cr LJ 861 (Chattishgarh) : 2001(2) Crimes 267...... 2405

Ramesh Baburao Patil v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2002 Cri LJ 3364 : 2002 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPJ 667 : 2002(4) MPLJ 425.. 1893

Ramesh Bhai Godad v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2445 : 2003(2) DMC 746 : 2003(2) Guj LH 657 : 2003(3) Guj LR 2390 : 2003(4) Rec Cri R 17. 1896

Ramesh Bhai v. State of Rajasthan, 2009 CrLJ 2991 : 2009 (2) Crimes 337 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 603 : 2009 (6) Scale 320 : 2009 (7) JT 439 : 2009 (3) Supreme 722 : 2009 (4) SLT 659 : 2009 (6) SCR 949. .... 1475, 1598

Ramesh Chand v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1315 (All) : 2003 All LJ 464 : 2003 (46) All Cri C 90. 2961

Ramesh Chandra Lanka v. State of Orissa, (1995) 8 OCR 905 (Ori). 2520

Ramesh Chandra Mohapatra v. State of Orissa, 2002 Cri LJ 3453 : 2002(3) Crimes 119 : 2002(3) Cur Cri R 66. 1808

Ramesh Chandra v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 505 (All). 2026

Ramesh Deo Pandey v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 98 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2581 : 2003(47) All Cro C 34 : 2003(2) DMC 610. 1908

Ramesh Kumar Gupta v. State of M.P., 1995 Cri LJ 3656 : AIR 1995 SC 2121. 2079

Ramesh Kumar v. Smt. Shushila Srivastava, 1997 Cri LJ 282 (Raj). 2156

Ramesh Kumar v. State of Chattisgarh, 2001 Cr LJ 4724 (SC) : 2001(8) JT 599 : 2001(7) Scale 298 : 2001(10) SRJ : 2001(7) Supreme 737. : 4729(SC). 2966, 2971

Ramesh Kumar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2010 (1) Cri LJ 494 (MP). 1974

Ramesh Kumar v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 300 : 1994 Cr LJ 1120 : AIR 1994 SC 945. 1477

Ramesh Maruti Patil v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 East Cr C 426 (SC) : 1994 Cr LJ 8 : AIR 1994 SC 28 : 1994 JIC 406. : 1995 SCC (Cr) 149 (SC) : 1994 AIR (SC) 28 : 1994 Cr. LJ 8. .... 1581, 1705

Ramesh Singh v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cr LJ 2743 (Bom). 2658

Ramesh v. State of Karnataka, (1995) 1 Andh LT (Cr) 510 (Kant) (DB). 1477

Ramesh v. State of Karnataka, 2009 (3) Crimes 349 (SC) : 2009 (12) JT 284 : 2009 (10) Scale 131 : 2009 (6) Supreme 41 : 2009 (6) SLT 485 : 2009 (11) SCR 367. 2497

Ramesh v. State of M.P., 2006 CriLJ 3815 (MP). 1961, 1974

Ramesh v. State of Maharashtra, 2001 Cr LJ 1579 (Bom). 2331, 2328

Ramesh v. State of U.P.. 1991 Cri LJ 2976. 2030

Rameshbhai Punjamji Keji Ram Bhail v. State of Gujarat, 2005(2) Crimes 552 (Guj). 1883

Rameshwar Ram v. State of Bihar, 1997 (1) Crimes 552 (Pat) : 1994 (3) JT 14 : 1994 (1) Scale 865 : 1994 92) UJ 40 : 1994 (31) ATC 1153. 1604

Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1952 SC 54 = 1952 Cri LJ 547. .... 1826, 1792

Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1952 SC 54. 2399

Rameshwar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3437 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1653 : 2003(1) All Cri R 720 : 2003(50) All LR 567.......... 1948

Ramjatan v. State, (1995) 3 CCR 737 (Alld) : 1995 JIC 669 (All). 2549

Ramji Lal v. Dila, 1995 JIC 979 (Alld). 2223

Ramjibhai Narasangbhai(Ch.) v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 280 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 313 : 2004(1) SCC 184 : 2003(9) JT 96 : 2003(4) Crimes 471 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 67. . 1738

Ramjit v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2009 (11) SCC 373 : 2009 CrLJ 1139 : 2009 (1) JT 342 : 2009 (1) Scale 446 : 2009 (1) SCR 184 : 2009 (1) Supreme 583.......... 1771

Ramjiyavan Jaiswal v. State of U.P, (1995) 2 CCR 162 (Alld).......... 2722

Ramkaram and Ram Gopal v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cri LJ 3521 (Raj)......... 2529

Ramkishore v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1994) 1 CCR 427 (MP) : (1994) 2 EFR 186....... 1466

Ramkripal v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 139 (MP). 1516

Rammi @ Rameshwar v. State of M.P., 1999 (8) SCC 649].......... 1693

Ramprasad Ramchandra_Shelekar. v. State of 'Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Crimes 426 (Bom). 1620

Ramshray Mithai Lai Vishvakarma v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 149 (Bom).... 1515

Ramswaroop v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 166. 1577

Ramu v. State of UP, AIR 2004 SC 1605 : 2004 Cr LJ 1407 : 2004(1) Crimes 325 (S)C 2004(1) Supreme 828 : 2004(2) JT 289. .... 1744, 2086

Ramu v. State rep by inspector of Police. 1995 Cr LJ 2525 (Mad). 2241, 2256

Ramzan v State of Rajasthan. 2010 (3) CrLJ 2607 (Raj). 2515, 2524. 2541

Ran Mal v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 250 (Raj). 2951

Randhir Basu v. State of West Bengal. 2000 Cri LJ 1417 (SC) : AIR 2000 SC 902 : 2000 (3) SCC61 : 2000 (1) JT 618 : 2000 (1) Scale 483 : 2000 (2) Supreme 534 : 2000 (2) Crimes 41 (SC) : 2000 (10 CCR 195 (SC) : 2000 SCC (Cr) 587. 1655

Randhir Singh v. State of Punjab, 2004 Cr LJ 4985 : AIR 2004 SC 5097 : 2004(4) Crimes 193 (SC) : 2004(7) Supreme 420 : 2004(3) JCC 1608 : 2004 Recent Cr 740. 1896

Rang Bahadur Singh v. State of U.P., 2000 Cri LJ 1718 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 1209 : 2000(3) SCC 454 : 2000(2) Scale 247 : 2000(5) Supreme 61. 2531

Rang Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 316 (Raj) : 2004(1) Raj Cri C 125 : 2004(1) WLC 68. 1628

Rangaswami Goundar v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 228 (Mad). 1497

Ranglal v. State of Rajasthan, 2006 Cr LJ 1453. 2345

Ranglal v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 316 (Raj) : 2004(1) Raj Cri c 125 : 2003(3) Raj LR 7990 : 2004(1) WLC 68.......... 1731

Rani (Smt.) v. State. 1996 Cri LJ 1026 (Del). 1887

Ranjeet Lohra v. State of Bihar, 2002 CriLJ 329 (Jhar) : 2002(1) ALD (CRL) 383 : 2002(4) All CriLR 651 : 2002(1) AndhLT (Cri) AP 352 : 2002 (2) Crimes 442 : AIR Jhar 33 : 2001 (4) CurCriR 237. ....2247, 2251, 2328, 2367

Ranji Lal v. State, (1994) 53 DLT 829. 2165

Ranjit Hazarika v. State of Assam. (1998) 8 SCC 635. 2357

Ranjit Kumar Lohria v. Madan Lal, 1993 (1) Recent CR 121. 2714

Ranjit Singh v. State of U.P, 1993 (30) All Cr C 660. 2

Ranjit Singh v. State. (1995) 3 CC Cases 39 (Del).......... 1976

Ranjitsingh Chandrasingh Atodaria v. State of Gujarat, AIR 1994 SC 1060 : 1994 Cri LJ 1425. 1761

Ranveer Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1658 : 2009 Cr LJ 1534 : 2009(3) SCC 384 : 2009(1) JT 544 : 2009(1) Scale 740 : 2009 631. 1779

Ranvir Yadav v. State of Bihar, 2009 CrLJ 2962 : 2009 (2) Crimes 434 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 595 : 2009 (7) Scale 60 : 2009 (7) SCR 653. .... 1548, 2397

Rapani Laxaman v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ 136 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (CRL) 425 : 2004(1) Cur Cri R 176. 2512

Rashid v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 103 : 1995 (32) ACC 69 (Alld). 1630, 2315

Rashikbhai Popatbhai Patel v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3278 (Guj) : 2003(3) GCD Guj 2149 : 2003(3) Guj L 33.......... 2475, 2474

Rashmi Kumar v. Mahesh Kumar, 1997 (2) SCC 397 : 1996(11) JT 175 : 1996(9) Scale 388 : 1997(1) CCR 168 (SC).......... 2601, 2578

Rasik Khan Asgarkhan Pathan v. State of Gujarat, 2005 Cr LJ 1284 (Guj) : 2005(30) All ind Cus 837 : 2004(3) Guj LJ 913 : 2005(1) Guj LR 913 : 2005(2) Rec Cri R 694. ....2342, 2360, 2394

Raska Hansda v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 115 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 883 : 2003(3) East Cri C 116.......... 1740

Ratan Kumar v. State, (1995) 8 OCR 79 (Ori). 1764

Ratan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 228 (Raj) : 2004(1) Raj Cri C 139 : 2004(1) Raj LR 774 : 2004(2) Raj LW 1131 : 2004(1) WLC 243. 2257

Ratan Lal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4402 (Uttra) : 2003(2) UC 1351 UTR. 1963

Ratan Singh Dalsukhabhai Nayak v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 19 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 23 : 2004 SCC 64 : 2003(4) Crimes 387 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 535.......... 1528

Ratan Singh vs State of M.P. & Anr., 2009 AIR SCW 7170 : AIR 2010 SC 597.......... 1974

Rataniya Bhima Bhil v. State of Gujarat, 1997 Cri LJ 891 (Guj). 1647

Ratia alias Ratanlal v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 201 (Raj).......... 1501

Ratkanta Paramanik v. State, (1994) 3 Crimes 372 (Ori).......... 2539

Ratnappa Shivaalingappa Jeevani v. State of Karnataka, 2006 Cr LJ 1579. 1811

Ravendra v. State, 1997 Cr LJ 171 (Mad). . 2089

Ravi Prakash v. J.C. Diwakar Reddy, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2558 (AP).......... 3029, 3038

Ravi Rajwar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 634 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 48 : 2002 (3) East Cri C 315. 2549

Ravi v. State by Inspector of Police, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3493 (Mad). 2292

Ravichandra v. Mariyammal, 1992 Cri LJ 1675 (Mad). 2673

Ravichandran v. State by Dy. Superintendent of Police, Madras, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2879 (SC). 2882, 2728

Ravindar Pyarelal Bidhan v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 3019 (Bom). . 2946

Ravinder Kumar v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 84 (P&H) : 2004(4) Crimes 481 : 2005(1) DMC 209 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 234. 1870

Ravindra Pyarelal Bidhan v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Mah LR 553. 2949

Ravji alias Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, [1996 (2) SCC 175 : AIR 1996 SCW 132].. .... 1555, 1677, 1679, 1683, 1687

Ravula Sarangam v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1995) 3 Crimes 767 : (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 287 (AP).......... 1606

Rawail Singh v. State of Punjab, 2002 Cri LJ 3075 (P&H) : 2002(3) All Cri LR 265 : 2002(2) Rce Cri R 706.......... 1776

Rayab Jusab Sama v. State of Gujarat, 1999 Cri LJ 942 (Guj).......... 2898

Razak Jinnesab Karajagi v. State of Karnataka, 2009 (2) Crimes 59 (SC) : 2009 (4) JT 667 : 2009 (5) Scale 116 : 2009 (5) SCR 422 : 2009 (2) Supreme 801 : 2009 (4) SLT 565. ....1527, 1536

Reema Aggarwal v. Anupam, 2004 Cr LJ 892 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 1418 : 2004 AIR SCW 344 : 2004 AIR Jhar HCR 1026 : 2004(1) Crimes 276.......... 2975

Refering Officer v. Tingili Ashappa 2000 Cri LJ 2569 (AP) : 2000 (1) An LT Cr. 489 (AP). 1641, 1657

Reg v. Ledington. 6 Car 69. 1883

Reg. v. Fietcher, LRICC 89.......... 2147

Reg. v. Jessop, 16 Cox CC 204. 1883

Reg. v. Mankletow. Dears CC 159.......... 2191

Reg. v. Mukam, Rat Un Cr C 3.......... 2178

Rehmal v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 533 (MP).......... 2356

Renu Yadav v. Madhusudan Etawadi, 2003 Cr LJ 250 (MP).......... 2394

Renukana Sengupta v. Delejani Sengupta, 1996 Cri LJ 28, 39 (Cal).......... 2589

Resham Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 529 (P & H). 1960

Rev. Father Jerome D'Souza v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Bom CR 283 (Bom). 2013, 2029

Rex v. Gathercole. 2 Lowein CC 237.......... 3005

Rex v. Hunt, (1824) 2 St 2 Tr NS 98.......... 3005

Rex v. John, 3 Car & P 635 : 172 ER 579 ; AIR 1950 Mad 308 ; AIR 1945 All 16 : 46 Cr LJ 260; AIR 1944 Nag 285 : ILR 1944 Nag 732 ; AIR 1944 Sind 124 ; AIR 1944 Nag 285 ; AIR 1943 PC 72 : 44 Cr LJ 589 (PC) : AIR 1942 All 328 : 43 Cr LJ 921; AIR 1941 Lah 459. 1790

Rex v. Obbom, W. Kel. 230. 3005

Rex v. Topham, (1791) 4 TR 126. 3005

Rex v. Williams, 2 B. & Ald. 595. 3005

Richpal Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 631 : 1994 Cr LR 177 (Raj).......... 1953, 1944

Rijo v. State of Kerala, 2010 (2) CriLJ 1315 (Ker).......... 2497, 2543

Rima Aggarwal v. Anupam, 2004 Cr LJ 892 : AIR 2004 SC 1418 : 2004(1) Crimes 276 (SC) : 2004(3) SCC 199 : 2004(1) Supreme 355 : 2004(1) JT 177.......... 1846

Rishipal v. State of U.P., 1996 Cri LJ 3973 (Alld). 2523

Rishiram v. State of M.P., (1995) 1 CCR 835 (MP). 2956

Rita Agencies (M/s.) v. Enforcement Officer Employees Provident Fund Organization, 2004 Cr LJ 1304 (Mad) : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 796. ....2584, 2585, 2589

Rizan v. State of Chhattisgarh, 2003 Cr LJ 1226 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 976 : 2003(2) SCC 611 : 2003(2) JT 191 : 2003(1) Supreme 890 : 2003(2) Crimes 125 (SC).......... 2086

Robert Costa Fernandes v. Americ Joseph Fernandes, 1993 (1) Crimes 542 (Bom). . 2709

Robert Salbir v. Ashok Sonulo, 1992 (2) Crimes 940 (Bom). 2855

Rohit Das v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 4 (Jharkhand) : 2005 (1) DMC 420 : 2005 (1) Hindu LR 198 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 164. ....1839, 1852, 1853

Rohtas v. State of U.P., 1997 (2) East Cr C 177 (SC). : 2000 Cri LJ 89 (All).......... 1938, 2047

Romesh Kumar v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 CC Cases 105 (P & H). 2061, 2063

Ronal Kiprono Ram Kant v. State of Haryana, 2001 Cr LJ 3942 (SC).......... 2397, 2363

Ronny alias Ronald James Alwairs v. State of Maharashtra. 1998 Cri LJ 1638 : AIR 1998 SC 1251 : 1998(3) SCC 625 : 1998(2) JT 375 : 1998(2) Scale 261 : 1998(3).......... 1642, 2491

Roopa Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 278 (Raj). 2081

Roopsi v. State of Rajasthan. 1994 RCC 132 (Raj). 1509

Ropi Ram v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 CC Cases 514 (P & H). 2066

Roshan Lal Saini v. U.T. Chandigarh Admn., (1994) 2 CC Cases 203 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 489 (P&H). 2713

Roshan Lal Saini v. U.T. Chandigarh. (1994) 2 CC Cases 203 (P&H).......... 2724

Roshan Lal v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (1994) 1 SLJ 747 (HP)..........2352, 2333

Rourkela Construction Pvt. Ltd. (M/s.) v. Ravindra Kumar Goyal, 1993 Cri LJ 1510 (Ori). 2588

Rqjesh v. State of Rajasthan. (1994) 1 CCR 483 : 1994 RC 293 (Raj).......... 2544

Rudra Nath Mishra v. State of U.P., 1994 (31) ACC 746 (All). 2027

Ruli Ram v. State of Haryana, 2002 (7) SCC 691. 1746

Rup Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 2 CC Cases 496 (P & H). 1958

Rupan Deol Bajaj (Mrs.) v. Kanwar Pal Singh Gill, 1995 JIC 1155 (SC).......... 2164

Rupan Deol Bajaj v. Kanwar Pal Singh Gill, AIR 1996 SC 309 = 1995 SCC (Cr) 1059. ....2019, 2033, 2171

Rupesh Kumar s/o Nischal Das v. State of Chhattisgarh, 2009 CriLJ 1822 (Chha). 3068, 2403

S

S. Aboboy Naidu v. R. Sundararajan, 1994 Cri LJ 641 (Mad).......... 1906

S. Jai Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3598 (Mad) : 2003 Mad LJ (Cri) 837. 2340

S. Jayascelan v. State 2002 Cri LJ 732 (Mad) : 2002(2) Rec Cri R 484. 2616

S. Jayaseelan v. State by SPF, C.BI, Madras. 2002 Cri LJ 732 (Mad.) : 2002(2) Rec Cri R 484..........2614, 2881

S. Khushboo v. Kanniammal, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2828 (SC).......... 3028

S. M.P. Khachar v. State of Gujarat, 1996 Cr LJ 2465 (SC).......... 1925

S. Muthukumar v. State, (1994) 1 LW (Cri) 264 (Mad).. 2712, 2723

S. Narasimha Kumar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3188 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (CRL) 651 : 2003 (2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 441.. 2652

S. Radhika Sameena v. SHO Habibuagar, 1997 Cri LJ 1655 (AP) : 1997(1) DMC 132 : 1997(3) Rec Cr R 427 : 1996(2) Hindu LR 358 : 1996(4) Andh LD 1 : 1996(4) Andh LT 73 : 1996(2) APL 293.. 2916

S. Singh v. Sarbijit Singh, (1994) 1 CC Cases 51 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 90 (P&H). 2599

S. Tripat Patra v. State, 2003 CrLJ 1591 (Ori) : 2003 (1) Crimes 571 : 2003 (1) Ori LR 13. 2960

S.D. Ashok Kumar v. State, 1991 Cri LJ 1963 (Mad).. 2721

S.G. Gowdegowda v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 852 (Kant).. 1647

S.K. Agarwal v. Manoj Dalmia, 2001 Cri LJ 3343 (All). 2617

S.K. Ayyub v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 312 : (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 112 (SC) : 1994 Supp (2) SCC 269 : 1994 (4) JT 129 : 1994 (2) Scale 859 : 1995 Cr. LJ 420 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1222. 1488

S.K. Chunia v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 4238 (Jharkhand) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 1944 : 2005(2) BLJR 1547 : 2005(3) East Cri C 235 : 2005(3) JCR Jha 247 : 2005(4) LJR 541. 2354

S.K. Delal alias S.K. Raja v. State of Orissa, (1994) 1 OLR 20 (Ori). 2201

S.K. Nair v. State of Punjab, 1997 Cri LJ 772 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 1537 : 1997 (1) SCC 141 : 1996 (10) JT 338 : 1996 (8) Scale 237 : 1996 (8) Supreme 182 : 1996 (4) Crimes 186 (SC) : 1997 (3) CCR 53 (SC) : 1996 (8) AD (SC) 77 : 1997 SCC (Cr) 60. .... 1520, 1645

S.K. Sarkar v. State of W.B., (1994) 2 CHN 204. 2633

S.N. Palanitkar v. State of Bihar 2001 Cri LJ 4765 (SC) AIR 2001 (SC) 2960 : 2001(9) JT 151 : 2001(7) Scale 430 : 2001(3) Supreme 216. 2577

S.N. Palanitkar v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 4765(SC). 2691, 2726

S.P. Devaraju v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2009 SC 1725 : 2009 (12) SCC 676 : 2009 (2) Scale 572 : 2009 (2) JT 408. 1768

S.P. Gupta v. Ashutosh Gupta, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3428 (SC).. 2731

S.V.L. Murthy v. State, AIR 2009 SC 2717 : 2009 (6) SCC 77 : 2009 CrLJ 3930 : 2009 (7) JT 385 : 2009 (7) SCR 784 : 2009 (6) Scale 758 : 2009 (4) Supreme 399.. 2675

S.V.L. Murthy v. State, Rep. by C.B.I., Hyderabad., AIR 2009 SC 2717 : 2009 (7) SCR 784 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 77 : 2009 (7) JT 385 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3930 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 758 (SC) : 2009 (4) Supreme 399 (SC). 2731

Sabitri Patra (Smt) v. State of Orissa, (1994) 1 OLR 543 (Ori).. 2965

Sadanand Singh v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 604 (Pat) : (1995) 1 OLJR 706 (Pat). 2522

Sadananda Das v. State of Orissa, 1991 (2) Crimes 343 (Ori). 2715

Sadashiv Krishna Setty v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3590 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (Cri) 1738 : 2003(4) Rec Cri R 533. 2538

Sadashiv v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3661 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (Cri) 1717 : 2003(4) Bom LR 292. 2549

Sadasiv Mahapatra v. Prafulla Kumar Das, 2003 Cr LJ 3947 (Ori) : 2003(25) OCR 606 : 2003(2) Orissa LR 122. 2601

Sadasivam Mohanachandran v. State of Kerala, (1994) 1 CCR 1 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 165 : 1994 Cr LJ 920 : AIR 1994 SC 654. ....1752, 1765

Saddique Mohd. v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 90 (Raj) : 1994 RCC 488. ....2208, 2357

Sadhray v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 3 CCR 541 (MP). 2254

Sadhu Ram v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2331 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3530 : 2003(11) SCC 231 : 2003(2) Crimes 307 (SC) : 2003(3) Supreme 357. 1675

Sadhu v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 667 (All). ... 2382

Sadique Ansari v. State of Bihar, 2006 Cr LJ 1592 (Uttra). 2513

Sagayam v. State of Karnataka, 2000 Cri LJ 3182 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 2161 : 2000(4) SCC 454 : 2000(5) JT 260 : 2000(4) Scale 43 : 2000(3) Supreme 437.. 1934

Sahab Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 251 (SC) : AIR 1997 SC 945 : 1997(3) JT 181 : 1997(2) Scale 429 : 1997(2) Supreme 644. 1662

Sahadevan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 424 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 215 : 2003(1) SCC 534 : 2003(1) Crimes 80 (SC) : 2003 SCC (Cr) 382. 1568

Sahajan Khan v. State of Orissa, (1994) 2 Crimes 203 (Ori)........................ 2384, 2402

Sahen v. State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 401 (All). 1705

Sahwag Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 (2) Crimes 621 (P & H)..................... 1705, 1744

Sakatar Singh v. State of Haryana, 2004 Cr LJ 2076 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 2570 : 2004(4) Scale 529 : 2004(3) Supreme 661 : 2004(3) Crimes 1 : 2004(2) Hindu LR 182. 2953

Sakharam Chimaji Sarane v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 527 (Bom). 1633

Sakhi Mandalain v. State of Bihar, (1999) 8 JT (SC) 351. 2974

Sakshi v. Union of India, 1999 Cr LJ 5625 (SC). 2

Sakshi v. Union of India, 2004 Cr LJ 2881 : AIR 2004 SC 3566 : 2004 (3) Crimes 177 (SC) : 2004 (5) SCC 518 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1645 : 2004 (5) Supreme 68. 2293

Salikram v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 68 (N) (MP). 2334

Salim Alim Shamsher Shaikh vs State of Maharashtra, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4064 (Bom). 2176, 2323, 2345, 2425

Salim Khan v. State, (1995) 3 CCR 196 (Bom). 1479

Salvaran v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2831 (Bom) : 2003(4) All Cri LR 397 : 2003(2) Hindu LR 589. 1868

Sambhaji Mukund Suryawanshi v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 5067 (Bom).... 1729

Sambhu Paul v. State of Assam , 2002 Cri LJ 3359. 1844

Samir Bhowmik v. State of Tripura, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3018 (Gau). 2351, 2372

Samir Samanta v. State, 1993 Cri LJ 134 (Cal)

Samlu v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 1 CCR 386 (MP)....................................... 2382

Sampad v. State, 2001 Cr LJ 793 (Ori). 2406

Sampath Kumar v. State of A.P., 2005 CrLJ 4131 : AIR 2005 SC 3478 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1710 : 2005 (7) SCC 603 : 2005 (4) Crimes 1 (SC) : 2005 (7) Scale 270 : 2005(6) Supreme 228. 1689

Samrao v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 125 (Bom)................................ 2209

Samukh Singh v. State of Punjab. (1994) 3 CC Cases 30 (P&H). 2062

Sana alias Sanatan alias Dhaneswar Samalv State of Orissa, 2010 Cri LJ 299 (Orissa). 1758

Sanatan Rana v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 4162 (SC). 2531

Sanatan Rana v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 4162 (SC) : AIR 2005 SC 3532 : AIRS SCW 2005 4759 : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 2459..................... 2530

Sandeep Sharma v. Neha Sharma, (1994) 2 Recent CR 72 : (1994) 2 CC Cases 907 (P&H). 2596

Sanganagari Narasimulu v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 4168 (AP) : 2005(2) ALD (CRL) 387 : 2005(3) Andh LT (Cri) AP 290. 2954

Sangarabonia Sreenu v. State of AP. 1997 Cr LJ 3955 : AIR 1997 SC 3233 : 1997 (5) SCC 348. 1889

Sangeeta Kumari v. State of Jharkhand. 2004 Cr LJ 1734 (Jhar). 2045

Sangi Hambram v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3375 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1848 : 2004(2) BLJR 1057 : 2004(1) JCJR 272. 2410

Sania Jani v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 226 (Orissa) : 2003(2) Crimes 449 : 2003(25) OCR 433 : 2003(1) Orissa LR 569. 2377

Sanichar Sahni v. State of Bihar, 2009 (7) SCC 198 : 2009 (13) JT 192 : 2009 (8) Scale 680 : 2009 (10) SCR 112 : 2009 (5) SLT 29..... 1465

Sanjay Baburao Pathrale v. State of Maharashtra, 2009 CriLJ 2165 (Bom). .. 2989

Sanjay Bag v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4714 (Orissa) : 2004(4) Crimes 285 : 2004(22) OCR 189 : 2004(2) Orissa LR 360. 2341

Sanjay Dutt v. State through CBI, Bombay, 1995 (32) AOC 65 (SC) : 1994 (5) SCC 410 : 1994 (5) JT 540 : 1994 (3) Scale 1004. 2523

Sanjay Goel v. State of U.P. 2002 Cri LJ 625 (All) : 2001 All LJ 2713 : 2001(3) All Cri R 2389 : 2002(1) Rce Cri R 356. ....1716, 1723, 1753

Sanjay Kumar Kesharwani v. State of Chhattisgarh, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1844 (Chha). 1836, 1852

Sanjay Kumar v. State of M.P., 1995 JIC 553 (SC) : (1995) 1 East Cr C 437 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cri) 586 : 1994 Supp(1) SCC 502. ....1937, 1949

Sanjay Rambhau Patil vs State of Maharashtra. 2010 Cri LJ 1407 (Bombay)........1796, 1821, 1825

Sanjay v. State (N.C.T.) of Delhi, 2001 Cri LJ 1231 (SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 979 : 2001(2) JT 461 : 2001(1) Scale 695.......................... 2491

Sanjay v. State of Maharashtra, 1996 Cri LJ 2172 (Bom). 1822, 2499

Sanjay v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4761 (Delhi) : 2005(1) Cur Cri R 162 : 2004(114) DLT 132 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 635. 1728

Sanjay v. State, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3214 (Del). 1836, 1850, 1856, 2949

Sanjeev Puri v. State, (1995) 57 DLT 18 (Del). 1479

Sanjeev v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 48 : 1994 B Cr C 247 (Bom)....... 1634

Sanjev Prakash v. State, 1995 Cr R 220 (MP|. 1837

Sanju alias Saujoy Singh Sengar v State of Madhya Pradesh, 2002 Cri LJ 2796 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 1998 : AIR 2002 SCW 2035 : 2002(4) Scale 270 : 2002(3) Supreme 650. 1741

Sanju v. Patangrao Jagtap, 2004 Cr LJ 1102 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cr) 344 : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 528. 2404

Sankar Prasad Roy Chowdhury vs Mitali Roy Chowdhury, 2010 Cri LJ 981 (Calcutta). 2978

Sano Murmu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2365 (Orissa) : 2003(3) Crimes 357 : 2003(95) Cut LJ 465 : 2003(24) OCR 852............................... 2354

Sant Ram alias Santu Samaru Gond v. State of M.P, 1995 MPLJ 823 (MP)........... 2455, 2792

Sant Ram v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 201. 2458

Santha v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 331 (Mad).. 2564

Santhosh Madhavan alias Amrutha Chaithanya v. Circle Inspector of Police Ernakulam, 2008 CriLJ 4246 (Ker)................................. 2419

Santokh Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2009 SC 1923. : 2009 (2) SCR 412 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 197 : 2009 (2) JT 468 (SC) : 2009 (2) Scale 661 (SC) : 2009 (2) Supreme 118 (SC) : 2009 (1) Crimes 397 (SC) : 2009 (2) JCC 1014 (SC). 1780

Santokh Singh v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 4402 (Raj). 2328

Santosh Das v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 436 (Raj). 2381

Santosh Dhodu Chavan v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 3 Crimes 42 (Bom)..................... 2256

Santosh Kumar Satishbhushan Bariyar v. State of Maharashtra, 2009 (6) SCC 498 : 2009 (7) JT 248 : 2009 (9) SCR 90 : 2009 (7) Scale 341 : 2009 (4) Supreme 235 : 2009 (5) SLT 166. ....1555, 2232, 2478

Santosh Kumar v. State of U.P. 2002 Cr LJ 301 (Allah.) : 2001 All LJ 2581 : 2001(43) All Cri C 888...2363, 2366

Santosh Kumar v. State of U.P., 1994 (31) ACC 587...2184, 2256

Santosh Kumar v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 984 (All). 1952, 2040, 2042

Santosh Moolya v. State of Karnataka, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2892 (SC). 2416, 2416

Santosh Prasad v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 PLJR 800 (Pat). 2026

Santosh Sinha v. State of Tripura, 2007 (1) CriLJ 7 (Gau).. 2424

Santosh v. State of M.P., 2000 Cri LJ 1140 (M.P.).......................................1714, 1754

Sanwal Khan v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1956 SC 54 : 1956 Cri LJ 150........................ 2491

Sanya v. State of Orissa, 1993 Cr LJ 2784 (Ori). 2388

Sarab @ Sarleeswar Prodhan v State of Orissa, (1995) 9 OCR 623 (Ori)......................... 1935

Sarad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622..2350, 2370

Sarafat v. State of Uttaranchal, 2006 CriLJ 654 (Uttaranchal)..............................2391, 2426

Saral Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 138 (P&H). 2718, 2720

Sarala v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1195 (Mad) : 2003(1) Cur Cri R 38 : 2003(1) Mad LW (Cri) 54. 2226

Saraswathi v. state, 2002 Cri LJ 1420 (Mad) : 2002(3) CCR 446 (Mad). 3052

Sarat Chandra Sahoo v. State of Orissa, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3084 (Orissa). 1775

Saravanan v. State of Pondicherry, 2005 Cr LJ 117 (SC) : 2005(1) SCJ 54 : AIR 2005 (SC) 57 : 2005 SCC Cr 161 : 2004(2) Crimes 323 (SC) : 2004(8) Supreme 98.......................... 1721

Sardar Khan v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 910 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 1695 : 2004 AIR SCW 461 : 2004(1) Scale 606 : 2004(1) Supreme 427. 2962

Sarita Devi v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) East Cr C 449 (Pat). 2029

Sarja Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 2 SLJ 1148 (P & H). 2042, 2048

Sarjog Turi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2864 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 831 : 2003(3) East Cri C 188 : 2003 Cr LJ 2270 (Orissa) : 2003(95) Cut LT 477. .... 1948, 1963

Sarju Modi v. State, 2003 Cr JL 631 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 70 : 2003(1) JC RJHA 236 : 2003 Mat LR 299. 1865

Sarju Prasad v. State of Bihar, AIR 1965 SC 843 = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 766. 1974

Sarla Mudga's case (1995) AIR SCW 2326 : AIR 1995 SC 1531:1995 Cri LJ 2926. 2925

Sarla Mudgal (Smt). v. President Kalyani. (1995) 3 SCC 635 : 1995 JIC 770 : 1995 (2) KLT 45 : (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 50 : (1995) 2 East Cr C 50: 1995 MLJ (Cr) 496 : (1995) 3 CCR 12 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 569 : 1995 Cr R 772 (SC). 2915

Saro Rana v. State of Jharkhand. 2005 Cr LJ 65 (Jhar) : 2005(2) DMC 827 : 2005(1) Hindu LR 222 : 2005(1) Rec Cri R 648. 1843

Saroj Kumar Sahoo v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1872 (Orissa) : 2003(3) Crimes 517 : 2002(94) Cul LT 65. 2859

Sarojakasan Shankaran Nayar v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Bom CR 47 (Bom). 2945, 2946

Sarojini Amma v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3323 (Ker) : 2003(4) All cri LR 312 : 2003(2) Ker LJ 792. 1636

Sarup Singh v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 4518 : AIR 2005 SC 4345 : 2005(12) SCC 591 : 2005(4) Crimes 121 (SC) : 2005(6) Supreme 676. 1494

Sarvesh Kumar v. State, 1996 (1) Crimes 362 (Raj). 2601

Sarwan Singh v. State of Punjab, 2003 Cr LJ 21 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 3652 : 2003(1) SCC 240 : 2002(7) Supreme 85 : 2002(4) Crimes 414 (SC)... 1662

Sat Narain v. The State, 2000 Cri LJ 1018 (Delhi). 2079

Satbir alias Chand v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 409 (P & H)........................... 2334

Satbir Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 366 (P & H) (DB) : 1995 Cr. LJ 739 : 1995 (2) Crimes 777 : 2005 Cr LJ 4137. .... 1606, 1869

Satbir Singh v. State of Punjab. (1994) 1 Mah LR 348 (SC) : 1994 JIC 274 (SC)....... 1533, 1612

Satbir Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2163 : 2009 (3) JT 293 : 2009 (3) Scale 439 : 2009 (3) SCR 406 : 2009 (3) SLT 161. .... 2017, 2032

Sate of Maharashtra v. V. K. Jain. (1990) I SCC 550 : 1990 Cr LJ 889. 2359

Satendra Pal v. State. 1995 (32) ACC 15 (All). 1519

Satheesan v. State of Kerala. (1995) 1 KLJ 410 (Ker)... 1515

Satheesh N.V. (Dr.) v. State of Kerala, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1734 (Kerala). 2978

Satinder Kumar v. Asha Rani, (1995) 3 CCR 567 (P&H)... 2600

Satish alias Rajendra Harbans Tiwari vs State of Maharashtra & Anr., 2010 (4) CriLJ 4089 (Bom). 2989

Satish Kumar Batra v. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 2180 : 2009 (5) SCR 451 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 491 : 2009 (5) JT 403 (SC) : 2009 (5) Scale 280 (SC) : 2009 (3) SLT 379 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 2447 (SC) : 2009 (2) JCC 1341 (SC)......1878, 1916, 2944, 2946, 2964, 2980, 2983

Satish Kumar Gogia v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Crimes 431 : (1994) 3 CC Cases 25 (P&H). 2597

Satish Kumar Kantilal Dave v. State of Gujarat 1999 Cri LJ 2628 (Guj). 1650

Satish Kumar v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 631 (Bom). 1477

Satish Sah v. State of Bihar, 1995 Cr LJ 213 : 1995 BLJ 156 (Pat). 1580

Satish v. Kamruddin. (1993) 1 RecentCR 476 (P & H)... 2588

Satish v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 Cri LJ 935 (Bom)...1891, 1892

Satpal v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 735 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 201 : 1995 (6) JT 379 : 1995 (5) Scale 235 : 1995 SCC (cr) 1039 : 1995 (4) CCR 110 (SC) : 1996 CrLJ 406. ....1486, 1520

Satpal v. State of Rajasthan 2001 Cr LJ 564 (Raj.) : 2001 Cri R 288 (Raj).................. 2307

Satpal v. State of U.P., 2000 Cri LJ 3355 (All). 2060

Satrangi Lal alias Kishan Lal v. State of Haryana, 1995 Cr LJ 969 (P&H)...2638, 2712

Satrughan Ram (Dr.) v. State of Bihar, 1995 (2) East Cr C 621 (Pat). 2855

Satveer Singh v. State of Punjab 2001 Cri LJ 4625 (SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 2828 : 2001(8) SCC 633 : 2001(8) JT 208 : 2001(6) Scale 513. ....1836, 1880

Satvir Singh v. State of Punjab 2001 Cri LJ 4625 (SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 2828 : 2001(8) JT 208 : 2001(6) Scale 513 : 2001(7) Supreme 267 : 2001 Cri LJ 3625 (SC) : 2001(8) SCC 633 : 2001(4) Crimes 45 (SC)......1851, 1885, 1859, 3063

Satvir v. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1741 : 2009 CrLJ 1586 : 2009 (4) SCC 289 : 2009 (1) JT 539 : 2009 (1) SCR 431 : 2009 (1) Scale 683 : 2009 (1) Supreme 364. 1617

Satwa Waikode v. State of Maharashtra, 1996 Cri LJ 4028 (Bom). 1972

Satya Narayan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 185 (MP) : 2002 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPJ 820.... 2960

Satya Pal v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 77 (Alld). 1769

Satyajit Roy v. State of Tripura, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3397 (Gau).. 2619

Satyanarayan Dev v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 293 : (1995) 3 CCR 359 (Raj) (DB). 1582

Satyapal v. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 2190 : 2009 (5) SCR 577 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 635 : 2009 (5) JT 291 (SC) : 2009 (5) Scale 431 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 33 (SC) : 2009 (4) SLT 41 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 96 (SC). 2337, 2348

Satyapal v. State of Haryana., AIR 2009 SC 2190 : 2009 (5) SCR 577 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 635 : 2009 (5) JT 291 (SC) : 2009 (5) Scale 431 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 33 (SC) : 2009 (4) SLT 41 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 96 (SC). 2293, 2295, 2337, 2412, 3061, 3067

Sau. Panchashila Dada Meshram v. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1919 (SC)... 1784

Sauraba Bank v. (Smt). Gouri Kaudi alias Gouri, (1994) 1 East Cr C 470 (Ori) : (1993) 2 Orissa LR 378 : 1994 Cr LJ 440. 2913

Savita Garg (Smt.) v. Director, national Heart Institute, 2004 AIR SCW 5820. 1817

Sawat Nath v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 226 (Raj). 1544

Sawidero v. Banso, 1996 (1) Crimes 319 (P&H). 2724

Sawindero alias Saurinder Kaur v. Banso, 1995 XXII Cr LT 110 (P&H). 2720

Sayad v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 334.. 1624

Sayeed v. State of U.P., (1994) 31 ACC 1 (All). 2333, 2388

Sayyed Issaq v. State of Maharashtra, 2008 CriLJ 2950 (Bom)................................ 2661

Sebastian v. State of Kerala. 1992 CrLJ 3642 (Ker) (DB). 1537

Sebastian v. State of Kerala. 2010 (1) SCC 58 : 2009 (4) Crimes 121 (SC) : 2009 (13) JT 136 : 2009 (13) Scale 210 : 2009 (7) Supreme 8 : 2009 (8) SLT 96. ....2275, 2490, 2802

Sebastian v. State of Kerala, 2010 (1) SCC 58 : 2009 (4) Crimes 121 (SC) : 2009 (13) JT 136 : 2009 (13) Scale 210 : 2009 (7) Supreme 8 : 2009 (8) SLT 96. ....1515, 2225, 2346

Sebvalam Suranna Dora v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 427 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 742......... 1739

Sechdeo v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 316 (Raj) : 2004(1) Raj Cri C 125 : 2003(3) Raj LR 790 : 2004(1) WLC 68.... 1965

Seeman v. State, 2005 (2) Crimes 222 (SC) : 2005 Cr LJ 2618 : AIR 2005 (SC) 2503 : 2005(5) JT 555 : 2005 SCC (Cr) 1893.... 1502

Seetharamaiah (Dr.) v. State of Karnataka, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3389 (Karn). 1875, 2977

Sekaran v. State, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2341 (Mad). 2414, 2434

Sekhar v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 2479 : 1994 MLJ (Cr) 570 (Mad)...................................... 1750

Selladurai v. Sridhar, 1996 Cri LJ 659 (Mad). 2709

Sewa Ram v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 121 (All). 1607

Shabuddin Sheikh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 26 (Jhar) : 2004 AIR Jhar HCR 109 : 2004(1) JCJR 140... 2396

Shabuddin v. Manowar Hussain, 1999 Cri LJ. 349.. 2773

Shahbuddin Abdul Khaliq Sheikh v. State of Gujarat, 1995 JCC 681 (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 690: (1995) 3 CCR 33 (SC) : 1995 (Supp (2) SCC 441 : 1995 (3) JT 456 : 1995 (2) Scale 647.. 1553

Shaik Chuna Buda v. State of AP, 2002 Cri LJ 526 (AP)... 2955

Shaik Mehtab v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2002 Cr LJ 1421(A.P.) : 2001(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 324.............................. 2365

Shaikh Karimullah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 171 : 2009 CrLJ 1551 : 2009 (1) Crimes 313 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 371 : 2009 (2) JT 263 : 2009 (1) SCR 953 : 2009 (2) Scale 254...................................1484, 2059

Shaikh Shamshad v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 50 (AP). 1670

Shailendra Pratap v. State of U.P., 2003 Cr LJ 1270 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1104 : 2003(1) SCC 761 : 2003(1) Crimes 324 (SC) : 2003(1) Supreme 160....................................... 1672

Shailesh alias Shailendra son of Bhalchand alias Appasaheb Fulzele v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B Cr C 384 (Bom). 1766

Shailesh alias Shailendra v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 914 (Bom)...... 1769

Shailesh Dharmaji Wahane v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 274 (Bom) (NOC) : 2006 All MR (Cri) 103: 2005(4) Mah LT 758. 2380

Shakeel v. State of U.P. 2000 Cri LJ 153 (All). 2246

Shakhunthala v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2906 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (Crl) 531 : 2004(2) Andh LT (Cri) A.P. 1... 2960

Shakil Ahmad v. State of U.P., 2004 Cr LJ 91 (All) : 2003(3) Crimes 26 : 2003 All LJ 2528 : 2003(47) All Cri C 141 : 2003(2) All Cri R. 1566, 1599

Shakuntala Devi v. Sumeat Kumar, 1997 Cri LJ 335 (Del). 2165

Sham Lal Sood v. Jagdev Singh, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 21 (P&H). 2456

Sham Lal v. State of Haryana, 1997 (1) Crimes 245 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 1873 : 1997(3) JT 91 : 1997(2) Scale 328 : 1997(1) CCR 231 (SC) : 1997 Cr LJ 1927......................... 1521

Shambhu Nath Bar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 975 (Cal) : 2003 (1) Cal HN 443 : 2003 (2) Cal LT 389. 1601

Shambhu Singh v. State of Rajasthan., 1994 RCC 484. 2726

Shamlal v. State of Haryana, 1997 (2) Scale 328 : 1997 (3) JT 91 AIR 197 SCW 1614. 1849

Shamshad v. State of UP, 2003 Cr LJ 1322 (All) : 2003 AllLJ 518 : 2003(46) All Cri C 890 : 2003(1) All Cri R 241 : 2003(3) All indcas 663 : 2003(1) Cur Cri R 335........................ 2257

Shamsher Bahadur v. State, 2003 Cr. LJ 4797 (Uttra). 2330

Shamsher Tappi v. State of U.P., 1995 Cr LJ 2328 (All). 2339

Shamsul Kanwar v. State of U.P., (1995) 2 Crimes 487 (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 753 : (1995) 3 CCR 54(SC). 1618

Shanabhai Chandubhai Vasava v. State of Gujarat, 2006 CriLJ 3252 (Guj). 2324

Shanabhai Madharbhai Koli Patel v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 268 (Guj) : 2004(1) Guj LH 408.............................2343, 2353, 2396

Shankar alias Mysooram v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 353 (Mad). 1965

Shankar Lal v. State of Haryana. (1994) 3 CC Cas 247 (P & H). 2160

Shankar Lal Yadav v. State of M.P.. 1994 SCC (Cri) 1409... 2641

Shankar Mandal v. State of Bihar. 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 190 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 2001 : 2003 (3) East Cri C 216. 2095

Shankar Narayan Bhadalkar v. State, AIR 2004 SC 1966 : 2004 Cr LJ 1778 (SC) : 2004(3) JT 211 : 2004(3) Scale 78 : 2004(3) Supreme 652.. 1713

Shankar Narayan v. State of Maharashtra. 1778 (Ker).. 1741

Shankar v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 1608 (Raj).. 1739

Shankar Vishwanath Kalhe v. State of Maharashtra, 2006 Cr LJ 1534 (Bom). .. 1906

Shankarlal v. State of Rajasthan. 2004 Cr LJ 2874 : AIR 2004 SC 3559 : 2004(4) Supreme 345 : 2004(3) Crimes 132 (SC) : 204(2) JCC 959...1667, 1668

Shanker Rao v. State of A.P., (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 690 (DB) (AP). 1603

Shanmuga Sundaram v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 499 (Mad). 2954

Shanmugam v. State of Tamil Nadu, 2003 Cr LJ 418 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 209 : 2002(10) SCC 4 : 2003(1) Crimes 123 (SC) : 2003 SCC (Cr) 1501 : 2002(8) Supreme 243................ 1725

Shanmugham v. Inspector of Police, 1996 Cri LJ 3702 (Mad).. 1752

Shanmugham v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3808 : 1984 Cri LJ 1081 (Mad).......................2132, 2246

Shanta Deb Barma v. Smt. Kanchan Prava Devi AIR 1991 SC 816 : 1991 Cri LJ 660. 2922

Shantanu Chakrabarty (Sri) v. State of Tripura, 2005 Cr LJ 4333 (Gau)......................... 2086

Shanti (Smt.) v. State of Haryana, AIR 1991 SC 1226 : (1990) Cri LJ 1713). 1855

Sharad Budachand v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622 : 1984 Cri. LJ 1378........ 1858

Sharat Chandra Sahoo v. State of Orissa, (1995) 9 OCR 563 (Ori). 2923

Sharda Devi v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 (2) Crimes 675 (Raj)................................ 2724

Sharon Michael v. State of Tamil Nadu, 2009 (3) SCC 375 : 2008 (17) SCR 1412 : 2008 (13) JT 551 : 2009 (1) Scale 627 : 2009 (1) SLT 593. .... 2586, 2634

Shashi Kamal Rai v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 3536 (All) : 2004(49) All Cri C 291 : 2004(2) All Cri R 1813 : 2004 All LJ 2089 : 2004(49) All Cri C 291. .... 2025, 2060

Shashi Pratap Singh v. State of U.P. 2001 Cri LJ 3900 (All) : 2001(2) A Cr R 1339 (1341, 1342) : 2001(1) UP Cr R 653 : 2001(42) Acc 172(2). 2692

Shashi Shekhar alias Neeraj alias Raju v. State, 2007 CriLJ 4193 (Delhi). 2652

Shashidhar Purandhar Hegde v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 4677 (SC) : (2004) 4 Crimes 202 (SC) : (2004) 12 SCC 492 : AIR 2004 SC 5075. 2212

Shashikala Deshpande (Mrs.) v. State of Maharashtra. 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 228...... 2598

Shatrughan v. State of M.P., 1993 Cr LJ 120 (MP). 2388

Shatrughna Prasad Sinha v. Rajbhan Surajmal Rathi. 1997 Cri LJ 212 (SC) : 1996(4) CCR 155 (SC) : 1996(4) Crimes 27 : 1996(6) Scale 769 : 1996(7) Supreme 157 : 1996(6) SCC 263 SC... 3033

Sheik Meeran v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1999 Cri LJ 4981 (Mad)...................................... 1653

Sheikh Abdul Hamid v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1998 SC 942 : 1998(3) SCC 188 : 1998(1) JT 377 : 1998(1) Scale 368 : 1998(1) Supreme 425 : 1998(1) Crimes 148 (SC).. 1470

Sheikh Meheboob v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 2136 (SC) : 2005(10) SCC 387 : 2005(3) JT 137 : 2005(2) Supreme 458 : 2005(1) Crimes 386 (SC) : 2005(1) JC 511......... 1663

Sheikh Nurjehan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 78 : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 592 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 291 : 2004(1) Crimes 185. 1763

Sheikh Zakir v. State of Bihar 1983 Cr LJ 1285, AIR 1983 SC 911................................. 2395

Shekara v. State of Karnataka, 2009 (1) Crimes 472 : 2009 (4) JT 360 : 2009 (3) Scale 104 : 2009 (2) SCR 744 : 2009 (2) Supreme 301 : 2009 (2) JCC 1074. ..2176, 2301, 2422, 2430

Shekh Mehboob v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 2136 : AIR 2005 SC 1805 : (2005) 10 SCC 387 : 2005(1) Crimes 386 (SC) : 2005(2) Supreme 458. 1634

Shekhar Amonkar v. State, (1995) 2 Crimes 460 (Bom)... 1899

Sheo Dularey v. State, 1997 Cr LJ 269 (Alld). 2042, 2043

Sheo Kumar v. State of Chhattisgar, 2009 CriLJ 3165 (Chha)...............................2219, 2368

Sheo Nath v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1318 (All) : 2003 All LJ 514 : 2003(46) All Cri C 301 : 2003(2) CCR 43 : 2003(1) A Cri R 258................ 2044

Sheo Prasad Singh v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 PLJR 348 (Pat). 2017

Sheo Prasad Tiwari v. State, (2004) 2 Crimes 88 (All). 2507

Sheo Shanker alias Chhotey v. State of U.P., 1995 UP Cr R 45 (All). 1710

Sher Gir v. State of Punjab, 1994 CriLJ 38 (P&H)... 1968

Sher Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 Crimes 162 (P & H). 2065

Sher Singh v. State, 1995 JCC 259 (Del).... 1614

Shew Kr. Rai v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 574 (Cal) : 2002 Cal Cri LR 986 : 2003 (1) Cal HN 333. 2523

Shingara Singh v. State of Haryana, 2004 Cr LJ 828 : AIR 2004 SC 124 : 2003(4) Crimes 446 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 21 : 2004(2) Recent Cr 940. 1500

Shiodas v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Crimes 531 : 1995 Cr LJ 2054 (Bom.) (DB). 1518

Shish Rai v. Jagdish Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 669 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1611 : 2004(4) Crimes 306 : 2004(10) JT 594 : 2005(10) SCC 598..... 1690

Shiv Bali v. State of UP, 2003 Cr LJ 4637 (SC) : 2003 All LJ 2367 : 2003(46) All Cri C 1155 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1856.......................... 1690

Shiv Dan Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 36 (Raj).......................................1906, 2665

Shiv Dani Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1338 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 168 : 2003(2) East Cri C 512. 1797

Shiv Kumar v. Ramesh Chand, 1994 (1) Recent Cr R 142 (P&H). 2714

Shiv Murit Upadhyaya v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1109 (All) : 2003(46) ACC 123 (All) : 2003 All LJ 172 : 2003(46) All Cri C 123 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2987. 1725

Shiv Ram v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 117 (Raj). 2806

Shiv Shankar v. State of U.P., 2002 Cr LJ 2673 (Allah.) : 2002 All Cri C 731 : 2002(1) All Cri R 693. 2412

Shiva Karam Payaswami Tewari v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 1692 : 2009 (11) SCC 262 : 2009 (1) JT 625 : 2009 (1) SCR 442 : 2009 (1) Scale 717 : 2009 (1) Supreme 461. .... 1770, 1772

Shivaji Dattu Patil v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 310 : 1994 Cr LJ 1189 (Bom). 2498

Shivaji Ganu Naik v. State of Maharashtra, 1999 Cri LH 471 (Bom). 1653

Shivaji Sahebrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1973 SC 2622 = 1973 Cri LJ 1783 = 1973 (2) SCC 793. .... 2350, 2371

Shivaji Tukaram Kurie v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 516 (Bom). 2357

Shivappa Bundappa Kolkar v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 4966 : AIR 2004 SC 5047 : 2004(4) Crimes 159 : 2004(7) Supreme 240 : 2004(8) Scale 382. 1584

Shivdev Singh v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 58 DLT 462 (Del) : 1995 Cr LJ 2142 (Del). 1751, 1823

Shivkant Choubey v. Smt Chhotibai, 1992 MPLJ 920. 2851

Shivkumar Maruti Umardand v. State of Maharashtra, 2009 CriLJ 2549 (Bom). 2990

Shivraj Bapuray Jadhav v. State of Karnataka, 2003 Cr LJ 3542 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1372 : 2003 (3) Crimes 161 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3578 : 2003(6) SCC 392 : 2003(5) Supreme 65 : 2003(3) JT 160. .... 1666, 1676

Shlodas Antaram Meshram v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 B Cr C 127 : (1995) 2 Mah LJ 36 (Bom). 1628

Shobha Bind v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 PLJR 363 (Pat). 2294

Shobha Ram v. State, (2004) 4 Crimes 165 (HP). 2811

Shokin v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cri LJ 4222 (Raj). 2080

Shoukat v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 364 (Raj) : 2002(2) Raj LW 1128. .... 2171, 2247, 2253, 2254

Shravan Dashrath Datrange v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (2) Crimes 47 (Bom) : 1998 Cri LJ 1196. .... 2535, 2536

Shridhar Yeshwant Bhosale v. State of Maharashtra, 2007 CriLJ 1380 (Bom). 2232

Shriram v. State of M.P., 2004 Cr LJ 610 : AIR 2004 SC 491 : 2004(9) SCC 292 : 2003(9) JT 293 : 2003(10) Scale 312 : 2003(8) Supreme 481 : 2004(1) Crimes 74 (SC). 1504

Shrirang Shankar Lokhande v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 479 (Bom). 1582, 1620

Shubh Narayan Pandey v. State of Bihar. 1997 (1) Crimes 225 (Pat). 1520

Shukram v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 1 CCR 515 (MP). 1542

Shyam Kumar Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 128 (All) (DB). 1639

Shyam Lal v. State of Uttranachal, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 201 (Uttra) : 2005(2) Cur Cri R 316 : 2005(1) UC 483. 2320

Shyam Lal v. State of Uttranchal, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 201 (Uttra). 2403

Shyam Lal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 173 (HP). 1569

Shyam Sunder and Raj Kumar v. State (Delhi Admn.), (1995) 58 DLT 505 : 2 (1995) 3 CCR 57 (Del) (DB). 1524

Shyam Sunder v. State of Chattisgarh, 2002 Cr LJ 4315 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 3292 : 2002(8) SCC 39 : 2002(4) Crimes 291 (SC) : 2002(6) Supreme 471. 1659

Shyam Sunder v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 222 (MP). 2211

Shyam v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 252 (All). 1624

Shyama Pradhan v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 2936 (Ori). 2048, 2089

Shyama Singh v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 Crimes 164 (Pat). 1837

Shyama Sunder Kabat v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1354 (Orissa). 2338

Shyamlal v. State of M.P. 2002 Cr LJ 344 (MP). 2367

Shyoji Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 4763 (Raj) : 2005(3) Raj LR 620 : 2005(4) WLC 50. 2344

Sibai Hemram v. State of Orrisa, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 233 (Orissa). 1740

Sibu Jhanghu v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 35 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 104 : 2003(2) JCR JHA 366 : 2003(1) JLJR 362. 2227

Siddapuram Siva Ready v. State of A.P., (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 71 (AP). 1486, 2048

Siddhartha Electronics (M/s.) v. M/s. Videocon International Ltd., 2003 Cr LJ 4038 (AP) :

2003(1) Andh IT (Cri) AP 409 : 2003(3) Crimes 33. 2718

Siddik Singh Pritam Singh v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 2919 (Bom). 1517, 1540, 2200

Sidharth v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 4499 : AIR 2005 SC 4352 : 2005(4) Crimes 135 (SC) : 2005(12) JT 310 : 2005(7) Scale 700. .. 1601

Simabhai Ramji Bhai Chauhan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4728 (Guj) : 2003(3) Crimes 109 : 2003(2) DMC 340 : 2003(2) GCD Guj 1109. 1635

Simrath Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 344. 1823

Sirajuddin v. State, 1995 UP Cr R 23 (All). . 1601

Sirdhamoy Nath v. State of West Bengal, 1999 (2) Cr LJ 4482 (Cal). 2398

Siri Kishan v. State of Haryana, 2009 (12) SCC 757 : 2009 (8) JT 305 : 2009 (6) SCR 1184 : 2009 (6) Scale 438............ 1622, 1724, 1785, 1884, 2020, 2030, 2068

Siriya alias Shri Lal v. State of M. P., AIR 2008 SC 2314 : 2008 (8) SCR 422 (SC) : 2008 (8) SCC 72 : 2008 (7) Scale 712 (SC) : 2008 (4) Supreme 287 (SC) : 2008 (4) SLT 662 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 422 : 2008 (7) Crimes 376 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 1617 (SC) : 2008 (3) RecentCR 144 (SC). 2324

Sirnam v. State of M.P., (1995) 1 OCR 282 (MP). 2079

Sita Ram Jha v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 72 (Pat). 1664

Sita Ram v. State of U.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2915 (All.) : 2002 (44) ACC 1118 : 2002 (2) A Cri R 1054 (All). 1686

Sita Ram v. State, (2004) 3 Crimes 463 (Raj) : 2004 Cr LJ 4320 (Raj) : 2005(1) Rer LJ 77 : 2004(3) Raj Cri C 1352 : 2005(1) Raj LR 228 : 2004(4) Raj LW 2588 : 2004(4) WLC 99. .... 2207, 2211, 2212

Sitaram Paswan v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 4135 (SC) : 2005(4) Crimes 22 : 2005(6) Supreme 358 : 2005(7) Scale 333 : AIR 2005 (SC) 3534. 2028

Sitaram Rameshwar Kewat v. State of M.P., 1995 MPLJ 1009 (MP). 2393

Sitaram v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cr LJ 1055 (Raj). 1752

Sivakumar v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 4229 (Mad). 1776

Sivakumar v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3805 (Mad) : 2004 Mad LJ Cri 813 : 2003 All MR (CRI) 1685 : 2004(1) Bom CR (Cri) 89. 1781

Sivanandi v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 4469 (Mad). 1776

Sivaraman v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4186 (Ker). 1505

Siyadri Demullu v. State of Andhra Pradesh. (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 636 (AP) (DB). 1509

Siyasaran v. State of Kerala, 1995 Cr LJ 2126 (SC)............ 2108

Sneh Lata v. M/s Swastika Agro Industrial Corporation, Jalandhar 2001 Cri LJ 4432 (P&H). 2571

Sobna Ram v. Inderpal Sharma., (1993) 1 Recent CR 682 (P &H). 2713

Sogat Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 306 (Raj) : 2003(5) All Ind Cas 357 : 2003(2) Cur Cri R 568............ 2761

Sohan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 R CC 359. 2720

Sohan Singh v. State (NCT of Delhi), 2005 (2) Crimes 540 (Del). 1658, 1668

Sohan Singh v. State of Bihar, 2010 (1) SCC 68 : 2009 (4) Crimes 116 (SC) : 2009 (13) JT 161 : 2009 (15) SCR 140 : 2009 (13) Scale 207 : 2009 (7) Supreme 4 : 2009 (8) SLT 78. .. 2386

Sohan Singh v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 486 : 1995 AIJ 1480 (All). 1487

Sohanpal v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 341 : 1995 (32) ACC 43 : 1995 ALJ 838 (Alld). 1603

Sohanti Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 540. 2751

Sohel Mehaboob Shaikh v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2702 : 2009 (12) SCC 588 : 2009 (5) Scale 704 : 2009 (8) JT 297 : 2009 (6) SCR 483 : 2009 (5) SLT 248 : 2009 (3) JCC 2310............ 1597

Sohrab v. The State of M.P., AIR 1972 SC 2020. .... 1755 , 1760

Sokokhibam Valma Singh v. State of Manipur, (1995) 2 CCR 437 (Gau) (DB)............ 1486

Som Dutt v. State of H.P. 2002 Cri LJ 1059 (H.P.) : 2002(3) All Cri LR 201. 2029

Som Nath Tyagi v. State of U.P., 1993 JIC 817 (All)............ 2720

Somra Oraon v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3093 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 850 : 2003(2) JCR Jha 648............ 2343

Sona Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 WLC 333 (Raj). 2464

Sonal v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 838 (All). .. 2503

Sonbhadra Coke Products (M/s.) v. State of U.P., 1994 Cr LJ 657 : 1994 LJ 302 (All)....... 2665, 2673

Sonia Jani v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 226 (Ori) : 2003(2) Crimes 449 : 2003 (25) OCR 433 : 2003(1) Orissa LR 569.......... 2353

Sonti Rama Krishna v. Sonti Shanti Sree, AIR 2009 SC 923 : 2009(1) SCC 554 : 2008(15) Scale 108 : 2008(12) JT 449. 1883

Sopan Punjaram Mule v. State of Maharashtra 2002 Cri LJ 376 (Bom) : 2002 All MR (Cri) 331. .... 1570, 1779

Sou Bharti v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2583 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (Cri) 1285.......... 2897

South Hilton Coal Co. v. N.E. News Association, (1894) 1 QB 133.......... 3005

Sree Vijaya Kumar v. State of Inspector of Police, Kanya Kumari, 2005 Cr LJ 3085 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1896 : 2005 (10) SCC 737 : 2005(3) Crimes 55 (SC) : 2005(4) Supreme 662 : 2005(5) JT 481.......... 1583, 1634

Sreekumar v. State of Kerala, 2009 CriLJ 3862 (Ker).......... 2069, 2092

Sreenivasan v. State of Kerala, 2006 Cr LJ 1485 (Kerala). 2076

Sribatcha Khamari v. State of Orissa, (1994) 2 Crimes 476 (Ori).......... 2209

Sridhar G. Jengode v. Stayavathi, 2000 Cri LJ 2862 : 2000(4) Kant LJ 156 : 2000(2) DMC 541 (Kant).......... 2923

Sripathi v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2010 SC 249 : 2009 CrLJ 4646 : 2009 (11) SCC 660 : 2009 (7) JT 146 : 2009 (5) SCR 309 : 2009 (5) Scale 5 : 2009 (2) Supreme 319.......... 1756

Staet of M.P. v. Rakesh, 2005 Cr LJ 4527 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 4319 : 2005(8) SCC 13 (4) : 2005(12) JT 422 : 2005 SCC (Cr) 1959(3) : 2005(3) JCC 1732. 2327

Standard Chartered Bank v. Vinay Kumar Sood & Ors., 2010 (2) CriLJ 1277 (Del).......... 3029

State (Delhi Administration) v. Prem Chand. (1994) 53 DLT 778. 2548

State (Delhi Administration) v. T. Narayanan, (1994) 53 DLT 738 (Del). 2632

State Bank of Hyderabad v. Smt. T. Meenakshi, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 245 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (CRI) 206 : 2004 (3) All Cri LR 174.......... 2678

State by Public Prosecutor, Madras v. Murugan, 2002 Cri LJ 670(Mad.) : 2001(2) Mad LW (Cri) 815.......... 1927

State Insurance Corporation v. M/s. Hukumchand Mills Ltd., (1995) 1 Crimes 812 (MP).......... 2596

State of A.P. v. Bodem Sundara Rao, (1995) 6 SCC 230 : AIR 1996 (SC) 530 : 1995(7) JT 90 : 1995(5) Scale 554 : 1995 AIR SCW 4435. .... 2325, 2334

State of A.P. v. Dolamala Raju, 2000 Cr LJ 4014 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 2854 : 2000(7) SCC 75 : 2000(9) JT 104 : 2000(5) Scale 588 : 2000(5). 2325

State of A.P. v. Gangula Satya Murthy, 1997 Cr LJ 774 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 1588 : 1997(1) SCC 272 : 1996(10) JT 550 : 1996(8) Scale 391 : 1996(8) Supreme 328 : 1996(4) Crimes 203 (SC).......... 2294, 2300

State of A.P. v. Gangula Satya Murthy, 1997 Cr LJ 774 (SC).......... 2300

State of A.P. v. Madhav Raju Venkateswamy, (1995) 2 East Cr C 699 (SC). 2040

State of A.P. v. Narasimha, (1994) 31 All Cr C 609; (1994) 2 Crimes 263; (1994) 4 SCC 453 (SC).......... 2331

State of A.P. v. P. Narasimha, (1994) 2 Crimes 263 (SC) ; (1994) 4 SCC 453 : 1994(3) JT 576 : 1994(2) Scale 760 : 1994(2) CCR 506 (SC). 2256, 2321

State of A.P. v. Raj Gopal Aswa, AIR 2004 (S) 1933. 1851

State of Andhra Pradesh v. V.V. Panduranga Rao, 2009 CrLJ 2972 : 2009 (2) Crimes 425 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 570 : 2009 (6) Scale 684 : 2009 (7) SCR 421.......... 1983

State of AP v. Patnam Anandam, 2005 Cr LJ 894 : AIR 2005 SC 764 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1225 : 2005(1) Crimes 126 (SC) : 2005(1) Supreme 97, 211 : 2005(9) SCC 237 : 2005(2) SCC 363.......... 1566, 1571

State of AP v. Raj Gopal Alwa, AIR 2004 (SC) 1933 : 2004 Cr LJ 179 (SC) : 2004(4) SCC 470 : 2004(2) Crimes 9 (SC) : 2004(2) Supreme 478. 1838

State of Assam v. Bhuban Tanti, (1995) 1 GLR 81 (Gau).......... 1537

State of Assam v. Holiram Bardoloi, 2005 Cr LJ 1020 (Gau) : 2004(2) Gau LT 113 Gau... 1653

State of Assam v. Md. Azad Ali & Ors., 2010 (2) CriLJ 1584 (Gau). 2053, 2066, 2788

State of Bihar v. Arjun Muni, 2005 (3) East Cr C 39 (Pat). 1566

State of Bihar v. Manoj Sahu alias Manoj Prasad Sahu, 2002 Cri LJ 2278 (Jhar.) : AIR 2002 Jhar HCR 437 : 2002(2) JCR Jha 8 : 2002(1) JLJR 759. 1689

State of Bihar v. Triloki Singh, 1998 Cri LJ 2447 (Pat). 1648

State of Chhattisgarh v. Lekhram reported in 2006 (2) Crimes 91 = AIR 2006 SC 1746 = 2006 Cri LJ 2139. 2292

State of Chhattisgarh v. Shivprasad Katvariram Rajwade, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2530 (Chha). 1923, 1931

State of Gujarat v Shyamsunder Radhakisan Mungata, (1995) 2 GLH 677 (Guj). 2578

State of Gujarat v. Anirudh Singh, 1997 (6) JT SC 236 : 1997 Cri LJ 3397. 2527

State of Gujarat v. Babuhai K. Salat 2002 Cri LJ 372, 375 (Guj). 2761, 2764

State of Gujarat v. Bai Fatima, AIR 1975 SC 1478 : 1975 Cri LJ 1079. 2030

State of Gujarat v. Dindol (Adivasi) Ratna Surpal, 1994 Cr LR 148 (Guj). 1517

State of Gujarat v. Fatehsinh Ramlal Chauhan, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2473 (Guj). 1643, 1678

State of Gujarat v. Hargovandas Devrajbhai Patel, 1992 Cr LJ 3598 (Guj) (DB). 1493

State of Gujarat v. Jaysukh, (1995) 2 GLH 524 (Guj). 2333

State of Gujarat v. Jerubhai Fuljibhai, 1994 (1) Crimes 721 (Guj). 2610

State of Gujarat v. Keshavlal Maganbhai Jogani, 1993 Cri LJ 248 (Guj). 2122

State of Gujarat v. M.J. Makwana, (1992) 1 Guj LR 764. 2843

State of Gujarat v. Mahendra Mulji Kerai Patel, 1999 Cri LJ 768 (Guj). 1926

State of Gujarat v. Mahesh Kumar Ambalal Rana, (1994) 1 Crimes 535 (Guj) : 1994 Cr LR (Guj) 5. .... 2631, 2633

State of Gujarat v. Mahmud, 1996 Cr LJ 3400 (Guj.). 2

State of Gujarat v. Motibhai Jethabhai, 1992 Cr LR 261 (Guj). 2843

State of Gujarat v. Patel Haribhai Bhaychandas, 1993 Cri LJ 143 (Guj). 2846

State of Gujarat v. Pradyuman Ramanlal Mehta, 1999 Cri LJ 736 (Gujarat). 1889

State of H.P. v. Amin Chand, 1996 Cri LJ 4223 (HP). 1892

State of H.P. v. Amrish Kumar, 2009 CriLJ 2126 (HP). 2293, 2385

State of H.P. v. Jagroop Singh. 1993 Cri LJ 2766 (HP). 1843

State of H.P. v. Lekhraj 2000 Cr LJ 44 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 3916 : 2000(1) SCC 247 : 1999(9) JT 43 : 1999(7) Scale 86. .... 2309, 2385

State of H.P. v. Lilla Datt, (1995) 1 Crimes 481 (HP). 1820

State of H.P. v. Manga Ram, 2000 Cr LJ 4027 : AIR 2000 (SC) 2798 : 2000(7) SCC 224.. 2392

State of H.P. v. Narender Kumer @ Hira, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3545 (HP). 2258, 2381

State of H.P. v. Nikku Ram, 1995 AIR SCW 3721 (SC) : 1996(1) Dme 131 : AIR 1996 (SC) 67 : 1995(5) Scale 94. 1873

State of H.P. v. Nikku Ram, AIR 1996 SC 67 : 1995(5) Scale 94 : 1995(6) SCC 219 : 1995 Cr LJ 4184. .... 1838, 1891, 1892

State of H.P. v. Parma Nand. (1995) 1 Crimes 479 (HP). 2379

State of H.P. v. Raj Kumar, (1994) 1 SLJ 193 : 1994 Cr LJ 894 : (1994) 3 CC Cases 76 (HP). 2464

State of H.P. v. Ram Das, 1999 Cri LJ 2802 (HP). 2165

State of H.P. v. Suresh Kumar @ Chhotu, AIR 2009 SC 1109. .... 2213, 2392

State of H.P. v. Vijay Kumar, (1994) ! Sim LC 9. 2384

State of Haryana v. Ashok Kumar 2001 CriLJ 3298 : 2001 (2) East Cri C 67 : 2001 (2) SLT 469 : 2001 (42) ACC 89 : 2001 (2) A Cr R 1189 : 2001 (3) Crimes 179 : 2001 (2) BLJR 1588. 1564

State of Haryana v. Bhajan Lal, 1992 AIR SCW 237 : AIR 1992 (SC) 604 : 1990 Supp(3) SCR 259 : 1990(4) JT 650 : 1992 Cr LJ 527.. 2674

State of Haryana v. Brij Singh, (1994) 2 Recent CR 477 (P&H). 2605

State of Haryana v. Gulshan Kumar, (1994) 2 CC Cases 171 (P&H). 2029

State of Haryana v. Jang Bahadur, 1999 Cr LJ 5028 (SC) : 1998 SCC (Cr) 693. 2358

State of Haryana v. Krishan. 2008 (15) SCC 208 : 2008 (12) JT 627 : 2008 (15) Scale 129. 1698

State of Haryana v. Manga Ram, 2003 Cr LJ 830 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 558 : 2003(1) SCC 637 : 2002(10) JT 240 : 2003(1) Crimes 250 (SC) : 2003(1) Supreme 39. 2088

State of Haryana v. Manoj Kumar, (1994) 1 Crimes 102 (SC) : (1994) 1 East Cr C 88 :

1994 JIC 148 : 1994 (1) SCC 495 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 93 : AIR 1994 SC 147. .... 1509, 1582

State of Haryana v. Mewa Singh, 1997 (1) Crimes 142 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 1407 : 1997 (2) JT 226 : 1997(1) Scale 692 : 1997 (1) CCR 181 (SC) : 1997 Cr. LJ 1906 : 1997 (2) Supreme 145.. 1610

State of Haryana v. Nawabuddin. Khan, 1997 Cri LJ 1629 (P&H). 2605

State of Haryana v. Nirmal Singh 1999 Cri LJ 662 (P&H). 1652

State of Haryana v. Parmanand, (1994) 2 CC Cases 265 (P&H). 2607

State of Haryana v. Prem Singh, (1994) 2 Recent CR 725 : (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 69 (DB) (P&H). 2615

State of Haryana v. Raju, 2000 Cri LJ 2726 (P&H). 1655

State of Haryana v. Ramesh Kumar, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1812 (P & H). 2205, 2216, 2245

State of Haryana v. Shibu alias Sib Narayan, 2008 (11) SCC 377: 2008 AIR SCW 5400. 2071

State of Haryana v. Shiv Singh 1993 Cri LJ 547 (P&H). 2855

State of Haryana v. Shivnath Rai, 1997 Cri LJ 404 (P&H). 2959

State of Haryana v. Suresh Kumar, 1993 Cri LJ 1400 (P & H). 1898

State of Himachal Pradesh v. Madan Mohan, (1994) 3 Crimes 11, 111 (HP) : 1995 Cr R 65 (HP)..................................1905, 2315, 2340

State of Himachal Pradesh v. Mast Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 4973 (D) : AIR 2004 SC 5056 : 2004(4) Crimes 27 : 2004(3) JCC 1447 : 2004(23) CIC 326 (SC) : 2004(8) SCC 660 : 2004(6) Supreme 534.............................. 1503, 1583

State of Himachal Pradesh v. Nazar Singh, 2009 CrLJ 3984 : 2009 (12) SCC 89 : 2009 (7) SCR 1117 : 2009 (13) JT 415 : 2009 (7) Scale 666. 2021

State of Himachal Pradesh v. Prem Chand, 2003 Cr LJ 872 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 708 : 2003(10) SCC 518 : 2003(1) Crimes 426 (SC) : 2003(1) Supreme 393. 1528

State of Himachal Pradesh vs Prem Singh, 2009 AIR SCW 105 : 2009 CriLJ 786 (SC) : AIR 2009 SC 1010 : 2008 (15) SCR 1058 (SC) : 2009 (1) SCC 420 : 2008 (5) Scale 132 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 786 (SC) : 2008 (1) SCC 420 : 2009 (15) Scale 132..........2170, 2300, 2387, 2420, 3054

State of HP v. Asha Ram, 2006 Cr LJ 139 (SC). 2327, 2400

State of HP v. Madan Lal, 2005 Cr LJ 803 (HP) : 2004(2) Cur LJ (CCR) 22 : 2003(2) Shim LC 406. ....1801, 1822

State of HP v. Mast Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 4973 : AIR 2004 SC 5056 : 2004(8) SCC 660 : 2004(6) Supreme 534 : 2004(4) Crimes 27 (SC).. 1583

State of HP v. Sukhvinder Singh, AIR 2004 SC 2834 : 2004 Cr LJ 1434 : 2001(1) Supreme 945 : 2004(2) Crimes 22 (SC) : 2004(2) Scale 210 : 2004(1) JCC 398. 1662

State of Jharkhand v. Anil Sharma, 2003 Cr LJ 1739 : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 436 : 2003(1) East Cri C 131 : 2003(1) JLJR 155........ 1688

State of Jharkhand v. Saiyed Rizwan, 2003 Cr LJ 2098 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 513 : 2003(1) Cur Cri R 399 : 2003(2) JCR JHA 235. 1687

State of Karnataka v, Sharanappa Basnagouda Aregoudar, 2002 Cri L.J 2020 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 1529 : 2002(2) Crimes 30 : 2002(3) Scale 83. 1802

State of Karnataka v. Anni Poojary, 2005 Cr LJ 2662 (Kant) : 2005 (2) DMC 152 : AIR 2005 Kant HCR 1193 : 2005 (2) Hindu LR 293. 1900

State of Karnataka v. Balappa 1999 Cri LJ 3064 (Kant).. 2962

State of Karnataka v. Balu, 2000 Cri LJ 2165 (Karn). 1859

State of Karnataka v. Basappa 2000 Cri LJ 2327 (Kar) : ILR 2000 Kant 2361 : 2000(6) Kant LJ 187 (Karn) (DBI)....................... 2629

State of Karnataka v. Bhadrayya Bhaskar Rane, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 111 : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 883. 1948

State of Karnataka v. Bharkoo Kushali Katharkar, 2004 Cr LJ 4229 : AIR 2004 SC 4333 : 2004(7) SCC 487 : 2004(6) Supreme 472 : 2004(3) Crimes 390 (SC) : 2004(7) JT 208. 1749

State of Karnataka v. Diwakara Bhat, 1997 Cri LJ 226 (SC) : 1996(1) SCC 148 : 1996(7) Scale 97 : 1996(8) JT 457 : 1996(7) Supreme 348. 2065

State of Karnataka v. Dr. H.A. Ramaswamy, 1996 Cri LJ 2628 (Kant)...............1858, 2951

State of Karnataka v. G. Radhakrishna, (1994) 3 Crimes 307 (Kant) (DB). 2117

State of Karnataka v. Ganapathy, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1165 (SC). 2046

State of Karnataka v. H.B. Davidas, (1994) 2 Kar LJ 46 (DB) : (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 291 (Karn). 2356, 2380

State of Karnataka v. Hanjanna, 2000 Cr LJ 3471 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 2231 : 2000(6) SCC 188 : 2000(6) JT 529. 2386

State of Karnataka v. Hanumanthappa Karlayappa Talawar, (1995) 2 Ker LJ 158 (DB). 1497

State of Karnataka v. Hemareddy, AIR 1981 SC 1417; (1981 Cri LJ 1019) 2761

State of Karnataka v. Ireppa Dhareppa Hosani, 2001 Cri LJ 3566 (Kant). 2159

State of Karnataka v. K. Gopal Krishna, 2005 Cr LJ 1436 (SC) : AIR 2005 SC 1014 : 2005 AIR SCW 949 : 2005(1) Crimes 271 3062

State of Karnataka v. Khaled, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 10 (Kat) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 36. 2168, 2173

State of Karnataka v. Krishnappa 2000 Cr LJ 1793 : AIR 2000 (SC) 1470 : 2000(4) SCC 75 : 2000(3) JT 516 : 2000(2) Scale 610 : 2000(2) Supreme 611 : (1994) 1 Crimes 884 (Kant) : 2000 AIR SCW 1040. ..... 1955, 2322, 2323, 2325

State of Karnataka v. Kumayian, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3376 (A) (Karn). 1827, 1828, 1832, 2111, 2112, 2120

State of Karnataka v. M.V. Manjunathagowda, 2003 Cr LJ 900 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 809 : 2003(2) SCC 188 : 2003(1) Supreme 133 : 2003(1) Crimes 289 (SC) 1864

State of Karnataka v. Mahabaleshwar Gourav Naik, AIR 1992 SC 2043 : 1992) Cr LJ 3786. 2290

State of Karnataka v. Manakya, 2004 Cr LJ 1966 : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 1282 : 2004(2) KCCR Kar 873 : 2004(3) Kant LJ 161. ... 2043

State of Karnataka v. Masitta P.P. Soopi, 2004 Cr LJ 44 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 85 : 2003(4) Crimes 191 : 2003(8) SCC 202 : 2004 SC Cri R 1056 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1977 : 2003(6) Supreme 968 .... 2377, 2394

State of Karnataka v. Mazhar Alam, 2000 Cri LJ 2534 (Kant). 2625

State of Karnataka v. Mohammed Sadiq, 2006 CriLJ 3391 (Kar) 2108, 2160

State of Karnataka v. Mopilla P.P. Soopi, 2004 Cr LJ 44 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 85 : 2003(4) Crimes 191 : 2003(8) SCC 202 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1977 : 2003(6) Supreme 968. 2354

State of Karnataka v. Muralidhar, AIR 2009 SC 1621 : 2009 (4) SCC 463 : 2009 (4) SCR 400 : 2009 (4) JT 108 : 2009 (4) Scale 35. ..... 1796, 1829, 1854

State of Karnataka v. Muralidhar, AIR 2009 SC 1621. 1804

State of Karnataka v. N.R. Anthony Raj, 2004 Cr LJ 2252 (Kant) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 1072 : 2004(3) All Cri LR 616 : 2004(3) Cur Cri R 558. 2633

State of Karnataka v. Papanaika, 2004 Cr LJ 4667 : AIR 2004 SC 4967 : AIR 2004 SCW 5689 : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 3269 : AIR 2004 JHAR HCR 3112,. 1664

State of Karnataka v. Puttaraya, 2004 Cr LJ 579 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 433 : 2003 AIR SCW 6429 : 2003(4) Crimes 548 : 2003(10) Scale 325 : 2003(8) Supreme 364 2330

State of Karnataka v. R. Varadaraju, (1994) 1 Crimes 736 : (1994) 2 Ker LJ 40 (Kar). .. 1770

State of Karnataka v. Ram Reddy, 1994 SCC (Cri) 42 : (1994) 1 Crimes 571 : (1994) 1 East Cr C 384 (SC) : 1993 (4) JT 350 : 1993 Cr. LJ 3553 : 1993 (3) Scale 234 : 1993 (3) CCR 283 (SC) : 1993 Cr. LR (SC) 511. 1479

State of Karnataka v. Revakka alias Mudakappa, (1995) 3 Ker LJ 451 (Karn.) (DB). 1549

State of Karnataka v. Revaniah, 2005 Cr LJ 2676 (Kant) : AIR 2005 Kant HCR 1255 : 2005(4) Crimes 268 : 2005(4) Cur Cri R 466 : 2005(3) Rec Cri R 862 : 2005(4) Kant LJ 404. 2352

State of Karnataka v. Salim Khan, 2004 Cr LJ 335 : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 32 : 2003(4) All Cri LR 265 : ILR (Kant) 2003(4) KAR 3337. .... 1748, 1749

State of Karnataka v. Shabuddin, (1995) 1 Kar LJ 168 (DB) 1942

State of Karnataka v. Shankarappa, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 43 (Kant) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 366 : 2004(3) All Cri LR 289 : 2003(10) All ind Cur 470 : 2003(4) KAR 2820 : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 30. 2394

State of Karnataka v. Shanker, 2000 Cri LJ 1917(Kant) 1861

State of Karnataka v. Sharanappa Basanagouda Aregoudar, AIR 2002 SC 1529 : 2002(3) JT 243 : 2002(3) Scale 83 : 2002(2) Supreme 500. 1800

State of Karnataka v. Shariff, 2003 Cr LJ 1254 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1074 : 2003(2) Supreme

16 : 2003(2) Crimes 144 (SC) : 2003(2) SCC 473. 1635

State of Karnataka v. Sheikh Khader, 2000 Cri LJ 430 (Kant). 1651

State of Karnataka v. Siddegowda, 1995 SCC (Cr) 931 (SC). 2036

State of Karnataka v. Surendra alias Sony alias Anantha Padmanabha Bhat, (1953) 3 Kar LJ 622 (Karn) (DB). 1614

State of Karnataka v. Sureshbabu Puk Raj Porral, 1994 Mad LJ (Cr) 185 (SC) : (1994) 1 SCC 468 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 435 : 1994 Cr LJ 1216 : AIR 1994 SC 966. .... 2312, 2380

State of Karnataka v. Syed Fareed, 2002 Cri LJ 2857 (Kant.). 2972

State of Karnataka v. Vaddi Yerra, 2004 Cr LJ 329 (Kant) : 2004 AIR Kant HCR 23 : 2004(1) All Cri LR 892 : 2003(12) All Ind Cas 942 : ILR (KANT) : 2003(12) All Ind Cas 942 : ILR (KANT) 2003 (4) KAR 3958.......... 2486

State of Karnatakata v. Revannaiah, 2005 Cr LJ 2676 (Kart.) : AIR 2005 Kant HCR 1255 : 2005(3) All Cri LR 739 : 2005(4) Crimes 268. 2357

State of Kerala v. Anilachandran, AIR 2009 SC 1866 : 2009 (2) Crimes 225 (SC) : 2009 (5) JT 613 : 2009 (6) SCR 152 : 2009 (5) Scale 675. .... 2035, 2050

State of Kerala v. Balakrishan, 1999 Cri LJ 5038 (SC). 1714

State of Kerala v. Jose alias Saju. (1994) 2 KLJ 787 (Ker). 1844

State of Kerala v. Rajayyan, (1994) 2 KLT 700 : 1995 (1) ALT (Cr) 46 (Ker) : (1995) 1 Crimes 596 (Ker) : (1995) 2 Ker LJ 537 : 1996 Cri LJ 145. .... 1844, 1847, 1859, 2213

State of Kerala, 2007 CriLJ 2908 (Ker)....... 2528

State of M.P. v. (Dr.) Bharti Patidar, 1995 Cr LR 243 (MP).......... 1815

State of M.P. v. Amar Singh, 1994 Cri LJ 619 (SC) ; AIR 1994 SC 650. 2226

State of M.P. v. Bala, 2005 Cr LJ 4371 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3567 : 2005(4) Crimes 114 : 2005(8) SCC 1 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1947 : 2005(6) Supreme 646. 2327

State of M.P. v. Balkishan, 1997 (1) Crimes 29 (MP). 1641

State of M.P. v. Balu, 2005 Cr LJ 335 : AIR 2005 (SC) 222 : 2005(1) Crimes 99 : 2004(10) JT 461 : 2005(1) SCC 108 : 2004(8) Supreme 909 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 270. 2327

State of M.P. v. Basodi.. AIR 2009 SC 3081 : 2009 (6) SCR 1166 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 318 : 2009 (6) JT 92 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 353 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 501 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 4284 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 273 (SC). 2335, 2335

State of M.P. v. Bhagwandas, (1995) 1 CCR 286 (MP). 1820

State of M.P. v. Budh Ram Kunku Ram Satnami, 1995 MPLJ 906 (MP). 1462

State of M.P. v. Dayal Sahu, 2005 Cr LJ 4375 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3570 : 2005(4) Crimes 92 : 2005(8) SCC 122 : 2005(6) Supreme 583 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1988 : 2006 SC Cri R 131. 2355

State of M.P. v. Deshraj, 2004 Cr LJ 1415 : AIR 2004 SC 2764 : 2004(1) Crimes 375 (SC) : 2004(1) Supreme 745 : 2004(2) JT 146 : 2004(1) JCC 367. 1738

State of M.P. v. Dharkole, 2005 Cr LJ 108 : AIR 2005 SC 44 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 225. 3062

State of M.P. v. Dr. P.K. Jain, 2005 Cr LJ 877 (MP). 2280

State of M.P. v. Ghanshyam Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 4339 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3191 : 2003(8) SCC 13 : 2003(6) Supreme 649 : 2003(41) Crimes 6 (SC). 1746

State of M.P. v. Govindsingh, 2005 Cr LJ 3421 (MP) : 2005(3) MPLJ 462 (MP). 1970

State of M.P. v. Habib Khan, 2007 CriLJ 2505 (MP). 2032, 2051

State of M.P. v. Hakam Singh, 1995 Cr LR 103 (MP). 1906

State of M.P. v. Hasir Khan, 1994 Cr LR (MP) 277 (N). 2856

State of M.P. v. Imrat & Anr., AIR 2008 SC 2967 : 2008 (10) SCR 847 (SC) : 2008 (11) SCC 523 : 2008 (10) Scale 143 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3869 (SC). 1931, 1938

State of M.P. v. Kashiram, AIR 2009 SC 1642 : 2009 (4) SCC 26 : 2009 CrLJ 1530 : 2009 (9) JT 140 : 2009 (1) SCR 806 : 2009 (2) Scale 118 : 2009 (1) SLT 765 : 2009 (2) JCC 872. 2092

State of M.P. v. Keval Chandra, (1995) 4 CCR 135 (MP). 1904

State of M.P. v. Makhmal Khan, 2005 Cr LJ 4363 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3667 : 2006(1) East Cri C 24 : 2005(8) SCC 8 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1954 : 2005(7) Supreme 1. 2327

State of M.P. v. Manmohan Choubey, 1994 Cr LR 71 (N) (MP) : 1995 Cr R 76 (MP). 1517,1860

State of M.P. v. Manoj, 1997 (1) Crimes 308 (MP). 2226

State of M.P. v. Mukund, 1997 Cri LJ 534 (MP). 1651

State of M.P. v. Munna Chaube, 2005 Cr LJ 913 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 682 : 2005(1) Crimes 254 : 2005(2) JT 122 : 2005(2) SCC 710 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 559 : 2005(1) Supreme 559. 2327

State of M.P. v. Narayan, 1994 Cr LR 170 (N) (MP). 1548

State of M.P. v. Nikku Ram, AIR 1996 SC 67. 2093

State of M.P. v. Puthu, 2001 Cri LJ 3217 (M.P.). 1644

State of M.P. v. Raju, (1994) 1 CCR 432 (MP). 2397

State of M.P. v. Reshiraj, 2004 Cr LJ 1445 (SC). 1736

State of M.P. v. Sadhna @ Mona Naidu, 1991 Cr LR 457 (MP). 2709

State of M.P. v. Saleem, 2005 Cr LJ 3435 (SC) : 2005(5) SCC 554 : 2005(5) Scale 462 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1329 : 2005(4) Supreme 733 : AIR 2005 SC 3996 : 2005 (5) SCC 5541 (SC). 1922, 1958, 2107

State of M.P. v. Samaylal, 1994 Cr LR (MP) 123. .... 2528, 2641

State of M.P. v. Sangram, 2005 Cr LJ 4642 (SC) : AIR 2006 (SC) 48 : 2005(8) Scale 503 : 2005(7) Supreme 315. 1958

State of M.P. v. Shivujan Singh, (1995) 1 CCR 262 (MP) (DB). 1901

State of M.P. v. Shriram, 1995 Cr LR (MP) 25. 1645

State of M.P. v. Sunder Singh, 1994 Cr LR (MP). 1634

State of M.P. vs Ramlakhan Singh etc., 2010 Cri LJ 1574 (MP). 1813

State of Madhya Pradesh v. (Dr.) (Smt.) C.B. Subba Rao, (1995) 2 CCR 257 (MP). 1990

State of Madhya Pradesh v. Ashok Kumar, 1995 MPLJ 32 (MP). 1548

State of Madhya Pradesh v., Babulal Ramratan, AIR 1958 Madh Pra 55: 1958 Cri LJ 190. 2504

State of Madhya Pradesh v. Basodi, AIR 2009 SC 3081 : 2009 CrLJ 4284 : 2009 (2) Crimes 273 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 318 : 2009 (6) JT 92 : 2009 (6) SCR 1166 : 2009 (6) Scale 353 : 2009 (3) Supreme 501 .... 2209, 2301, 2421, 2632

State of Madhya Pradesh v. Gyarsu, (1995) 2 Crimes 343 (MP). 1549

State of Madhya Pradesh v. Kamla Shanker, 1999 Cri LJ 2709 (M.P.). 1754

State of Madhya Pradesh v. Kashiram, AIR 2009 SC 1642 : 2009 (4) SCC 26 : 2009 CrLJ 1530 : 2009 (9) JT 140 : 2009 (1) SCR 806 : 2009 (2) Scale 118 : 2009 (1) SLT 765 : 2009 (2) JCC 872. 1952

State of Madhya Pradesh v. Sheikh Shahid, AIR 2009 SC 2951 : 2009 (12) SCC 715 : 2009 (8) JT 277 : 2009 (5) SCR 1038 : 2009 (5) Scale 679 : 2009 (3) SLT 744. .... 2209, 2301, 2384, 2421, 2422, 2423, 2632

State of Madhya Pradesh v. Shyamsunder Trivedi, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 656 (SC) : 1995(4) SCC 262 : 1995(4) JT 445 : 1995(3) Scale 343. 1703

State of Madhya Pradesh v. Sughar Singh, AIR 2009 SC 586 : 2008 (15) SCC 442 : 2008 (12) JT 152 : 2008 (15) SCR 725 : 2008 (14) Scale 214 : 2008 (9) SLT 639. 1588

State of Maharashtra v. Ashok Yeshwant Kasbe, (1995) 2 Bom Cr C 284 (Bom). 2458

State of Maharashtra v. Bharat Fakira Dhiwar 2002 Cr LJ 215, 218 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 16 : 2002(1) Crimes 164 (SC) : 2001(3) Crimes 234 (SC) : 2001(7) Scale 285 : 2001(5) Supreme 67. .... 1649, 2361

State of Maharashtra v. Bhuvanendra Mallapa Akiwate, 1997 Cri LJ 177 (Bom). 2605

State of Maharashtra v. Chandraprakash Kewalchand Jain, (1990) 1 SCC 550 : AIR 1990 SC 658 : 1990 Cr LJ 889. .... 2309, 2385

State of Maharashtra v. Dhananjay Laxmanrao Bhagat, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1980 (Bom) (Nagpur). 1793, 1803, 1809, 1810

State of Maharashtra v. Dinkar Balkrishna Palande, 2005 Cr LJ 1280 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 2980 : 2005(2) Crimes 1455. 2028

State of Maharashtra v. Dr. Rajendra Ramkishan Jaiswal, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3603 (Bombay) (Aurangabad). 1993

State of Maharashtra v. Gajanan D. Jansbhulkar, 2002 Cri LJ 349 (Bom). 2753

State of Maharashtra v. Hanshchandra, 1997 Cri LJ 612 (Bom). 1955

State of Maharashtra v. Harish Chandra Tukaram Awatade, 1997 Cri LJ 612 (Bom). 1955

State of Maharashtra v. Hindurao Daulu Charapale, 1997 (1) Crimes 407 (Bom). . 2085

State of Maharashtra v. Kashirao, 2003 Cr LJ 4464 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3901 : 2003(10) SCC 434 : 2003(7) JT 437 : 2003(6) Supreme 294 : 2003(4) Crimes 74 (SC) : 2003 AIR SCW 4492 : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 798. .... 2087, 3068

State of Maharashtra v. Mahipal Singh, 1996 Cri LJ 2485 (Bom)............................ 2499, 2534

State of Maharashtra v. Mangilal, 2009 (3) JT 414 : 2009 (3) Scale 580 : 2009 (4) SCR 49 : 2009 (3) SLT 201.................................. 1473

State of Maharashtra v. Manohar, 1994 Cri LJ 2536 (Bom). 2175

State of Maharashtra v. Maruti Shripati Dubal, 1996 Cr LJ 4457 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 411 : 1996(6) SCC 42 : 1996(6) Scale 343 : 1996(6) Supreme 643... 1980

State of Maharashtra v. Om Prakash, 2004 Cr LJ 982 (Bom) : 2004 All MR Bom (Cri) 750. 2067

State of Maharashtra v. Prabhu Barku Gade, 1995 Cr LJ 1432 : (1995) 2 Bom CR 188 : (1995) 2 Crimes 783 (Bom)......... 1469, 1492, 1493

State of Maharashtra v. Prakash Sakha Vasave, AIR 2009 SC 1636 : 2009 (11) SCC 193 : 2009 (1) JT 621 : 2009 (1) Scale 713 : 2009 (1) SCR 450 : 2009 (1) Supreme 531. 1552

State of Maharashtra v. Priya Sharan Maharaj, 1997 (1) Crimes 275 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 2041 : 1997(4) SCC 393 : 1997(4) JT 84 : 1997(2) Scale 687....................... 2316, 2358

State of Maharashtra v. Raju Dadaba Dorge, 2001 Cri LJ 3638 (Bom) : 2001 (1) CCR 115 (126) : 2001 (5) Bom CR 98 : 2001 (1) B Cri C 93 (Bom) (DB).. 1642

State of Maharashtra v. Ramchandra Kishan Bhala, 2004 Cr LJ 2823 (Bom) : 2004(22) All Ind Cas 767 : 2005(1) Cur Cri R 117 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 812. 2846

State of Maharashtra v. Sahebrao, 2005 Cr LJ 2788 (Bom) : 2005 All LJ 1607 : 2005(51) All Cric 899 : 2005(2) All Ci R 1161 : 2005(29) All inad Cas 547 : 2005(3) Rec Cri R 283.1683

State of Maharashtra v. Salman Salim Khan, 2004 Cr LJ 920 : AIR 2004 (SC) 1189 : 2004(1) Crimes 172 : 2003(8) Supreme 891 : 2004(1) SCC 525.................................. 1812

State of Maharashtra v. Sanjay D. Rajhans, 2005 Cr LJ 120 : AIR 2005 SC 97 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 231 : 2004(4) Crimes 338 (SC) : 2004(10) JT 253 : 2004(8) Supreme 138. ....1525, 1629

State of Maharashtra v. Satyendra Dayal Khare, 2004 Cr LJ 3399 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 2339. ....2168, 2169

State of Maharashtra v. Savala Sagu Kokara, 1997 Cr LJ 786 (Bom)........2317, 2359, 2384

State of Maharashtra v. Subhash Sitaram Sangare 2001 Cr LJ 4468 (Bom). 2396

State of Maharashtra v. Suresh Bhimaji Thorat, 1997 Cri LJ 1192 (Bom)........................ 2244

State of Maharashtra v. Udhao Pandurang Aglawe, 2005 Cr LJ 989 (Bom) : 2005 All MR (CRI) 907. 2027

State of Maharashtra v. Umesh Krishna Pawar, (1994) 1 Bom CR 575 ; 1994 Cr LJ 774. ....2316, 2332

State of Maharashtra v. Vilas Pandurang Patil, 1999 Cri L.J. 1062 (Bom)... 1470, 1522, 1583

State of Maharashtra v. Vivek Gangadhar Thakare, 2005 Cr LJ 3625 (Bom) : 2005 AllMR(CRI) 2612 : 2005(4) BomLR 180 : 2006(1) HinduLR 274........................... 2960

State of Maharashtra. (1992) 1 Crimes 406 (Bom).. 2715

State of Maharashtra. v. Savala Sagu Kokare, 1997 Cr LJ 786 (Bom)........................... 2312

State of Maharastra v. Jagmohan Singh Kuldip Singh, AIR 2004 SC 4412 : 2004 Cr LJ 4254 (SC) : 2004(3) Crimes 319 (SC) : 2004 SCC (Cri) 2003 : 2004(6) Supreme 287. 2038

State of Manipur v. K.K. Singh, 1994 (3) Crimes 415 (Gau)... 2714

State of Mizoram v. Lalrinkhuma, 2005 (2) Crimes 601 (Gau) : 2005 Cr LJ 3414. ....2326, 2337

State of Mizoram v. Sri Lalrinawma 2000 Cri LJ 2358 (Gau) : 2000 (2) Crimes 344 : 2000 (2) Gau LR 406 : 2000 (1) Gau LT 616 (Gau.) (DB). 1646

State of Mizoram v. Zaduhilana, 2005 Cr LJ 3756 (Gau) : 2005(3) Crimes 358 (Gau.). 2339

State of Orissa v. Babaji Charan Mohanti, 2003 Cr LJ 3744 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3926 : 2003 SCC (10) 57 : 2003(3) Crimes 265 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 411........................... 1568

State of Orissa v. Brahmanand Nanda, AIR 1976 SC 2488; (1976 Cri LJ 1985)................ 1666

State of Orissa v. K. Adinaragara,1977 Cr LJ 1234 (Ori)........ 2299

State of Orissa v. Kamakshya Prasad Meher, 2001 Cr LJ 3620 (Orissa). 2296

State of Orissa v. Kanta Mohapatra, 2005 Cr LJ 3361 (Orissa) : 2005(31) OCR 102 (Ori). 2047

State of Orissa v. Kiran Kumar Bedi, 2006 Cut LJ 1381 (Orissa)........ 1644

State of Orissa v. Sukru Gouda, AIR 2009 SC 1019 : 2009 (2) SCC 118 : 2009 CrLJ 831 : 2008 (13) JT 4 : 2008 (16) Scale 189 : 2008 (17) SCR 617........ 2393, 2392

State of Punjab v. Ajaib Singh, AIR 2004 SC 2466 : 2004 Cr LJ 2547 : 2004(3) Supreme 494 : 2004(2) Crimes 459 (SC) : 2004(2) JCC 842. 1671

State of Punjab v. Atma Singh, 2009 (7) JT 450 : 2009 (4) Supreme 298 : 2009 (7) Scale 689 : 2009 (8) SCR 549 : 2009 (2) Crimes 442 (SC). 1501, 2040, 2049

State of Punjab v. Avtar Singh, 2009 (10) SCC 800 : 2008 (14) Scale 368 : 2008 (12) JT 309 : 2008 (15) SCR 37 : 2009 (2) SLT 66..... 1461

State of Punjab v. Baj Singh, 1995 Cr LJ 1311 (P&H). 2631

State of Punjab v. Balwinder Singh, 1992 (2) Crimes 555 (P&H)........ 2601

State of Punjab v. Bant Singh, 1996 Cri LJ 3886 (P & H). 1955

State of Punjab v. Chatinder Pal Singh, AIR 2009 SC 974 : 2008 (16) SCR 23 : 2008 (15) Scale 359. ....2214, 2258, 2376

State of Punjab v. Daljit Singh, 1999 Cri LJ 2723 (P&H). 1838

State of Punjab v. Ginder Singh, AIR 2009 SC 1930 : 2009 (11) SCC 353 : 2009 (3) JT 454 : 2009 (2) Scale 446........ 1591

State of Punjab v. Gurlabh Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2469 : 2009 (8) JT 487 : 2009 (7) Scale 601 : 2009 (8) SCR 853 : 2009 (4) SLT 611. ....1489, 1608, 1609

State of Punjab v. Gurmeet Singh, (1996) 2 SCC 384 : (1996) AIR SCW 998 : AIR 1396 SC 1393; 1996 Cr LJ 1728 : AIR 1996 SC 1393. ....2308, 2325, 2385

State of Punjab v. Gurmit Singh, 1996 (2) SCC 384. .... 2306, 2400

State of Punjab v. Hakam Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 4111 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1679 : 2005(7) SCC 408 : 2005(6) Supreme 261 : 2005(7) Scale 43 : 2005(10) SCC 124. ......1665, 1690, 1692

State of Punjab v. Harbans Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 2335 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2268 : 2003(11) SCC 2003 : 2003(3) Supreme 492 : 2003(2) Crimes 479. 1671

State of Punjab v. Harjagdev Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2693 : 2009 (8) SCR 54 : 2009 (7) JT 538 : 2009 (8) Scale 568. 1523

State of Punjab v. Jagjit Singh. 1994 (1) Crimes 186 (P&H). 2710, 2713

State of Punjab v. Jiwan Singh, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 373 (P & H) (DB)........ 2003

State of Punjab v. Joginder Singh. 1991 (1) SLJ 638 (P&H). 2871

State of Punjab v. Karnail Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 3892 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3609 : 2003(11) SCC 271 : 2003(5) Supreme 508 : 2003(3) Crimes 292 (SC)........ 1659

State of Punjab v. Kulwinder Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 3937 (P&H) : 2005(4) Rec Cri R 1 : 2005(3) Chand LR (Civ & Cri) 451........ 1648

State of Punjab v. Major Singh, (1994) 2 CC Cases 73 (P & H). 1544

State of Punjab v. Major Singh, AIR 1967 SC 63). 2176

State of Punjab v. Manjit Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2888 : 2009 (8) JT 482 : 2009 (8) Scale 622 : 2009 (9) SCR 864 : 2009 (5) SLT 480. .... 1556, 1557, 1680, 1686

State of Punjab v. Mohinder Singh, 1995 SCC (Cr) 147 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 113 : 1994 Cr LJ 3903. ....1750, 1751

State of Punjab v. Rajinder Singh, 2009 (12) JT 277 : 2009 (12) Scale 174 : 2009 (13) SCR 609. ....1586, 1591

State of Punjab v. Unnikrishanan, 1991 (1) CC cases 63 (P&H)........ 2714

State of Rajasthan v Rajendra Singh, 2006 Cr. LJ 1361. 2345

State of Rajasthan v. Akhlesh Kumar Sharma, 2002 Cri LJ 2347 (Raj)........ 2597

State of Rajasthan v. Ani @ Hanif, 1997 (1) Crimes 146 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 1023 : 1997(1) JT 460 : 1997(1) Scale 287 : 1997 Cr LJ 1529. 2083

State of Rajasthan v. Anr. @ Hanif, 1997 (2) East Cr C 191 (SC)........ 1967

State of Rajasthan v. Aruna Devi, (1994) 3 Crimes 849, 899 (SC) : 1995(1) SCC 1 : 1994(7) JT 522 : 1995 JCC 190 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 1. ....2714, 2718

State of Rajasthan v. Baisakha Singh, 1999 Cri LJ 1399 (Raj).. 1470

State of Rajasthan v. Bhanwar Singh, 2004 Cr LJ 4886 : AIR 2004 SC 4660 : 2004(5) Scale 711.. 1583

State of Rajasthan v. Bhawani, 2003 Cr LJ 3857 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 4230 : 2003(7) SCC 291 : 2003(5) Supreme 287 : 2003(3) Crimes 228 (SC)...................................... 1669

State of Rajasthan v. Bhoja, (1995) 1 RCD 257 (Raj).. 1548

State of Rajasthan v. Bhusa Ram, 1997 Cr LJ 1073 (Raj).. 2382

State of Rajasthan v. Biram Lal, 2005 (3) East Cr C 48 (SC). See also Rajesh Sah v. State of Bihar, 2006 Cr LJ 1476 (Pat)................ 2276

State of Rajasthan v. Dhoul Singh, AIR 2004 SC 1264 : 2004 Cr LJ 931 : 2004(1) Crimes 165 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 850 : 2004(1) JCC 91 : 2003(10) Scale 842 : 2003(10) JT 179. .... 1502, 1626

State of Rajasthan v. Gyaneshwar 2002 Cri. J. 1312 (Rajasthan).................................. 1844

State of Rajasthan v. Hajarilal, 1996 Cri LJ 3675 (Raj).. 2027

State of Rajasthan v. Hemraj, AIR 2009 SC 2644 : 2009 (12) SCC 403 : 2009 (2) Crimes 332 (SC) : 2009 (6) JT 87 : 2009 (6) SCR 1123 : 2009 (6) Scale 586 : 2009 (3) Supreme 698. 2375

State of Rajasthan v. Jora Ram, 2005 Cr LJ 2578 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2440 : AIR 2005 SCW 2393 : 2005(4) Scale 461 : 2005(3) Supreme 568.. 1744

State of Rajasthan v. Kesa, 2002 Cri LJ 432. Raj. : 2002(3) All Cri R 430 : 2002(2) Hindu LR 200...................................... 1808, 1907

State of Rajasthan v. Khima, 2004 Cr LJ 4873 : AIR 2004 SC 4677 : 2004(4) Crimes 40 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 998 : 2004(7) Scale 669(2) : 2004(6) Supreme 587........................... 1480

State of Rajasthan v. Kishanlal 2002 Cr LJ 2963 SC : 2002 Cal Cri LR 633 : 2002(2) Crimes 401.. 2398

State of Rajasthan v. M/s. Kalyan Sundaram Cement Ind. Ltd., 1996 (3) Crimes 92 (SC). 2714

State of Rajasthan v. Magar Ram, 2002 Cri LJ 3307 (Raj.) : 2002(3) Raj Cri C 1406 : 2002(3) Raj LR 247 : 2002(3) WLC 252.............. 2613

State of Rajasthan v. Maharaj Singh, 2004 Cr LJ 4195 : AIR 2004 (SC) 4205 : 2004(3) Crimes 395 (SC) : 2004(6) Supreme 476 : 2004(7) JT 506.. 1748

State of Rajasthan v. Mohd. Sahid, (1994) 2 Crimes 363 : 1994 Cr LJ 391 : 1994 R Cr C 361 (Raj)... 1548

State of Rajasthan v. N.K. 2000 Cr LJ 2205 (SC): AIR 2000 (SC) 1812 : 2000(3) JT 643 : 2000(2) Scale 652................................ 2392

State of Rajasthan v. Nand Lal, (1995) 1 RCD 137 (Raj)... 2206

State of Rajasthan v. Naresh @ Ram Naresh, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1928 (SC)..............2505, 2509

State of Rajasthan v. Naresh, 2009 (9) SCC 368 : 2009 (11) Scale 699 : 2009 (11) JT 109 : 2009 (8) SLT 137 : 2009 (13) SCR 589... 2802

State of Rajasthan v. Nauratan Mal, 2002 Cri LJ 348.. 2753

State of Rajasthan v. Noore Khan, 2000 (3) JT (SC) 643... 2322

State of Rajasthan v. Om Prakash 2002 Cr LJ 2951 SC : AIR 2002 (SC) 2235 : 2002(3) Crimes 386.. 2364

State of Rajasthan v. Pappu, 2002 Cr LJ (NOC) 214 (Raj) : 2002(4) Raj LW 1956........... 1687

State of Rajasthan v. Rajaram, 2003 Cr LJ 3901 (SC) : 2003(10) SCC 434 : 2003(7) JT 437 : 2003(4) Crimes 53 (SC) : 2003(6) Supreme 223.. 1691

State of Rajasthan v. Ratan Lal, 1995 Cr LR 425 (Raj).. 1771

State of Rajasthan v. Sher Singh, 1994 RCC 1 : 1994 Cr LJ 904 (Raj)............................ 1554

State of Rajasthan v. Tara Chand, (1995) 1 RCD (Raj).. 1606

State of Rajasthan v. Taran Singh, 2004 Cr LJ 654 (SC) : (2003) 12 SCC 341 : AIR 2004 SC 1080 : 2003(4) Crimes 456 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 36 : 2003(8) JT 115............... 1690

State of Rajasthan v. Vinod, 2002 Cri LJ 1308 (Raj.).. 2820

State of Sikkim v. Kul Chandra Baral, 2005 Cr LJ 1027 (Sikkim) : 2005(1) Crimes 558 (SK). 2625, 2626

State of Sikkim v. Tek Bahadur Tamang, 2001 Cri LJ 4617 (Sikkim)............................ 2464

State of T.N. v. Thulasingam. 1994 SCC (Cri) 1504 : AIR 1995 (SC) 1314 : 1994(4) JT 73 :

1994(2) Scale 1065 : 1995 Cr LJ 2080. .... 2703, 2856

State of Tamil Nadu v. Manmatharaj, AIR 2009 SC 1757 : 2008 (13) JT 194 : 2008 (15) Scale 279 : 2008 (16) SCR 735 : 2009 (1) Supreme 455. .... 1521, 1522

State of Tamil Nadu v. Nalini 1999 Cri LJ 3124 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 2640 : 1999(5) SCC 253 : 1999(4) JT 106 : 1999(3) Scale 241 : 1999(5) Supreme 60. 1670

State of Tamil Nadu v. Subair, AIR 2009 SC 1189 : 2009 CrLJ 1777 : 2008 (16) Scale 284 : 2009 (1) JT 27 : 2008 (17) SCR 1046... 1632

State of Tamil Nadu v. Surinder, 2004 Cr LJ 913 : AIR 2004 SC 1216 : 2003(8) Supreme 730 : 2004(1) Crimes 141 (SC) : 2003(10) JT 190. 1673

State of U.P. v. Abdul, 1997 (5) JT 265. 1554

State of U.P. v. Akhilesh Kumar Srivastava, (1995) 3 CCR 783 (Alld). 2465

State of U.P. v. Avinash, 1997 Cri LJ 966 (All). 1770

State of U.P. v. Baboo Ram, 1994 ACC 412 (All) : 1995 Cr LJ 643. .... 1942, 1945

State of U.P. v. Babul Nath, (1994) 3 Crimes 230 (SC) : 1994(5) JT 104 : 1994(3) Scale 734 : 1994(3) CCR 706 (SC). 2341

State of U.P. v. Bai Mukund, (1995) 2 CCR 261 (Alld). 2951

State of U.P. v. Dharmendra Singh, 2000 Cri LJ 5 (SC) : 1999 AIR (SC) 3789 : 1999 (8) SCC 325 : 1999 (7) JT 207 : 1999 (6) Scale 113 : 1999 (8) Supreme 183 : 1999 (8) SLT 3 : 2000 (1) SCJ 55 : 1999 (9) SRJ 486 : 1999 (4) CCR 25 (SC) : 1999 (2) JCC (SC) 567 : 1999 SCC (Cr) 1425 : 1999 (4) Recent CR 250. .... 1641, 1642

State of U.P. v. Gajey Singh, 2009 (11) SCC 414 : 2009 CrLJ 2274 : 2009 (3) JT 1 : 2009 (3) Scale 337 : 2009 (2) SCR 998 : 2009 (2) Supreme 361 : 2009 (3) SLT 97 : 2009 (2) JCC 1197. 1504

State of U.P. v. Indrajeet Alias Sukhatha, 2000 (7) SCC 249. 2082

State of U.P. v. Indrajeet, 2000 Cri LJ 4663 (SC). 1715

State of U.P. v. Kishan Chand, 2004 Cr LJ 4878 : AIR 2004 SC 4671 : 2004(2) Andh LT (Cri) SC 341 : 2004(3) Crimes 309 : 2005 MD LJ (Cri) 74 : 2004(7) Scale 75 : 2004(6) Supreme 277. 1504

State of U.P. v. Kishori Lal, 99 JIC 205 (All). 2059

State of U.P. v. M.K. Anthony, AIR 1985 SC 48. .... 1755, 1760

State of U.P. v. Murli, 2005 Cr LJ 4382 : 2005 (12) SCC 586 : AIR 2005 (SC) 3609 : 2005(4) Crimes 82 : 2005(4) East Cri C 226 : 2005(6) Supreme 569. 1503

State of U.P. v. Nar Singh, 1995 (32) ACC 355 (All). 2631

State of U.P. v. Padam Singh, (1995) 4 CCR 694 (All). 2388

State of U.P. v. Parshottam, AIR 1991 SC 1015 : 1991 SCC (Cr) 1016 : 1991 Supp(2) SCC 124 : 1991 Cr LJ 741. 2715

State of U.P. v. Raghubir Singh, 1997 (1) Crimes 53 (SC). 2226

State of U.P. v. Rajendra Prasad Upadhayaya. 1994 (24) ALR 356 (All). 2522

State of U.P. v. Ram Charan. 1994 SCC (Cri) 1143. 1618

State of U.P. v. Ramesh, 2000 Cri LJ 1354 (All). 1978

State of U.P. v. Ranjit Singh, 1999 (2) SCC 617 = AIR 1999 SCW 863. .... 2693, 2704

State of U.P. v. Ranjit Singh. 1999 Cri LJ 1830 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 1201 : 1999(2) SCC 617 : 1999(1) Scale 580 : 1999(2) Supreme 291 : 1999(1) JT 626. .... 2839, 2847.

State of U.P. v. Roop Singh, (1995) 3 Crimes 743 (SC) : 1996 Cr LJ 410 : AIR 1996 SC 215 : 1995(6) JT 479 : 1995(5) Scale 264. 1545

State of U.P. v. Satya Narain. 2005 Cu LJ 3684. 1851

State of U.P. v. Shyan Veer, 2005 Cr LJ 2606 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 4108 : 2005(2) Crimes 155 : 2005(3) Supreme 566. 177

State of U.P. v. Tek Chand, 2000 Cri LJ 3821 (All) : 2000(40) A Cri C 251 : 1999(26) A Cri 2050 : 2000 all LJ 1704 : 2000(1) C CrJ 178 (All). 2506

State of U.P. v. Udalbhan Singh, 1994 LIC 24 (All). 196

State of UP v. Ajai Kumar, 2004 Cr LJ 3925. 186

State of UP v. Bhagirath, 2004 Cr LJ 2405 2004 All LJ 1364 : 2004(1) All Cri R 54 196

State of UP v. Bhagwant, 2003 Cr LJ 2337 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2293 : 2003(10) SCC 74 : 2003(3) Supreme 439 : 2003(2) Crimes 464 (SC).. 1675

State of UP v. Dharamraj, 2003 Cr LJ 1522 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1555 : 2003(2) SCC 492 : 2003(1) JT 377 : 2003(1) Supreme 659.. 1566

State of UP v. Gambhir Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 2579 : AIR 2005 SC 2439 : (2005) 11 SCC 271 : 2005(2) Crimes 145, 175 (SC) : 2005 SCC (Cr) 1633 : 2005(5) JT 553........... 1526, 1665

State of UP v. Ganga Ram, 2005 Cr LJ 4643 : 2006 All MR (Cri) 2469..........................3062

State of UP v. Ganga Sahai Saxena, 2004 Cr JL 2670 : 2004 All LJ 1417 (All.). 2633

State of UP v. Hari Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 1895 (All). 1749

State of UP v. Jhinkoo Nai 2001 Cri LJ 3965(SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 2815 : 2001(6) JT 290 : 2001(5) Scale 19 : 2001(6) Supreme 25. 1618

State of UP v. Nawab Singh, AIR 2004 SC 1511 : 2004 Cr LJ 1367 : 2004(1) Supreme 954 : 2004(1) Crimes 440 (SC) : 2004(2) JT 79. 1666

State of UP v. Pappu, 2005 Cr LJ 331 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 1248 : 2005(1) Crimes 37 : 2005(1) JT 153 : 2005(3) SCC 594 : 2004(8) Supreme 656. ....2317, 2318, 2399

State of UP v. Qamar, 2004 Cr LJ 2390 (All) : 2004 All LJ 1290.................................. 1739

State of UP v. Rashid, 2003 Cr LJ 2011 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1243 : 2003(9) SCC 449 : 2003(2) Supreme 743 : 2003(2) Crimes 65 (SC).. 1547, 1668

State of UP v. Satish, 2005 Cr LJ 1428 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 1000 : 2005(2) Supreme 13 : 2005(1) Crimes 146 SC : 2005 SCC (Cr) 642. .... 1681, 1684

State of UP v. Satya Narain Tewari, 2005 Cr LJ 3684 (All) : 2005(53) All Cri C 274 : 2005(3) All Cri R 2738 : 2006(1) Hindu LR 277 : 2005 All LJ 2941................................ 1866, 1873

State of UP v. Sheo Sanehi, 2004 Cr LJ 4650 : AIR 2004 SC 4974 : 2004 All LJ 3784 ; 2004(9) JT 196 : 2004(8) Scale 520 : 2004(4) Crimes 163 (SC) : 2004(7) Supreme 275. 1669

State of UP v. Shiv Kumar, 2005 Cr LJ 2604 : AIR 2005 SC 2992 : 2005(11) SCC 212 : 2005(2) Crimes 153 (SC) : 2005(3) Supreme 564.. 1691

State of UP v. Shri Krishan, 2005 Cr LJ 892 : AIR 2005 SC 762 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1551 : 2005(1) Crimes 200 (SC) : 2005(1) Supreme 263 : 2005(10) SCC 394........................ 1665

State of UP v. Sunder Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 2186 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 905 : AIR 2005 (SC) 2238 : 2005(3) Supreme 359 : 2005(2) Crimes 106 (SC) : 2005(3) SCC 734. 1684

State of UP. v. (Smt.) Zubaida Khatoon, 1995 (32) ACC 194 (All). 1480

State of Uttar Pradesh v. Banne, 2009 CrLJ 2234 : 2009 (4) SCC 271 : 2009 (3) Scale 35 : 2009 (3) JT 552 : 2009 (2) SLT 687. ....1505, 1941

State of Uttar Pradesh v. Dinesh, 2009 (11) SCC 566 : 2009 (3) JT 106 : 2009 (3) Scale 345 : 2009 (2) SCR 1175.......................1587, 1590

State of Uttar Pradesh v. Gajadhar Singh, AIR 2009 SC 1935 : 2009 (1) Crimes 348 : 2009 (11) SCC 366 : 2009 (2) JT 354 : 2009 (2) Scale 452 : 2009 (2) SCR 17 : 2009 (1) Supreme 793. ....1511, 1936

State of Uttar Pradesh v. Ilyas, AIR 2009 SC 1145 : 2009 (1) SCC 365 : 2008 (13) JT 197 : 2008 (15) SCR 142 : 2008 (15) Scale 142 : 2008 (9) SLT 717.........................2503, 2537

State of Uttar Pradesh v. Nandu Vishwakarma, AIR 2009 SC 3188 : 2009 CrLJ 4157 : 2009 (9) Scale 81 : 2009 (8) JT 657 : 2009 (5) Supreme 500 : 2009 (7) SLT 675 : 2009 (10) SCR 185. 2271

State of Uttar Pradesh v. Sahrunnisa, AIR 2009 SC 3182 : 2009 CrLJ 4151 : 2009 (9) Scale 170 : 2009 (9) JT 16 : 2009 (6) SLT 47 : 2009 (10) SCR 237...............................1550, 1938

State of Uttar Pradesh v. Sattan, 2009 (4) SCC 736 : 2009 (2) Crimes 121 (SC) : 2009 (4) JT 347 : 2009 (3) SCR 643 : 2009 (3) Scale 394 : 2009 (2) Supreme 465 : 2009 (2) SLT 641. ....1966, 2045

State of Uttar Pradesh v. Sheo Lal, AIR 2009 SC 1912 : 2009 CrLJ 1162 : 2009 (1) Crimes 388 : 2009 (11) SCC 513 : 2009 (3) JT 540 : 2009 (2) SCR 343 : 2009 (2) Scale 582. .2018, 2169

State of W.B. v. Vindu Lachmandas Sakhrani, 1995 SCC (Cr) 175 (SC) : 1994 AIR (SC) 772 : 1994 Cr. LJ 919.................................. 1519

State of West Bengal v. Dipak Halder, AIR 2009 SC 1883 : 2009 (2) Crimes 484 (SC) : 2009 (7) SCC 288 : 2009 (7) JT 444 : 2009 (7) Scale 596 : 2009 (8) SCR 530 : 2009 (5) SLT 282. .... 1471, 2986

State of West Bengal v. Orilal Jaiswal, 1994 JIC 22 (SC) : 1994 Mad LJ (Cr) 187 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 107 : 1994 (1) SCC 73 : 1994 (1) ALJ (Cr) 193 : (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 186: 1994 (2) East Cr C 262 : 1994 Cr LJ 2104 : AIR 1994 SC 1418 : 1994 LIC 22 : 1994 (1) ALT 193 : 1994 Cri LJ 2104. .... 1886, 1897, 2949, 2956

State v. (Smt.) Satya-bhama Pandurang, 2003 Cr LJ 1996 (Bom) 1635

State v. Abdul Rashid 2002 Cri LJ 3118 (J&K). 2087

State v. Abdul Sattar, 1992 RCC 135. 2689

State v. Ambarnath, 2004 Cr LJ 4445 (Bom) : 2004(2) Bom CR (Cri) 342 2410

State v. Amit, 1997 Cri LJ 121 (Raj). 2458

State v. Anthony Nikolas, 2006 Cr LJ 1582 (Kant). 1888

State v. Arun Umaji Bansode, 2004 Cr LJ 3706 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 2683 : 2003 (2) Bom CR (Cri) 722. 2492

State v. Badri Prasad, 2003 Cr LJ 4364 (MP) : 2003(2) MPHT 329. 1964

State v. Banwarilal, 1996 Cr LJ 1078 (Raj). 1646

State v. Basappa, 2003 Cr LJ 4146 (Kant); Dukhharan Mandal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4248 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1264 : 2003(3) East Cri C 269. 2378

State v. Bhagirath, 2003 Cr LJ 4608 (MP) : 2003(2) MPHT 520 : 2003(2) MPLJ 462,. 1797

State v. Chandra Prakash, AIR 1990 SC 658 = 1990 CriLJ 889. .... 2366, 2417

State v. Chandrayya Hannumanthappa Mellapanavar, 2003 Cr LJ 258 (Kant) : AIR 2002 Kant HCR 2962 : 2003(1) All Cri LR 623. 2167

State v. Dayanand, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 259 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2510 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) Kar 515 : 2003(4) Crimes 93. 2409

State v. Dayanidhi Bisoi, 2003 Cr LJ 123 (Orissa) : 2002(94) Cut LT 642 : 2002(23) OCR 564 : 2002(2) Orissa LR 495 2486

State v. Desgowda, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 53 (Kant) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 228 : 2004(2) All Cri LR 999 : 2004(1) Kant LJ 94. 2168

State v. Dev Prakash, 2003 Cr LJ 2882 (HP) : 2003(1) Cur LJ (CCR) 643. 2467

State v. Dinesh Shastry, 2004 CrLJ 332 ; AIR 2003 Kant HCR 3076 : 2004(1) All Cri LR 926 : 2003(4) KCCR 2565. 1954

State v. Dr. Nagendra Pal Singh, 1994 Cri LJ 2373 (Del). 2707

State v. Dyarappa Bhimsha Koulagi, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 196 (Kant) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 1326 : 2004(2) Kant LJ 502. 2043

State v. Gopal, 2001 Cri LJ 2873 (Raj). 2964

State v. Govind Ram Bagdiya, 2003 Cr LJ 1169 (Raj). 2710

State v. H.D. Veeregowda, 2003 Cr LJ 4762 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2835. 2395

State v. Hanamappa, 2000 Cri LJ 2428 (Kant) : ILR 2000 Kant 1974 : 2000(2) Kant LJ 362 : 2000(3) Cur Cr R 328 (Kant). 2609

State v. Ibrahimsab Maibubsab, (1994) 2 Crimes 283 : (1994) 2 Kar LJ 176 (Kar). 1824

State v. Ishwar Shambhaji Babar, 2004 Cr LJ 438 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (Cri) 1878 : 2004(1) Bom CR (Cri) 58. 2645

State v. Krishna Pal, 2003 Cr LJ 1115 (All) : 2003 All LJ 221 : 2003(46) All Cri C 47. 1674

State v. Lakshmidhar Das, 1999 Cri LJ 2839 (Kant) 2528

State v. Lalu Laxman Pabale, 2003 Cr LJ 1174 (Bom) : 2002 All MR (cri) 2204. 1649

State v. Maduvalappa Fakirappa, 2004 Cr LJ 3712 (Kant) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 2515 : 2004(4) All cri LR 130 : 2001(6) Kant LJ 28. 1801

State v. Mahammed Yusuf, 2001 CriLJ 5 (Kant). 1800

State v. Mohan Shankarrao Janrao, 2004 Cr LJ 3998 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 2636 : 2004(2) BOMCR (Cri) 906 : 2004(4) CUR Cri R 169. 2339

State v. Mohandas S. Gawade, 2007 CriLJ 850 (Bombay). 2117

State v. Mota, 2000 Cri LJ 4414 (Kant). 1656

State v. Murugan, 2002 CriLJ 670 (Mad) : 2001(2) Mad LW (Cri) 815. 1973

State v. N.R. Anthony Raj, 2004 Cr LJ 2252 (Kant) : 2004 AIR Kant HCR 1072 : 2004(3) All Cri LR 616 : 2004(3) Cur Cri R 558. . 2620

State v. Nirakar Panigrahi, 2003 CR LJ 4399 (Orissa). 2804

State v. P. Balan, 1996 Cri LJ 3705 (Mad). 2132

State v. PA Bidappa, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 37 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Karn HCR 52 : 2003(4) KCCR 2888. 2379

State v. Pandurang Shinde, AIR 1956 Bom 711 : 1989 Cr LJ 1306,. 1537

State v. Pulandar, (1995) 2 Crimes 346 (MP). 1638

State v. Raja, 2003 Cr LJ 1816 (All) : 2003 All LJ 41 : 2003(46) All Cri C 49 : 2003(1) All Cri LR 402 : 2003(1) All Cri R 42,............... 1672

State v. Ravindra, 2003 Cr LJ 4361 (MP) : 2003(3) MPLJ 460 : 2003(4) Rec Cri R 544. 1904

State v. Regulagadda Anandarao, 1996 Cri LJ 4503 (AP). 1962

State v. Rewa Singh, 2003 Cr LJ NOC 235 (P&H) : 2003(1) P&H 180. 2377

State v. Salim Khan, 2004 Cr LJ 552 (Raj). 1748

State v. Shashi Shekhar, 2004 Cr LJ 2961 (All) : 2004 All LJ 1804 : 2004 (2) All Cri R 1088. 2230

State v. Sheku alias Shekhara Poojary 2002 Cri LJ 2148 (Kant.) : AIR 2002 Kant HCR 1278 : 2002(5) Kant LJ 25............................... 2065

State v. Shyam Raj, 2004 CrLJ 377 (SC) : 2003(4) Crimes 410 : 2003(8) JT 287 : 2003(11) SCC 207 : 2004 SC CriR 1205 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 79 : 2003(7) Supreme 669. 2375

State v. Sridhar 2000 Cri LJ 328 (Karnataka). 2953

State v. Subash Chander 2000 Cri LJ 1908 (Delhi). 2527

State v. Suresh, 1998 Cri LJ 2491(All). 1649

State v. Surinder Mohan, 2003 Cr LJ 4223 (Him).. 1531

State v. Ulam Mustafa, (1995) 1 RCD 126 (Raj). 1766

State v. V.N. Surendra, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 258 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2470.......... 1493

Suba Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 215 (P&H). 2717, 2720

Suba Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 CCR 31 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 376 (SC)....................... 1582

Subash Chander v. Krishan Lal, 2001 Cri LJ 1825 (SC).. 1487

Subhan v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 3 Crimes 621 (Bom.). 1534

Subhash Chand v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (1995) 1 Sim LC 274 (HP) : 1995 Cr LJ 3460. 1477

Subhash Chander v. State, (1995) 1 CC Cases 363 (Del) : (1995) 1 Crimes 38 (Del). 2902, 2903

Subhash Gopal Raikar v. State, (1995) 2 CCR 610 (Bom). 2763

Subhash Koli v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 Cr LR 675 (Raj). 2

Subhash Kumar v. State of Govt. of NCT of Delhi, 2005 Cr LJ 4399 (Delhi) : 2006(1) Crimes 26 : 2005(123) DLT 487 : 2005(4) Rec Cri R 974. 1750

Subhash Kumar v. State of Uttarakhand., AIR 2009 SC 2490 : 2009 (7) SCR 1182 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 641 : 2009 (7) JT 575 (SC) : 2009 (7) Scale 502 (SC). 2023

Subhash v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Crimes 66 (P & H) (DB) : 2002 Cr LJ 398 (P & H). 1637, 2367

Subhash v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 485 (Raj). 1860

Subhaya Perumal Pilley v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 922 (Bom). 2514, 2518, 2522

Subimal Sarkar v. Sachindra Nath Mandal, 2003 Cr LJ 1274 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1108 : 2003(2) SCC 566 : 2003(1) Supreme 252 : 2003(1) Crimes 324 (SC). 1673

Subodh S. Salaskar v. Jayprakash M. Shah & Anr., AIR 2008 SC 3086 : 2008 (8) JT 637 (SC) : 2008 (11) Scale 42 (SC) : 2008 (7) SLT 127 : 2008 (8) SRJ 292 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3953 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 330 (NI) : 2008 (3) RecentCR 875 (SC).......................2675, 2727

Subramani v. State of Tamil Nadu, 2005 Cr LJ 1727 : AIR 2005 SC 1983 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1521 : 2005(1) Crimes 379 (SC) : 2005(2) Supreme 413 : 20005(10) SCC 358. 1502

Subramania Iyer v. State, 1994 MLJ (Cr) 214. 2855

Subramaniam v. State of Tamil Nadu, 2009 CrLJ 3002 : 2009 (3) Crimes 140 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 403 : 2009 (7) Scale 317 : 2009 (4) Supreme

788 : 2009 (4) SLT 384 : 2009 (9) SCR 725. .... 1551, 2950

Subrata Roy v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 337 (All). 1518

Subunga Malik v. State, (1995) 2 CCR 285 (Ori). 1766

Sucha Singh v. State of Punjab, 2003 Cr LJ 3876 : 2003 (3) Crimes 272 (SC): 2003 SCC (Cr) 1697 : 2003 (7) SCC 643 : AIR 2003 (SC) 3617 : 2003(6) JT 348 : 2003 (5) Supreme 445. 1504

Sudalaimuthu v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 1038 (Mad). 1799

Sudesh Kashinath Naik v. State of Goa, 1994 B Cr C 449 (Bom). 1823

Sudhansu Sekhar Sahoo (Dr.) v. State of Orissa, (1994) 1 Crimes 44 ; (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 7 (Ori). 2341

Sudhir Kumar v. State of Punjab, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2052 (SC). 1847, 1877

Sudhir Shantilal Mehta v. C.B.I., 2009 (8) SCC 1 : 2009 (10) JT 554 : 2009 (12) SCR 682 : 2009 (11) Scale 217 : 2009 (6) SLT 135. 2634

Sudhir Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1073 (Jhar) : 2003 AIR Jhar HCR 448 : 2003(4) Cur Cri R 350. 2766

Sudhir Suresh Kamble v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Mah LR 119 (Bom.). 1543

Sugna Ram v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 523 (Raj). 1763

Sujit Kumar Roy v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3693 (Jhar) : 2004 AIR Jhar HCR 2255 : 2004(2) East Cr C 310. 2858

Sujya v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1612 (Raj) : 2002(3) Raj LR 822 : 2003(3) WLC 144. 2789

Sukanti Moharana v. State of Orissa, 2009 (3) Crimes 271(SC) : 2009 (9) SCC 163 : 2009 (9) JT 697 : 2009 (10) Scale 246 : 2009 (11) SCR 996 : 2009 (5) Supreme 636 : 2009 (4) JCC 2585. 2987

Sukha s/o Ram Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LJ 554 (Raj). 1959

Sukhadeep Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1308 (P&H) : 2003(3) All Cri LR 750 : 2004(2) DMC 870 : 2003(3) Rec Cri R 740. 1864

Sukharajuwa v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 3 CCR 699 (MP). 1478

Sukhawant Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 SCC (Cr) 524 (SC) : 1195 AIR (SC) 1601 : 1995 (3) SCC 367 : 1995 (3) JT 495 : 1995(2) Scale 482 : 1995 (2) UJ 29 : 1995 (2) SCJ 81 : 1995 (2) Crimes 148. 1515

Sukhbir Kabul Singh v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 2457 (P&H) : 2005(3) AllCriLR 526 : 2005(2) Chand LT (Civ&Cri) 473 : 2005(3) Crimes 280 : 2005(2) Rec CriR 337. 2398

Sukhdev Anand v. State of HP, 2006 Cr. LJ 98 (HP). 2327

Sukhdev Khanna v. U.T. of Chandigarh, 1992 (2) CC Cases 121 (P&H). 2720

Sukhdev Singh v. Delhi State (Govt. of NCT of Delhi), 2003 Cr LJ 4315 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3714 : 2003(7) SCC 399, 441 : 2003(6) Supreme 286 : 2003(4) Crimes 50 (SC) : 2003 SCC (Cr) 1649 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1714 : 2003(7) Scale 102 : 2003(5) SLT 134. .... 1725, 1976

Sukhdev v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent CR 404. 2539

Sukhdev v. State of M.P. (1995) 2 Crimes 336 (MP). 1630

Sukhminder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 190 (P & H). 1959

Sukhvinder Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (1994) 2 Sim LC 245 (AP). 1962

Sukhwant Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 SCC (Cr) 524 : (1995) 3 SCC 367 : 1995 Cr R 473 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 1601 : 1995 (3) JT 495 : 1995 (2) Scale 482 : 1995 (2) UJ 29 : 1995 (2) SCJ 181 1553

Sukhwinder Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 Cr LJ 1117 (SC) : (1994) 5 SCC 152 : AIR 1994 SC 764 : 1994 UP Cr R 548 : 1994 All Cr Cas 552 : (1995) 1 CC Cases 304 (P & H). 1738, 2538

Sukru Gouda v. State, 2004 Cr. LJ 1566 (Orissa) : 2004(2) Crimes 55 : 2004(2) East Cri C 342 : 2004(1) Orissa LR 243 : 2004(3) Rec Cri R 168. 2396

Sukumar Barman v. State of West Bengal, 1994 SCC (Cri) 36. 1645

Sukumaran v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1462 (Ker). 1741

Sulakhan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) XXII Cr LT 342 (P & H). 2078

Sulekh Chand Jain v. State, (1991) 43 DLT 136. 2689

Sultan Salahuddin Owaisi v. Syed Vigaruddin, 2005 Cr LJ 2726 (AP) : 2006(1) ALD (CRL)

190 : 2006(1) AndhLT(Cri) AP 45 : 2005(3) Rec Cri R 874. 2997

Sultan v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 665 : (1994) 3 CC Cases 120 (P&H). 2460

Sumar v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 434 (Raj). 1948

Sumer Chand v. State of U.P. 1995 (32) ACC 84 (All) : 1994 JIC 931 (All). 1635, 1637

Sundara v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 580 (Alld). 2816

Sundaram alias Balasundaran v. State, 1994 Cr LJ 2490 (Mad). 2378

Sunder Singh v. State of Haryana, 2004 Cr LJ 3083 (P&H) : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 764. 2354

Sunderram v. State of M.P., 1995 MP LJ 67 (Notes) (MP). 1766

Sunil Kashinath Raimale v. State of Maharashtra, 2006 Cr LJ 569 (Bombay). 2971

Sunil Kr. Jachak v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 209 (Chhattisgarh) : 2004(2) MPHT 47. 1628

Sunil Kumar v. State Govt. of NCT, Delhi, AIR 2004 SC 552 : 2004 Cr LJ 819 : 2003(4) Crimes 383 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 519 : 2003(11) SCC 367. 1662

Sunil Kumar v. State of HP, 2005 Cr LJ 2512 (HP). 2401

Sunil Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 1402 : AIR 2005 SC 1096 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1230 : 2005 Cr LJ 1402 : 2005(9) SCC 283 : 2005(1) Scale 608. 1665

Sunil v. State of Haryana, 1994 Cr LJ 1381 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 1536. 2503

Sunil v. State of Haryana, 2009 (4) Crimes 321 (SC) : 2009 (14) JT 644 : 2009 (14) Scale 370 : 2009 (8) Supreme 20 : 2009 (9) SLT 92 : 2010 (1) JCC 140 : 2009 AIR SCW 7656 : 2010 CrLJ 839 (SC). 2205, 2266, 2320, 2421

Sunil v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 1357 (All) : 2005 All LJ 259 : 2005(51) All Cri C 108 : 2005 (1) All Cri R 689. 2531

Sunil Vishnu Salve v. State of Maharashtra, 2006 CriLJ 587 (Bom). 2301

Sunkoji Laxmana Chary v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1995 Cr LJ 2652 (AP). 1855

Sununga Malik v. State, (1995) 2 CCR 285 (Ori). 1548, 1581

Supai Hansda v. State of Bihar, now Jharkhand. 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3359 (Jhar). 2390, 2423

Suraj Mal v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 156 (Raj). 2333

Suraj Pal v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CCR 14 (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 313 : (1995) 2 SCC 64 (SC) : (1994) 3 Crimes 862 (SC). 2520, 2522

Suraj Pal v. State of U.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 502 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 701 : 1994 (1) PLJR 104 : 1994 ALJ 467 : AIR 1994 SC 748 : 1994 Cr LJ 928. 1625

Surekha Murdangia v. Ramahari Murdangia, 2005 Cr LJ 3847 (Orissa) : 2005(2) DMC 870 : 2005(2) Orissa LR 459. 2916

Surekha Narayan Bharade v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B Cr C 285 (Bom). 1602

Suren Orang v. State of Assam, 2005 Cr LJ 3402 (Gau) : 2006(1) DMC 65 : 2006(1) East Cri C 120 : 200(2) Gau LT 279. 2912

Surender v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 352 (P & H). 2136

Surendra Chauhan v. State of M.P., 2000 Cri LJ 1789 (SC). 1992

Surendra Kumar Singh Kushwaha v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 392 (Pat). 2257

Surendra Kumar v. State of HP, 2010 (2) CriLJ 1356 (HP). 1886, 1909, 2985

Surendra Kumar v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 94 (All). 1799

Surendra Nath Mohanty v. State of Orissa, 1999 Cri LJ 3494 (SC) : 1998(8) SCC 387 : 1998(9) JT 1991 : 1999(2) SLT 478(2). 2088

Surendra Pal Shivbalak Pal v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 4642, 4662 (SC): 2004(7) Supreme 107 : 2004(8) Scale 145 : 2004(5) SLT 840 : 2004(3) JCC 1486 : 2004(4) Crimes 110 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 4882 : AIR 2004 SCW 5581 : AIR Jhar HCR 3026 : 2004 Cri LR (SC&MP) SC 907 : 2004(4) Supreme 107. .... 2212, 2340

Surendra Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ NOC 52 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 98. 1969

Suresh Babu v. State of Kerala, 2001 Cri LJ 1483 (Ker) : 2001(1) CCR 233 (236) : 2001(2) Crimes 313 : 2001(1) Femi-Jurisce 302 (Ker). 2213, 2320

Suresh Babu v. State. 2005 Cr LJ NOC 38 (Ker.) : 2005(2) All Cri LR 379 : 2005(2) Rec Cri R 90. 2256

Suresh Chand Bansal v. Vishwa Ranjan. 1994 ACC 232 (All). 2683, 2685

Suresh Chandra Panda v. State of Orissa, 2005 Cr LJ 4494 : AIR 2005 SC 4352. 2522

Suresh Chandra v. State of U.P., 2005 Cr LJ 3449 : AIR 2005 (SC) 3120 : 2005 (6) SCC 130 : 2005 (5) Supreme 364 : 2005 (6) JT 397 (SC) : 2005 (5) Scale 629. 1692

Suresh Choudhary v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 1717 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1981 : 2003(4) SCC 128 : 2003(2) Supreme 523 : 2003(2) Crimes 48 (SC). 1667

Suresh Dutt v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3342 (Raj) : 2003(3) Crimes 15 : 2003(4) Raj LW 2552 : 2003(3) WLC 655. 1675

Suresh Ganpat Rathod v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 603 (Bom.). 1519

Suresh Kumar alias Sushil v. State of Rajasthan, 2006 CriLJ 116 (Raj). 1843, 1914, 2958

Suresh Kumar and Sushil Kumar v. State of U.P., (1995) 1 CCR 188 (Alld). 2016

Suresh Kumar v. State of H.P. 2002 Cri LJ 498 (H.P.) : 2002(2) All Cri LR 800. 2217

Suresh Kumar v. State of Haryana. 2005 Cr LJ 2131 (P&H) : 2005(2) All Cri LR 731 : 2005(2) DMC 342 : 2005(2) Hindu LR 47 : 2005(2) Rce Cir R 427 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 663 (P&H). 1701, 2769

Suresh Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 272 ; 1995 Cr LJ 1853 (Raj) : 2007 CriLJ 1939 (Raj). 1476, 2402

Suresh Lalchand Lulla v. Neela Sudhish Talpade, 1992 Mah LJ 1455. 2832

Suresh Marar Tripathi v. State of U.P., 2005 Cr LJ 3479 : 2005 All LJ 2427 : 2005(52) All Cri C 384 : 2005(3) Crimes 81. 2766

Suresh Sita Ram Surve v. State of Mahrashtra, 2003 Cr LJ 475 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 344 : 2002(10) SCC 28 : 2003(8) Supreme 352 : 2003(1) Crimes 156 (SC). 1660

Suresh v. State of Haryana, 2000 Cri LJ 2792 (All). 1655

Suresh v. State of Maharashtra, 1995(3) Crimes 646 (Bom) : 1996 Cr LJ 1782 : 1995(3) CCR 180 : 1995 Cr R 750 (Bom). 3001

Suresh v. State of Rajasthan, 1999 Cri LJ 1787 (Raj). 1838

Suresh v. State of U.P. , AIR 1981 SC 1122: (1981) Cri LJ 746. 1470

Suresh v. State, 2006 Cr LJ 282 (Delhi). 2335

Surinder Kaur v. State of Haryana, AIR 2004 SC 1747 : 2004(4) SCC 109 : 2004(3) JT 61 : 2004(2) Supreme 255 : 2004(2) Crimes 276 (SC). 1868

Surinder Kumar v. State of Haryana. 1997 (2) East Cr C 231 (P&H). 1860

Surinder Kumar v. State of Haryana, 1997 Cri LJ 1737 (P&H) : 1996 Cri LJ 4240 (P & H). 1754, 1864

Surinder Singh v. State of UP, 2003 Cr LJ 4446 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3811 : 2003(10) SCC 26 : 2003(7) Supreme 562 : 2003(4) Crimes 393. 1531

Surja v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 Cri LJ 51 (SC) : AIR 1997 SC 18 : 1996 (6) SCC 271 : 1996 (8) JT 461 : 1996 (7) Scale 192 : 1996 (7) Supreme 248 : 1996 (3) SCJ 275 : 1996 (4) Crimes 45 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 1314 : 1996 (7) AD (SC) 97. 1646

Surjan Singh v. State of Haryana. (1994) 3 CC Cases 351 (P&H). 2608

Surjan Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 233 (MP). 1722

Surjan Singh. v. Suraj Pal, (1994) CC Cases 348 (P & H). 1968

Surjan v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 403 (Raj). 1501

Surjit Kaur vs D. S. Kapoor & Ors., 2010 Cri LJ 1008 (Delhi). 2034, 2068, 3052

Surjit Singh v. Balbir Singh, 1996 Cri LJ 2304 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 1592 : 1996(3) SCC 533 : 1996(3) JT 363 : 1996(2) Scale 865 : 1996(3) Supreme 250. 2715

Surjit Singh v. Mahara Ram, AIR 2004 SC 4122 : 2004 Cr LJ 3878 : 2004(6) JT 251 : 2004(5) Supreme 748 : 2004(3) Crimes 222 (SC) : 2004 SCC (Cr) 1801. 2080

Surjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 47 (Delhi). 2079

Surjit Singh v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 1176 (P&H) : 2005(1) Rec Cri R 683 (P&H). 2647

Suruvu Parshaiah v. State of A.P., 2006 CriLJ 824 (AP). 1833

Surya Kanth v. State of Karnataka, 2003 Cr LJ 3562 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2036 : 2003(4) All Cri LR 514 : 2003(10) All Ind Cas 326. 1907

Suryalakshmi Cotton Mills Ltd. v. Rajvir Industries Ltd., 2008 (1) SCALE 331 : 2008 AIR SCW 1956]............................ 2586, 2729

Susemma Bijoy v. Mohinder Kumar Guleria, (1994) 3 Crimes 164 (HP)............. 2717, 2724

Sushanta (Shri) alias Tutun Chakraborty alias Bhattacharjee v. State of Tripura, 2002 Cr LJ 195 (Guj.) : 2002(1) Gau LR 400.. 2264, 2372

Sushanta (Shri) v. State of Tripura, 2002 Cri LJ 195(Gau) : 2002(1) Gau LR 400... 2263, 2397

Sushil Ansal v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 1369 (Delhi) : 2002(4) All Cri LR 527 : 2002(1) Cur Cri R 309 : 2002(95) DLT 623......................... 1808

Sushil Kr. Bagla v. State of WB, 2004 Cr LJ 171 (Cal) : 2004(2) All Cri LR 192 : 2003 Cal Cri LR 274 : 2003(2) Cal HN 324 : 2003 (3) Cal LT 470. 2584

Sushil Kumar Rai v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3536 (All) : 2004(49) All Cr LC 291 : 2004(2) All Cri R 1813. 2044

Sushil Kumar Sanghi v. State, 1995 JCC 37 (Del). 2628

Sushil Kumar Sharma v. Union of India, 2005 Cr LJ 3439 (SC) : 2005(6) SCC 281 : 2005(5) Supreme 137 : 2005 SCC (Cr) 1473 : 2005(2) JCC 1193 : AIR 2005 SC 3100 : 2005 AIR SCW 3569 : 2005 AIR Jhar HCR 2108. .... 1909, 2944

Sushil Kumar v. State of Punjab, AIR 2010 SC 832 : 2009 (10) SCC 434 : 2009 (3) Crimes 391 (SC) : 2009 (11) JT 368 : 2009 (12) Scale 105 : 2009 (13) SCR 1082 : 2009 (6) Supreme 228 : 2009 (7) SLT 331......................... 1476

Sushil Kumar v. State of Punjab, AIR 2010 SC 832. ....1558, 1681

Sushil Mandal v. State of M.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 739 (MP).. 2210

Sushil Murmu v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 (3) East Cr C 20 (SC). 1681

Suyambu Nadar v. State, 1999 Cri LJ 394 (Mad).. 2740

Swain v. State, (1992) 2 Ker LJ 724 (DB)... 1576

Swarn Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 775 (P&H). 2345

Swami Dhirendra Brahmachari v. Shailendar Bhushan, (1994) 1 Crimes 981 : (1995) 53 DLT 696 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 473 : (1994) 2 CC Cases 135 (Del).................. 2673, 2723

Swamy Prahaladdas v. State of M.P., 1995 SCC (Cr) 943 (SC) : 1995 Supp(3) SCC 438... 1907

Swamy Shraddananda @ Murali Manohar Mishra v. State of Karnataka, 2008 CriLJ 391 (SC).. 1685

Swamygowda v. State of Karnataka, 1997 Cri LJ 423 (Kant). 1631

Swapna Saha Bhowmik v. State of Tripura, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1893 (Gau). 1885, 1896

Syed Akbar v. State of Karnataka, (1980) 1 SCC 30 : 1979 Cri LJ 1374. 1805

Syed Amjad Ahmad v. State of A.P., 1993 Cr LJ 1920 (AP). 2266, 2321

Syed Asifuddin v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 4314 (AP) : 2005 CLC 1685 : 2006(1) AIR Jhar R (NOC) 4 (AP)... 2621

Syed Hakkim v. State, 2009 (4) SCC 324 : 2009 CrLJ 1891 : 2009 (3) JT 443 : 2009 (2) SCR 1060 : 2009 (3) Scale 277 : 2009 (2) SLT 632. 2946

Syed Kaleem v. M/s. Mysore Lakshami Beedi Works, 1993 Cri LJ 232 (Kant). 2700, 2713

Syed Mohd. Owais v. State of Maharashtra, 2003 Cr LJ 303 (Bom) : 2003(1) Bom LR 513 : 2002(4) Cur Cri R 383 : 2003(3) Mah lJ 261. 2511

Syed Pasha v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 4223 (Kant).. 2338

Syed Shafiq Ahmed v. State of Maharashtra, 2002 Cri LJ 1403 (Bom.): 2002 All MR (CRI) 1617 : 2001(3) Mah LR 726.................. 2089

T

T. Anjanamma v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1995 Cr LJ 1462 (AP).................................... 1769

T. Govindaraju v. State of Karnataka, (1995) 1 East LJ 38 (Kant) : 1995 Cri LJ 1491 (Kant). 2843, 2845

T.J. Mohan v. State by Inspector of Police, Tiruvellore Police Station, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 88 (Mad). 2903

T.J. Mohan v. State, (1995) 1 LW (Cr) 75 (Mad). 2903

T.K. Gopal v. State of Karnataka, 2000 Cr LJ 2286 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 1669 : 2000(6) JT 177 : 2000(4) Scale 373 : 2000(3) Supreme 706 : 2000(2) Crimes 245 (SC). 2322

T.K.N. Unithan v. Dr. Madhukar Shyam Chaturvedi, (1993) IV CCR 2834 (Raj).... 2721

T.P. Amina v. Dr. P. Nalla Thampy Thera, 2003 Cr JL 2945 (Ker) : 2003(4) All Cri LR 212. 2674

T.V. Eachare Warrier v. T.O. Kunchiraman Nambiar, 1994 JIC 13 (SC). 2144

Tahir Mohammed v. State of M.P., 1993 Cri LJ 193 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 931 : 1993 Supp(2) SCC 697 2530

Tamil Mani v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 691 (Mad). 1496

Tamilselvane v. U.T. of Pondicherry, 1997 (1) Crimes 153 (Mad). 1967

Tan Sukh v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 96 (Raj). 2174

Tangirala Venkateswarlu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4034 (AP) : 2003 (2) ALD (CRL) 261 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 158 2340

Tanguru Munda v. State of Orissa, (1995) 1 Crimes 99 (Ori) 1606

Tankasala Ashok v. State of A.P., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2074 (AP). 3037

Tapeshwar Yadav v. State of Bihar, 2002 Cri LJ 698 (Pat.) : 2001(2) East Cri C 22. .... 2486, 2516

Tara Chand v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 64 (P&H). 1772

Tara Devi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 329 (Jhar) : 2003(2) All ind Cas 555 : 2003 Cri R (SC Mah Guj) Guj 141 : 2003(1) Cur Cri R 241 : 2002(3) Gcd Guj 2389 : 2002(3) GujLR 2561. 2258

Tara Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 271 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 457 : (1994) 1 SLJ 735 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 200 (P & H). 2078

Tara Singh v. State of Rajasthan 2000 Cri LJ 1982 (Raj). 2499

Tarachand v. State of Rajasthan 2001 CriLJ 3604 (Raj) : 2001(1) CCR 524 (525). 2169

Tarlochan Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CC Cases 268 (P&H) 2806

Tarseem Kumar v. Delhi Administration, (1994) 3 Crimes 181 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 2585. ... 1491

Tarsem Lal v. Koer Chand, (1994) 2 Recent CR 57 (P&H). 2698

Tarsem Lal v. Koer Chand, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 357. 2723

Tarsem Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2008 SC 1454 : 2009 (17) SCR 379 : 2008 (13) JT 185 (SC) : 2008 (16) Scale 148 (SC) : 2009 (1) SLT 207 (SC) : 2009 (1) Crimes 168 (SC) : 2009 (1) JCC 372 (SC). 1845, 1867, 1877

Taru Das v. State of Tripura, 2008 CriLJ 3143 (Gau). 2181, 2195, 2268

Tayab Khan v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 180 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1079 : 2004(1) East Cri C 149 : 2003(4) JLJR 34. 1865

Teenu Kanta Vardhan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 175 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (Crl) 906 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 490. 2378

Tej Khan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 276 (MP) : 2003 Cri LR (SC&MP) MPJ 815 : 2003(4) MPLJ 581. 2413

Tej Singh v. State (Delhi Admn.). 1991 JCC 205 (Del). 2683

Teja Sinah v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 280 (Raj). 2013

Tejgir v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 324. 1544

Tek Chand Gain. v. State, (1992) 47 DLT 28. 2706

Teklal Mahto v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 84 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1351 : 2003(3) East Cri C 143. 1633

Thakara Besra v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 596 (Ori). 2352

Thakkan Jha v State of Bihar, (2004) 13 SCC 348. .... 1836, 1850

Thakur Ram v. State of U.P., 1995 All LJ 848 (All). 1959

Thalli v. State of M.P., 2001 Cr LJ 4606 (M.P.). 2408

Thambi Nair v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 493 : 2002(1) All MR (Cri) 615. 2512

Thamilarasan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1639 (Mad) : 2004(4) All Cri LR 405 : 2004(1) Mad LW (Cri) 401. 1741

Thangal Kunju Musaliar v. M. Venkatichalam Potti., 1955 (2) SCR 1196 : AIR 1955 SC 191 : AIR 1956 SC 246. 2944

Thangaraj v. State, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3409 (Mad). 1940, 1947, 2046

Thankachan v. State of Kerala, 2005 Cr LJ 4130 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3819 : AIR 2005 SCW 4577 : 2005(3) Crimes 255 : 2005(6) Supreme 14. 1743

Thankayyan v. State of Kerala, 1994 SSC (Cri) 1751. 1542

Thanu v. State, (2004) 1 Crimes 71 (Chh). . 1636

Thathadi Appala Naidu v. The Inspector of Police Gagapathingaram Circle, 1999 Cri LJ 1186 (AP). 1708

Thathanna v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 1 Cr C 428 (SC) : 1994 Cr LJ 632 : AIR 1994 SC 652. .... 2082, 2083

Thavaraj Pandian v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2642 (Mad) : 2003(2) Cur Cri R 54 : 2003(1) Mad LW (Cri) 413. 2502

The Public Prosecutor v. Pathuraji Narasimha Rao, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 229 : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1124 : 2003(9) All Ind Cas 599 : 2003(2) BLJR 1389. 1688

The Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P., Hyderabad vs K. Venkateshwarlu, 2010 Cri LJ 1568 (AP). 2381, 2413

Thilari Narayana Rao v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 171 : 2003(1) ALD (CRL) 392. 2960

Thomas v. State of Kerala, 1999 Cr LJ 1297 (Ker). 2291

Tika Ram Chettri vs State of Sikkim, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4025 (Sikkim). 3072, 2165, 2241, 2384, 2420, 424

Tilak Bedia v. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand), 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 180 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1079 : 2004(1) East Cri C 149 : 2003(4) JLJR 34. 1867

Tilak Chand alias Sita Ram v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 3 Crimes 426 : 1995 Cr R 868 (Bom). 1508

Tilak Raj Sood v. (Smt) Sudesh Sood, (1994) 2 CC Cases 179 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 407 (P&H). 2599

Tipparam Prabhakar v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2009 CrLJ 3032 : 2009 (6) JT 205 : 2009 (6) Scale 375 : 2009 (7) SCR 142 : 2009 (5) SLT 94. 1599

Tirath Singh v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 157 (N). 2343

Toran Singh Yadav v. State of M.P., 2010 (3) CrLJ 2601 (MP). 2085, 2089

Tota Ram v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 827 (Alld). 2458

Tribhuwan Singh v. State of U.P., 1995 All LJ 598 (All). 2040

Trikambhai v. State of Gujarat, 2000 Cri LJ 4363 (Guj) : 2000 (3) Guj LR 1925 : 2000 Cr. LR (Guj) 593. 1656

Trilochan Dhal v. State, (1995) 8 OCR 57 (Ori). 2017

Trilochan Singh Johar v. State, 2002 Cri LJ. 3268. 2090

Trilok Chand v. State of Rajasthan, 1992 (1) WLC 628 (Raj). 2721

Tuaram Gundu Naik v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 SCC (Cri) 432 ; (1994) 1 SCC 465. 1934

Tubibhai Jivabhai Changani v. State of Gujarat 2001 Cri LJ 741 (SC) : 2001(1) SCC 719 : 2001(1) JT 156 : 2000(8) Scale 238 : 2000(8) Supreme 455. 2870

Tulabala Sardesai v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 204 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 924 : 12003(2) JCR JHA 682. 1607

Tulsa Ram v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 266 (P & H). 1823

Tulsamma v. Jagnnath, 2004 Cr LJ 4272 (Kant) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 3111 : 2004(4) Crimes 252 : 2001(6) Kant LJ 43. 2917

Tulshiram Murlidhar Gave v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 198 (Bom). .. 2169

Tulsiram karu v. State, AIR 1954 SC 1 1954 Cri LJ 225. 2491

Tulsiram v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 142 (N) (MP). 2076

U

U. Dhar v. State of Jharkhand, 2003 Cr LJ 1224 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 974 : 2003 AIR SCW 466 : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 296. 2560

U. Suvetha v. State, 2009 (6) SCC 757 : 2009 CrLJ 2974 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 357 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 222 : 2009 (7) SCR 902 : 2009 (7) Scale 149 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 797 : 2009 (4) SLT 462 : 2009 (3) JCC 1677. 2970

Udai Man Gurung. v. State of Sikkim, 2002 Cri LJ 691, Sikkim. H.C. : 2001(3) Crimes 364. 1723

Udai Prakash Ojha v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ NOC 53 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 206 : 2005(4) Crimes 438 : 2004(4) JCR JHA 192 : 2004(4) JLJR 303. 2394

Udai Singh son of Mukhan Singh v. State of U.P., 1995 All LJ 564 (All). 2765

Udai Singh v. State of U.P, 1995 JIC 316 (All). 2765

Udaibhan Singh v. State of M.P., (1995) 2 CCR 726 (MP). 2208

Uday v. State of Karnataka, 2003 Cr LJ 1539 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1639 : 2003(2) Crimes 176 : 2003(4) SCC 46. 2394

Ujagar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Crimes 1164 (SC) : 1994 Supp (2) SCC 214 : 1994 (3) JT 167 : 1994 (2) Scale 488 : 1994 (2) CCR 467 (SC) : 1994 () UJ 567 : 1994 JCC 443 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1470. 1491

Ujagar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 CCR 247 (P&H). 2599

Ujjagar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 Cri LJ 2633 (P&H). 1763

Ukarda v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 351. 1501

Uma Dutta (Smt.) v. G. Mahadevan, 1993 Cri LJ 3231 (Ori).......... 2664

Uma Dutta v. G. Mahadevan, (1994) 1 East Cr C 15 (Ori). 2692

Uma Shankar Pandey v. CBI, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 225 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 2295 : 2003(3) BLJR 2190 : 2003(3) East Cri 511. 2711

Uma Shanker Bharti v. State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 362 (All). 1952, 2054

Umashanker v. State of Chattisgarh 2001 Cr LJ 4696 (SC) : AIR 2001 SC 3074 : 2001(9) SCC 642 : 20001(8) JT 322 : 2001(7) Scale 37. .... 2897, 2898

Umed Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 414 (Raj). 1723, 1754

Umed Singh v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 3763 (Uttaranachal) : 2005(2) UC 1196. 2522

Umesh Kumar Singh alias Umesh Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1504 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 637 : 2003(3) East Cri C 432 : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 924. 2519

Umesh Kumar v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 908 (SC) :AIR 2005 SC 726: 2005 (5)All Cri C 760 : 2005 SCJ 218 : 2005 (1) Scale 300 : 2005(1) Supreme 324.......... 2531

Umesh v. State of M.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 261 (MP). 2489, 2497

Ummed Singh v. State of M.P., 2010 (2) CriLJ 1257 (M.P).......... 2727, 2860

Ummed Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3632 (Raj) : 2003(3) Raj Cri C 1297 : 2003(3) Raj LR 162 : 2003(4) Raj LW 2290 : 2003(3) WLC 465. .... 1492, 1615

Ummilal v. State of M.P., 1936 OWN 597 ; AI 1981 SC 1710 : 1981 Cr LJ 1446. 148

Undavali Narayana Rao v. State of Andhr Pradesh, 2009 (3) Crimes 265 (SC) : 2009 (9 JT 573 : 2009 (10) Scale 125 : 2009 (5 Supreme 608 : 2009 (11) SCR 660 : 2009 (6 SLT 795. 298

Union of India v. Anand Singh Bisht, 1996 Cr LJ 4435 (SC). 196

Union Territory of Goa v. Boaventura D' Souza 1993 Cr LJ 181.......... 189

Unus Khan Sardar Khan Pathan v. State Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Mah LR 18 (Bom 163 Upendra Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1390 (Jha : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 312 : 2003(1) JCR JH 245. 234

Urmila (Smt.) v. State of U.P., 1994 UP Cr R 38 (All). 292

Usha (Smt) v. State of U.P. 1994 ACC 101 : 199 UP Cr R 249.......... 164

Usha K. Pillai v. Raj Kumar Srinivas, 1993 C LJ 2669 (SC) : AIR 1993 (SC) 2090 : 1993(JT 254 : 1993(2) Scale 734 : 1993(2) Crime 336. 220

Usill v. Hules, 3 CPD 310 ; Kimeer v. Pres Association, 1 QB 65. 301

Utham Kumar Jain v. The State of A.P., 20 CriLJ 3601 (AP).......... 246

Utpal Das v. State of West Bengal, 2010 (3) Cr 2867 (SC)..........2320, 238

Uttam Bhagwant Sangle v. State Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Bom CR 631 : (1995) B Cr C 99 (Bom).......... 163

Uttam Ghosh v. State of West Bengal, 2004 LJ 440 (Cal) : 2003(1) All Cri LR 399 2002(2) Cur Cri R 154.......... 19

Uttam Kr. Bose v. National Capital Territory Delhi, 2005 (2) Crimes 474 (Del). 27

Uttam Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 560 : 2002 LR (SC & MP) MPJ 434.......... 15

V

V. Adinarayana v. State of M.P., 2000 Cri 1182 (AP) : 2000(1) ALT (Cri) 172 (AP). .. 18

V.M. Shanmuga Sundaram v. Margabandh (1994) 1 LW (Cri) 210 : 1994 Mad LJ (Cr) 1 (Mad). 2719, 2722, 27

V.M. Telang v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3653 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (Cri) 1727 : 2004 (1) Bom CR (Cri) 139.......3036

V.N. Sharma (Dr.) v. State, (1995) 3 CC Cases 260 (P&H).......2965

V.N. Sharma (Dr.) v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 1116 (Del).......2259

V.R Murthy v. State, (1994) 2 CHN 372 (Cal).2004

V.R. Dalai v. Yogendra Naranji Thakkar, AIR 2008 SC 2793 : 2008 (9) SCR 107 (SC) : 2008 (6) JT 564 (SC) : 2008 (8) Scale 156 (SC) : 2008 (4) Supreme 374 (SC) : 2008 (5) SLT 289 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1418 (SC).......2729, 2586

V.R. Murthy v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 367 (Cal).......2108

V.Y. Jose v. State of Gujarat, 2009 (3) SCC 78 : 2008 (16) Scale 167 : 2008 (17) SCR 588 : 2009 (1) SLT 535.......2676, 2730

Vadivel v. Packialakshmi, 1996 Cri LJ 300 (MP).......2583

Vaher Singh Ramjibhai v. State of Gujarat, 2001 Cr LJ 4485 (Guj).......2334

Vajrapu Sambayya Naidu v. State of UP, 2003 Cr LJ 4433 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 3706 : 2003 AIR SCW 4212.......2790

Vallabh Ramji v. State of Gujarat, (1994) 1 Crimes 198 (Guj) : 1994 Cr LR (Guj) 72. 1631

Valmiki Faleiro v. Mrs. Laurina Fernandes, 2005 Cr LJ 2498 : 2005 All MR (CRI) 2509 : 2005(2) Bom CR (Cri) 465.......3036

Vanalalbela (Shri) v. The State of Mizoram, 2006 CriLJ 1733 (Gau).......2389

Vanamala Ameranadh v. State of A.P. 2001 Cr LJ 4498(AP).......1890

Vanka Radhamanohari (Smt.) v. Vanka Venkata Reddy, (1993) 3 SCC 4: 1993 AIR SCW 3595.......2969

Vankar Jahabhai Shankerbhai v. State of Gujarat, 2001 Cri LJ 1647 (Guj).......2080

Varadarajan v. State of Madras, AIR 1965 SC 942 : 1965 (2) Cri LJ 33.......2212

Varda v. State of Rajasthan, 2001 Cri LJ 1283 (Raj).......2260

Varri Appalanaidu v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 1459 (AP).......1935, 1958, 1960, 1967

Vasant Laxman More v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1973 SC 806 : 1973 Cr LJ 583 ; AIR 1975 SC 762 ; 1974 Cr LJ 1166 : AIR 1974 SC 1697.......1499

Vasant Vithu Jadhav v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 1786: AIR 2004 SC 2678: 2004(9) SCC 31: 2004(3) JT 267: 2004 (2) Suprme 351: 2004(2) Crimes 5 (SC).......1919, 1957

Vashram Narshibhai Rajapara v. State of Gujarat, 2002 Cri LJ 2930 (S.C.) : AIR 2002 SC 2211 : AIR 2002 SCW 2314 : 2002(2) Crimes 306 : 2002(4) Scale 95.......1687

Ved Parkash v. State of Haryana, 1996 Cri LJ 4156 (SC) : AIR 1996 SC 2795 : 1996(6) Scale 78 : 1996(6) Supreme 371 : 1996(3) Crimes 194 (SC).......045, 2048

Vedprakash Bhai v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1995 Cr LJ 893 (MP).......1891, 1904

Veera Swamy Shanmaugam Sundaram v. The State of AP 2001 Cri LJ 3787 (AP).......2898

Veerabagu (Dr.) v. Deveraj, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 435 (Mad).......2119

Veerabhadra Rao v. Government of Andhra Pradesh, 1994 (XXXVIII) MLJ (Cri) 277 (AP).......2596

Veerabharathi v. State 2000 Cri LJ 4236 (Med).......1656

Veerappan v. State, (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 11 (Mad).......1492

Veerla Venkateshwara Rao v. State of A.P., 2005 (2) Crimes 486 (AP).......1897

Vellingiri v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 738 (Mad).... 2342

Velu alias Javelu v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3783 (Mad) : 2004 Mad LJ (Cri) 988.......1976

Vempati Kanuka Rao v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 877 (AP) : 2004(2) ALD (CRL) 227.......2646

Venkatesh v. State of Karnataka, 2005 Cr LJ 1112 (Kant) : AIR 2005 Kant HCR 307 : 2005(2) All Cri LR 139 : 2005(1) Kant LJ 612.......1941

Venkatesh v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1993 Cr LJ 61 (SC) : AIR 1993 (SC) 1230 : 1993 Supp(3) SCC 301 : 1992(2) Scale 698.......1751

Venu v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1994 SCC (Cri) 40 : 1993 Cr. LJ 3671.......1519

Venugopal v. State of Karnataka, 1999 Cri LJ 29 (SC) : 1998(3) Crimes 116 : AIR 1999 (SC) 146 : 1998 SCC (Cr) 1592 : 1998(4) Scale 375 : 1998(5) JT 307 : 1998(6) Supreme 221 : 1998 SCC (Cr) 1592.......2954

Verabharathi v. State 2000 Cri LJ 4236 (Mad). 1656

Vidhya Devi v. State of Haryana. AIR 2004 SC 1757 : 2000(1) JT 609 : 2004(1) Supreme 513 : 2004(1) Crimes 320 (SC).......... 1865

Vidyadharan v. State of Kerala, 2004 Cr LJ 605 (SC) : Air 2004 (SC) 536 : 2004(1) SCC 215 : 2003(9) JT 89 : 2003(4) Crimes 497 : 2003(8) Supreme 1210.......... 2166

Vijay Kumar Agarwal v. Mahesh Kumar Agarwal, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1753 (Uttrakhand). 2098

Vijay Kumar Thakur v. Mahesh Prasad Singh. 1992 East Cr C 278 (Pat).......... 2843

Vijay Kumar v. State of H.P., 2006 Cr LJ 412 (HP).......... 2395

Vijay Kumar v. State of Punjab, 1991 (2) CC Cases 325 (P&H). 2725

Vijay Kumar v. Sumita 2000 Cri LJ 4116 (M.P.). 2598

Vijay Peoji Tea Company v. Bimaleswar Goswami, 1994 (2) Crimes 340 (Gau)..... 2855

Vijay Prakash v. State of U.P., 2000 Cri. LJ 4157 (All). 2725

Vijay Sharma v State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 339 (MP). 2496

Vijay Singh v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 602 (All). 2044

Vijay v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 (SC) 1217 : 2009 (2) SCC 87 : 2009 (1) Crimes 178 (SC) : 2008 (15) Scale 362 : 2009 (16) SCR 890 : 2009 (1) SLT 313 : 2009 (1) JCC 113. ....1871, 1903, 2959

Vijayan alias Kochimon v. State of Kerala, 2002 Cri LJ 187 (Ker) : 2001(2) Andhy LT (CRI) Ker 241 : 2001(2) Ker LJ 236 : 2001(4) Rec Cri R 243. .... 2902, 2905

Vijayan v. State, 1993 Cr LJ 2364 (Mad). .. 2312

Vijaykumar v. State, 2009 (12) SCC 629 : 2009 CrLJ 3056 : 2009 (7) JT 36 : 2009 (6) SCR 919 : 2009 (6) Scale 364 : 2009 (8) SLT 27. .... 1511, 1943, 2046, 2047, 2132

Vijaylakshmi v. Kunnath .Kumaran, (1994) 4 SCC 656.......... 2921

Vijinder v. State of Delhi, 1997 (1) Crimes 158 (SC) : 1997 (6) SCC 171 : 1997 (3) JT 131 : 1997 (2) Scale 127 : 1997 (2) Supreme 329 : 1997 (1) SCJ 322 : 1997 91) CCR 212 (SC) : 1997 SCC (Cr) 857. .... 1582, 1583, 2226

Vikas Gupta v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 365 (P&H). 2963

Vimal Suresh Kamble v. Cheluverapinake Apal, SP, 2003 Cr LJ 910 (SC).......... 2379

Vimla (Dr.) v. Delhi Administration, AIR 1963 SC 1572. ....2693, 2704

Vinay Kumar v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 3 (SC) : 1994 Cr LJ 942 : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 719 : AIR 1994 SC 830 : 1994 Supp (1) SCC 359 : 1993 (4) Scale 567 : 1993 (3) Crimes 1055 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 719. 1633

Vincent v. State rep by Inspector of Police, Thisayan, Vilai, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 544 (Mad). 2316

Vinit v. State of Maharashtra (1994) 1 Bom CR 648. 1519

Vinod Bhalla v. State of M.P., 1992 MPLJ 580. 1576

Vinod Kumar Lekhraj Sharma v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 130 ; 1994 B Cr C 42 (Bom). 2210

Vinod Kumar v. A.C. Income Tax, (1994) 2 Bom CR 47. 2715

Vinod Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CCC 505 (P & H). 1868

Vinod Kumar v. State, (1994) 54 Del LT 697 (Del) (DB). 1519

Vinod Kumar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 189 : 2002 All LJ 2464 : 2002 (45) All Cri C 602 : 2002 (3) All Cri R 2129 : 2002 (4) Crimes 156. 1965

Vinod Kumar v. State, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 222 (Uttaranchal).......... 1889

Vinod Kumar v. State, 2007 CriLJ 2861 (Del). 2543

Vinod Kumor Gahir v. Pawan Kumari, 1991 (1) CCCases 198 (P&H).......... 2588

Vinod Malhotra v. State of Rajasthan. 1997 (1) Crimes 82 (Raj). 1644

Vinod v. State, 1994 Cr LJ 2360 (All). 2334

Vipin Kumar v. State of Haryana. 1995 (XXII) Cr LT 276 (P&H). 2949

Virender Kumar alias Bittoo v. State, (1995) 2 Crimes 466 (Del) (DB).......... 1630

Virendra Sharma v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 2644 (Del) : 2005 (120) DLT 249 (Del). 2157

Virendra Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 344 (All). 2496

Vishnu Kumar v. The State of Rajasthan 2002 Cri LJ 3346 Raj. H.C. : 2002(2) Raj LR 337 : 2002(3) WLC 618. 2210

Vishnu v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 Cri LJ 1724 (Bom). 2188, 2194

Vishnu v. State of Maharashtra, 2006 Cr LJ 303 (SC)... 2321

Vishwa Nath v. Shambhu Nath Pandeya, 1995 Cr LJ 277 (Alld)... 2998

Vishwa Nath v. State of J & K. AIR 1983 SC 174 : 1983 Cri LJ 231. .... 2614, 2880

Vishwanath v. State of MP, 2005 (3) East Cr C 140 (MP)... 1868

Vishwas Pandurang Dhivar v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 2634 (Bom).... 2398

Visveswaran v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2548 (SC) : AIR 2003(SC) 2471 : 2003(3) Crimes 32 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1270 : 2003(4) JT 367 : 2003(4) Scale 344................................. 2341

Viswanathan v. State, Rep. by Inspector of Police, Tamil Nadu, AIR 2008 SC 2222 : 2008 (6) SCR 1222 (SC) : 2008 (5) SCC 354 : 2008 (5) JT 629 (SC) : 2008 (6) Scale 462 (SC) : 2008 (4) SLT 795 (SC) : 208 (6) SRJ 41 (SC) : 2008 (2) SCC (Cr) 593 : 2008 (2) Recent CR 888 (SC).................. 2352, 2374, 2407, 2408

Vital Sadashiv Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Bom CR 702 : 1994 Cr LJ 2035 (Bom)....................................... 1517

Vithal Eknath Adlinge v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2067 : 2009 (11) SCC 637 : 2009 (3) JT 158 : 2009 (3) Scale 327 : 2009 (3) SCR 532... 1475

Vithal Sadashiv Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Bom CR 702 : 1994 Cr LJ 2035 (Bom)....................................... 1634

Vittal v. State of A.P., (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 23 (AP). 2376

Vivek Goenka v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4058 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (Cri) 1735 : 2003 (4) Mah LJ 880. 3036

W

Wachittar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 Cr LJ 1614 (P & H). 2061, 2065

Wahid Khan v. State of Madhya Pradesh. AIR 2010 SC 1 : : 2009 AIR SCW 7410 : 2010 CrLJ 517 (SC) : 2009 (4) Crimes 265 (SC) : 2009 (14) JT 510 : 2009 (15) SCR 1207 : 2009 (14) Scale 220 : 2009 (7) Supreme 584 : 2009 (9) SLT 107.............2293, 2307, 2338,. 2365, 2399, 2418

Wazibullah v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 1004 (All) : 2005 All LJ 52 : 2004(50) All Cri C 363. 2530

Y

Y. Srinivasa Rao v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 APLJ 309 (AP) : 1995 Cr LJ 1597 (AP) : (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 133 (AP). 2264, 2265, 2266

Y. Subba Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh. (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 502 (AP)................... 2897

Y. Suresh Babu v. State of A.P., (1987) 2 JT (SC) 361. .... 2064, 2088

Y. Venkaiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2311 : 2009 CrLJ 2834 : 2009(12) SCC 126 : 2009(4) Scale 154 : 2009(4) JT 432. .... 2711, 2861, 2876

Y.K. Gupta v. State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 339 (All.) : 2001(1) UP Cr R 20 (All). 2715

Yadunandan Mandal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2167 (Pat) : 2002(3) BLJ 290 : 2002(3) BLJR 2357 : 2002(3) East CriC 170 : 2002(3) Pat LJR 779. 2227

Yakub Ismailbhai Patel v. State of Gujarat, AIR 2004 SC 4209 : 2004 Cr LJ 4205 : 2004(7) JT 178 : 2004(7) Scale 374 : 2004(3) JCC 1335 : 2004(4) Recent CR 731.............. 1661

Yamunabai v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 285 : (1994) 2 Bom CR 73 : 1994 Cr LR (Mah) 217 : 1994 B Cr C 456 (Bom). 2751

Yasin v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 229 (All). .. 1502

Yatesh Kumar v. State of Rajasthan. 1999 (1) RRC 227 (Raj). 1841, 1876

Yelchuri Manohar v. State of AP. 2005 Cr LJ 4593 (AP) : 2005(2) ALD (CRL) 758 : 2005 (3) Andh LT (Cri) AP 386. 1650

Yerra Veera Lakshmi v. State of A.P., 2005 (2) Crimes 482 (AP). 1741

Yogendra Kumar v. State of U.P., 1994 All Cr C 426 : 1994 UP Cr R 227 (All). 2505

Yogesh v. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (1) CriLJ 629 (Raj). 2261, 2268, 2414

Z

Zac Poonen v. Hidden Treasure Literature Incorporated in Canada, 2002 Cri LJ 481. (Kat) : AIR 2002 Kant HCR 33 (Kant) : 2002(2) All Cri LR 771 (Kant)................. 2998

Zafar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1218 (SC) : 2003 (SC) 931 : 2003(3) SCC 51 : 2003(1) Supreme 763 : 2003(2) Crimes 93 (SC)........................ 1671

Zaffar v. State (Delhi Admn.), 1994 SCC (Cri) 295 : (1994) 1 CCR 13 (SC) : 1993 (4) Scale 571 : 1993 (3) Crimes 1096......... 1476, 1544

Zahir Ahmad v. Azamkhan, 1996 Cri LJ 27 (Cal).. 272

Zamir Ahmed v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 2354 (Del) 242

Zamir Khan vs State, 2010 (4) CriLJ 404 (Bom)................................ 1795, 1828, 183

Zindar Ali Sheikh v. State of West Bengal, AI 2009 SC 1467 : 2009 (3) SCC 761 : 200 CrLJ 1324 : 2009 (1) Crimes 315 (SC) : 200 (2) JT 253 (SC): 2009 (1) SCR 968 : 2009 (2 Scale 248 : 2009 (1) Supreme 617......... 238

Zosnaghana (Shri) v. State of Mizoram, 2005 C LJ 1057 (Gau)....................................... 234

THE INDIAN PENAL CODE

Volume II

Sec. 302. Punishment for murder.—Whoever commits murder shall be punished with death, or imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine.

Synopsis

1. Amendment....1460
2. Trial....1460
3. Commits murder....1462
4 Constitutional validity....1466
5. Principle of awarding punishment....1466
6. Age....1468
7. Circumstantial evidence....1470
8. Dead body not discovered corpus delicti....1480
9. Co-accused's sentence reduced....1480
10. Different intention....1482
11. Common Intention....1482
12. Dacoity and murder....1484
13. Drunkenness....1484
14. Duty of court, when guilt is proved....1485
15. Interference with sentence....1485
16. Interference by Supreme Court....1487
17. Excitement....1487
18. Grace and clemency....1488
19. Heat of passion....1488
20. Injuries sustained by the accused....1489
21. Ignorance....1489
22. Lapse of time....1489
23. Insanity....1490
24. Joint offence....1490
25. Motive....1491
26. Plea of Weak Motive....1494
27. Mistaken impression....1494
28. Obedience to illegal order....1494

29. Part played by the accused 1494
30. Party fight 1495
31. Murder or Free flight 1495
32. Premeditation 1495
33. Provocation 1496
34. Riot 1498
35. State of mind 1498
36. Improvement in prosecution version 1498
37. Defective Investigation—Effect 1499
38. Deliberate Change of version—Effect 1500
39. Jealousy 1500
40. Weapon used 1500
41. Single blow 1502
42. Injury on victim by reverse side of axe 1502
43. Number of knife blow injuries 1502
44. Non-explanation of injuries 1503
45. Intention 1505
46. Instigation 1510
47. Murder committed by several persons who inflicted injury not known 1511
48. While sentence under Section 307 still in force 1511
49. Custom 1512
50. Killing under officer's order 1512
51. Influence of father and elder brother 1512
52. Unsound mind 1512
53. Superstition 1512
54. Perverted sense of family honour 1512
55. Sex 1512
56. Guilt of Rape and Murder 1513
57. Accused having small child 1515
58. Accused killing ailing wife as he could not provide for operation 1515
59. Deaf and mute accused 1515
60. Cases 1515
61. Offence proved by confessions 1521
62. Argument of two lives for one 1523
63. Power of appellate Court 1523
64. High Court's power to enhance sentence 1524
65. Relative eye witness 1524
66. Interested witness 1526
67. Child witness 1527
68. Injured witness 1528

69. Approver's evidence 1530
70. Chance-witness 1531
71. Accused belonging to a particular community 1532
72. Other extenuating circumstances 1533
73. Kidnapping and murder 1533
74. Murder committed in consequence of abduction 1533
75. Section 302 and Section 149 1533
76. Imposition of fine in addition to death 1537
77. Difference of opinion between Judges 1538
78. Deterrent sentence 1538
79. Conviction under different sections 1540
80. Acquittal 1546
81. Duty of Judge not passing sentence of death 1554
82. Evidence and proof 1558
83. Inconsistency between ocular and medical evidence 1585
84. Inconsistent/Doubtful/Insufficient Evidence 1591
85. Last seen together 1597
86. Benefit of doubt 1601
87. Confession 1604
88. Extra Judicial Confession 1607
89. Private defence 1607
90. Murder in private defence 1610
91. Presumption 1611
92. Mode of leading evidence 1612
93. Murder extenuating circumstances 1612
94. Motive, adequacy of 1612
95. Illicit Relations 1615
96. Joint offence 1615
97. Sections 302, 34, 149 and 147 1617
98. Sections 302 and 304 1618
99. Sections 302 and 303 1621
100. Murder and unlawful assembly 1621
101. Sections 302 and 34 1623
102. Sections 302 and 325 1625
103. Several accused 1625
104. Abettor 1626
105. Murder or culpable homicide 1626
106. Homicide or suicide 1628
107. Determination as to murder or suicide 1629
108. Procedure 1630

....1630

109. Right of private person to insist upon enquiry 1630

110. Charge 1631

111. Bail 1631

112. Dying declaration 1641

113. Capital Punishment—Rarest of Rare cases. 1653

114. Punishment in cases where self defence is borne out 1657

115. Term "imprisonment" 1657

116. Eye-witness—Testimony of 1665

117. Delay in examination of 1665

118. Testimony of eye-witness in darkness 1666

119. Interested witness 1666

120. Evidence of Solitary Eye witness 1667

121. Solitary eye-witness 1667

122. End of Socitary Witness 1668

123. Conviction 1671

124. Conviction held not sustainable 1676

125. Medical evidence 1677

126. Death Sentence 1684

127. Appreciation of Evidence 1684

128. Awarding of Sentence—Interpetation of Judgement 1685

129. Death Sentence reduced to life Imprisonment 1693

130. Injuries. 1693

131. Conduct of witness 1694

132. Conversion of offence—Permissibility 1694

133. Time of death—Determination. 1694

134. Intention to cause death—Determination. 1694

1. Amendment.—The words in italics were substituted for "transportation for life" by Act 26 of 1955, Sec. 117 and Sch. for "transportation for life" (with effect from 1.1.1956).

Transportation for life.—This punishment should be awarded in cases of tender age. 11 CWN 904.

2. Trial.—The law provides only two possible punishments for murder, i.e., death or transportation for life. It is triable by Courts of Sessions. Where the case is inadvertently transferred to Asst. Sessions Judge, he should return the case at once. AIR 1944 Pat 92 : 45 Cr LJ 409.

Where wife causing death of her husband by administering poison and there are other clinching evidence too. Conviction held, not vitiated due to mere failure of the prosecution to prove possession of poison with the accused. Nirmala Devi (Smt.) v. State of J&K, 1994 SCC (Cri) 262 : 1994 (1) SCC 394 : 1994 Cr LJ 599 : AIR 1994 SC 566.

Delay in filing FIR—Delayed dispatch to Magistrate. Whenever there is delay in lodging the FIR and/or there is delay in dispatching the report to the Elaka Magistrate and/or the medical evidence is at some variance with the ocular evidence. The prosecution has to fail in the instant case the combined effect of the three factors leave no manner of doubt that prosecution has failed to establish the accusations. The view taken by the High Court is a possible view and we do not consider this to be a fit case where any interference is called for. State of Punjab vs. Avtar Singh, 2009 (10) SCC 800 : 2008 (14) Scale 368 : 2008 (12) JT 309 : 2008 (15) SCR 37 : 2009 (2) SLT 66.

Sufficient explanation for Delay in lodging.—Inspector of Police Station received a telephonic message from the Nursing Home. He arrived at the Nursing Home at about 7 O'Clock, recorded the statement of Viswanathan, brother-in-law of the deceased (PW-1). The First Information Report was registered by him after coming back to the Police Station at about 8.30 p.m. He visited the place of occurrence on the next day. By that time, as noticed hereinbefore, the deceased breathed his last.

Some delay might have been caused in lodging of the First Information Report, but, the same has sufficiently.been explained. It is true that PW-7 in his evidence stated that he had sent the information to the Police Station but he also admitted that the same was not recorded in the accident register. PW-7 was examined after a period of more than six years from the date of the incident. At the time of his deposition, he was working in the ESI Hospital, Salem as Medical Officer. The Inspector of Police PW-13 in his evidence categorically stated that he received the telephonic message at about 6 O'Clock in the evening from the Nursing Home and he reached there at about 7 O'Clock. We do not find any reason to disbelieve the said evidence brought on record by the prosecution.

PW-4 Sekaran, son of the deceased in his deposition, who has not been cross-examined, categorically stated that he had been working in a company known as Power Held norporation of India at K.R. Thoppur. He was informed about the incident by his material aunt Chandra (PW-2) when she came in a car and took him to the Shanmugha Nursing Home where the deceased was admitted in its Intensive Care Unit. The fact that he had to be brought to the Nursing Home by PWs is again a pointer to the fact that they were busy in not only making arrangements for proper medical treatment of the deceased but also intimating the son of the deceased (PW-4) and bringing him to the hospital at the earliest possible opportunity. We, therefore, are of the opinion that the delay in lodging the First Information Report has sufficiently been explained. Padmanaban vs. State, AIR 2010 (SC) 47 : 2009 (10) JT 172 : 2009 (12) SCR 252 : 2009 (10) Scale 526 : 2009 (6) SLT 751 : 2009 (5) Supreme 763.

Delay in lodging—When not fatal. No doubt lodging of a First Informing Report at the earliest possible opportunity is desirable. But, the Courts cannot also ignore the ground realities that the relatives of the deceased would give priority to the treatment of a severely injured person. All attempts would first be made to save his life. The action on the part of the prosecution witnesses, in our considered opinion, in giving priority to the treatment to the injured was wholly justifiable. Padmanaban vs. State, AIR 2010 (SC) 47 : 2009 (10) JT 172 : 2009 (12) SCR 252 : 2009 (10) Scale 526 : 2009 (6) SLT 751 : 2009 (5) Supreme 763.

Where there was 2-1/2 years' delay in lodging the FIR. It was held, fatal to the prosecution case. Under the circumstances of the case, 2-1/2 years delay in lodging the FIR would prove fatal to the prosecution case, as it would lead to the only irresistible conclusion that the victim had suffered injuries due to accidental fall and the possibility of false implication of the accused by Swaran Kaur in consultation with her brother, Sarwan Singh and aforesaid Bhajan Singh cannot be ruled out. If that is so then the order of conviction and sentence of the trial Court being not sustainable is hereby set aside by according the appeal and acquitting the appellant. Jugraj Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 437 at p. 441 (P&H).

Where petitioner admittedly being owner of the vehicle—Chief Judicial Magistrate declined to release it on ground that it was case property which will be required during trial of murder case. It is held, that order of CJM should be set aside and vehicle be released in petitioner's favour. Ram Prakash Prajapati v. State of UP, 1994 ACC 185 : 1994 (23) ALR 430 (All).

Where accused was never produced before trial Court from jail and neither an application was filed for exemption from personal appearance nor the—Evidence of all witnesses recorded in his absence. Hence the conviction and sentence of death of accused was set aside and case was remanded back for retrial. State of M.P. v. Budh Ram Kunku Ram Satnami, 1995 MPLJ 906 (MP).

3. Commits murder.—A man who strikes another with a knife in the throat must know that the blow is so imminently dangerous that it must in all probability cause death and the injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. 8 Pat 911. Where the husband killed his wife's lover while the latter was asleep and it appeared that he had himself placed his wife in a position of temptation by absenting himself for several months. Held, that the murder being premeditated and deliberate, capital sentence should be inflicted. 109 Ind Cas 113 : 29 Cr LJ 456 : AIR 1928 Oudh 241. Where a person is attacked and killed it must be decided whether the assailant is guilty of culpable homicide and if so, whether the culpable homicide amounts to murder or not. AIR 1928 Lah 868. Where a blow aimed by a person at his wife did not strike the wife but struck another and killed that other. Held, that the accused was guilty of an offence under Section 302, IPC. 107 Ind Cas 764 : 29 Cr LJ 280 : AIR 1928 Lah 344. The mere fact that more prompt or better treatment would have saved the deceased cannot exonerate the accused from liability for the murder of the accused. 108 Ind Cas 164 : 29 Cr LJ 345 : 10 AI Cr R 39.

If one person causes death of another, that if his intention was to cause death or to cause bodily injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, the offence would be murder, even though death resulted in a way different from that expected by assailant. 5 Rang 817 : 29 Cr LJ 280-AIR 1928 Lah 344. The mere fact that more prompt or better treatment would have saved the deceased can not exonerate the accused from liability for the murder of the accused. 108 Ind 164 : 29 Cr LJ 345 : 10 AI Cr R 39. If one person causes death of another then if his intention was to cause death or cause bodily injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death the offence would be murder, even though death resulted in a way different from that expected by the assailant. 5 Rang 817 : 109 Ind Cas 215 : 29 Cr LJ 487 : 109 Ind Cas 215 : AIR 1928 Rang 64. In a trial under this section, for murder by firearm, the prosecution has to show not only that the firing was intentional or voluntary but also that the firing was prompted by any such intention or knowledge as is mentioned in Section 300, IP Code. AIR 1949 Lah 85 : 50 Cr LJ 397. If neither ingredient is proved the offence committed is not murder. The initial onus of proving intent is on the prosecution. Ibid : See also AIR 1948 Lah 74 : 49 Cr LJ 106.

If a man stab another over the heart deliberately with a knife capable of penetrating into the heart, the offence would be murder. 138 Ind Cas 217 : 33 Cr LJ 570 : 33 PLR 287. Where stab wound punctures liver and diaphragm, person inflicting such wound is guilty of murder. AIR 1933 Rang 423. Where accused placed deceased while unconscious on railway line and death was caused, he was guilty of murder. 145 Ind Cas 953 : 1933 Cr C 1400 : 65 MLJ 597 : 1993 MWN 745 : AIR 1933 Mad 798. Where son suddenly and in heat of passion strikes his father and causes his death, offence under Section 304 (2) and not under Section 302 was committed. AIR 1933 Lah 664 : 34 PLR 330 : 1993 Cr C 886. In case of alleged poisoning the two material questions requiring determination are, firstly did the deceased die of poison, and secondly had the poison been administered to the deceased by the accused. 148 Ind Cas 600 : 35 Cr LJ 700 : 11 OWN 312 : AIR 1934 Oudh 180. Where the medical evidence does not support that the deceased met with a violent death no charge of murder can be brought home to any one. 149 Ind Cas 473 : 35 Cr LJ 992 : 11 OWN 722 AIR 1944 Oudh 286 ; see also 151 Ind Cas 238 : 35 Cr LJ 1283 : AIR 1934 Lah 368. Where the case is on the border line between murder and culpable homicide not amounting to murder, accused is entitled to benefit of reasonable doubt and can be convicted under Section 304, 150 Ind Cas 599 : 35 Cr LJ 111 : AIR 1934 Rang 110; see also 151 Ind Cas 469 : 35 Cr LJ 1319 : 1934 Cr C 554 : AIR 1934 Lah 332. The mere fact that the body of the murdered person has not been found is not a ground for refusing to convict an accused person of murder, 152 Ind Cas 376 : AIR 1934 Sind 139. For conviction Section 302, there must be good and sufficient evidence to support it. That the Session Judge is morally convinced of guilt is not sufficient AIR 1935 Pat 19. Where severe blow on head with deadly weapon causes extensive fracture of skull, the accused in guilty of murder even if victim dies only a month after attack, AIR 1935 Lah 94. The fact that the accused was starving is no justification for committing the brutal and wicked crime under that section. AIR 1935 Rang 49. Where a person was seriously injured by the accused and died subsequently, but in post-mortem examination it was found that the immediate cause of death was gangrene which had set in the right foot and leg as a result of injury. Held, that the accused were guilty of an offence under this section. AIR 1938 Lah 31.

In any case where the body has disappeared it must necessarily be very difficult to prove first of all that the supposedly murdered person has actually died, and secondly he died a violent death at the hands of the accused. This is specially so where the disappearance has taken in circumstances where it is not humanly impossible for him to convict the accused 9 Pat LT 449 : 111 Ind Cas 721 : 20 Cr LJ 913 : AIR 1928 Pat 473.

Two girls were quarrelling about a small quantity of gram. During the quarrel the elder girl gave a blow to the younger with a thin lathi. The uncle of the younger girl, who then came to the place, gave a blow with a lathi on the head of the elder girl and the elder girl at once fell down. After she fell down, he gave two more blows on her thigh. The girl died. Held that the accused was guilty of an offence under Section 304, para 2 and not under Section 302. 9 Pat LT 286 : 7 Pat 638 : 106 Ind Cas 433 : 29 Cr LJ 17 : 1 LT 40 Pat 28 : AIR 1928 Pat 169. The mere discovery of a blood stained hatchet in the field belonging to the accused and the unsatisfactory evidence of an expert tracker were insufficient to support a conviction of murder. 29 PLR 388 : 4 Lah LJ 311 : 110 Ind Cas

329 : 29 Cr LJ 1097 : AIR 1928 Lah 724. The mere presence of the accused at the house where the deceased was staying would not by itself be convincing evidence of conspiracy to murder it be shown that they were in some way connected with murder, 32 CWN 783. Where they only evidence against the accused was proof of motive and the production of the corpse of the murdered person, held, that the evidence was not sufficient to sustain a conviction under Section 302, IP Code, but that a conviction under Section 201, IP Code. could not be maintained. 29 PLR 33 : 107 Ind Cas 982 : 29 Cr LJ 252. During the progress of an inquiry into offence of murder of deceased was alleged to have pointed out a heap of Turi belonging to some Zamindar and from it were recovered a hatchet and. dang which were blood-stained and it appeared from the evidence of witness that a hatchet and dang were used in the murder. Held, that the Turi heap being available to everybody, it might be that the accused saw some other person placing the articles there and that the mere fact that he gave the information as to discovery did not conclusively establish his guilt. 10 Lah LJ 58 : AIR 1928 Lah 335. B and S were charged under Section 302, for the murder of R, who according to village rumour, was in intrigue with G's wife M, sister to BS was the brother of G. A tracker followed the tracks with directions from villagers to the Ahata of S and G. Shoes of R were recovered at the instance of B. The tracker found track of B and S leading to the place where the body was later found buried. Dead body of R was found at the instance of the confession made by S. Held, that the evidence was not sufficient to establish charge under Section 362 but was ample to establish an offence under Section 201 Penal Code. 112 Ind Cas 347 : AIR 1928, 476.

Where, accused, a young woman of fifteen years of age being roused to frenzy by the ill treatment of her husband who was 40 years of age and whom she did not like, seized a stick lying by and made a murderous attack on her step son in order to avenge herself against her husband and caused the death of the infant son. Held, that her intention was to cause death and she was therefore guilty of murder. AIR 1926 Lah 144. When an accused commits an unprovoked and cowardly assault upon the deceased rushing out at him by surprise and striking him one blow only upon the head with a lathi; and the blow fractures the skull of the deceased from temple to temple the offence committed by the accused is one of murder. 95 Ind Cas 266 : 27 Cr LJ 766 : 3 OWN 451. Once it is established that a woman with a motive to get rid of her husband has administered in his food a fatal dose of dhatura, the conclusion to be drawn is that she committed murder unless her explanation is such as to create some doubt in the mind of the Court. The intention to cause bodily injury is clear and the knowledge of the results of the poison can safely be imputed. AIR 1938 Nag 318 : 174 Ind Cas 886 : 39 Cr LJ 405. A man who delivers two blows in quick succession on or in the neighbourhood of the head with a heavy weapon (rice pounder) must be regarded, in the absence of extenuating circumstances, to intend to cause injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. 1935 Cr C 1201 : AIR 1935 Rang 42 ; see also AIR 1935 Lah 94 16 Lah 589 : 158 Ind Cas 336 : 37 PLR 705 ; AIR 1935 Rang 408 : 1935 Cr C 1172.

As per the trial Court judgment the money bag looted from the deceased was recovered from accused, the brother of the appellant and it was established before the trial Court that the appellant had been demanding "Rangdari" from the deceased on telephone. The trial Court believed Ashok Paswan PW. 2 and Ashok Kumar Verma PW. 5. so far as the conspiracy part is concerned as they had stated that in their presence the appellant had directed his father and brother that if deceased would not pay amount he should be finished. Both the witnesses had given satisfactory explanation for being present in Hazipur Court at the relevant point of time. The documentary evidence had been produced to the satisfaction of the Court to corroborate their evidence that the appellant was present in the Court to appear in Sessions trial. It was also satisfactorily proved that appellant had talked with co-accused, his brother and father in between the place Court Hajat and the Court. The trial Court found no reason to disbelieve the depositions of Ashok Paswan PW. 2 and Ashok Kumar Verma PW. 5. The trial Court came to the conclusion that appellant Sanichar Sahni hatched the conspiracy and directed his brother and father to finish Bhola Chaudhary in case the money was not paid by him and consequently, Bhola Chaudhary was murdered by the co-accused.

In appeal, the High Court dealt with the issue of conspiracy elaborately and found the evidence of Ashok Paswan PW. 2 and Ashok Kumar Verma PW. 5 fully trustworthy and came to the conclusion that Bhola Chaudhary was murdered by the co-accused in conspiracy for non-fulfillment of demand of 'Rangdari". The High Court held that both the said witnesses were present on that date in the Court premises Hazipur and the appellant Sanichar Sahni was also produced in the Court in custody and he met his father and brother and it was in their presence that he had asked the co-accused to finish Bhola Chaudhary if "Rangdari" was not paid.

The above concurrent findings of fact recorded by the Courts below regarding the conspiracy and murder of Bhola Chaudhary by the co-accused do not require to be interfered with as there is nothing on record to show that the said findings are perverse. Sanichar Sahni vs. State of Bihar, 2009 (7) SCC 198 : 2009 (13) JT 192 : 2009 (8) Scale 680 : 2009 (10) SCR 112 : 2009 (5) SLT 29.

Where a number of person go armed with deadly, weapons to attack a person or party it may be assumed as matter of common sense that their common intention is at least to cause grievous hurt. If in the course of the commission of that offence death is caused the person so attacking will be guilty of an offence under Section 302, IPC, 1950 ALJ 871 : AIR 1951 All 365.

In case of culpable homicide it is necessary that the person who is alleged to have been killed by the person charged, met with unnatural death caused with the intention or knowledge as mentioned in Section 299 of the Penal Code. 1979 Cr LJ 1290 ; AIR 1972 SC 169 ; AIR 1972 SC 656 (motive to be fully established) ; AIR 1978 SC 383 : AIR 1980 SC 1946 ; AIR 1976 SC 2499 ; AIR 1976 SC 242 : (1976) 3 SC 570 (where there are several accused but some of them are acquitted and the evidence regarding motive was common to all the accused, it was held that appellant was entitled to acquittal).

Motive alone however strong, it might be, cannot be made the basis of conviction of an accused person unless it receives corroboration from other sources. 1979 Cr LJ 236.

Where injury is certain to result in death, in due course of nature, and the assailant has every reason to know of it, from the nature of the wound the part of the body aimed at and the repetition of blows, there can be no doubt that he is guilty under Section 302, IPC. AIR 1983 SC 185 : 1983 Cr LJ 429 ; AIR 1983 SC 284 ; 1983 Cr LJ 346.

Where victim and accused related to each other, fighting due to heated exchange and no intention to cause death proved. No knowledge of such injury to cause death.

held offence of murder is not made out. Hence accused held guilty under Section 300, Part II. Parashram Bapu Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 272 (Bom).

Where injuries if sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. It is held, that accused's act, would fall within the ambit of Section 302 and not under Section 304, Part II. Kamta Prasad v. State of U.P. 1994 SCC (Cri) 290 : 1994 JIC 136 : (1994) 1 East Cr C (NOC) 22 : 1994 Cr LJ 1202 : AIR 1994 SC 1519. : 1993 (5) JT 171 : 1993 –Scale 666 : 1993 (3) Crimes 370.

Where the injuries found on the person of the deceased were intentionally inflicted and were sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death according to medical opinion. Hence conviction confirmed. Ram Swaroop v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 459 : 1994 Cr LR 596 : 1994 Cr LJ 3382 (Raj).

Where injury being fatal intention was to cause death, Hence, it can be assumed. Ramkishore v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1994) 1 CCR 427 (MP) : (1994) 2 EFR 186.

Where the prosecution case that the appellants were keeping an evil eye on the deceased and as stated in the FIR the informant had scolded the accused on several occasions, in these circumstances victim would have been the last person to go to the 'Gault' of the accused. After all she was a married woman and would have never liked any future incident which may bring a blot on her and which might have ruined her entire life. It also does not stand to reason that the two appellants who had a fancy for the deceased would, all of a sudden decide to murder her. By murdering the deceased they were to gain nothing. In the second place, the prosecution case that the two accused were trying to overpower the deceased in broad day light in the family 'Gault' of the informant is highly unnatural. An open piece of land was not at all a suitable place and that too in the heart of the village to make forceful advances towards a young married woman of the village. Brijendra and another v. State, 1994 All LJ 83 at pp. 88, 89 (All).

Where knife's serious injuries inflicted on vital parts of bodies of two deceased—Murderous assault by accused established—Both deceased were unarmed—Accused not pleading right of private defence—Motive made not relevant, conviction and sentence passed by High Court was justified and appeal was dismissed. Kuriakose v. State of Kerala, (1994) 1 Crimes 935 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 614 : 1994 (1) CCR 132 (SC) : 1994 (1) JT 268 : 1994 (1) Scale 270 : 1995 Cr. LJ 2687.

When identity of deceased not established and last seen together also not proved. Hence conviction set aside. Jagroop Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR 87 (Raj).

4. Constitutional validity.—Section 302 and Section 354(2) of the Criminal Procedure Code are constitutionally valid. AIR 1980 SC 898 : 1980 Cr LJ 636 : AIR 1973 SC 947 : 1973 Cr LJ 370 (the discretion of the Court to confer punishment without a guideline can not said to be excessive delegation and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution.

5. Principle of awarding punishment.—The framers of the Code have made it discretionary with Judges, to consider mitigating circumstances in awarding punishment, 12 Cr LJ 448. The Code does not, by its definition, distinguish between the different degrees of murder. But the Courts in awarding the punishment of this offence, may discriminate between a wilful, deliberate and premeditated killing, as where the murder is committed by poison or by lying in wait, etc. and murder which is committed with less deliberation or premeditation.—Morgan and Macpherson. In cases of murder extreme sentence is normal sentence. Mitigated sentence is an exception. Reason for not awarding extreme sentence must be given. AIR 1935 Oudh 265; AIR 1935 Oudh 110 ; 1944 OWN 419 ; AIR 1944 Lah 206 : 45 Cr LJ 660 ; AIR 1951 Pepsu 73 : 52 Cr LJ 498 (lesser punishment can be awarded when there are extenuating circumstances) ; 1952 MWN 958 : (1952) 2 MLJ 751 ; 1952 Cr LJ 946 : AIR 1952 Bhop 21. Under Section 302 a discretion is vested in Courts either to impose a sentence of death or of transportation for life. The true principle of exercising the direction of imposing either the penalty of death or of transportation for life should be that the sentence of death is awarded in cases in which the act is very brutal and highly repugnant to moral and the sentence of transportation for life is imposed in all other cases. 1953 Cr LJ 580 : ILR (1953) 1 All 608 : AIR 1953 All 220; AIR 1953 Mad 372 : (1952) 2 MLJ 751 : 1953 Cr LJ 651 ; 1953 Cr LJ 1802 : AIR 1953 TC 561 : 1953 Cr LJ 1465 : 1953 SCJ 532 : AIR 1953 SC 364 (There must be strong reasons to entitle the appellate Court to enhance the sentence) ; AIR 1954 Pat 109 ; (1963) 1 Andh WR 18 : 1963 Mad LJ (Cr) 2 : 1963 (I) Cr LJ 733 : AIR 1963 Andh Pra 249. The rule is that primarily the capital sentence is the normal punishment for the offence of murder and the Judge must give reasons for imposing lesser penalty in a case which comes under Section 302. 109 IC 364 : 29 Cr LJ 540. The reason for passing a lesser sentence must be adequate and express. AIR 1945 Oudh 140 ; AIR 1941 Mad 50 : 42 Cr LJ 270 ; AIR 1940 Lah 494 : 42 Cr LJ 156 ; 1 Bur LJ 96 ; AIR 1940 All 480 : 42 Cr LJ 115; AIR 1939 Pesh 47 : 41 Cr LJ 132; AIR 1939 Mad 109 : 40 Cr LJ 1166 ; AIR 1941 Mad 358 : 42 Cr LJ 411.; AIR 1930 Pat 247 ; AIR 1930 Pat 168. Under this section the sentence of transportation for life is minimum. AIR 1933 Oudh 399. A Court may recommend for reduction of sentence. 145 PLR 1902 ; NWP 130. Onus is on the accused to show circumstances for mitigating sentence. AIR 1942 Pat 113 : 43 Cr LJ 90.

It is highly undesirable that the longest term of imprisonment should not be supplemented by an additional sentence of fine. AIR 1960 All 223 : ILR (1959) 2 All 255 : 1960 Cr LJ 427 ; AIR 1957 All 1205 : 1957 Cr LJ 498 : 1958 All Cr LJ 5 ; AIR 1956 Bom 711 : 1956 Cr LJ 1306.

On the question of sentence it would be relevant to take into account the best ground of the incident, the nature and extent of the threat held out by the crowd of villagers the excitement which must have been caused at the incident, 1963 SCD 66 : 1963 (1) Cr LJ 495 : AIR 1963 SC 642 : 1963 All Cr R 170 ; See also AIR 1962 Cal 428 : 1962 (2) Cr LJ 179 (inordinate delay in trial if a valid extenuating circumstances) ; AIR 1958 Mys 150 : ILR 1957 Mys 177 : 1958 Cr LJ 1489 ; AIR 1958 AP 203 : 1958 Cr LJ 473.

In a case of murder if the Court is convinced about the truth of the prosecution story conviction has to follow. The question of sentence has to be determined, not with reference to the volume or character of evidence adduced by the prosecution in support of the prosecution case 'but with reference to the fact whether there are any extenuating circumstances which can be said to instigate the enormity of the crime. If the Court is satisfied that there are such mitigating circumstances only then it would be justified in imposing the lesser of the two sentences provided by law, AIR 1957 SC 618 : 1957 SCJ 527 : 1957 SCA 798 : 1957 SCR 981 : 1957 Cr LJ 1000 ; but see AIR 1957 All 377 :

1957 Cr LJ 617 : 1957 All LJ 802 (circumstances for awarding lesser sentence not made out) ; AIR 1956 Mad 536 : (1956)2 MLJ 43 : 1956 Cr LJ 1202 (lesser punishment) ; AIR 1956 SC 99 : 1956 Cr LJ 278 : 1956 Ker LT 92 (sentence reduced to one of transportation for life) ; AIR 1955 Andh 118 1955 Cr LJ 917 : 1955 Andh WR 53 : 1955 Cr LJ 917 ; AIR 1955 Andh 24 : 1955 Andh WR 130 : 1955 Cr LJ 329 ; AIR 1954 Mad 723 : 1953 Mad WN 941 : 1954 Cr LJ 672 (no palliative circumstance).

The deprivation of freedom consequent upon an order of conviction and sentence is not a direct and inevitable to the order of conviction and sentence which may or may not come into play, that is to say, which may or may not be passed. Thus Section 302, does not have to stand the test of Article 19 (1) of the Constitution. 1980 Cr LJ 636.

Extreme penalty was not justified in case of failure of the prosecution to prove the alleged motive and the possibility of that the quarrel started over the misbehaviour of the deceased towards the daughters of the appellant a transportation for life would fully meet the ends of justice. 1983 Cr LJ 481 : AIR 1983 SC 361.

6. Age.—Youth alone does not constitute such an extenuating circumstances as would justify the imposition of the lesser penalty prescribed by the law in Section 302, IP Code. 110 Ind Cas 234 : 29 Cr LJ 682 : AIR 1928 Lah 855 ; 107 IC 99 : 29 Cr LJ 211 ; 112 IC 348 : AIR 1928 Lah 581 AIR 1931 Oudh 89 : AIR 1930 Lah 50 : 120 IC 276 ; 188 IC 829 : 1933 Cr C 720 : 34 Cr LJ 835 : AIR 1933 Rang 134 ; AIR 1933 Oudh 52 : 88 Cr LJ 250 ; AIR 1948 Lah 104 : 44 Cr LJ 546 ; AIR 1948 Mad 69 : 44 Cr LJ 299 ; AIR 1940 Mad 710 : 42 Cr LJ 582 ; AIR 1941 Mad 358 : 42 Cr LJ 311 ; AIR 1940 All 48 : 42 Cr LJ 115. But in certain circumstances youth of the accused was taken into consideration in awarding lesser sentence. 36 Cr LJ 313 : AIR 1935 Pesh. 170 : 37 Cr LJ 201; AIR 1935 Rang 46 : 37 Cr LJ 290 : 1937 MWN 1133 ; AIR 1943 Lah 89 : 44 Cr LJ 552 ; AIR 1941 Rang 319 : 88 Cr LJ 544 ; AIR 1942 Pat 425 : 43 Cr LJ 544 ; AIR 1941 Lah 220 : 42 Cr LJ 614 ; AIR 1940 Rang 140 : 41 Cr LJ 706 ; AIR 1938 Lah 200 : 39 Cr LJ 488 ; AIR 1934 All 134 : 35 Cr LJ 448 ; 1934 Lah 786 : 36 PLR 40 : 131 IC 276 : 1931 Cr C 297 : 32 Cr LJ 682 : AIR 1931 Lah 177 ; AIR 1931 Lah 536 : 35 Cr LJ 645 ; AIR 1933 Lah 229 : 54 Cr LJ 375. The extreme youth of the accused who was only 16 years old was held to be a sufficient ground for inflicting a lesser sentence under this section. AIR 1928 Nag 108 : 29 Cr LJ 400 7 NLJ 144; 6 Lah LJ 523 ;1I CWN 904 ; 11 Ind Cas 792 : 12 Cr LJ 449 ; UBR (1892-1896) Vol. 1209 ; AIR 1931 Lah 177 38 Cr LJ 885 : AIR 1933 Rang 134 ; 33 CWN 1226 ; AIR 1929 Lah 64 : 30 Cr LJ 75 : AIR 1937 Rang 121 : 38 Cr LJ 1022 ; but see 1 Bur LJ 70 ; 11 Bur LT 100 : 45 Ind Cas 843 : 19 Cr LJ 648 : AIR 1954 Pat 109 ; AIR 1955 TC 402 : 1953 Cr LJ 1613 : ILR 1953 TC 514; 1962 MPLJ 1064 : 1962 Jab LJ 876 : 1963 (1) Cr LJ 433 : AIR 1963 Madh Pra 106 ;1962 Jab LJ 876 : 1962 MPLJ 1064 ; AIR 1960 All 748 : 1960 All Cr R 249 : 1960 Cr LJ 156 ; 1962 Raj IW 434 ; AIR 1960 Mad 462 : 1960 Cr LJ 1840 ; AIR 1960 J & K 116 : 1960 Cr LJ 1208 ; 1960 Raj LW 434 ; AIR 1960 Mad 462 : 1960 Cr LJ 1244 ; AIR 1958 All 514 : 1955 Cr LJ 842 ; AIR 1957 All 809 : 1957 Cr LJ 138 : 1958 All Cr R 165 ; AIR 1956 Pat 10 : 1956 Cr LJ 29 ; AIR 1956 Sau 83 : 1956 Cr LJ 1240 ; AIR 1955 A 118 : 1955 Cr LJ 917.

When the accused was convicted of murdering an old man of 75 years if the ons Judge does not impose the natural sentence provided by law but gives a sentence he should expressly state the circumstance that weighed with him i ng the lesser sentence. AIR 1952 Trip 10 : 1952 Cr LJ 1424. The Penal Code has not made any consideration on account of age or sex for getting exemption from capital punishment AIR 1971 SC 429 ; AIR 1960 SC 748 ; see in this connection the observation in AIR 1953 SC 364 ; 1970 SCD 552.

Girl aged 9 years at the time of incident. Her mother killed by her uncle at night at 10 p.m. Kerosene lamp burning at place of incident. Her deposition that her uncle killed her mother with axe can be relied upon as it was also corroborated by other witnesses and medical evidence. State of Maharashtra v. Prabhu Barku Gade. 1995 Cr LJ 1432 : (1995) 2 Bom CR 188 (1995) 2 Crimes 783 (Bom).

Where appellant being below 16 years of age cannot be sentenced to imprisonment for life and there was nothing against his character. He may be dealt with under Section 33 (e) or (g) of Act of 1952. Hence he be released on probation with sentence of fine. Munna v. State of UP, (1994) 1 CCR 245 : 1994 JIC 86 : 1994 UP Cr R 328 (All) (DB).

Where the deceased was responsible for vasectomy operation of accused at the age of 14 years and later used to tease him on this account. Hence accused was bound to have sudden and grave provocation. Conviction under Section 302 IPC is set aside and accused appellant is convicted under Section, 304, I and sentence reduced to already undergone. Deva Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 574.

Where the accused pleaded minority on date of commission of offence gave different ages at different stages and School leaving certificate was not controverted. It cannot be said that no questioning about age done by Magistrate. Amrutlal Someshwar Joshi v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 (2) Bom CR 312 (SC).

Where the findings regarding age of concerned accused on basis of interested evidence without giving any opportunity to accused concerned to lead evidence about his age could hardly be upheld. The finding of the court that there is no need to make order for separate trial of concerned accused in court meant for offenders below 16 years is set aside. Monoj Soni alias Laloo v. State, (1995) 1 CHN 351 (Cal).

When child witness was found to be incompetent witness—Hence held that if he is competent to know the nature of act he is competent. Jhuri Lal v. Union Territory. Chandigarh, (1994) 2 CC Cases 161 (P & H).

Where appellant claimed to be minor as being below 16 years of age. When enquiry about age, was held in Judicial Magistrate indicated accused-appellant as minor, but Sessions Judge not making any enquiry—Age pleaded between 16 to 18 years. It was held that Sessions Judge should have made enquiry. Hence, conviction was maintained but in view of Section 27 of U.P. Children Act, 1952 he cannot be sentenced to imprisonment. Hence directed to be released. Nanak v. State. 1994 ACC 383 (All).

Where accused being children below 16 years of age when committed offence—Sending them in jail valid. Sending these children in jail after conviction instead of in approved schools under Act 1952, not valid. As they are now more than 30 years old, they should be released forth with while sustaining conviction. Pradeep Kumar v. State of U.P., 1994 Cri LJ 148 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 104 : 1995 Supp(4) SCC 419 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 395.

The counsel for the appellant relied upon Suresh v. State of U.P. , AIR 1981 SC 1122: (1981) Cri LJ 746, A. Devendran v. State of T. N., 1998 SCC (Cri) 1004: (1996 Cri LJ 2307; Sheikh Abdul Hamid v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1998 SC 942 : 1998(3)

SCC 188 : 1998(1) JT 377 : 1998(1) Scale 368 : 1998(1) Supreme 425 : 1998(1) Crimes 148 (SC) and Mukund alias Kundu Mishra v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1997 Cri LJ 3182 : AIR 1997 SC 2622 : 1997(10) SCC 130 : 1997(5) JT 134 : 1997(3) Scale 769 : 1997(3) Crimes 69 (SC) and urged that the accused at the time of commission of the crime was a young man of 20 years of age. He was not hardened criminal. His act could not be said to be one which would show that there was a premeditation to commit the act which he had committed, a young man fealing deprived of the company of his wife had gone to the house of his in-laws in a emotionally enraged condition. Though he had committed the crime but he did not have the credential of a habitual criminal. It was psychological imbalance which truned him in an abnormal personality at the time of commission of the crime. The manner of occurrence also was not grossly diabolical or gruesome. It was an act of enlargement of the feeling and, therefore, the Court after hearing the arguments converted the death sentence into imprisonment for life and a fire of Rs. 500/-. State of Rajasthan v. Baisakha Singh, 1999 Cri LJ 1399 (Raj).

Where plea that accused petitioner is young boy of 17 or 19 years age. There is no rule that young boy cannot be awarded death sentence. Regarding correct age of accused school leaving certificate showing his age as more than 20 years on incident date which was never in doubt nor questioned on this point. There being no ground to reduce sentence. Petition dismissed. Amrutlal Someshwar Joshi v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 3 Crimes 276 (SC), AIR 1994 SC 2516 : 1994(6) SCC 186 : 1994(5) JT 25 : 1994(3) Scale 721.

Considering the overall circumstances and bearing in mind that the incident took place nearly 15 years ago and there is nothing that the accused had any adverse criminal antecedent, a sentence of R.I. for life for the offence under section 302 IPC and 2 years R.I. for that under section 404, IPC would meet the ends of Justice. State of Maharashtra v. Vilas Pandurang Patil, 1999 Cri L.J. 1062 (Bom).

7. Circumstantial evidence.—The fact that the conviction that the accused is based on circumstantial evidence is no reason for not awarding capital sentence. 42 Cr LJ 770 : AIR 1941 Mad 120 ; AIR 1949 Pat 49 : 81 Cr LJ 132 ; 34 Cr LJ 885. There is no rule of law or practice preventing the Court from sentencing an accused person to death merely on circumstantial evidence for an offence under this section. AIR 1929 Sind 179 ; 109 IC 912 : 29 Cr LJ 640 ; 30 Cr LJ 971 : AIR 1929 Mad 657. The fact that the conviction of the accused is based on circumstantial evidence is no reason for not awarding capital sentence. AIR 1941 Mad 120 : 42 Cr LJ 770; AIR 1939 Pat 49 : 41 Cr LJ 132 ; 34 Cr LJ 395. Capital sentence is not improper even in cases of constructive guilt of murder. AIR 1933 Pat 110 : 34 Cr LJ 427. Reason must be adequate in passing lesser sentence. Ibid. The mere fact that the conviction of the accused for murder is based on circumstantial evidence is no ground for passing the lesser sentence of transportation of life. 44 Mad 443 : 22 Cr LJ 396 : 61 IC 525.

Sufficient evidence. The accused did not make an effort to save the deceased but was shown to have been abusing the deceased and his relatives, tried to prove his innocence by manipulating records of a nursing home. The obvious attempt was to show that he could not have looked after the treatment of the wife as he himself was undergoing treatment. Several other factors throw considerable light relating to the absence of any material to show that a stove had burst which resulted in causing injuries on the body of the deceased. Unfortunately, the High Court did not even analyse the circumstances but came to an abrupt conclusion that the circumstances do not constitute a complete chain.

As noted above, the circumstances point to only one conclusion, i.e. guilt of the accused. The judgment of the High Court impugned in this appeal is set aside and that of the trial Court is restored. The Respondent No. 1 shall surrender to custody forthwith to serve remainder of sentence if any. State of West Bengal vs. Dipak Halder, AIR 2009 SC 1883 : 2009 (2) Crimes 484 (SC) : 2009 (7) SCC 288 : 2009 (7) JT 444 : 2009 (7) Scale 596 : 2009 (8) SCR 530 : 2009 (5) SLT 282.

Where a Sessions Judge finds the accused guilty of a cruel murder under Section 302, there being no extenuating circumstances, he should not refrain from passing a sentence of death, because there was no eye-witness to the murder. LBR (1872-1892) 436. In a case of murder the facts clearly established were that the accused was last seen with the child alleged to have been murdered, on that he stripped her of most of her ornaments and sold them and that her body was next found in a well and the accused disclaimed all knowledge of the matter, though he himself indicated the well. Held, that the accused was guilty of a foul murder, which in spite of his youth called for extreme penalty. 16 Cr LJ 167 : 27 IC 551; 157 IC 829 : 36 Cr LJ 1200 : 39 CWN 199 : AIR 1935 Cal 526. In the awarding of capital sentences, the Chief Court does not make any distinction between cases of murder as proved by direct or indirect evidence. 12 PR 1888 Cr ; 13 PR 1869 Cr ; AIR 1930 Sind 225. The fact that the accused was not arrested when actually committing the crime or in the act of escaping from the spot is no reason for not having the sentence of death. 13 PR 1873 Cr. Award of lesser penalty of the imprisonment held proper. AIR 1962 Cal 504 : 1962 (2) Cr LJ 354 ; AIR 1953 SC 364. It is well settled that the prosecution must stand or fall on its own legs. Where various links in a chain are in themselves complete, then a false plea or defence may be called into aid only to lend assurance to the Court. In other words, before using the additional link in the chain it must be proved that all the links in the chain are complete and do not suffer from any infirmity. AIR 1984 SC 1622 (see also conditions precedent for conviction or basis of circumstantial evidence).

Where appellant husband killing wife who was deceased. They were married two years ago—Only had circumstantial evidence—Relations between them was not normal—Last seen together before they went to sleep—Next morning wife found dead covered with quilt on bed—No possibility of suicide. The accused was absconding. Hence conviction was upheld. Kuldip Sharma v. State, (1995) 4 Crimes 225 (SC).

Conviction reliance on circumstantial evidence—Validity. It has been consistently laid down by this Court that where a case rests squarely on circumstantial evidence, the inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with the innocence of the accused or the guilt of any other person.

Circumstances highlighted by the trial Court and the High Court are as follows :

1. Accused was living with Hunji as a couple before the occurrence.
2. Death of Hunji was committed by strangulation, and dead body was recovered in a trunk at Unjha.
3. Accused was absconding after selling his all belongings i.e. cow, buffalo etc. Accused disappeared for a long period of 4-5 years.
4. Accused had hired a Jeep on rent in which he loaded all his goods and had gone to Unjha in which a trunk also contained the dead body of deceased which was recovered from such trunk in Unjha. Identification of such trunk has also been proved by witnesses.

5. Motive of crime has been also proved by evidence of prosecution that he was keen to take other women, and he has killed his wife Hunji for removing him from the scene.

In our considered opinion the circumstances highlighted by the trial Court and the High Court clearly establish the guilt of the accused appellant. Narayan vs. State of Rajasthan, 2009 CrLJ 2248 : 2009 (1) Crimes 451 : 2009 (11) SCC 118 : 2009 (3) JT 179 : 2009 (3) Scale 272 : 2009 (2) SCR 1200 : 2009 (2) Supreme 210.

When there was no direct evidence only had circumstantial evidence—Interested witnesses inimical to the appellants—Claim that illicit relation between the appellant provided the motive for offence not believed. There was found no circumstance to connect the appellants with offence. Hence it was held that giving benefit of doubt sentence and conviction against appellants set aside. Harish Chander alias Billa v. State, (1995) 3 Crimes 189 : 1995 Cr LJ 3030 : (1995) 2 CC Cases 503 (Del).

Insufficient lacuna in prosecution case—Circumstantial evidence. Four people had lost their lives and the accused does not seen to be a person of high morals, but that itself would not be a ground to record his conviction in the absence of reliable material and evidence. The circumstances highlighted by the prosecution are as follows :

1. Ilicit relations between deceased Durgabai and accused.
2. Illicit relations between accused and Durgabai's daughter Yogita (15 years old).
3. Complaint made by deceased Durgabai on 20.07.1998 against accused regarding threat to kill.
4. Complaint made by deceased Durgabai one day before the incident regarding threat by accused.
5. Statement of PW-1 Laxman recorded under Sec. 164 of the Code.
6. Beating up of PW-1 Laxman by Prakash Bole to dissuade him from giving evidence in support of prosecution.
7. Police dog traced the scent from the place of incident to the house of the accused thereby connecting the accused to the ghastly murders.
8. Blood stained nail clippings of accused taken upon medical examination immediately upon arrest.
9. Recovery of blood stained jersey of accused from septic tank in the house of the accused and burnt pant at his instance.

It has been consistently laid down by this Court that where a case rests squarely on circumstantial evidence, the inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with the innocence of the accused or the guilt of any other person.

So far as circumstances No. 4 is concerned the trial Court observed that the prosecution failed to produce any evidence about the same. The police dog traced the scent from the place of incident to the house of the accused is really no evidence in the eye of law. So far as the blood stains are concerned medical examination revealed that the ladies had 'B' blood group while boys had 'O' blood group. Merely because blood stains were found on the jersey of the accused from septic tank in the house of the accused and burnt pant, that in inconsequential since as noted above his blood group is also 'B'. The trial Court observed that the weapon used was stone whereas the weapon recovered from the septic tank is stated to be 'Kadbatodi'. Unfortunately, no finger printing was done.

It is noted that though the blood of the accused was collected the same was not sent for chemical analyzer.

In view of the position in law highlighted above it cannot be said to be a case where the prosecution has established a complete chain of circumstances which rules out possibility of the involvement of any other person and unerringly points fingers at the accused to be the author of the crime. State of Maharashtra vs. Mangilal, 2009 (3) JT 414 : 2009 (3) Scale 580 : 2009 (4) SCR 49 : 2009 (3) SLT 201.

Where only circumstantial evidence available. Shoes and axe belonging to accused recovered at spot. Witnesses saw accused climbing the roof and also coming down. Chain of circumstances being complete and no other conclusion except guilt of accused. Hence conviction upheld and appeal was dismissed. Moyan alias Mohan v. State of M.P. 1994 Cr LR 313 (MP).

Sufficient evidence—Sentence. It needs no emphasis that while evaluating circumstantial evidence, which of course has to be done carefully, the circumstances must be of such a nature as to be capable of supporting the exclusive hypothesis that the accused is guilty of the crime of which he is charged and the circumstances so shown by the prosecution are compatible with no other reasonable hypothesis.

PW-4 is the father of victim. PW-2, PW-3 and PW-5 are migrant labourers from Nepal like PW-4. They all were residing in the same compound viz. Rajmahal Hotel Compound. If despite frantic search throughout the day, the girl could not be traced, there was nothing unusual if they were sitting outside the hut of PW-4 in the night with a hope that the girl may return, or somebody may leave her. In the night at about 1.30 A.M., they saw four persons carrying one gunny bag and going towards plot of one Sardarji. They saw those persons throwing a dead body from the gunny bag in that plot. The dead body was of Sushma. They raised alarm and caught hold of the accused persons. They took the accused persons to the Police Station and handed them over to the police. PW-4 lodged FIR and all of them came back to the place near the dead body. Sans insignificant and minor contradictions here and there, all these four witnesses are consistent in their version on material aspects.

That the underwears of the accused were seized on 27.09.2003 when they were in jail and these articles were sent for chemical examination is not in dispute. That the evidence pertaining to chemical examination of underwears shows that those underwears were found stained with human semen and spermatozoa is also not in dispute.

As a matter of fact there is no challenge with regard to proof of the circumstances (ix) and (xvi). The challenge is on relevance of these circumstances on the ground that the accused persons are labourers and they do not change their underwears daily and merely because their underwears were found to have semen stains, that by itself cannot be used as an incriminating circumstance. We find no merit in this contention. In our opinion, the circumstances (ix) and (xvi) do provide link in forming the chain together with other circumstances against the accused persons and do not deserve to be ignored.

In so far as circumstances (xi), (xii) and (xvii) are concerned, the evidence of Dr. K.S. Dhami (PW-1) establishes that victim was subjected to rape and murder. Mr. T.V. George, learned Counsel for A-3, however, sought to urge that the injuries and medical evidence make it highly improbable that four persons raped the minor girl. Firstly, no question or suggestion has been put to PW-1 in this regard. Secondly, and more importantly, semen stain with spermatozoa were found on the underwears of all the four accused. Thirdly, chemical examination of the vaginal smear of the victim has also confirmed presence of human blood, semen and spermatozoa. In view of this evidence, rape of victim by more than one culprit can be safely held to be established. The medical evidence proves beyond reasonable doubt that the victim died of homicidal death and that she was raped before being murdered. Circumstances (xi), (xii) and (xvii) to this extent are clearly proved.

Nothing has been brought on record that PW-2, PW-3, PW-4 and PW-5 had any enmity with A-1, A-2, A-3 and A-4 or had any special relations with the police. That A-1, A-2, A-3 and A-4 were seen throwing the dead body of the victim in the intervening night of 25/26.09.2003 is also established. The circumstances (xiii), (xiv) and (xv), thus, have rightly been held to be proved by the trial Court as well as High Court.

In the light of our discussion aforenoted, we find that the view taken by the High Court is the only possible view on a proper appraisement of evidence and no other view is possible and it has not committed any error in upholding the conviction of the accused persons for the offences punishable under Secs. 302/34; 376 and 201/34 IPC. Pawan vs. State of Uttaranchal, 2009 CrLJ 2257 : 2009 (1) Crimes 406 : 2009 (3) JT 87 : 2009 (3) Scale 195 : 2009 (2) Supreme 139 : 2009 (3) SCR 468 : 2009 (2) SLT 407.

Circumstantial evidence—Complete chain—Scope. It is trite law that in a case where there is no direct eye-witness version available and the case is based on circumstantial evidence, the principle which is to be applied by the Court is that when an incriminating circumstance is put to the accused and the said accused either offers no explanation or offers an explanation which is found to be untrue, then the same becomes an additional link in the chain of circumstances to make it complete. Jayabalan vs. U.T. of Pondicherry, 2009 (4) Crimes 172 (SC) : 2010 (1) SCC 199 : 2009 (14) JT 401 : 2009 (13) Scale 614 : 2009 (8) SLT 322.

When prosecution case is based only on circumstantial evidence. Deceased died due to throttling and injuries. Accused and deceased being of same village-Accused under influence of liquor quarrelled with deceased and proclaimed to kill him. He went away but again came in night and killed. Previous quarrel with deceased proved motive—After incident absconding of accused being further circumstance which cannot be ignored—Consistent evidence of witnesses cannot be disbelieved simply because they were interested witnesses and not corroborated by independent witnesses. Hence combined effect of all these circumstances justified conviction. Kamal Singh v. State of H.P., (1994) 3 Crimes 134 (HP) (DB).

Conditions precedent need to be established. The conditions precedent in the words of this Court, before conviction could be based on circumstantial evidence, must be fully established.

They are :

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must' or 'should' and not 'may be' established;

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. Vithal Eknath Adlinge vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2067 : 2009 (11) SCC 637 : 2009 (3) JT 158 : 2009 (3) Scale 327 : 2009 (3) SCR 532.

The conditions precedent in the words of Supreme Court, before conviction could be based on circumstantial evidence, must be fully established. They are:

(1) The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must' or 'should' and not 'may be' established;

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. Krishna Ghosh vs. State of West Bengal, AIR 2009 SC 2279 : 2009 CrLJ 2820 : 2009 (2) Crimes 102 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 413 : 2009 (4) JT 658 : 2009 (5) Scale 124 : 2009 (5) SCR 333 : 2009 (3) Supreme 39 : 2009 (2) JCC 1389 [See also Vithal Eknath Adlinge vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2067 : 2009 (11) SCC 637 : 2009 (3) JT 158 : 2009 (3) Scale 327 : 2009 (3) SCR 532 see also Ramesh Bhai vs. State of Rajasthan, 2009 CrLJ 2991 : 2009 (2) Crimes 337(SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 603 : 2009 (7) JT 439 : 2009 (6) Scale 320 : 2009 (6) SCR 949 [See also Gamparai Hrudayaraju vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2364 : 2009 CrLJ 2845 : 2009 (2) Crimes 259(SC) : 2009 (5) JT 475 : 2009 (5) Scale 595 : 2009 (3) Supreme 447 : 2009 (6) SCR 396.

The injuries on head of deceased who was travelling in a train might have been sustained from a fall from running train. The chain of circumstances have big missing link. Hence conviction and sentence cannot be sustained. Mohd. Murshid v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 97 (Pat) (RB).

Where circumstances put together cannot form a chain much less a completed chain for drawing the irresistible inference that the deceased were murdered by the appellant and none else—Paucity of legal evidence to reach exclusive conclusion regarding the guilt of the appellant. Therefore the conviction and sentence were set aside. Nandanan v. State of Kerala, (1995) 2 CCR 517 ; (1995) 3 Crimes 273 (Ker) (DB).

Sufficiency of circumstantial evidence—Sentence—Scope. Extreme poverty had driven the appellant to commit the gruesome murder of three of his very near and dear family members - his wife, minor son and daughter. There is nothing on record to show that appellant is a habitual offender. He appears to be a peace loving, law abiding citizen but as he was poverty stricken, he thought in his wisdom to completely eliminate him family so that all problems would come to an end. Precisely, this appears to be the reason for him to consume some poisonous substances, after committing the offence of murder. No witness has complained about his bad or intolerable behaviour in the past. Many people had visited his house after the incident is indicative of the fact that he had cordial relations with all. He is now about 35 years of age and there appear to be fairly good chances of the appellant getting reformed and becoming a good citizen.

Thus, looking to the matter from all angles and after giving our serious consideration to the whole matter, we are of the opinion that it is not a fit case where it would fall within the category of "rarest of rare case" and, therefore, death sentence as awarded to him by learned trial Judge and confirmed by High Court deserves to be set aside and quashed and is accordingly done so by us instead he is held guilty of commission of offence under Sec. 302 of the IPC on three counts and is awarded life imprisonment for the same. Sushil Kumar vs. State of Punjab, AIR 2010 SC 832 : 2009 (10) SCC 434 : 2009 (3) Crimes 391 (SC) : 2009 (11) JT 368 : 2009 (12) Scale 105 : 2009 (13) SCR 1082 : 2009 (6) Supreme 228 : 2009 (7) SLT 331.

Arrest of accused along with blood stained clothes from Bus Station while leaving the city. Description of the accused given by eye-witnesses tallying with their persons—Refusal of the accused to face identification parade—False implication of the accused not established from evidence on record—Hence conviction was sustainable. Zaffar v. State (Delhi Admn.), 1994 SCC (Cri) 295 : (1994) 1 CCR 13 (SC) : 1993 (4) Scale 571 : 1993 (3) Crimes 1096.

When the T. Shirt of the accused was found stained with human blood of AB Group and the same Group of blood was found on gadda in which the dead bodies were found wrapped which was blood group of the deceased. All these circumstances are proved and form a chain to establish the crime beyond reasonable doubt. Conviction upheld. Suresh Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 272 ; 1995 Cr LJ 1853 (Raj).

When circumstantial evidence coupled with admissions excluding confession and recovery of blood stained weapon and clothes at his instance established his guilt. Accused murdered victim before being burnt proved. Motive was also proved. Admissions of accused which are not confessional statement are admissible in evidence even if such statements are made before police officer. Confessional FIR can be used as evidence of conduct. Hence conviction was maintained—Appeal was therefore dismissed. Mohinder Singh v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 2 CC Cases 110 (Del).

The evidence against accused was not so complete as to forge all links in a chain and not capable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of guilt of accused. It was neither consistent with the guilt of accused nor inconsistent with ocence. Accused is entitled to benefit of doubt. Satish Kumar v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 631 (Bom).

When there was no eye-witness to the occurrence hence to be based on circumstantial evidence. There was recoveries from open place accessible to all and sundry. Prosecution fails to make out case under Section 397—No incriminating circumstances against the appellant/accused. Hence it held that sentence convicting under Section 397 and Section 302, IPC set aside. Mintu Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 396 : (1995) 2 RCD 523 (Raj).

When the prosecution case was based merely on circumstantial evidence which could not be established by prosecution. Facts established cannot be said to be sufficient for conviction of appellant under Sections 302 and 376, IPC save and except under Section 201, IPC. Laldeep Bhagat v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 BLJ 395 (Pat).

Circumstances brought on record lead to only conclusion that accused alone committed the murder of deceased and attempted to cause disappearance of evidence by setting fire to body of deceased. Conviction confirmed. But death sentence converted to one of imprisonment for life. Ramesh v. State of Karnataka, (1995) 1 Andh LT (Cr) 510 (Kant) (DB).

Where wife in company of her husband at time of incident. Husband's guilt clinchingly pointed out by chain of circumstances.—Husband's conviction and sentence upheld by High Court. Deepak Narayanappa Teware v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B Cr C 223.

Allegation based circumstantial evidence—No interlink in the chain.—Hence sufficient ground to acquittal. Gordhan v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LJ 8 (MP).

Where the case is based on circumstantial evidence. The recoveries made were not at the instance of accused. Nothing on record to connect the accused with the crime. Hence conviction and sentence passed by. Trial Court cannot be sustained. Kinu Mahto v. State of Bihar (1994) 2 East Cr C 292 (Pat).

Each circumstance has to be proved by evidence and not by surmises. Strong suspicion cannot substitute the legal proof. Ramesh Kumar v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 300 : 1994 Cr LJ 1120 : AIR 1994 SC 945.

Where occular evidence substantiated by the circumstantial evidence. Four sharp edged wounds on the head of the deceased inflicted in the dark hours of night caused death. Conviction was held not to be interfered with. Pandu alias Pandu Kunda v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 1 (Ori).

Where the case is based on circumstantial evidence. In such cases there should be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for conclusion consistent with innocence of the accused and it must be such as to show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused and none else. In instant case the circumstantial evidence relied upon by prosecution is not sufficient to prove beyond reasonable doubt the committal of murder. Conviction set aside. Subhash Chand v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (1995) 1 Sim LC 274 (HP) : 1995 Cr LJ 3460.

Where the testimony of witness is not consistent and highly discrepant and does not fit in with prosecution story as given in FIR lodged promptly. Hence circumstance has not been proved beyond reasonable doubt. Hence benefit of doubt given. Ram Prasad Meena v. State of Rajasthan. (1995) 1 CCA 795 (Raj).

Where proof to be beyond all reasonable doubt. not mere conclusive. Lalu Mia v. State of Tripura. (1995) 2 GLR 145 (Gau).

Where there was direct evidence and conviction was based on circumstantial evidence. From the prosecution evidence adduced none of circumstances held to be proved by trial judge established beyond reasonable doubt. Hence conviction was liable to be set aside. Mal Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 635 (Raj) : (1995) 2 Crimes 511 : 1995 Cr LJ 2279 : 1995 R Cr 277 : (Raj).

The conduct of witnesses in not questioning the appellants at the spot and not informing about incident to pradhan on next day and non-mention of fact of murder in FIR lodged by no other person than the village chowkidar creates a grave doubt on prosecution story itself. The prosecution could not make out chain of circumstances that would lead to the only conclusion of guilt of appellants. Hence conviction and sentence set aside. Appeal allowed. Babu Lal v. State of U.P., 1995 UP Cr R 5 : 1995 (32) ACC 168 : 1995 Cr LJ 1188 : 1995 ALJ 709 (Alld).

When the eye-witness expired during trial. The conviction was based on circumstantial evidence. Hence, no identification parade was held and accused was identified in Court. There was no evidence connecting accused-appellant with crime, hence conviction was not proper. Therefore he was acquitted. Devi Lal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 80 (Raj).

When the case rests upon circumstantial evidence—The prosecution failed to complete chain of circumstantial evidence. Hence accused is entitled to benefit of doubt—Therefore acquitted. Sukharajuwa v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 3 CCR 699 (MP).

When case of circumstantial evidence. Circumstance of last-seen with the deceased. No cogent evidence that accused left after death was caused. No evidence that it was impossible for any one to enter the residential quarters. Possibility of accused being frustrated in marital relationship with his wife and walked away consistent with innocence of accused. Benefit of doubt given to the accused and judgment and order of conviction set aside. Madan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimes 112 (Raj) : (1995) 2 RCD 504 : 1995 Cr LR 422 : 1995 R Cr C 321 : (1995) 1 RCD 446 : (1995) 2 RCD 74 : 1995 Cr R 865 (Raj).

Where accused identified by prosecution witnesses.—Recoveries made from possession and at the instance of accused—Accused last seen in company of deceased—Hence there established a complete chain of circumstances against the accused, conviction upheld. Jangir Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 133 (Raj).

Where accused not able to give any explanation to the disappearance of deceased after he purportedly left with her from the house of her brother. Evidence of interested witnesses could be called upon if their testimony remain unshaken during cross-examination by defence. Hence it is held that evidence is more than sufficient to establish the guilt of the accused. R.N. (Loknathan) v. State of Goa, 1995 Cr LR (Mah) 240 (Bom).

Where the circumstances relied by Sessions Court for conviction of accused are not completing the chain so as to lead to conclusion that accused and no other could have been assailant. The evidence relied upon by prosecution falls short of requisite standard. Salim Khan v. State, (1995) 3 CCR 196 (Bom).

The prosecution has failed to prove any of circumstances against the present appellants. Hence the order of conviction and sentence passed by Trial Court was not at all justified as there is absolutely no evidence against the appellants. Hence order of conviction and sentence set aside. Sanjeev Puri v. State, (1995) 57 DLT 18 (Del).

Conviction of the accused not sustainable unless the incriminating circumstances appearing against the complainant-party are sufficiently explained by the prosecution. Jaikaransingh v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 32 (MP).

Where delay in lodging FIR justified by the circumstances of the case does not vitiate trial. State of Karnataka v. Ram Reddy, 1994 SCC (Cri) 42 : (1994) 1 Crimes 571 : (1994) 1 East Cr C 384 (SC) : 1993 (4) JT 350 : 1993 Cr. LJ 3553 : 1993 (3) Scale 234 : 1993 (3) CCR 283 (SC) : 1993 Cr. LR (SC) 511.

In a case of kidnapping with murder, there was no eye-witness of the incident. A ransom note was found pasted on the door of the complainant, father of boy, in the bard writing of the accused. Similar ransom notes were recovered from the possession of the accused when he was arrested. The accused was maintaining a separate establishment in the midst of sugar cane field far away from the village. The dead body of the kidnapped boy was recovered at the instance of accused. The extra-judicial confession made by the accused while he was being taken to the Police Station was proved by the prosecution witnesses of the same village and not related to the complainant. In the cross-examination of the said witnesses there was not even a suggestion that they had any enmity or motive to implicate the accused. The fact that immediately after making extra-judicial confession, the accused pointed to lead the recovery of the dead body which completed the claim of events and gave strength to the evidence, proving extra-judicial confession by the accused. Conviction of accused on the basis of circumstantial evidence and extra judicial confession for offences under Section 302, 364 and 201 was held proper. Geetam Singh v. Slatig U.P. 2001 Cri LJ 4791 (All).

When the prosecution was unable to give details of occurrence in which injuries were caused and the manner in which they were caused. No explanation was offered by the accused as to how he came to suffer such injuries. It was held that the mentioning circumstances that injuries may have been sustained in course of same occurrence, by itself did not conclusively prove complicity of accused and the said circumstances had to be considered alongwith other circumstances proved at trial. Gilbert Pereria v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 4837 : AIR 2004 SC 4454 : 2004(6) Supreme 644 : 2004(4) Crimes 65 : 2004(8) SRJ 220 : 2004(3) JCC 1347.

In a case of alleged demand of dowry, harassment by husband and in-laws, and death of wife, the vital link in chain is possibility of accused husband committing offence, closing door and then sneaking out of room, place of occurrence from one or two possible places was not proved by the prosecution. The cause of death was shrouded in mystery. The benefit of doubt was given to the accused, as in the event of there being two possible views, the one supporting accused should be upheld. Narendra Nath Singh v. State of M.P., AIR 2004 SC 3249 : 2004 Cr LJ 2842 : 2004(2) Crimes 260 2004(3) Supreme 304 : 2004(2) JCC 832.

When the accused was last seen with deceased by witnesses having poor eye-sight, the evidence of such witnesses was not relied on. State of Rajasthan v. Khima, 2004 Cr LJ 4873 : AIR 2004 SC 4677 : 2004(4) Crimes 40 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 998 : 2004(7) Scale 669(2) : 2004(6) Supreme 587.

In the case of death of wife of accused by strangulation, neighbour of the accused deposed that he saw the accused entering house during night time and also deposed that he saw accused quarrelling with his wife during night time. The said neighbour live 4-5 houses away from accused and it was not possible for him to observe quarrel from his house. No other evidence was produced to establish presence of accused in the house on crucial night. It was held that the fact that accused could not establish by cogent evidence that on that night he remained at house of his parents in another village, did not lead to necessary inference that he was in his own house and, therefore, the benefit of doubt given to the accused could not be interfered with. Desari Siva Pd. Reddy v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P., 2004 Cr LJ 4868 : AIR 2004 SC 4383 : 2004(5) SLT 147 (SC) : AIR 2004 SCW 5068 : 2004 ALD (Cri) 677 : 2004(7) Scale 59.

8. Dead body not discovered corpus delicti.—It is not obligatory for proving the death of an individual that his dead body should be discovered. AIR 1950 Mad 452. In a case of murder, once the Court is satisfied that the murder is committed and that the accused party has committed it, the gravity of the offence irrespective of the circumstances whether the body has or has not been recovered, will determine the sentence. AIR 1931 Lah 25 : 32 Cr LJ 493 : 130 IC 331. Sentence must be determined upon gravity of offence irrespective of discovery or non discovery of dead body. AIR 1931 Lah 25; see AIR 1957 SC 381 : 1957 Cr LJ 559 (the conviction for an offence does, necessarily depend upon the corpus delicti being found) ; see 1981 Cr LJ 298 (pray by circumstantial evidence—what kind of proof is required).

Where the dead body was recovered from house in possession of 'A'. Accused residing in house on day of occurrence fully established by statement of witnesses. The recovery of articles used in murder established. Hence finding recorded by Court was justified and affirmed. State of UP. v. (Smt.) Zubaida Khatoon, 1995 (32) ACC 194 (All).

Where only accused found responsible to commit murder Disappearance of dead body. He can be convicted and sentenced. Ashok Gavade v. State of Goa, (1995) 1 B Cr C 41 : (1995) 1 Bom Cr R 363 (Bom).

9. Co-accused's sentence reduced.—Co-accused's sentence of death commuted. by Executive Government is no judicial consideration for not passing death sentence on the accused concerned. AIR 1940 Lah 494 ; (1952) 2 MLJ 735 : 1954 Cr LJ 212 : AIR 1954 Mad 196 ; AIR 1960 Ker 149 : ILR 1960 Ker 66 : 1960 Cr LJ 594 (effect of acquittal of B on A's conviction) ; Held, that merely because leniency had been shown to some of the appellants.

Where High Court took reasonable view of giving benefit of doubt to three others but it cannot be said that appellants are also entitled to be acquitted. The prosecution has proved the case against beyond all reasonable doubts. Hence appeal fails and dismissed. Awadhesh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (1995) CCR 16 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 375 : 1999 (Supp (3) SCC 151 : 1994 (5) JT 617 : 1994 (3) Scale 914 : 1994 (2) UJ 524 1994 (3) Crimes 283 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1676.

Involvement of co-accused—Determination of. According to PW-6 initially five persons had come running. He has specifically named the persons. He has further stated that the deceased being afraid jumped out of the motor cycle and ran away. The witness has further stated that the deceased ran for some distance and entered into the house of one Bagdiram and closed the door from inside. Thus at that time nine persons including the present appellants came running and they were armed. It has further been stated by him that the deceased opened the door and started running away and was attacked with sword. In the cross examination he had admitted that the deceased was attacked by Kamal, Ansar, Inayat and Mohabbat inside the house of Bagdiram. Though it was the stand of learned Counsel for the State that in the dying declaration all the accused persons were named, it appears that PWs. 6 and 7 did not state about the dying declaration vis-à-vis Israil and Iqbal. PWs. 8 and 9 have also given different names. In view of the aforesaid, it cannot be said that the prosecution has established the accusations so far as accused Iqbal and Israil i.e. accused Nos. 7 and 6 are concerned. But the prosecution has clearly established the accusations so far as Mohabbat accused No. 1 is concerned. The appeal filed by accused Mohabbat is dismissed while the appeal filed by Iqbal and Israil is allowed. They be set at liberty forthwith unless required to be in custody in any other case, if any. Mohabbat vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1893 : 2009 CrLJ 1752 : 2009 (2) JT 169 : 2009 (2) Scale 133 : 2009 (1) Supreme 747 : 2009 (1) SCR 883.

Three persons from side of complainants and three from side of accused sustained injuries. Case of mutual free fight. Right of private defence not available. Everybody is responsible for his own acts. Hence accused 'P' alone held guilty under Section 302, IPC but accused 'M' held guilty under Section ' 324, IPC. Life sentence of 'P' maintained and that of 'M' reduced. Pushpa Raj and Mahesh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 WLC 600 (Raj).

There were no convincing evidence that co-accused caught hold of deceased when injuries were caused with ballam. The injuries traversed through the important parts of the body (chest and lungs) of victim proved fatal. There were no evidence to establish that the co-accused who were unarmed to have aided the accused in causing fatal injuries to victim. Hence co-accused entitled to benefit of doubt. Jai Singh v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 325 (P & H) : 1996 Cr. LJ 1859 : 1996(1) Crimes 170 : 1996 (1) All Cr LR 310.

Determination of Co-accused—Similarity of cases. The High Court did not accept the stand of the prosecution regarding applicability of Sec. 304 Part II read with Sec. 149 IPC. It was held that in respect of the respective acts committed by each one of them the matter is required to be considered. From the post mortem certificate it was noticed that the first injury was caused by A-1 with aruval on the neck and the corresponding injury caused the death. At the same time, A-2, A-4, A-5 and A-6 were armed with aruval, A-7 with knife and A-3 with iron rod and they have attacked the deceased and contributed corresponding injuries. Therefore, it was held that A-1 had to be convicted in terms of Sec. 302 IPC. So far as others are concerned the acts attracted Sec. 304 Part II IPC.

Learned Counsel for the appellant has submitted that while others were convicted for offence punishable under Sec. 304 Part II, IPC he alone has been convicted under Sec. 302 IPC. According to him, there is a parity between the co-accused persons. The High Court has indicated the reasons for which the appellant's case was treated differently. The trial Court and the High Court have noted that the appellant had given a fatal blow on the neck with aruval and the injury caused by such act proved fatal. Therefore, there is no substance in the plea of the appellant that he stood on similar footing as that of co-accused persons. Jagebar Ali vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2009 SC 1774 . 2009 CrLJ 1711 : 2009 (1) Crimes 237 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 108 : 2009 (2) JT 17 : 2009 (1) Scale 674 : 2009 (1) SCR 407.

10. Different intention.—Lesser sentence should be awarded where it is proved that the accused had no real intention to kill the deceased. AIR 1931 Mad 420 : 32 Cr LJ 623 : see also (1937) MWN 723. Where different intention is not proved all the accused should be punished similarly. AIR 1935 All 362 : 37 Cr LJ 32 : 159 IC 155.

11. Common Intention.—It is well-settled that where eyewitnesses account of the witnesses produced in Court is found acceptable and when the same has withstood the test of cross-examination, non-examination of other witnesses would pale into insignificance. Therefore, non-examination of teachers or other members of staff of college as witnesses cannot be considered fatal to the prosecution case as it stand fully supported by acceptable eyewitness account. The real question for determination in such cases are not as to what is the effect of non-examination of certain witnesses and the question will be whether the witnesses examined at the trial is found reliable and trustworthy the non-examination of other witnesses will not affect the credibility of the witnesses. Ashani Vashist and another v. State of U.P., 2002 Cri LJ R-D undergo six months. In the opinion of the doctor 12, can. E.O examination the prosecutor surface on left verticle at its upper part. In the opion of the doctor death was caused due to shock and harmoniums surface of niddle on left ventricle at its upper part. Ashwani Vahisht and Other v. State of U.P. 2002 Cr LJ 619 : 2001 All LJ 2683 : 2001(43) All CriC 7047 : 2001(3) All Cri R 2000.

Absence of common intention. Prosecution has not brought on records any evidence to show that the accused persons had a common intention to commit the murder of deceased. It has not been shown that even otherwise they were bearing any common grudge against the deceased. Evidently, both the accused No. 1 and the deceased were customers of the said Wine shop. They might have picked up some quarrel. At the time when the occurrence took place, appellant being an employee of the said shop the question of his coming to the place of occurrence together with the other accused did not arise. The evidence of prosecution witnesses, particulary P.Ws. 1 and 2, on which both the Courts below have relied upon, even if taken at their face value, would merely show that it was the accused No. 1 who had assaulted the deceased with an iron rod; appellant was said to have only kicked the deceased.

A general statement was made that about a month prior to the incident, when the deceased had gone to Nandi Wine shop, quarrel between him and the accused persons took place. According to PW. 1, at that point of time, accused persons had threatened the deceased. From whom he had heard thereabout has not been disclosed.

Indisputably, P.W. 1's house was situated at about one furlong from the place of occurrence. He came to the place of occurrence in search of his brother. He failed to bring any material on record as to on what basis he arrived at the conclusion that accused persons had formed a common intention.

Ms. Shenoy may also not be correct in contending that all the accused persons ran away together. PW. 2 deposed that they went in different directions. Appellant, according to PW. 1, ran towards the Wine shop. Thus, it is not a case where all the accused came together and ran away together. A bald statement said to have been made by him that the accused No. 1 while assaulting the deceased had exhorted that they would not leave him till he died, cannot be a ground to hold that the same by itself is demonstrative of the fact that Appellant-accused No. 3 also had a similar intention. Admittedly, no weapon was recovered at the instance of appellant. He was wholly unarmed. On the basis of the voluntary statement made by the Accused No. 1 alone, an iron rod was recovered.

We are not concerned herein as to whether the said iron rod was the weapon of assault. Having regard to the quality of evidence that the prosecution had led, in our opinion, it is difficult to come to the conclusion that all the accused persons had a common intention to commit the murder of the deceased.

The prosecution has failed to establish why and how a quarrel had started. The prosecution even has not proved as to why the Accused No. 1 was carrying the iron rod even before the quarrel with the deceased started or as to whether the appellant was aware of this. It has also not been shown that he along with other accused persons came to assault the deceased. Appellant ordinarily was expected to be at his work place only. His presence at the spot, therefore, has sufficiently been explained.

For the aforementioned reasons, we are of the opinion that appellant cannot be held guilty for commission of offence punishable under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 34 of the IPC. The very fact that the appellant was unarmed and must be presumed to have been performing his duties at his place of employment, it cannot be said that he had formed any kind of common intention at the spot to murder the deceased. Some incident might have taken place and he might have formed a common intention to teach a lesson to the deceased. He might be guilty for commission of offence punishable under Sec. 323 of the IPC and not for commission of offence punishable under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 34 of the IPC. He is sentenced to the period already undergone. Nagaraja vs. State of Karnataka, AIR 2009 SC 1522 : 2009 (1) Crimes 278 (SC) : 2009 (1) JT 48 : 2008 (16) Scale 380 : 2008 (17) SCR 1127 : 2009 (1) Supreme 94.

See also Babu alias Umakanta Nayak v. State of Orissa, 2005 Cr LJ 865 (Orissa) : 2004(29) OCR 214 : 2004(2) Orissa LR 405.

Common Intention or Unlawful Assembly accused persons having formed an unlawful assembly and in pursuance of common object thereof, committed murder of deceased and injured his brother too. Out of seven accused persons five were acquitted. However, the fact remains that these two appellants were found to have inflicted the injuries with sharp edged weapon, as well as, Lathi. They have also been individually charged with the offence under Section 302, IPC. In that view, they were bound to be convicted for the offence under Section 302 read with Section 34, IPC. They came together on the spot, they also gave abuses to the deceased and thereafter, acted along with each other. Therefore, we have no hesitation in upholding the conviction, but not with the aid of Section 149, IPC, but with the aid of Section 34. Unfortunately, the High Court has not discussed this aspect of the case. Murli and Anr. vs. State of Rajasthan. 2010 (2) CrLJ 2228 (SC).

Determination of Common intention. The records clearly show that no charge was framed in terms of Sec. 34 so far as the appellant is concerned. This position is fairly conceded by learned Counsel for the respondent. It is also accepted that except PW-1 who stated that the appellant assaulted the deceased with a stick, the other purported eye witnesses stated that the appellant had given fist blow. Considering the evidence of witnesses as brought on record the appropriate conviction would be in terms of Sec. 325 IPC and not Sec. 302 IPC. Shaikh Karimullah vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 171 : 2009 CrLJ 1551 : 2009 (1) Crimes 313 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 371 : 2009 (2) JT 263 : 2009 (1) SCR 953 : 2009 (2) Scale 254.

12. Dacoity and murder.—If murder is committed in committing dacoity every one of the persons concerned in the dacoity is liable to be punished with death. 6 Bom LR 248 : 1 Cr LJ 258 ; UBR 1900 Cr ; 2 Bom LR 325. But if an act by which death is caused, does not itself constitute the crime of murder, it does not constitute murder because it is coupled with dacoity. 1 Ind Jour OS 108.

When FIR was lodged promptly and revolver and stolen articles recovered from appellant, his conviction upheld. Manmohan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 (1) Crimes 114 (S).

13. Drunkenness.—Drunkenness is not an excuse for lesser sentence. AIR 1942 Pat 427 : 43 Cr LJ 544 ; AIR 1941 Lah 454 : 43 Cr LJ 332 ; 7 Lah 50 : 27 PLR 294 : 94 IC 406 : 27 Cr LJ 630 : AIR 1926 Lah 232. (Contra view in 41 IC 980). Where the accused is habitual ganja smoker and while under the influence of that drug he dashed a child to the ground and killed it and there was no motive for the offence, the accused must held to have committed the act while he was under some mental derangement and that his case comes under Section 86. 39 Cr LJ 34. The intoxication of the accused, while he was committing murder may be properly taken into consideration on the question whether the act was premeditated or done only from a sudden impulse. But voluntary drunkenness cannot be pleaded as an excuse for a crime. 41 PR 1866 Cr ; LBR (1893-1900) 550 ; 12 Rang 445 : AIR 1934 Rang 361 : 1934 Cr C 1326 : AIR 1934 Rang 10 : 35 Cr LJ 1065 : 149 IC 1176 ; AIR 1936 Rang 477 : 165 IC 762 ; AIR 1938 Rang 209 : 39 Cr LJ 689 ; 1937 MWN 1329. Where there is no clear motive for the murder, drunkenness of the accused at the time of murder affords a sufficient excuse for not extreme penalty of the law. 1952 RLW 145 ; AIR 1954 AP 46 : 1954 Andh LJ (HC) 88 : 1954 Cr LJ 81.

Where the degree of the accused's intoxication falls short of a proved incapacity in the accused to form the necessary intent to constitute murder, the offence is murder. AIR 1960 Ker 120 : 1960 Cr LJ 477. Voluntary drunkenness is not necessarily by itself a sufficient ground for not passing the sentence of death on an accused found guilty of murder particularly when the accused may have consumed liquor to get into proper form to commit murder. AIR 1971 SC 1232 : 1971 Cr LJ 1066 ; See also 1982 Cr LJ 1572 : AIR 1982 SC 1217 (accused addicted to heavy drinking).

There was no motive for accused to kill his wife. Further no inference can be drawn that he intended to kill the deceased, in view of his subsequent conduct in putting out the flames and taking her to hospital even in drunken condition. Ex. P-l showed that deceased burnt herself in fit of emotion. Accused cannot be found guilty of the offence under Section 302. IPC conviction and sentence is set aside. Gunti Yadagiri v. State of A.P., (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 302 : (1995) 3 Crimes 366 (AP).

Where FIR containing corroborating version and deceased set on fire by appellant after consumption of liquor. Plea of intoxication not available to the appellant. Therefore conviction was upheld. Maveri Surya Satyanarayan v. State of A.P., (1995) 2 Crimes 585 : 1995 Cr LJ 689 : (1995) 2 CCR 84 (AP).

The presence of both eye-witnesses i.e.. wife of deceased and one more person was quite doubtful. The medical report showed that deceased was dead-drunk. Ocular testimony that all injuries on deceased were inflicted by single weapon was contradicted to medical evidence. The recovery of blood-stained payjama from person of appellant was doubtful conviction and cannot be sustained. Accused entitle for acquittal. Dharmender alias Chiniya v. State of Haryana, (1995) 3 Crimes 815 : (1995) 2 CC Cases 177 : 1995 Cr LJ 3119 (P&H).

Wife stated that her husband in drunken state came home and started beating her and on the intervention of their son accused twice hurled a stone on him. Her evidence was corroborated by FIR promptly lodged. Her evidence by itself was sufficient for conviction of accused. Lalya Dharma Khadkya v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 564 (Bom).

14. Duty of court, when guilt is proved.—A judge is bound to pass a capital sentence to a person found guilty under this section, unless there are substantial reason for not doing so. The reason for passing a lesser sentence must be express and adequate. AIR 1945 Oudh 140 ; AIR 1940 Lah 494 : 42 Cr LJ 156 ; AIR 1940 All 480 : 42 Cr LJ 115 ; AIR 1939 Pesh 47 : 41 Cr LJ 132. In awarding sentence a judge is not to be influenced by public feeling. AIR 1939 Mad 109 : 40 Cr LJ 249. Judges should not shrink from doing their duty, however painful it may be, of passing capital sentence in cases where they are convicted, beyond reasonable doubt, that a deliberate murder has been so committed as to necessitate the award of capital sentence. 3 LBR 163. On a conviction of murder, a sentence of death should ordinarily be passed unless there are extenuating circumstances. In considering whether there are extenuating circumstances, not only the circumstances of the particular case, but the conditions of the country and the habits of people are to be taken into account. 1 LBR 216. Where a quiet, peaceable man, suddenly and without the least motive or provocation runs a mock against all around him, his case is different from an ordinary case of deliberate murder deserving the extreme penalty. 8 WR Cr 58. In case of brutal and premeditated assassination sentence of death is proper. 138 IC 27 : 33 Cr LJ 574 : AIR 1932 Pat 209 : AIR 1933 Lah 998 ; AIR 1933 Lah 956 ; AIR 1933 Lah 623 : 34 Cr LJ 372 ; AIR 1932 Lah 245 : 33 Cr LJ 576 ; 37 Cr LJ 664 : AIR 1934 Oudh 19 ; AIR 1936 Pat 245 : 37 Cr LJ 543. The fact that accused sets up false defence that he never knew deceased even when evidence shows that deceased was last seen alive in his company and his disappearance immediately after murder is sufficient to bring home offence to him. AIR 1930 Lah 265.

15. Interference with sentence.—High Court has power to enhance sentence. AIR 1930 Mad 446. Unless extenuating circumstances can be found, murderer must be sentenced to death. AIR 1930 Pat 252. Where the Lower Court has failed to impose a proper sentence. High Court has power to impose sentence of death. AIR 1941 Mad 120 : ILR 1941 Mad 340 : 42 Cr LJ 770 ; but see 1933 MWN 1420 ; 1934 MWM 958 : 1937 MWN 124 ; AIR 1953 SC 364 : 1953 Cr LJ 1465 ; see also AIR 1958 All 546 : 1958 Cr LJ 1296 (lesser punishment when can be awarded) ; AIR 1957 SC 469 : 1957 Cr LJ

586. AIR 1975 SC 246 : 1974 Cr LJ 1253 ; AIR 1965 SC 202 : 1965 (1) Cr LJ 226 ; 1981 Cr LJ 163 : AIR 1981 SC 202 (High Court must examine all the material infirmities and must come to an independent conclusion giving reasons for it) AIR 1971 SC 757 : 1971 Cr LJ 649 ; AIR 1981 SC 376 : 1980 Cr LJ 1421 (interference in case of finding out the justness of sentence) AIR 1973 SC 253 : 1973 Cr LJ 1775 ; AIR 1980 SC 1871 : (1981) 4 SCC 596 : AIR 1981 SC 733 : 1981 Cr LJ 483 ; AIR 1982 SC 1224 : 1982 Cr LJ 1577 (High Court not to give importance to one aspect of evidence).

Where though post-mortem report did not indicate cause of death the prosecution was able to establish that accused administered some liquid in the mouth of deceased victim. Hence conviction under Section 302. IPC cannot be sustained. Even if no poison was detected in the post-mortem. examination conviction of accused under Section 328. IPC is confirmed. Gobind Oraon v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 PLJR 233.

When the injuries on deceased were inflicted in sudden quarrel. Hence intention to cause death cannot be attributed to appellant-accused. Hence offence falls under Section 325/34. IPC and not under Section 302, IPC. Accused convicted under Section 325/34. IPC. Siddapuram Siva Reddy of State of A.P., (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 71 (AP).

Where it is found in intrinsically reliable or inherently probable it may be itself sufficient in circumstance of a particular case to base a conviction thereon. Prosecution-succeeds in proving guilt of the appellant for offence under Section 325. IPC instead of Section 302. IPC, 7 years RI instead of imprisonment for life awarded to accused. Sokokhibam Valma Singh v. State of Manipur, (1995) 2 CCR 437 (Gau) (DB).

When appellant giving iron chain blow to deceased. Injury on eye- witness proves his presence at spot. Parties are known to each other resulting no mistake in identity—There was sufficient light at scene of offence and delay in filing FIR explained. Its contents corroborated by eye-witness. Only one blow on vital part given by iron chain causing injury of small dimension. Intention was not proved. However knowledge attributable to accused regarding likely result of blow. Allegation of theft provoked incident. It was held that accused being young with poor economic condition sentence reduced to one under Section 304, Part II. Bhamber v. State of Punjab, (1995) 2 CC Cases 314 (P & H).

Where the mother of deceased and one more person eye-witness of the incident. Their evidence was corroborated by medical evidence. Kulhari was recovered at the instance of appellant. Injury caused by Kulhari was opined sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death. No interference called for in conviction. Satpal v. State of Punjab. (1995) 3 Crimes 735 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 201 : 1995 (6) JT 379 : 1995 (5) Scale 235 : 1995 SCC (cr) 1039 : 1995 (4) CCR 110 (SC) : 1996 Cr. LJ 406.

FIR duly supported by the evidence of the eye-witnesses. Medical opinion, expert opinion, seizure memo and FIR all in conformity with the evidence of the eye-witness. There was made no interference with the order of conviction. Ram Lal v. State of Madhya Pradesh. 1995 Crimes 618 : 1995 Cr LR (MP) 341 (MP).

The main witness became hostile and nothing remains to implicate the accused. The deceased was medical doctor and virgin and may have taken something to terminate her pregnancy. Evidence is not sufficient. Hence no interference. Mangaldeen Dubey v. Naresh Kumar Jain. 1995 Cr LR 200 (MP).

No interference is warranted in appeal on the ground that statements recorded under Sections 313 and 164, Cr PC differ from each other. Sohan Singh v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 486 : 1995 AIJ 1480 (All).

Where two persons died as a result of the firing of accused and witnesses though interested yet their interest and presence both were natural and their statements were duly corroborated by two independent eye witnesses and medical evidence. There was no reason to interfere with the order of conviction and sentence. Arjun Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimes 130 : 1995 Cr LR 348 : (1995) 2 RCD 507 (Raj) (DB).

Where accused not properly identified in the FIR and prosecution evidence not inspiring any confidence. Acquittal by the trial Court—Appeal against acquittal. Interference in appeal by High Court held not proper. Chellappan Mohandas v. State of Kerala, 1995 SCC (Cr) 366 (SC) : 1998 AIR (SC) 90 : 1995 Supp (1) SCC 259 : 1994 (6) JT 361 : 1994 (4) Scale 351 : 1994 (2) UJ 614.

16. Interference by Supreme Court.—The Supreme Court will not interfere with sentence when the High Court passes it after full consideration of all the facts and circumstances. AIR 1980 SC 1871 ; AIR 1983 SC 839 : 1983 Cr LJ 1112 ; AIR 1984 SC 1023 : 1984 Cr LJ 832.

Where there was further appeal before the apex Court—Concurrent finding that the evidence of the eye-witnesses was reliable, recorded by the courts below—No interference by the apex court. Balram v. State of UP, 1994 SCC (Cri) 37.

Conviction upheld by High Court not to be interfered with by Supreme Court as circumstances lead to guilt of accused. Manmohan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 Cri LJ 1632.

In Subash Chander v. Krishan Lal, 2001 Cri LJ 1825 (SC) the Court observed:—

> "Merely because 8 persons convicted by the trial Court were acquitted by itself cannot be termed to be a justified ground for commuting the death sentence. However as the High Court presumably of general conspectus and upon consideration of facts of the case found that accused persons should not be awarded with death sentence we feel that for interfering with the discretion of the Court further exceptional grounds are required to be made out. When two views are possible about the quantum of sentence a view which favours the grant of life in comparison of death is generally accepted. But for the exercise of the powers by the High Court in commuting the death sentence we had some reservations about the sentence awarded vide the impugned judgement but in view of the exercise of discretion in commuting the death sentence we are not inclined to interfere with the sentence awarded to the accused persons".

17. Excitement.—Where the offence has been committed by the accused under influence of excitement, the appropriate sentence is to be imposed is one for transportation for life and not death. AIR 1947 Nag 287.

There was sudden attack on part of A-1 who snatched the revolver and shot at Police Party. No other accused participated in attack on deceased Nos. 1 and 2 a police constable and sub-Inspector. A-1 was found guilty under Section 302, IPC. However death sentence reduced to imprisonment for life and a fine of Rs. 10,000/- each. S. K. Ayyub v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 312 : (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 112 (SC) :

1994 Supp (2) SCC 269 : 1994 (4) JT 129 : 1994 (2) Scale 859 : 1995 Cr. LJ 420 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1222.

Where the accused gave single blow with wooden stump which proved fatal. The occurrence took place at the spur of moment without premeditation under grave and sudden provocation. In facts and circumstances of this case, High Court is convinced that the case against accused cannot travel beyond Section 304, Part II, IPC. Conviction altered from Section 302, IPC to Section 304, Part II IPC. Appeal partly allowed. Madan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 451 (Raj).

18. Grace and clemency.—When an offence committed is murder, the fact that the accused is the only serving son of his widowed mother or that he was sincerely penitent and filled with remorse after murder, cannot be taken as a sufficient ground for imposing the lesser sentence. 36 Cr LJ 1254 : 39 CWN 262 : AIR 1935 Cal 591. There may be extenuating circumstances which may have to be laid before a jury for deciding whether the crime is culpable homicide or murder. But where the conviction is for murder, the sentence should be one of death, and any extenuating circumstances justifying a lenient view of the case can only be represented to the Crown with a recommendation for mercy. Rat Un Cr C 852. The Court convicting an accused of murder may recommended to the local Government for clemency in the sentence may under Section 432 Cr P Code be commuted to a lesser punishment. AIR 1977 SC 349 : 1977 Cr LJ 214 : 1952 Cr LJ 998.

19. Heat of passion.—Where the crime is unpremeditated, committed in cold blood and in the course of a dispute, the sentence of death is not called for. AIR 1935 Oudh 295 : AIR 1935 All 332. A lesser sentence is proper when death is caused by a single blow in heat of passion. 1936 OWN 597 ; AIR 1936 Rang 115 : 37 Cr LJ 467. Where the accused acting without premeditation in a moment of anger struck the fatal blow on the deceased after an exchange of abuse and a struggle between them and further more dealt only a single blow, a sentence of transportation for life, instead of extreme penalty, would be a suitable sentence. Ummilal v. State of M.P., 1936 OWN 597 ; AIR 1981 SC 1710 : 1981 Cr LJ 1446 (murder committed in a fit of rage, death sentence commuted to imprisonment for life.

Where incident took place at spur of moment—There were no repeated blow and no pre-meditation whether can be held guilty under Section 304, Part III. Hence it is held that there was no intention to cause death or such injury which may likely to cause death. Accused is not guilty under Section 302, IPC but can be held guilty under Section 302-III. Mustaq All v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 411 (Raj).

Where only single injury was caused on head a "Salia"—There were contradictions between FIR and Panchnama of the dead body but the same was explained properly. It was case of sudden fight on spur of moment and without any meditation. Hence offence altered from Section 302 to 304, Part I, IPC. Appeal party allowed. Gopol Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 498 (Raj).

When quarrel took place on trivial matter and appellant caused one stab injury in chest on spur of moment, intention to cause death can not be inferred and hence conviction altered under Section 304, Part II. Karna Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 266 (Raj).

20. Injuries sustained by the accused.—Where the accused is properly convicted of murder and it is found that the attack upon the deceased was deliberate the severe injuries received by the accused himself cannot be considered as a reason for mitigating the punishment. (1940) 2 MLJ 1018 : 52 LW 884 : AIR 1941 Mad 280.

Before adverting to the contentions raised by the parties, we may notice that the lung and heart injuries were caused to the deceased. He died "due to lot of bleeding".

Appellant was inside the house. He admittedly was not a party to the quarrel. So far as he was concerned, neither witness nor the deceased caused any provocation to him. The manner in which the assault had taken place must also be notice inasmuch as he had injured the lung and heart of the deceased. It is also not a case where the lives of the parents were in danger.

The appellant in fact is guilty of commission of an offence under Sec. 302, we, in absence of any appeal having been preferred by the State from the judgment of conviction and sentence passed by the learned trial Judge, are not in a position to arrive at the said conclusion. Bala Baine Linga Raju vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2009(6) SCC 706 : 2009 CrLJ 3426 : 2009(2) Crimes 394 : 2009(7) Scale 73 : 2009(13) JT 657 : 2009(4) SLT 219 : 2009(7) SCR 595.

Where the accused in committing a deliberate murder receives severe injuries it is not a case for mitigating the punishment. AIR 1981 Cr LJ 1027 ; 1979 Cr LJ 1196 : AIR 1979 SC 1828 ; 1978 Cr LJ (SC) 582.

Merely because some minor were there, it cannot be said that Section 302, IPC is not to be attracted. Though, the number of injuries does not determine the question whether Section 302, IPC is to be attracted, yet the nature of injuries, the weapon used and the place where the injuries exist are relevant factors. Ganga v. State, 1999 Cri LJ 488 (Orissa).

Injury on one of accused—Effect of. Both the Courts below have relied upon the depositions of Bakhtawar Singh (PW-1) and Mohinder Singh (PW-2). No inconsistency in their statements having been pointed out and even otherwise having regard to the defence raised by the accused, we do not find any reason to differ therewith.

The first informant was a student. He even, as stated by the Investigating Officer, was very perplexed and made his statement when asked to do so very hurriedly. A supplementary statement was also prepared but the same was not signed by him. If, therefore, injuries sustained by Mahabir Singh had not been disclosed, the same in our opinion would not make much difference for the purpose of arriving at a different conclusion. State of Punjab vs. Gurlabh Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2469 : 2009 (8) JT 487 : 2009 (7) Scale 601 : 2009 (8) SCR 853 : 2009 (4) SLT 611.

21. Ignorance.—Ignorance of the accused is no excuse. AIR 1941 Sind 129 : 42 Cr LJ 741. But in certain cases it may be taken into account in awarding punishment. AIR 1933 Lah 718 : 34 Cr LJ 1251 ; AIR 1932 Cal 815 : 33 Cr LJ 663.

22. Lapse of time.—Lapse of time between commission of offence and trial of the case is no ground for imposing lesser sentence. 42 Cr LJ 265 : AIR 1941 Mad 258. The sentence of death was substituted by transportation for life having regard to the time that had elapsed since the occurrence and probable motive. 1953 SCJ 444 : 1953 SCR 546 : AIR 1953 SC 131 ; AIR 1958 Raj 338 : ILR 1957 Raj 944 : 1958 Cr LJ 1540 : 1956 Madh BLJ 223 : Madh BLJR 1956 Cr 120. MBLR 1955 Cr 295 : MadhBLJ 1955 HCR 1663.

Delay as a ground affecting sentence cannot be extended where the criminal absconds. AIR 1962 Cal 428 : AIR 1978 SC 1506 (sentence reduced on the ground of delay and other reason) ; AIR 1977 SC 209 : 1977 Cr LJ 1578 ; 1979 Cr LJ 1177 : AIR 1979 SC 1177 (sentence of death to imprisonment of life) ; AIR 1982 SC 1192 : 1982 Cr LJ 1570 (seven years passed since death penalty) : AIR 1979 SC 702 ; AIR 1978 SC 1506 ; AIR 1978 SC 368 ; AIR 1974 SC 1256 : 1974 Cr LJ 887.

23. Insanity.—Although it cannot be said of an accused convicted under this section, that he was insane and did not know the nature of his action, yet it appears that he was in abnormal mood when he committed the offence the extreme penalty of law should not be inflicted. AIR 1936 Rang 113 : 37 Cr LJ 435 ; see AIR 1975 SC 762 : 1975 Cr LJ 646 ; AIR 1973 SC 806 : 1973 Cr LJ 583 ; 1983 Cr LJ 819.

Where appellant accused attacking deceased wife with sickle—Accused often used to beat and abuse her—After incident he fled away, on reaching of witnesses, leaving his shoes there. No sign of insanity of accused—Eye-witnesses' versions found reliable and trustworthy. Hence conviction was upheld. Namdeo Shahuroo Dhanwade v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 160 (Bom).

When the doctor who observed accused was patient and opined that in the accused there was features of unsound mind. The accused was therefore, not able to formulate his defence. Hence finding of trial Court was vitiated. Accused directed to be sent to Mental Hospital and Sessions Judge is hereby directed to hold trial afresh after accused is cured. Puli Prakasa Rao v. S.H.O. Pithapuram P.S., 1994 (2) ALT (Cri) 216 (AP) (DB).

24. Joint offence.—Where death is caused by joint acts, there is no plea for lesser sentence. AIR 1943 Mad 315 : 44 Cr LJ 489 ; AIR 1942 Mad 275 : 43 Cr LJ 543 ; AIR 1941 Lah 117 : 42 Cr LJ 475 ; AIR 1939 Lah 429 : 40 Cr LJ 897 ; AIR 1938 Cal 295 : 39 Cr LJ 479. Where several persons join together to murder a single man and do murder him under such circumstances that there can be no doubt that the intention was to cause death, each and every one of them ought to receive the sentence of death unless there is any circumstance to distinguish one case from another. 17 Lah 536 : 38 PLR 909 ; 16 Lah 345 ; 226 IC 84 : 47 Cr LJ 826 : AIR 1946 Lah 298 ; AIR 1940 Mad 43 : 41 Cr LJ 337 ; AIR 1939 Oudh 49 : 40 Cr LJ 187 ; AIR 1938 Pat, 358 : 39 Cr LJ 554.

Where there was involvement of large number of accused persons. Hence it was held that conviction of only those accused whose presence and participation is proved; can be sustained. Jakir Mian v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 375 (Pat) (RB).

Where appellant accused firing shots from his rifle resulting in death of the deceased. Testimony of the eye-witness—One eye-witnesses filing report at the earliest with full details showing involvement of appellant in crime. Other eye-witness was also corroborating same. There was no reason to disbelieve evidence of these eye-witnesses. Therefore conviction justified and appeal dismissed PW 2 gave the report at the earliest moment in which he has given all the details of the participation of the appellant in the crime. He has also mentioned as to how many shots he fired and where they hit and unless he was an eye-witness he could not have given all these details in the earliest report which was so promptly given. Having gone through the evidence of PWs 2 and 5 court is fully satisfied that the reasons given by the trial court for disbelieving the evidence of these two witnesses are wholly unsound and perverse. The appellate-court has rightly interfered. Therefore, no merits in this appeal and it is accordingly dismissed. Ujagar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Crimes 1164 at pp. 11 : 1994 Supp (2) SCC 214 : 1994 (3) JT 167 : 1994 (2) Scale 488 : 1994 (2) C : 1994 () UJ 567 : 1994 JCC 443 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1470.

When one accused fired pistol shot and three other accused cut deceased with sickles and axe. Evidence of eye-witnesses was rejected by trial court—Trial Court took an erroneous and unrealistic approach in appreciating medical evidence by counting number of entry and exit wounds—Evidence of eye-witnesses who are ladies was natural and their presence cannot be doubted—Nothing to affect veracity of these eye witnesses. High Court justified in accepting their evidence and convicting appellants-accused. Appeal is hence dismissed. Ramappa Vasappa Badiger v. State of Karnataka, (1994) 1 Crimes 750 (SC) : 1994 (2) JT 91 : 1994 (1) Scale 704 : 1994 (2) CCR 312 (SC) : 1995 (Cr. LJ 1535.

25. Motive.—Absence of an apparent motive is material in awarding sentence. AIR 1941 Mad 326 : 42 Cr. LJ 558 ; AIR 1941 Lah 454 : ILR 1943 Lah 332 : 43 Cr LJ 332 : AIR 1935 Oudh 281 : 36 Cr LJ 534 ; but see AIR 1931 Oudh 77 : 32 Cr. LJ 327 ; AIR 1933 Lah 623 : 34 Cr LJ 372.

When motive not established—Dead body of victim found from house of one prosecution-witness Extra-judicial confession allegedly made in question and also some blood-stained clothes recovered, conviction cannot be based merely on such recoveries. Benefit of doubt given to appellant. Tarseem Kumar v. Delhi Administration, (1994) 3 Crimes 181 (SC) : A1R 1994 SC 2585.

Sufficient proof of motive. The appellant was in dire need of money as established by the testimony of PW-67. The Accused/appellant knew that his visa had come on 23rd December and that a large amount of money was required before 10.01.2001. He had also tried to arrange for loan as per the statement of PW-19. She mentions the amount which he could arrange by 05.01.2001 and a meager amount of 10,000/- was left with him. From the statement of Yohannan (PW-23) and Ramachandra Nair (PW-24), the factum of payment of money amounting to Rs. 35,000/- on 07.01.2001 is clearly proved. The accused/appellant who was in need of money and who did not have money till 05.01.2001, had surplus amount of money to repay his debts and make payments to P.F. Ummar (PW-67) and also to pay for his ticket fare and other expenses. In this context, it will be worth mentioning that PW-23 had not demanded his money, yet the accused-appellant chose to liquidate his debt which clearly shows an intention on the part of the appellant to do away with ill-gotten money.

According to accused in the house of the deceased, a large amount of cash and jewellery was available which could have been taken away by the accused/appellant and that he, as a conscientious man, had taken so that he could repay before his departure. The contention is devoid of any merit and has been found to be incorrect by the Courts below. It would be pertinent to mention here that the trial Court has adverted to the fact that the jewellery and cash were lying in hidden condition and thus knowledge of its existence cannot be attributed to the accused/appellant.

At the stage of recording of statement under Sec. 313 of the Code, the accused had come with another explanation that the deceased Augustine had paid him Rs. 35,000/- at 8.00 p.m. on 06.01.2001. No evidence at all has been adduced to show that he was present in the shop of Augustine and had been given the said amount. Furthermore, even PW-19 wife of the accused/appellant has not stated that she was told at any stage by her husband that he had received an amount of Rs. 35,000/- from the deceased Augustine. The trial Court and the High Court both have disbelieved it.

The analysis of the evidence shows that the accused/appellant was in dire and urgent need of more and he had a motive for getting the said amount of money. M.A Antony vs. State of Kerala, AIR 2009 SC 2549 : 2009 (6) SCC 220 : 2009 (7) JT 372 2009 (6) SCR 829 : 2009 (6) Scale 36 : 2009 (8) SLT 255.

Where motive for murder takes a back seat if there are eye-witnesses to the incident. Kaveri v. State, (1994) 1 CCR 25 (Mad).

Where conviction based on the testimony of "last seen together" justified and motive not proved—Conviction cannot be upheld. Bhoma Acharya v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 132 : 1994 R Cr C 52.

Where in a case when motive alleged against the accused is fully established i provides a foundational material to connect the chain of circumstances. Hence if motiv is proved or established it affords a key or pointer to scan the evidence in the case. Th direct evidence in the case amply corroborated by motive of accused to murder. Th conviction is, therefore justified and maintainable. Prem Kumar v. State of Bihar, (1995 2 CCR 9 (SC) : (1995) 3 Crimes 133 : JT 1995 (3) SC 12 : (1995) 2 East Cr C 69 : (1995 1 Crimes 889 : (1995) 3 SCC 228 : 1995 AIR SCW 1644 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 445 : 1995 C LJ 2634 (SC).

Where the motive to commit offence is proved. The evidence of the eye-witness t occurrence is cogent, convincing and trustworthy and is supported but medica evidence. Prosecution has established that accused was responsible for murder Conviction and sentence affirmed. Veerappan v. State, (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 11 (Mad).

The silver ornaments were not recovered from accused but from open fiel accessible to all : Motive of crime could not be proved. There were no direct evidence prosecution failed to prove murder beyond reasonable doubt Acquittal. Kamji v. State Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 126 (Raj).

Where the motive is clearly established and FIR was promptly filed. The evidence eye-witnesses was natural and withstood cross-examination and corroborated wit medical opinion. Hence conviction upheld. Kishan Singh. v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) RCD 38 (Raj).

Motive loses significance when there is credible eye-witnesses's account. State Maharashtra v. Prabhu Barku Gade, 1995 Cr LJ 1432 : (1995) 2 Bom CR 188 : (1995) Crimes 783 (Bom).

Accused husband alleged to have killed his wife with aid of firearm and homicid death by gunshot injuries was proved. The motive was to get rid of deceased as he ha illicit relationship with another woman and wanted to marry her. Testimony of polic officials was found trustworthy and reliable. Chain of circumstantial evidence pointe towards the guilt of accused and his conviction was held proper. Ummed Singh v. Stat 2003 Cr LJ 3632 (Raj) : 2003(3) Raj Cri C 1297 : 2003(3) Raj LR 162 : 2003(4) Raj L 2290 : 2003(3) WLC 465.

In a case where there was a quarrel between mother of accused and deceased tw days prior to incident and thereafter accused one day before the incident ha threatened deceased to do away with him. It was held that motive and intention to kill were proved as a heavy stone was thrown on his head. Conviction under Section 302 was upheld. Jayapal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 258 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2470.

Where accused inflicting single blow from blunt side of pick-axe. But murder not premeditated. There was no motive to kill. Hence, sentence of death altered to sentence of life-imprisonment. State of Maharashtra v. Prabhu Barku Gade, 1995 Cr LJ 1432 : (1995) 2 Bom CR 188 : (1995) 2 Crimes 783 (Bom).

The motive of husband to get rid of his wife deceased for lust of 'keep', is established. The medical evidence did not show the case of natural death which was fortified by evidence of PW neighbourer that the husband pushed the deceased on an earlier occasion when she tried to save the deceased. The co-accused being in pregnancy stage at the time of occurrence is given benefit of doubt. Madan Pal v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 354 (P & H).

Where commission of offence is concerned, it is to be noted that there is no deep-rooted enmity between the present accused and the deceased. There was no motive on the part of the accused to kill the deceased. Of course, there, may not be intention on the part of the accused persons to kill the person, but with an object of extracting incriminating material from suspected person which may help police in further investigation, accused resorted to third degree treatment which has resulted into tragic death of 'K'. Therefore, the offence does not fall under Section 302 of the IPC but it falls under Section 304 Part-II of the IPC. Conviction under Section 304, Part-II maintained. State of Gujarat v. Hargovandas Devrajbhai Patel, 1992 Cr LJ 3598 at 3607 (Guj) (DB).

No motive was established for appellant to commit murder of deceased. Further there was no extra-judicial confession regarding guilt of accused. The prosecution evidence was not scrutinised in the light of materials available on record. Hence the trial court committed illegality of facts and law in convicting appellants. Conviction set aside. Mal Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 635 (Raj).

In a case where the motive was that the accused persons had enmity with deceased and because of that murder was committed. It was held that the evidence was reliable and conviction was upheld. Kalu Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 258 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2470.

Where in a property dispute between father and son the accused son in a fit of anger fired the shot killing the father and a relative and weapon of offence was recovered and motive of crime was established, it was held that conviction for murder was held proper. State v. V.N. Surendra, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 258 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 2470.

Where enmity between accused and deceased and motive to commit murder was established and evidence of eye-witness, son of deceased was corroborated by medical evidence and also by other eye-witness, conviction of accused warranted no interference. Johar Singh v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 2035 (Jhar) : 2006(54) All Cri C 77 UTR.

When prosecution case is supported by strong evidence motive becomes in consequential. Rama Shish Rai v. Jagdish Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 669 : AIR 2005 SC 335 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1611 : 2004(4) Crimes 306 (SC) : 2005(10) SCC (10) 498 : 2004(8) Supreme 54.

In a Supreme Court case the animosity by and between "B" and family of his wife stood fully established. It was also established that the accused together with two co-accused was found missing from the place of his duty at 11 pm where for a report had been entered in the daily register by their superior officers. In view of the above evidence it was held that motive on the part of the accused in commission of the crime task a back seal which was thus not necessary to be proved by motive. Sarup Singh v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 4518 : AIR 2005 SC 4345 : 2005(12) SCC 591 : 2005(4) Crimes 121 (SC) : 2005(6) Supreme 676.

In offence based on circumstantial evidence when no motive proved and alleged recovery of stolen articles belonging to deceased at instance of accused not supported by independent witness, conviction not sustainable. Ajay Gupta v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 34 (Del).

Where evidence of eye-witnesses found unreliable, absence of motive may also add against prosecution. Barikanoo v. State of U.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 500 (All).

26. Plea of Weak Motive.—Ram Ladete (P.W.2) was illiterate village person. Generally it is the habit of the witness specially the villagers to exaggerate the matter. The villagers have no knowledge about the singular or plural number and generally they use plural number. They also give time of any incident according to their own speculation, irrespective of its exactness. On this ground their testimony cannot be thrown out. Therefore, the manner of incident which took place on the mend of field of the appellant given by the Ram Ladete (P.W.2.) is not such which may believe the evidence of the witness. Non examination of Munna and Balram is also not material because that incident was not main incident and it was simply a cause for subsequent incident in which Ram Avtar deceased lost his life. Ram Ratan v. State of U.P 2002. Cri LJ 2688 All. H.C : 2002 (2) Crimes 403 (409, 410) : 2002 (44) ACC 845 : 2002 (1) A Cri R 859 (All) (DB).

Absence of motive. Though, in a case under Section 302, I.P.C., the motive is altogether foreign, but, if the case is based on circumstantial evidence, the motive has some significance. The absence of any motive would be an additional factor in order to hold that the prosecution case based on circumstantial evidence is not proved. Moha v. State of M.P., 2005 CriLJ 79 (MP).

27. Mistaken impression.—Where an accused person was found to have murdere his wife under a mistaken impression that she was unchaste to him, the High Court se aside the sentence of death, and sentenced him to transportation for life. 8 CWN 218 : Cr LJ 62.

28. Obedience to illegal order.—Sentence is to be reduced when offence i committed in obedience to illegal order. AIR 1940 Lah 210 : 41 Cr LJ 639 : AIR 194 Mad 315 : 44 Cr LJ 489 : AIR 1942 Oudh 193 : 43 Cr LJ 243.

29. Part played by the accused.—When the son committed the murder actin under the influence of his father, the death sentence is not called for. 45 Cr LJ 660 AIR 1944 Lah 206 : but see AIR 1943 Mad 315 : 45 Cr LJ 489. Where murder has bee committed by several persons, part played by each is to be considered in awardin punishment. AIR 1942 Oudh, 193 : 43 Cr LJ 243 ; AIR 1938 Cal 295 : 39 Cr LJ 479 AIR 1935 Oudh 190 : 153 IC 978 ; AIR 1934 Cal 606 : 35 CWN 345 : 33 Cr LJ 1 ; bu see AIR 1941 Lah 117 ; 42 Cr LJ 475 ; AIR 1939 Lah 429 : 40 Cr LJ 897.

When appellant firing shot causing death of child of 9 years—Appellant used to collect tolls illegally relying on muscle power—Eye-witnesses corroborating prosecution case. There was found no enmity between them—Co-accused acquitted on ground of no overt act on his part and His acquittal does not have any effect as appellant was not charged with aid of common intention. Held, hence conviction is justified. Mohan Mahto v. State of Bihar, (1994) 1 Crimes 250 : (1994) 1 BLJ 772 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 348 (Pat).

Where case of free and mutual fight. Both parties armed and inflicted injuries to each other. It was held that accused was guilty of their own acts of commission charged. Pushpa Raj v. State of Rajashan, (1995) 2 Crimes 412 (Raj).

30. Party fight.—Where a person kills a man by thrusting a knife in the abdomen of another in a party fight in which several men take part and which is not proved to have been started by him ; the lesser punishment of transportation for life should be inflicted. AIR 1933 Lah 434 : 34 Cr LJ 711. Where a man is killed in a sudden quarrel and sudden fight in the heat of passion the case falls under Exception 4 to Section 300. 47 Cr LJ 469 : AIR 1946 All 19. Where the evidence fell short of showing that the two accused had entered into a plan to bring about the murder and it was impossible for the accused A to appreciate or realise the weight and magnitude of the strokes which were being inflicted by the other accused B, it could not be held that A had the intention of committing the murder. 31 Pat 1037 : 1953 Cr LJ 1809 : AIR 1953 Pat 394 : 1963 Jab LJ 117 : 1963 (1) Cr LJ 55 : AIR 1963 MP 29.

31. Murder or Free flight.—Where prosecution case was consistent that after 'M' was injured and he fell down, his pistol was snatched by 'R' and he fired at deceased 'T' causing his death accused 'R' was held liable to be convicted for murder. Kewal Singh v. State of Punjab, 2004 Cr LJ 31 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 72 : 2003(7) Supreme 468 : 2003(4) Crimes 352 (SC) : 2003(3) JCC 1906.

In a case of free fight between parties, non-explanation of injuries suffered by defence party was held not fatal. Nagalla Mukhalingam v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 2583 : 2005(11) SCC 242 : AIR 2005 (SC) 2466 : 2005(3) Supreme 624 : 2005(2) Crimes 165 (SC) : 2005(2) JCC 988.

32. Premeditation.—Where the offence of murder was committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel while the accused was in a state of intoxication, held that a sentence of transportation of life is proper. 8 Pat 911. Where murder is premeditated death sentence is appropriate. AIR 1943 Sind 237 : 45 Cr LJ 138 ; 1953 All LJ 14 : 1953 Cr LJ 68 : AIR 1953 All 536. But where the crime is unpremeditated, committed in cold blood and in the course of a dispute, the sentence of death is not called for. AIR 1935 Oudh 263 ; AIR 1953 All 332 : AIR 1935 Lah 94 : 36 Cr LJ 1935 ; AIR 1935 Rang 408. The more absence of premeditation is not in itself in every case of murder a sufficient ground for imposing the lesser penalty. The sentence should depend on the circumstances of the particular case, 63 IC 149 : 22 Cr LJ 643. Death sentence is the penalty for deliberate fratricide. AIR 1933 Pat 180 : 34 Cr LJ 305. Where murder is premeditated, death sentence is appropriate. AIR 1943 Sind 237 : 45 Cr LJ 138 : AIR 1936 Lah 580. But where offence is not premeditated, lesser sentence is appropriate. AIR 1941 Mad 894 : 43 Cr LJ 56 : AIR 1941 Sind 168 : 42 Cr LJ 850 ; AIR 1940 Pat 605 : 41 Cr LJ 587 ; AIR 1941 Mad 326 : 42 Cr LJ 558 ; 2 All 33 ; 107 PR 1866 Cr : AIR 1936 Rang 28 : 37 Cr LJ 449 : 37

Cr LJ 307 : 160 IC 606 ; 1959 Ker LT 1340 ; AIR 1962 MP 244 ; 1961 Jab LJ 1414 : 1962 (2) Cr LJ 195 ; see also AIR 1962 SC 130 : 1962 All Cr R 103 : 1962 (1) Cr LJ 196 : (1954) 1 All ER 373 (PO). There is no law by which premeditation as to be proved by direct evidence or that in the absence of premeditation, death sentence cannot be passed. AIR 1967 Goa 40.

Absence of premeditation taken along with other circumstances, such as provocation, sudden quarrel, sudden impulse, loss of mental balance caused by rage, anger, may justify lesser punishment. Jagrup SIngh v. State of Haryana, AIR 1975 SC 1703 : 1975 Cr LJ 1494 ; 1982 Cr LJ 1043 : AIR 1983 SC 682 ; AIR 1982 SC 70 : 1982 Cr LJ 396 : 1981 Cr LJ 1136 ; 1977 Cr LJ 795 : AIR 1977 SC 1685 ; AIR 1981 SC 1552.

Where injury on a non-vital part with the knowledge that death may occur. But without premeditation.—Therefore offence, held falls under Section 304, Part II. Tamil Mani v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 691 (Mad).

Where murder neither premeditated nor cold-blooded. Impugned act of the accused being sudden and impulsive. Hence it was held sufficient to reduce the capital punishment to that of life imprisonment. Sk. Ayub v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) Cr LJ 420 (SC) : 1994 Supp (2) SSC 269 : 1994 (4) JT 129 : 1994 (2) Crimes 312 : 1994 (2) Scale 859 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1222.

33. Provocation.—Where in a case of deliberate murder it appeared that the accused had good reason to be angry with the deceased by reason of his conduct relating to abduction, it was held that it was sufficient to sentence the accused to transportation for life, 30 Cr LJ 1126 : AIR 1929 Lah 799. Where it appeared that the deceased who was trusted and treated with hospitality by the accused seduced his wife and persisted in remaining in the accused's house, after he had been requested to leave and the accused killed the deceased. Held that the murder was committed on provocation and hence lesser sentence should be awarded. 106 Ind Cas 457 : 29 Cr LJ 41 ; AI 1932 Oudh 382 ; AIR 1932 Oudh 186 : 33 Cr LJ 561 ; AIR 1933 All 533 ; AIR 1938 Lah 556 ; 7 LR 186 Cr. So provocation may be taken into consideration together with other circumstance in passing lesser sentence. ILR (1939) 2 Cal 518 ; AIR 1938 Lah 556 : 39 Cr LJ 769 : 176 IC 666 ; 39 PLR 741 : AIR 1937 Oudh 457 : 38 Cr LJ 938 : AIR 1942 Lah 301 : 44 Cr LJ 117 : AIR 1942 Lah 37 : 43 Cr LJ 370 ; AIR 1942 Sind 1 : 43 Cr LJ 308 ; AIR 1941 Mad 251 : 42 Cr LJ 668 ; AIR 1941 Nag 86 : 42 Cr LJ 390. Where th accused murdered his wife's paramour and when it is proved that the provocation was grave but not sudden, the proper sentence is one of transportation for life and not death. 18 ALJ 851 : 57 IC 176 : 21 Cr LJ 607 ; 17 Cr LJ 190 : 33 IC 830 : 35 PLR 1916 Cr. A person convicted of murder should ordinarily sentenced to death. To justify the passing of a sentence of transportation for life there should be really extenuating circumstances and not merely absence of aggravating circumstances. The fact that the crime was committed without premeditation in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel is not an extenuating circumstance. 18 Cr LJ 113 : 37 Ind Cas 465. If for a trivial offence committed by a child viz. the mere throwing of a clod of earth, a man violently causes its death it is a clear case of murder for which the proper sentence is death. SC 216 Oudh. Improper overtures by step mother to his step-son do not amount to grave and sudden provocation. Maximum sentence however should not be levied. AIR 1930 Lah 415. Lesser sentence than death should be awarded in case of murder of wife who continues intimacy with paramour in spite of repeated reprimands. AIR 1930 Lah

171. Where murder by juvenile is not wholly deliberate and cold blooded, and there is certain amount of legitimate provocation capital sentence may not be appropriate. AIR 1930 Mad 972. Where it was a casual meeting when the act of the 'noisy spitting' by the accused was taken by the deceased rightly or wrongly as an insult and he was the first to start the quarrel by abusing the accused in vulgar language and by slapping him in his cheek lesser sentence is justified in such a case. ILR (1962) 1 Ker 348 : 1963 (1) Cr LJ 536. Where a husband had knowledge of his wife's infidelity but kept brooding over it, and finally killed both her and that paramour on a day when they had done nothing improper, no question of any grave and sudden provocation arose and crime was taken out of Section 302 though it might be a fit case for awarding the lesser sentence of imprisonment for life. 1961 All LJ 13 : 1961 All WR (HC) 63 : 1961 All Cr R 27 ; AIR 1954 Punj 182 : 1954 Cr LJ 1858 ; AIR 1960 Raj 101 : 1960 Cr LJ 520 ; 1960 All LJ 866 : 1960 All Cr R 12 ; 1959 Ker LR 1457 ; ILR 1956 Hyd 914 ; AIR 1955 Punj 25 : 1955 Cr LJ 327.

Culpable homicide committed under provocation but not falling within the Exception I to Section 300 will amount to murder but may be an extenuating circumstance justifying lesser punishment. AIR 1976 SC 915 : 1976 Cr LJ 677 ; AIR 1972 SC 2077 : 1972 Cr LJ 1371 ; AIR 1971 SC 2240 : 1971 Cr LJ 1544 ; AIR 1956 SC 89 : 1956 Cr LJ 278 ; AIR 1980 SC 448.

Where grave and sudden provocation was caused to accused by prosecution party. The accused was deprived of self control and attacked deceased with sharp-edged weapon. A fracture on skull was caused which resulted in death. The other two injuries which resulted in death was caused by co-accused who was acquitted. Under the circumstances conviction of accused under Section 302, IPC was altered to one under Section 304, Part I. (Mst.) Madani v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cri LJ 1978 (SC) : 1994 AIR (SC) 1713 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1402.

Where though there was provocation and apprehension of danger but the accused exceeded the right of private defence. Hence no interference called for. State of Karnataka v. Hanumanthappa Karlayappa Talawar, (1995) 2 Ker LJ 158 (DB).

When offence of murder of two persons and there was sudden and grave provocation. Accused taking clothes to his daughter and daughter-in-law admitted in hospital. In the way deceased prevented his way from proceeding that way and abused. On such obstruction accused beat both deceased persons causing their death and injury to one. There being no requisite mens rea. Accused acted on sudden and grave provocation. Such act of accused falls under Exception 1 to Section 300 punishable under Section 304, Part I. Rangaswami Goundar v. State, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 228 (Mad).

There was illicit relationship between the deceased and wife of the accused. Resulting into a murderous quarrel between the deceased and the accused. Accused's plea of sudden Provocation. It cannot be allowed. Relationship was the motive for the killing and not the provocation. Chinnan alias Chinnaswami v. State, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 589 (Mad).

When their evidence reliable and recoveries. Fire arms injury, empties recovered from the place of incident. Incidence occurred in heat of provocation on outraging modesty of sister of accused. Hence conviction under Section 302, IPC and Section 27 of Arms Act upheld. Amarjeet Stngh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 RCD 10 (Raj).

When accused saw his wife in compromising position with KL. Hence there was grave and sudden provocation. The accused cannot, therefore, be held guilty under Section 302, IPC but can be convicted under Section 304, Part I. Conviction under Section 326, IPC maintained. Birbal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 277 (Raj).

34. Riot.—In a conviction under Section 302 read with Section 149 a death sentence is not inappropriate, where it is found that the accused were among those who inflicted the injuries received by the deceased. AIR 1944 FB 35. But in the same case Varadachariar, J. said that the Court would not be justified in such a case in affirming a sentence of death independently of the question whether the case fell within Section 34 or only under Section 149. Lesser sentence is proper where the accused is not the ringleader. AIR 1935 Oudh 190.

Rioting & Multiple murders—Accused charged under Sec. 148 but acquitted cannot be convicted for offences under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149. Where the appellants accused have been expressly charged for the offence punishable under Sec. 148 and have been acquitted thereunder, they cannot be legally convicted for the offence punishable under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149. It is so because the offence of rioting must occur when members are charged with murder as the common object of the unlawful assembly. Sec. 148 creates liability on persons armed with deadly weapons and is a distinct offence and there is no requirement in law that members of unlawful assembly have also to be charged under Sec. 148 for legally recording their conviction under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149. However, where an accused is charged under Sec. 148 and acquitted, conviction of such accused under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149 IPC could not be legally recorded. Ankoos & Ors vs. The Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P. AIR 2010 SC 566

35. State of mind.—Where the accused acts under the impulse of moment and makes unpremeditated attack, sentence of death should not be passed. AIR 1935 Sind 44. In awarding sentence under this section consideration may be made of the state of mind of the accused. AIR 1944 FC 1 : 45 Cr LJ 413 ; AIR 1941 Mad 50 : 42 Cr LJ 270 : AIR 1938 Lah 473 : 39 Cr LJ 718. Though it cannot be held that he was unsound and did not know the nature of the act as the circumstances that he was committing a crime, still it might be said that some kind of hallucination or frenzy might have been working in his mind, the ends of justice would be met if the sentence of death was reduced to one of transportation for life. (1951) 1 MLJ 291 : 1951 MWN 367 : 64 LW 731. The accused laboured under a strong delusion of unfaithfulness of his wife. The brooding over the character of his wife took the form of a kind of temporary insanity. Disturbed by his thoughts about the unchastity of his wife, during the night of occurrence, the accused caused her death by throwing acid. The medical evidence showed that he was capable of knowing what he was doing. Held that the accused was guilty under Section 302 but this was not a fit case for extreme penalty. AIR 1958 Punj 104 : ILR 1957 Punj 1914 : 1958 Cr LJ 555 : ILR 1955 TC 479 : 1955 Ker LT 580. Where the mental Condition of the accused is abnormal, capital sentence is not proper. Vasant Laxman More v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1973 SC 806 : 1973 Cr LJ 583 : AIR 1975 SC 762 ; 1974 Cr LJ 1166 : AIR 1974 SC 1697.

36. Improvement in prosecution version—The occurrence had taken place on February 26, 1994 at 8 p.m. whereas the FIR came to be lodged on the same day at 9.45 p.m. In an hour and forty five minutes perhaps, the first informant had hardly any time for consultations and thus, came up with a true version wherein no role was ascribed to the appellant like that he had exhorted his Co-accused to take out the knife from his pocket and inflict injuries with the same. Realising later that even if the FIR is believed in toto, the appellant and his wife cannot possibly be convicted, he improved upon the prosecution version in its material details. The accused was not in the company of his co-accused. He had no occasion to come to know that co-accused was keeping a knife in his pocket and if that be so, there was no question for the accused to exhort his co-accused to take out the knife from his pocket and give injuries to deceased. In totality of the facts and circumstances of the case it can be said that the prosecution, in its endeavour to bring home the offence against the accused changed its version and attributed a crucial part to the accused at the time when evidence was recorded as an afterthought simply with a view to involve him in the crime. Hari Krishan v. State of Haryana, 1999 Cr LJ 938 (P&H).

37. Defective Investigation—Effect.—Accused cannot be acquitted solely on account of defective investigation. To do so would tantamount to playing into hands of investigating officer if investigation is designedly defective. Dhanaj Singh v. State of Punjab, 2004 Cr LJ 1807 : AIR 2004 SC 1920 : 2004(3) SCC 654 : 2004(2) Supreme 494 : 2004(2) Supreme 2 (SC).

Slip-shod investigation—Scope. Under Sec. 157 Criminal Procedure Code, the copy of the FIR has to be sent to the Magistrate. This never happened. However, seen from the records, this FIR reached the Magistrate only on 22.06.1994. This is extremely suspicious. In his deposition, the Investigating Officer proved that the FIR was chalked out in writing by Maheshwari Mandal, the SHO. Very significantly, this SHO or any other officer never examined the house thoroughly nor have they examined the inner rooms for ascertaining as to whether the doors and the latches were intact or not. This was a typical dumb investigation. Investigating Officer has not even bothered to draw a spot Panchnama. Though he stated that the accused were not present, he did not suggest any efforts having been made for their arrest. In his cross-examination, he admitted that in the case diary, he had not recorded as to which officer received information in the police station or was it mentioned in the case diary as to which lady was referred to in the telephonic information. Even the name of the informer was admittedly not there in the case diary. Specific questions were put as to whether he inspected the rooms at the place of occurrence or not. He admitted that it was not so recorded in the case diary. Even the time of sending the dead body for post-mortem was not mentioned. He admitted that when he reached the spot, neither the accused nor his parents were present. Then he asserted that their luggage was there. It is very significant to note that he admitted that Anil Kumar had not stated about the time of occurrence nor did he state the fact of beating Sushma with fists and slaps. Very significantly, he admitted that Anil Kumar had not stated about this meeting with Om Prakash Vidyalankar on the way. He had also not stated that his sister was murdered on account of not giving the colour television and motor cycle. He further admitted that Anil Kumar (PW-1) had not stated that his father had told him while he went for tuition that some articles were to be delivered to his sister. The witness admits "on enquiry by us, he remained silent".

The investigating agency would have done well in examining at least the neighbours but that does not seem to have been done. DW-2 was also a neighbour in the sense that she stayed very near to the house of the deceased. It is not known as to why the Investigating Officer did not examine neighbours, one of whom was the relative of the deceased. The apathy on the part of the Investigating Officer to examine the house closely creates suspicion. This is an unfortunate case where due to the slip-shod investigation the death of a young woman has to go unpunished.

The investigating agency would have done well in examining at least the neighbours but that does not seem to have been done. DW-2 was also a neighbour in the sense that she stayed very near to the house of the deceased. It is not known as to why the Investigating Officer did not examine neighbours, one of whom was the relative of the deceased. The apathy on the part of the Investigating Officer to examine the house closely creates suspicion. This is an unfortunate case where due to the slip-shod investigation the death of a young woman has to go unpunished. Arun Kumar Sharma vs. State of Bihar, 2010 (1) SCC 108 : 2009 (4) Crimes 92 (SC) : 2009 (13) Scale 124 : 2009 (6) Supreme 732 : 2009 (7) SLT 659 : 2009 (14) SCR 1023 : 2009 (4) JCC 2925.

38. Deliberate Change of version-Effect.—Where the version of the incident as given by the eye-witnesses in FIR and in their statements under Section 161, Cr PC were changed deliberately to suit the medical evidence without giving any satisfactory explanation for the change, such change of version would create a serious doubt about the truthfulness of the prosecution case. Shingara Singh v. State of Haryana, 2004 Cr LJ 828 : AIR 2004 SC 124 : 2003(4) Crimes 446 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 21 : 2004(2) Recent Cr 940.

39. Jealousy.—The fact that the accused committed the murder prompted by jealousy is no ground for reducing the sentence. AIR 1934 Oudh 232 : 35 Cr LJ 894 : 1934 Cr C 273. Accused killing wife who had eloped with stronger in sense of frustration sentence of imprisonment for life and not death would meet ends of justice. Maghar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1965 (2) Cr LJ 366 : AIR 1965 Mad 385 : AIR 1975 SC 1320.

40. Weapon used.—In awarding sentence, under this section, the weapon used by the accused is to be taken into consideration. AIR 1942 Mad 237 : 43 Cr LJ 463 ; AIR 1941 Sind 117 : 42 Cr LJ 786 ; AIR 1936 Rang 60 : 37 Cr LJ 418. Accused striking deceased with a hatchet with knowledge of what he was doing and dangerous nature of the act, is guilty of murder. But where attack by him is result of foul language used by the deceased, death sentence should not be imposed, transportation for life is sufficient. AIR 1930 Lah 545.

Only because the recovery of a weapon was made and the Expert opined that the bullet found in the body of the deceased was fired from one of the weapons seized, by itself cannot be the sole premise on which a judgment of conviction under Sec. 302 could be recorded. There was no direct evidence. Accused, as noticed hereinbefore, was charged not only under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 34 of the Indian Penal Code but also under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 120-B thereof. The murder of the deceased was said to have been committed by all the accused persons upon hatching a conspiracy. This charge has not been proved. The learned Trial judge itself opined that the recovery having been made after nine months, the weapon might have changed in many hands. In absence of any other evidence connecting the accused with commission of crime of murder of the deceased, in our opinion, it is not possible to hold that the appellant or the basis of such slander evidence could have been found guilty for commission of offence punishable under Sec. 302 of the Indian Penal Code. Abdulwahab Abdulmajid Baloch vs. State of Gujarat, 2009 (11) SCC 625 : 2009 (5) JT 58 : 2009 (3) SLT 339 : 2009 (4) SCR 956 : 2009 (4) Scale 211.

Where appellant found to have gone armed with deadly weapon, trespassing into deceased house and inflicting spear injury on the vital part of the deceased—Conviction order not to warrant interference. Anokhey v. State of U.P., (1995) 4 Crimes 335 (SC) : 1995(6) Scale 368 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 106 : 1996(1) CCR 9 (SC).

Doubts as to weapon of offence—When improper.—There was clear concession by learned Counsel for the accused that in the light of the report given there could be not doubt that deceased had died of gun shot wounds as wads and pellets have been recovered from her body. The High Court unfortunately did not consider the relevance of this concession. The High Court observed that the concession had been made rightly, but it further said that there was doubt about the weapon used on Major Singh. Even if that be so, there was no scope for directing acquittal of the accused persons in respect of murder.

Coming to the question of testimony of three injured eye witnesses the trial Court noticed that their statements were flawless and nothing has come out in their cross examination on the basis of which any doubt could be created about their veracity. The place was a secluded one. The incident took place on the turning of the passage. The incident continued sufficiently for a long time which was clear from the fact that many shots were fired, firstly by Lal Singh then by his son Dial Singh resulting in the death of Major Singh and his mother Dalip Kaur and injuries to some of the witnesses. The High Court discarded the credible evidence of the eye witnesses on mere surmises and conjectures. State of Punjab vs. Atma Singh, 2009 (7) JT 450 : 2009 (4) Supreme 298 : 2009 (7) Scale 689 : 2009 (8) SCR 549 : 2009 (2) Crimes 442 (SC).

Where testimony of eye-witnesses believed—Question of recovery of certain weapons are of no consequence. Ukarda v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 351.

There was unexplained delay and inordinate delay in despatch of FIR. The weapons were recovered from house which is in possession of several persons. Recovery from joint possession is not sufficient to connect with the offence. The prosecution has failed to prove offence beyond reasonable doubt. Kulvendra Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 605 (Raj).

Where delay in sending FIR to Magistrate—Delay not explained. Reasonable apprehension of FIR being premeditated as being ante dated and timed by incorporating names of eye-witnesses when there were no eye-witnesses of local area but of distant place. Fire-arms recovered from accused not connected with crime. Hence conviction was not justified. Surjan v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 403 (Raj).

Where conviction only on the basis of recovery at the instance of the accused of the murder weapon from place accessible to all. It was held not sustainable. Mohinder Singh v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 Crimes 387 : (1995) 2 CC Cases 284 (P & H).

Conviction cannot be recorded merely on the basis of recovery of the murder weapon at the instance of the accused. Ratia alias Ratanlal v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 201 (Raj).

Where all the accused armed with lathis and some with farsa—Accuseds having farsa acquitted—Because deceased got no injury of Farsa—Conviction of the person having lathi was not sustainable. Nasir v. State of U.P., (1994) 3 Crimes 660 (All).

When injury of abdominal cavity deep on the right side back. Inquest report's fact not in the relevant column. Discrepancy alleged was mention of sharp-edged weapon. But Chaku in inquest report. Hence conviction was justified. Yasin v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 229 (All).

41. Single blow.—In the instant case it is true that the accused had dealt one single blow with a sharp-edged weapon on a vital part of body namely the neck. This act though solitary in number had severed sternoclinoid muscle, external jugular vein, internal jugular vein and common carotid artery completely leading to almost instantaneous death. Any reasonable person with any stretch of imagination can come to the conclusion that such injury on such a vital part of the body with a sharp-edged weapon would cause death. Such an injury not only exhibits the intention of the attacker in causing the death of the victim but also the knowledge of the attacker as to the likely. State of Rajasthan v. Dhoul Singh, AIR 2004 SC 1264 : 2004 Cr LJ 931 : 2004(1) Crimes 165 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 850 : 2004(1) JCC 91 : 2003(10) Scale 842.

Where evidence of informant sole eye-witness, daughter-in-law of accused and daughter of deceased that accused inflicted single blow by khukri on deceased in heat of passion without motive, corroborated by medical evidence and other witnesses therefore accused liable to be punished under Section 304-I, IPC and not under Section 302, IPC. Braj Behari Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 85 (Pat.).

It is not laying down that in no case of single blow or injury, the accused cannot be convicted under Section 302 IPC. In cases of single injury, the facts and circumstances of each case has to be taken into consideration before arriving at the conclusion whether the accused should be appropriately convicted under Section 302 IPC or under Section 304 Part II IPC. Gurmukh Singh vs. State of Haryana, 2010 (1) CrLJ 450 (SC).

42. Injury on victim by reverse side of axe.—Where accused armed with axe inflicted injury on victim deceased by reverse side of it on his stomach which resulted into his death, the act of accused fell under Section 326, IPC and not under Section 302, IPC. Bharatsinh Pratapsinh Parmar v. State of Gujarat, 2005 (2) Crimes 563 (Guj).

43. Number of knife blow injuries.—Where the evidence of eye-witness as to incident that accused assaulted deceased by conflicting number of knife-blow injuries was well established, the conviction of accused warrants no interference. Seeman v. State, 2005 (2) Crimes 222 (SC) : 2005 Cr LJ 2618 : AIR 2005 (SC) 2503 : 2005(5) JT 555 : 2005 SCC (Cr) 1893.

Though it cannot be laid down as a rule of universal application that whenever death occurs on account of a single blow Section 302, IPC is ruled out, the fact situation has to be considered in each case. Where it appeared from records of that a single blow was given on the head of the deceased by a small wooden yoke, it would be proper to alter the conviction from Section 302, IPC to Section 304, Part I, IPC. V. Subramani v. State of Tamil Nadu, 2005 Cr LJ 1727 : AIR 2005 SC 1983 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1521 : 2005(1) Crimes 379 (SC) : 2005(2) Supreme 413 : 20005(10) SCC 358.

When the deceased was going to his filed he was attacked by the respondent along with other accused came out from hideout armed with knife, handle of hand-pump and with dandas in their hands. The respondent gave a fatal blow to the deceased consequent upon which the deceased succumbed to injuries. From the analysis of the prosecution story and injury caused by the respondent, namely, injury No. 2 by the knife the intention of the respondent to murder was clearly discernible. The order of the High court converting the offence under Section 302 IPC into one under Section 304 Part-I, IPC was set aside. The order of the trial Court convicting the respondent under Section 302, IPC was restored. State of U.P. v. Murli, 2005 Cr LJ 4382 : 2005 (12) SCC 586 : AIR 2005 (SC) 3609 : 2005(4) Crimes 82 : 2005(4) East Cri C 226 : 2005(6) Supreme 569.

44. Non-explanation of injuries.—In the incident case, the second injury on the left arm of accused was not explained. The accused had challenged deceased and, thereafter fired at him. Held, it is quite natural that deceased would have reacted by raising his hands either in defence or in accepting challenge and in process he would have sustained second injury as described—Such natural human behaviour was difficult to be proved by credible evidence. It had to be appreciated in context of given facts and circumstances of each case. Non-explanation of second injury therefore did not render prosecution case doubtful. State of Himachal Pradesh v. Mast Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 4973 (D) : AIR 2004 SC 5056 : 2004(4) Crimes 27 : 2004(3) JCC 1447 : 2004(23) CIC 326 (SC).

Non-explanation of the injuries sustained by the accused at about the time of occurrence or in the course of altercation is a very important circumstance. But mere non-explanation of the injuries by the prosecution may not affect the prosecution case in all cases. This principle applies to cases where the injuries sustained by the accused are minor and superficial or where the evidence is so clear and cogent, so independent and disinterested, so probable, consistent and credit-worthy, that it far outweighs the effect of the omission on the part of the prosecution to explain the injuries. Hanumantappa Bhimappa Dalavai vs. State of Karnataka, 2009 CrLJ 3045 : 2009 (11) SCC 408 : 2009 (4) JT 634 : 2009 (5) SCR 286 : 2009 (5) Scale 142.

Non-explanation of injuries by the prosecution will not affect prosecution case where injuries sustained by the accused are minor and superficial or where the evidence is so clear and cogent, so independent and disinterested, so probable, consistent and creditworthy, that it out-weighs the effect of the omission on the part of prosecution to explain the injuries. It is not an invariable rule that the prosecution has to explain the injuries sustained by the accused in the same occurrence. If the witnesses examined on behalf of the prosecution are believed by the Court in proof of guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt, question of obligation of prosecution to explain injuries sustained by the accused will not arise. When the prosecution comes with a definite case that the offence has been committed by the accused and proves its case beyond any reasonable doubt, it becomes hardly necessary for the prosecution to again explain how and under what circumstances injuries have been inflicted on the person of the accused. It is more so when the injuries are simple or superficial in nature. In the case at hand, trifle and superficial injuries on accused are of little assistance to them to throw doubt on veracity of prosecution case, particularly, when the accused who claimed to have sustained injuries has been acquitted. Sucha Singh v.

State of Punjab, 2003 Cr LJ 3876 : 2003 (3) Crimes 272 (SC): 2003 SCC (Cr) 1697 : 2003 (7) SCC 643 : AIR 2003 (SC) 3617 : 2003(6) JT 348 : 2003 (5) Supreme 445.

In the present case, the circumstances indicate that Gajey Singh was assaulted on head by a sharp edged weapon 'balkati' causing a bone deep injury. As per the defence version there were four assailants who had come well prepared to assault at the door of their own house. In such a situation accused persons could have a reasonable apprehension of death or at least of grievous hurt. It was a case of single gun shot which was not repeated. Therefore, it cannot be said that the accused persons had exceeded their right of private defence in any manner. The trial Court convicted both the accused and the High Court allowed the appeal filed by the accused persons and acquitted them. In the instant case, the injury caused on Rajpal Singh is neither superficial nor of minor nature. Non-explanation of the injuries on Rajpal Singh and Gajey Singh has created serious doubt about the credibility of the prosecution version.

We have heard the learned Counsel for the parties at length. The view which has been taken by the High Court is certainly a possible and plausible view. Therefore, we do not think it appropriate to interfere with the impugned judgment. State of U.P. vs. Gajey Singh, 2009 (11) SCC 414 : 2009 CrLJ 2274 : 2009 (3) JT 1 : 2009 (3) Scale 337 : 2009 (2) SCR 998 : 2009 (2) Supreme 361 : 2009 (3) SLT 97 : 2009 (2) JCC 1197.

It is not invariable rule that the prosecution has to explain the injuries sustained by the accused in the same occurrence. If the witnesses examined on behalf of the prosecution are believed by the Court in proof of guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt question of obligation of prosecution of explain injuries sustained by the accused would not arise. When the prosecution comes with a definite case that the offence has been committed by the accused and proves its case beyond any reasonable doubt, it becomes hardly necessary for the prosecution to again explain how and under what circumstances injuries have been inflicted on the person of the accused. It is moreso when the injuries are simple or superficial in nature. Shriram v. State of M.P., 2004 Cr LJ 610 : AIR 2004 SC 491 : 2004(9) SCC 292 : 2003(9) JT 293 : 2003(10) Scale 312 : 2003(8) Supreme 481 : 2004(1) Crimes 74 (SC) : Anil Kumar v. State of U.P. 2004 Cr LJ 4881 : AIR 2004 SC 4662 : 2004(8) JT 355 : 2004(7) Scale 684 : 2004(6) Supreme 591 : 2004(4) Crimes 44 (SC) : 2004(3) JCC 1476.

According to prosecution case the accused in process of fleeing at the time of arrest sustained injuries being beaten by arresting party. The injuries sustained were simple in nature. Held, non-explanation of injuries would not vitiate the trial when prosecution evidence against accused was very strong. State of U.P. v. Kishan Chand. 2004 Cr LJ 4878 : AIR 2004 SC 4671 : 2004(2) Andh LT (Cri) SC 341 : 2004(3) Crimes 309 : 2005 MD LJ (Cri) 74 : 2004(7) Scale 75 : 2004(6) Supreme 277.

Injuries on accused—Absence of any explanation. It is difficult to hold that the complainant party was in settled and peaceful possession of 2/3 share of the plot in question on the date of incident and there seems to be weight in the defence argument that the accused party was in possession to the extent of 1/2 share and in any view of the matter there was a bona fide dispute between the parties regarding their shares and extent of possession. This finding gives twist to the entire prosecution version and it is not clear as to who were in fact the aggressors and whether the injuries caused by the accused persons to the complainant party were in fact caused in their right of their private defence or not.

The High Court also came to the conclusion that PW. 3 Sahadeo and PW. 4 Narayan cannot be said to be totally independent witnesses as the defence had filed documentary evidence to show that Lalloo, the father of the accused persons had lodged an FIR against these witnesses for an offence under Sec. 308 IPC. These witnesses were, therefore, also somewhat inimical to the accused persons and their evidence cannot be given due weight especially with regard to the use of Lathi and Danda by the prosecution witnesses, particularly when such an important fact had not been stated by them in their statements recorded under Sec. 161 Criminal Procedure Code and the statements being contradictory to each other with regard to the use of Danda by the prosecution witness. The High Court arrived at the conclusion that the injuries of the accused persons have not been satisfactorily explained.

The High Court in the impugned judgment arrived at a definite finding that it is highly doubtful that the complainant party was in exclusive possession of the disputed land at the relevant time and witnesses Sahadeo PW. 3 and Narayan PW. 4 cannot be considered to be independent witnesses. A serious doubt has been cast on the credibility of the prosecution version. The High Court allowed the appeal and set aside the conviction and sentence of the appellants and they were acquitted of the offences charged for.

When we apply the above mentioned parameters laid down by a number of cases decided by this Court to the facts of this case, then conclusions become irresistible and no interference is warranted by this Court. Consequently, the appeal filed by the State of UP being devoid of any merits, is accordingly dismissed. State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Banne, 2009 CrLJ 2234 : 2009 (4) SCC 271 : 2009 (3) Scale 35 : 2009 (3) JT 552 : 2009 (2) SLT 687.

The case of prosecution was that accused alongwith others attacked the deceased and others while passing through the public street but no explanation was given by the prosecution for the injuries sustained by the accused in the same incident. It was held that evidence of injured eye-witnesses who were close relations of deceased should be viewed in the background of the failure of the prosecution to explain the injury sustained by accused as prosecution case about nature of incident was suspicious. The accused were given benefit of doubt. Sivaraman v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4186 (Ker).

There were two occurrences which took place on the same day. In the earlier occurrence, 'J' lost his life and 4 others were injured. There were, therefore, two different occurrence and it, therefore, cannot be suggested that 'T' and 'R' were injured in the course of the same incident and that the prosecution has failed to explain their injuries. The submission proceeds with fallacious assumption that the two of the appellants were injured in the course of the same incident. Ahir v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 900 : AIR 2005 SC 712 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 427 : 2005(1) SCC 582 : 2005(1) JT 425 : 2005(1) Supreme 166 ; 2005(1) Crimes 121 (SC).

45. Intention.—In awarding sentence intention of the accused should be taken into consideration. AIR 1931 Lah 749 Cr LJ 1219. Where there is no intention to kill proper sentence is transportation. 33 Cr LJ 184 : AIR 1932 Lah 5 ; AIR 1931 Mad 420 : 32 Cr LJ 623. Where the accused stated that he caused the death of four children on account of anger caused by hunger, Section 84 is not applicable in such a case but the Court reduced the death sentence to one of transportation for life. AIR 1950 Mad. 593.

Sentence of death may be reduced to that of transportation for life. Where the accused was held not to have normal mind. AIR 1950 Mad 576. Where intention to cause injury to the deceased is proved an offence under this section is committed. AIR 1950 Mad 484. Sentence of death should not be reduced even when it is proved that one of accused took part in the offence in order to oblige his friend, the other accused. AIR 1950 EP 159. Lesser sentence can be imposed when murder is committed in a moment of extreme excitement. 4 DLR (Simla) 231 : AIR 1949 Punj 355; AIR 1948 Lah 58 : 49 Cr LJ 26.

It is Section 34, IPC, which embodies the concept of joint liability in doing the criminal act based on common intention. This Section only provides a rule of evidence and does not create a substantive offence. Thus, if the act is the result of a common intention, then, every person, who did the criminal act with that common intention, would be responsible for the offence committed irrespective of the role played in its perpetration. Common intention essentially being a state of mind, it is very difficult to procure direct evidence to prove such intention. Therefore, in most cases, it has to be inferred from the acts, such as, the conduct of the accused or other relevant circumstances of the case. The inference can be gathered from the manner in which the accused arrived at the scene, mounted the attack, determination and concert with which the attack was made, from the nature of injury caused by one or some of them. The contributory acts of the persons, who are not responsible for the injury, can be further inferred from the conduct after the attack. In order to bring home the charge of common intention, the prosecution has to establish by evidence, direct or circumstantial, that there was plan or meeting of mind of all the accused persons to commit the offence for which they are charged with the aid of Section 34, be it pre-arranged or on the spur of moment, but it must necessarily be before the commission of the crime.

In the instant case, none of the two accused was armed with any deadly or lethal weapon. Since the evidence on record reveals that the land, in question, was in the possession of husband of deceased and the accused his nephew's family also laid their claim thereon there was a dispute between the two families. It is in this background that the accused nephew had entered into the land and started ploughing the same. He had not, however, carried any lethal weapon with him. When deceased aunt on witnessing the ploughing of the land by the accused protested thereto and an altercation ensued between the two, the other accused came running to the place of occurrence, while the altercation was in progress between deceased and accused No. 1, and gave a blow with his lathi on deceased's leg. On being so assaulted on her leg, deceased fell down. It was thereafter, that both the accused gave blows with lathis and two injuries were caused on the head of deceased, one of the injuries being fracture, which was caused on the frontoparietal area of the scalp, and the other one being a lacerated injury on the left side of the scalp. While considering the question of common intention, it is imperative to note that the evidence on record also clearly shows that had the co-villagers of deceased not started rushing to the place of occurrence, she might have had been given more blows with lathis. However, in the face of the number of injuries sustained by deceased, it is difficult, nay impossible, to infer that the intention of the accused was to cause death of deceased. In view of the fact that deceased was not armed with any weapon and she had not assaulted any of the accused, the accused-appellants had no justification for assaulting deceased. What is, however, of paramount importance to note is that out of the two injuries sustained there was only one on head, by deceased, which proved to be fatal. It is not, however, discernible from the evidence on record, as to which of the two accused-appellants had caused the said fatal injury.

Held that, in the aforesaid circumstances it could not be said that the deceased was assaulted with the intention of causing her death. At the same time, the evidence on record clearly reveals that both the accused had assaulted deceased on her head and fracture was caused on the front parietal area of her scalp by one of the blows, which had so fallen on her head. From the fact that deceased had sustained two injuries on her head, it clearly follows that both the accused shared the common intention in causing grievous injuries and in such a situation, the accused instead of being held guilty of the charge of murder, ought to have been held guilty of the offence committed by them under Section 326 read with Section 34, IPC. Abu Bahar Siddik alias Abu Mia and another, v. State of Tripura, 2005 CriLJ 1332 (Gau).

Where the murder was not a deliberate one but occurred suddenly after mutual abuse, a sentence of transportation of life was substituted for the death sentence. AIR 1918 Lah 913 ; 39 PLR 41. Where it is clear from evidence that the intention was to commit death and not grievous hurt the accused should be given the maximum sentence. 105 Ind Cas 804 ; 24 Pat 131 : AIR 1945 Pat 470. In cases of sudden and unpremeditated attack lesser sentence is called for. AIR 1942 Lah 37 : 43 Cr LJ 370. Premeditation or intention to kill is not always necessary for passing a death sentence. Bhabakhatwar and anothers v. State of Haryana, AIR 1979 SC 1006 : 1979 Cr LJ 883. Intention to kill depend upon the facts and circumstances of the particular case. Jawaharlal and another v. State of Punjab, AIR 1983 SC 284 : 1983 Cr LJ 429.

Intention to cause death - Circumstances from which can be gathered. Court has to proceed to decide the pivotal question of intention, with care and caution, as that decides whether the case falls under S. 302 or 304 Part I or 304 Part II. The intention to cause death can be gathered generally from a combination of a few or several of the following, among other, circumstances : (i) Nature of the weapon used; (ii) Whether the weapon was carried by the accused or was picked up from the spot; (iii) Whether the blow is aimed at a vital part of the body; (iv) The amount offeree employed in causing injury; (v) Whether the act was in the course of sudden quarrel or sudden fight or free for all fight; (vi) Whether the incident occurs by chance or whether there was any premeditation; (vii) Whether there was any prior enmity or whether the deceased was a stranger; (viii) Whether there was any grave and sudden provocation, and if so, the cause for such provocation; (ix) Whether it was in the heat of passion; (x) Whether the person inflicting the injury has taken undue advantage or has acted in a cruel and unusual manner; (xi) Whether the accused dealt a single blow or several blows. Hari Singh and Anr. v. State, 2008 CriLJ (2) 2133.

The dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries. There is also evidence on record to prove ant establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under Clause (4), of Sec. 300 of IPC. Maniben vs. State of Gujarat, 2009 (12) SCR 753 : 2009 (8) SCC 796 : 2009 (3) Crimes 298 (SC) : 2009 (12) JT 82 : 2009 (10) Scale 654 : 2009 (5) Supreme 700 : 2009 (4) JCC 2564.

Perusal of the entire evidence gives an impression that there was prior enmity between deceased and the accused persons and on the given day the accused persons assaulted him, but, then most of the injuries were dealt on the lower parts of the body, which reveals that they had no intention to murder. Garjan Sahu and Ors. vs. State of Orissa, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1880 (Ori).

The injuries inflicted by bricks numbering 5 or 6 can be held that accused intended to cause injuries likely to cause death. Therefore case under Section 304, Part II is made out. Makhan Singh s/o Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 671 (Raj).

Where prompt lodging of FIR. Intention to kill reasonably made out by medical report duly substantiated by the ocular evidence. Hence conviction, held, legal and proper. Atar Nag v. State of Orissa, (1995) 1 Crimes 124 (Ori).

Where the death occurred by arrow inflicted injury on the stomach of the deceased and neither there was evidence to show the intention to kill nor any evidence to show that the injury was sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course. The case was covered by Section 304, Part II and not under Section 302. Gengia v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 Cr LR 193 (Raj).

Deceased did not remove pole from village passage. In altercation he was hit by a blow and died after 13 days. The deceased was obstinate, there was, no intention to kill. Hence conviction converted to under Section 304, Part II. Mansharam v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 215 (MP).

Where there was found to have no intention to commit murder—However knowledge that injury will cause death. Hence conviction converted into Section 304, Part II. Tilak Chand alias Sita Ram v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 3 Crimes 426 : 1995 Cr R 868 (Bom).

When accused not intended either to cause death of his brother or deceased. He might have carried knife with him to threaten his brother to pay amount taken as loan. Accused might not have assaulted the deceased but for his intervention. Offence therefore falls under Section 304, Part I and under Section 302, IPC conviction modified accordingly. Malla Govindaraju alias Govu v. State of A.P., (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 9 (AP).

Where three acquitted by trial Court for lack of evidence—Two are convicted and sentenced for imprisonment for life. Then petition challenged. It is held, that in a case of murder by several persons if one of the accused is found to be responsible for non-fatal injury he is not convicted for murder whereas the accused responsible for injuries caused with intention to commit murder is convicted for murder. Hence conviction of accused under Section 302 is proper justified and that of 'P' who gave one lathi blow can only be convicted under Section 325, IPC and not more than that. Prahlad Oraon v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 84 (Pat).

When the doctor has deposed that incised wounds on her frontal region on her forehead were sufficient in ordinary course to have caused death. Hence it was apparent that appellant had intention to commit the murder and such conviction under Section 302, IPC is confirmed. Asha Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 531 : 1994 Cr LJ 2431 : (1994) 2 EFR 39 : 1994 (2) WLC 443 (Raj).

Where accused hitting the deceased with crowbar. There was found no premeditation and intention to cause death. Occurrence was in the spur of moment out of sudden provocation. Offence is falling under culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Conviction and sentence under Section 304, Part I, IPC instead of Section 302 is maintained. H. Madduleti v. State, (1995) 3 Crimes 160 (AP).

Where very severe kick blows given and Sternum broken. Ribs fractured on both sides. Pleura damaged—Injuries are fatal—Accused not armed with any weapon. Fight was not premeditated. Accused with intention to cause injuries likely to cause death is convicted under Section 304, Part I and not under Section 302. Roopsi v. State of Rajasthan. 1994 RCC 132 (Raj).

Where accused unarmed initially but suddenly left spot and came back with knife immediately. Single knife blow inflicted. There was exception to Section 300. Intention to cause death inferred. It was held that due to sudden fight offence amounted to culpable homicide not amounting to murder—Conviction of accused altered to Section 304, Part I. Mathura Murmu v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 869 (Ori).

Where death of deceased brother was caused by his brothers and wives. There was family disputes and had fatal stone-injury. Medical report stating injury on head caused by stone is fatal and sufficient for causing death. Evidence was of prosecution. Witness being injured wife of deceased and was corroborated by FIR and her witnesses—Prosecution proved guilt of the accused A for causing death—No pre-meditation and common intention. Offence is not murder but Accused A is liable for conviction under Section 304, Part I. Conviction and sentence modified accordingly. Siyadri Demullu v. State of Andhra Pradesh. (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 636 (AP) (DB).

Where accused caused injuries to deceased wife by stabbing her. Motive being some quarrel on missing money-matters and also on suspicion of fidelity of wife. No intention to cause death was proved, but stabbing by accused established by prosecution case. Offence was proved to fall under Section 304, Part I and hence conviction modified accordingly. Avula Venkateswarlu v. State, (1994) ALT (Cri) 593 : (1994) 1 ALT 726 : 1994 Cr LJ 2232 (AP) (DB).

Where the accused had intention to cause death. The conviction is under Section 302 hence it is held, sustainable. Nashik v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 SCC (Cri) 147 : AIR 1993 SC 1485 : 1993 Cr LJ 2619 : 1993(1) Crimes 1197 : 1993(2) Scale 165 : 1993(1) UJ 619.

Where repeated attempt to cause injury amounts to intention of the accused to cause the death of the deceased—Hence offence under Section 302, IPC was made out. State of Haryana v. Manoj Kumar, 1994 JIC 148 (SC) : (1994) 1 Crimes 102 : 1994 (1) SCC 495 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 93 : (1994) 1 East Cr C 88 : AIR 1994 SC 147.

LIBRARY
NARAYAN RAO MELGIRI
National Law School

Where only one blow from blunt side of weapon. Blow not hard otherwise head of deceased would have crushed. Hence it was held that there being intention of causing bodily injury only, conviction altered from Section 302 to Section 304, Part I. Madkami Laka v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 1484 (Ori).

Where it is obvious that accused did not have the intention of committing murder or attempting to murder any of the victims. It is also in evidence that gun was used as lathi. Puran Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 721.

Where evidence of wife of deceased corroborated by other prosecution-witnesses. Evidences inspiring confidence. Prosecution case proved against accused who inflicted four injuries on head of deceased—Repeated injuries—Intention to kill proved. Conviction which was under Section 302 was upheld. Nanda v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 502 (Raj).

The evidence of all the eye-witnesses have been duly corroborated by each other on all material particulars. On re-appreciation of evidence of eye-witnesses who have duly corroborated that accused intentionally killed his father and step-mother. Hence conviction maintained. Laloo v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 355 : 1995 Cr LR 818 (Raj).

Deceased child not involved in dispute. Nothing preceded the incident which would have indicated the motive of the accused. Case of single blow on the back of the child. No intention to commit murder. Hence conviction under Section 302 converted into 304, Part I. Prabhakar v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 3 Crimes 430 (Bom).

Where injury caused on the many vital part of the deceased. Hence intention was established and offence made out under Section 302, IPC." Krishna Kamble v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 678 (Bom).

Where injuries inflicted by accused by lathi can not be said to be with sole intention to cause death and hence conviction can be altered from Sections 302 to 304 Part II. Ramaotar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1993 Cri LJ 57 (SC).

Where in absence of serious injuries on vital parts of body of deceased dying after six days of incident, no intention to cause death is attributable to accused who can be convicted under Section 304 Part II. Conviction under Section 304 Part II is valid & proper. Babu Lal v. State of M.P., 1993 Cri LJ 2667 (SC) : 1993 AIR (SC) 1941.

When appellant stabbed into heart of deceased who dies instantly, inference is that be inflicted injury with intention to cause death. Katta Ramudu v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 302 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 2428 : 1997 (3) JT 498 : 1997 (2) Scale 726 : 1997 (3) Supreme 209 : 1997 (1) CCR 279 (SC).

When accused being armed with lathi assaulted deceased who was unarmed on vital part of his body it shows intention to kill, even though extensive damage may not have caused to deceased. State of U.P. v. Lakhan, 1997 (2) Crimes 67 (SC) : 1997 (5) JT 33 : 1997 (3) Scaqle 647 : 1997 92) CCR 43 (SC) : 1997 (4) Supreme 348.

46. Instigation.—That the accused who committed murder were hired assailants was no reason to award lesser, sentences of life imprisonment. ILR, 1953 Hyd 32 : 1953 Cr LJ 935 : AIR 1953 Hyd 161.

47. Murder committed by several persons who inflicted injury not known.—There should be no discrimination and all the accused persons equally placed be awarded the same sentence. 1964 (2) Cr LJ 75 (All) ; AIR 1956 Hyd 99 : ILR 1956 Hyd 205 : 1956 Cr LJ 887 (commutation of death sentence to transportation for life) : AIR 1962 Cal 504 : 1962 (2) Cr LJ 456.

48. While sentence under Section 307 still in force.—The fact that the sentence for offence under Section 307 is still in force is no bar to trial and conviction under this section AIR 1935 Pesh 18.

The High Court rightly noted that the evidence adduced by the prosecution did not establish that remaining accused persons had any knowledge that Gajadhar was carrying a country made pistol or that he would go to shoot the deceased. The testimony of PW-2 shows that Janardan was initially arising the voters not to caste vote for Ramakant Yadav but to vote for his candidate and subsequently he had resorted to rowdism in order to disturb the voting process so that Ramakant Yadav may not win the election and that simple injuries were caused by blunt weapon to three persons. Therefore, as rightly observed by the High Court the common object of the assembly was not to commit the murder of Chandra Bhan Singh and it was the solitary act of Gajadhar. PW-2 had also stated that he had not seen the lathis or country made pistol in the hands of any of the accused persons at the time when Janardan was disturbing the voters and was asking them not to caste vote in favour of Ramakant Yadav. PW-4 i.e. Constable on duty had also stated that there was fight between the parties regarding disturbance in voting. State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Gajadhar Singh, AIR 2009 SC 1935 : 2009 (1) Crimes 348 : 2009 (11) SCC 366 : 2009 (2) JT 354 : 2009 (2) Scale 452 : 2009 (2) SCR 17 : 2009 (1) Supreme 793.

Where accused was convicted under Section 302 as well as under Section 307 for murder of only one person, conviction under Section 307 not proper. Jagtar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1993 Cri LJ 2886 (SC).

PW. 2 Suresh Kumar at the time of occurrence was studying in the school. He is the friend of Raj Kumar, who is the brother of PW. 1. According to him, on the date of occurrence, PW. 2 and his friend Raj Kumar accompanied PW. 1 and the deceased to go to river for taking bath. On the way, the occurrence had taken place. He could state about the occurrence only. He did not refer about the other happenings with reference to the motive as spoken to by PW. 1. At the time of deposition, he was studying B.A. in Nesamani Christian College. He clearly corroborated the evidence of PW. 1 with reference to the overt acts attributed to each of the accused. Nothing has been elicited from PW. 2 that he had anything to speak falsehood against the accused. As a matter of fact, when the victim was taken in a car to hospital, he also accompanied him. When Exh. P1 complaint was given to PW. 11 Head Constable, PW. 2 attested the said complaint. In Exh. P1 also the name of PW. 2 is mentioned. PW. 2 was examined at the hospital during the course of inquest by PW. 14. Therefore, there is no reason to reject the evidence of PW. 2. Vijaykumar vs. State, 2009 (12) SCC 629 : 2009 CrLJ 3056 : 2009 (7) JT 36 : 2009 (6) SCR 919 : 2009 (6) Scale 364 : 2009 (8) SLT 27.

When eye witness himself six ghastly murders and even sustained multiple gunshot injuries and there is no reason of false implication of appellant, conviction of appellant upheld. Kashmir Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 (1) Crimes 111 (SC).

49. Custom.—Custom of killing for unchastity cannot mitigate sentence. AIR 1935 Sind 44 ; 28 SLS 279.

50. Killing under officer's order.—If a soldier kills another under illegal order of his superior officer, he is not excused, but this fact may be taken into consideration to mitigation of punishment, AIR 1940 Lah 210 : 41 Cr LJ 639.

51. Influence of father and elder brother.—Where accused is only 17 years of age and commits crime under influence of father and elder brother the case is a fit one for exercise of power, under Section 401. 137 IC 293 : 33 Cr LJ 484. In case of murder by two persons, the one taking part and acting under influence of the other, should be punished with lesser sentence. AIR 1930 Sind 305. A youth committing murder under the influence of others may be given the lesser sentence for life. AIR 1971 SC 1388 : 1971 Cr LJ 1109.

52. Unsound mind.—Where the accused being of unsound mind murdered his children, but his case does not fall Section 84 and he was an affectionate father, his sentence was reduced from death to transportation. 145 IC 119 : 34 Cr LJ 939 : AIR 1933 Lah 128 ; see also 135 Ind Cas 384 : 33 Cr LJ 163 : AIR 1932 Oudh 18 ; AIR 1965 AP 28.

When the mental condition of the accused is not normal, the case does not merit capital punishment. AIR 1973 SC 806 : 1973 Cr LJ 582 ; AIR 1975 SC 762 ; 1975 Cr LJ 646 ; AIR 1974 SC 1697.

53. Superstition.—Accused believing deceased to be witch struck her with axe. The accused is guilty of murder, Madh Bha 1955 HCR 1135 : Madh BLR 1955 Cr 171. Accused out of superstitious belief, caused burns as a result of which the deceased died, he is guilty of offence under Section 304, Part II and not under Section 302. 1964 Mad LJ 188 : 1964 (2) Cr LJ 557 : AIR 1964 Mad 480 ; AIR 1932 Cal 815 : 33 Cr LJ 663, but see 1957 MLJ (Cr) 803 ; AIR 1977 SC 1319 : 1977 Cr LJ 829.

54. Perverted sense of family honour.—The perverted sense of family honour which actuated the accused to commit murder cannot be regarded as a mitigating circumstance. AIR 1960 Mad 218 : ILR 1960 Mad 175 : 1960 Cr LJ 720 : 1960 Mad LJ (Cr) 133 ; ILR 1964 Cut LT 1 (possibility of accused committing widow's murder for preserving family honour held justified in reduction of sentence).

55. Sex.—That the accused is a woman is not a conclusive reason for not passing the sentence of death especially where she was armed with a dangerous weapon and did not hesitate to use it for a slight cause. 1 Rang 751. It has, invariably been held in all Courts in India that in the murder of her newly born illegitimate child by a woman there are mitigating circumstances sufficient to reduce the appropriate penalty very much below a sentence of transportation. Most of the circumstances apply, though in a lesser degree to the case of the father of such a child. 25 Cr LJ 63 : 75 IC 267. Generally the age and sex of a murderer cannot of itself be sufficient ground for a lenient sentence, if there are other reasons which very nearly justify the passing of the lesser sentence but do not quite do so, or when it is doubtful whether they do so or not, then the youth or sex of the criminal may certainly dip the scale to the side of mercy. 18 NLR 101 : 64 IC 277 (N) : AIR 1922 Nag 65. Where illiterate woman caused death of child urged by wicked superstition, lesser penalty should be imposed. AIR 1938 Lah 718 : 146 IC 228. Where a young girl of 15 kills her newly born baby, a sentence of transportation for life is wholly inappropriate. In England it is always assumed that a girl who commits such a murder at such a time is hardly responsible for her actions. It being well known that the child's birth produces occasionally peculiar reactions in the mother. The sentence of transportation for life should be reduced to a sentence for a short period. AIR 1938 Lah 473. Comparative lenity to woman is a commonly accepted rule of practice though needless to say not of law, but in dealing with atrocious crime like this the mere sex of the criminal should not bar the imposition of a sentence which would be considered appropriate in the case of a man. 16 Cr LJ 20 : 26 Ind Cas 324. The effect of Section 4 of the Evidence Act interpreting "shall presume" is that the Code shall record the absence of the soundness of mind as proved unless and until it is disproved. ILR (1962) Cut 806.

56. Guilt of Rape and Murder.—Where the appellant submitted that in any set of circumstances, this is not the rarest of the rare case where accused is to be sentenced to death. He submitted that age of the accused on the relevant day was less than 22 years. It is his submission that even though the act is heinous, considering the fact that no injuries were found on the deceased, it is probable that death might have occurred because of gagging her mouth and nonetrix by the accused at the time of incident so that she may not raise hue and cry. The death, according to him, was accidental and unintentional one. In the present case, there is nothing on record to indicate that the appellant was having any criminal record nor it can be said that he will be a grave danger to the society at large. It is true that his act is heinous and requires to be condemned but at the same time it cannot be said that it is rarest of the rare case where accused requires to be eliminated from the society. Hence, there is no justifiable reason to impose the death sentence. Therefore, the conviction under Section 302 IPS maintain but sentence of death commuted to life imprisonment. Bantu alias Naresh Giri v. State of M.P. 2002 Cri LJ 211 (S.C.) : 2002 AIR (SC) 70 : 2001 (7) Scale 523: 2001 (8) Supreme 7 : 2001 (7) SLT 577.

Doubtful evidence—Rape and murder. What has been stated above relating to the law on circumstantial evidence, only question to be examined is whether the presence of the injuries on the accused can be held to be sufficient to hold appellant guilty. The trial Court held that the accused was examined on 24.03.1993 by the doctor PW. 3 who found abrasions on the thighs and hip joints of the accused, as the injuries must have been received in a scuffle. This circumstance found supported from the finding of chappals and other articles. It was held that recovery of utensil and chappals of the deceased does not lead to the guilt of the accused but that circumstances show the involvement of the accused who was found to have injuries on the persons corresponding with the injuries on the deceased. The High Court noted as follows :

> "In our considered view, a very strong circumstance which connects the appellant with the commission of offence is the presence of injuries on his person especially thigh and hip joints."
>
> "This certainly is a very strong circumstance which by itself can be said to be conclusive in its nature pointing towards the guilt of the accused."
>
> "The recovery of chappals, Dolu (steel container) and certain other articles from the fields of the appellant speak volumes of the fact of a strong corroborative circumstance against the appellant."

"The aforesaid strong circumstances can very well be taken in to account for upholding the conviction of the appellant."

Circumstances on which the trial Court and the High Court had relied to hold the accused guilty by no stretch of imagination can be determinative of the fact that accused was responsible for the commission of rape. Even if it is accepted that the chappals and the utensils were found in the fields of the appellant, the dead body was found by another place i.e. in the field of Sheo Ram.

Above being the position that the judgment of the trial Court affirmed by the High Court cannot be maintained and are set aside. The appeal is allowed. The appellant who is in custody shall be released forthwith unless required to be in custody in connection with any other case. Baldev Singh vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 963 : 2008 CrLJ 948 : 2008 (14) SCC 768 : 2009 (2) SLT 243 : 2008 (15) Scale 366 : 2008 (16) SCR 826.

Rape and murder of a girl aged 2 years. The evidence of PW-5 and PW-6 reveals that appellant had been seen around the complainant's house on the previous day and as he was not a resident of this area, he had been quickly singled out. These witnesses further stated the appellant had been seen in the vicinity again after the rape and murder and he had accordingly been apprehended and handed over to the police and two chains worn by deceased had been taken from his pockets. PW-13 also identified the chains in Court. It is true that in the cross-examination of these two witnesses, several improvements vis-a-vis their statements under Sec. 161 of Criminal Procedure Code had been pointed out by the defence Counsel, but the fact that the appellant had been present in the vicinity of the house and had been arrested, soon after the incident has been admitted even by the defence.

Another significant piece of evidence is the statement of PW-7 who testified to the fact that about 2:30 a.m. on the night of the murder he had gone out of the house to urinate and had seen the appellant outside and on being questioned, the appellant had threatened him with dire consequences with the result that he had not informed anybody till the third day after the police had come to the village to verify the facts. He too stated to the fact that two chains had been recovered from the pocket of the appellant. It is true that several improvements have been made by the three primary witnesses but there is absolutely no reason as to why they would involve the appellant in a false case as admittedly he was a stranger to the locality and they bore him no ill will.

We have also gone through the evidence of PW-12 relating to the recovery of the frock pursuant to a disclosure statement made by the appellant under Sec. 27 of the Evidence Act. Nothing could be spelt out from the cross-examination of this witness except that the recovery had not been made from a closed place, though he explained that there was very little movement of human beings in that area as no one was residing close by. This witness also identified the frock that had been recovered. It is equally significant that the strands of fibre recovered from the place of incident had been matched with the material of the frock and were found to be from the same source.

It is true that in a criminal matter the onus of proof lies almost exclusively on the prosecution. As already mentioned above, however, the appellant has not been able to give any explanation in his statement under Sec. 313 of Criminal Procedure Code as to what he had been doing in that locality. On the contrary he admitted his presence by stating that he had been caught by the neighbours on suspicion of the murder and beaten up, and had suffered several injuries in the process. The medical evidence on the contrary reveals that these injuries could also have been sustained while raping and killing the young child.

The evidence that the appellant was a paedophile with extremely violent propensities also stands proved on record in that he had been convicted and sentenced for an offence punishable under Sec. 354 in the year 1998 and later for offences punishable under Secs. 363, 376, 379, 302 and 201 of the IPC for the rape and murder of a young child and had been awarded a sentence of imprisonment for life under Sec. 302, and several other terms of imprisonment with respect to the other Secs., though, an appeal in this connection was pending as on date. It is also extremely relevant that the appellant, had, in addition, been tried for the murders of several other children but had been acquitted on the 28.07.2005 with the benefit of doubt. The present incident happened three days later. We accordingly dismiss the appeals but modify the sentence of death to one for the rest of his life in terms of the judgment in Shraddananda's case. Sebastian vs. State of Kerala, 2010 (1) SCC 58 : 2009 (4) Crimes 121 (SC) : 2009 (13) JT 136 : 2009 (13) Scale 210 : 2009 (7) Supreme 8 : 2009 (8) SLT 96.

57. Accused having small child.—The existence of an extremely young baby born to the accused since the murder is not a ground for lessening the sentence. AIR 1963 Ori 144 : 1963 (2) Cr LJ 294 : ILR 1962 Cut 262 ; ILR 1962 Cut 726.

58. Accused killing ailing wife as he could not provide for operation.—Also killing his two children as they would be neglected after their mother. It is a crime committed out of poverty and not actuated by any lust, vengeance or gain and imprisonment for life and not death sentence is to be awarded. AIR 1955 SC 50.

59. Deaf and mute accused.—Accused can not be exempted from puni-shment simply on the ground that he is deaf and dumb. (1960) 2 Ker LR 206.

60. Cases.—Absence of name of solitary eye-witness from rukka sent by doctor to police station immediately after arrival of dead body in hospital, created doubt about presence of eye-witness at time of incident. Sukhawant Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 SCC (Cr) 524 (SC) : 1195 AIR (SC) 1601 : 1995 (3) SCC 367 : 1995 (3) JT 495 : 1995(2) Scale 482 : 1995 (2) UJ 29 : 1995 (2) SCJ 81 : 1995 (2) Crimes 148.

Where the accused drove the vehicle in such a way that tyres of lorry ran over middle portion of the body which resulted in crush injuries. From these facts, it is fully established that accused intentionally caused such bodily injuries so as to cause death of the deceased. Hence he committed offence of murder under Section 300, IPC liable to be punished under Section 302, IPC. Satheesan v. State of Kerala, (1995) 1 KLJ 410 (Ker).

Where child was murdered by strangulation and asphyxia—Circumstantial evidence is that the body of deceased child recovered from hut of appellant. Appellant-accused was absconded and arrested after two days—Complainant mother of child being poor illiterate lady cannot fabricate false case to implicate appellant. Hence conviction of appellant was upheld. Ramshray Mithai Lai Vishvakarma v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 149 (Bom).

Where death of bystanders and Appellant police constable fired two shots killing two persons and third shot went off. Actual quarrel and fight between appellant and two more police constable was on one side and prosecution-witness and his brother was on other side—Appellant started indiscriminate firing—Occurrence was at 9 p.m. and so due to darkness appellant could not have noticed any bystanders—There found no aim of firing at two deceased, he fired only to scare away people. It was held that appellant acted in haste, rashly and without circumspection and due care. Conviction under Section 304-A ordered. Balwant Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Crimes 745 (SC) : 1994(2) JT 30 : 1994 Supp (2) SCC 67 : 1994(1) Scale 679 : 1994 JCC 258 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 844.

Death was caused by strangulation—Even in absence of external marks a person may be killed by manual strangulation. Lalu Mia v. State of Tripura, (1995) 2 GLR 145 (Gau).

Where prosecution case entirely depending upon testimony of solitary eye-witness who is wife of the deceased—But this testimony is found not reliable—Unexplained delay in filing FIR—Bald statement of doctor without any medical report as to how injured person became unconscious. Therefore conviction was set aside. Jaipal Lal v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 376 : 1994 Cr R 176.

Where deceased was alleged to have pregnancy of 4 months from accused—But dead body recovered had no traces of pregnancy and thus it cannot be said that dead body recovered is connected with deceased's case—Identification of deceased by her brother only from photographs of dead body taken after 36 hours of death cannot establish to be the dead body of the deceased. No evidence of last seen of accused near place of recovery of dead body—Hence conviction of accused not sustainable. There is no evidence that accused was seen even alone near about the place where the dead body was found on 29.9.1988 or 30.9.1988 or even on 1.10.1988, when the dead body was found. With many links missing, it becomes doubtful if accused caused death of R. Therefore, on the facts and circumstances of the case, an inference cannot be drawn that accused has caused the death of R. True it is that the pant and shirt recovered from the house of the accused contained bloodstains. There is, however, no evidence that the pant and shirt belonged to the accused which he was wearing at the time R was seen with him last. Bira Naik v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 1169 at p. 1171 (Ori).

Where that eye-witnesses produced by prosecution has implicated the acquitted accused person as well and that part of evidence was not held to be reliable beyond reasonable doubt. But this was not sufficient to reject their testimony in relation to appellant because the same was corroborated by surrounding evidence as well. Though the presence of defence-witness 'V on the scene of occurrence has been admitted by the prosecution eye-witness yet since the theory of accidental fire resulting in death of two deceased persons has already been held as an impossibility the trial judge was justified in rejecting the testimony of V who propounded the theory, hence impugned judgment suffers from no infirmity. Ramkripal v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 139 (MP).

Where there was 32 hours of delay in lodging FIR—Two remaining family members also injured—Incident in the winter night—Only residing member widow lady and minor son, who were injured—Delay was properly explained. Ram Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Recent CR 631 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 280 : 1995 Supp (1) SCC 248 : 1994 (6) JT

502 : 1994 (1) Scale 484 : 1994 (3) Crimes 633 : 1995 (2) SCJ 75 : 1994 (4) CCR 779 (2) (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 355.

During record of case history the deceased told that she was set on fire by her mother-in-law who poured kerosene oil on her. This was correctly treated as dying declaration as recitals were contained in case history. Smt. Chandrabai Balu Kapase v. State of Maharashtra, (1995). 1 Bom CR 503 (Bom).

Where there was possibility of two views. The view favouring the accused to be accepted. Public Prosecutor v. Bandi Balaiah. (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 115 : 1994 Cr LJ 331 (AP) (DB).

When defence taken plea of private defence—Not established from the conduct of the accused—Prosecution version inspiring confidence—Conviction and sentence recorded by the High Court. It was held sustainable. Pandurang Dnyandeo Hatkar v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 SCC (Cri) 33 (SC) : 1993 (1) JT 445 : 1993 (1) Crimes 656 : 1993 (1) Scale 410 : 1993 (1) CCR 70 (SC).

In dowry death charge both under Sections 302 and 304-B may co-exist. Bhoora Singh v. State, 1993 Cri LJ 2636 (Alld).

Where accused sexually assaulted infant girl of 4 months and body thrown in a well pulled out after 24 hours, mere absence of traces of semen on deceased would not exonerate accused from charge of rape. Siddik Singh Pritam Singh v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 2919 (Bom).

Where there is no evidence that footprints were preserved. Even otherwise science of identification of foot prints is rudimentary science and much reliance cannot be placed on result of such identifications. Niranjan Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 620 (P & H) (DB).

Where in case of death by burns by fire set by husband and material witnesses to the incident kept back.—Court can draw adverse inference. Jalba son of Santuka Kamble v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Bom CR 575 (Bom).

Eye-witnesses were probable and natural—Offence was established by all corners—Hence conviction was justified. Balbir Singh v. State of UP, 1994 Cri LJ 3400 (Alld) : 1994 UP Cr R 622 : 1994 JIC 823 (All).

Where allegation of causing death was by axe-injury. Six persons were dead—Incident due to minor altercations. Recovery was not proved. Identification parade was also held improperly—Conviction was not justified. It was held that offence not established against—May be more persons and weapons used in the incident. State of Gujarat v. Dindol (Adivasi) Ratna Surpal, 1994 Cr LR 148 (Guj).

Where to kill is cruel and all murders are cruel. But such cruelty may vary in degree of culpability when it assumes the proportion of extreme depravity the special reasons exist. State of M.P. v. Manmohan Choubey, 1994 Cr LR 71 (N) (MP).

Where it appears probable that due to discard there would be false implication the Court would be careful in scrutinising the evidence. Vital Sadashiv Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Bom CR 702 : 1994 Cr LJ 2035 (Bom).

Where death of the wife was by burning and intention and motive to kill was not present. Conduct of the appellant not strengthening such inference—She was 50% burnt—There was discrepancy with regard to the fact whether kerosene and match box was brought by deceased herself or the accused. Other important discrepancy being the statement 'burn yourself. `and accused lit fire'. There was evidence to the effect that the deceased burnt herself having been disgusted with the conduct of the accused. It was held that the conviction was modified to one under Section 498-A, IPC. Gunti Yadagiri v. State of A.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 366 (AP).

Where death was caused by gunshot injury. But blood was not recovered from the place where body was found lying seven hours. The stomach was found empty. Hence manner of incident doubtful—Conviction was not justified—It was held that prosecution case is doubtful. Subrata Roy v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 337 (All).

For delayed FIR there was no explanation for delay and had Unfair investigation—There was lack of motive—Eye-witness was too not trustworthy. Accused entitle for acquittal. Ram Singh Meena v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 601 (Raj).

Where there was delayed recording of the statements of material witnesses rendering these witnesses unreliable. It would vitiate the prosecution. Kishan Singh v. State of Rajasthan. 1995 RCC 123 : 1995 Cr LR 176 : 1995 Cr LJ 2127 : (1995) 2 RCD 38 : 1995 Cr LR 547 : (1995) 1 RCD 76 : (1995) 2 RCD 189 (Raj).

In review petition against death sentence when petitioner was 20 years old on date of commission of offence as proved by School leaving certificate, there is no use to medical examine accused at this stage. Petition dismissed. Amrutlal Someshwar Joshi v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 CCR 32 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 2582 : 1994(5) JT 509 : 1994(6) SCC 200 : 1994(3) Scale 901 : 1995(1) UJ 130 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1604.

Where witnesses are neighbours hence no mistake in identification. Witnesses swearing the fact that accused gave the blow on the head of the deceased with axe-witnesses are natural. It is held that it was the accused who caused injury to the deceased with axe. Shiodas v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Crimes 531 : 1995 Cr LJ 2054 (Bom.) (DB).

Where the incident was witnessed by two eye-witnesses. Hence the discrepancies in number of axe-blows given was not material. Therefore, held that the impugned judgment suffered from no infirmity to warrant interference. Punem Landri v. State of U.P, 1994 Cr LR 176 (N) (MP).

Where the death was caused by burning hence conviction by trial court for offence under Section 302, IPC and sentenced to life imprisonment and fine of Rs. 5,000/ : . It was challenged in appeal. It was held, that at the time of incident, the deceased was in the company of the accused at his house. The burden lies on him to explain satisfactorily the circumstances leading to the incident. The evidence plainly demonstrates that he has failed to discharge this burden rather he has made crude attempts to escape from this responsibility by setting up false defences. His behaviour is such which no person of reasonable and ordinary prudence would ever display. The evidence has been properly noticed and weighed before conclusion has been drawn. Hence there is no reason to differ with the findings of trial Court. The involvement of accused is clearly established, Appeal dismissed. Bhag Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (1994) 1 SLJ 70 at p. 76 (HP).

The sole witness was child-witness who cannot be relied upon. The dying declaration which sought to inculpate the accused was contradictory and was not corroborated. The prosecution has failed to prove the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. Hence accused was entitled to benefit of doubt. Suresh Ganpat Rathod v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 603 (Bom.)

Where the act of appellant-accused in causing injuries on the person of the deceased cannot be stated to be one not done in exercise of private defence of person in facts and circumstances of the case. Hence the accused is found guilty of offence under Section 302, IPC and conviction awarded by Court below is not sustainable. Kaliyaperumal v. State, (1994) 1 LW (Cri) 319 (Mad).

Where prosecution of the husband and wife for offence thereunder and Acquittal of the husband. Since conviction of wife was held to be not sustainable. State of W.B. v. Vindu Lachmandas Sakhrani, 1995 SCC (Cr) 175 (SC) : 1994 AIR (SC) 772 : 1994 Cr. LJ 919.

Where ill-treatment was not complained. Hence was not proved otherwise. Whether the conviction was justified. It was not proved beyond reasonable doubt. Vinod Kumar v. State, (1994) 54 Del LT 697 (Del) (DB).

When there were no evidence to establish the alleged murder committed by accused. Hence offence under Section 302, IPC and sentence to life imprisonment set aside. Satendra Pal v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 15 (All).

Where mere fact that only in course of trial they had been named as those who had dragged the deceased out cannot create reasonable doubt about these appellants. Kaki Ramesh v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 Crimes 268 (SC) : (1994) SCC 397 : 1994 (3) JT 532 : 1994 (2) Scale 753 : 1994 (1) UJ 776 : 1994 (2) CCR 503.

Where right of private defence against aggressors was justified. Hence right of private defence may be pleaded. Jagit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 270 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 630 : (1994) 2 Crimes 566 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 118 (P & H).

Where hired does not mean recruitment but without recruitment to act as servant or agent. To attract provisions of Section 150, IPC the prosecution has to prove that persons were either hired or engaged or employed or conceived at hiring engagements or employment. Vinit v. State of Maharashtra (1994) 1 Bom CR 648.

Where merely on the ground that the name of the eye-witness does neither find place in FIR nor in the sketch of the place of occurrence testimony of eye witness can not be discarded. Naresh Kumar v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 619 (Del) : (1995) 1 CC Cases 418 : 1995 JCC 179 : 1995 Cr R 431 (Del).

When if the appellant has not been found guilty for the substantive offence of murder of Vir Pal Kaur, then his conviction under Section 201 of the Indian Penal Code for causing the disappearance of the evidence of murder of the deceased cannot be said to be legally sustainable. Khem Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 381 at p. 383 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr 214 (P & H).

Prosecution's failure to explain minor injuries on the person of the accused. Hence it is held, that is inconsequential in the face of consistent version of the incident as narrated by the eye-witnesses. Venu v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1994 SCC (Cri) 40 : 1993 Cr. LJ 3671.

The incident took place at 10 p.m. and report was lodged on next morning at 8 a.m. The mother of deceased the eye-witnesses to occurrence sent for her husband and on his arrival the FIR was lodged. It cannot be termed as unexplained delay. Satpal v. State of Punyab, (1995) 3 Crimes 735 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 201 : 1995 (6) JT 379 : 1995 (5) Scale 235 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 1039 : 1995 (4) CCR 110 (SC) : 1996 Cr. LJ 406.

In an Allahabad case, the defence challenged the presence of eye-witness on the place of occurrence. It was pleaded that if eye-witnesses were present on spot he would have tried to save his brother/father and would have sustained injuries in process. The plea was held untenable and it was held that inaction of witness in not coming to save deceased out of fear was very natural. The Court further observed that any exaggeration of his evidence that he followed accused and had also witnessed murder of his father in the field could be ignored, but his total evidence would not be discarded. The presence of witnesses on place of occurrence was held probable and natural and corroborated by medical evidence and F.I.R. Conviction on the basis thereof was held proper. Ram Sanchi v. State of U.P., 2005 Cr LJ 153 (All) : 2004 All LJ 3573 : 2004(50) All Cri C 112 : 2004(3) All Cri R 2676.

Where there was extensive head injury made offence of murder under Section 302. Doctor's evidence and repentance will not alter nature of offence committed. Accused convicted. Phoolbhan Sah v. State of M.P., 1995 MPLJ 73 (N) (MP).

Where it was pleaded that accused was suffering from para void there were facts establishing that he understood implication of his act at the time he committed offence. Plea in question was not maintainable. S.K. Nair v. State of Punjab, 1997 Cri LJ 772 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 1537 : 1997 (1) SCC 141 : 1996 (10) JT 338 : 1996 (8) Scale 237 : 1996 (8) Supreme 182 : 1996 (4) Crimes 186 (SC) : 1997 (3) CCR 53 (SC) : 1996 (8) AD (SC) 77 : 1997 SCC (Cr) 60.

Commission of murder by a known person was unrealistic as known person will never venture to commit murder without concealing their identity. Afzauddin Ansari v. State, 1997 (2) Crimes 53 (Cal) (DB).

Under Section 86, IPC initial burden will be on accused. Mirza Ghani Baig v. State of A.P., 1997 (3) Crimes 19 (AP).

In case of single injury implication of four persons create doubt about complicity of accused other than one which inflicted fatal injury. Shubh Narayan Pandey v. State of Bihar. 1997 (1) Crimes 225 (Pat).

Setting ablaze on fire of bus with passengers resulting in death of 23 passengers, facts that accused were young and prime motive was not murder but property and no passenger was allowed to escape from bus, can not constitute mitigating circumstances. Gentela Vijaya Vardhan Rao v. State of A.P., 1996 Cri LJ 4151 (SC). : 1996 AIR (SC) 2791 : 1996(7) JT 491 : 1996(6) SCC 241 : 1996 (6) Scale 231 : 1996 (6) Supreme 356 : 1996 (3) Crimes 197 (SC) : 1996(3) SCJ 247 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 1290 : 1996 (6) AD (SC) 352 : 1997 (2) CCR 119 (SC).

Committing rape on 7 years old girl and then strangulating her to death and throwing her body in well, come within "rarest of rare" cases and attract death sentence. Kamta Tiwari v. State of M.P., 1996 Cri LJ 4158 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 2800 : 1996 (8) JT 198 : 1996 (6) Scale 337 : 1996 (6) SCC 250 : 1996 (6) Supreme 482 : 1996 (3) Crimes 241 (SC0 : 1996 (3) CCr 141 (SC) : 1996 SCC (Cr) 1298 : 1996 (6) AD (SC) 362.

In circumstantial evidence when witness of dying declaration turned hostile, it can not be proved that deceased was murdered by appellant. Sham Lal v. State of Haryana. 1997 (1) Crimes 245 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 1873 : 1997(3) JT 91 : 1997(2) Scale 328 : 1997(1) CCR 231 (SC) : 1997 Cr LJ 1927.

It is not incumbent upon police officer to mention names of assailants in inquest report. Mahendra Rai v. Mithilesh Rai, 1997 (1) Crimes 41 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 2800 : 1996 (8) JT 198 (SC): 1996 (6) Scale 337 (SC): 1996 (6) SCC 250 : 1996 (6) Supreme 482 : 1996 (3) Crimes 241 (SC) : 1996 (3) CCR 141 (SC) : 1996 SCC Cr 1298 : 1996 (6) AD (SC) 362.

If holes can be picked in the defence that does not mean that prosecution case is automatically proved. Daulat Ram v. State of Punjab. 1997 (2) Crimes 63 (SC).

61. Offence proved by confessions.—Where the Court held that the offences of murder was committed but sentenced the accused to transportation solely on the ground that their confessions alone made the conviction possible, the reason was not sufficient for not awarding the sentence of death. 2 Bur LJ 277. Extra judicial confessions are not usually considered with favour but does not mean that such a confession coming for a person who has no reason to state falsely and to whom it is made in the circumstances which tend to support his statement, should not be believed. Held, on facts, that the appellant did commit the murder and was rightly convicted and sentenced to death under Section 302, 1962 SCD 133 : (1962) 2 SCJ 733 : 1962 SCR 136 : 1962 All Cr L 147.

Extra-judicial confession before Village Administrative Officer—Non-compliance of duties by Officer. When an extra judicial confession is given to the Village Administrative Officer, he goes to the scene of occurrence; observes the dead body as well as the scene; satisfies himself about the truth of the statement given by the person concerned and then, prepares the material records. In this case, he did not do anything of that sort. Over and above all this PW. 1 has categorically admitted he knows that when an extra judicial confession statement is given to him, he should prepare not only a duplicate of the same but also prepare a duplicate of the Yadast which must be sent to the Court by him. He had categorically admitted that he neither sent Exh. P1 nor Exh. P3 to the Court. He had been a Village Administrative Officer of ten years standing. The purpose of sending documents like Exhs. P1 and P3 to the Court and the copies of the same to the Police is to eliminate false implication and to add credibility to the extra judicial confession statement itself. The failure on the part of PW. 1 to send the material records to the Court, especially, when he was aware of his duty in that regard is yet another circumstance which is sufficient to doubt the entire case of the prosecution put through PWs. 1 and 7.

The High Court has rightly held that the prosecution version is unacceptable. State of Tamil Nadu vs. Manmatharaj, AIR 2009 SC 1757 : 2008 (13) JT 194 : 2008 (15) Scale 279 : 2008 (16) SCR 735 : 2009 (1) Supreme 455.

It is a fallacy that the extra-judicial confession by itself, is not considered sufficient to base a conviction. The Supreme Court in Vinayak Shivajirao Pol v. State of Maharashtra, 1998 (2) Sec 233 : 1988 Cri LJ 1558 made a reference to and relied upon its earlier decision in the case of Piara Singh v. State of Punjab. (1977) 4 SCC 452 : 1977 Cri LJ 1941 where in it was laid down that the law does not require that the evidence of an extra-judicial confession should in all cases be corroborated and where such confession was proved by an independent witness who was a responsible officer and who bore no animus against the accused, there was hardly any justification to disbelieve the same.

In State of Maharashtra v. Vilas Pandurang Patil, 1999 Cri LJ 1062 (Bom), the extra-judicial confession was made to a person who was although not a friend of the respondent and was not on visiting terms with him. But he and the respondent had been classmates in childhood and his house was situated near that of the accused. The Court held that it was probable that on account of the said circumstance, the respondent made the extra-judicial confession to him. Often, when a person is placed in a grim situation, like the one in which the respondent must have been having committed the murder of his wife his action is not always in conformity with logic. He becomes desperate to seek help. The respondent must have been in such a mental state and therefore, there was nothing improbable in his making a extra-judicial confession to the said independent witness.

Extra-judicial confession—Reliance on—Scope. In the instant case, having concluded that Exh. P. 1 lacks corroboration, High Court has referred to the oral evidence of PWs. 1 and 7 to find out whether their evidence would pass the test of reliability. High Court was of the view that it could rely upon their evidence if it was held that Exh. P1 had come to be recorded without any suspicious circumstance surrounding it. In this context, a perusal of Exh. P15 as well as Exh. P1 itself give room to doubt the very truth of Exhs. P1 and P15. At the foot of Exh. P1, PW1 had made an endorsement. The endorsement as it stood originally reads that PW. 1 himself had taken the accused and Exh. P1 to the Police Station. However, there is a correction in the endorsement made at the foot of Exh. P1 and it is made to appear that the accused was sent to the Police Station along with Exh. P1 and other material records only with PW. 7, village menial. PW. 7 would state that he went to the Police Station where he presented the accused as well as Exhs. P1 and P3 to the Sub-Inspector of Police, examined as PW. 10 in this case. PW. 10 had also stated so. But, in the same breadth, PW. 7 stated that he reached the Police Station at 12 in the night i.e., in the midnight of 29.05.1990; waited there for one hour; the Inspector of Police came and gave Exh. P1 only to him. He knows the difference between a Sub-Inspector and an Inspector. If the evidence of PW. 7 is accepted, it will show beyond doubt that he had reached the Police Station only, in the midnight of 29.05.1990 and Exh. P1 had been handed over by him only to the Inspector of Police., Exh. P. 15 is the printed First Information Report. The evidence of PW. 10 shows that Exh. P1 had come to be registered in the Police Station at 10 p.m. on 29.05.1990. Though under normal circumstances, the evidence of PW. 7 regarding the time at which he reached the Police Station and to whom he had handed over the material records and the accused would not assume any importance if there are any other direct circumstance in favour of the prosecution, yet, in view of the fact that the prosecution, in this case, rests only upon the extra judicial confession statement which does not find corroboration at all on general particulars, this evidence of PW. 7, definitely cannot be brushed aside while appreciating the case of the prosecution. State of Tamil Nadu vs. Manmatharaj, AIR 2009 SC 1757 : 2008 (13) JT 194 : 2008 (15) Scale 279 : 2008 (16) SCR 735 : 2009 (1) Supreme 455.

Extra judicial confession by co-accused—When not reliable. Such a purported extra judicial confession was made by Avtar Singh before Sukhdev Singh (PW. 22). The distance between the village wherein Avtar Singh was a resident and that of the said Sukhdev Singh was said to be 100 kms. He allegedly visited Sukhdev Singh on 18.02.2001 at about 9.00 a.m. For no apparent reason, he had disclosed that he along with Bhinda (Harbhinder Singh) had committed the murder of Pritam Singh. No details thereof had been furnished. A purported disclosure was also made that the murder was committed at the instance of the appellant herein. He was asked to come on the next day. He neither visited him thereafter nor was he produced before the police by PW. 22. There is nothing on record to show that such a purported extra judicial confession by Avtar Singh was conveyed to the police authorities; PW. 22's statement having been recorded on 19.02.2001. If he was so familiar with the family of Avtar Singh, there was absolutely no reason why he was not in a position to state as to what was the composition of his family. He admitted that he had never visited the village of Avtar Singh.

Extra judicial confession must be found to be reliable. PW. 22 was examined by the police authorities also in some other cases. A suggestion was put to him that he was a police tout. His evidence, therefore, in our opinion, cannot be relied upon. If his evidence cannot be relied upon, the same could not have formed foundation of recording a judgment of conviction and sentence and that too in a case of conspiracy. We must also notice that the evidence of purported extra judicial confession by itself cannot be held to be sufficient for recording a judgment of conviction against a co-accused in terms of Sec. 30 of the Evidence Act. Baldev Singh vs. State of Punjab, 2009 (3) Crimes 8 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 564 : 2009 (7) JT 334 : 2009 (7) Scale 493 : 2009 (4) Supreme 497 : 2009 (7) SCR 855.

Reliance on confession recorded by Magistrate after compliance of procedure—Scope. Accused alleged to have caused the death of his parents. Trial Court by placing reliance on judicial as well as extra judicial confession, found the accused guilty of offence, hence convicted him. High Court on appeal, set aside the conviction for failure of magistrate to follow requisite procedure while recording confession and PW. 3 not supported the case.

A bare perusal of the evidence of PW. 9 shows that necessary questions were asked and due care was taken before recording the statement of the accused. It was specifically told to him that the statement could be used in evidence against him. Time was given to the accused to ensure that he was making the statement voluntarily without any pressure and it was specifically indicated to him that the statement could be used against him. Therefore, the High Court was not justified in holding that the requisite procedure for recording statement under Sec. 164 has not been followed. State of Punjab vs. Harjagdev Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2693 : 2009 (8) SCR 54 : 2009 (7) JT 538 : 2009 (8) Scale 568.

62. Argument of two lives for one.—The argument that two lives should not be forfeited for one should not be accepted. AIR 1936 Cal 227 : 63 CLJ 142: 37 Cr LJ 676 : AIR 1941 Mad 27 : 42 Cr LJ 257.

63. Power of appellate Court.—Where the lower Court has failed imposing a proper sentence of death. High Court has power to pass a capital sentence. AIR 1941 Mad 120 ; 42 Cr LJ 770 ; 1934 MWN 958 ; 1933 MWN 1423.

Where injury is sufficient to cause death in ordinary course of nature—Hence conviction and sentence by the trial Court ought not to be disturbed in appeal. Kidia v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 247 : 1994 RCC 2 (Raj).

When there were material discrepancies in statements of eye-witnesses. The investigating officer planted a weapon of offence not linked with murder of deceased. There was enmity between appellant and deceased and his family. Prosecution failed to establish beyond reasonable doubt about crime being committed by appellant—Hence the appeal is allowed. Shyam Sunder and Raj Kumar v. State (Delhi Admn.), (1995) 58 DLT 505 : 2 (1995) 3 CCR 57 (Del) (DB).

Where finding of acquittal cannot be converted into conviction specially when State has not filed any appeal. Ram Narayan v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 236 (Raj).

The trial Court records burnt in accidental fire. The reconstruction of records is not possible. Hence it is not possible to discharge obligations of appellate Court. Hence direction issued to the appellants not to surrender to their bail bonds. Nathoo v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 56 (All).

64. High Court's power to enhance sentence.—The High Court will not enhance sentence even though it is of opinion that sentence of death, could be awarded. 1964 (2) Cr LJ 75.

65. Relative eye witness.—The Court should not discard the evidence of eye-witness on the ground that he was related to the deceased because such witnesses in general do not try to implicate persons falsely in serious offences. Such persons generally will ask accused not to beat and on being threatened will run away and inform the things to other family members and men of public. Therefore conviction based on their evidence can be sustained. Ram Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3678 (MP) : 2003(2) All imd Cas 130 : 2003 Cri LR (SC & MP) MPJ 471 : 2002(4) MPHT 146.

Doubtful evidence—Related eye-witness. The statement of witness who is none other than the daughter of the deceased. The incident according to her took place at about 2.00 A.M. in the night when the appellant hacked her mother and father. She stated that on her raising hue and cry one Kanniah Tata and others came to the spot. She did not reveal the name of the appellant to the neighbours when they came to the house on her raising hue and cry. Kanniah Tata who is examined as PW-7 stated in his evidence that PW-4 informed him that her father and mother were beaten by somebody. The evidence on record suggests that even PW-4 has also acquaintance with the appellant but she did not mention the name of the appellant at any point of time prior to her evidence in the Court. Her evidence is also vague based on which it would be difficult to record any finding of commission of any crime by the appellant. Gajula Surya Prakasarao vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 (1) SCC 88 : 2009 (4) Crimes 199 (SC) : 2009 (13) Scale 656 : 2009 (14) JT 203 : 2009 (8) SLT 546.

Where the injured eye-witness was daughter of deceased and motive of crime was established, it was held that the defence plea that gun accidentally went off was belived by fact that injury was not result of close range firing and that conviction under Section 302/307 was justified. Parsadi v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 104 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2628 : 2003(47) All Cri C 153.

FIR is not important piece of evidence and same is true of the police report also. The eye-witness if not confronted with FIR or additional police statement, the said omission will not be fatal to the prosecution case and accused could not claim benefit therefrom. There is no rule that close relations of deceased could not be believed and hence conviction can be based on such evidence. Ibrahim Khan v. State, 2003 CrLJ 1572 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1813 : 2003 (3) SCC 355 : 2003 (2) Supreme 852 : 2003 (2) Crimes 268.

Where testimony of related eye-witness was not reliable as his presence on spot was in doubt and no independent witness was examined relating to incident though available and weapons of offence also were not recovered, the appellants were held entitled to benefit of doubt and so conviction was set aside. Hem Raj v. State of Haryana, 2005(3) East Cr C 10 (SC) : 2005 Cr LJ 2152.

Where there was no significant contradiction of infirmity in the evidence of eye-witnesses, the same cannot be disbelieved on account of relationship with the victim of crime. Nirmal Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 672 : AIR 2005 SC 1265 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1461 : 2005(9) SCC 725 : 2004(8) Supreme 696 : 2005(1) Crimes 68 (SC).

Where in an incident of burning, the victim was alleged to have disclosed the incident to her parents, but medical evidence showed that the deceased was not conscious at the relevant time, testimony of her parents was held not believable. State of Maharashtra v. Sanjay D. Rajhans, 2005 Cr LJ 120 : AIR 2005 SC 97 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 231 : 2004(4) Crimes 338 (SC) : 2004(10) JT 253 : 2004(8) Supreme 138.

Testimony of relation witness—Reliance on—Scope. Merely because the eye-witnesses are family members, their evidence cannot 'per se' be discarded. When there is allegation of interestedness, the same has to be established. Mere statement that being relatives of the deceased they are likely to falsely implicate the accused cannot be a ground to discard the evidence which is otherwise cogent and credible. We shall also deal with the contention regarding interestedness of the witnesses for furthering the prosecution version. Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not that a relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible.

The ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently being a partisan witness, should not be relied upon, has no substance. This theory was repelled by this Court as early as in Dalip Singh's case (Supra) in which surprise was expressed over the impression which prevailed in the minds of the Members of the Bar that relatives were not independent witnesses. Joginder Singh vs. State of Punjab, AIR 2009 SC 2263 : 2009 CrLJ 2805 : 2009 (11) SCC 467 : 2009 (7) JT 310 : 2009 (3) SCR 714 : 2009 (4) Scale 329.

In the instant case, the High Court had discussed evidence of wife of deceased in detail and had come to the conclusion that her presence at the time of occurrence was doubtful. The medical evidence disclosed that the deceased must have taken his meals about three hours before the occurrence since semi-digested food was found in his stomach. If wife of deceased was really with her husband since morning, she would have certainly stated about their having taken food. She, in the course of her deposition claimed to be at different places when the occurrence took place. At one place she stated that she was North of her husband, and at another place she stated that she was behind her husband, and latter that she was 20-25 steps behind her husband. The shots were fired from him. When the case came before the Supreme Court, it was held that having considered the discrepancies in the evidence of wife of deceased, the High Court rightly did not find it safe to rely on her testimony. State of UP v. Gambhir Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 2579 : AIR 2005 SC 2439 : 2005(11) SCC 271 : 2005(5) JT 553 : 2005(2) Crimes 145.

66. Interested witness.—In an Allahabad case where the accused armed with Ballam, Gandasa, and Lathies were alleged to have belaboured the deceased and caused multiple injuries and the eye-witnesses were son and brother of deceased and were considered as interested witness, it was held that false implication of accused was not ruled out as there existed enmity between the parties. Inordinate delay in filing of FIR, the accused was held entitled to the acquittal. Islam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2688 (All) : 2003(46) ACC 1085 : 2003(2) A Cri R 1620 (All).

Interested witness—Effect of. The facts of the case do not show that the first informant who is father of the deceased had any dispute with any of the accused including the appellant. His simple case is that Hukam Singh who is father of accused Jagge and Munna was murdered for which his deceased son was prosecuted but acquitted and, therefore, in order to take revenge, the deceased was done to death. The cross examination of the material witnesses makes it very clear that the son of the first informant was prosecuted for murder of Hukam Singh but acquitted. This fact would not show in any manner that the first informant was interested in securing conviction of the appellant and, therefore, he had wrongly deposed on oath before the Court that his son died due to the shot fired by the appellant. Ram Bharosey vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2009 (4) Crimes 236 (SC) : 2009 (14) JT 260 : 2009 (14) Scale 54 : 2009 (15) SCR 947 : 2009 (7) Supreme 404 : 2009 (8) SLT 415 : 2010 (1) JCC 87.

Related eye-witnesses—Reliability of—Scope. Out of witnesses PWs. 1 to 8 have not supported the prosecution case to prove that one day before the day of incident, the witnesses noticed PW-1 and PW-2 carrying food to the field of the deceased. So far as the motive is concerned, however, they have supported PW-1 and PW-2. Admittedly, the appellants and the deceased are close relatives. It has come on the record that there was some civil litigation pending between A-1 to A-4 and the deceased over a pathway leading to their respective lands. It was also proved on record that A-1 to A-4 on one hand and the deceased on the other hand used to quarrel over this issue. It is the evidence of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-5 the family members of the deceased which was corroborated by PW-6, PW-7 and PW-8 the independent witnesses that about two years before the day of incident, A-2 and deceased had a quarrel over the pathway leading to their respective fields. The defence has failed to impeach the evidence of the independent witnesses on this count. The evidence of the witnesses would go to show that the panchayat of the elders of the village was held, but dispute of the pathway could not be settled and solved by them which finally led the death of the deceased. The High Court relying upon the evidence of PWs. 1, 2, 5, 6, 7 and 8 has concluded that though the prosecution has proved that there was no strong motive attributed to A-1 to A-4, yet A-1 to A-4 had some motive to do away with the life of the deceased who was not residing at the place of the incident and had been cultivating his land from a far of place in the State of Maharashtra where he was living with his family members.

The case of the prosecution entirely rests upon the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 the witnesses of the occurrence. It is the evidence of PW-1 that on the day of the incident at about 4.30 p.m., she alongwith PW-2 daughter of the deceased carried cooked-food for the accused from village Devarahipparagi to the fields where he had gone for harvesting the seasonal crop. They at about 8.00 or 8.30 p.m. jointly took their dinner and went to sleep. She and PW-2 had slept in front of heap of the crop stacked on the land of the deceased, whereas the deceased slept at a short distance near a hut. In mid-night hours, PW-1 and PW-2 heard loud cries raised by Allisab uttering "Allah Marare". It is the evidence of PW-1 that on hearing cries, she and PW-2 both woke up and rushed to the nearby place where Allisab was sleeping. They saw A-1 assaulting the deceased with a blow of axe on the head. It is her evidence that when she and PW-2 tried to save the life of the deceased, A-2 threatened them if they would dare to interfere or shout for help, they would meet the same fate. A-2 openly shouted and commanded A-3 and A-4 to drag Allisab. A-3 and A-4 caught hold of the legs of Allisab and dragged him to a short distance. A-1 poured petrol from a can on injured-Allisab, whereas A-2 lit a match stick and threw the burning stick on Allisab with an intention to screen of the crime. She stated that A-1 to A-4 left the place of occurrence holding threats to them not to make any noise lest they would be finished. PW-2 corroborated the evidence of PW-1 in its entirety.

It is well-settled that if the eyewitness is related to the deceased, his evidence has to be accepted if found to be believable and reliable because he would inter alia be interested in ensuring that the real culprits are punished. Both the eyewitnesses have been subjected to search in cross-examination by the defence, but nothing tangible has been extracted from their evidence to create any shadow of doubt that they are not reliable and truthful witnesses. Therefore, the finding of the trial Court disbelieving and discarding the evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 eyewitnesses on the sole ground of stamping them as interested, partisan and parrot-like witnesses, in our view, is wholly unjustified and not tangible.

It is the evidence of PW-14 that disclosure statement (Exh. P-13) was voluntarily made by A-1 and in pursuant thereto, weapon of offence MO-7 was recovered at the instance of A-1. Gunny bag seized from the spot and the blood-stained clothes of the deceased were sent to Forensic Science Laboratory, Bangalore. The report of the FSL, Bangalore, reveals that the presence of petrol was detected from partly burnt clothes of the deceased. On our examination of the judgment of the High Court, we find that the High Court has properly and rightly re-assessed and re-appraised the entire evidence on record and there is no infirmity or perversity in the reasoning record by the learned Judge of the High Court to interfere with the well reasoned judgment to the extent of holding A-1 and A-2 guilty of the charged offences. Razak Jinnesab Karajagi vs. State of Karnataka, 2009 (2) Crimes 59 (SC) : 2009 (4) JT 667 : 2009 (5) Scale 116 : 2009 (5) SCR 422 : 2009 (2) Supreme 801 : 2009 (4) SLT 565.

67. Child witness.—In a case the accused intentionally caused injuries on vital part of the body. These injuries resulted in instantaneous death. The child who was sleeping with his father was awakened by sound of fatal blow of axe on neck and he started shouting and calling his mother who alongwith her daughter saw the accused holding an axe in his hand. It was held that the evidence of child witness was relevant as per Section 6 of Evidence Act as he had shouted immediately after the assault. The conviction of accused under Section 302 was held proper. Uttam Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 560 : 2002 Cri LR (SC & MP) MPJ 434.

Dying declaration and child witness—Reliance on—When valid. Quarrel between appellant and deceased, residing in neighbourhood. After this, appellant bought kerosene bottle and allegedly poured the same on deceased, she also lit her by matchstick. Her son poured water on person of his mother and tried to extinguish fire. Hearing shouts of her son returned back from his house. Husband of deceased, took her to hospital.

Nine witnesses were examined to further the prosecution version. Sharad (PW. 1) is the eye-witness. Bhaurao (PW. 2) is the neighbour of the deceased and the appellant, who after hearing ugly abuses between the appellant and the deceased went to his house and returned after hearing shouts of Sharad (PW. 1). Pandurang is the husband of the deceased. The accused to establish the plea of innocence examined two persons. The trial Court accepted the evidence of Sharad (PW. 1) as trustworthy and to have been corroborated by the evidence of Bhaurao (PW. 2) and other evidence on record for the sake of dying declaration before the police office and the Executive Magistrate.

The reason as to why PW. 1 did not tell PW. 3 has been explained by PW. 3 himself. The said witness stated PW. 1 did not disclose him as to how deceased caught fire because he himself had no time to ask about it and was busy in making arrangement for taking the injured to the hospital where she subsequently breathed her last. Kalawati vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 1932 : 2009 (4) SCC 37 : 2009 (2) JT 362 : 2009 (2) Scale 488 : 2009 (3) SCR 187 : 2009 (1) Supreme 800.

In a Supreme Court case it has been held that when the evidence of child witness is cogent and reliable, it may be admitted and conviction is sustainable. State of Himachal Pradesh v. Prem Chand, 2003 Cr LJ 872 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 708 : 2003(10) SCC 518 : 2003(1) Crimes 426 (SC) : 2003(1) Supreme 393.

In a Supreme Court case, it was held that the evidence of a child witness (who had seen the appellant attacking deceased person with a wooden stick and the next day they were found dead) had credibility which revealed truthful approach and her evidence had ring of truth in it and there was no exaggeration. She had stuck to her statement made during investigation in all material particulars and as such trial court and High Court were justified in placing implicit reliance on her testimony. Ratan Singh Dalsukhabhai Nayak v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 19 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 23 : 2004 SCC 64 : 2003(4) Crimes 387 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 535.

68. Injured witness.—In a case the evidence of injured witness attributing overt acts to accused was not supported by medical-evidence. It could not be stated by said witness as to how he reached the place of incident, situated about one furlong away, when he himself was having paralysed legs for past 20 years. Moreover his presence was not mentioned in dying declaration of the deceased. It was held that his evidence could not be relied upon and acquittal of accused was proper. Devatha Venkataswamy v. State of AP, 2003 Cr LJ 4332 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3217 : 2003(10) SCC 700 : 2003(4) Crimes 235 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 101.

Reliance on testimony of Injured witness—Scope. K Danam (PW-11), was posted as Assistant Sub Inspector of Police at the relevant time. Having come to know of the incident that two persons belonging to the Congress Party were done to death at Gollalaguduru Harijanwada by the Telugu Desam Party faction. PW-11 immediately rushed to the Government Hospital. He found that PW-11 was undergoing treatment in the emergency ward. As PW-1 was in a fit condition to give statement. PW-11 recorded his statement marked Exh. P-1. PW-10 also made an endorsement on Exh. P-1 that PW-1 was in a fit and proper condition to give a statement. Based on Exh. P-1. first information report came to be registered.

We are unable to accept the submission of the learned senior Counsel that FIR is a concocted document. It is true that Injury No. 1 received by PW-1 in front of left parietal area and the depressed fracture of frontal bone was extremely grave and serious but on the face of clear, categorical and unambiguous endorsement made by Dr. T.V. Raghavendra Reddy (PW-10) that PW-1 was in a fit and proper condition to give a statement at that time and the fact that PW-11 recorded the statement of PW-1 in the presence of PW-10, there cannot be even slightest doubt about the authenticity of Exh. P-1 and we find no justifiable reason to even remotely conclude that Exh. P-1 is not the statement given by PW-1. The contention that PW-11 is a chance witness, is noted to be rejected. Pertinently, the FIR was forwarded to the Magistrate without any delay. As a matter of fact, FIR reached the Magistrate at 10.45 P.M. on 16.05.1996 itself. As to whether PW-1 was in a fit and proper condition to give statement or not, could have been assessed by PW-10 under whose treatment PW-1 was at that time and no else. The evidence of PW-7 referred to by the learned senior Counsel in no way creates any doubt about the correctness of statement of PW-10 as PW-7 has not stated in definite terms that PW-1 was not in a fit state of condition to give statement at that time. The trial Court as well as the High Court did not accept the contention made on behalf of the accused that Exh. P-1 was fabricated. We agree with this view of the trial Court and the High Court. Anna Reddy Sambasiva Reddy vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2661 : 2009 (3) Crimes 17 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 546 : 2009 (5) JT 617 : 2009 (6) Scale 223 : 2009 (6) SCR 755 : 2009 (4) Supreme 506.

Where the evidence of injured witness was supported by medical-evidence and that of other witnesses on record, the conviction of accused was held proper. Krishna Ram v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 294 (Raj) : 20034) Crimes 2 : 2003(3) Raj CriC 1211 : 2003(3) Raj LR 572 : 2003(4) Raj LW 2197 : 2003(3) WLC 387.

Chances of false implication—Testimony of injured victim. PW-3 was conscious and coherent to make her statement and made her statement in Exhibit P-21 in which not only she did not mention the name of the appellant but positively stated that she was attacked by an unknown person aged about 20 years. Be it noted that the appellant even at the relevant time was of 50 years and was well known to PW-3. She did not explain as to and under what circumstances she made the statement in Exhibit P-21 nor there is any explanation as to how she omitted the name of the appellant and described somebody else to be the assailant. On the other hand, she went to the extent of stating that she did not know whether the Magistrate had recorded her statement in the house or in the hospital.

The evidence of PW-3 is completely at variance with what has been stated by her in Exhibit P-21. This vital aspect of the matter has completely escaped the attention of the Courts below which resulted in miscarriage of justice. Enmity between her husband (deceased) and the appellant may be one possible reason for her to implicate the appellant in the case after deliberations. Gajula Surya Prakasarao vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2009 (4) Crimes 199 (SC) : 2009 (13) Scale 656 (SC): 2009 (14) JT 203 (SC): 2009 (8) SLT 546.

In a murder case, the evidence of informant eye-witness was corroborated by evidence of injured eye-witness who was accompanying the deceased. Medical evidence also supported the prosecution story. The manner and actual place of occurrence and subsequent events were duly proved. The eye-witness testimony was so consistent and reliable that nothing could be elicited in long cross-examination to render their evidence untrustworthy. The conviction of accused under Section 302/307 was held proper. Bikram Singh v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 211 (Pat).

The solitary evidence of injured witness can form the basis for conviction only when the same is cogent and reliable but when the same is in conflict with other evidence and medical-evidence, it cannot be relied upon, and conviction of accused on the basis of sole testimony of injured witness is not proper. Joseph v. State of Kerala, 2003 Cr LJ 813 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 507 : 2003(1) SCC 465 : 2002(8) Supreme 589 : 2003(1) Crimes 206 (SC).

Where two witnesses, half an hour before the death of the deceased received injuries at the hands of the accused and informed the deceased about the same and when the deceased went to question the accused about the incident, he was done to death by the accused and chased away by the said two injured witnesses who had followed the deceased, the later incident is a continuation and consequence of the previous incident and thus, both incidents form the part of the same transaction and as such they are injured witnesses in the case. Public Prosecutor v. Pulicherla Govinda Reddy, 2004 Cr LJ 238 at p. 240 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 606 : 2004(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 413.

Where later incident of killing of deceased by accused was a continuation and consequence of earlier incident of causing injuries to eye-witnesses, brothers of deceased form part of same transaction then such witnesses can be treated as injured witnesses in murder case. Public Prosecutor, High Court, Hyderabad, AP v. Pulicherala Govinda Reddy, 2004 Cr LJ 238 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 606 : 2004(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 413.

69. Approver's evidence.—Where the evidence of approver is well corroborated and no doubt is left as to the guilt and the murder is a planned one, sentence of death is proper. 138 IC 223 : 33 Cr LJ 567. There should be corroboration in material particulars and qua each accused. 1963 (1) Cr LJ 489 : (1963) 2 SCJ 327 : 1963 SCD 276 : AIR 1563 SC 599.

Where statement under Section 161, Cr PC was made by approver. It was no supported by the medical report. Presence was doubtful—Conviction was not justified—Hence offence was not established. Dee Cee Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 3 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 293 (P & H).

Where prosecution witness accomplice to all a made-up or false witness—Testimony thereof unreliable and incredible. It is held that such evidence not fit to base conviction thereon. Krishan v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 Crimes 630 (P & H).

In a case where the accused was charged for the offence of murder and destroying the available evidence, the conviction of the accused was based solely on the evidence o the co-accused (sister of the deceased), who was granted pardon as per Section 306, C

PC, it was held that conviction was liable to be quashed as evidence of co-accused, sister of deceased could not form a basis for conviction and it could be used only for the purpose of lending support to the prosecution story in cases where the balance was otherwise evenly posed. Rakesh Kr. Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3206 (Goa) : 2003(4) Cur Ci R 9 : 2003(2) DMC 447 : 2003(2) Gau LT 126.

The accused were charged for committing murder of a doctor out of professional jealousy whereas evidence showed that deceased was not doing a roaring practice. The extra-judicial confession made before brother of deceased and approver was not believable. The evidence of prosecution was self-contradictory and there was no corroboration to the evidence of approver on material particulars. It was held that conviction solely on the basis of evidence of approver was not proper. State v. Surinder Mohan, 2003 Cr LJ 4223 (Him).

Where the presence of injured witnesses is not disputed, their testimony can be made basis for convicting accused. Nagalla Mukhalingam v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 2583 : (2005) 11 SCC 242 : AIR 2005 SC 2466 : 2005(2) Crimes 165 : 2006 SCC © 105 : 2005(3) Supreme 624 : AIR 2005 SCW 2432.

In a case of free fight between the parties, non-explanation of injuries suffered by the defence party is not fatal. Mukhtalingam v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 2583 : (2005) 11 SCC 242 : AIR 2005 SC 2466 : 2005(2) Crimes 165 : 2006 SCC (cr) 105 : 2005(3) Supreme 624.

70. Chance Witness.—In a case three persons attacked a person and it was natural for witnesses to get scared. Close relatives were witnesses in this case and they could not be believed to have tried to implicate innocent people. The police personnel were chance witnesses as they were on patrolling duty in area where deceased and prosecution witnesses resided. It was held that non-examination of shopkeepers as independent witnesses was not fatal as they got terrified due to ghastly attack. The acquittal was set aside. Surinder Singh v. State of UP, 2003 Cr LJ 4446 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3811 : 2003(10) SCC 26 : 2003(7) Supreme 562 : 2003(4) Crimes 393.

Presence of witness—Place of occurrence—Determination. It is true that Smt. Kaushalya Devi (PW. 6) admitted in her cross examination that she was residing in Gorakhpur in connection with the education of her minor daughter. But she also stated that she very often comes to her village to look after cultivation of lands and household affairs. It is in her evidence that she came to the village about 4-5 days prior to the occurrence. It is an admitted fact that deceased Sita Ram Singh and Bichari Singh, husband of Smt. Kaushalya Devi are real brothers and residing in the same house in the village, but in separate portions. Bichari Singh has interest in the lands possessed by the family in the village. There is nothing improbable in Smt. Kaushalya Devi frequently visiting the village and staying in the house at her own convenience. It is relevant to note that the Investigating Officer (PW. 9) stated that on 26.06.1994, he visited the spot and examined PW. 6 along with other witnesses. Therefore, there is no reason to disbelieve her statement that she was very much present on that fateful night at the scene of occurrence.

Learned senior Counsel further contended that absence of injuries on the person of Smt. Kaushalya Devi (PW. 6) makes her presence at the scene of occurrence doubtful. This aspect of the matter has been clearly explained by PW. 6 who was subjected to very rigorous cross examination that when she came out of her room to see as to what was happening, the appellants Moti Lal and Virendra Singh after spotting her, chased her and she ran away and re-entered into her room and bolted the doors from inside. Two shots were fired aiming at her out of which one hit the door and the other went through the window hitting the inner wall of the room. She saved herself from those two shots aimed at her. We do not find any reason to disbelieve her evidence in this regard as to how she escaped from getting injured in the melee. Moti Lal vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2010 SC 281 : 2010 (1) SCC 581 : 2009 (4) Crimes 276 (SC) : 2009 (14) JT 569 : 2009 (14) Scale 323 : 2009 (7) Supreme 632 : 2009 (8) SLT 668.

In a Rajasthan case the accused persons armed with Dharias gandasa chased and caught the deceased and then belaboured him mercilessly. The evidence of chance witness with regard to injuries inflicted on person of deceased being inconsistent created doubt about their presence at the time of occurrence. The statement of witness that deceased after receiving severe injuries could manage to cover the distance of five hundred feet to reach his house did not appear to be trustworthy. The prosecution had withheld the origin and genesis of the occurrence. The guilt of accused persons was not established beyond reasonable doubt and conviction was set aside. Ram Swaroop v. State. 2003 Cr LJ 3960 (Raj) : 2003(12) All India Cus 616 : 2003(4) WLC 65.

Chance witness—Presence on spot—Scope. Submission of Mr. Kanagraj that PWs. 2 and 3 are chance witnesses again cannot be accepted. PW-3, as noticed hereinbefore, is owner of a tailoring shop which is situated by the side of the shop belonging to the deceased. The plea of occurrence is a small village. PW-2's presence, therefore, at the place of occurrence, cannot be doubted or disputed. Padmanaban vs. State, AIR 2010 SC 47 : 2009 (10) JT 172 : 2009 (10) Scale 526 : 2009 (5) Supreme 765 : 2009 (12) SCR 252 : 2009 (6) SLT 751.

71. Accused belonging to a particular community.—Where accused was found guilty of murder, immunity for capital sentence cannot be granted merely because he belongs to a particular community. AIR 1932 Lah 500 : 33 Cr LJ 497. The fact that the accused was encouraged in his crime of mischievous literature cannot justify lesser punishment than death. 34 Cr LJ 720 : AIR 1933 Lah 305 ; 1964 (1) Cr LJ 121 (accused being aborigines of backward tribes by itself is not an extenuating circumstance for passing lesser sentence) ; 1964 (l) Cr LJ 464 : (1963) 5 Ori JD 145.

As per the post mortem report deceased Jai Karan Singh was a young man of 35 years of age and of good built and, therefore, there was no need for PW. 1 Subedar Singh to go to the railway station to take a bag of khalli from his son and carry the same from the railway station to the village. It has come in the evidence of PW. 1 that his son Jai Karan Singh was a patient of asthma and, therefore, he used to be vigilant that his son should not take much physical strain and because of that reason he went to the railway station to share with his son the burden of the load of one bag containing 15 kgs. of 'khalli'. We do not find anything wrong if PW. 1 had gone to the railway station for extending some help to his son. Thus, the entire approach of the trial Court in appreciating the evidence of the eye-witnesses is perverse and grossly improper. Indra Pal Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 958 : 2009 CrLJ 942 : 2008 (16) SCR 990 : 2008 (15) Scale 400.

72. Other extenuating circumstances.—No general rule can be laid down for determining the class of cases in which lesser punishment may be imposed. AIR 1979 SC 1384 : 1979 Cr LJ 1053 ; AIR 1978 SC 1605 ; AIR 1974 SC 1570 : 1974 Cr LJ 1035 ; AIR 1975 SC 159 ; AIR 1974 SC 1918 : 1974 Cr LJ 1365 ; AIR 1974 SC 739 : 1974 Cr LJ 683 (sterner sentence imposed on the facts and circumstances of the case) ; AIR 1974 SC 1039 : 1974 Cr LJ 791 (totality of circumstances justifying lesser sentence) ; AIR 1978 SC 1248 : 1978 Cr LJ 1251 ; AIR 1977 SC 2423 : 1978 Cr LJ 18 ; AIR ; 1977 SC 2407 : 1977 Cr LJ 1744 : AIR 1977 SC 2102 ; AIR 1977 SC 1747 : 1977 Cr LJ 1139 ; AIR 1976 SC 2327 : 1976 Cr LJ 1873.

On circumstantial evidence the conviction justified. It was held that motive, facts and other materials should be considered. Satbir Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 JIC 274 (SC).

73. Kidnapping and murder.—When the offence of kidnapping was in fact part of the transaction which led to the murder, a separate conviction and sentence could not be maintained. 2 Lah LJ 653 ; see AIR 1979 SC 716 : 1979 Cr LJ 538 (accused enticed a girl into his house and the girl not submitting to his attempts to rape her, murdered her, no extenuating circumstance for lesser punishment).

When accused is aged 18 years and not habitual offender and having cordial relations with family of deceased child and taking this advantage kidnapped child and killed him for ransom, such case is not rarest of rare cases and hence death sentence committed to imprisonment for life. Lalit Kumar v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 848 (Del).

74. Murder committed in consequence of abduction.—Section 302 is not inapplicable to a case of murder committed in consequence of an abduction. Where it is proved that three persons were found holding the deceased as a captive and his dead body was subsequently found, the proper sentence for conviction is under Section 302 or 362/109, IPC, and capital sentence is the proper punishment in each case. 224 IC 435 : 47 Cr LJ 680 : AIR 1947 Cal 35.

75. Section 302 and Section 149.—The lowest sentence for an offence under Section 302, IPC Code being transportation for life, a sentence for various terms of imprisonment for offences under Sections 302 and 149 is not according to law. 9 MLT 510 : 42 Cr LJ 145 : 9 Ind Cas 885 : 11 PR 1871 Cr. The alteration of charge from Section 302/34 to Section 302/149 at the appellate stage and conviction on the latter charge will not cause prejudice to the accused. 76 CWN 301 ; 1981 Cr LJ 1710.

Insufficient evidence—Unlawful assembly. It is interesting to note that before recording the concession of learned Counsel for the prosecution, the High Court noted that the evidence of Narayan Pandy Ghungre (PW 9) as regards the particular part played by accused Nos. 2 and 14 are relevant. It has been noted as follows :

> "But PW 9 Narayan says that he was able to identify 2/3 persons that were rushing at him with some instruments in their hands and accordingly he says that accused Nos. 12 and 14 were these persons who were chasing them. It is on the basis of the statement of PW. 9 Narayan that the particular part played by accused Nos. 12 and 14 in the commission of the crime of murder has been sought to be established by the prosecution, while maintaining that so far as the other accused are concerned, there is no evidence whatsoever to connect them with the crime."

The High Court's judgment is equally baffling. The High Court noted that the identification parade took place after three months when PW 9 identified accused Nos. 12 and 14. The High Court in this context noted as follows :

> "PW 9 further states that the woman then directed her attention to the witness and told the villagers that Narayan and Sitaram were also thieves. Then 2/3 villagers rushed at Narayan, asked Sitaram to come down from the three immediately. Accordingly, Sitaram came down and 2/3 persons who had rushed on them were identified as accused Nos. 12 and 14. He stated that in the parade that took place after three months, he identified the accused Nos. 12 and 14."

But after indicating some reasons, the High Court noted that the evidence regarding the parade is to be rejected. The High Court also noted the fact that before the police PW. 9 did not say anything about his being an eyewitness. But High Court went on to hold that just because he has given different versions at different points of time, his evidence cannot be discarded and it cannot be said that he is not an eye-witness. The conclusions of the High Court are certainly not defensible. It is to be noted that PW 9 Narayan's evidence is full of contradictions.

That being so, the High Court was not justified, apart from other important aspects highlighted above, in convicting the appellants. The appeals are allowed to the aforesaid extent. The conviction as recorded by the trial Court and the High Court, so far as Nathu Keru is concerned and the conviction as recorded by the High Court so far as Ram Maruthi Pawar is concerned, are set aside. The accused appellants are acquitted of the charges. Ram Maruthi Pawar vs. State of Maharashtra, 2009 (12) SCC 406 : 2009 (8) JT 403 : 2009 (5) Scale 551 : 2009 (5) SCR 956.

Acquittal under Sec. 148—Conviction under Sec. 302 r/w 149 despite—Scope.—Where the appellants have been expressly charged for the offence punishable under Sec. 148 IPC and have been acquitted thereunder, they cannot be legally convicted for the offence punishable under Sec. 302, read with Sec. 149 IPC. It is so because the offence of rioting must occur when members are charged with murder as the common object of the unlawful assembly. Sec. 148, IPC creates liability on persons armed with deadly weapons and is a distinct offence and there is no requirement in law that members of unlawful assembly have also to be charged under Sec. 148, IPC for legally recording their conviction under Sec. 302, read with Sec. 149 IPC. However, where an accused is charged under Sec. 148 IPC and acquitted, conviction of such accused under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149, IPC could not be legally recorded.

In view of the aforesaid legal position, the appellants having been acquitted under Sec. 148 IPC by the trial Court as well as the High Court, they could not have been legally convicted by the High Court under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149 IPC. Mohammed Ankoos vs. Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 (1) SCC 94 : 2009 (13) Scale 584 : 2009 (14) JT 7 : 2009 (8) SLT 265 : 2009 (15) SCR 616 : 2009 (4) Crimes 158 (SC).

Where conviction under Section 149 not vitiated because of the fact that other accused have been acquitted and remaining accused convicted one less than five. Bhurya alias Subhan v. State of Maharashtra. (1995) 3 Crimes 621 (Bom.).

In the instant case village political rivalry led to double murder. The accused were put to notice under charge No. 1 that they were members of an unlawful assembly armed with deadly weapons and in prosecution of common object of such assembly, namely, in murdering deceased 1 and 2, they committed offence of rioting, punishable under Sec. 148 IPC. A-1 to A-5 and A-6 to A-9 were noticed of the particulars under charge No. 4 that during the course of same transaction as mentioned in charge No. 1, they committed murder by intentional causing death of D-1 and thereby committed an offence punishable under Sec. 302 IPC. A-3, A-6, to A-8, A-10 to A-13 were put to notice under charge No. 5 that during the course of the same transaction as mentioned in charge No. 1 they committed murder by intentional causing death of D-2 and thereby committed an offence punishable under Sec. 302. Reading of charge No. 4 and charge No. 5 leaves no manner of doubt, since the transaction mentioned in charge No. 1 has been made integral part thereof, that all the necessary ingredients of Sec. 149 IPC are implicit therein except mentioning of Sec. 149 IPC specifically. The particulars stated in charge Nos. 4 and 5 are reasonably sufficient to give the appellants adequate notice of Sec. 149 IPC although not specifically mentioned. Thus, non-mentioning of Sec. 149 in charge No. 4 and charge No. 5 would not be a fundamental defect of an incurable illegality that may warrant setting aside the conviction and sentence of the accused. Non-framing of a charge under Sec. 149 IPC, on the face of the charges framed against the appellants would not vitiate their conviction; more so when the accused have failed to show any prejudice in this regard. The present case is a case where there is mere omission to mention Sec. 149 in charge Nos. 4 and 5 which at the highest may be considered as an irregularity and since the appellants have failed to show any prejudice, their conviction and sentence is not at all affected. Tenor of cross-examination of injured witnesses by the defence also rules out any prejudice to them. The offence, in the established facts and circumstances of the case, under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149 IPC is implicit, the omission to mention Sec. 149 IPC specifically in the charge Nos. 4 and 5 cannot affect their conviction. In no way their conviction is rendered bad as the appellants has assembled together armed with axes and sickle and were parties to the assault on deceased and others. In a situation such as this it was not obligatory upon the prosecution to prove which specific overt act was done by which of the accused. Anna Reddy Sambasiva Reddy and Ors. v. State of A. P., AIR 2009 SC 2661 : 2009 (6) SCR 755 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 546 : 2009 (3) Crimes 17 (SC) : 2009 (5) JT 617 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 223 (SC) : 2009 (4) Supreme 506 (SC).

When as per record it is proved that accused went on spot with deadly weapons to take forcible possession of land against injunction order issued by civil court. It was a criminal act from the very beginning. Hence were rightly convicted under Sections 302/149, IPC for having shared the common intention for murder. No interference called for. Rambharos v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 231 (MP).

There is not an iota of evidence placed on record by the prosecution to prove that A-3 and A-4 had participated in the commission of the crime alongwith A-1 and A-2. PW-1 and PW-2 only stated A-3 and A-4 on the asking of A-2 caught hold of the legs of the deceased and dragged him to a short distance. The allegation levelled by the prosecution against A-3 and A-4 do not attribute any overt act or part played by them in the commission of the crime. The evidence of the prosecution is wholly lacking to hold that A-3 and A-4 had shared a common intention with A-1 and A-2 to cause the murder of Allisab. Similarly for the lack of any tangible, satisfactory or credible evidence, A-3 and A-4 cannot be held liable for causing disappearance of the evidence with intention of screening A-1 and A-2 from legal punishment under Sec. 201 read with Sec. 34, IPC. Therefore, the judgment and order of the High Court holding A-3 and A-4 guilty of the charged offences cannot be sustained. Razak Jinnesab Karajagi vs. State of Karnataka, 2009 (2) Crimes 59(SC) : 2009 (4) JT 667 : 2009 (5) Scale 116 : 2009 (20 Supreme 801 : 2009 (4) SLT 565 : 2009 (5) SCR 422.

Specific charges—Non-mentioning of specific Sec. 149 in charge—Effect of. All the accused were put to notice under Charge No. 1 that on 16.05.1996 in the morning near Gollalaguduru Harijanawada, they were members of an unlawful assembly armed with deadly weapons and in prosecution of common object of such assembly, namely, in murdering deceased 1 and 2, they committed offence of rioting, punishable under Sec. 148 IPC. A-1 to A-5 and A-6 to A-9 were noticed of the particulars under Charge No. 4 that during the course of same transaction as mentioned in Charge No. 1, they committed murder by intentional causing death of D-1 and thereby committed an offence punishable under Sec. 302 IPC. A-3, A-6 to A-8, A-10 to A-13 were put to notice under Charge No. 5 that during the course of the same transaction as mentioned in Charge No. 1 they committed murder by intentional causing death of D-2 and thereby committed an offence punishable under Sec. 302 IPC.

A careful reading of Charge No. 4 and Charge No. 5 leaves no manner of doubt, since the transaction mentioned in Charge No. 1 has been made integral part thereof, that all the necessary ingredients of Sec. 149 IPC are implicit therein except mentioning of Sec. 149 IPC specifically. The particulars stated in Charge Nos. 4 and 5 are reasonably sufficient to give the appellants adequate notice of Sec. 149 IPC although not specifically mentioned. Is non-mentioning of Sec. 149 in Charge No. 4 and Charge No. 5 a fundamental defect of an incurable illegality that may warrant setting aside the conviction and sentence of the appellants? We do not think so. Non-framing of a charge under Sec. 149 IPC, on the face of the charges framed against the appellants would not vitiate their conviction; more so when the accused have failed to show any prejudice in this regard. The present case is a case where there is mere omission to mention Sec. 149 in Charge Nos. 4 and 5 which at the highest may be considered as an irregularity and since the appellants have failed to show any prejudice, their conviction and sentence is not at all affected. Tenor of cross-examination of PW-1 and PW-3 by the defence also rules out any prejudice to them. The offence, in the established facts and circumstances of the case, under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149 IPC is implicit and applying the dictum laid down by the Constitution Bench of this Court in Willie (William) Slaney, the omission to mention Sec. 149 IPC specifically in the Charge Nos. 4 and 5 cannot affect their conviction. In no way their conviction is rendered bad as the appellants had assembled together armed with axes and eathapululu (sickle) and were parties to the assault on D-1 and D-2 and others. In a situation such as this it was not obligatory upon the prosecution to prove which specific overt act was done by which of the accused. Anna Reddy Sambasiva Reddy vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2661 : 2009 (3) Crimes 17 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 546 : 2009 (5) JT 617 : 2009 (6) SCR 755 : 2009 (6) Scale 223 : 2009 (4) Supreme 506.

Evidence of single eye-witness if not corroborated can not be castigated on this ground alone as corroboration is what court required as matter of prudence and as step of caution. Balo Yadav v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) Crimes 38 (SC) : 1997(5) SCC 360 : 1997(5) JT 117 : 1997(3) Scale 729 : 1997(4) Supreme 278.

76. Imposition of fine in addition to death.—In addition to the sentence of death, the Sessions Judge sentenced the accused to a fine, and directed that, if the fine is realised it should be paid to the heirs of deceased. It was held that the subsidiary order was not sustainable. 18 PR 1913 Cr : 14 Cr LJ 522 : 20 Ind Cas 1002 : 41 PWR 1913 Cr.

When the conviction under Section 302 or under the first part of Section 304 of the IPC, the convicted person "shall also be liable to fine". If the conviction is under the second part of Section 304, the sentence could be "imprisonment of either description which may extend to ten years or with fine or with both." The words "shall also be liable to fine" in the former provisions are not to be understood as a legislative mandate that the Court shall without exception award fine also. In this context, it is apposite to note that those words are invariably used in provisions where imposition of imprisonment is made mandatory, and that those words are absent in provisions where fine was prescribed as an alternative punishment. By the words "and shall also be liable to fine", power is conferred on the Court to impose sentence of fine also in addition to imprisonment. It does not mean that Courts should impose fine in all such cases as a rule. The Court has the discretion to impose or not to impose a fine sentence also in addition to the sentence of imprisonment.

When the High Court consider the propriety in combining a sentence of fine with sentence of imprisonment for life. High Court agree that it is not usually done. Legitimacy and propriety are not the same. Hence, the latter has to be dealt with independent of the former. Bombay High Court in State v. Pandurang Shinde, AIR 1956 Bom 711 : 1989 Cr LJ 1306, expressed the view that sentence of fine for an offence of murder is wholly in apposite. The said view was not, however, approved by the Supreme Court in Palaniappa Gounder v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 1977 SC 1323 : 1977 Cr LJ 992. Chandrachud. J. (as he then was) struck a note of caution that before imposing fine for an offence of murder "one must pause to consider whether the sentence of fine is at all called for and if so what is a proper or adequate line to impose in the circumstances of the case". In the aforesaid exercise if the Court is of the view that in a particular case a fine sentence, in addition to imprisonment, is necessary to meet the ends of justice it is only proper that the Court award fine sentence as well.

When the legislature has not fixed any upper limit for the quantum of fine in respect of a particular offence. Court has the freedom to fix any amount by then the court must see that the fine imposed is not excessively high or repulsively low. Section 63 of the Penal Code says that where no sum is expressed to which a fine may extend, the amount of fine to which the offender is liable should be unlimited, but shall not be excessive. At the same time, Court should not make it a mockery of sentence by fixing ridiculously low amount as line. Financial capacity of the accused, enormity of the offence, extent of damage caused to the victim of the offence etc., are relevant considerations in fixing up the amount. Section 357 of the CrPC contains provision for ordering payment of compensation in criminal case. The mode of realisation of such compensation is through imposition of fine. It is for the Court to decide whether any person involved in the criminal offence deserves payment of compensation. Accused sentenced of fine in conjunction with the sentence of imprisonment would be appropriate and proper, Sebastian v. State of Kerala, 1992 CrLJ 3642 at 3646 (Ker) (DB).

The sentence of fine in addition to death sentence can be passed. It is mistake in drafting. State of Assam v. Bhuban Tanti, (1995) 1 GLR 81 (Gau).

77. Difference of opinion between Judges.—Where there is a difference of opinion in the High Court on the question of sentence the accused is entitled to the benefit of doubt and death penalty should not be imposed. ILR 1962 Cut 516. The sentence should be reduced to transportation when there is difference of opinion in the High Court, not only on the question of guilt, but also on that of sentence. AIR 1955 SC 216 : (1955) 1 SCR 1083 : 1956 SCA 228 : 1955 SCJ 106 : 1955 Cr LJ 572.

78. Deterrent sentence.—Wife's murder is so common an offence in Sind, that it is necessary that deterrent sentence should be passed in all cases even where the provocation is that the wife was found in adultery. 5 SLR 256 : 15 Ind Cas 807 : 13 Cr LJ 635. A custom amongst the Baluchis of killing for unchastity cannot be taken into consideration in mitigation of sentence. 28 SLR 279. Where the accused murdered their cousin who had supplanted one of them in an intrigue with woman, held, that having regard to the state of society at the place where the act was committed, the sentence of death should be commuted. 2 PR 1867 Cr. When the murder was cold blooded and ruthless and there was no extenuating circumstance, death sentence should be inflicted. Banamali Saman v. State of Orissa, AIR 1968 SC 43 : 1970 Cr LJ 780 : 1979 Cr LJ 1086 : AIR 1979 SC 1414. The discretion to impose the sentence of death or life sentence is not so wide, after all Section 354(3) Cr. P. Code has narrowed the discretion. AIR 1979 SC 964. See AIR 1976 SC 192 (special reasons for death sentence) AIR 1983 SC 448 : AIR 1978 SC 1248.

Reduction of sentence—87 years old—Scope. It is no doubt true that FIR came to be recorded at 11:00 p.m. on 18.07.1996 in the Police Station by Head Constable P. Mallikajunarao (PW-8), who was posted at the relevant time at Police Station. The incident of murder of deceased No. 1 and deceased No. 2 took place at 7:30 p.m. on 18.07.1996 as per Complaint (Ex. P1) made by PW-1 to Sub-Inspector Maqbool Khan (PW-11), which was sent to Police Station for registration of the FIR. It has come in the cross-examination of PW-8 that the distance between Police Station, Thulluru, and Mangalagiri where the Magistrate holds court is about 20 kms. PW-8 categorically stated that FIR was registered by him at 11:00 p.m. on 18.07.1996 and even if the copy of the FIR was to be sent to the Magistrate during the midnight, it was not possible for the Police Constable to take the FIR and deliver the same to the Magistrate at Mangalagiri on the intervening night of 18/19.07.1996 as there was no bus service available during the night time between the two places. The trial court in its judgment observed that the FIR was received by the Magistrate at 4.00 p.m. on 19.07.1996. The trial court has noticed but not accepted the contention of the learned counsel for the accused persons that in these circumstances the statement of PW-1 (Ex. P1) might have been recorded at 3.00 p.m. on 19.07.1996 at village Uddandayunipalem and from the village itself the statement might have been sent to Mangalagiri in a police vehicle and, therefore, the same was received by the Magistrate at 4.00 p.m. on 19.07.1996. We have independently scrutinized the evidence of PW-1 and PW-11, the Investigating Officer. It is their clear and consistent testimony that statement (Ex. P1) was recorded at 9.00 p.m. on the night of 18.07.1996 after the incident of murder had occurred at 7.30 p.m. It is undisputed fact that one Ramamohanarao, son of A-6, was murdered on the same evening at about 6.00 or 6.30 p.m. at the outskirts of village Uddandayunipalem. It is the evidence of PW-11, Sub-Inspector of Police, that about 7.15 p.m. M. Venkatarao informed him that his rival group of men armed with deadly weapons was moving towards their village and on receiving the information he along with other police personnel had immediately proceeded to village Uddandayunipalem in a private jeep for maintaining law and order. PW, Head Constable, in cross-examination, corroborated the version of PW, Sub-Inspector of Police, that on 18.07.1996 around 7.15 p.m. on receipt of the information in regard to some incident of violence in the village, P.W. 11 along with five staff members left the Police Station for maintaining law and order in the village. PW-8 sent FIR to the Magistrate who brought statement of PW-1 [Ex. P-1] at 11:00 p.m. to the Police Station. PW-13, Circle Inspector of Police, stated that on the midnight of 18/19.07.1996 at about 00.15 hours he received a copy of express FIR disclosing the incidents of murder of three persons in village Uddandayunipalem. The endorsement made on FIR by the Magistrate on its bare perusal would reveal that he received a copy of the F.I.R. through PC No. 1293 and not through PC No. 2896 as deposed by P.W. 8. It appears from the record that PC No. 2896 handed over a copy of express FIR to PW-13, Circle Inspector of Police, at village Uddandayunipalem at 00.15 hours on the intervening night of 18/19.07.1996 and then constable PC No. 1293 might have been deputed to deliver the FIR (Ex. P5) to the Magistrate at Mangalagiri. The trial court in its judgment observed that keeping in view the serious and tense situation in the village because of the murder of three persons on the same evening, the entire staff of Police Station was deputed to maintain law and order problem there. Out of the victims, one was the son of A-6, ex-Sarpanch of the village, whereas deceased No. 1 was the sitting Sarpanch of the same village. Taking these circumstances into consideration, the trial court held that there was no delay in lodging the FIR with the police and delay in sending a copy of the FIR to the Magistrate was a result of shortage of police personnel who could not be deputed to deliver the same to the Magistrate during the night of 18.07.1996 or in the early hours of 19.07.1996. The High Court has re-examined the evidence on record and held that the delay in sending FIR to the Magistrate was not deliberate or intentional, but because of some technical errors committed by the Investigating Officer during the course of investigation of the case which could not be found fatal to the case of the prosecution, especially when the Investigation Of ficer was not cross-examined on this point.

A-10, one of accused found guilty for being member of unlawful assembly and sharing common intention. Ground that he was 87 years old and suffering from multiple ailments. This apart A-10 has already undergone jail suffering for about three years and, therefore, taking all these factors into consideration, his sentence may be reduced to the period already undergone by him. We are afraid to accept this submission of the learned counsel, be cause A-10 has been held guilty for being a member of unlawful assembly and sharing common intention with A-l, A-2, A-10, A-11 and A-12 to commit the murder. Bathula Nagamalleswar Rao and Ors. v. State, Rep. by Public Prosecutor., AIR 2008 SC 3227 : 2008 (6) SCR 829 (SC) : 2008 (11) SCC 722 : 2008 (6) JT 162 (SC) : 2008 (6) Scale 169 (SC) : 2008 (3) Supreme 129 (SC) : 2008 (4) SLT 646 (SC) : 2008 (6) SRJ 72 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 898 : 2008 (2) Crimes 188 (SC).

The accused husband as per medical report had strangulated the wife while she was sleeping with him at night. The plea of accused that wife had died of acute abdominal pain was not worthy of credence. The conviction of accused was confirmed as murder of wife was caused in such a cruel, atrocious, and cold blooded manner that he did not deserve any sympathy. Kondana Laxminarayan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 53 (Orissa) : 2002 (23) OCR 604.

Where appellant was 60 years old at the time of his filing of appeal. Now he is 73 years old. Hence considering his old age sentence reduced to 2 years. Amar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1171.

Where the probation officer recommended his pre-mature release which was opposed by District Magistrate and S.P. of District due to presence of feeling of revenge. The State Government did not take into consideration the relevant facts in report specification laid down by control order nor to specification laid down by export contract. Hence liable to attachment and seizure. Petition dismissed. Natraj Organics Ltd. v. State of U.P., 1995 AWC 1056 (All).

Where accused sexually assaulted infant girl of 4 months resulting her death, accused deserved nothing less than maximum sentence. Siddik Singh Pritam Singh v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 2919 (Bom.).

Where the conviction and sentence awarded set aside and instead he shall stand convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment under Section 302, I.P.C. Manmohan Choubey v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 70 (N) (MP).

In view of mitigating circumstances death sentence commuted to that of imprisonment of life. R.S. Bhudwar v. Union of India, 1996 Cr LJ 2862 (SC).

79. Conviction under different sections.—Where facts relied upon by the prosecution to prove an offence under Section 364, I.P. Code, are such that if believed they are sufficient to establish an offence of murder under Section 302 or abetment of murder under Section 302/109 and if not believed the case under Section 364 would fail, the Court should frame a charge under Section 302 or Section 302/109. ILR (1944) 1 Cal 280 : AIR 1945 Cal 42 ; see also AIR Pat 247 : 45 Cr LJ 809. While considering an accused of murder it is not desirable to convict him for concealing evidence. AIR 1942 Mad 257 : 43 Cr LJ 543 ; but see AIR 1940 Pat 289 : 41 Cr LJ 910. In a case of murder, it is not desirable procedure to charge the accused under Section 404 for misappropriation of the articles of the deceased. AIR 1941 Mad 306 : 42 Cr LJ 424. Charges can be framed both under Sec. 302 & 318. AIR 1941 Pesh 22 : 82 Cr LJ 381.

Where murder of the abducted girl is alleged by the prosecution, the accused should be charged under Section 302 and not under Section 364. AIR 1940 Cal 561 : 42 Cr LJ 285 : 71 CLJ 697. Where the charge is framed in the alternative in respect of offence under Section 302 and 201, I.P. Code, the position contemplated by Section 72 may arise and it may be open to the Court to give judgment that the accused is guilty of one of several offences specified in the judgment, but that it is doubtful which of these offences he is guilty of. Such fmding is in accordance with Section 367 (3), Cr. P. Code. The accused in such a case is under Section 72, I.P. Code, liable to be punished for the offence for which the lowest punishment is provided. 41 Cr LJ 910 : AIR 1940 Pat 289 : see also AIR 1939 Sind 130 : 40 Cr LJ 661.

Conviction under Secs. 307/110 instead of under Secs. 302/109—Validity. The High Court on appeal held that so far as conviction of Appellant No. 1 is concerned, he was the person who gave the order and after that a fatal blow was inflicted by Appellant No. 2 on the deceased. He has been rightly convicted under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 109 IPC and so far as Appellant No. 2 is concerned he was convicted under Sec. 302 IPC.

PW-4 is the informant i.e. wife of the deceased and PW-3 is the father of the deceased. From the evidence of PWs. 3 and 4 it is clear that there were physical fights abuses. At the time of abuses except PWs. 3 and 4 nobody else was there. The other persons came there just to stop the fight hearing noise on the road. On a close reading of the evidence is seen that the accused persons were armed. There was really no direct exhortation to kill but the same was to the effect that the deceased and others should not be permitted to run away and should be attacked. On hearing the exhortation accused No. 2 pierced the spear to the chest of the deceased. The evidence of PWs. 3 and 4 are different so as to the manner of exhortation. One says "Maro Sale Chintamani Ko" while the other said "Maro Sale Ko Jaan Se". The words "Jaan Se" appears to be entered later in the records. Jaleshwar Singh vs. State of Bihar, 2009 CrLJ 3995 : 2009 (2) Crimes 383 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 572 : 2009 (7) Scale 219 : 2009 (8) SCR 130.

It is settled practice in murder cases, not to accept the place of guilty by the accused unless the Court is satisfied that the accused knew exactly what is the effect of such plea. 46 Cr LJ 357 : 217 IC 370. Under Section 309, Cr Pro Code, the Judge is bound to pass a sentence on each of the charges of which the accused is found guilty by him. AIR 1939 Pesh 23 : 40 Cr LJ 686. It can not be laid down as a matter of law that in no circumstances a charge under Section 364 I.P.C. can be made out if the prosecution alleges that the accused met him dead after he was abducted and that his death was met at the hand of other person. ILR 1958 Raj 181 : 1958 Raj LW 584.

We find that the case against the appellant has been proved by the evidence of PW. 1 Ramprasad, his brother, PW. 3 Devilal and PW. 11 Vinod his neighbours, who had all seen the dead bodies with the appellant sitting beside them armed with a knife and he had in fact threatened that anyone else interfering would meet the same fate. It is also significant that Ramprasad had locked the door from the outside and it was in that condition that the appellant had been arrested by SI Karulal and his bloodstained clothes and knife had been recovered. It is true that in a case of circumstantial evidence motive does have extreme significance but to say that in the absence of motive, the conviction based on circumstantial evidence cannot, in principle, be made is not correct. It bears repetition that the appellant and the deceased family members were the only occupants of the room and it was, therefore, incumbent on the appellant to have tendered some explanation in order to avoid any suspicion as to his guilt. The story that a thief was present in the room introduced by Ramprasad at the stage of the trial was doubtless an attempt to help the appellant who was his brother. The medical evidence also supports the prosecution story in its entirety. The two doctors. R.K. Joshi and Dinesh Bansal who had conducted the post-mortem examination on the dead bodies, concluded that the knife recovered at the instance of the appellant could have been used to commit the murders. There is another extremely relevant circumstance pointing towards the appellant's involvement. The appellant, after arrest, was found with injuries on his person and was subjected to a medical examination by PW. 5 Dr. K.C. Kothari. The doctor reported six superficial incised injuries on his person, some on the neck and the others on the fingers, and opined that they could all be self suffered. This statement was further corroborated by the unrebutted testimony of PW. 3 Devi Lal who testified that the appellant had told him that after killing his family he had attempted to commit suicide. All the factors referred to above are undoubtedly circumstances, but they are so evidently categoric, that they constitute a chain even stronger than an eye-witness account, and do remind us of the clichi that men often lie, circumstances do not. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the conviction of the appellant on the charge of multiple murders is fully justified. Jagdish vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2009 (9) SC 495 : 2009 (4) Crimes 72 (SC) : 2009 (12) JT 300 : 2009 (12) Scale 580 : 2009 (14) SC 727 : 2009 (6) Supreme 692 : 2009 (7) SLT 401.

That no one cut inflicted on the deceased was in itself fatal is no reason to hold th the offence committed is not murder or that all the accused who participated in th occurrence can not be convicted of the offence. Where the fact that there was enmi between the accused on the one hand and the deceased on the other hand was not on proved in the case but admitted by the accused, and the facts that the injuri sustained by the deceased external and internal, were of a serious nature, all the thr came to the scene well-prepared and well-armed and after the incident, all three ra away together and remained in hiding some time before their surrender together—All prove that they were acting in pursuance of the common intention. ILR 1957 Ker 524 1957 Ker LJ 1224 ; 1954 All WR (HC) 366.

Appellate Court to refuse interference where conviction recorded on the ju appreciation of evidence. Kamati Rajam v. State of A.P, (1995) 1 CCR 360 : (1995) 1 AI (Cr) 217 (AP).

Where evidence of Child witness was shaky and uncorroborated. Conviction on th basis of such evidence, had to be, vitiated. Shukram v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (199 1 CCR 515 (MP).

Conviction can be sustained on the basis of cogent, trustworthy and w corroborated evidence of a solitary eye-witness. Gudise Venkappa v. State, (1995) Crimes 43 : (1995) 3 CCR 129 (AP).

Where deceased found dead on the alternate day and deceased recovered fro possession, conviction held not justified. Thankayyan v. State of Kerala, 1994 SSC (C 1751.

Where injury was sufficient to cause death—Witnesses proved the case convicti was justified. Ayodhya Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 356 (All).

The deceased was attacked while going to harvest.—It was proved that there w prior litigation between the parties. The witnesses of the FIR were not examin Labourers as well as eye-witnesses too were not examined Conviction was held n justified. Banwalal Mandal v. State of Bihar, (1994) 1 Crimes 460 (Pat).

Prosecution case fully supported by eye-witness—FIR with details was also lodged time and—Human blood-stained earth taken from the place of occurrence.—He conviction was held sustainable. Kapur Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 4 (P&H).

Where the facts clearly indicate that deceased had been taken from his house railway station by present appellant and his companion and there he had be assaulted with Ballam on the chest and back. This goes to show that appellant and companion intended to cause death of the deceased. Conviction and sentence is uphe Under Section 302/34 I.P.C. Gullu v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 36 (N) (MP).

The FSL Report and other exhibits fully connecting accused with crime. Hence th was no illegality on part of trial judge in scanning, analysing, discussing and evaluat evidence in right perspective. The conviction does not call for interference. Asha Ram State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 WLC (Raj) 443.

FIR was promptly lodged by sister of deceased. Her statement therefore corroborates FIR. It was corroborated by eye-witnesses. Medical evidence and chemical examiner's report. Conviction and sentence confirmed. Sudhir Suresh Kamble v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Mah LR 119 (Bom.).

Where appellant G fired gun and caused injuries to the deceased—Other appellants present there also took part in it—Testimony of eye-witnesses consistent—They remained with dead body for whole night not unnatural. Hence conviction was upheld. Gurmit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 4 Crimes 185 : (1995) 7 JT (SC) 171 : (1995) 3 CC Cases 113 (SC) : 1995 Supp (4) SCC 146 : 1996 Cr. LJ 390 : 1995 (5) Scale 630 : 1995 (4) CCR 56 (SC) : 1996 SCC (Cr) 45.

Where medical report corroborating the prosecution case and witnesses were natural and supporting the case. It was held that conviction was justified. Jaskaran Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1468 : 1994 AIR (SC0 157 : 1994 Cr. LJ 3837.

Where the death was caused due to multiple injuries on head. The evidence of eye-witnesses, PW-1 and PW-2 was reliable. FIR was duly corroborated. Hence conviction under Section 302, I.P.C. maintained. Puran Nath v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 326 (Raj).

Eye-witness the basis of prosecution case motive immaterial—Evidence of solitary is witness safe to be relied for conviction—Appeal dismissed conviction of accused is maintained. Hanamanth Ramanna v. State of Karnataka, (1995) 3 KarLJ 461 (Kant) (DB).

Where there was homicide—Eye-witnesses are relatives but there are cause to disbelieve their version. There are direct evidence. Same getting corroborated by FIR and medical evidence. Weapon used concealed—Discovered in pursuance of the statement by appellant—Human blood present on the weapon used—Belongings of the appellant discovered from the site of occurrence conviction upheld. There was found absence of any motive which was not fatal. Amarjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 409 : (1995) 3 CC Cases 124 (P & H).

Where accused alone caused fatal injuries as stated by prosecution. Hence conviction held proper. Chinnam Chandraiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1994 Cri LJ 1210 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 959.

Where death was caused by throttling. But at the time of death only the accused persons were present—Inescapable conclusion that in all human probability the accused and none else had committed the crime. Hence conviction under Section 302 was upheld. Lalu Mai v. State of Tripura, (1995) 2 GLR 145 (Gau).

Where several persons chasing and inflicting injuries to the deceased—Presence of witnesses proved—They being interested witnesses—Specific overt acts attributed to accused corroborated by medical and circumstantial evidence. Thus only such accused convicted. Other accused acquittal—Plea of appellants that as some of accused were acquitted same evidence cannot be accepted against other accused, not tenable. Conviction was held proper. Hence appeal was dismissed. Bolineedi Venkataramaiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1994 SC 76 : 1994 Cri LJ 61 (SC) : 1994 Supp(3) SCC 732 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 191.

Where incident took place at market place before a number of eyewitnesses, who testified about the guilt of the accused in a straightforward manner. There was found no reason for false implication. Hence conviction justified. Zaffar v. State (Delhi Admn.). 1994 SCC (Cr) 295 : (1994) 1 CCR 13 (SC : 1993 (4) Scale 571 : 1993 (3) Crimes 1096.

Where F.I.R. delay in dispatching the same. Forwarded the same day to the Magistrate. Placed before him a day after the dispatch date, no lapse on part of investigating officer. Hence conviction was upheld. Promoda Kumar Mantri v. State of Orissa, (1995) 3 Crimes 510 (Ori).

Where the assault was inside sleeping room and there were incised wounds on neck. Accused-party and complainant-party belonged to different factions in village. Hence conviction recorded was legally sustainable. Kaki Ramesh v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 Crimes 268 (SC) : (1994) 4 SCC 397 : 1994 (3) JT 532 : 1994 (2) Scale 753 : 1994 (1) UJ 776 : 1994 (2) CCR 503 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1214.

Where accused caused stab injuries to deceased. Altercation over quarrel between children, accused armed with knife, evidence was also corroborated by medical evidence. Name of witnesses too found in F.I.R. Incident took place in mid-night in front of deceased's house. Hence was also conviction was upheld. Tejgir v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 324.

Murder is of female child and dead body was found after two days. Death was by strangulation. Prosecution case based on circumstantial evidence. There was no independent witness-conviction was not justified. Hence conviction was set aside. State of Punjab v. Major Singh, (1994) 2 CC Cases 73 (P & H).

Where son gave fatal lathi blow to his father who was deceased. Prosecution witness's testimony reliable and corroborated, blood-stained lathi and clothes of accused recovered which contained same blood group as of deceased. Prosecution-case established beyond reasonable doubt. Hence conviction was upheld. Sawat Nath v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 226 (Raj).

Where the presence of witnesses at the place of occurrence is natural and their evidence inspire confidence. There was recovery of blood-stained clothes with AB group of blood which was of the deceased at the instance of accused. Hence conviction upheld. Pyara v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 391 (Raj).

Where the version of witnesses before investigating officer and at the trial substantially varied. Hence conviction cannot be sustained. Maskandar Ali v. State of Assam, (1995) 1 GHC 73 : (1995) 3 CCR 604 (Gau).

Where silver ring discovered at their instance—Recovery after six months conviction was not sustainable. Mahabir Biswas v. State of West Bengal, (1994) 3 Crimes 809 (SC) : 1995(2) SCC 25 : 1994(7) JT 279 : 1994(4) Scale 736 : 1995(1) SCJ 193 : 1995(1) CCR 10 (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 308.

The Courts below did not accept the prosecution case of death being caused in pursuit of common object. P.W. 3 had deposed that A-14 caused stab injury by Peishcup but witnesses deposed that A-14 was armed with Poumikara. In such circumstances conviction of A-14 cannot be sustained. As regards A-5, P.W. 5 attributed authorship of injury and they were disinterested. Hence his conviction liable to be upheld. G. Satyanarayana Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 Crimes 318 (SC) : 1994 Supp(2) SCC 287 : 1994(4) JT 216 : 1994(2) Scale 857 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1239.

Where circumstances proving prosecution case beyond doubt, consistent with the guilt of the accused--Excluding all chances of the innocence of the accused, conviction of accused is mentioned. N. Rajendra Prasad Bhat v. State of Kerala, (1995) 4 CCR 605 (Ker).

The Judge's task is to find out truth involved in the case before him and if at any stage accused pleads guilty and the judge is satisfied that said plea is voluntary and without any coercion, mental or physical there is nothing in Criminal Procedure Code to prevent such guilt being recorded and conviction can be based on its basis. Ram Kishun v. State of U.P., 1994 UP Cr R 372 : (1994) 31 ACC 564 (All).

Where falsity of the defence version cannot be a ground for conviction. Kanku v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 CCR 317 : 1995 (1) RCD 49 (Raj).

Where conviction cannot be sustained in a brutal murder of a teen-aged girl due to a infirmity, improper investigation and non-examination of witness. Maleshwar Bhagat v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 650 : (1995) 3 Crimes 163 : 1995 Cr R 46 (Pat).

There being material in consistencies in statements of eye witnesses, uncorroboration and not truthful and no independent witness from neighbouring houses examined conviction not sustainable. Indu Mian v. State of Bihar, 1997 (1) Crimes 369 (Pat).

Where accused inflicted sword injury which proved fatal. Motive being that accused took away two cocks, thereupon ladies of deceased house abused him. Evidence of eye-witnesses reliable, unshaken and corroborative—Medical evidence also corroborated—Recovery of shoes of accused at the place of occurrence strengthened involvement of accused. Hence it is that offence proved beyond reasonable doubt—Conviction upheld. Deva v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 160 : 1995 Cr LR 837 (Raj).

Where the theory that villagers have launched attack on them is difficult to believe. It is therefore difficult to believe the defence version. Hence order of conviction recorded by Sessions Court is legally sustainable and High Court was wrong in reversing the order of conviction. State of U.P. v. Roop Singh, (1995) 3 Crimes 743 (SC) : 1996 Cr LJ 410 : AIR 1996 SC 215 : 1995(6) JT 479 : 1995(5) Scale 264.

The first injury was on the chest and this injury pierced the sternum at its middle and the description of the internal injury showed that right ventrical was pierced. It was stated that injury No. 1 was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death and the evidence of PW 1 was clear and convincing on this aspect. Therefore, conviction was confirmed. Gopalakrishnan v. State of Kerala, 1996 Cr LJ 2438 (Ker) : 1996 (2) Crimes 16 : 1996 (1) Ker LJ 232 : 1996 (1) Ker LT 2[illegible] : 1996 MLJ (Cr) 406 : 1996 (2) Cur Cr R 236 : 1996 (20 ILR (Ker.) 592.

Where killing the person by putting on fire, it had 90% burns. There was prompt F.I.R. corroborative ocular testimony—Dying declaration recorded by Head Constable well corroborated by independent witnesses. Hence conviction held, legal and proper. Charipalli Shankararao v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh, (1995) 1 CCR 66 (SC) : (1995) 1 Crimes 393 : 1995 JIC 684 : (1995) 32 ACC 430 : 1995 Cr R 253 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 777 : 1995 Supp (5) SCC 24 : 1995 (1) JT 364 : 1995 (1) Scale 192 : 1995 (1) UJ 354 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 21.

Where infliction of Barchha blow on the neck of the deceased. There was death on the spot. Injured eye-witnesses being parents of the deceased—Non-manufactured injuries of the eye-witnesses. It had being made prompt FIR—Medical evidence corroborating the ocular evidence—Murder-weapon recovered at the instance of the accused—Conviction is justified. Inder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 Crimes 854 (SC) : 1995 (2) CCR 5 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 542 : 1995 AIR SCW 1545 : 1995 Cr LJ 2627 : (1995) 3 CCR 30 : (1995) 3 SCC 702 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 586 (SC).

When evidence of eye witness remained unshaken and extra judicial confession proved by witness, conviction justified. Ram Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 280 (Raj).

When medical evidence is corroborated by ocular account, conviction proper. Putti Manda v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 112 (Pat).

80. Acquittal.—When testimony of complainant is not corroborated by medical evidence and full of contradictions, acquittal of accused proper. Kapoora v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 498 (Raj).

Pulmonary embolism is, thus, caused by reason of the blockage in the lungs, a clot may form on any part of the body and then travel upto the lungs. Pulmonary embolism is an extremely common and highly lethal condition that is a leading cause of death in all age groups. It may arise from anywhere in the body. It may be caused even during long air travels as commonly it arises from the calf veins. It is not a disease by itself. It has been argued by the learned Counsel for the appellant that the death of the deceased occurred due to pulmonary embolism as a result of the operation that he had to undergo after the incident and not due to the injury caused to him at the time of the scuffle. This argument has been rightly pointed out by the lower Court is misconceived. Mohammed Asif vs. State of Uttaranchal, 2009 CrLJ 2789 : 2009 (11) SCC 497 : 2009 (4) JT 1(2) : 2009 (3) Scale 695 : 2009 (4) SCR 12 : 2009 (3) SLT 77.

Acquittal of Co-accused.—It is also not a case where the testimonies of the eye-witnesses had been totally disbelieved. Benefit of doubt has been given only because the testimonies of the witnesses in regard to the place of assault on the person of the deceased were not corroborated by the medical evidence. The High Court failed to notice that all the accused persons were charged of having common object of causing murder. A few of them might have taken active part and others might have aided and abated the commission of the offence. It is, however, neither possible nor necessary to delve into the said question as the State has not filed any appeal questioning the correctness of the said order. The fact, however, remains that both the Courts below have placed implicit reliance on both witnesses. We see no reason to take a different view.

The second contention of the learned counsel, in our opinion, is also without any merit. It may be true that all the five accused persons were said to have a common object; they were punished under Sec. 302/149 of the IPC; but the same would not mean that only because three of them were given benefit of doubt on a premise which may not be wholly correct, no case of common intention has been made out against the appellants. They came together armed. They had threatened the deceased. They went back together. It has not been established that the appellants herein had in any way been prejudiced by non-mentioning of Sec. 34, of the IPC in the concluding portion of the judgments of the High Court.

The High Court, on a plain reading of its judgment has attributed common intention on the part of the appellants in committing the aforementioned crime. Their conviction under Sec. 302/34, therefore, was justified. In absence of any prejudice having been shown on the part of the accused, this Court on such technicalities alone would not interfere with the impugned judgment. Prem Singh vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 2573 : 2009 (7) SCR 1142 : 2009 (8) JT 185 : 2009 (7) Scale 637.

The allegation was that accused had stolen the ornaments of deceased and killed her while she was alone in the house. The circumstance that he was seen in the house of deceased on that particular day and had taken some money on loan from her was not sufficiently established. The conviction was not proper and accused was held entitled to the acquittal as links in chain of circumstances were missing. Kanti Lal v. State of Gujarat, 2003 Cr LJ 850 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 684 : 2002(10) SCC 39 : 2002(8) Supreme 629 : 2003(1) Crimes 6 (SC).

If a person is sentenced to imprisonment, even if it be for life, and subsequently it is found that he was innocent and was wrongly convicted, he can be set free. Mohd. Farooq Abdul Gafur vs. State of Maharashtra, 2009 (11) JT 47 : 2009 (11) Scale 327 : 2009 (6) SLT 676.

If certain persons are given benefit of doubt and are acquitted, that does not mean that others whose involvement in crime was proved should also be extended benefit of doubt. Their acquittal was set aside and conviction order of Sessions Judge was confirmed. State of UP v. Rashid, 2003 Cr LJ 2011 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1243 : 2003(9) SCC 449 : 2003(2) Supreme 743 : 2003(2) Crimes 65 (SC).

The appellant tried to extinguish the fire of Aruna and during the process, she suffered burn injuries. The appellant's stand in her statement under Sec. 313 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 is that Aruna herself set her on fire and appellant tried to extinguish the flames and in the process sustained certain burn injuries and she has been falsely implicated out of the victim's grudge towards her.

It appears that the injuries on the appellant are very insignificant. She sustained only 4-5% burn injuries that too not on her palm but near her elbow. Neither the trial Court nor the High Court accepted the defence plea and it is also difficult for us to accept the same. Jaishree Anant Khandekar vs. State of Maharashtra, 2009 (2) Crimes 23 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 647 : 2009 (4) Scale 172(2) : 2009 (4) JT 198 : 2009 (2) Supreme 639 : 2009 (4) SCR 992 : 2009 (3) SLT 282 : 2009 (2) JCC 1461.

Where prosecution version was not inspiring confidence and there were interested prosecution witnesses and previous enmity was also established the conviction was not sustainable. Rama v. State of U.P., (1995) 1 Crimes 468 : 1995 (32) ACC 113 (Alld).

Examination—Not putting relevant questions under Sec. 313—No incriminating materials were put to the accused under Sec. 313 of the Code. There is no accusation specifically put in question during examination as quoted above. It only refers to victim of kidnapping. So far as the Question No. 3 is concerned same relates to PW. 10. He did not say that he had seen gun fired by the appellant.

Above being the position the appeal deserves to be allowed. It is a matter of regret and concern that the trial Court did not indicate the incriminating material to the accused. Sec. 313 of the Code is not an empty formality. There is a purpose behind examination under Sec. 313 of the Code. Unfortunately, that has not been done. Because of the serious lapse on the part of the trial Court the conviction as recorded has to be interfered with. Conviction recorded by the High Court is set aside. Ranvir Yadav vs. State of Bihar, 2009 CrLJ 2962 : 2009 (2) Crimes 434 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 595 : 2009 (7) Scale 60 : 2009 (7) SCR 653.

Where the accused was last seen in company of deceased or that deceased's shoes were recovered at the instance of accused it would not be sufficient to advance prosecution case. State of Madhya Pradesh v. Ashok Kumar, 1995 MPLJ 32 (MP).

In the first dying declaration recorded by a Nayab Tehsildar, it has been clearly stated that she tried to set herself ablaze by pouring kerosene on herself, but in the subsequent declaration, recorded by the another Nayab Tehsildar, a contrary statement was made. It appears that one dying declaration earlier was made before the Doctor. The trial Court referred to the evidence of Dr. Chaturvedi who stated that the deceased was admitted on bed No. 8, but the father of the deceased stated that her daughter was admitted on some other bed number.

The trial Court and the High Court came to abrupt conclusions on the purported possibility that the relatives of the accused may have compelled the deceased to give a false dying declaration. No material was brought on record to justify such a conclusion. The evidence of the Nayab Tehsildar who recorded Exh. D4 was examined as PW. 8. His statement was clear to the effect that nobody else was present when he was recording the statement. That being so, in view of the apparent discrepancies in the two dying declarations it would be unsafe to convict the appellant. Heeralal vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2009 CrLJ 2787 : 2009 (12) SCC 671 : 2009 (4) JT 115 : 2009 (3) Scale 715 : 2009 (4) SCR 283.

Where the conviction was based on the testimony of sole eye-witness, there was material contradiction in the statement of single eye-witness as his testimony was not corroborated by evidence, the motive was not proved and there was alleged enmity between accused and eye-witness, conviction was held liably to be quashed. Beswa and others v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 455 (Raj).

Dead body was recovered from the well. There was no direct evidence. Evidence of father of deceased lady on behalf of prosecution was not relied upon by trial Court. There was no sufficient evidence to conclude that respondents were guilty. It was concluded that when two views are possible and one is taken by trial court in acquitting accused acquittal cannot be interfered with. State of Rajasthan v. Bhoja, (1995) 1 RC 257 (Raj).

The alleged eye-witness did not disclose the name of assailants and he was a related witness. Further the author of FIR 'B' was not examined. The contention that he was suffering from mental breakdown, was not substantiated. Hence the trial court was justified in recording acquittal of respondent. State of M.P. v. Narayan, 1994 Cr LR 170 (N) (MP).

There cannot be an acquittal merely on account of the fact that FIR is no substantive evidence by itself. Sununga Malik v. State, (1995) 2 CCR 285 (Ori).

The Trial Court had examined the evidence on record thoroughly and correctly. There were no good reasons to differ from views of trial court. Hence order of acquitta was sustainable. State of Rajasthan v. Mohd Sahid, (1994) 2 Crimes 363 : 1994 Cr L 391 : 1994 R Cr C 361 (Raj).

Where dead body could not be identified. Conviction was not justified and was acquitted. Kuldeep Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 CC Cases 156 (P&H).

It was alleged by deceased that her mother-in-law set her on fire by chimney in her back. There were no burn injuries on back of deceased. The appellant mother-in-law also sustained burn injuries on her both palms. It seems that she tried to extinguish fire. In absence of any burn injuries on back of the deceased it cannot be said that accused put her ablaze from backside. Hence, prosecution failed to establish guilt of the accused. Kamlabai Dattatraya Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 BCrC 474 (Bom.).

Homicidal death not proved beyond doubt. There was existence of the possibility of the accidental death—Acquittal of the accused proper. Balram Prasad Agarwal v. State of Bihar, 1995 East Cr C 391 (Pat).

Where there being discrepancy between evidence of eye-witness and medical evidence. Acquittal of accused was held justified. State of Karnataka v. Revakka alias Mudakappa, (1995) 3 Ker LJ 451 (Karn.) (DB).

Occurrence report was sent to Magistrate on third—Nothing to show whether report was actually sent and received by Magistrate and if so on what date and time.—Articles seized but put to identification after more than a month—Fard bayan and FIR not lodged or recorded at time and hour mentioned in FIR—Fard bayan and FIR not recorded till police raided house of accused and seized articles—Material witnesses all relatives of deceased—Concurrent findings of both courts below—Conviction set aside. Arjun Marik v. State of Bihar, 1994 (1) Crimes 777 (SC) : 1994 Supp(2) SCC 372 : 1994(2) JT 627 : 1994(1) UJ 610 : 1994(1) Scale 821 : 1994(2) CCR 445 (SC).

In spite of strong suspicion if prosecution has failed to establish its case of murder and defence case is found possible, conviction by making a third story is not justified and accused is entitled to acquittal. Archi Nawal Kishore Kujur v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 548 (Pat).

The prosecution failed to disclose the complete and true story. There were several omission and contradictions in the evidence. The medical report did not corroborate the oral evidence. The empty shells of the pistol did not match with the test shots fired from pistol so recovered. Conviction was held not sustainable. Bhani Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 245 (Raj).

There were material contradictions in statement of prosecution-witnesses. No proper investigation was conducted. The conviction was based only on examination-in-chief and was bad and hence set aside. Prem v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 804 (Alld).

Case based on eye-witness account—Prosecution case suffering from several discrepancies—Unexplained delay in sending FIR to the Court.—Minor misreading of one of the statements of the witnesses does not impair the verdict recorded by trial Court. Verdict of acquittal not be converted into conviction unless the judgment suffers from perverse reasoning. Hence there found no error acquitting the accused. State of Madhya Pradesh v. Gyarsu, (1995) 2 Crimes 343 (MP).

Two respondents were present and indeed their mere presence by itself cannot be of criminal nature in the sense that by their mere presence a common intention can not be attributed to them. Indeed, they have not done anything. No overt act is attributed to them though it was tried to be claimed by one of the witnesses that when the police party reached that they were standing on one leg. This also appears to be a tall claim without any basis and the High Court has rightly not believed this story which was tried to be introduced.

There can be no dispute that the specter of superstition had affected the psyche of all these accused persons. The case of the Shahrunnisa (A-3) is one of a Mohammedan lady whose husband and daughter were overpowered by the superstitious belief. The force of the superstition was so overpowering that A-1 and A-2 probably were convinced of the non-existent supernatural powers of A-2. A poor Mohammedan lady coming from the humble background, whose husband and whose daughter claimed these powers could not have ordinarily opposed which was being done and, therefore, had to see with open eyes the death of her two sons. We do not think that her not opposing the gruesome acts speaks in favour of her nurturing the common intention. The High Court was undoubtedly right that she could be afraid of A-1 and A-2 has she herself might be under the superstitious psyche.

It is bane of the Indian society that in search of some worldly gains, the society becomes superstitious and blindly follows the path which leads only to desolation. Number of lives are lost and number of families are destroyed because of this false belief in the so-called black magic and so-called supernatural powers. All this is a result of the total lack of education and human avarice. It is for this reason that we agree with the findings of the High Court. Even the case of the 4th respondent is no different. True it is that he was a police Constable, but the fact is that he has not committed any overt acts. Again it is his own wife who claimed all the supernatural powers and went on to commit the horrible acts of un-paralleled cruelty against the two innocent boys. True it is that it was his duty to stop the crime from being committed but inaction on his part would not by itself make him join the company of the guilty accused. This is apart from the fact that he has not been asked about his duty in his examination. In fact, the whole prosecution is strangely silent about the aspect of Sec. 221 IPC nor was such charge ever levelled against him.

We are dealing with an appeal against acquittal where the law so far crystallized desists us from fact finding exercise. Though, the whole evidence is open for us to appreciate the finding of acquittal that too by the High Court has to be given its own weight. We have, therefore, gone through the evidence ourselves only to find that the evidence against the two respondents is not clinching enough and it cannot be said that the finding of the High Court is perverse or such as cannot be reached after reasonable and careful survey of the evidence. A suspicion by itself cannot take place of the proof much less in an appeal against acquittal. The law requires hard facts duly proved by admissible and truthful evidence. In case where the High Court has recorded the finding of acquittal giving benefit of doubt, unless such a finding was an impossible one, the interference at this stage is not feasible. We, therefore, would agree with the High Court, though with a heavy heart. State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Sahrunnisa, AIR 2009 SC 3182 : 2009 CrLJ 4151 : 2009 (9) Scale 170 : 2009 (9) JT 16 : 2009 (6) SLT 47 : 2009 (10) SCR 237.

Absence of evidence with regards to infliction of the fatal injury by the accused—Eye-witnesses giving different versions on different occasions—Absence of motive—prosecution evidence not inspiring confidence—Conviction quashed in appeal. Ram Pal v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 1 C CR 157 (Raj).

This Court wish the expert would have been forthright in her view in regard to the cause of death. A different conclusion was required to be arrived at keeping in view the fact that a large number of symptoms were absent which ordinarily point out to the cause of death of asphyxia by smothering. Most of the symptoms noticed by Modi should have remained present.

There was frothy fluid discharge of blood from mouth and nose. However, no frothy fluid blood was found on the pillow. It may not be imperative but that could have been a lead to a fairly definite opinion. It is in the aforementioned situation, the learned Sessions Judge opined that death might not have been caused by asphyxia.

The learned Judge noticed that witness was specific in her statement that paleness in the brain could not have been noticed as it had liquefied by that time. It was also found that witness had deviated from her earlier opinion and stated that it was not correct to say that no opinion of cerebral anoxia could be given or arrived at in the case of liquefaction of the brain. No saliva, blood and tissue cells were found in the pillow; no scratches, distinct nail marks, or laceration of the soft parts of the victim's face was noticed. It was not brought to notice that pillow was a soft one or not. No bruising or laceration was found in the lips, gums and tongue. The conduct of the accused that he had all along been present and the opinion of the Doctor did not satisfy the tests laid down in the authoritative book of Modi.

The High Court, on the other hand, while noticing only a part of the said tests proceeded on the premise that those symptoms spoken to by her in her evidence were not noted by her in the post-mortem report. Apart from the fact that the quotation from Modi does not take into consideration all the symptoms noted therein, a wrong test was applied that all the features in a given case would not be available where the body is burnt after killing, which is not the case herein. Despite noticing that some of the usual symptoms that would be available in the case of death due to asphyxia by smothering were necessary still a purported formal opinion was arrived at that the prosecution had definitely established the cause of death. Subramaniam vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2009 CrLJ 3002 : 2009 (3) Crimes 140 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 403 : 2009 (7) Scale 317 : 2009 (4) Supreme 788 : 2009 (4) SLT 384 : 2009 (9) SCR 725.

SHO taking 19 days in obtaining statement of eye-witnesses and no explanation for delay given—Prosecution evidence doubtful regarding presence of eye-witness—Hence prosecution failed to prove the case beyond shadow of reasonable doubt. Conviction set aside. Jhillar v. State, 1995 (32) ACC 669 (All).

Acquittal by High Court—When no sustainable. There was practically no cross examination on the assault part. So far as fixing of the axe on the head is concerned, unnecessary importance appear to have been attached to the same. As a matter of fact the conclusion of the High Court is erroneous because PW-4 in his evidence has categorically stated that the deceased was having injury on his body due to assault by means of axes. One axe was found inserted in the bone of head near the left ear. The handle of that axe was in a broken condition. According to the evidence the axe was inserted near about 4 to 5 inches in the head. Thereafter, all the three accused persons ran way from the spot. The motive indicated was that the deceased was having a illicit relationship with another lady and, therefore, the family members of the wife were upset. The High Court has come to an absurd conclusion that the eye witnesses PWs. 3 and 6 gave account of 4 to 5 external injuries but the witnesses did not utter a single word about remaining 15 injuries. The High Court came to the conclusion that if at all these two witnesses witnessed the incident from a short distance then it was not explained as to why they were not able to account for the remaining injuries which were found on the body of the deceased. A witness who witnesses an attack on another by three persons armed is not supposed to go on counting number of assaults on the parts of the body where the injuries were inflicted. They had categorically stated about the external injuries 1, 4, 8, 14 and 18. It is noticed that PWs. 3 and 4 came running after hearing shout of the deceased. So it was possible that they had not noticed the injuries which were earlier sustained due to assaults. They appeared at the spot when the assault was continuing. As a matter of fact, in his cross examination PW-4 had stated that on hearing shout of the deceased he rushed towards him and reached there within a short time. When he reached at the spot of incident, at that time the deceased was lying on the ground having injuries on his person. As noted above, there is practically no cross examination of any of the eye witnesses i.e. PWs. 3, 4 and 6 on the assault part. State of Maharashtra vs. Prakash Sakha Vasave, AIR 2009 SC 1636 : 2009 (11) SCC 193 : 2009 (1) JT 621 : 2009 (1) Scale 713 : 2009 (1) SCR 450 : 2009 (1) Supreme 531.

When the prosecution witnesses of fact are not reliable and their statements are not sufficient to establish that they were actually present at scene of occurrence and that the murder was committed at the time alleged. Appellants held entitled to acquittal. Nirottam v. State of U.P, 1995 (32) ACC 265 (All).

Acquittal—Failure to hold Identification parade—Conviction on basis of identification for the first time in Court.

None of the prosecution witness knew any of the accused-appellants. However, in Column No. 2 of the FIR, not only their names but also their parentage and complete addresses were stated. It is, however, not clear as to whether the name of the accused Hemu was recorded in the said FIR or not, the translated version thereof has been placed before us.

Appellants herein admittedly were not known to the police officers. Only Sattey was known to them. PW. 1 Anoop Singh in his deposition categorically admitted that he did not know the assailants previously. After their arrest, no identification parade test was held. Although the first informant as also witnesses in their depositions proceeded on the basis that all the accused had been coming in a Maruti Car and they were heavily armed, no arm was recovered from any of them.

How their names could be taken is beyond anybody's comprehension. Even two persons, namely, Lilu and Vinod were called by their first names. How the Officer In-charge even could ascertain their actual names has not been disclosed. He admitted that apart from Sattey, he had not seen any accused persons on previous occasion. Why despite the same, identification parade was not held has not been explained. Appellants were identified only in Court.

Mr. Rajeev Gaur 'Naseem' learned Counsel appearing on behalf of the State would contend that identification for the first time in Court is permissible in law.

There cannot be any dispute so far as the aforementioned proposition of law is concerned. The said principle, however, should be applied having regard to the facts and circumstances of each case. Courts, as is well known, ordinarily, do not give much credence to identification made in the Court for the first time and that too after a long time.

In the present case, PW. 1, 2 and 3 in their depositions admitted that they had not been knowing the accused from before the despite so, no test identification parade was held. The accused persons having been identified for the first time in the Court, it is difficult for any Court to rely upon the same and that too after such a long time.

As indicated hereinbefore, appellants were not known to the police officers; they were not involved in any other case. In fact, so far as the Hemu is concerned, no case at the relevant time was pending against him. Only because Sattey allegedly called them by their names, which appears to be wholly unlikely, they could not have been identified particularly in view of the fact that the incident had taken place in an isolated area and that too on a dark night.

Sattey furthermore could not have been instrumental in murdering Lasker Singh. Lasker Singh died of a firearm injury shot from a service revolver, i.e., at the hands of the police party only. Such a revolver, thus, was not and could not have been used by any of the accused persons. Hem Singh vs. State of Haryana, 2009 (6) SCC 748 : 2009 (7) JT 433 : 2009 (6) Scale 784 : 2009 (7) SCR 888 : 2009 (4) Supreme 338 : 2010 (1) SLT 126.

Solitary eye-witness being the mother of the deceased—Absence of name from rukka sent by doctor to police station immediately after the arrival of the dead body in the hospital created doubt about her presence at the place of occurrence at the time of the incident—Identification at the time of post mortem not to cure the defect of absence from rukka. Delay in sending special report to Magistrate—Post-mortem report also contradicting. Statements of the witness. Held that in view of the infirmities prosecution not able to establish the case beyond a reasonable doubt, hence conviction and sentence cannot be sustained. Sukhwant Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 SCC (Cr) 524 : (1995) 3 SCC 367 : 1995 Cr R 473 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 1601 : 1995 (3) JT 495 : 1995 (2) Scale 482 : 1995 (2) UJ 29 : 1995 (2) SCJ 181.

During scuffle death was caused by blows. There was evidence as to witnessing of the incident. Accused had pleaded false implication. It was found that there was enmity between accused and deceased and there was unexplained delay in FIR. Wife admitted presence of herself and two witnesses watching two accused assaulting her deceased husband but they did not prevent accused. Presence of these two witnesses was not stated in FIR. There was variations in versions about place where deceased was found. It was held. that circumstances falsify versions of wife and two witnesses. Hence accused was acquitted. Mariappan v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 749 (Mad).

There was material contradiction as to place of incidence in evidence of PW 2. There was no light in and around place of incidence, hence the claim of PW 2 that he identified the miscreants and seen the incident was wholly unacceptable and not creditworthy. Hence conviction was set aside. Shahbuddin Abdul Khaliq Sheikh v. State of Gujarat, 1995 JCC 681 (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 690: (1995) 3 CCR 33 (SC) : 1995 (Supp (2) SCC 441 : 1995 (3) JT 456 : 1995 (2) Scale 647.

Allegation against the accused that they caused injury by fire arms Eye-witness examined and statement recorded in delay—No proper explanation—Conviction was not justified. Acquittal order passed. Basudeo v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 927 (All).

The conviction of the accused on the basis of suspicion is not proper. M. Abbas v. State of Karnataka. (1995) 4 CCR 682 (Kant).

Where the evidence adduced was neither clear or cogent, nor was independent and credit-worthy, accused was held entitled to acquittal. Brij Nandan Rai v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 CCR 769 (Pat).

Accused alleging to have killed his wife by axe-blow and his son by gun fire—Wife and son's family living separately from accused—Trial Judge observed that accused should have proved his innocence—Criminal justice requires prosecution to prove its case first and only then defence version to be looked into—Such principle not observed by trial Court. Hence conviction set aside, appellant acquitted of charge. State of Rajasthan v. Sher Singh, 1994 RCC 1 : 1994 Cr LJ 904 (Raj).

When defence version that deceased was dead drunk is supported by medical evidence which is reliable and contradicts ocular account of eye-witnesses, accused was acquitted. Dharmendar v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 CC Cases 177 (P & H).

When evidence of eye witnesses was doubtful and FIR was lodged after considerable delay with no satisfactory explanation, conviction of accused was set aside. Mela Singh v. State of Punjab, 1996 Cri LJ 3695 (P&H).

Supreme Court set aside acquittal after 7 years and death sentence imposed—Death sentence commuted to imprisonment for life in view of passage of time. State of U.P. v. Abdul, 1997 (5) JT 265.

81. Duty of Judge not passing sentence of death.—If a trial Judge does not think it proper to pass a sentence of death upon the accused who is convicted under Section 302, IPC, he to bound to record reasons why a sentence of death was not passed upon him, that is to say, he must find that there are extenuating circumstances and not merely an absence of aggravating circumstances. 154 Ind Cas 691 : 36 Cr LJ 529 : 1935 OWN 321 : 1935 Cr C 547 : 1935 Oudh 265. It is the duty of the judge to consider first of all on a charge under this section whether the case is not murder as defined in Section 300, and if he considers that it does not fall within the definition to give his reasons. AIR 1942 Oudh 368 : 43 Cr LJ 634 ; AIR 1938 Sind 63 : 39 Cr LJ 460.

Rarest of rare. The accused persons were not criminals. They were friends. The deceased was said to have been selected because his father was rich. The motive, if any, was to collect some money. They were not professional killers. They have no criminal history. All were unemployed and were searching for jobs.

Further if age of the accused was a relevant factor for the High Court for not imposing death penalty on accused Nos. 2 and 3, the same standard should have been applied to the case of the appellant also who was only two years older and still a young man in age. Accused Nos. 2 and 3 were as much a part of the crime as the appellant. Though it is true, that it was he who allegedly proposed the idea of kidnapping, but at the same time it must not be forgotten that the said plan was only executed when all the persons involved gave their consent thereto.

It must be noted that the discretion given to the Court in such cases assumes onerous importance and its exercise becomes extremely difficult because of the irrevocable character of death penalty. One of the principles which we think is clear is that the case is such where two views ordinarily could be taken, imposition of death sentence would not be appropriate, but where there is no other option and it is shown that reformation is not possible, death sentence may be imposed.

Sec. 354(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure requires that when the conviction is for an offence punishable with death or in the alternative with imprisonment for life or imprisonment for a term of years, the judgment shall state the reasons for the sentence awarded, and in the case of sentence of death, the special reasons thereof.

We do not think that the reasons assigned by the Courts below disclose any special reason to uphold the death penalty. The discretion granted to the Courts must be exercised very cautiously especially because of the irrevocable character to death penalty. Requirements of law to assign special reasons should not be construed to be an empty formality.

We have previously noted that the judicial principles for imposition of death penalty are far from being uniform. Without going into the merits and demerits of such discretion and subjectivity, we must nevertheless reiterate the basic principle, stated repeatedly by this Court, that life imprisonment is the rule and death penalty an exception. Each case must, therefore, be analyzed and the appropriateness of punishment determined on a case-by-case basis with death sentence not to be awarded save in the 'rarest of rare' case where reform is not possible. Keeping in mind at least this principle we do not think that any of the factors in the present case discussed above warrants the award of the death penalty. There are no special reasons to record the death penalty and the mitigating factors in the present case, discussed previously, are, in our opinion, sufficient to place it out of the "rarest of rare" category.

For the reasons aforementioned, we are of the opinion that this is not a case where death penalty should be imposed. The appellant, therefore, instead of being awarded death penalty, is sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life. Santosh Kumar Satishbhushan Bariyar vs. State of Maharashtra, 2009 (6) SCC 498 : 2009 (7) JT 248 : 2009 (9) SCR 90 : 2009 (7) Scale 341 : 2009 (4) Supreme 235 : 2009 (5) SLT 166.

Death sentence—Imposition—Considerations.—In a death sentence matter, it is not only the nature of the crime but the background of the criminal, his psychology, his social conditions and his mindset for committing the offence are also relevant. See also Ravji alias Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, [1996 (2) SCC 175 : AIR 1996 SCW 132], this Court held as under:

> "...The crimes had been committed with utmost cruelty and brutality without any provocation, in a calculated manner. It is the nature and gravity of the crime but not the criminal, which are germane for consideration of appropriate punishment in a criminal trial. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should "respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal"...."

Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari & Anr vs State of Maharashtra, 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT 1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC).

Both the sides were armed with deadly weapons, the case is not worth consideration, for award of a sentence graver than the life imprisonment, that is to say the death penalty. Rahul Singh vs. State of H.P., 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3117 (HP).

Imposition of death sentence—Absence of guidelines in IPC.—In absence of guidelines laid down in IPC, generally judicial discretion of Court is guided by principle that punishment should be commensurate with gravity of offence having regard to aggravating and mitigating circumstances vis-a-vis an accused in each case. In such situation, obligation of Court in making choice of death sentence for person who is found guilty of murder becomes more onerous indeed. State of Punjab vs. Manjit Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2888 : 2009(8) Scale 622 : 2009(8) JT 482. : 2009(5) SLT 480.

Imposition of Death sentence—Social issues—Multiple murders, outcome of inter-caste marriage.—Sushma was the younger sister of this accused and it is a common experience that when the younger sister commits something unusual and in this case it was an inter-caste, inter-community marriage out of the secret love affair, then in the society it is the elder brother who justifiably or otherwise is held responsible for not stopping such affair. It is held as the family defeat. At times, he has to suffer taunts and snide remarks even from the persons who really have no business to poke their nose into the affairs of the family. This was further aggravated because of the so-called higher status of a Brahmin family on the part of Dilip and so-called non-Brahmin status of Prabhu. It has come on record that Sushma was moved to Andheri at the house of Shashidharan and this ought to have added as a spark which resulted in tornado. Dilip undoubtedly was a young person not even having crossed his 25 years of life and not having any criminal antecedent. If he became the victim of his wrong but genuine caste considerations, it would not justify the death sentence. The murders were the outcome of social issue like a marriage with a person of so-called lower caste. However, a time has come when we have to consider these social issues as relevant, while considering the death sentence in the circumstances as these. The caste is a concept which grips a person before his birth and does not leave him even after his death. The vicious grip of the caste, community, religion, though totally unjustified, is a stark reality. The psyche of the offender in the background of a social issue like an inter-caste-community marriage, though wholly unjustified would have to be considered in the peculiar circumstances of this case.

No doubt, the murder was brutal. However, it has been pointed out that this was not a diabolic murder nor had the murderers acted in depravity of their minds by disfiguring the bodies. The incident must have taken place barely within 10-15 minutes when they came, assaulted the family members and left. True it is that the two ladies who were assaulted were helpless and so were Krishnan and Prabhu. But when we weigh all the circumstances, particularly, about the mindset of Dilip, the cruel acts on the part of the accused would not justify the death sentence. The disturbed mental feeling or the constant feeling of injustice has been considered by this Court as a mitigating circumstance in Om Prakash v. State of Haryana, 1999 (3) SCC 19, where the accused had committed the murder of seven persons. That is also an indicator to the fact that mere number of persons killed is not by itself a circumstance justifying the death sentence. In a death sentence matter, it is not only the nature of the crime but the background of the criminal, his psychology, his social conditions and his mindset for committing the offence are also relevant. See also Ravji alias Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 (2) SCC 175.

Once this Apex Court decide not to award the death sentence to accused No. 1. Dilip, the accused No. 3, Manoj also deserves not to be given death sentence. Even he is a person without any criminal antecedents and he appears to have joined the company of Dilip only out of his commitment as he was shown to be a resident of the same house. We, therefore, do not think that even he deserves death penalty. Accused No. 2. Sunil has comparatively a lesser role. Admittedly, he has not assaulted Krishnan or Prabhu, to begin with. Who has assaulted Prabhu and Abhayraj is still not clear, as it could also be that in the assaults the leading role could have been taken by the unknown accused. In that view, he also does not deserve the death sentence. The question is then how are these accused persons to be dealt with. Ordinarily, they would be liable to be awarded the life imprisonment. Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari & Anr. vs State of Maharashtra, 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT 1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC).

Imposition of Death sentence—When permissible?.—It needs to be reiterated that the choice of the death sentence has to be made only in the rarest of the rare cases and that where culpability of the accused has assumed depravity or where the accused is found to be an ardent criminal and menace to the society and; where the crime is committed in an organized manner and is gruesome, cold-blooded, heinous and atrocious; where innocent and unarmed persons are attacked and murdered without any provocation. State of Punjab vs. Manjit Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2888 : 2009 (8) JT 482 : 2009 (8) Scale 622 : 2009 (9) SCR 864 : 2009 (5) SLT 480.

Death sentence—Many persons murdered not by itself sufficient to justify death sentence.—When we weigh all the circumstances, particularly, about the mindset of Dilip, the cruel acts on the part of the accused would not justify the death sentence. The disturbed mental feeling or the constant feeling of injustice has been considered by this Court as a mitigating circumstance in Om Prakash v. State of Haryana. [1999 (3) SCC 19] where the accused had committed the murder of seven persons. That is also an indicator to the fact that mere number of persons killed is not by itself a circumstance justifying the death sentence. In fact in one other case reported as Ram Pal v. State of U.P. 2003 (7) SCC 141, total 21 persons were killed as the accused trapped them in a house and burnt the house. Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari & Anr vs State of Maharashtra. 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT 1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC).

Death sentence—Number of deaths—Not determinative factor for awarding death sentence.—So far State's appeal as regards sentence is concerned, it is to be noted that number of deaths in a case would not be the determinative factor for awarding the death sentence. Even in the case of single victim death sentence can be awarded taking into consideration the circumstances of the case. In the instant case looking to the background facts it cannot be said that the High Court by altering the sentence from death to life has acted inappropriately. Aqeel Ahmad v. State of U. P., AIR 2009 SC 1271 : 2008 (17) SCR 1330 (SC) : 2009 (1) JT 136 (SC) : 2008 (16) Scale 251 (SC) : 2009 (2) SLT 11 (SC).

Death sentence—Rarest of rare cases.—Extreme poverty had driven the appellant to commit the gruesome murder of three of his very near and dear family members - his wife, minor son and daughter.

There is nothing on record to show that appellant is a habitual offender. He appears to be a peace loving, law abiding citizen but as he was poverty stricken, he thought in his wisdom to completely eliminate his family so that all problems would come to an end. Precisely, this appears to be the reason for him to consume some poisonous substances, after committing the offence of murder. No witness has complained about his bad or intolerable behaviour in the past. Many people had visited his house after the incident is indicative of the fact that he had cordial relations with all. He is now about 35 years of age and there appear to be fairly good chances of the appellant getting reformed and becoming a good citizen.

Thus, looking to the matter from all angles and after giving our serious consideration to the whole matter, we are of the opinion that it is not a fit case where it would fall within the category of "rarest of rare case" and, therefore, death sentence as awarded to him by learned trial Judge and confirmed by High Court deserves to be set aside and quashed and is accordingly done so by us instead he is held guilty of commission of offence under Sec. 302 of the IPC on three counts and is awarded life imprisonment for the same. Sushil Kumar vs. State of Punjab, AIR 2010 SC 832.

82. Evidence and proof.—The fact of murder was admitted of no doubt. The main evidence for the prosecution and the sole evidence connecting the accused with the murder was that of two brothers whose evidence was uncorroborated in material particulars and unreliable. The villagers were well aware of the identity of the murderers, but whether it was because the real murderers were public favourites or the deceased was unpopular no evidence was forthcoming. AIR 1929 Pat 527 : 1929 Cr C 287. Even in the absence of medical evidence a conclusion that a person was poisoned could be a good conclusion. When the other evidence read with the medical evidence points to such a conclusion it is necessary to consider the question of motive. 6 OWN 681 : 119 Ind Cas 870 : 30 Cr LJ 1118 : AIR 1929 Oudh 516. Where the accused were proved to have removed to corpse partly with the intention of shielding themselves and partly with the intention of screening the offenders and there was no definite evidence to the effect that they were present at or bad taken part in murder, held that they could only be convicted under Section 201. IPC. 6 OWN 1017. Where the accused were seen in number and the assessors were of opinion that some of them were not guilty while others were held to be guilty although the evidence against them was nearly the same and it appeared that the evidence was most unsatisfactory and the truth had been kept back. Held, that under those circumstances it was not proper to convict some of the accused under Section 302, IPC. 30 PLR 536. The evidence against the accused who was charged with murder was as follows :—It was proved that the accused had conceived an enmity against the deceased. It was further proved that the accused was seen by two witnesses, on the night of the alleged murder digging in the rectangle of the field where the body of the deceased was subsequently discovered. To those witnesses the accused explained that he was digging out the stump of a tree. It was also proved that the accused gave false information when there was a search for the deceased. And it was further proved that there was human blood upon the loin cloth belonging to the accused, although it had apparently been washed. Held, that on these evidence the accused can be well convicted under Section 302, IPC. 64 IA 134 : 18 Lah 371 : 168 Ind Cas 432 : 41 CWN 805 : 1937 OWN 540 : 39, PLR 426 : 38 Cr LJ 573 : 1937 MWN 633 : 1937 OLR 297 : 46 LW 33 : 1937 ALR 401 : 1937 PWN 503 : 31 SLR 300 : 39 Bom LR

960 : AIR 1937 PC 179 : (1937) 2 MLJ 684 PC. Where the evidence for prosecution points affirmatively no further than man slaughter, the law would not enlarge the proof and transform the case into one presumptively of murder. 163 Ind Cas 681 : 9 RPC 51 : 44 LW 253 : 1936 ALJ 869 : 40 CWN 1164 : 37 Cr LJ 914 : 1936 Cr C 757 : 1936 MWN 889 : 38 Bom LR 1101 : A1R 1936 PC 242. Where there is no evidences to show that the accused caused the particular injuries, out of the several injuries caused to the deceased which were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, the accused is not guilty of murder but only of causing grievous hurt. 164 Ind Cas 967 : 37 Cr LJ 1022 : 9 RR 151 : 1936 Cr C 854 : AIR 1936 Rang 444. Where the accused was mentioned in the first report and it is proved that he had some motive for attacking the deceased and that he caused the fatal injuries, he can properly be convicted of an offence punishable under Section 302, IPC. 164 Ind Cas 154 : 37 Cr LJ 932 : 1936 OWN 603. Under Section 114 of the Evidence Act, the Court is entitled, if it appears reasonable in all the circumstances of the case, to draw an inference that an accused person committed a murder or took part in its commission, from the facts that he is found in possession of property proved to have been in the possession of the murdered person at the time of the murder. AIR 1949 Nag 277 : ILR 1949 Nag 200 : 50 Cr LJ 713. The burden is on the prosecution to establish that the act alleged to constitute murder was really the act of a person other than the deceased. AIR 1940 Mad 1 : 41 Cr LJ 269. When the conviction is based on circumstantial evidence, it must point conclusively to the guilt of the accused, and must practically exclude the possibility of murder having been committed by any other person. 40 Cr LJ 764 : 14 Luck 635 ; AIR 1938 Mad 226 : 40 Cr LJ 596. Solitary evidence of a servant coupled with the ill-feeling between the accused and the deceased is not sufficient for conviction. AIR 1938 Cal 220 : 39 Cr LJ 541. Conviction cannot be based on the evidence of a child. AIR 1938 Sind 97 : 39 Cr LJ 618. There is no presumption of law that a ligature strangulation may or must be presumed to be homicidal and not suicidal, 41 Cr LJ 389 : AIR 1940 Mad 1. No conviction can be based on the conduct of the accused. Ibid. The decision as to resolution to kill more often rest on legitimate inferences from the proved circumstances and the conduct of the accused. AIR 1944 PC 42 : 46 Cr LJ 394. The evidence that the accused was seen in the company of the deceased prior to murder is not sufficient to establish the charge of murder against him. AIR 1944 Cal 249 : 46 Cr LJ 131. Production of ornaments of the deceased, shortly after murder, is not sufficient to convict him under this section. AIR 1943 Bom 458 : 45 Cr LJ 221 ; see also AIR 1944 Mad 482 : 46 Cr LJ 227 ; AIR 1944 Lah 206 : 45 Cr LJ 660 : AIR 1942 Lah 271 : 44 Cr LJ 77 ; but see AIR 1942 Mad 69 : ILR 1942 Mad 148 : 44 Cr LJ 299. Conviction is not proper on the evidence of relations of the deceased alone, where there is inimical feelings between the party of the accused ~~and~~ that of the deceased. AIR 1942 Pesh 29 : 42 Cr LJ 498. Where the guilt of the accused has been proved beyond reasonable doubt by circumstantial evidence he can be convicted under this section. AIR 1941 Mad 120 : ILR 1941 Mad 340 : 42 Cr LJ 770 : see AIR 1942 Pesh 29 (2) : 43 Cr LJ 498 ; AIR 1942 Oudh 192 : 43 Cr LJ 243.

In the instant case, it was held that the evidence was liable to rejected as unreliable, first because of non-explanation of injuries on the person of the accused, secondly, because it was extremely partisan in character, thirdly because it was full of improbabilities, inconsistencies, contradictory and improvements on material particulars and lastly because it was sought to be supported by contrived and artificial discoveries. Parshuram Bhiva Patel v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 3627 (Bom) : 2006(1) Bom CR (Cri) 112 : 2005(4) Bom LR 151.

The solitary eye-witness stated that he had seen accused inflicting knife injuries on deceased and drowned him in riverlet by pressing his neck in water. His conduct in neither raising alarm to attract attention of inhabitants of nearby houses nor telling about the incident to anybody at home was highly unnatural and abnormal. Medical evidence also did not support the version. It was held that the evidence of solitary eye-witness was not trustworthy and reliable and, therefore, conviction on the basis of it was liable to be set aside. Guman Singh v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 4284 (MP) : 2005(4) MPHT 329.

It is not incumbent upon the prosecution to produce all the persons who happened to have gathered at the scene of murder on hearing the out cries. The production of two or three of the respectable and leading members of the place would be sufficient. But mere fact that there were some litigation between the witness and the accused does not reduce the credibility of the witness. Enmity is a double-edged weapon and what would be a reason for the murder might well be a reason for fabrication of a false case. 10 Lah LJ 229 : 112 Ind Cas 215 : 29 Cr LJ 999. Where the accused was proved to have had knowledge of the murder and he also produced certain ornaments belonging to the deceased and a confession of guilt made by the accused to the lumbardar on his being guaranteed immunity was also relied on. Held, that the evidence was sufficient to support a conviction under Section 201, and not under Section 302, IPC. 111 Ind Cas 449 : 29 Cr LJ 865 : 29 PLR 486.

The trial of an accused person does not necessarily and, if he pleads guilty but may and should be taken in cases of murder as if the plea had been one of not guilty and case decided upon the whole of the evidence including the accused's plea. It is not in accordance with the usual practice to accept a plea of guilty in a case when the natural consequence would be a sentence of death. AIR 1928 Cal 775. In the absence of any notice an accused cannot be convicted merely on his own uncorroborated confession, which he retracted at the first opportunity alleging that the confession was put into his mouth by the police who tortured him in order to include him to turn an approver 104 Ind Cas 247 : 28 Cr LJ 807 : AIR 1927 Lah 682. The fact that the accused was one of the two persons with whom the deceased was last seen alive, and the fact that he pointed out the spot where the dead body was ultimately found, are not sufficient to draw the inference that the accused was none of the actual murderers. No doubt grave suspicion attaches to him in this connection, but grave suspicion is not sufficient. 103 Ind Cas 97 : 28 Cr LJ 641 : AIR 1927 Lah 541. In a case of murder by person, mere motive of accused to cause death, of deceased, without dispense with proof. 134 Ind Cas 357 : 1932 Cr C 664 : 34 Cr LJ 754 : AIR 1944 All 294. Death must be proved to be due to arsenic poisoning administered by accused. Evidence of post mortem doctor that from appearance of stomach and intestines he was of opinion that death was due to arsenia poison is sufficient. AIR 1933 All 847; see also 142 Ind Cas 714 : 16 NLJ 35 : 1933 Cr C 1261 : 34 Cr LJ 398; AIR 1933 Nag 303. Withholding available evidence by prosecution, though likely to be treated as flaw in evidence, still each case depends upon its facts. 137 Ind Cas 691 : 33 Cr LJ 497 : 33 PLR 580 : 1932 Cr C 664 : AIR 1932 Lah 500.

Where the accused was charged of murder and convicted on evidence consisting mainly of statements made by witness suggesting that his demeanour was some what too claim when attention was drawn to the fact that his hut of grass. The scene of the occurrence was burning Held, in appeal that the trial judge has attached disproportionate weight to the circumstantial evidence and the conviction must be set aside as the offence had not been adequately proved. 28 PLR 27 : 99 Ind Cas 246 : 8 Lah LJ 559 : 28 Cr LJ 116 : A1R 1927 Lah 51, it is unsafe to convict a man for murder merely because a bloody axe is found in his house, when the evidence is that other people have access to the house 91 Ind Cas 1002 : 27 Cr LJ 186 : 9 NLJ 80 : AIR 1929 Nag 229. The fundamental rule by which the effect of circumstantial evidence is to be estimated is well established. In order to justify the inference of guilt the inculpatory facts must be incompatible with the innocence of the accused, and incapable of explanation upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt. 96 Ind Cas 849 : 27 Cr LJ 993. The rule as to circumstantial evidence is that it must be consistent and consistent only with the guilt of the accused if the evidence is consistent with any other rational explanation, then there is an element of doubt of which the accused must be given the benefit, AIR 1941 Bom 139 : 42 Cr LJ 697 : ILR 1941 Bom. 215 ; see also AIR 1941 Mad 1 : 42 Cr LJ 677 : AIR 1941 Cal 106 : ILR (1940) 2 Cal 258 : 42 Cr LJ 385 AIR 1939 Cal 539 : 40 Cr LJ 792 ; AIR 1941 Mad 416 : 42 Cr LJ 466 : ILR 1940 Mad, 1028 ; AIR 1941 Mad. 208 : 42 Cr LJ 654 ; AIR 1929 Lah 194 : 40 Cr LJ 697 : 1928 MWN 24 ; AIR 1928 Nag 52 : 29 Cr LJ 105 ; AIR 1927 Lah 127 : 28 Cr LJ 472 : 38 Cr LJ 472 : A1R 1927 Rang 8.

When a Court is not convinced that a man is dead it is impossible to convict any one of his murder. Where, however, the Court is convinced that the man was dead. death sentence may be upheld even if the body has not been found. To sustain a conviction for murder the Court must be satisfied that murder had been committed and then that the accused had committed it. 93 Ind Cas 252 : 27 Cr LJ 460 : AIR 1926 Oudh 224 ; AIR 1925 Lah 805. Where a charge is for murder of theft or both is not legitimate to presume the accused guilty of the more serious offence of murder. merely because the accused is unable or unwilling to explain the possession of stolen property. 93 Ind Cas 42 : 27 Cr LJ 294 : AIR 1925 Mad, 628. If one is satisfied that murder was committed the appropriate punishment should follow. The discovery of the body is not a material circumstance. It is murder which is the thing to be regarded, that is to say. the killing of a human being by one or more human beings without just cause, or excuse. The absence of the body is a circumstance which makes it necessary to proceed with the greatest care and caution, and one must never confirm a sentence of death, unless one feels completely satisfied about it. If there is such an element of doubt as to render a judge in the least degree uneasy. The proper course is not to change the nature of sentence from death to transportation of life, but to acquit the man altogether. 23 ALJ 821 : 89 Ind Cas 905 : 26 Cr LJ 1351 : AIR 1925 All 627 (FB). Where the Civil Surgeon and the Sub-Assistant Surgeon were unable to say what poision was actually administered and there was no evidence on the record to show that poison had been administered. Held, the evidence on the record was quite insufficient to establish the charge. 85 Ind Cas 817 : 26 Cr LJ 593 : AIR 1925 Lah 325. The mere fact that an accused person appears to have known where the corpse was buried does not prove that he was murderer. 89 Ind Cas 601 : 26 Cr LJ 1429. Casual witness deposing that accused informed his intention of murder should not be believed. 122 Ind Cas 587 : 31 Cr LJ 438 : 1931 Cr C 457 : AIR 1931 Pat 169. Weak evidence does not justify transportation for life but acquittal. 142 Ind Cas 841 : 13 PLT 702 : 11 Pat 807 : 1933 Cr C 253 : 34 Cr LJ 427 : AIR 1933 Pat 100 ; see also AIR 1933 Pat 180 : 34 Cr LJ 395 : 1933 Cr C 511 : 142 Ind Cas 613 : 14 PLT 96 ; AIR 1931 Pat 169 : 31 Cr LJ 438 : 122 Ind Cas 587. Retracted confession alone of accused is not sufficient to justify conviction of co-accused. AIR 1932 Oudh 321 : 33 Cr LJ 502 : 9 OWN 327 : 137 Ind Cas 665. To justify conviction on approver's evidence it is sufficient if corroboration is merely circumstantial evidence of accused's connection with crime. AIR 1932 Lah 621 : 33 Cr LJ 916. Conviction is not proper on dying declaration of deceased and doubtful support given to it by incredible witness. AIR 1957 Rang 451 ; AIR 1940 Pesh 40 : 42 Cr LJ 254. Merely delay in making the report is not sufficient to make a case of murder doubtful, when there are eye-witness whose statements are not vitiated by material contradiction, and improbabilities when sufficient motive has been established and when the accused has absconded immediately after the occurrence for about three years. 162 Ind Cas 500 : 37 Cr LJ 619 : 1956 Cr C 514 : AIR 1956 Pesh 106.

In a case of murder it is unsafe to rely upon the evidence of witness, who have resiled from their previous statement. If a Judge wants to rely upon the testimony of such witness the whole of the statement should be filed and not merely certain portions. The Court must be able to come to a conclusion after writing the evidence, 22 LW 405 : AIR 1925 Mad 879. Where a person pleads guilty to a charge of murder, but adds he did it out of jealousy, a conviction should take place only after hearing all the evidence, as some ground may be seen for applying Section 204, IPC, 22 ALJ 587 : 89 Ind Cas 260 : 26 Cr LJ 1516 : AIR 1925 All 647. Where the confession does not amount to an admission of murder, conviction under this section on such confession is not proper, AIR 1941 Mad 258 : 42 Cr LJ 654. Absence of marks of injury on the persons of the accused and his party shows that they were the aggressors. AIR 1942 Pesh 29 : 45 Cr LJ 491. As regards duty of the Judge as to expert evidence of foot-print, vide AIR 1941 Mad 88 : 42 Cr LJ 416. As regards evidence that the murdered child was born alive, vide AIR 1940 Mad 295 : 51 Cr LJ 569. Where the medical evidence showed that the body of the deceased bore two wounds of a penetrating nature one of which completely perforated the heart and the other penetrating the abdomen on the left side had divided the intestines. Held, it must be deemed that the intention of the accused was if not to cause death at least to cause such bodily injury as was likely to cause death. 7 Lah LJ 582 : 26 PLR 829. A conviction based on purely circumstantial evidence must be treated with the greatest caution and subjected to the closest scrutiny. The existence of the motive, an opportunity and the exclusion of any alternative motive could not be sufficient to support a conviction without at least some other evidence. In such cases a sentence which is irrevocable should not be passed, 76 Ind Cas 97 : 25 Cr LJ 97. The mere fact that the appellant left his house with a weapon in his hand after the deceased had left it on the night of the murder is not a very material point in connecting him with murder. AIR 1929 Lah 539. Where the prosecution theory in a murder case was presumably built on the opinion first expressed by an expert witness (Civil Surgeon) when the accused had no proper opportunity to cross-examine but who subsequently modified his opinion, the benefit of doubt was given to the accused, AIR 1923 Lah 189. Where the body though decomposed was identified by the help of clothes, height and age of the deceased and accused made confessions before witness and Tahsildar before whom she was produced for remand and who though had not recorded the confession under Section 164, Cr PC. deposed to it, held, that the appellant was guilty of the offence under Section 302 that there was no reason to doubt the testimony of the disinterested witness and the unanimous verdict of the assessors. AIR 1923 Lah 40.

Even if it be held satisfactorily proved that accused did give information which led to the recovery of the dead-body, that fact alone would not be sufficient to convict him with the murder, because a person may very well know where the body of murdered man has been buried without himself having joined in committing the murder 75 Ind Cas 693 : AIR 1923 Lah 415. Where the Civil Surgeon and the Sub-Assistant Surgeon .were unable to say what poison was actually administered and there was no evidence on the record to show that poison had been administered, held the evidence on the record was quite insufficient to establish the charge 1923 Lah 225. Where the body of a dead person is not clearly indentified to be that of the particular deceased a conviction cannot be based on the remaining evidence. 5 Lah LJ 417. Where a person sees a murder committed and gives no information thereof, his evidence is little better than that of an accomplice, 5 Lah LJ 322 : 1925 Lah 91. Accompanying the murderers with the deceased and returning the next day without the deceased and subsequent disappearance of accused were held to be not sufficient to prove accused's complicity in the crime of murder. AIR 1922 Lah 173. Where there is no sufficient corroboration of the approver's story the accused cannot be convicted. AIR 1922 Lah 311. Where the accused was convicted on the uncorroborated evidence of an interested witness who was a collateral though not a relative of the deceased, whose family had enmity with the accused. Held. it would not be safe to sustain the conviction upon the evidence of such a solitary witness. AIR 1922 Lah 76. It is safer to follow the established rule that "the fouler the crime was, the clearer and the plainer the proof ought to be". I Pat LT 684. In a case in which murder and robbery form part of one transaction, the recent and unexplained possession of the stolen property by the accused is not only presumptive evidence against him on the charge of robbery but it is also evidence against him on the charge of murder. 53 Ind Cas 841 : 20 Cr LJ 753. Before a plea of guilty is accepted in a case in which the accused is charged with murder the record should clearly show that the accused understood and admitted such facts as would bring the offence within the definition of murder and that he does not plead any of the Exceptions set out in the Penal Code. 20 Gr UJ 540 : 51 Ind Cas. 780 : 1919 UBR 137. The mere fact that an accused person is able successfully to point out the corpus delicti or the plunder or so forth is no proof that he was the murderer. But when an accused person is able successfully to point out not one spot but several there is a presumption that he had something to do with murder. 18 PR 1917 Cr.

Prosecution alleged the motive on the part of respondent to commit the crime as based on demands of dowry which had remained unfulfilled. This version appears to be an afterthought. It found no mention whatsoever in the first complaint lodged by father of deceased at the police station. Other evidence regarding demand of dowry etc is also scanty and does not inspire confidence. The first post-mortem report had disclosed that the cause of death was asphyxia as a result of throttling. In his evidence however, it was admitted that there was no mark of ligature or any other external injury or mark present on the neck or any other part of the body. In the second post-mortem examination conducted by the Board, it was also noticed that there was no mark or external injury present on the dead body and in the opinion of the board the cause of death was given to be asphyxia as a result of aluminum phospide poisoning and strangulation. The prosecution lead no evidence to establish that aluminum phosphide poison, which can led to fatal consequences, had ever been procured by the respondent or was in his possession or was even administered by him even if it may be presumed that he had an opportunity to administer the same, had he been in possession of it. The prosecution apparently gave up its case of death by poison and did not pursue it for reasons best known to it. It, instead, rested its case on death being caused by asphyxia due to strangulation. The absence of any external injury or marks of ligature creates a doubt about the correctness of the theory of death by strangulation. Some of the symptoms noticed by the doctors are common both if death is caused due to asphyxia caused by poisoning as well as asphyxia caused due to strangulation. There is, thus, a considerable doubt about the cause of death of the deceased. The respondent in his statement under section 313, Cr.P.C. categorically stated that the dead body of the deceased was inside the house and was not lying in front of the house. The site plan also showed that the dead body was found to be inside the house. These factors also created a doubt about the truthfulness of the prosecution case as also about the fairness of the investigating agency. Acquittal of accused was upheld. State of Haryana v. Ashok Kumar 2001 CriLJ 3298 : 2001 (2) East Cri C 67 : 2001 (2) SLT 469 : 2001 (42) ACC 89 : 2001 (2) A Cr R 1189 : 2001 (3) Crimes 179 : 2001 (2) BLJR 1588.

In a case of murder in which there is no direct evidence against the prisoner but only the kind of evidence that is called circumstantial, the jury have a two-fold task. The jury must first make up their minds what portions of the circumstantial evidence have been established and then when they have got that clear, they must ask themselves. "Is this sufficient proof? Do the facts proved exclude the possibility that the deed was done by some other persons ?" The jury ought not to convict if they merely think that the accused's guilt is probable. If the jury have doubts as to his guilt, he should have the benefit of the same, 7 PR 1917 Cr. Finding a number of small spots of human blood on a dhoti and longyi of accused is of very slight probative value. 65 Ind Cas 758 : 9 RR 218 : 1936 Cr C 968 AIR 1936 Rang 468. A person professing to be an eye witness is not to be believed when he has denied having recognised the culprit at the time of committing the crime, 22 PWR 1916 Cr : 17 Cr LJ 279 : 34 Ind Cas 999. A tribunal in a case of murder has to be satisfied not of the probability but of certainly beyond all reasonable doubt, that is to say doubt which would operate on the mind of a reasonable man, that accused is guilty. 17 Cr LJ 102 : 32 Ind Cas 828. It is not an invariable rule that in all cases the High Court should be convinced that there is very satisfactory proof for motive before upholding a conviction for murder passed by a Sessions Judge. 17 Cr LJ 389 : 35 Ind Cas 81.

When an accused person charged with murder is able successfully to point out not one but several spots concerned in the commission of the offence there is a presumption that he had something to do with the murder. 36 Ind Cas 838. The case against a prisoner, accused of murder of his wife, rested entirely upon the fact that he slept with his wife alone on the night of the occurrence, and in the morning she was found dead, her body showing that death was caused by strangulation. One of the witnesses deposed that the witness was, and on the previous afternoon he was seen by the other wife of the accused, who told her husband of it. This was alleged to be the cause of the murder. But the evidence was not corroborated, held, that although the case was one of grave suspicion, yet it was not one upon which the Court would be justified in convicting the accused. 29 Cal 483 : 6 CWN 596. Where the only evidence, against the accused, person is a bundle of cloth, which is proved and which is identified as having been stolen from a person proved to have been murdered, and there is no admissible evidence against him, upon the record to connect him more directly with the murder it is impossible to do more than convict him under. Section 411. Penal Code. 220 PLR 1913 : 19 Ind Cas 707 : 13 PWR 1913 Cr : 14 Cr LJ 275.

The fact that an accused person has been found with a gun in his hand immediately after a gun was fired and a man was killed on the spot from which the gun was fired may be strong circumstantial evidence against the accused, but it is an error of law to hold that the burden of proving innocence lies upon the accused under such circumstances. If there are two persons who answer the above descriptions, the circumstantial evidence loses its weight very substantially. Where there is no evidence which of them fired the fatal shot, and when there is no finding that they had a common intention and acted in concert and that the gun was fired in furtherance of their common intention, the legal inference from these findings must be neither of them is guilty of murder. 11 CWN 1085 : 6 Cr LJ 304. The accused set out one afternoon with his wife who had been unfaithful to him, from one village to another village. The woman was not subsequently seen alive by any one. The woman did not return to the village nor was she seen with the accused when he visited a village near about the same night or any of the places which he later on visited. The body of the woman was discovered between the two villages. The accused did not say a word about his wife from that day till his arrest. Held, under the circumstances of the case that there was strong circumstantial evidence that he was responsible for the death of his wife. 1936 Cr C 651 : AIR 1936 Lah 580. The fact that the accused assisted in burying the body of the murdered man and gave no explanation of this damning fact cannot, of course, prove the issue of murder, but the fact that a criminal does not explain very suspicious circumstances against him is certainly circumstantial evidence which may be taken into consideration against him. 17 Lah 547 : 38 PLR 1018.

Where the evidence against an accused person convicted of murder of a woman was that of a girl of fifteen and of a boy of thirteen years, who deposed to have seen the accused thrown the deceased down more than once, and who did not. for a long time after the event, say a word about it to any body to whom they would have naturally reported it, had it been true, held, acquitting the accused, that the evidence was most improbable and was not free from reasonable suspicion. 2 MLT 496 : 7 Cr LJ 216. To establish a charge of aiding and abetting another in murdering a third party, it must be proved that the alleged abettor knew of the principal's intention to murder the deceased, not merely that such abettor helped the principal in what he did. 1 UBR (1902-1903), Penal Code 5. Retracted confession can be sufficiently corroborated by presumptive evidence of murder. 43 PWR 1910 Cr : 8 Ind Cas 815 : 17 PLR 1911 : 11 Cr LJ 717. A conviction on circumstantial evidence cannot be based unless and until all the inferences to be drawn from the whole history of the case point so strongly to the commission of the crime by the accused that the defence theory appears, on the face of it, impossible or highly improbable. The general rule is that, in order to justify the inference of guilt, the inculpatory facts must be incompatible with the innocence of the accused and incapable of explanation upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt. 16 FWR 1911 (Cr) : 12 Cr LJ 412 : 11 Ind Cas 596.

When the testimony of the prosecution witnesses was not only doubtful but there was no chance to consent circumstances it establish charges and the ocular evidence did not corroborate time of occurrence as then in medical evidence, the accused was held entitled to benefit of doubt. Aman Saren v. State of Jharkhand, 2006 Cr LJ (NOC) 127 (Jha).

In cases in which murder and robbery have been shown to form part of one transaction, it has been held that recent and unexplained possession of the stolen property, while it could be presumptive evidence against a prisoner on the charge of robbery would similarly be evidence against him on the charge of murder. (1911) 2 MWN 478 : 21 MLJ 1071 : 12 Cr LJ 564.

The Accused during course of alteration assaulted deceased and even gave a threat to kill him in regard to land dispute. On next day he was found lying in injured state in a ravine near a culvert of village. Evidence that accused had earlier quarreled with deceased did not inspire the confidence. Oral dying declaration made by accused to his niece did not inspire the confidence as due to grievous head injury he was unable to speak. Apart from this FIR was also filed late and this showed that the possibility could not be ruled out that accused was roped in falsely on account of mere suspicion. The conviction of accused was set aside. Chandra Mohan Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3988 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1555 : 2003(2) SCC 492 : 2003(1) JT 377 : 2003(1) Supreme 659.

In a murder case, the Session Court on available evidence convicted the accused under Section 302/34 but the High Court acquitted them as prosecution could not prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. On appeal to Supreme Court it was found that eye-witnesses had given different version of weapons used and FIR was ante-timed. It was held that acquittal of accused in circumstances was a reasonable possible view. State of UP v. Dharamraj, 2003 Cr LJ 1522 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1555 : 2003(2) SCC 492 : 2003(1) JT 377 : 2003(1) Supreme 659.

Where most of prosecution witnesses turned hostile and doctor who conducted post-mortem was not examined and chemical report of blood found on clothes seized was not produced conviction on the basis of incomplete chain of circumstantial evidence conviction was held not sustainable. State of Bihar v. Arjun Muni, 2005 (3) East Cr C 39 (Pat).

In absence of any clinching and conclusive evidence and also complete chain of circumstantial evidence against accused, conviction not sustainable. Shakil Ahmad v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 91 (All) : 2003(3) Crimes 26.

In the instant case of murder of wife the significant circumstance is the fact that the respondent had given a wrong information about the cause of death of the deceased. The medical evidence conclusively established the fact that the deceased was battered by hard and blunt object and her neck was pressed with such force that event the hyoid bone was fractured. However, the statement made by father of deceased to the Sarpanch that his son had informed him that the deceased had died after consuming pesticide, was not admissible in evidence, being hit by the rule against hearsay. It was held that the circumstance, therefore cannot, be relied upon by the prosecution to prove that the respondent had given a false explanation for the death of the deceased. State of AP v. Patnam Anandam, 2005 Cr LJ 894 : AIR 2005 SC 764 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1225 : 2005(1) Crimes 126 (SC) : 2005(1) Supreme 97 : 2005(9) SCC 237.

In a case of murder, it is very important that the body of the person murdered should be produced and fully identified. LBR (1872-1892) 325. In a case of murder the non discovery of the body of the deceased only becomes a matter of primary importance where there is no evidence showing how the body has been disposed of, 38 PLR 43. In a case of murder by opium poisoning, the prosecution evidence that the accused put some sugar into the vessel in which milk was given to the deceased and stirred the milk with his finger after putting the sugar into it, and the deceased died a few hours afterwards, is not sufficient for convicting the accused, particularly when the motive for murder is not strong and the habit of eating opium is common among the people to which the deceased belonged. 25 PWR 191 Cr : 12 Cr LJ 484 : 12 Ind Cas 92 : 241 PLR 1911. Identification, unless conclusive, cannot be made the basis of a conviction, specially when the identifiers are nervously upset and do not mention the striking features of the accused in their first information. The greatest suspicion against the accused will not suffice to convict them of a crime unless evidence establishes it beyond all doubt, 16 Cr LJ 25 : 16 Ind Cas 329. Where an accused was charged with murder and the only evidence against her was her admission that she threw the child under the impression that it was dead at the time. Held, that the admission should be taken in its entirety. Unless there is good reason for the contrary. 9 MLT 316 : 9 Ind Cas 790 : 12 Cr LJ 142 : 1911 MWN 199. Where the accused admitting that the deceased was at his house immediately before his death, declared that his respiration stopped owing to a fall from the roof and that he took the body and threw it into a tank, where it was afterwards found and he also produced the ornaments worn by the child on the morning on which he was missing. Held, that this was not sufficient to find accused guilty of murder, especially when the medical evidence showed that the deceased might have been either intentionally or accidentally strangled and that the accused could only be found guilty of an offence under Section 411. 8 CWN 22 : 1 Cr LJ 10. Where one is charged with the murder of another, three facts have to be established. First of all, that the person alleged to be murdered is dead; secondly, that he died by the means alleged on the part of the prosecution, and thirdly, that the accused intentionally took that part in causing the death which is attributed to him by the prosecution, 7 Bom LR 985 : 3 Cr LJ 85. In a trial for murder the Judge who convicts must do so on a degree of moral certainty as to the guilt of the accused, which, in his opinion, will justify him in passing the extreme sentence of the law. If he is not morally certain of the guilt of the accused so as to pass such a sentence, he is bound to acquit. 6 CPLR Cr 3. The weakness or falsity of an alibi is not sufficient ground for holding that the case for prosecution, in a charge for murder, is thereby imposed. 166 Ind Cas 605 : 9 RR 279 : 38 Cr LJ 276 : AIR 1937 Rang 10.

The accused was alleged to have committed the murder of deceased in a rented room which he had hired inspite of the fact that he was having his own house in the town. The deceased and accused together had visited the room two days prior to recovery of dead body. Thereafter accused was found missing but on being arrested helped the police in recovery of gold bangles belonging to the deceased. It was held that circumstance were sufficient to convict the accused. Rajendra Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 4344 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3196 : 2003(10) SCC 21 : 2003(4) Crimes 141 (SC) : 2003(6) Supreme 822.

The accused was alleged to have killed his wife by hitting a granite stone on her head and face. There was no eye-witness but circumstances showed that accused was inimical towards the deceased due to suspicion about her chastity. The articles recovered form the person of deceased were recognised by the accused but he could furnish no explanation for presence of human blood on them. It was held that prosecution succeeded in establishing guilt of the accused and his conviction was held proper. K. Kunhaman v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 245 (Ker) : 2003(2) Crimes 39 (Ker) : 2002(4) Cur Cri R 475.

In a Supreme Court case, the conviction of accused was upheld where the circumstances proved that the accused had killed his wife as they were not leading congenial marital life and the conduct of accused subsequent to the incident was worth nothing. Mandhari v. State of Chhattisgarh, 2002 Cr LJ 2630 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 1961 : 2002(4) SCC 308 : 2002(2) Crimes 277 (SC) : 2002(3) Supreme 447.

In a Gauhati case the deceased was killed while keeping watch on his 'Muga' crop in the field. The accused was not present at the scene of occurrence as he was watching a video show. No eye-witness was produced and possibility was not ruled out that accused had seen the dead body on return from video show and had informed the family members of the deceased. So chain of various circumstances was not complete and accused was held entitled to the benefits of doubt. Sri Kamal Bora v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3275 (Gau) : 2003(4) Crimes 118 : 2003(2) Gauhati LR 595.

The wife of deceased had extra marital relations with the accused and one day both killed the deceased. There was no eye-witness but only circumstantial evidence to support the prosecution case. The presence of accused at place of occurrence was proved but he had set up false plea of alibi. Similarly accused wife stated that her husband was killed by her mother-in-law with the help of her relatives but she never lodged a report with the police station. It was held that such false explanation could be used as additional link in chain of circumstances to prove the guilt of accused persons who were rightly convicted under Sections 302/34. Purchi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 712 (Raj) : 2003(1) WLC 609.

The suspect in crime was taken into police custody where as per evidence of another suspect deceased was brutally assaulted and next day his dead body with head injury was recovered. The accused failed to explain how they parted company of deceased and theory of escaping of deceased from custody put forward by accused was found to be totally false and was only an excuse made by accused to conceal true facts. The links between chain of circumstances proved beyond doubt and conviction of accused for offence under Sections 330, 346 and 302 with aid of Section 34 was held proper. Sahadevan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 424 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 215 : 2003(1) SCC 534 : 2003(1) Crimes 80 (SC) : 2003 SCC (Cr) 382.

In another Supreme Court case father and brother were alleged to have killed the deceased. The evidence of widow of deceased implicated all family members imputing them certain overt acts which was unbelievable and this fact alone was to cast serious doubt on reliability of her evidence. There was no strong motive to put an end to life of son/brother and vindictiveness and tendency to implicate innocent persons was apparent from the conduct of widow. The conviction of accused was set aside. State of Orissa v. Babaji Charan Mohanti, 2003 Cr LJ 3744 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3926 : 2003 SCC (10) 57 : 2003(3) Crimes 265 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 411.

Dying declaration made by deceased in a case was not found reliable as it was made before a witness who never disclosed it to any body and medical evidence was also found doubtful. None of the facts produced in the case connected the accused with the alleged crime. The conviction based on unreliable circumstantial evidence was set aside. Shyam Lal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 173 (HP). See Mahesh Chandra v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 2480 (MP).

To prove by circumstantial evidence, four things are essential : (1) that the circumstances from which the conclusion is to be drawn should be fully established ; (2) that all the facts should be consistent with the hypothesis ; (3) that the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency ; and (4) that the circumstances should, to a moral certainly, actually exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved. AWN 1881, 139 ; see also 1914 MWN 718 : 16 Cr LJ 195 : 16 Cr LJ 89 : 26 Ind Cas 1001. The Court declined to confirm a capital sentence, but passed the minor sentence in a case when the conviction rested merely on circumstantial evidence. 3 PR 1867 Cr. Where person was convicted on a charge of murder, on the evidence of a single witness, which was once before discredited, and which now remained uncorroborated, the guilt of the accused is not proved beyond reasonable doubt and he is entitled is to an acquittal. (1911) 2 MWN 6 : 12 Cr LJ 488 : 12 Ind Cas 96. Where the complaint to the police and the evidence of the accused are contradictory, the accused are entitled to benefit of doubt. (1911) 2 MWN 14 : 12 Cr LJ 497 : 12 Ind Cas 217. It is very unsafe to rely upon a witness who materially improves his former statement. 43 PWR 1914 CR. : 16 Cr LJ 75 : 26 Ind Cas 667. In certain cases of injuries-such as wounds caused by blunt instruments, resulting in death, to support a conviction for murder, it must be proved that bodily injury was intended to be inflicted and that the bodily injury intended to be inflicted was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. 1 Weir 300. In a case of murder where the evidence was most improbable and was not free from reasonable suspicion an accused should be acquitted, 2 MLT 466 : 7 Cr LJ 216. Unexplained possession of the jewellery of the murdered child, shortly after murder, taken with the direct evidence of another child of 10 years of age is good evidence of murder, 6 MLT 123 : 4 Ind Cas 1051 : 11 Cr LJ 157 ; see also 1913 MWN 145 : 18 Ind Cas 337 : 14 Cr LJ 49. Where the evidence against a person convicted of murder consists only of a statement made by a brother of the deceased that he saw him run away after the commission of the offence and where against that evidence there is a strong array of circumstantial evidence in favour of the accused, e.g., omission of his name in the first report, the missing jewels not being traced out, the accused not absconding after the alleged offence, a reasonable doubt arises the benefit of which must be given to the accused. (1911) 2 MWN 373 : 12 Ind Cas 577 : 12 Cr LJ 551- In a trial for murder the evidence of one person is sufficient for convicting the accused, if that evidence establishes that guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt 166 Ind Cas 840 : 9 RR 279 : 38 Cr LJ 299 : AIR 1937 Rang 8. But in such case where the rest of the evidence has to be rejected, it would be more prudent course to give the accused the benefit of the doubt than to convict him on a solitary statement of a singly witness, 164 Ind Cas 1656 : 37 Cr LJ 1029 : 38 PLR 274 : 1936 Cr C 769 : AIR 1936 Lah 778. Where the evidence of the eye-witnesses is unsatisfactory, the recovery of a knife stained with human blood at the instance of the accused does not strengthen the case, against him. 38 PLR 215. Where in a case of murder, the post mortem report is wholly inconsistent with the approver's evidence, the statement of the approver is to be discarded. 17 Lah 541 : 38 PLR 54. Evidence consisting of one unsatisfactory eye-witness corroborated by two equally unsatisfactory witnesses is not enough on which to base a conviction for murder. 157 Ind Cas 735 : 36 Cr LJ 1195 : 37 PLR 83 : 1935 Cr C 648 : AIR 1935 Lah 433.

In a case there was no eye-witness of the incident and the case hinged on the following circumstances: (a) lest seen; (b) on the night of incident. PW saw the accused bringing fodder on a bullock in the village; (c) on date of incident the accused was seen with an axe in his hand coming from the field of deceased; (d) motive and recovery of the corpse of the deceased or the pointing out of the accused. In respect of circumstance last seen the Court observed that the circumstance of last seen had precious little value because in the instant case the prosecution had not been able to fix as to when the murder of the deceased had taken place. In respect of circumstance (b) the Court held that this circumstance would not incriminate the accused because there was no nexus between it and the murder of the deceased. As regard circumstance (c) the Court held that the circumstances had no weightage particularly when only the skeleton of dead body was recovered. Motive was also held not proved. In view of above conviction under Section 302 was held not proper. However offence under Section No. missing was made as the dead body of deceased was recovered on pointing out of the accused from his own house. Sopan Punjaram Mule v. State of Maharashtra 2002 Cri LJ 376 (Bom) : 2002 All MR (Cri) 331.

The accused was alleged to have murdered his wife in foreign country at the night of honeymoon and dismembered and mutilated body parts were recovered from different places but major parts of body i.e. thighs were not recovered. There were irregularities in investigation, discrepancies in evidence and crime weapon was not recovered. The chain of circumstances relied upon by the prosecution was broken at various stages. It was held that irresistible conclusion as to guilt of accused could not be drawn. The fact that accused returned to his in-laws house two days after the incident would also be a pointer towards his innocence. The benefit of doubt was extended to the accused person. (Dr.) Mahendra Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1908 (Delhi) : 2003(102) DLT 592 : 2003(66) DRJ 616.

In a Supreme Court case, the accused was alleged to have killed the deceased in the greed of ornaments worn by her. The ornaments were not properly identified. Evidence relating to recovery of ornaments were not at all worth accepting. The accused alongwith deceased left to his village on 8th January and death of deceased was alleged to have taken place on 8th January but medical report stated that death had taken place between 10th and 13th January and fact which doctor considered was that in winter decomposition of body taken more time. If therefore, became clear that death had not taken place on 10th January. As per opinion of doctor the death could be earliest on 10th January and latest on 13th January. There was no material to show as to what transpired between these dates. The greed for ornament was not proved as ornaments in possession of accused could not reliably be identified. The chain of the circumstances was incomplete and accused was held entitled to the acquittal. Bharat v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 1297 : AIR 2003 SC 1433 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 738 : 2003(3) Crimes 79 (SC) : 2003(3) SCC 166.

The site plan disclosed that near the dead body was found a torn shirt pocket and two white buttons. The colour of the shirt pocket found had not been disclosed in the panchnama. It was, therefore, difficult to connect the torn shirt pocket with the shirt which was recovered at the instance of the respondent. This apart, it was found that no evidence had been adduced by the prosecution to establish that the piece of cloth found at the place of occurrence was really a part of the shirt which was recovered at the instance of the respondent. No witness had said so. Moreover, the circumstance that the pocket of the shirt worn by the accused at the time of committing the offence was found at the scene of occurrence, was not even put to the respondent in his examination under. State of AP v. Patnam Anandam, 2005 Cr LJ 894 : AIR 2005 SC 764 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1225 : 2005(2) SCC 363 : 2005(1) Supreme 211.

When an accused exculpates himself in his confession, it cannot be used as against his co-accused in an offence of murder. (1911) 2 MWN 375 : 12 Cr LJ 562. Where there is clear prima facie case of murder, the Session Judge cannot, on a plea of guilty by the accused, convict him of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, while there is no proof adduced of grave and sudden provocation. Rat Un CrC 410. In. grave cases such as murder, the record of a confession, among other records should be in plain and legible writing. Rat Un Cr C 837 : Cr Reg 50 of 1896. A confession nominally made to a third party, for instance, to a Zaildar, in the presence of the police and after the arrival of the Thanadar who at the time of the confession was sitting a few yards off, is also inadmissible in evidence under Section 25, Evidence Act. 14 PR 1911 Cr : 12 Ind Cas 973 : 12 Cr LJ 597. In this case. the accused, who were convicted of murder, were acquitted by the Chief Court on the ground that the evidence did not exclude very reasonable hypothesis but that of the guilt of the accused. 5 PR 1872 Cr. It is most unsafe to rely on circumstantial evidence where separate pieces are apparently connected and not fitting in with rational conduct of men. AIR 1931 Pat 169. Casual witness deposing that accused informed his intention of murder should not be believed. Ibid. Evidence as to motive should not be considered at first. Proper course is to examine evidence as to commission of crime first. Time of post mortem should be recorded to determine time of death. AIR 1931 Oudh 119. Mere pressing of mouth of deceased does not amount to murder when death is due to blows dealt before hand by another person. AIR 1930 All 45. Possession of stolen goods recently after murder is material evidence to support conviction. AIR 1930 Cal 379. Conviction should not be based on probabilities and suspicions. AIR 1930 Oudh 460. Where prosecution witness was found untruthful as to greater part of evidence, accused should not be convicted on the residue without corroboration. AIR 1930 Oudh 460. Where the only evidence of identification is a dying deposition and the incident took place in a moonless night, an accused should not be convicted under Section 302. AIR 1930 Oudh 60.

When men who expected a lathi fight use their lathis with the result that a man is killed it must be taken, in the absence of special circumstances, that they know that they were doing an act so imminently dangerous that it must in all probability cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death. 27 ALJ 244 : 116 Ind Cas 19 : 30 Cr LJ 559 : AIR 1929 All 160. If a person receives grievous injuries and is detained in hospital and as a result of these injuries pneumonia supervenes and the victim dies, the perpetrators of the attack upon him are guilty of murder, 110 Ind Cas 230 : 22 Cr LJ 678 : AIR 1928 Lah 851. Where a person ordered his men to beat the other party and in consequence of which order the people of that party were beaten and as a result some men were killed, that person is undoubtedly guilty of abetment of murder. AIR 1928 Cal

752 ; AIR 1928 Pat 100. If some persons assist an accused to murder a certain man, whether by themselves assaulting him or by preventing his friends from assisting him they are guilty of the same offence as is committed by the accused. whereas, if they merely go to the spot with some innocent intention, and the accused suddenly commits a murder without their assistance and possibly contrary to their wishes, they can only be guilty of the offence, if any, which they themselves commit, and they should be sentenced without regard to the fact that their companion committed murder. 104 Ind Cas 242 : 28 Cr LJ 802 : AIR 1927 Oudh 321. Where the appellant and his son attacked the deceased who succumbed to the injuries, and it was put forward in defence of the appellant that the sole common intention of the appellant was that his son was to cause grievous hurt to the deceased by the use of a spear and long bamboo, and that thereafter when the appellant's actions ceased, the son proceeded to stab deceased to death while appellant stood aside and took no further part in the matter. Held, confirming the conviction under Section 302, IPC, that the intention and actions of appellant and his son could not be divided into two parts and the appellant was rightly convicted under Section 302, read with Section 34, 27 Cr LJ 827 : 95 Ind Cas 603 : 5 Bur LJ 12. A person charged with offence of murder can be convicted under Section 201, Penal Code, without a further charge be made against him under that section, and such a conviction is warranted by Section 237, of the Criminal Procedure Code, 7 Lah 84 : 94 Ind Cas 901 : 27 Cr LJ 709 : 27 PLR 583 : AIR 1926 Lah 88. The conviction for murder was set aside and the accused was sentenced for culpable homicide at not amounting to murder by the High Court. 27 PLR 6 : 1926 Lah LJ 51. Where offences under Sections 149 and 302, I.P. Code, are committed against three different persons there should be separate heads of charge and not a single head of charge against the accused, 44 CLJ 253 : AIR 1927 Cal 17.

By standers encouraging acts of murder are guilty. 85 Ind Cas 130 : 47 All 276 : 26 Cr LJ 450. Swinging sideways blows of a lathi causing rupture of the lever resulting in death in an offence under Section 325, and not under Section 302, AIR 1925 Oudh 134. Even though there is no evidence to suggest that the accused physically assisted the actual murderer in killing the deceased, but there is evidence that the accused went all the way from their house to the scene of murder and were present at the time when and the place where the murder was committed and gave moral support to the crime which was committed in their interests, the accused are guilty under Section 302. I.P. Code. 22 ALJ 1075. In the course of a fight between the parties one of the men in the first party was shot by a gun from the second party and died. It was not found whether due to the gun going off itself during the struggle for its possession. Held, that the accused must be given the benefit of the doubt and they were not guilty of murder. 6 Lah LJ 271 : 1924 Lah 720. An accused is guilty under this section, where he caused the death of his 14 years old wife, who was physically weak and epileptic, by such beating which may not be sufficient to cause the death, of a person of sound health but which he knew would cause the death of person of such a weak state of health. AIR 1923 All 545. Where the accused joined in beating the deceased when he was on the ground with lathis and inflicted such serious injury to him that he died two days afterwards. Held, that the accused must be deemed to have known that they were causing injury likely to cause death and death having resulted they were guilty of murder. 45 All 727 : 21 ALJ 623 : 74 Ind Cas 858 : 24 Cr LJ 826 ; see also 69 Ind Cas 439 : 23 Cr LJ 711 : 1923 Lah 68 ; 73 Ind Cas 961 : 24 Cr LJ 721 : AIR 1924 Mad 41. Where a number of persons armed with deadly weapons set upon a man and killed him, their common intention can be presumed to be to cause death or such bodily injury as would make them guilty of murder. 69 Ind Cas 449 : 23 Cr LJ 721. Where the disease which actually causes death is Meningitis, Peritonitis, Titanus, Pneumonia, etc., and it is a natural and probable result of the injury, the person who inflicts the injury must be held responsible for the disease arising from the injury. AIR 1937 Rang 429. The deceased died of septic poisoning in respect of wounds inflicted by the accused some two months previously. The wounds were not inflicted on any vital part. Held, the case was on the border line and though the accused must be held to have intended to cause bodily injury which was likely to cause death, degree of probability was not high enough to justify a conviction under Section 302, IPC, but it was an offence under the first part of Section 304, 2 Bur LJ 239. Where the accused expected to find the deceased to come to a particular place to prosecute his intrigue with a girl who was betrothed with one of them and were lying in wait armed with spears and intended to murder him, if he did, the provocation is not sudden and the accused were not deprived of their power of self-control, so that the accused in such a case are guilty of murder. 35 Cr LJ 1476 : 1934 Cr C 459 : AIR 1934 Lah 239.

Where it was doubtful whether appellant poisoned her husband and from the circumstance it was equally possible that somebody else had done the foul deed, the benefit of doubt was given to the accused. AIR 1923 Lah 537. In a case where as a result merely of a boyish quarrel just a short time before the accused stabbed the deceased with a pen-knife four inches in length there can be no conviction for murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder, when the corpus delicti is not established. The offence of which the accused is guilty is voluntarily causing grievous hurt by an instrument used for cutting, 1922 Lah 26. Where one man sets up touching another with a heavy lathi, and still more when two or more do so, it is more than likely that one blow at least will land on the head of the man attacked, however careful his assailants may be to avoid the head and that he will die of a fractured skull in consequence, 64 Ind Cas 838 : 23 Cr LJ 54 ; see also 20 ALJ 900 : LR 3A 161 Cr. Where a wife who was carrying on a liaison with a stranger wanted to marry the stranger and acting on his advice put some sugar containing arsenic in the food prepared by her for her husband under the impression that the sugar would make her husband submissible to her will and the husband died of the effects of the arsenic. Held, that the wife not having been aware that she was administering a poison to her husband, was not guilty of murder. 4 Lah LJ 445. Where it is impossible from the nature of the injuries inflicted, to come to any other conclusion than that the persons who committed the crime, if they were more than one had a clear and determined intention of doing the victim to death, it is immaterial which of the participants in the crime struck the fatal blow. 6 Pat LJ 241-2 Pat LT 565 : 61 Ind Cas 785 : 22 Cr LJ 443. In a case of murder by Dhatura poisoning, it is to be determined with what object it is administered. Its use may be merely in order to facilitate the commission of robbery. It does not per se and necessarily import contemplation to the victims death as a means towards or as incidental to the main end of that offence. The point is to be decided with regard to the circumstances of each particular case and the best indication of the intention of the offender can be gathered from the amount of Dhatura which he administered. If a very large quantity of Dhatura is administered the offender shall be presumed to intend to cause death of the victim for the successful termination of his crime. 4 PLR 1920 ; 19 PR Cr 1919 : 51 Ind Cas 670 : 20 Cr. LJ 510. Where no adequate motive for murder was proved a perusal of medical evidence showed that although there were two confused wounds on the head, a bruise on the forehead and a bruise on the neck there was no fracture of any bones of the skull, nor apparently any injury caused to the brain. Nor was there any fracture of any bone of the body. From the medical evidence it appeared that it was merely intended to give deceased a serve beating. The medical witness was of opinion that death probably resulted from direct violence. Held, that the accused cannot be held to have intended to cause the death. 1 Lah LJ 247.

An appellant was found to have killed his step-father, who was an infirm old man and an invalid, and who consented to being killed, the appellant's motive being to get three innocent men hanged. Held, that the 5th Exception to Section 300, applied to the case and that he could not be convicted under Section 302, but only under Section 304, Part I, Penal Code. 45 PR 1917 Cr. Where it was found that the accused caused the death of the deceased by stabbing him with the intention of causing such injury as was likely to cause death. The most that the accused could be convicted of on such finding was culpable homicide not amounting to murder and the conviction of murder was wrong. 17 Cr LJ 544 : 36 Ind Cas 592. Where a man gives Dhatura to another in such a large quantity as to result in his death within three or four hours, although he may not have had any intention to kill, he must be held to have known that his act in giving a dangerous substance in such a quantity was likely to cause death. 6 ALJ 129 : 31 All 148 : 9 Cr LJ 383 : 1 Ind Cas 765. When their Lordships are of opinion that by some disregard of the form of legal process, or by some violation of the principles of natural justice or otherwise, some substantial and grave injustice has been done, then, whatever doubts they may have of the appellant's innocence, or whatever suspicion they may entertain of his guilt, or however great may be their reluctance to interfere with, or overrule the decisions of the Indian Courts in criminal matters. Their lordships think they are bound to advise His Majesty that the conviction should not be allowed to stand. 17 CWN 1110 PC : 14 MLT 263 : 1913 MWN 806 : 15 Bom LR 910 : 25 MLJ 518 : 14 Cr LJ 577. The appellant's cattle were doing considerable damage to the crops belonging to complainants who drove them to the cattle-pound. While they were in the way to the pound the accused came armed with lathis, to rescue the cattle. At the command given by one of them the others assaulted the deceased and beat him with the result that he died. Held, that the offence was committed in pursuance of the common object and each one of the accused was guilty of an offence under Section 302, I. P. Code, 13 ALJ 410 : 29 Ind Cas 91.

A gang of persons making preparations to commit dacoity was discovered in the limits of a certain village and was pursued by villagers who seized and arrested two accused who were members of the gang. Shortly afterwards a dacoit at large fired a gun and killed one of the villagers. The accused were thereupon tried for the offence of murder under Section 302, read with Sections 149 and 34, Penal Code. Held, that the accused were not guilty of murder, for the separation of the two accused from the gang having been prior to the murder there could be no common object, and neither Section 149 nor Section 34 applied. 17 Bom LJ 906 : 8 Cr C 118. Charges under Sections 302 and 201, Penal Code, cannot be combined. 2 Weir 301. If men will use such a formidable and dangerous weapon as a lathi with such violence and on such part of the body as causes death immediately or soon afterwards, they should be convicted of murder and not merely culpable homicide not amounting to murder. AWN 1890, 74. Although it is true that it is for person who has taken the life of another to show that the homicide was accidental, or that it did not amount to murder, yet it is necessary in order to throw the burden of exculpating himself on the accused in a case of murder, that the witnesses for the prosecution should have told a story which can be believed in itself and that, the Judge is satisfied that they are not concealing circumstances which would go to reduce the offence if disclosed. AWN 1897, 21. Where four persons attacked one man, who, in consequence of the attack, died subsequently, held, that the assailants are guilty under Section 302, IPC, if the common intention of the assailants was to cause death or bodily injury likely to cause death or sufficient in the ordinary cause of nature to cause death. 13 Cr LJ 159 : 13 Ind Cas 847. A person who inflicts injury on he person of another which ends fatally and which the former should have known was likely to cause death, is guilty of culpable homicide amounting to murder though he had no wish to cause or any motive to do so. 14 Cr LJ 115 : 118 Ind Cas 657 : 1913 MWN 556 ; see also 5 WR Cr 32 ; 2 LBR 125 : 1 Cr LJ 184 ; 4 WR Cr 33. The causing of death by an act done with the intention of causing death cannot alternately be offence or murder or the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, neither Section 236, Cr PC, nor Section 73, IPC, being applicable to the case. 11 PR 1887 Cr. Where the accused, a menial servant being ordered to attend his masters, when they had announced their intention of committing murder, accompanied them with the intention of rendering such assistance as might be required of him and his master entered the house and killed the deceased, the servant standing at the door of the house, held, that the accused was guilty of murder. 1 Weir 296.

Where the prisoner killed his sister and hurt himself with the intention of throwing the blame on a faction opposed to that to which he belonged, held, that he was guilty of murder. 8 B H C Cr 109. Where a child did not die on account of the exposure except in remote degree, the mother that exposed the child would not be guilty of murder, but only of an offence under Section 317, Penal Code. 10 WR Cr 52. Murder is excluded from the exception in Section 94 IPC, as to acts done under compulsion of threats causing apprehension of instant death. UBR (1892-1896), Vol. 1 201. Where action resulting in death is continuous and is impossible to be resolved into different actions inspired by motives, the accused is guilty of murder. AIR 1931 Lah 27. If husband discovers wife in act of adultery and kills her he is guilty of manslaughter only and not murder. This rule cannot be extended when the relationship is not of husband and wife. AIR 1930 Cal 37. Blow with spear on fleshy part of body is not necessarily fatal and offence does not fall under Section 302, but under Section 326. AIR 1930 Lah 950. Where the accused had grudge against deceased and assaulted him with a stabbing weapon, he is guilty of murder. AIR 1930 Lah 534. Failure of prosecution to establish additional motives is not fatal defect in prosecutions case. AIR 1930 Lah 490. Person striking with weapon like lathi on vulnerable part of the body as head must be deemed to have intended to cause such injury as he knew likely to cause death. AIR 1930 Lah 490. Panchayat was convened to consider act of stealing by accused. One of the panchayats insisted that the matter should be reported to the police. Accused struck heavy blow at him and thereby caused death. The accused was held guilty of murder. AIR 1930 Lah 60. In the absence of extenuating circumstances, a person who inflicts injury with knife intends nothing short of inflicting death and as such commits the offence of murder. AIR 1930 Mad 972. Woman of middle age administering arsenic must accept full responsibility of her action. AIR 1930 Oudh 502. Where it is not known who delivered the fatal blow, the accused should be held guilty of abetment of murder. AIR 1930 Pat 194.

When medical evidence supported prosecution version and one of accused was acquitted no infercence could be drawn that prosecution version against appellant was doubtful. Naurangi Lal v. State of U.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 64 (All) (DB) : 1996 Cr. LJ 81 : 1995 All LJ 1625 : 1996 ACC 96 (sum) : 1995 UP Cr R 395 (All.).

When evidence of eye-witnesses testifying injuries caused by kulhari and, sword, was corroborated by medical evidence, and these weapons were found stained with blood, conviction upheld. Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 307 (Raj).

When eye-witnesses evidence is corroborated by medical evidence and accused was attributed with specific injury, accused's participation is established. Dayaram v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 272 (MP).

In absence of any injury on person of mother-in-law that would have been caused in over powering young daughter-in-law mother can not be convicted for murder. Vinod Bhalla v. State of M.P., 1992 MPLJ 580.

Where medical evidence showed that as a result of one shot by accused, some injuries at the face of the deceased were caused, that by themselves were not sufficient to cause death, conviction held not sustainable. Jarnail Singh v. State of Punjab, 1996 Cr LJ 1139 (SC) : 1996 AIR (SC) 755 : 1996 (10 SCC 527 : 1995 (8) JT 279 : 1995 (6) Scale 563 : 1996 (1) Supreme 1 : 1996 (1) CCR 131 (SC) : 1996 SCC (Cr) 146 : 1996 (2) SCJ 130.

Accused firing shots resulting in death of deceased and same corroborated by eye-witnesses, independent witnesses as well as by medical evidence, conviction justified. Arjun Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimes 130 (Raj).

When ocular evidence is supported by medical evidence, enquiry as to whether injury is sufficient to cause death in ordinary course of nature, is objective and differential. Swain v. State, (1992) 2 Ker LJ 724 (DB).

When throttling is supported by medical evidence, conviction upheld. Deepak Naragauappa Teware v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B CR C 223 (Bom).

Witness's statement cannot be discarded because of oneness of caste or friendship. Akshay Kumar Gaur v. State of U.P., (1995) 32 ACC 93 (Alld).

When there, is medical evidence that person suffering single stab injury in abdomen, need not necessarily die and death caused after 3 days due to complications. case falls under Section 304, Part II, IPC. Ramaswamy v. State of T.N., 1995 SCC (Cri 143 (SC) : 1993 Cr. LJ 3253 : 1994 Supp (3) SCC 680.

The evidence of witnesses who allege that they overheard the accused relating to the killing of the deceased, cannot by itself be substantive evidence for the purpose of convicting the accused of such serious offence. AIR 1951 HP 19.

In a murder case when the prosecution evidence is held to be untrustworthy or unsafe of credence and the dying declarations to have been received in circumstances which do not inspire confidence, the Court would be most reluctant to base the conviction of the accused only on the recovery of the kripan and the clothes, particularly when the investigating agency also does not appear to have conducted themselves in a straight forward manner. Such recovery of articles should not be held to be a strong corroborative piece of evidence. 64 Punj LR 1064 : ILR (1962) 2 Punj 855 : 1963 (1) Cr LJ 469 : AIR 1963 Punj 170 ; 1961 Ker 546. Some links missing in the circumstantial evidence held sufficient not to warrant conviction. Delay in post-mortem examination of dead bodies is not material factor which should seriously tell against authenticity of prosecution story. 63 Punj LR 742. Offence was held to be proved from circumstantial evidence. ILR (1963) 2 Ker 26 : 1963 (2) Cr LJ 458 but see (1963) 2 S CJ 165 : AIR 1963 SC 1113.

Where injuries present on body of accused were not explained in F.I.R., the recovery of weapon alone was not sufficient to connect accused with the crime. Mehtab Singh alias Kala Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 351 (Raj).

The F.I.R. was promptly lodged. The statement of the eye-witnesses and independent witnesses were consistent throughout the investigation and trial. The evidence-witnesses were corroborated by medical and forensic evidences. Hence the conviction was confirmed. Mod Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 572 (Raj).

When both eye-witnesses were thoroughly cross-examined and evidence was not shattered. Ocular account was corroborated by medical evidence. Gun shots fired by appellant killed the deceased. Small contradictions between the ocural account and the medical evidence were held immaterial. Hence conviction upheld. Lal Diwan v. State of U.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 343 : 1995 ALJ 1456 (Alld).

Firing was from some height and deceased was found on low ground. It was the contention of the accused that it was accidental. Pellets entered the neck region downwards obliquely. Medical evidence showed that the firing was not from the same level. Hence conviction was justified. Ramswaroop v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 166.

Eye-witnesses consistently stating about presence and participation of accused in offence. Same thing is being corroborated by medical evidence. Indeed minor variations in version of one witness but not material—Delay in F.I.R. was explained—Conviction was confirmed. Ballu Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1147.

Where yardstick should be probabilities, its intrinsic worth and the intention of the witness. Notwithstanding the fact that the witness happens to be an impartial or non-interested witness. Najukrao v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Crimes 75 : 1995 Cr LR 93 (Bom).

The testimony of complainant was not corroborated by medical evidence and was full of contradictions. The testimony of the injured witnesses proved the participation of some of the accused persons in the incident. Hence conviction of 6 accused persons reduced to one under Sections 326/149 and others acquitted. Kapoora v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 498 (Raj).

Delayed disclosure by the eye-witnesses about the commission of the crime by the accused—Threat as explanation for delayed disclosure found unreliable—Testimony of such witnesses, held not worthy of any credit. Daba Munda alias Jaga v. State, (1995)1 Crimes 814 (Ori).

Evidence of accomplice turned approver being improved from stage to stage requires thorough scrutiny—Section 114(b) guarding against acceptance of such evidence, unless corroborated in material particulars. Mahabir v. State of U.P. (1995) 2 Crimes 575 (All) (DB).

Once it is established that eye-witness belong to a hostile faction and it is also clear that they are suppressing material portion of the occurrence, it is not possible to accept their evidence as to how exactly the fight took place doubtless if a consistent story has been put forward, it may be possible for a Court even to accept the testimony of partisan witness specially when the village is divided into factions. 29 Cut LT 15 : 1963 (1) Cr LJ 700. For proof of murder charge see 29 Cut LT 290 : ILR 1961 Cut 806 : 1963 (1) Cr LJ 213 : AIR 1963 Ori 33 ; ILR 1963 Cut 511 ; 1963 Ker LR 47 ; see also 1964 Cur LJ 435 (Punj) (for medical evidence) 1965 (2) Cr LJ 63 : AIR 1965 AP 251. (murder and robbery-circumstantial evidence). When two persons were charged with murder, one of them admitting to be joint participant facilitating murder by the other and explaining that he was threatened with death by other accused it was held that the same did not exonerate him. (1963) 5 Ori JD 372 : 1964 (1) Cr LJ 680 : AIR 1964 Ori 144.

The testimony of eye-witnesses can not be doubted only because they happened to be relatives of the deceased. 1964 (2) Cr LJ 585 : AIR 1964 Trip 54.

The inference or presumption upon the charge of murder can be safely drawn when the accused is in explained possession of jewels or articles of the victim after the crime, and when in addition, there is some evidence at least connecting the movements of the accused with those of the victim either before or after the crime and in some other manner or another establishing a nexus between the accused and offence. 1963 (2) Cr LJ 651 : AIR 1963 Mad 476 ; see also 1963 Jab LJ 137 : 1964 (1) Cr LJ 596 ; 1963 Ker LT 292 : 1964 Mad LJ (Cr) 347 : 1964 (1) Cr LJ 493 (circumstantial evidence must be wholly inconsistent with innocence of the accused) ; 29 Cut LJ 537, (opinion of doctor not conclusive—Absence of a single circumstance connecting the accused with the alleged murder) ; (1964) 6 Ori JD 257 ; (1963) 5 Ori JD 372 : 1964 (1) Cr LJ 680 : 11 Cut LT 17 : AIR 1964 Ori 149 ; 1979 Cr LJ 1322 : AIR 1979 SC 1711.

Accused was sister of deceased's husband. There was no evidence if ever demand was made by accused. The prosecution could not produce any evidence to show harassment or dowry demand or any evidence against accused. Accused was held entitled to acquittal. Hulsi (Smt) v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 234 (Raj).

Where there was no eye-witness, the recovery of wrist watch from accused is ot sufficient to connect the accused with the offence. Niranjan Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 620 (P & H) (DB).

ASI recording the statement of the deceased—Recorded statement corroborating the version tendered by the eye-witnesses—Wounds on the person of deceased lending support and corroboration to the version of eye-witnesses. Dagger with blood-stains of deceased recovered at the instance of accused—No incised wounds found on the person of the accused and his two brothers—Prosecution case getting support from the injuries on the person of the accused—No independent witness available around the place of occurrence. It was held that the deceased was assaulted by accused assisted by his two brothers. Raj Singh State v. (Delhi Administration), (1995) 3 Crimes 484 (Del).

Accused inflicting knife injuries on chest of the deceased—Evidence of two eye-witnesses corroborating each other which implicate accused—Evidence was creditworthy—Medical evidence also corroborating ocular evidence—Prosecution case fully proved. Hence conviction was confirmed. Dilip Purushottam Pokade v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 79 (Bom).

Accused assaulted deceased with axe on head—Three eye-witnesses versions found trustworthy—Medical evidence corroborating ocular evidence—Motive also established—Axe too recovered at the instance of accused—Offence was proved beyond reasonable doubt. Parshuram Tukaram Kini v. State of Maharastra, 1994 B Cr C 165 (Bom).

On attempting to outrage modesty of deceased by accused, deceased beat him with broomstick—Thereupon accused beating the deceased with stick on her neck and ribs. Causing injuries on her vital parts—Evidence of prosecution corroborated by fingerprint report and medical evidence. Conviction under Section 302 justified. Komati Rajam v. State of A.P., (1994) 1 APLJ 47 (SN) : (1994) 1 APLJ 366 : (1994) 1 ALT 639 : (1994) 2 Crimes 511 (AP) (DB).

Where so far as the evidence as to the causing of homicidal death is concerned, it appears to be shaky, though it may be presumed that if husband and wife were living together and if the homicidal death of the wife occurs in the residential house of the husband, in the absence of any other explanation, or in the absence of any evidence of murder having been caused by somebody else, it may be presumed that the death may have been caused by the husband himself. Though it is also true that Sidhi, the place of employment of accused husband, is not unapproachable, it connected with metal road nearly 90 K.Ms. away from the place of incident, and a person could reach Sidhi in the morning leaving Rewa during or after mid-night. Even in a motor-cycle, it will take only two hours to reach Sidhi, but no evidence has been collected on this point as to whether the husband was in the house in the evening or during the night, or that he left Rewa in or about midnight. Under the circumstances, it cannot be accepted beyond reasonable doubt that husband was present in the house during the mid-night and returned back to Sidhi after committing murder. Accused is, thus, entitled to benefit of doubt. Vinod Bhalla v. State of M.P., 1992 Cr LJ 3527 (MP) (DB).

Accused not only inflicting sharp edged injury but repeating fatal blow and injury upon the person of the deceased—Injuries attributed to him by prosecution-witnesses and corroboration by medical evidence. Conviction for offence under Section 302, I.P.C. held proper. Chetan v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 554 : 1995 RCrC 237 (Raj).

Where accused coming with stretched knife and stabbing on chest of deceased before bettle shop—Prosecution supported by P.W. 11 eye-witness. Other eye-witnesses turned hostile in spite of their statements recorded under Section 164, Cr. P.C. P.W. 11 was corroborated by F.I.R., Medical evidence and seizure of blood stained clothes and knife from accused. Hence conviction upheld. Rajendra v. State of M.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 552 (M.P.).

Weapon of offence recovered at the instance of accused appellant—Clothes of the accused were blood stained—No injury found on the accused. There was appreciation of the evidence and recovery of weapon were held unreliable. Bloodstains on clothes of accused held possible if he had fallen slightly away from the body of the deceased—There was absence of motive of offence. The only circumstances that both accused and deceased alone went on in search of goats held not sufficient to convict accused. Conviction set aside. Balkrushna v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Crimes 96 (Bom).

Prosecution evidence fully corroborated and consistent and evidence of eye-witnesses finding corroboration from medical—evidence fully reliable and trustworthy—Complainant and accused persons being on inimical terms—Prosecution witnesses also having relationship with the deceased. Held, is not safe to reject testimony of prosecution-witnesses on these grounds. Concurrent finding of both lower Courts. Conviction legally sustainable. Arjun v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 3 Crimes 383 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 2507 : 1994 (5) JT 410 : 1994 Supp (3) SCC 189 : 1994 (3) Scale 280 (2) : 1994 (2) UJ 418 : 1995 Cr. LJ 410 : 1994 (3) CCR 685 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1685.

Conviction. held, should not be recorded on the basis of evidence of partly reliable solitary witness. Badda v. State of M.P., (1995) 1 CCR 540 (MP).

Where oral evidence was corroborated with the medical evidence- conviction of the accused was held, justified. Satish Sah v. State of Bihar, 1995 Cr LJ 213 : 1995 BLJ 156 (Pat).

Where appellant being on inimical terms with deceased. Offence-weapon sickle recovered at instance of appellant-accused—Testimony of sole eye-witness fully corroborated by medical evidence and report of chemical analyser—Guilt of accused proved beyond reasonable doubt. Hence conviction was upheld. Pandurang Mohan Dhaitadak v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 B Cr C 551(Bom).

Interested and chance-witnesses—Their presence at the scene of occurrence highly improbable—Improvement in their statement during trial from their earlier statement—Their testimony held unreliable. Kachra v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 392 : (1995) 2 RCD 547 (Raj) (DB).

Hostile witness confronted with statement recorded by police but not by Magistrate has to be rejected. Ashok Gavade v. State of Goa., (1995) 1 Bom CR 363 : (1995) 1 B Cr C 41 (Bom) (DB).

The evidence of eye-witnesses cannot be doubted on the ground that stomach of deceased was found empty as death occurred long after incident. Medical evidence showed that deceased was assaulted with blunt end of the axe and not sharp edge of the weapon. The accused would not have intended to cause death. Offence therefore falls under Section 304 Part II, IPC and not under Section 302, IPC. Conviction and sentence modified accordingly. Macha Rajam v. State of A.P., (1995) 1 Andh LT (Cr) 403 (AP) (DB).

Medical evidence supporting prosecution-version. Acquittal of one the accused—No inference that prosecution-version against accused is doubtful. Held prosecution version being quite truthful the conviction based thereon sustainable. Naurangi Lal v. State of U.P., (1995) 3 Crimes 64 (All) (DB).

Out of 12 accused persons only the accused was convicted while others were acquitted—Conviction based on testimony of two eye-witnesses. These eye-witnesses could not ascribe parts played by other accused persons and their specific role not deposed with clarity and there being also improvements in their testimonies. Their testimony thus not reliable. 'Benefit of doubt given to appellant. Hema Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 527 : 1995 Crimes 253 : (1995) 2 RCD 283 (Raj).

Eye-witnesses and medical report corroborated each other—Death caused by knife injury. Offence under Section 302, IPC made out Kamta Prasad v. State U.P., 1994 JIC 136 (SC) : 1994 All LJ 306 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 290 : 1994 (1) East Cr C (NOC) 22 : 1994 Cr LJ 1202 : AIR 1994 SC 1519.

Evidence of the eye-witnesses does not become automatically unreliable simply because motive has not been proved. Promoda Kumar Mantri v. State of Orissa, (1995) 3 Crimes 510 (Ori).

It is quite evident that child statement was not recorded promptly by investigating officer and possibility of her being tutored cannot be ruled out. It is not safe to place implicit reliance on her testimony unless there is corroboration from any other independent evidence. Chander Prakash alias Chander v. State, (1995) 58 DLT 238 (Del).

Eye-witness's testimony remaining unshaken—Presence of the eye-witness very much natural in her house—Eye-witness's version finding corroboration from the evidence of other prosecution-witnesses—Medical evidence corroborating the evidence of the eye-witness—Prosecution proving the case against the accused-appellant beyond reasonable manner of doubt—Injury inflicted by the dagger in the chest of the deceased. There was no repetition of the blow and there was neither any intention to kill nor premeditation. It is held that conviction converted into one for offence under Section 304, Part I. Lala v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 403 : (1995) 2 RCD 511 (Raj).

When testimony of the witness believed in part and disbelieved in part part—Conviction on the basis of such testimony. As and improper. Ramesh Maruti Patil v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 SCC (Cr) 149 (SC) : 1994 AIR (SC) 28 : 1994 Cr. LJ 8.

The evidence of related and interested witnesses cannot be thrown away. It is to be scrutinised scrupulously before accepting the same. Kashmira Singh S/o Jeet Singh v. State of Delhi, 1995 JCC 208 (Del).

Where evidence as regards occurrence consistent and cogent—Nothing in cross-examination to discredit the evidence of the prosecution witnesses—Evidence also amply corroborated by medical evidence—Death caused due to hand injury—Offence held punishable under Sec. 302, IPC. Sununga Malik v. State, (1995) 2 CCR 285 (Ori).

Testimony of accused containing mere suggestion—Mere possibility that murder could have taken place 2 or 3 hours earlier will not render evidence of eye-witness unworthy of credence. Further omissions, additions or overt act should be weighed along with other evidence. Hence conviction was confirmed. Krishan Pal Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 (31) ACC 29.

Accused armed with "song", inserted "song" in the head of deceased and turned it several times. He also inflicted several blows with "song" on body of deceased—Eye-witnesses is found reliable and corroborative with medical evidence—Abrasions on body of deceased possible by fall and struggle on surface of "moram" sand which was place of occurrence.—Hence, conviction is justified. Gorey Lal v. State of U.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 168 : (1994) 2 Crimes 560 : 1994 ACC 420 : 1994 Cr LJ 1337 (All).

When injuries inflicted with sharp edged weapon and ocular account is corroborated from medical evidence and FIR, conviction upheld. Piara Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 CC Crimes 42 (P & H).

When evidence of eye-witnesses gets corroborated by FIR and medical evidence, conviction upheld. Amarjit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes, 409 (P & H).

Conviction is justified when ocular evidence is corroborated by medical evidence. Inder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 Crimes 654 (SC).

When medical evidence does not corroborate with evidence of witnesses, accused liable to be acquitted. Bhavi Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 93 (Raj).

Eye-witness being the brother of deceased and the deceased both went out on motorcycle when incident occurred—His presence not doubtful—He gave every detail of incident when accused crushed deceased. His evidence fully corroborated—Medical evidence also consistent with prosecution case—Delay in filing FIR explained—Accused intentionally caused such bodily injuries knowingly as likely to cause death. Hence conviction under Section 302, was sustainable. State of Haryana v. Manoj Kumar, (1994) 1 Crimes 102 (SC) : (1994) 1 East Cr C 88 : 1994 JIC 148 : 1994 (1) SCC 495 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 93 : AIR 1994 SC 147.

Empty stomach of deceased cannot make prosecution case untrustworthy as deceased being host was expected to wait for his dinner—Conviction proper. Suba Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 CCR 31 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 376 (SC).

Stick blow on the head of the deceased as a result deceased dying on the spot two persons witnessing the incident—Their evidence not suffering from serious infirmity and slight inconsistency found. Witnesses though related, evidence given cannot be discarded as that of the partisan witness—Nothing on record to show that the witness had any enmity with the accused. Hence conviction was upheld. Joginder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 557 : (1995) 2 CC Cases 230 (P & H).

Wife of the deceased only eye-witness—Material contradictions in her evidence and no independent witness for recovery—Not a single pellet hitting the wife of the deceased though she was coming along with him—Medical evidence also not corroborating wife's version. False implication cannot be ruled out. Hence prosecution fails to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. Conviction and sentence set aside. Satyanarayan Dev v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 293 : (1995) 3 CCR 359 (Raj) (DB).

Where there is direct and acceptable evidence and injuries are inflicted on vital part of body with iron rod, conviction upheld. Laxman v. State of Karnataka, 1997 (1) Crimes 388 (Kant).

When evidence of two eye-witnesses was found trustworthy and corroborated by medical evidence and ballistic expert report, conviction was held proper. Harbhajan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 (1) Crimes 253 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 1183 : 1997 (3) JT 278 : 1997 (2) Scale 528 : 1997 (1) CCR 263 (SC) : 1997 CrLJ 1638 : 1997 (2) Supreme 719.

When the statement of eye-witnesses is convincing and corroborated with post-mortem report. The fact that no eye-witness went to police station to lodge report or did not narrate incident to any one, is not sufficient to discard their testimony. Shrirang Shankar Lokhande v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 479 (Bom).

Trial Court to base its conclusion solely on evidence adduced during trial and not on investigation or result thereof. Vijinder v. State of Delhi, 1997 (1) Crimes 158 (SC) : 1997 (6) SCC 171 : 1997 (3) JT 131 : 1997 (2) Scale 127 : 1997 (2) Supreme 329 : 1997 (1) SCJ 322 : 1997 91) CCR 212 (SC) : 1997 SCC (Cr) 857.

Conviction based on inadmissible evidence is not legally sustainable. Vijinder v. State of Delhi, 1997 (1) Crimes 1997 (1) Crimes 158 (SC) : 1997 (6) SCC 171 : 1997 (3) JT 131 : 1997 (2) Scale 127 : 1997 (2) Supreme 329 : 1997 (1) SCJ 322 : 1997 91) CCR 212 (SC) : 1997 SCC (Cr) 857.

The blood of the accused was of 'B' group and the recoveries made from the place of the incident like bloodstained earth, pieces of stones etc. as also the clothes of the deceased bore 'A' group. This obviously meant that while trying to assault the deceased blood of 'A' group fell on the nail clippings of the accused. The trial judge was of the view that the blood of 'A' group may have fallen on the nails of the respondent while he was taking out the corpse of the deceased from the well, as stated by him in his statement under Section 313, Cr. P.C. It was held that the trial judge was in error in rejecting this circumstance because, apart from the statement of the respondent recorded under Section 313 Cr. P. C. made by him at the fag end of the trial, there was no other evidence on record to show that he had taken out the corpse of the deceased from the well. State of Maharashtra v. Vilas Pandurang Patil, 1999 Cri LJ 1062 (Bom) : Maghanan v. State, 2006 Cr LJ 36 (Mad).

There is no requirement of law that pellets be sent to ballistic expert to determine as to whether pellets were fired from exhibited gun or not. On the contrary, where the pellets are recovered from body, the prosecution case that deceased died of gun shot injuries is established, failure of prosecution to send parties for examination by ballistic expert would not render prosecution case incredible. State of HP v. Mast Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 4973 : AIR 2004 SC 5056 : 2004(8) SCC 660 : 2004(6) Supreme 534 : 2004(4) Crimes 27 (SC).

It was stated that deceased was walking ahead of them—Accused challenged deceased, the gun was aimed at and fired at him—In such circumstances, absence of pellet injuries on persons of eye-witnesses—Can be no ground to render presence of eye-witnesses at place of occurrence doubtful. State of Himachal Pradesh v. Mast Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 4973 (E) : AIR 2004 SC 5056 : 2004(8) SCC 660 : 2004(6) Supreme 534 : 2004(4) Crimes 27 (SC).

Widow of deceased categorically stated that she heard about incident from some persons and sent for eye-witnesses to go and find out body of her husband. Held, it was quite natural for eye-witnesses to remain silent after witnessing assault. Presence of eye-witnesses at alleged spot of occurrence was rendered doubtful, and therefore, the version of eye-witness was improbable. State of Rajasthan v. Bhanwar Singh, 2004 Cr LJ 4886 : AIR 2004 SC 4660 : 2004(5) Scale 711.

The fact that accused also suffered injuries which were not negligible showed that there would have been some scufflé and exchange of blows, but the details thereof were not forthcoming version of eye-witness about the manner of attack by the four accused persons and the non-explanation of injuries raised some doubt on the credibility of his entire version. At the same time his version about the incident was found inconsistent with dying declaration. It was held that the eye-witness could not be relied upon. Sree Vijaya Kumar v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 3085 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1896 : 2005(3) Crimes 55 : 2005(10) SCC 737 : 2005(4) Supreme 662.

Non-mentioning of names in FIR would not impeach their credibility when it is a case of free fight. Nagalla Mukha Lingam v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 2583 : 2005 (11) SCC 242 : 2005(2) Crimes 165 : 2006 SCC (Cr) 105 : 2005(3) Supreme 624.

Factor which casts a doubt on the evidence of PWs 4 and 5 is that there were no blood stains on their clothes, though allegedly, they placed the deceased on cot and carried him to the hospital. Moreover, soon after his brother was declared dead, PW 4 did not go to the police station which was quite close to the hospital to lodge a report. That is not a natural course of conduct. Hence, evidence of such witness cannot be believed. Hem Raj and others v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 2152 : (2005) ACR 374 : AIR 2005 SC 2110 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1646 : 2005 (2) Crimes 45 (SC) : 2005(10) SCC 614 : 2005(2) Crimes 45 (SC) : 2005(3) Supreme 2005 SCC (Cr) 1646.

Accused during quarrel suddenly took axe and gave solitary blow on back of head of deceased resulting into his death. There was no pre-meditated or pre-arranged plan to attack deceased. Medical evidence did not show that injury inflicted by itself would be sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death. Accused could be imputed with knowledge that injury inflicted by him was likely to cause death. Conviction was altered from Section 300 to one under Section 304, Part II—Accused sentenced to undergo 5 years R.I. coupled with fine of Rs. 7,000/-. Shivappa Bundappa Kolkar v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 4966 : AIR 2004 SC 5047 : 2004(4) Crimes 159 : 2004(7) Supreme 240 : 2004(8) Scale 382.

Version of the eye-witnesses who were all present at the camp at the crucial time was quite consistent and reliable. They had given an account of the incident lasting for a few minutes leading to the death of three police personnel. They had also spoken to the motive, viz., the reprimand and adverse entries made in the register. There was no reason for the fellow policemen to invent a story to implicate the accused against whom none of them had any animosity. Some discrepancies in regard to the position from which the accused aimed his firearm at the victims were pointed out. It was then pointed out that no one else was injured, though according to the prosecution, the accused resorted to indiscriminate firing. It was further commented that PW 3 who was on sentry duty with a gun should have fired at the appellant if he was the real culprit. Then, it was contended that no witness from the village was examined by the prosecution, though the incident took place in the vicinity of the village. Similar contentions were negatived by the High Court. We do not think. By any reasonable standards, the said factors would make a dent on the overwhelming prosecution evidence. So also, certain omissions of the investigating officer had been projected to attack the prosecution version. For instance, it was pointed out that the ballistic expert was not examined to elicit the fact that the empty cartridges recovered could had been fired from the particulars sten-gun and the pellets found in the bodies of Ram Pandey and Bhagirath Singh were traceable to the particular sten-gun. Moreover, the bloodstained earth and the shirt of accused was sent for chemical analysis and the reports obtained. These lapses in the investigation, for whatever reason it be, did not to any material extent, affect the veracity of the most natural eye-witnesses who gave a consistent version and who came forward with this version at the earliest opportunity. Gyasuddin Khan v. State of Bihar, AIR 2004 SC 210 : 2004 Cr LJ 395 : 2004 (1) Crimes 90 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 499 : 2004(1) Recent 402.

Though the absence of blood stains found on clothes of son of the deceased indicated that he had not tried to protect his father or carry his dead body, it was not itself sufficient to reject evidence, especially when the son of the deceased had file complaint promptly and was present throughout investigation. The fact that the son though educated, complaint was written down by his brother-in-law could not also be a ground to suspect his presence. Jai Shree Yadav v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 4826 : AIR 2004 SC 4443 : 2004 All LJ 3232 : 2004(6) JT 519 : 2004(3) Crimes 286 : 2004(6) Supreme 236.

83. Inconsistency between ocular and medical evidence.—Inconsistency between ocular and medical evidence of a very minor nature cannot be ground to reject evidence of witnesses found otherwise consistent. Anwar v. State of Haryana, 1997 (2) Scale 322 (SC). See also Man Singh v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 3369 (P&H); Wakil Khan v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 3410 : 2006(1) MPLJ 259.

Medical evidence contrary to oral evidence—Effect of.—Sessions Judge has, in several places this Apex Court noticed the argument on behalf of the accused that the doctor's evidence did not support the use of a shot gun and that the gun shot wound was perfectly in consonance with the use of a shot gun and that the gun shot wound was perfectly in consonance with the use of rifle. Faced with this situation, the Sessions Judge had no option but to hold that Madan Lal who was an old man, had seen the weapon from some distance and it was possible that he had been unable to distinguish between a rifle and a shot gun and in the light of the fact that he had every reason to be present on the spot, the eye witness account was to be preferred over the doctor's evidence. We are of the opinion that this is perhaps over simplifying and stretching the matter too far in favour of the prosecution as Madan Lal had identified the murder weapon as a 'pakki' weapon which in Punjab's rural dialect always means a 'rifle'. Moreover, the possibility of a mistake is difficult to swallow for the very significant reason that Madan Lal and his son Anil Kumar P.W. 4 were the owners of a shot gun and a rifle respectively.

The Sessions Judge was also influenced by the fact that the four spent cartridge cases that had been recovered from the place of incident by P.W. 9 ASI Devinder Singh on 30.11.1999 and sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory were found to have been fired from the licensed shot gun belonging to Rajinder Singh. We find this observation to be contrary to the record as it is clear from the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory (Exh. PV) that it had observed that no conclusive opinion could be given as to use of Rajinder Singh's shot gun on account of sufficient identifying characteristics on the cartridges.

The eye witness account does not support the medical evidence and vice versa, we are of the opinion that some serious doubt is cast on the prosecution story.

A bare look at these injuries would reveal that they could not have been self inflicted and it is not even the suggestion of the prosecution that it was so. The High Court has, accordingly, held that the prosecution story was clearly suspicious.

There is yet another circumstance on this aspect which creates suspicion. As per the defence version, the injuries had been caused by Madan Lal and his son Anil Kumar to the members of the accused party and a reference to this fact has been made by P.W. 9 ASI Devinder Singh in his investigation two senior police officers D.W. 1 Manminder Singh, DSP and D.W. 5 SP Narinder Pal Singh too had come to the conclusion that the defence put up by the accused was in fact the correct one and that they had been the victims of an attack, rather than the other way around.

We also observe that a shot gun and a rifle (both licensed) belonging to Madan Lal and Anil Kumar had been taken into possession had been recovered about 120 feet away from the spot on 30.11.1999 they had not been sent to the forensic laboratory for comparison with Anil Kumar's weapon. Mr. Sushil Kumar is, therefore, justified in submitting that the investigation in this matter was tainted and the defence version had not even been taken into consideration by the Investigating Officer, more particularly when two senior officers had given a report favourable to the accused. The judgment of the High Court calls for no interference. The appeal is dismissed. State of Punjab vs. Rajinder Singh, 2009 (12) JT 277 : 2009 (12) Scale 174 : 2009 (13) SCR 609.

Ocular and medical evidence—Inconsistency—Effect of.—Incident allegedly seen by deceased's brother-in-law and his son aged 10 years. Presence of eye-witness son on spot of occurrence found to be highly improbable. Discrepancies in statements of both witnesses highlighted by High Court could not be said to be trivial.

The High Court noticed discrepancies in the evidence of PWs. 3 and 4. PW. 3 was related to the deceased while PW. 4 was his son who was aged about 10 years at the time of occurrence. The High Court noticed that motive is not of much importance when credible evidence is available. If found that the motive highlighted was too feeble to be of any consequence. Apart from that the High Court found presence of PW. 3 to be highly improbable. It noticed that there was no sign of dragging at the place of occurrence as was stated by PWs. 3 and 4 and also there was no injury which could be co-related with dragging. All the injuries noticed were either incised injuries or on account of firearm. The High Court found that both PWs. 3 and 4 stated that respondent Dinesh and co-accused Vinod, who died, during trial fired one shot each from the guns held by them. The doctor who conducted post-mortem found that there was only one fire arm injury. To make up discrepancy PWs. 3 and 4 stated that certain empty cartridges and two live cartridges were found at the place of occurrence by the Investigating Officer. But the Investigating Officer stated that he did not find either any empty cartridge or live cartridge at the scene of occurrence. It is to be further noted that both PWs. 3 and 4 stated that while the deceased was being restrained by one hand each by the two accused persons, they shot him from the other hand. In other words, their version was that the accused persons fired at the deceased from a very short distance. The doctor's evidence clearly ruled out this aspect. He noticed that only skin deep injury was there and not any penetrating wound. PW. 3 had stated that all the knife injuries were inflicted when the deceased was in a lying posture and according to Rajesh Kumar (PW. 4) even at that time both the accused persons were catching hands of the deceased. The doctor found that all the injuries found on the deceased were incised wounds and not a single puncture wound was found on the deceased. The doctor further stated that there was no possibility of the incised injuries Nos. 1 to 13 being caused to the deceased while he was lying on the ground.

The discrepancies highlighted by the High Court cannot be stated to be trival. The conclusions arrived at by the High Court clearly establish material infirmities and contradictions on the evidence of the two vital witnesses PWs. 3 and 4. It is true that PW. 4 was a child of about 10 years. But the Court had found him to be in a position to depose. But the High Court has found that the presence of PW. 3 at the spot is highly improbable in view of certain aspects highlighted. One of them was his claim to have accompanied the deceased to the house of one Barati Lal for delivering milk in a Milk Can. In his cross-examination he admitted that he does not know where the house of the Barati Lal is. According to him, he and the deceased were returning after delivering the milk in a Can and the Can was tied to the cycle on which both of them were travelling. The Investigating Officer admitted that there was no Can lying at the place of occurrence and in fact no seizure of any Milk Can has been made. Apart from that the medical evidence clearly rules out the manner of infliction of injuries as deposed. Though ocular testimony of witnesses had greater evidentiary value vis-à-vis medical evidence, but when medical evidence totally improbablises the ocular testimony, that becomes a relevant factor in the process of evaluation of evidence. In the instant case the medical evidence totally improbablises the version regarding the manner of assault by both the accused persons as noted above. State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Dinesh, 2009 (11) SCC 566 : 2009 (3) JT 106 : 2009 (3) Scale 345 : 2009 (2) SCR 1175.

Medical evidence vis-a-vis ocular evidence. The medical evidence corroborates the prosecution case. The circumference of well was about three meters. Dr. Sarvesh Bihari Mathur (PW. 7), the autopsy surgeon, found the eyes of the deceased half open and the nails of hand and feet bluish. He further found Kuti Sansaria which is goose-skin/goose-flesh in the foot-base (Talwa). Small particles of sand were found in the wind pipe. Lungs were found to have air bubbles. There existed blood on the left hand side of the heart and the right side was found to be empty. According to him, the death took place 12 hours before the post mortem examination. The cause of death, in his opinion, was due to drowning which caused asphyxia. In his cross-examination, he stated that it might be possible that the deceased had committed suicide. But that was only a possibility. If the evidence of the eye-witnesses is to be believed and found to be reliable and we do not find any reason as to why they should not be so held, only because autopsy surgeon talked of some other possibility, as it would not lead to the conclusion that the medical evidence did not corroborate the prosecution case.

Apart from the statements made by PW1-wife and PW4-minor son which are sufficient to bring home the charges as against the appellant herein, we may also notice that although PW3 was declared hostile, he also, to some extent, supported the prosecution case. Indisputably, the said witness had gone back from his statement made before the Investigating Officer under Sec. 161 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. In his deposition, however, Surajbhan stated that he had seen a crowd and had also witnessed that Ratiram was being taken out of the well. Although according to him he had not seen Narpat, Rajendra and Richhpal dropping Ratiram into the well, in his cross-examination he stated as under :

> "On the place of incidence large crowd was assembled and some of them were speaking that Narpat and Rajendra had thrown Ratiram into well. I don't know the names of those persons so I cannot tell about them."

Thus, the fact that immediately after the death a crowd had assembled and people were talking about the death having been caused to the deceased by Narpat and Rajendra to some extent, supported the prosecution case. Both, Munna and Surajbhan were named as witnesses in the FIR. Although they were declared hostile, a part of their statement can be taken into consideration for the purpose of finding out as to whether the appellants are guilty of commission of the said offences or not. Rajendra vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2558 : 2009 (2) Crimes 150 (SC) : 2009 (5) JT 305 : 2009 (5) Scale 423 : 2009 (5) SCR 589 : 2009 (3) Supreme 77 : 2009 (3) SLT 263.

The accused was alleged to have caused the death of deceased for having an affair with his concubine. The accused himself went and confessed his crime before village Administrative officer whose evidence was found reliable. This was corroborated by the fact that the deceased was last seen in the company of accused and his fingerprints were found on the articles which were recovered from the scene of offence. The conviction of accused was held proper. Kodamala Prabhakar v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 243 (AP) : 2003(1) ALD (CRL) 779 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 169.

It would be erroneous to accord undue primacy to the hypothetical answers of medical witnesses to exclude the eye-witnesses' account which had to be tested independently and not treated as the "variable" keeping the medical evidence as the "constant".

It is trite that where the eye-witnesses' account is found credible and trustworthy, medical opinion pointing to alternative possibilities is not accepted as conclusive. Witnesses, as Bentham said, are the eyes and ears of justice. Hence the importance and primacy of the quality of the trial process. Eye witnesses' account would require a careful independent assessment and evaluation for their credibility which should not be adversely prejudged making any other evidence, including medical evidence, as the sole touchstone for the test of such credibility. The evidence must be tested for its inherent consistency and the inherent probability of the storys consistency with the account of other witnesses held to be credit-worthy; consistency with the undisputed facts; the 'credit' of the witnesses; their performance in the witness-box; their power of observation etc. Then the probative value of such evidence becomes eligible to be put into the scales for a cumulative evaluation. Chhotanney vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2013 : 2009 (2) Crimes 139 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 71 : 2009 (3) JT 175 : 2009 (2) SCR 756 : 2009 (3) Scale 171 : 2009 (2) Supreme 443 see also State of Madhya Pradesh vs. Sughar Singh, AIR 2009 SC 586 : 2008 (15) SCC 442 : 2008 (12) JT 152 : 2008 (15) SCR 725 : 2008 (14) Scale 214 : 2008 (9) SLT 639.

In a Gauhati case the accused and deceased were last seen together and thereafter the deceased was found dead in the quarter which was allotted to wife of accused. The offensive weapon was discovered at the instance of accused. As per medical report the injuries were capable of causing death in the ordinary course of nature. The conviction of accused was held proper. Naringham Shyam Kanhai Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1435 (Gau) : 2002(2) Gauhati LR 348.

We have seen the medical evidence of doctor, who had conducted the Post mortem and had took the ten injuries suffered by the deceased. Much was said that the eye-witness had not described the assault, so that it could suggest causing ten injuries. A fact cannot be forgotten that here was a witness of the tender age and he was not expected to explain each and every injury. He has deposed about the participation of A-1 and A-2 and the crucial part played by A-3 and A-4. The cross examination of the Doctor is absolutely perfunctory. The evidence of Investigating Officer supports the evidence of PWs. 1 and 2, who are the panch witnesses. PW-2 has proved the discovery at the hands of A-1, who is dead, as also the discovery made by A-4. In his evidence, the Investigating Officer has also said about the articles being sent to the Chemical Examiner at Bangalore and had also referred to the queries seeking the opinion of the Doctor as to whether the external injuries could be caused by the aforementioned weapons seized by him. Lastly, the other Investigating Officer PW-18 Gurrapagouda also suggested that he had arrested the A-1 and A-2, apart from the fact that he had referred to the various panchanamas including the seizure panchanama of the blood stained clothes etc. There is nothing in the cross examination of this Investigating Officer either. Therefore, we ourselves are satisfied that the offence was completely and totally proved as against the four accused persons. We are fully satisfied that this was a case, where the appreciation of the evidence at the hand of the trial Court was erroneous and faulty and that by the High Court was correct. Mallappa Siddappa Alakanur vs. State of Karnataka, AIR 2009 SC 2959 : 2009 (3) Crimes 230 (SC) : 2009 (9) JT 33 : 2009 (9) Scale 159 : 2009 (5) Supreme 242 : 2009 (10) SCR 196 : 2009 (6) SLT 33.

The accused desired to marry deceased but she did not want to do so. Circumstances should that she died of homicidal death. The motive of accused for commission of crime was established and also accused and deceased were last seen together. It was held that accused was liable to be convicted for the murder. Matu Munda v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC)162 (Orissa) : 2003(25) OCR 22 Ori.

Ocular and medical evidence—Inconsistency—Effect of. Incident allegedly seen by deceased's brother-in-law and his son aged 10 years. Presence of eye-witness son on spot of occurrence found to be highly improbable. Discrepancies in statements of both witnesses highlighted by High Court could not be said to be trivial.

The High Court noticed discrepancies in the evidence of PWs. 3 and 4. PW. 3 was related to the deceased while PW. 4 was his son who was aged about 10 years at the time of occurrence. The High Court noticed that motive is not of much importance when credible evidence is available. If found that the motive highlighted was too feeble to be of any consequence. Apart from that the High Court found presence of PW. 3 to be highly improbable. It noticed that there was no sign of dragging at the place of occurrence as was stated by PWs. 3 and 4 and also there was no injury which could be co-related with dragging. All the injuries noticed were either incised injuries or on account of firearm. The High Court found that both PWs. 3 and 4 stated that respondent Dinesh and co-accused Vinod, who died, during trial fired one shot each from the guns held by them. The doctor who conducted post-mortem found that there was only one fire arm injury. To make up discrepancy PWs. 3 and 4 stated that certain empty cartridges and two live cartridges were found at the place of occurrence by the Investigating Officer. But the Investigating Officer stated that he did not find either any empty cartridge or live cartridge at the scene of occurrence. It is to be further noted that both PWs. 3 and 4 stated that while the deceased was being restrained by one hand each by the two accused persons, they shot him from the other hand. In other words, their version was that the accused persons fired at the deceased from a very short distance. The doctor's evidence clearly ruled out this aspect. He noticed that only skin deep injury was there and not any penetrating wound. PW. 3 had stated that all the knife injuries were inflicted when the deceased was in a lying posture and according to Rajesh Kumar (PW. 4) even at that time both the accused persons were catching hands of the deceased. The doctor found that all the injuries found on the deceased were incised wounds and not a single puncture wound was found on the deceased. The doctor further stated that there was no possibility of the incised injuries Nos. 1 to 13 being caused to the deceased while he was lying on the ground.

The discrepancies highlighted by the High Court cannot be stated to be trival. The conclusions arrived at by the High Court clearly establish material infirmities and contradictions on the evidence of the two vital witnesses PWs. 3 and 4. It is true that PW. 4 was a child of about 10 years. But the Court had found him to be in a position to depose. But the High Court has found that the presence of PW. 3 at the spot is highly improbable in view of certain aspects highlighted. One of them was his claim to have accompanied the deceased to the house of one Barati Lal for delivering milk in a Milk Can. In his cross-examination he admitted that he does not know where the house of the Barati Lal is. According to him, he and the deceased were returning after delivering the milk in a Can and the Can was tied to the cycle on which both of them were travelling. The Investigating Officer admitted that there was no Can lying at the place of occurrence and in fact no seizure of any Milk Can has been made. Apart from that the medical evidence clearly rules out the manner of infliction of injuries as deposed. Though ocular testimony of witnesses had greater evidentiary value vis-à-vis medical evidence, but when medical evidence totally improbablises the ocular testimony, that becomes a relevant factor in the process of evaluation of evidence. In the instant case the medical evidence totally improbablises the version regarding the manner of assault by both the accused persons as noted above. Above being the position, we find no merit in this appeal. State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Dinesh, 2009 (11) SCC 566 : 2009 (3) JT 106 : 2009 (3) Scale 345 : 2009 (2) SCR 1175.

In a Rajasthan case, the accused and deceased were last seen together and thereafter she was found dead. The proximity of time and place ruled out possibility of any person other than the accused being the culprit of the crime. The conviction of accused was held proper. Govind Ram v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4189 (Raj) : 2003 (47) All Cri C 730.

Sessions Judge has, in several places this Apex Court noticed the argument on behalf of the accused that the doctor's evidence did not support the use of a shot gun and that the gun shot wound was perfectly in consonance with the use of a shot gun and that the gun shot wound was perfectly in consonance with the use of rifle. Faced with this situation, the Sessions Judge had no option but to hold that Madan Lal who was an old man, had seen the weapon from some distance and it was possible that he had been unable to distinguish between a rifle and a shot gun and in the light of the fact that he had every reason to be present on the spot, the eye witness account was to be preferred over the doctor's evidence. We are of the opinion that this is perhaps over simplifying and stretching the matter too far in favour of the prosecution as Madan Lal had identified the murder weapon as a 'pakki' weapon which in Punjab's rural dialect always means a 'rifle'. Moreover, the possibility of a mistake is difficult to swallow for the very significant reason that Madan Lal and his son Anil Kumar P.W. 4 were the owners of a shot gun and a rifle respectively.

The Sessions Judge was also influenced by the fact that the four spent cartridge cases that had been recovered from the place of incident by P.W. 9 ASI Devinder Singh on 30.11.1999 and sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory were found to have been fired from the licensed shot gun belonging to Rajinder Singh. We find this observation to be contrary to the record as it is clear from the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory (Exh. PV) that it had observed that no conclusive opinion could be given as to use of Rajinder Singh's shot gun on account of sufficient identifying characteristics on the cartridges.

The eye witness account does not support the medical evidence and vice versa, we are of the opinion that some serious doubt is cast on the prosecution story.

A bare look at these injuries would reveal that they could not have been self inflicted and it is not even the suggestion of the prosecution that it was so. The High Court has, accordingly, held that the prosecution story was clearly suspicious.

There is yet another circumstance on this aspect which creates suspicion. As per the defence version, the injuries had been caused by Madan Lal and his son Anil Kumar to the members of the accused party and a reference to this fact has been made by P.W. 9 ASI Devinder Singh in his investigation two senior police officers D.W. 1 Manminder Singh, DSP and D.W. 5 SP Narinder Pal Singh too had come to the conclusion that the defence put up by the accused was in fact the correct one and that they had been the victims of an attack, rather than the other way around.

We also observe that a shot gun and a rifle (both licensed) belonging to Madan Lal and Anil Kumar had been taken into possession had been recovered about 120 feet away from the spot on 30.11.1999 they had not been sent to the forensic laboratory for comparison with Anil Kumar's weapon. Mr. Sushil Kumar is, therefore, justified in submitting that the investigation in this matter was tainted and the defence version had not even been taken into consideration by the Investigating Officer, more particularly when two senior officers had given a report favourable to the accused.

The judgment of the High Court calls for no interference. The appeal is dismissed. State of Punjab vs. Rajinder Singh, 2009 (12) JT 277 : 2009 (12) Scale 174 : 2009 (13) SCR 609.

84. Inconsistent/Doubtful/Insufficient Evidence.—Where according to the version of the eyewitnesses, the deceased was running forward while the assailants shot him from behind but the firearm injuries sustained by the deceased could well have been shot face-to-face. This aspect is not enough to doubt the correctness of the testimony of the eyewitnesses, for, it is quite possible as per the reflex action the running deceased would have turned back either to see whether he has gone out of the range of peril or to know the nearness of it. The mere fact that PW 2 eyewitness said that the deceased was running forward and the assailants shot them from behind cannot rule out the possibility of such twirling of the deceased when the guns were fired. Pandurang Kalu Patil and another v. State of Maharashtra, 2002 Cri LJ 1007 (S.C.) : 2002 AIR (SC) 733 : 2002 (1) SCR 338 : 2002 (2) SCC 490 : 2002 (1) JT 229 : 2002 (1) Scale 290 : 2002 (1) Supreme 233 : 2002 (1) SCJ 378 : 2002 (3) SRJ 172 : 2002 SCC (Cr) 371 : 2002 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2002 (1) CCR 92 (SC) : 2002 (1) JCC 380 : 2002 (1) Recent CR 499 : 2002 (3) CRJ 448.

Doubtful evidence—Eyewitnesses being brother and friend of deceased believed. Even though it is accepted that there were two eye witnesses; one was the brother of the deceased and the other was friend and there was an attempt to protect the accused there is no credible evidence to show involvement of the accused persons in the concerned crime. That being so, their conviction would not be proper. High Court has precisely held so. That being the position, we are not inclined to interfere in this appeal. State of Punjab vs. Ginder Singh, AIR 2009 SC 1930 : 2009 (11) SCC 353 : 2009 (3) JT 454 : 2009 (2) Scale 446.

On the date of occurrence, according to the prosecution witnesses, it was raining and the dead body was kept under the Chappar. The prosecution failed to obtain an explanation from the Autopsy Surgeon as to how he had opined that death had taken place 3-4 days prior to his post-mortem examination although he examined the dead body within 41 hours from the time of occurrence.

It is furthermore evident that all the prosecution witnesses stated that all the accused persons had fired from the respective firearms. According to them at least 7 shots were fired; 3 shots had hit the person of the deceased. If that be so, more than one gun must have been used. Appellant, as noticed hereinbefore, is said to have been fired a shot from his licensed gun. Its use, however, has not been established by the prosecution as the report of the ballistic expert is silent in that regard. The empties which were found at the spot had not been examined by any ballistic expert. The empties which were recovered from the dead body were not matched with the gun allegedly used.

We may notice that two metallic pellets were recovered from the dead body. Empties had not been shown to the expert; even the attention of the Autopsy Surgeon was not drawn thereto. Although shots were said to have been fired from a distance of 2-3 paces, no blackening or charring was found to be present. If the shots were fired from a close range, it was expected that blackening and charring would have been noticed by the Autopsy Surgeon at the entry point.

Learned Sessions Judge and the High Court, with respect, failed to apply their mind as regards the time of lodging of the FIR. Hirdey Narain Shukla, the Head Constable attached with Police Station who was examined as PW-3 before the learned trial Judge stated that the FIR was lodged at 4.45 a.m. and he had recorded the same immediately. According to him, the special reports were sent by 6.00 a.m. through a constable. However, the Investigating Officer did not say so. As we have noticed hereinbefore, he, in his evidence, categorically stated that he had recorded the FIR at 9.30 p.m. No evidence had been brought on records to show that investigation had started on 16.08.1979. A site plan was prepared but it does not bear any date. The prosecution has not explained as to why the FIR was sent to the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate on 17.08.1979 and why the dead body was not sent for post-mortem on 16.08.1979 itself.

The High Court, in our opinion, committed a serious error insofar as it proceeded on the basis that shots fired by the appellant caused the fatal injury. The High Court did not analyze the evidence on record as to who caused the other firearm injuries. If the prosecution witnesses, who were said to be the eye-witnesses, were to be believed, 6 out of 7 accused could not have been acquitted and particularly those who had direct enmity with Mewa Ram and his sons. Although Suraj Pal (PW-2) son of Ganga Singh denied the suggestion that scribe of the FIR who was admittedly a resident of different village (said to be at a distance of 10 kilometers) from the place of occurrence, the prosecution had not explained as to why he was not examined. If he was present in the village it was expected that he also had witnessed the occurrence, as his son was said to be an eye-witness. It is difficult to believe that in case of this nature the investigation did not start immediately. Inquest report, preparation of seizure memo etc., which were to be carried routinely, and as such there was no reason as to why they were not brought on record.

While examining the original records of the case, we have noticed that some interpolations have made in the records maintained at the Police Station. The High Court, in our opinion, committed a serious error in drawing an inference that appellant had rightly been held guilty for commission of offence of murder of Ram Rakshpal as animosity between the parties was proved. It failed to notice that there is nothing on record to show that the appellant had been bearing any animosity against the deceased. On the other hand, other accused were having animosity towards the deceased. Mewa Ram and his family.

Furthermore, the High Court did not pose unto itself the correct question, namely, the time of lodging the FIR, i.e., whether it had in fact been lodged at 4.45 a.m. or 4.45 p.m. If it was lodged at 4.45 p.m. the entire edifice of the prosecution case would fall to the ground.

Delay in lodging the First Information Report has a great importance in a case of this nature. Enmity between the parties stands admitted. The prosecution case proceeded on the basis that immediately after occurrence and after shifting the dead body under a shed, the informant got the First Information Report scribed by Ganga Sahai and immediately thereafter proceeded on foot to the Police Station. If this part of the story is correct, the prosecution's case would not be subject to much doubt. But if the scribe of the First Information Report was residing in a separate village which is 10 kms. away from the place of occurrence, and it was at that place the FIR was scribed whereafter PW-1 arrived at the Police Station, it would impossible for him to reach by 4.30 in the morning. The prosecution did not examine the scribe of the First Information Report although his son has been examined as an eye-witness. If he was residing at the relevant time in the village where the incident had taken place, it was expected that either he had witnessed the occurrence or had reached the place of occurrence immediately after the accused fled away. The prosecution, therefore, should have made attempts to clarify this anomaly.

Indisputably, there exists a discrepancy as regards timing of the lodging of the First Information Report PW-3, Head Constable Hriday Narain Shukla, testified that it was lodged at 4.45 a.m. Records, however, show otherwise. In the FIR, it is shown to have been lodged at 4.45 p.m. As noticed hereinbefore, there are some interpolations but according to the Investigating Officer, he recorded the First Information Report at 9.30 p.m. on 16.08.1979.

Moreover, if the Fist Information Report was lodged early in the morning, there was absolutely no reason as to why the investigation did not start immediately thereafter. If Head Constable Hriday Narain Shukla is correct that the copies of the First Information Report had been sent to all concerned including the Court, there was absolutely no reason as to why the same would reach the Court on the next date. We also fail to comprehend as to why the dead body was sent for post mortem only on 17th instead of 15th itself. The seizure memo does not contain any date. The original inquest report is not on record.

Furthermore, except the appellant all other accused have been acquitted. The High Court, therefore, did not rely upon the prosecution case in its entirety. While doing so, unfortunately, the High Court did not consider these vital aspects of the matter which were crucial for determination of the issue.

For the aforementioned reasons, the impugned judgment of the High Court cannot be sustained and it is set aside accordingly. Om Prakash vs. State of U.P., AIR 2009 SC 944 : 2009 (1) Crimes 183 (SC) : 2008 (17) SCR 475 : 2008 (13) JT 466 : 2008 (16) Scale 158 : 2009 Cr LJ 782.

Insufficient evidence—Effect of. First eye-witness is none other than the wife of the deceased and she stated in her evidence that she along with her husband and mother-in-law after finishing her evening meal was watching Television in the house. At that time A-4 and A-5 (later identified) having entered the house stood at the entrance. The deceased on seeing both of them moved towards them asking them as to what they wanted and immediately A-4 shot her husband with a pistol in his hand. The bullet injured on the left side rib area. Thereafter both the appellant and A-4 fled away from the scene of occurrence. This is what she stated even in the first information report.

PW-2 while narrating the incident more or less gave the same version but however, stated that both the appellant as well as A-4 were carrying pistols. But in the cross-examination she expressed her ignorance to whether both of them were carrying lethal weapons.

PW-26, the Investigating Officer in his evidence admitted that PW-2 did not make any statement during inquiry that both the persons who had entered her house were carrying guns. In the circumstances it becomes highly doubtful as to whether the appellant herein was also carrying a pistol and entered into the house of the deceased.

The trial Court upon appreciation of the evidence found that the appellant did not trespass into the house of the deceased along with A-4 with intention to kill and accordingly acquitted the appellant of the charge under Sec. 302 read with 34 IPC. The High Court reversing the findings of the trial Court found the appellant guilty of the charge on the basis that the appellant along with A-4 trespassed into the house of the deceased in furtherance of their common intention to kill the deceased. That is not the case of the prosecution.

The case of the prosecution was that the appellant along with A-4 with an intention to commit the dacoity had trespassed into the house of the deceased, the deceased had resisted them and out of fear of being over powered A-4 shot the deceased with pistol due to which the deceased sustained grievous injuries leading to his ultimate death. There is no allegation against the appellant that he along with A-4 trespassed into the house of the deceased in furtherance of their common intention to commit murder of the deceased. The common intention according to prosecution was to commit dacoity which is held not proved.

In the present case the High Court in our considered opinion ought not to have disturbed the order of acquittal recorded by the trial Court exonerating the appellant of the charge under Sec. 302 read with 34 IPC. There is no evidence available on record that appellant along with A-4 entered into the house of the deceased armed with pistol. The evidence of PW-2 that the appellant was also armed with pistol is highly doubtful for she admitted in the cross-examination stating that she was not sure as to whether both the accused were carrying weapon. The first information report and evidence of PW-1 and Investigating Officer, PW-26 do not support the half-hearted and vague statement of PW-2. It would be unsafe to rely upon the evidence of PW-2. Arun vs. State AIR 2009 SC 1256 : 2008 (15) SCC 501 : 2008 (16) Scale 361 : 2008 (12) JT 571 : 2008 (1) Supreme 355 : 2009 (1) SLT 492 : 2008 (17) SCR 279 : 2009 (1) JCC 609.

So far as accused No. 2 is concerned, we are of the opinion that the High Court. although should have dealt with the matter at some more details, but keeping in view the fact that it recorded a judgment of acquittal, it is difficult to opine that another view is not possible. He was arrested 15 days after the occurrence from a railway platform. The fact that he was the driver of the car was sought to be proved by witnesses. however, stated that he was arrested on the same day which was not a fact. PW-11 also could not testify the identity of accused. No identification parade was held, which could have been held, unlike the case of accused No. 1. He was not in the hospital or at some other place. No recovery has been made from him. The evidence of PW-9 is shaky as she stated that she had not seen the tenants, whom the accused used to visit by coming in an Ambassador car. Pantangi Balarama Venkata Ganesh vs. State of Andhra Pradesh. AIR 2009 SC 3129 : 2009 CrLJ 4144 (SC) : 2009 (10) Scale 69 : 2009 (5) Supreme 506 : 2009 (6) SLT 364 : 2009 (11) SCR 636 : 2009 (3) JCC 2470.

Some inconsistency in evidence can be ignored when witnesses belonged to a deprived Section of society. PW. 1 stated that he had come to the place of incident as his uncle, the deceased, was a candidate in the election. His presence is, therefore, absolutely natural. PW. 5 stated that she was vegetable vendor and had come to the site in order to sell her wares. Mr. Rao, has, however, sought to demolish her testimony by observing that she had started from her house at about 7.00 a.m. (as stated by her) and had reached the murder site after selling vegetables to several people and realising this difficulty she had changed the time to 6.00 a.m. To suit the circumstance that the murder too had committed at 7.00 a.m. We are of the opinion that inconsistency can be ignored as the witnesses belonged to a deprived Sec. of society and her statement was being recorded after 8 years of the incident. It also cannot be ignored that PW. 5 was hawking vegetables and it would, therefore, have been logical for her to have chosen the polling site for a visit as that would have ensured a crowd, and a crowd would have meant good business. Mr. Rao has also pointed out that PW. 5 belonged to the Congress party which was the party of the deceased as well whereas the appellants belonged to the Telugu Desam Party and as such she could not be said to be an impartial witness. The matter has been extensively dealt with by the High Court and we believe that had there been any motive to implicate any body on the basis of party affiliations, the main role in the entire incident would have been ascribed to A. 6 who was the rival candidate. On the contrary A. 6 has been given a very minor role in the entire incident and this was one of factors that had let to his acquittal by the trial Court and the confirmation of that order by the High Court as well.

A perusal of the injuries would reveal that Injury No. 1 has been caused by A. 1. Injury No. 2 either by A. 2 or A. 3, Injury No. 3 by A. 1, Injury Nos. 4 and 5 by A. 1 with a stone and there are three or four additional injuries (on which emphasis has been laid by Mr. Rao) as they remain unexplained. Even assuming, however, that three injuries out of eight are unexplained, this one circumstance alone would not destroy the flow of the other evidence. It is clear that the incident had happened in the course of the Mandal Parishad Elections with several people being involved and a large group of spectators being present at the spot. In this scenario we feel that it would have been well nigh impossible for any witness to have given a mathematical or precise description of all the injuries that had been caused and that too in a melee. The fact remains that the injuries found on the dead body correspond fully with the weapons that had been used. As a matter of fact Injury Nos. 4 and 5 which appeared to be inflicted with a stone allegedly in the hands of A.1 clearly prove the veracity of the story as it would have been inconceivable for a witness to have imagined that a stone, (a very unusual weapon for a pre-planned attack) would be used as A. 1 was also armed with a knife which he used after the injury had been caused with a stone. We are thus of the opinion that the medical evidence does not in any way contradict the ocular evidence.

We have also gone through the so called improvements/ inconsistencies in the statements given by PW. 1 and PW. 5 to the police vis-a-vis their statements in Court. It must be emphasized that the incident happened in the year 1995 whereas the evidence was recorded after about 8 years. Some discrepancies are, therefore, bound to occur. The question to be noted is as to whether the discrepancies or improvements are such which go to the root of the matter and affect veracity of the prosecution's story. We are of the opinion that the evidence herein does not fall within this slippery category. It is clear from the FIR recorded by PW. 1 and his statement in Court that PW. 5 had been present at the time of the incident. The other discrepancies that have been pointed out are to no avail keeping in view the over all picture. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the High Court was fully justified in interfering in the matter and was well within its jurisdiction to do so, even in the light of the judgments cited by Mr. Rao. The appeals are, accordingly, dismissed. Gamina Bala Koteswara Rao vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2009 (4) Crimes 87 (SC) : 2009 (10) SCC 636 : 2009 (12) JT 416 : 2009 (12) Scale 611 : 2009 (14) SCR 1 : 2009 (6) Supreme 718 : 2009 (7) SLT 745.

Doubtful evidence—Murder with common intention. Firstly, the combined effect of the evidence of PW. 4, Exh. C1 and the evidence of PW. 17 and PWs. 1 and 3 is that there is marked contradiction between the statements of the witnesses and the documents. If in Exh. C1 it was stated that an unidentified body was brought to the hospital, it is not explained as to how and why PW. 4 the police constable did not tell the doctor that the identity was known. The modes of investigation of the police would be indifferent directions if an unidentified body is brought and when a known person's body is brought. It is strange that PW. 4 who is supposed to have known the name of the deceased from PWs. 1 and 3 chose not to tell the name of the deceased to the Doctor. Further PW. 17's statement is full of contradictions. Initially he denied to have received Exh. C1, but later on he accepted to have received the same. Even thereafter he did not offer any explanation as to how and why it was stated in the Doctor's intimation that an unidentified body was brought. This could have been clarified had the doctor being examined. For reasons known to the prosecution, he was not examined as a witness. Though the High Court noted that there was no dispute that the FIR was lodged at 10.45 PM, that is factually incorrect. In fact from the very beginning the accused persons have been taking the stand that the FIR was not lodged at 10.45 PM as claimed, otherwise it would not have reached the Court which is situated at a distance of 250 yards after about 15 hours. No explanation has been offered as to why this delay had occurred. Had any explanation been offered by the prosecution the Court could have considered acceptability or otherwise of the explanation. That has not been done. Though ignorance of PW. 1 about the scooter number, model and other relevant factors may not in all cases be suspicious circumstances, but in the present case this assumes importance.

Above being the position, the inevitable conclusion is that prosecution has failed to establish the accusations, and appellants are entitled to acquittal which we direct. The appellants be released forthwith from custody unless required to be in custody in any other case. The appeal is allowed. N.H. Muhammed Afras vs. State of Kerala, AIR 2009 SC 731 : 2008 (15) SCC 315 : 2008 (14) Scale 683 : 2008 (13) JT 30 : 2008 (16) SCR 560 : 2008 (9) SLT 619.

Insufficient evidence—Bride burning—Allegations against husband. The three circumstances brought on record by the prosecution and highlighted by the trial Court and High Court are as follows : (i) Deceased Sofiya met with an unnatural death; (ii) Deceased Sofiya had died in the room which was solely and exclusively occupied by her and her husband i.e. accused; (iii) The appellant has not offered any explanation in respect of the incident in which deceased Sofiya had sustained burns."

We have gone through the evidence on record and we find that the High Court has arrived at some conclusions which, in our opinion, are based on surmises and conjectures, without there being any evidence to support the conclusion. That being so, we find that the charge against the appellant has not been established. Sohel Mehaboob Shaikh vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2702 : 2009 (12) SCC 588 : 2009 (5) Scale 704 : 2009 (8) JT 297 : 2009 (6) SCR 483 : 2009 (5) SLT 248 : 2009 (3) JCC 2310.

85. Last seen together.—Where appellant husband killing wife who was deceased. They were married two years ago—Only had circumstantial evidence—Relations between them was not normal—Last seen together before they went to sleep—Next morning wife found dead covered with quilt on bed—No possibility of suicide. The accused was absconding. Hence conviction was upheld. Kuldip Sharma v. State, (1995) 4 Crimes 225 (SC).

Last seen theory—When not reliable. There are three main incriminating circumstances against the accused. The first piece of evidence is the suggestion that the third person who was urinating close by the bridge was Gopal Sah, the second, the extra judicial confession made by Dasrath Sah and the third, the recovery of alleged murder weapon – a sickle. We are of the opinion that this evidence is, to say the least, unacceptable. It has come in the statement of PW. 8 Kameshwar Choudhary that he had seen Dasrath Sah alonog with the deceased near the bridge and that another person was urinating close by. It is the suggestion and inference that this person was Gopal Sah.

We find that in this situation the statement of PW. 5 Mohd. Nadaf that he had seen the three convicted accused moving swiftly away from the direction of the site of the murder at about 7.30 p.m. or that he had seen the appellant Gopal Sah with a sickle in hand is hardly sufficient to hold him guilty of murder. We are, further, of the opinion that an extra judicial confession is, on the face of it, a weak piece of evidence and the Courts are reluctant in the absence of a chain of cogent circumstances to rely on this evidence for the purpose of recording a conviction. In any case, we find that the confession made by Dasrath Sah can, if at all, be used against him and not against his co-accused. The statement of the Investigating Officer with respect to the place where the two murder weapons had been allegedly thrown makes the recovery itself tenuous. Moreover, as the sickle allegedly in the hands of Gopal Sah had been recovered from a pond three months after the murder, no evidentiary value whatsoever can be attached to this circumstance as well.

As the appeal of Bhushan Sah had been dismissed on merits, the appeal of Gopal Sah must meet the same fate must now be examined. We observe that Bhushan Sah's appeal had been dismissed in limine on the ground of limitation as also on merits but we have chosen to hear the present appeal after leave had been granted by this Court long before Bhushan's special leave petition had been filed. We, even otherwise, are of the opinion that the evidence involving Bhushan Sah is qualitatively and quantitatively different from the evidence against Gopal Sah, as would be apparent from the circumstances noted above, not only with respect to the last seen but also relating to the recovery of various items from his house which could be said to be relatable to the murder. We must, therefore, conclude that the dismissal of the special leave petition of Bhushan Sah in limine, would not by itself be a ground to dismiss the appeal of Gopal Sah.

Held that the judgment of the trial Court and the High Court in so far as Gopal Sah is concerned to be unsustainable. He is accordingly acquitted of all charges. The appeal is allowed in the above terms. Gopal Sah vs. State of Bihar, 2008 (16) Scale 224 : 2009 (1) SLT 369 : 2009 (1) JCC 322.

The dead body was found on 20.01.1996 whereas accused persons were stated to have been seen in the company of the deceased on 08/09.01.1996. PW. 9, the wife of the deceased admitted that the parties separated on 09.01.1996. The missing person's report was lodged on 12.01.1996 by PW. 11 the nephew of the deceased.

The only evidence which appears to have been pressed into service by the prosecution was that the injections were recovered from a lane near the house of the accused.

It is to be noted that the High Court recorded a finding as if it was proved through the prosecution evidence and medical evidence and the report of Doctor that the cause of death of the deceased was 'Organo Phosphorous' which was administered to him. This finding is apparently wrong. The doctor's opinion as is evident from Exh. P. 15-1 that the cause of death was not possible to be noted because the body was decomposed.

According to the FSL report Exh. P4 medicine called Diazepam "Tranquilizer" was found in the stomach intestine, lever, heart, kidney and lungs etc. In view of the shaky nature of the evidence adduced it would be unsafe to convict the appellants. The conviction as recorded by the trial Court and upheld by the High Court stand quashed. Ramesh Bhai vs. State of Rajasthan, 2009 CrLJ 2991 : 2009 (2) Crimes 337 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 603 : 2009 (6) Scale 320 : 2009 (7) JT 439 : 2009 (3) Supreme 722 : 2009 (4) SLT 659 : 2009 (6) SCR 949.

The last seen theory comes into play where the time gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were last seen together alive and when deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible. It would be difficult in some cases to positively establish that the deceased was last seen with the accused when there is a long gap and possibility of other persons coming in between exists. In absence of any other positive evidence to conclude that the accused and the deceased were last seen together, it would be hazardous to come to a conclusion of guilt in those cases. The circumstance of last seen together does not by itself and necessarily lead to the inference that it was the accused who committed the crime. There must be something more establishing connectivity between the accused and the crime. There may be cases where, on account of close proximity of place and time between the event of the accused having been last seen with the deceased and the factum of death, a rational mind may be persuaded to reach an irresistible conclusion that either the accused should explain how and in what circumstances the victim suffered the death or should own the liability for the homicide.

In the present case there is no such close proximity of time and place. From the evidence as stated, such inference cannot be drawn. The prosecution has led the evidence that the appellant and the deceased went together on 16-4-1987 whereas the dead body of the deceased was recovered on 18-4-1987. There is a long gap between the two. The prosecution has taken a consistent case that the deceased was lastly seen alive in the company of the appellant at about 8 p.m. on 16-4-1987. Informant had stated that appellant and deceased went together at about 5 p.m. and after some time the deceased came back to home. At about 8 p.m. the appellant again came to his house and took his son. Thereafter, his son did not return home. Whereas mother of deceased had not stated that the appellant came twice to her house on the date of incident. She had only stated that the appellant took her son from the house at about 5 p.m. There is a variation between the statement of two. Thus, the evidence of the prosecution is self-contradictory and cannot be relied upon. Similarly it is in the evidence that informant father and mother of the deceased were not present at home at the time when the deceased was allegedly taken by appellant. Thus, the evidence of last seen is self-contradictory. It is also in the evidence that the deceased was involved in the theft of wood and ginger. It reveals that he had the bad antecedents in the village. Thus, the evidence of the prosecution did not constitute a circumstance which draws an incriminating inference against the accused alone and connect him with the crime. Gopal Singh and Anr. v. State of Uttaranchal, 2007 CriLJ 1972 (Uttaranchal).

Various articles belonging to deceased were recovered at the instance of accused and there was no satisfactory explanation as to how accused came to be in possession of these articles. Accused persons were also found in the company of deceased at various places immediately preceding day of death of deceased. Their conviction was held proper. Kanti Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 2487 : AIR 2004 SC 2536 : 2004(3) Supreme 377 : 2004(2) Crimes 420 (SC) : 2004 SCC (Cr) 1760.

The deceased was last seen in the company of accused persons by two independent witnesses but their evidence did not stand test of scrutiny and it could not be believed that they had actually seen deceased in company of accused. Extra-judicial confession made by one of accused was found not reliable. Thus case against accused was built on suspicion with no clinching and conclusive evidence. It was held that conviction was liable to be set aside. Shakil Ahmad v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 91 (All) : 2003(3) Crimes 26 : 2003 All LJ 2528 : 2003(47) All Cri C 141 : 2003(2) All Cri R.

Last seen theory—Applicability of. It would be difficult in some cases to positively establish that the deceased was last seen with the accused when there is a long gap and possibility of other persons coming in between exists. In the absence of any other positive evidence to conclude that the accused and the deceased were last seen together, it would be hazardous to come to a conclusion of guilt in those cases. Tipparam Prabhakar vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2009 CrLJ 3032 : 2009 (6) JT 205 : 2009 (6) Scale 375 : 2009 (7) SCR 142 : 2009 (5) SLT 94.

The accused and his wife (deceased) were living in a shed and were last seen there. However Court refused to accept this much evidence as witnesses stated that accused an deceased were talking in Malayalam whereas they were Tamilians and in normal course used to talk in their mother tongue. The conviction of accused was set aside. Arunachalam Kodaloor v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3980 (Ker) : 2003(2) Ker LJ 225 : 2003(4) All Cri R 842.

Where evidence of witnesses showed that the deceased boy aged 4-5 years was last seen together with accused, it was held that in view of cogent evidence linking accused from time when deceased boy was missing to proximate time of his death, conviction was held justified. Ramdayal v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 1496 (Raj) : 2005 Cri LR (Raj) Rai 428 : 2005(1) Raj Cri C 469 : 2005(2) WLC 47.

When identity of deceased not established and last seen together also not proved. Hence conviction set aside. Jagroop Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR 87 (Raj).

Where conviction based on the testimony of "last seen together" justified and motive not proved—Conviction cannot be upheld. Bhoma Acharya v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 132 : 1994 R Cr C 52.

The accused and deceased were last seen together and thereafter the deceased was found dead in the quarter which was allotted to wife of accused. The offensive weapon was discovered at the instance of accused. As per medical report the injuries were capable of causing death in the ordinary course of nature. The conviction of accused was held proper. Naringham Shyam Kanhai Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1435 (Gau) : 2002(2) Gauhati LR 348.

The evidence relating to the last seen aspect is concerned witness stated that the accused and the deceased slept together in the room. Strangely PW. 9 stated that the deceased slept alone and the appellant had not come to his house. PW. 1 is the sister of the deceased. PW. 8 the de-facto complainant i.e. the father of the deceased resiled from the statement made during investigation and stated that he had not told anybody that appellant was sleeping with the deceased. In view of the diametrically opposite version as to whether the accused and the deceased were seen together in the house it would be unsafe to direct his conviction. The prosecution has failed to prove the accusations. That being so, the conviction of the appellant is set aside and he is acquitted of the charges. Since he is in custody let him be released forthwith unless required to be in custody in any other case. Arun Bhakta vs. State of West Bengal, AIR 2009 SC 1228 : 2008 (15) Scale 145 : 2009 (12) JT 513 : 2008 (17) SCR 73 : 2008 (2) JCC 300.

The accused desired to marry deceased but she did not want to do so. Circumstances should that she died of homicidal death. The motive of accused for commission of crime was established and also accused and deceased were last seen together. It was held that accused was liable to be convicted for the murder. Matu Munda v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC)162 (Orissa) : 2003(25) OCR 22 Ori.

In a Rajasthan case, the accused and deceased were last seen together and thereafter she was found dead. The proximity of time and place ruled out possibility of any person other than the accused being the culprit of the crime. The conviction of accused was held proper. Govind Ram v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4189 (Raj) : 2003(47) All Cri C 730.

86. Benefit of doubt.—The accused were charged under Section 302/34 and acquitted by trial Court but High Court set aside the acquittal of the appellant and had convicted him under Section 302 as other accused had died during the pendency of suit. On appeal to Supreme Court it was found that two pieces of evidence in regard to the same fact were uncontroverted and uncorroborated. The accused was, therefore, acquitted by giving him benefit of doubt and conviction order of High Court was set aside. Bhim Singh v. State of Haryana, 2003 Cr LJ 857 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 693 : 2002(10) SCC 461 : 2003(1) Crimes 419 (SC) : 2003(1) Supreme 386 : 2003 SCC (Cr) 1469.

In a Supreme Court case, the prosecution had not succeeded fully in proving the guilt of the accused. The independent evidence was not sufficient to prove that he had actively participated in the conspiracy. The conduct exhibited by the accused would cast serious suspicion on him, but that by itself was not sufficient to find him guilty of the offence under Section 302 read with Section 34, and 120B, IPC. It was held that the accused was entitled to get the benefit of doubt. Sidharth v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 4499 : AIR 2005 SC 4352 : 2005(4) Crimes 135 (SC) : 2005(12) JT 310 : 2005(7) Scale 700.

In a Calcutta case there was no specific evidence that on fateful night the accused had assaulted the deceased wife and chain of circumstances unmistakably pointing to the guilt of accused was not established. The conviction was set aside by giving benefit of doubt. Shambhu Nath Bar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 975 (Cal) : 2003 (1) Cal HN 443 : 2003 (2) Cal LT 389.

In a case where a man is on trial for his life every ambiguity in the law of procedure should be resolved in his favour. AIR 1941 Nag 94 : 42 Cr LJ 154. See the following cases where the accused was given benefit of doubt. 1942 MWN 815 ; AIR 1941 Mad 238 : 42 Cr LJ 654 ; AIR 1939 Lah 428: 40 Cr LJ 928 ; 40 Cr LJ 435 : AIR 1938 Lah 787 ; 40 PLR 542 ; 39 Cr LJ 561 : AIR 1938 Rang 156 ; AIR 1938 Sind 63 : 39 Cr LJ 460 : 1936 Pat 486 : 37 Cr LJ 986 ; AIR 1974 SC. SC 190 : 1978 Cr LJ 1869 (conviction based on circumstantial evidence and dying declaration : AIR 1982 SC 1023 : 1982 Cr LJ 987 (a complete chain of circumstantial evidence established guilt) ; see also 1980 Cr LJ (SC) 666 : 1981 Cr LJ (SC) 123 ; AIR 1985 SC 766 : 1985 Cr LJ 530 (non-completion of the chain).

The suggestion about some enemies of 'A' committing murder under cover of darkness was fit to be rejected out right because enemies of accused would be friends of deceased 'A' and they would not commit murder of 'A'. The reason does not appear to be sound. Therefore the appeal deserves to be partly allowed while dismissing the appeal of appellant's and maintaining his conviction and sentence and appeal of 'AS' deserves to be allowed as he is entitled to benefit of doubt. Sirajuddin v. State, 1995 UP Cr R 23 (All).

Delay in filing F.I.R. explained. Delay was not fatal. Both parties took liquor and after altercation accused gave iron pipe blows to deceased. Details of blows not given by eye-witnesses whose evidence thus wholly unreliable—Defence pleas find support from medical and other evidence including evidence of chemical examiner that deceased was dead drunk. Medical evidence reliable and contradicts ocular account of eye-witnesses—Recovery of blood-stained clothes from person of accused after three days of occurrence not reliable Recovery of iron pipe from open space which is accessible to all cannot be relied upon. Hence prosecution case not proved. Accused given benefit of doubt and acquitted. Dharmender alias Chiniya v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 CC Cases 177 : (1995) 3 Crimes 815 : 1995 Cr LJ 3119 (P&H).

Where eye-witnesses was not reliable. There was contradiction on the point of time and place of apprehension of appellant. The firearm recovered was not sent to Ballistic Expert for opinion regarding its condition and its use in commission of offence. Prosecution fails to prove the case beyond reasonable doubt. Therefore conviction and sentence set aside and acquittal by giving benefit of doubt. Krishan v. State of Haryana, (1995) 2 Crimes 630 (P & H).

On the fateful night appellant was sleeping with the deceased and blood-stained clothes were found. But there was no other corroborative evidence. Hence conviction was not justified and benefit of doubt given. (Smt.) Kanku. v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 Crimes 527 : 1994 Cr LJ 2077 (Raj).

The site plan was not fitting in with prosecution-story. Medical evidence not at all helping prosecution. There were no reliable ocular evidences that accused was seen firing gun-shot at deceased. Accused, therefore, entitled to benefit of doubt. Conviction and sentence set aside. Ram Prasad Meena v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 WLC (Raj) 584.

Where the allegation of wife murdering husband on very first night of marriage was unnatural and against human conduct. Hence accused is held entitled to benefit of doubt and accused released. Smt. Jamni v. State, (1995) 2 WLC (Raj) 84: (1995) 3 Crimes 350 : 1995 Cr LJ 3071 : (1995) 1 RCD 325. (Raj).

Where prosecution failed to establish his guilt. Therefore accused can claim for benefit of doubt. Surekha Narayan Bharade v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B Cr C 285 (Bom).

There was serious inconsistency between the evidence of eye-witnesses and medical evidence. It was not safe to rely on such witnesses. Hence conviction on the basis of ocular evidence was not sustainable. Accused appellants are thus entitled to benefit of doubt. Attru alias Attar Khan & Ors v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 293 (P&H).

Merely on the basis of seizure and discovery at his instance his conviction was held not sustainable and hence benefit of doubt was given to the accused. Bhurya alias Subhan v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 3 Crimes 62 (Bom).

Where prosecution not able to prove the charge under Sections 304/34, I.P.C. against any of the accused persons beyond all reasonable doubt as such entitled to benefit of doubt. Ram Chandra Sharma v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 684 (Ranchi Bench).

In a case the young lady was strangulated in her in-laws house within few months of her marriage. She was not suffering from any disease but medical report was not sure as to cause of death and possibility of partial hanging could not be ruled out. The accused was acquitted by giving him benefits of doubt. Babu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1174 (Bom) : 2002 All MR (Cri) 2204.

In a M.P. case there were two sets of evidence showing how deceased was injured. Eye witness told that injuries were caused by accused by striking with stone whereas doctor in his cross-examination said that deceased had told him that she was beaten by her husband. Two sets of versions created strong suspicion about role attributed to accused. It was held that in the absence of proof for any motive the accused was entitled to the benefit of doubt. Ram Singh Dhobi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 248 (MP).

Where one of them is child-witness—Witnesses residing 150 yards away from the incident. Hence benefit of doubt given. Dhoba v. State of Orissa, (1994) 2 Crimes 823 (Ori).

Where no infirmities in evidence against A-1 and A-2 seizure of iron rod and possession of key not proved. Hence A-1 and A-2 are entitled to get benefit of doubt. Kannaboina Vittal Rao alias Vittal v. State of Andhra Pradesh rep. by Public Prosecutor, (1994) 2 ALT (Cri) 482 (AP) (DB).

Appellants not found guilty of offence of murder—As regards the injured he suffered four injuries individually simple but cumulatively sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death—Injuries meeting death after 3 days—No intention to kill. Offence covered by Section 302, I.P.C.—No overt act attributed to wife of appellant. Hence given benefit of doubt. Therefore appellant convicted under Section 304, I.P.C. Daula Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr. LR 368 (Raj).

The child witness and hostile witnesses have not been believed. Two witnesses have supported the prosecution story and it is also corroborated by medical evidence—But the case of accused stands on different footing. His participation is doubtful.—Hence entitled to benefit of doubt. Conviction of others upheld. Nagusing v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 127 (MP).

Where major contradictions in anti mortem examination and post mortem examination regarding injuries received by the deceased. Hence it made the prosecution case doubtful. Sohanpal v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 341 : 1995 (32) ACC 43 : 1995 ALJ 838 (Alld).

Incident occurred very near to the house of the deceased. Eye-witnesses were brothers of the deceased. They left place of occurrence after witnessing incident and did not stay there near dead-body—Incident having taking place at 2.30 a.m., wife of deceased not going to place of incident till 6 a.m. though she was informed immediately—Conduct of these persons creates doubt about prosecution story. Involvement of accused persons doubtful—Some other persons might have caused death and some had grudge against deceased person for his alleged intimacy with a harijan lady—No person of Hari Janwada which being very near to the place of occurrence examined. Therefore involvement of accused in crime not proved hence they are acquitted giving benefit of doubt. Shanker Rao v. State of A.P., (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 690 (DB) (AP).

Where accused physically weak—Defence version under Section 313. Cr. P.C. denying extra-judicial admission of guilt and that real culprits were not before Court. It is held, that accused falsely implicated and given benefit of doubt. Conviction set aside. Parvatibai Baban Shinde v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 Cri LJ 1253 (Bom).

Where offence of murder committed by two accused. Benefit of doubt is given to one as case not fully provide against him while conviction of other accused. Appeal is dismissed by High Court—Further contention of accidental firing—Case against appellant based on evidence of eye-witnesses being natural ones and fully corroborated by evidence of doctor and post-mortem report. Delay in filing F.I.R. fully explained by prosecution. Hence interference was not warranted. The case of accidental firing as sought to be contended cannot be accepted. It has been rightly held by the Courts below that the presence of the eye-witnesses at the place of occurrence was natural and their depositions were not liable to be discarded. It also appears that the depositions of the eye-witnesses stand amply corroborated from the evidence of the doctor and also the post-mortem report. The delay in lodging the First Information Report has been explained by the father of the deceased and such explanation has been rightly accepted by the High Court and Supreme Court did not find any cogent reason to take a contrary view. The High Court in discarding the case of accidental fire on account of the alleged tussle between the deceased and the appellant appear to be quite reasonable. There is also force in the submission of Mr. B that simply because prosecution case against accused No. 1 was not accepted to be fully proved, the case against the appellant should not be dismissed. In the aforesaid circumstances, Court finds no reason to take a contrary view in the matter and the appeal, therefore, fails and is dismissed. Pupinder Pal Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Crimes 1010 at p. 1016 (SC) : 1994(3) JT 14 : 1994(1) Scale 865.

When guilt not proved beyond reasonable doubt, conviction is not sustainable. Rameshwar Ram v. State of Bihar, 1997 (1) Crimes 552 (Pat) : 1994 (3) JT 14 : 1994 (1) Scale 865 : 1994 92) UJ 40 : 1994 (31) ATC 1153.

In Hori Lal v. State 2000 Cri LJ 3804 (All), in a dacoity with murder case the deceased was killed in firing by dacoits. Out of 15 or 16 dacoits only accused was arrested and tried. The defence pleaded false implication of accused. It appeared highly doubtful in the Court that the witnesses had sufficient opportunity to identify the accused in torch light amongst the dacoits and, therefore, the Court did not rule out the possibility of their nominating the accused on account of some enmity or under suspicion. The witnesses failed to state with which weapon the accused was armed and that he fired any shot either on the deceased or injured woman. The FIR was not lodged promptly. The incident occurred at about in the night and three police constables of a nearby out post had also arrived at the scene of occurrence within two hours of the incident and they stayed at his house throughout the night and when he went to lodge the report they were left behind at this house. The said police constables were also found present at the scene of occurrence when the first informant came back with the police after lodging the FIR. When three police constables had arrived in the night itself why FIR was made next morning was shrounded in mystery which gave rise to a suspicion that perhaps some consultation and confabulation were being made and the possibility of the accused being named on account of the same could not be ruled out. The accused was held entitled to be acquitted on benefit of doubt.

Merely because benefit of doubt has been extended to some accused, other accused persons will not be entitled to acquittal merely for the reason that their conviction is based on the testimony of same set of witnesses whose testimony has not been considered trustworthy sustain the guilt of other accused persons. Bhola Yadav v State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 377 (All).

87. Confession.—In order to convict an accused on the confessional statement it is the burden of the prosecution to prove firstly that the statement was voluntary and secondly that it was true. AIR 1981 SC 2007 : 1981 Cr LJ 1688 ; 1981 Cr LJ (NOC)

100. Confessional statement cannot be rejected merely because only three hour's time was given. AIR 1985 SC 823 : AIR 1985 SC 48 (in case of extra-judicial confession to a close friend, evidence of friend found reliable and trustworthy; no corroboration necessary).

Section.313 Cr. P.C. is intended to secure the accused an opportunity to explain the evidence against him. It is for the benefit of the accused and not to operate as to his detriment. The purpose for examination of the accused under Sec. 313 Cr. P.C. and to put question to the accused by the Court is to enable the accused to explain the circumstances appearing against him in the evidence. The examination of the accused under Sec. 313 Cr. P.C. and putting question to the accused by the Court at that stage is obligatory after the evidence of the prosecution is closed and the accused is called on for defence. In a case where there is no other evidence available on the record to connect the accused with the crime and to establish the charge against him beyond all reasonable doubts, then it can very well be said that there is nothing in the prosecution evidence which requires to be explained by the accused and therefore, the need for the examination of the accused under Sec. 313 Cr. P.C. does not and cannot arise.

In the present case, except the statements of the appellant made under Sec. 313 Cr. P.C. wherein he admitted his guilt, there is no other evidence at all on the record to establish the charge against the appellant. In such a situation, the trial Court could not have convicted and sentenced the appellant for the offence under Sec. 302 IPC solely on the basis of the statements of the appellant made at the stage of examination under Sec. 313 CrPC. Dubraj Oraon v. State of Bihar (now Jharkhand), 2007 CriLJ 4667 (Jhar).

Conviction on the basis of extra-judicial confession of the accused before an illiterate labourer of a brick kiln, cannot be held proper. Balbir Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 Crimes 27 : (1955) 1 CCR 459 : 1995 Cr R 91 (P & H).

There was no eye-witness. The extra-judicial confession made before wife does not inspire confidence. Further the knife alleged to be used in crime was recovered from open place accessible to all and after 4 days of incident. It is not properly sealed. Hence conviction not sustainable. Raju Singh alias Nageshwar v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 1 (Raj).

Where accused committing murder of his wife by throttling. Extra-judicial confession made prior to lodging of F.I.R.—But same not mentioned in F.I.R. nor in statement of witness recorded under Section 161, Cr. P.C.—Prosecution witness turned hostile. There found no evidence to connect accused with crime. Hence it was the conviction which was not held proper. Therefore accused was acquitted. Bhanwar Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 RCD 241 (Raj).

Where there is being high degree of probability and there is no conjectures or suspicion in framing link. Extra-judicial confession fully consistent with circumstantial evidence. It is held that guilt of accused appellant fully established and appeal was dismissed. Gokaraju Venkatanarasa Raju v. State of A.P., 1994 SCC (Cri) 376 : 1994 JIC (SC) : 1993(5) JT 71 : 1993(3) Scale 495 : 1993(3) Crimes 235.

Where extra-judicial confession made by accused to her mother and respectable persons of the village. Conviction can be based on such extra-judicial confession. Sustenance of conviction proper. Arjun Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 552 (Raj).

Where three accused made joint confession before a person with whom they had intimacy. It was not disclosed who out of three accused made the disclosure. Hence no reliance could be placed on such confession. Niranjan Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 620 (P & H) (DB).

Where there were discrepancies in evidence regarding extra-judicial confession. Accused retracted from confession during examination under Section 313, Cr. P.C. There is no evidence that accused and deceased slept together in the house. The report was lodged next day by accused. The statement made by accused to police is inadmissible in evidence under Section 25 of Evidence Act. Hence conviction not sustainable. Ravula Sarangam v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1995) 3 Crimes 767 : (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 287 (AP).

When no evidence on record to even faintly suggest that concerned him with crime. Medical evidence conflicts the contents of confession and that confession retracted. No material to lend corroboration to the contents of confession. Hence conviction was set aside. Indrajit Deb v. State of Tripura, (1995) 2 GLR 131 (Gau).

When some witness turned hostile, no independent witness to corroborate extra-judicial confession. No evidence on bringing of petrol—No motive was also not proved—Witness inventing new story in Court.—Held, acquittal justified. State of Rajasthan v. Tara Chand, (1995) 1 RCD (Raj).

Where conviction was on the basis of extra-judicial confession duly supported by other evidence.—Held, sustainable. Tanguru Munda v. State of Orissa, (1995) 1 Crimes 99 (Ori).

It is inadmissible that confession cannot be made before unknown person. Satbir Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 366 (P & H) (DB) : 1995 Cr. LJ 739 : 1995 (2) Crimes 777.

When motive to take the vengeance was established—Delay in F.I.R. was proved not to be fatal—Injuries inflicted with sharp-edged weapon—Ocular account corroborated from medical evidence and F.I.R.—Extra judicial confession before prosecution-witness was found to be voluntary and reliable. Hence, prosecution case established beyond reasonable doubt. Conviction upheld. Appeal was dismissed. Piara Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 CC Cases 42 (P & H).

It is impossible to conceive any situation where a man on bail can be brought in custody till outside Court room with only purpose for getting his confessional statement recorded by Magistrate. This is nothing but forcing a confession if not coercing a man on bail for getting recorded a confession. Such statement loses the basic character of being voluntary one and has thus to be disregarded completely. Kanti v. State of U.P., 1994 UP Cr R 374 (All).

The seizure of gun and empty cartridges on the basis of confessional statement of accused-appellant and other circumstances put together leave no doubt whatsoever that it was the appellant and appellant alone who fired the fatal shot at deceased from close quarter. Hence the impugned judgment warrants no interference. Jiwanlal v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 149.

Where conviction based solely on evidence of last seen evidence and extra-judicial confession and there was absence of eye-witness—Conviction held not sustainable. Balya and Pramod v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 4 Crimes 427 (Bom).

In murder of step son of accused by beating and knocking against wall. presence of eye-witness being mother of deceased at time of occurrence being natural and her evidence being trustworthy and corroborative and extra-judicial confession of accused also being natural and voluntary, guilt proved beyond reasonable doubt. Ram Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cr. LJ 3783 (Raj).

Conviction cannot be based solely on extra-judicial confession without any independent corroboration. Jagatram Major v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 383 (Ori).

88. Extra Judicial Confession.—The accused committed murder of his own brother while he was sleeping in the field. The extra judicial confession was made before witnesses who were residents of same village to which the accused belonged and their evidence showed that accused had made voluntary confession on his own accord without any fear and pressure. The guilt of accused, it was held, stood proved beyond doubt and conviction was proper. Harkesh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4181 (Raj) : 2003(4) WLC 522.

The accused killed his wife as he suspected her character. Other circumstances also pointed towards the guilt of accused. His conviction under Section 302/201 was held proper as extra-judicial confession made by accused was found reliable. Kamla Muntaratnam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4782 (AP) : 2003(3) Crimes 109 : 2003(2) DMC 340 : 2003(2) GCD Guj 1109.

The accused killed the deceased by throttling and then created the scene of suicide by hanging. The motive was to grab the property. The confession by accused was made before the villagers some of whom were eye-witnesses and had stated in their deposition that they had seen accused tightening string on neck of deceased and pressing her chest. The conviction of accused was held proper. Tulabala Sardesai v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 204 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 924 : 12003(2) JCR JHA 682.

The accused, a doctor by profession, had killed his wife and submitted fake medical certificate that wife had died of cardiac arrest but doctor issuing the certificate subsequently admitted that certificate was fabricated. The letters of deceased written to her father showed that she was subjected to cruelty by her husband. The Evidence of witness with whom accused made extra judicial confession was reliable. Since dead body was not traced the conviction of accused under Section 302/201 was held proper. In words of Court, "The guilt of the appellant under Section 302/201 is proved to the hilt by clinching circumstantial evidence coupled by his extra judicial confession. Dharamvir Singh v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 192 (Gau) : 2003 All LJ 1241 : 2003(3) Cri R 123.

89. Private defence.—Where right of private defence is rightly exercised in reacting and causing injuries to deceased—One accused-appellant still chased deceased running away and hit him with an axe till he fell down and thus he exceeded his right of private defence—He is thus convicted under Section 304, Part I and others acquitted. Sewa Ram v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 121 (All).

The injuries sustained by the deceased would clearly show that the place of injury on the deceased was on his head starting from right frontal region and going to right parietal and occipital region on upper part and coming back to left parietal and frontal region being 'U' shaped.

We would assume that a scuffle ensued between the accused on the one hand and the deceased and the prosecution witnesses on the other. It, however, stands admitted that the barrel of the gun was towards the earth. The first shot which was fired, did not have any space to exist as a result whereof it bursted. While the scuffle was going on to snatch the gun, it would be wholly unlikely that the second shot would hit the top of head of the deceased in such a manner. The Autopsy Surgeon, PW-4 in his report showed the place where the deceased suffered the gun-shot injury, in the sketch attached thereto. The place of injury was the top of the head. If the barrel of the gun was facing the ground any accidental fire could have hit the lower part of the body and not the head of the deceased.

We, therefore, could not persuade ourselves to agree with the contention of Mr. Sinha. State of Punjab vs. Gurlabh Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2469 : 2009 (8) JT 487 : 2009 (7) Scale 601 : 2009 (8) SCR 853 : 2009 (4) SLT 611.

Right of Private defence—When not available.—Accused entered office room of deceased, threw chilly powder into his eyes, picked up an iron hammer as well as a brick lying there and assaulted deceased in presence of complainant, a worker engaged by deceased. Trial Court finding evidence cogent, credible, recorded conviction of appellant. The question in such a case would be a question of assessing the true effect of the prosecution evidence, and not a question of the accused discharging any burden. Where the right of private defence is pleaded, the defence must be a reasonable and probable version satisfying the Court that the harm caused by the accused was necessary for either warding off the attack or for forestalling the further reasonable apprehension from the side of the accused. The burden of establishing the plea of self-defence is on the accused and the burden stands discharged by showing preponderance of probabilities in favour of that plea on the basis of the material on record.

When the factual scenario is examined in the background of the principles set out above, the inevitable conclusion is that the appeal is without merit, deserves dismissal which we direct. Arun vs. State of Maharashtra, 2009 CrLJ 2065 : 2009(2) Crimes 6(SC) : 2009(4) SCC 615 : 2009(3) Scale 803 : 2009(4) JT 78 : 2009(3) SLT 220.

Accused need not plead self-defence by examining some witnesses on his behalf or by making any statement. If there are materials, culled out from the cross-examination to indicate that the occurrence had taken place, while exercising the self-defence, then, Court can conclude that it is a case of private defence, in order to decide about the nature of the offence committed by the accused. But, in this case, except the suggestion made to the witnesses, there is no material available on record to indicate that the accused had attacked the deceased, in exercise of his self-defence. Nagaraj v. State, 2006 CriLJ 3724 (Madras).

Accused charged with killing deceased by firing gun-shot at him. They did not put forth case of exercise of right of private defence. They merely contended that shot got fired and hit deceased during scuffle when barrel of gun was towards earth. Question of considering their case as if accused had exercised their right of private defence or exceeded same, therefore, could not have been gone into.

The High Court, in our opinion, furthermore committed a serious error in passing the impugned judgment in so far as it failed to take into consideration that the accused never put forth the case of exercise of right of private defence. According to them the deceased was accidentally hit while the scuffle was going on. The question of considering their case as if the accused had exercised their right of private defence or exceeded the same, therefore, in our opinion, could not have been gone into. State of Punjab vs. Gurlabh Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2469 : 2009(7) Scale 601 : 2009(8) JT 487 : 2009(8) SCR 853.

Incidents of cruelty, harassment and demand of dowry before death established. Offence under Section 304-B against accused against whom presumption is drawn. Hence it is held, that accused petitioner held guilty under Section 304-B only. Prakash Chandra v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 865 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 442 : (1994) 53 DLT 113 (Del) (DB).

When only one gunshot was fired and that too in self defence after receiving a severe blow on head which fractured his skull, it could not be said that he has exceeded his right of self defence. Kamal Singh v. State of M.P., 1995 JLJ 195 (MP).

Where serious injuries on person of accused not explained by prosecution and right of private defence available to them. Prosecution-facts undisputed—Sole eye-witness child being present at time of filing F.I.R. but was examined on third day—Such delay not satisfactorily explained by prosecution. Hence appeal allowed and appellants acquitted. Arjun v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 161.

Where allegation of inflicting injury in the right of private defence—Articles recovered not examined by Chemist—Conviction was rightly justified. Gora Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 Cr LR 140 (Raj).

Where accused causing more damage than necessary in exercise of his right of private defence, causing death. Hence it was held that the accused should be convicted under Section 304, Part I and not under Section 302/149. Dharam Pat v. State of U.P., 1995 SCC (Cr) 140 (SC) : AIR 1994 SC 127 : 1994 Supp(3) SCC 668 : 1994 Cr LJ 615.

Where plea of self-defence—Due to altercation between accused-appellant and deceased both raised their rifles—Accused fired three shots at deceased. It was found that there being no occasion for firing three shots for alleged self-defence, appellant was rightly convicted. Hence appeal was dismissed. Mohd. Yusuf v. State of U.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 642 (SC) : (1994) 1 CCR 137 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 688 : 1994 JIC 280 : 1994(1) Recent Cr R 464 : 1994 ALJ 386 : 1994 (1) East Cr C 269 : AIR 1994 SC 1542.

Considering that the prosecution witness themselves admit that accused persons received the sharp edged injuries in same incident and that injuries were on heads of the accused persons that no blood was found at the house of complainant the right of private defence is established. Hence appeal allowed. Ashraf v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 291 : (1995) 1 RCD 175 : 1995 Cr R 470 (Raj).

Right of private defence can be pleaded only as a defence not as an excuse for an offence. Prakash Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 1 CCR 7 (Raj).

Such plea raised at appeal stage can be considered even if no such plea was raised in statement under Section 313, Cr. P.C. Dinkar Vishram v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 269 (Bom).

Two simple injuries sustained by accused, being opined by doctor as self suffered, would not give right of private defence when accused trespassed in complainants' house, receded and then brought pistol and shot deceased. State of Haryana v. Mewa

Singh, 1997 (1) Crimes 142 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 1407 : 1997 (2) JT 226 : 1997(1) Scale 692 : 1997 (1) CCR 181 (SC) : 1997 Cr. LJ 1906 : 1997 (2) Supreme 145.

90. Murder in private defence.—When both parties came armed and indulged in free fight resulting in injuries on both sides then question as to whether any of them exercised their right of private defence is immaterial. Kewal Singh v. State of Punjab, 2004 Cr LJ 31 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 72 : 2003(4) Crimes 352 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 468 : 2003(8) Scale 626.

Right of Private defence against property.—The accused admittedly did not purchase any specific portion of the property. They purchased undivided share. By reason thereof, in law, they did not acquire any right to obtain possession of the lands. Harda Ram and his family being the co-sharers did not give any consent for handing over their possession in their favour. In law, therefore, the accused persons being purchasers of an undivided share merely acquired a right to sue for partition.

It has been amply proved that the scuffle lasted for only two minutes to two and half minutes. PW8- Rajbir was not armed with any weapon, so was not Harda Ram (the deceased). It was Lal Singh alone who had in his hand a small twig (Kamari). According to him, the same is used to drive camels. Kamari was said to be used by Lal Singh in his sole defence as a result whereof Sheo Ram and Raja Ram were injured. We have noticed hereinbefore that the injuries on the persons of the said two accused were simple in nature. It is true that the fact that two of the accused person had suffered injuries had not been disclosed in the FIR or in their Statement before the Investigating Officer, but the same, in our opinion, was not necessary inasmuch as they got themselves medically examined by Dr. Goel almost at the same time when the other prosecution witnesses got themselves examined. By that time they had already been arrested. It was the police authorities who had submitted an application along with the injuries chart. They Had been brought by Constable Satbir Singh. Thus, the fact that two of them had suffered injuries in the same incident was known to the Investigating Officer.

The FIR might have been recorded at a later stage. But the information about the occurrence must have been given by P.W.8 to the officer in-charge of Ateli Police Station prior thereto. Even a copy of the FIR was received by the Magistrate concerned at about 10.30 p.m. on the same day. Furthermore, the Investigating Officers were not cross examined on that point. In any event, it is wholly unlikely that the FIR was anti-timed and anti-dated. Even assuming that the same was anti-timed or anti-dated, the fact that an incident had occurred was not disputed. At least two of the accused persons accepted their presence. The defence story is that two accused persons had sustained injuries at the hands of the prosecution witness Lal Singh. (P.W. 12).

We have noticed hereinbefore that the appellants cannot be said to have been in 'settled possession' of the land in question. Furthermore, they came wholly armed, whereas except Lal Singh was having a small twig (Kamari), deceased party were not armed with any weapon. It was not a dangerous weapon. No grievous injuries could have been caused by use thereof and in fact no grievous injuries have been suffered by the accused Sheo Ram and Raja Ram.

Appellants herein did not raise any plea of self defence. According to them, they were not present at the spot at all. Learned Senior Counsel would contend that Accused

No.1 and Accused No.6 raised the plea of self defence. The learned trial Judge although accepted the said plea but the same was accepted not with particular reference to the said accused. All the accused persons did not raise the defence of exercise of right to private defence. In regard to claim of right of self defence, the matter may have to be considered from somewhat a different angle. Accused Nos. 6, 7 and 8 were attributed with assault of Lal Singh and two ladies, namely, Mamli and Dhankauri.

We have been taken through the depositions of P.W. 8 and P.W. 12. P.W. 12's presence stands admitted. P.W. 8's presence has been doubted by the learned Sessions Judge only on the ground that he got his father admitted at 2.30 p.m. The presence of P.W.8-Rajbir, in our opinion, could not have been doubted on such slender evidence. He was driving the tractor. Accused persons came prepared to assault the deceased. By the time the first informant could come and intervene, the entire incident must have occurred as it is stated that the same took place only for two to two and half minutes. No suggestion had been given to any of the prosecution witnesses by the defence that no tractor was found at the place or it was the deceased who himself was driving the tractor. P.W. 8 in his evidence categorically stated that he left the tractor. P.W.8 in his evidence categorically stated that he left the tractor at that place. Furthermore, his evidence, taking a holistic view of the matter, in our opinion, appears to be trustworthy. He vividly described the entire incident. He was cross examined on all material points. He had also explained as to why he did not suffer any injury categorically stating and that too in cross-examination that by the time he reached all the accused had started running with their weapons towards their respective houses. Ram Pat vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 2847 : 2009 (7) SCC 614 : 2009(8) Scale 145 : 2009(7) JT 579.

Accused need not plead self-defence by examining some witnesses on his behalf or by making any statement. If there are materials, culled out from the cross-examination to indicate that the occurrence had taken place, while exercising the self-defence, then, Court can conclude that it is a case of private defence, in order to decide about the nature of the offence committed by the accused. But, in this case, except the suggestion made to the witnesses, there is no material available on record to indicate that the accused had attacked the deceased, in exercise of his self-defence. Nagaraj v. State, 2006 CriLJ 3724 (Mad).

91. Presumption.—The presumption of guilt arising out of accused's recent possession of stolen property which had been removed from the person of the deceased at or about the time of his murder, is one of the presumptions of fact which are inferences which the Court naturally and logically draws from given facts without the help of legal direction, and therefore fall more properly within the province of logic and do not constitute a branch of jurisprudence; such presumptions are always permissive in the sense that the Court has the discretion to draw or not to draw them. Whether the Court is to draw or not to draw depends upon the circumstances of each case. AIR 1937 Rang 439.

When there is no evidence to connect appellant for injury found on person of his deceased wife and also no evidence that he was in house on fateful night, no presumption can be drawn that appellant must be in house at time of occurrence and thus conviction under Section 302 not sustainable. Mehmood v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 413 (Raj).

92. Mode of leading evidence.—In a capital case, it is important that the more important of the witnesses should be examined in such a way as would enable the Court to properly appreciate their evidence. The evidence should be led in sufficient detail and with due regard to the sequence of events, the facts which the witness saw or the facts which they did and also the reasons which actuated them to do the acts being narrated in an intelligent fashion. It is only by this means that a clear and consistent account of the whole thing may be presented before that judge and jury. 62 Cal 572 : 36 Cr LJ 808 : 155 Ind Cas 687 : 39 CWN 368 : 1935 Cr C 241 : AIR 1935 Cal 1841 (SB). Principle of falsus in uno falsus in omnibus does not apply in India. Prosecution witnesses omitting to explain injuries on the accused, but that does not entitle the acquittal on that ground alone. 1962 Raj LW 434 : ILR (1962)12 Raj 481.

93. Murder extenuating circumstances.—The mere suspicion of a wife's conduct is not an extenuation of a deliberate wife-murder. Men cannot butcher their wives and escape hanging on the plea that they suspected them of misconduct. 30 LW 229 : 1929 MWN 269 : 116 Ind Cas 142 : 30 Cr LJ 630 : AIR 1929 Mad 495. The murderer is 19 or 20 years of age and murder prompted by veneration for founder of religion is not extenuating circumstances, AIR 1930 Lah 157. The accused was brought to bay during his escape is not an extenuating circumstance. 139 Ind Cas 213 : 33 Cr LJ 722 : 1932 Cr C 857 : AIR 1932 Cal 818 (FB); see AIR 1932 Lah 500 : 33 PLR 580 : 33 Cr LJ 497.

Where the case is based on circumstantial evidence. The deceased was last seen in the company of accused. The motive to commit murder was established by three independent witnesses. Shirt of accused was seized from laundry having blood-stains. All the circumstances are clear and establish that accused in perpetrator of crime. Hence conviction and sentence is confirmed. Satbir Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Mah LR 348 (SC).

Where accused is the husband. Body was found hanging in the room conviction was justified—Accused is held guilty. Ram Prasad v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 374 : 1994 UPCR R 24 (All).

Where chain of circumstances not establish so as to lead to the only conclusion of the guilt of the accused—Dead-body was recovered at the appellant's instance. Appellant held guilty of offence under Section 201, I.P.C. but his conviction under Sections 302 and 376 set aside. Laldeep Bhagat v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 Crimes 484 (Pat) (DB).

94. Motive, adequacy of.—If the Court is satisfied as to the fact of murder the adequacy or inadequacy of the motive is not of importance. 1929 MWN 592. In a charge of murder it is wholly immaterial that the motive is inadequate. 100 Ind Cas 226 : 28 Cr LJ 258 ; 35 Cr LJ 1283 : AIR 1934 Lah 368 : 1934 Cr C 617. The accused, a student aged 17, was alleged to have distributed certain sweets containing arsenic among his fellow students. All who has received it ate it then and there except one person who took it home and gave it to his young niece and father. All the persons showed sign of arsenic poisoning and all them recovered except the niece who died. It appeared that the accused himself had eaten a portion of the sweets and there was no motive for the crime. There was no evidence that the accused prepared the sweets. Held, that the case was doubtful and that the accused could not be convicted of murder. 30 PLR 424 : 10 Lah LJ 555 : 115 Ind Cas 469 : 30 Cr LJ 478 ; see also AIR 1948 Lah 58 : 49 Cr LJ 26 ;

48 Cr LJ 786. Where in a murder case, there is direct evidence of reliable character, no question of motive can arise. 1952 Cr LJ 949 : AIR 1952 J & K 22 ; see ILR 1953 Hyd 32 : 1953 Cr LJ 935 : AIR 1935 Hyd 181. Only those motives could be brought to light which appear in the conscious portion of the individual's psychic apparatus. 1962 (2) Cr LJ 672. Absence of motive can not be sufficient to quash the conviction when there is direct testimony of the witnesses who had seen the accused committing the crime. AIR 1956 Madh Bha 169 : 1956 Cr LJ 1408 ; AIR 1957 AP 758 : 1957 Mad LJ (Cr) 421 : 1957 Cr LJ 1091 ; ILR 1962 Cut 806 ; AIR 1955 Nag 93 : ILR 1955 Nag 23 : 1955 Cr LJ 728 ; AIR I960 Mad 370 : 1960 Cr LJ 1102 ; 1961 Ker LT 201. Motive is nothing more than a link in a chain of circumstances establishing the guilt of a person. AIR 1954 J & K 42 : 1954 Cr LJ 1124. In 1960 Ker LT (SC) 1 : 1960 Ker LJ 563 the Supreme Court held that letters written by the accused to his wife in gross languages expressing his sentiments about love, marriage and sex would be sufficient to hold that to such a person the obstacle of a wife in the successful prosecution of an amour would be a motive sufficient for almost any purpose, 1960 Ker LJ 563 : 1960 Ker LT (SC) 1. Absence of motive cannot be used as a mitigating circumstance in connection with the measure of sentence to be imposed. 1963 (2) Cr LJ 481 : AIR 1963 All 501. Mere absence of motive is not enough to hold that murder charge is not established if the case is otherwise made out. AIR 1963 Cut 511. This fact that there was a large number of cases, both civil and criminal between the accused who were aboriginal khonds and the deceased coupled with the fact that ultimately the deceased succeeded in depriving the accused of his land would be sufficient to incur bitter enmity of the khonds and would be a strong motive even for a non aboriginal khond to assault the adversary. (1963) 5 Ori JD 145 : 1964 (1) Cr LJ 464. Motive may not be very material in cases where there is enough direct evidence, but in cases where there is not even an iota of legal evidence or a single telling circumstance, motive has a vital role to play. 1963 Ker LJ 292 : 1963 Ker LJ 366 : 1964 (1) Cr LJ 493. Defence that there was no intention does not take the offence out of murder, 66 Punj LR 1230 : 1965 (2) Cr LJ 127 : AIR 1965 Punj 291.

Conviction and sentence confirmed on the basis of chain of circumstances. Baban Ramchandra Pawar v. State of Maharashtra. (1995) 1 B Cr C 4 (Bom).

P.W. 7 was merely of 13 years of age and there is no reason to believe that she was of easy virtue and was not well versed with illicit affairs being of tender age. Merely carrying P.W. 7 on motor cycle by appellant 'K cannot lead to illicit relations and this cannot be taken as motive to commit alleged crime. Kanna v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 253.

In criminal cases, the onus of proving everything essential to the establishment of the charge against the accused lies upon prosecution that onus never changes. This follows from the cardinal principle that the accused is presumed to be innocent until his guilt is established by the prosecution. Section 105, of the Indian Evidence Act is an important qualification of this general rule and is an application of the rule in Section 103. It relieves the prosecution of the necessity of proving the absence of facts which might bring the cases within a general or special exception, or exemption or proviso under the Penal Code or other Criminal Law. Under Section 105, of the Indian Evidence Act, when an accused person wishes to rely on any exception in the penal law, it is incumbent on him to prove the existence of circumstances which would show that any of the special or general exceptions would take his case out of criminal liability.

The Section involves both (i) a presumption and (ii) a rule as to the burden of proof following it. The Court shall presume the non-existence of circumstances bringing the case within an exception and the accused person, who relies on its existence has the burden of proof cast upon him. The section has clarified the position by placing all exceptions (special or general) on the same footing, in the sense of the same required to be proved by the accused. But this does not mean that he must plead it specially or specifically or lead evidence. If it is apparent from the evidence on record, whether produced by the prosecution or the defence, that the general exception would apply, then the presumption is removed and it is open to the Court to consider whether the evidence proves to the satisfaction of the Court that the accused comes within the exception. Where the evidence adduced fails to satisfy the Court of the existence of circumstances bringing the case within the exception pleaded, the accused is entitled to be acquitted, if upon a consideration of the evidence on both sides, the Court is left in a state of reasonable doubt as to whether the accused is or not entitled to the benefit of the exception pleaded. Kaliyaperumal v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 129 at p. 134 : (1995) 1 Crimes 873 : (1995) 2 CCR 499 (Mad) (DB).

Where there was no evidence on record to prove appellant's presence in the house at the time of occurrence and direct evidence to connect the appellant with crime. Prosecution may be taken to have failed to establish offence against appellant, and sentence was liable to be set aside. Gauri Shankar v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 297 : (1995) 3 CCR 346 : (1995) 4 Crimes 96 (Raj) (DB).

Where the version of the P.W. 1 and 2 that appellant administered poisonous liquor to deceased was not credible. No motive was proved. The prosecution failed to prove this case beyond reasonable doubt. Hence entitled to benefit of doubt. Conviction set aside. Sher Singh v. State, 1995 JCC 259 (Del).

Where proof of motive not obligatory to establish guilt when evidence of eye-witnesses, medical evidence and recoveries from accused are sufficient to establish guilt of accused beyond reasonable doubt. Order of acquittal set aside. State of Karnataka v. Surendra alias Sony alias Anantha Padmanabha Bhat, (1953) 3 Kar LJ 622 (Karn) (DB).

Where indifferent young eye-witness who happened to be the son of the deceased—Medical evidence not corroborating prosecution story. There was given no explanation for non-examination of other independent witnesses. First informant subsequently improving his version. Conviction in these circumstances was held not sustainable. Bachitar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 Crimes 767 (P & H).

Where accused last seen with deceased and no motive was established. Enmity was also not proved-conviction was not justified. Hence conviction was set aside. Deep Chand v. State of U.P., 1994 All Cr C 466 (All) (DB).

The discrepancy in F.I.R. and inquest report cannot be considered in isolation and is not conclusive fact that F.I.R. is ante time more so, when no questions were put to witness and his explanation not obtained. The firing was individual act of concerned two accused and common object of unlawful assembly to kill deceased was missing. Thus other accused would not be vicariously responsible for murder in facts and circumstances of case. Ali Ahmad v. State of U.P., 1995 All LJ 1076 (All).

Where onus of offering an explanation for incriminating facts lies upon the accused. In instant case, the appellant has not offered any explanation consistent with innocence regarding the incriminating facts proved against him and that b circumstantial fact against him. Appeal dismissed. Ashok Kumar v. State, (239 : (1995) 1 CC Cases 398 : (1995) 1 Crimes 347 : 1995 JCC 226 (Del).

95. Illicit Relations.—The husband and in laws were alleged to have killed the deceased as husband was having illicit relations with his Bhabhi (sister-in-law). The neck cut body was found in field and evidence on records pointed towards the guilt of accused. The conviction of accused was held justified. Bishundeo Poddar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1558 (Pat) : 2003(2) DMC 64 : 2003(3) BLJ 771 : 2002(3) East Cri C 176.

When there was no direct evidence only had circumstantial evidence—Interested witnesses inimical to the appellants—Claim that illicit relation between the appellant provided the motive for offence not believed. There was found no circumstance to connect the appellants with offence. Hence it was held that giving benefit of doubt sentence and conviction against appellants set aside. Harish Chander alias Billa v. State, (1995) 3 Crimes 189 : 1995 Cr LJ 3030 : (1995) 2 CC Cases 503 (Del).

Accused husband alleged to have killed his wife with aid of firearm and homicidal death by gunshot injuries was proved. The motive was to get rid of deceased as he had illicit relationship with another woman and wanted to marry her. Testimony of police officials was found trustworthy and reliable. Chain of circumstantial evidence pointed towards the guilt of accused and his conviction was held proper. Ummed Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3632 (Raj) : 2003(3) Raj Cri C 1297 : 2003(3) Raj LR 162 : 2003(4) Raj LW 2290 : 2003(3) WLC 465.

There was illicit relationship between the deceased and wife of the accused. Resulting into a murderous quarrel between the deceased and the accused. Accused's plea of sudden Provocation. It cannot be allowed. Relationship was the motive for the killing and not the provocation. Chinnan alias Chinnaswami v. State, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 589 (Mad).

P.W. 7 was merely of 13 years of age and there is no reason to believe that she was of easy virtue and was not well versed with illicit affairs being of tender age. Merely carrying P.W. 7 on motor cycle by appellant 'K cannot lead to illicit relations and this cannot be taken as motive to commit alleged crime. Kanna v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 253.

In an Allahabad case the evidence of relation witnesses i.e. brother, sister-in-law and mother of deceased was contradictory and full of falsehood and embellishment and no independent witness was produced. The medical report also did not support prosecution story that deceased was assaulted by bricks. It was held that the defence version that informant brother had killed deceased on account of suspicion of illicit intimacy of deceased with his wife appeared to be probable and conviction was not justified. Jai Narain v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 168 (All) : 2002 All LJ 2415 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2264 : 2003(1) All LJ 73.

96. Joint offence.—Where two assailants, bearing dangerous instruments, assaulted the deceased, and the blows were aimed at the head, with the result that two fatal injuries were caused, and those injuries were such as could not be caused with one and the same instrument. Held, that each of the two assailants was responsible for one of the fatal injuries and, therefore, both were guilty under Section 302. 118 Ind Cas 50 : 30 Cr LJ 870 : AIR 1929 Nag 125 ; see also 1 LBR 233 ; AIR 1932 : Mad 748 : 64

MLJ 153 : 33 Cr LJ 814. 33 Cr LJ 537 ; AIR 1932 Cal 815 (FB) : 33 Cr LJ 663 ; AIR 1933 All 535. Where there are two accused charged with murder, and where there is no evidence to show as to which accused killed the deceased, what the Court has to consider is whether the evidence justifies the conclusion that the appellants acted in concert in committing the murder. If it does, both are guilty of murder. 1937 MWN 1233 ; see also AIR 1936 Rang 131 : 1936 Cr C 219 : 162 Ind Cas 6 : 37 Cr LJ 531 ; AIR 1938 Rang 331 ; AIR 1935 Lah 337 : 36 Cr LJ 1001 : 156 Ind Cas 786 ; AIR 1935 Oudh 52 ; AIR 1935 Oudh 110. In cases of several accused conviction may be of different offences. AIR 1942 Mad 446 : 43 Cr LJ 813 ; AIR 1941 Oudh 517 : 42 Cr LJ 758 ; AIR 1941 Rang 301 : 43 Cr LJ 123; AIR 1942 Lah 59 : 43 Cr LJ 423 ; AIR 1942 Lah 59 : 43 Cr LJ 428.

Where an accused did not actually inflict any injury upon the deceased but accompanied the co-accused on his murderous errand and was his confederate throughout, being himself armed like his co-accused with a weapon to meet all eventualities. Held, that the accused was as much responsible for the murder as his co-accused who had actually struck the fatal blow. 116 Ind Cas 613 : 30 Cr LJ 637 : AIR 1929 Lah 791. There is no practice to the effect that when a large number of persons participated in a murder only those persons should be selected for death sentence who are shown to have taken an actual part in causing the death. Prima facie all the persons convicted should be sentenced to the extreme penalty unless special circumstances are shown in favour of the alternative punishment of transportation for life. 8 Pat 181 : 117 Ind Cas 176 : 30 Cr LJ 737 : AIR 1929 Pat 161 ; AIR 1933 Lah 661 ; AIR 1931 Lah 536. Where two persons are acting in concert in the sense that their attack on the deceased (with a heavy stick by the one, and with a heavy stone by the other) was a single indivisible thing, both of them are liable for the resultant murder, under the provisions of Section 37, Penal Code, 15 Bom LR 303 : 19 Ind Cas 331 : 14 Cr LJ 235. In the absence of proof that all the prisoners had a common intention to inflict injury likely to cause death, only person who had struck the fatal blow could be convicted of murder and that the other accused would be guilty of grievous hurt only. 19 M 483 : 1 Weir 298 ; see also 1 Weir 296 ; 10 PR 1868 Cr ; 3 Ind Cas 622 : 8 PWR 1909 Cr : 10 Cr LJ 231; AWN 1892, 233 ; AIR 1933 Lah 977 : AIR 1933 Lah 930 ; AIR 1933 Oudh 53 : 9 OWN 977.

Where a blow is struck by one prisoner in the presence of, and by the order of the other, both are principals in the transaction ; and where the two persons join in beating a man, and he dies, it is not necessary to ascertain exactly what the effect of the blow was. 23 WR C 11. In case of joint commission of murder, none can be convicted in the absence of finding of common intention. AIR 1930 Sind 99.

Injuries are sustained by blunt weapons—Acquittal of five accused on same evidence. P.W. 9 and P.W. 10. Their presence is natural on the scene. Eye-witnesses evidence being corroborated by medical evidence. Accused attributed with specific injury. Hence it is held accused-s participation proved beyond doubt. Dayaram v. State of M.P., 1995 C LR (MP) 272.

Where there was murders of two teenaged children. One of the co- accused was proved guilty. Hence it was held that only the accused can be held guilty against whom the offence was established. Nathu v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 77 : 1996 Cr. LJ 919.

97. Sections 302, 34, 149 and 147.—It is the true that in ascertaining whether a group of persons had common intention to murder, the evidence adduced by the defence that they had common intention to murder is relevant. But in most cases, the discussion of the evidence in compartment—One relating to the offence and the other to the right of private defence may not be possible for almost the evidence relating to one part will have impact on the other part, and the Court in considering whether the accused are liable constructively for murder will have to consider also the evidence of the defence that their common intention was not to commit murder but only to protect their right and to cause hurt if necessary. 1964 SCD 792 : 1965 (1) Cr LJ 742 : AIR 1965 SC 257 ; 1965 (1) Cr LJ 1602 : AIR 1965 Cal 89. As a mere proposition of law, it would be difficult to accept the argument that the sentence of death can be legitimately imposed only where an accused person is found to have committed the murder itself. Whether or not sentences of death should be imposed on the person who are found to be guilty not because they themselves committed the murder, but they were members of an unlawful assembly and the offence was committed by one or more of the members of such an assembly in pursuance of the common object of that assembly is a matter which has to be decided on the facts and circumstances of the case. 1964 SCD 980 : 1965 (1) Cr LJ 226 : AIR 1956 SC 302.

Sufficient material for Conviction. On our independent examination of the judgment given by the trial Court and confirmed by the High Court, we find that both the Courts have properly and rightly re-assessed and reappraised the entire evidence on record and we find no infirmity or perversity in the findings recorded by the Courts below warranting interference. The High Court has not found any reliable and clinching evidence led by the prosecution to prove the guilt of the acquitted-accused. Therefore, the contention that the appellant shall be held entitled to benefit of doubt in the same manner as other acquitted-accused have been given, cannot be accepted. The occurrence, as spoken by the eyewitnesses, is fully established and the appellant alongwith Ram Saran and Harbir will be constructively liable under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 34 IPC for the commission of the crime as fatal injuries were inflicted by them with knives which they were carrying in their hands at the time of commission of offence. The fatal injuries were caused with dangerous weapons on vital parts of the body of deceased which resultantly caused his death. Satvir vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1741 : 2009 CrLJ 1586 : 2009 (4) SCC 289 : 2009 (1) JT 539 : 2009 (1) SCR 431 : 2009 (1) Scale 683 : 2009 (1) Supreme 364.

Where there is only a charge under Section 302, read with Section 149, of the Indian Penal Code, in the absence of a charge under Section 302, read with Section 34, of the Penal Code, still some of the accused can be convicted under Section 302, read with Section 34, of the Penal Code. AIR 1978 SC 1392 ; AIR 1973 SC 2221 (distinguishing) AIR 1976 SC 1084 : 1976 Cr LJ 835 ; 1981 Cr LJ 1710. In AIR 1979 SC 1019 it was held that the High Court was not quite right in refusing to convict the accused under Section 302, simply on the ground of the absence of a charge under Section 302, the charge being under Section 302, read with Section 149 ; see however AIR 1954 SC 670.

When Courts below giving a concurrent finding on the basis of careful appreciation of evidence of eye-witnesses that the accused were armed with lethal weapons. No material omission, discrepancy, variation when compared to the contents of F.I.R. Each one of the accused member of the unlawful assembly—Medical evidence also corroborated the same and common object of unlawful assembly shared. Held, liable under Sections 329/149. Shamsul Kanwar v. State of U.P., (1995) 2 Crimes 487 (SC) : 1995 SCC (Cr) 753 : (1995) 3 CCR 54(SC).

For fastening of liability with the aid of Section 149. I.P.C. commission of overt act not necessary. Kaki Ramesh v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 Crimes 268 (S.C.); (1994) 4 SCC 397.

Large number of persons of both parties are involved still no satisfactory explanation was given by prosecution regarding death of one accused and injury of another. True picture of genesis of occurrence was not given. It was wrong on part of trial Court to hold that accused and party alone was aggressor. It was held that Section 149 was not applicable and acquittal was upheld. State of U.P. v. Ram Charan, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1143.

Circumstantial evidence was found establishing commission of murder of victim by her father-in-law and brother-in-law. The third accused was found helping them in removal of dead body to screen offenders and therefore conviction of first two accused under Sections 302/201/34 was held proper and third accused was convicted under Section 201/34, IPC. Ashok Kumar v. Bal Krishan Das with Mahesh Narain v. State of U.P., 1997 Cri LJ 73 (SC).

Conviction of only three persons out of 13 under Sections 148, 302/149. IPC was held not permissible. Since they had common intention they could be convicted under Section 302/34 I.P.C. Jivan Lal v. State of M.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 1 (SC) : 1996 (9) Scale 262 : 1996 (8) Supreme 791 : 1997 (1) CCr 125 (SC).

Accused were armed with knives; they entered the house of the complainant dead at night; may be to take revenge of quarrel which had taken place at day time or because they are rich and head strong person; on a refusal to submit and satisfy their sexual lust accused including the appellant despite resistance by the girl lifted her, brought her in Osara. At that stage when deceased was crying and resisting, her father PW 4 her mother PW 5 got up and started raising shouts. Tahir, one of the accused gave knife blow to the deceased and two others gave knife blows to PW 4 and PW 5. From these facts, only reasonable inference which could be drawn is that common intention of the accused was to ravish the young girl of poor Harijan and in case of resistance to commit murder by inflicting knife blows. Their adventure in criminality cannot be watered down or nullified by contending that injuries caused by them have not resulted in death of PW 4 and PW 5. In this view of the matter, the High Court materially erred in altering the sentence of the accused from the offence punishable under Section 302/34 IPC to Section 324, IPC by observing that assault by knife to PW 4 and PW 5 were individuals act of and the act of Tahir in inflicting the knife injury on the chest of the deceased appears to be his individual act and, therefore, appellant Jhinkoo cannot be convicted for the offence punishable under Section 302 read with 34, IPC. Hence, the impugned order passed by the High Court cannot be sustained. State of UP v. Jhinkoo Nai 2001 Cri LJ 3965(SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 2815 : 2001(6) JT 290 : 2001(5) Scale 19 : 2001(6) Supreme 25.

98. Sections 302 and 304.—Where the accused is suddenly given by another shoe beating on the face in a public place and he in return takes out a knife and stabs the other who dies, the accused cannot be said to be guilty of an offence under Section 302. ILR 1950 All 960. Where a person is found to have stuffed a handkerchief in the mouth of a woman to silence her and the woman is found to have died of suffocation prior to the commission of the sexual intercourse it cannot be said that the natural consequence of the stuffing the handker chief is definitely death. The accused cannot be saddled with the intention or knowledge necessary to constitute an offence under Section 302, Penal Code. He is to be convicted under Section 304. I.P. Code. 1952 Cr LJ 261 : A1R 1952 MB 251.

Where in a trial for offences under Section 302, read with Section 149, the accused are charged with having caused the death of a person by attacking him with sticks and other weapon, the medical officer deposited that only two out of 43 injuries had caused death and prosecution fails to elicit whether the said two injuries were sufficient to cause death, offence under Section 304, is proved and no one under Section 300. ILR 1962 Andh Pra 313 : AIR 1961 AP 79 : 1960 MLJ (Cr). Held, on facts of the case that as the intention to cause death was not established, the fight being sudden and unpremeditated, there could be no conviction under Section 304, Part I Penal Code 1960 MPLJ (Notes) 34. Where the evidence showed that the accused was drunk at the time of offence, which was committed at night, and that the arrow discharged by accused struck the deceased on his ribs causing rupture of the spleen resulting in his death, the offence of the accused fell under Section 304 Part I and not Section 302, (in the absence of evidence regarding the accused having selected the place of injury). AIR 1956 Madh B 271 : 1956 Cr LJ 1410 : Madh Bha 1956 Cr 136 ; see also AIR 1955 MB. 26 : 1955 Cr LJ 284 (absence of intention) ; 1953 Cr LJ 1878 : ILR 1953 Patiala l51 : AIR 1954 Pepsu 10 (where it was held on circumstances that the accused had no intention to kill or cause fatal injury but had the knowledge that the blows are likely to cause death and hence offence under Section 304, Part II) ; 1961 MLJ (Cr) 70 : 49 Mys LJ 665 : AIR 1960 Mys 228 : 1960 MLJ (Cr) 375 : 1960 Cr LJ 1222 (transaction one and continues) ; ILR (1958) 2 All 98 (inference from throwing of acid on the deceased) ; 1960 Ker LJ 609 (death caused by bodily injury) where it was held that even if there was no intention, the act would still amount to murder.

Presumption of intention of causing death or an injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death made in AIR 1954 Pepsu 51 : ILR 1953 Patiala 123 : 1954 Cr LJ 362; ILR 1962 Andh Pra 313 : 1963 (2) Cr LJ 70.

It is not laying down that in no case of single blow or injury, the accused cannot be convicted under Section 302 IPC. In cases of single injury, the facts and circumstances of each case has to be taken into consideration before arriving at the conclusion whether the accused should be appropriately convicted under Section 302 IPC or under Section 304 Part II IPC.—Gurmukh Singh vs. State of Haryana, 2010 (1) CrLJ 450 (SC).

Accused-appellants caused injuries with Kasi and Gandasa and there made injuries sufficient to cause death. Incident on sudden quarrel and there were eye-witness too. Hence it was held that conviction altered to one under Section 304, Part I. Gurnam Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 4 Crimes 260 (SC).

Where the deceased was stabbed when he intervened during the fight between accused and his brother, the offence falls under Section 304, Part 1 I.P.C. Malla Govindarajula alias Govu v. Stale of A.P. (1995) 3 Crimes 801 (AP).

When knife injury inflicted on the abdomen—Death in the hospital next day, Offence fell under Section 403, Part II. Augustine alias Babu v. State of Kerala, (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 50 (SC).

Where an accused confesses and also explains the circumstances which mitigated the gravity of his action, the trial Court should not ignore that part and if such mitigating circumstances are proved it should take that aspect into consideration in convicting the accused. Probin Bora v. State of Assam, (1994) 2 GRL 334.

Only one knife blow not on vital part but resulting in puncturing artery which caused death—Matter covered under Section 304, Part II. Bhagwan Das v. State, 1995 JCC 301 (Del).

Wife assaulted with stick by the appellant—Incident taking place at about 10 a.m. Deceased dying in the evening—Three internal injuries resulting in fracture of 5th, 6th and 7th ribs of the left side in the mid-line—No inference that appellant had a definite plan to finish the life of his wife—Injuries inflicted without any intention or motive but a definite knowledge that injuries were likely to cause death in the ordinary course conviction converted from 302 to 304, Part II. Ramprasad Ramchandra_Shelekar. v. Stale of 'Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Crimes 426 (Bom).

When injuries were not on vital parts, there was no intention to kill and hence conviction under Section 304, Part I proper. Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 307 (Raj).

Injuries not on vital parts show that there was no intention to kill and hence the case was not covered under Section 203, I.P.C. but accused could be held guilty under Section 304, I, I.P.C. Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 307 (Raj).

The accused was irritated as wife refused to cohabit with her husband. Under fits of grave and sudden provocation he killed her. Offence under Section 304, Part I is committed. Pappu Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LJ 718 (Raj).

On the basis of the medical opinion of the doctor, that there was only one injury and the appellant, in fact, inflicted only one blow on the head. Further, he did not take any under advantage of the situation since the ingredients of Section 300. Exception 4 were attracted the Court set aside the order of conviction under Section 302, IPC, and found it to be a case punishable under Sec. 304, Part I. Debu v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 1903 (On).

In sudden quarrel with no previous enmity solitary stone blow is covered under Section 304, Part II, IPC. Shrirang Shankar Lokhande v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 479 (Bom).

From blow with pair of scissors on vital part of body of deceased it can be inferred that accused had knowledge that it would cause death though he may not have intended to commit murder and therefore conviction under Section 304, Part II, IPC was proper. Mavila Thamban Nambiar v. State of Kerala, 1997 (1) Crimes 72 (SC) : 1997 AIR (SC) 687 : 1997 (1) JT 367 : 1997 (1) Scale 145 : 1997 (1) Supreme 452 : 1997 (1) CCr 156 (SC).

The occurrence took place at the spur of moment and it was not preplanned. Two accused gave one single blow each and the third stood holding lathi. The lathi blow inflicted by one of the accused on the head of the deceased proved fatal. Conviction of accused who caused death of deceased by lathi blow under Section 302 was altered to one under Section 304, Part II. The second accused who gave blow on waist of deceased was convicted under Section 323 and 447 IPC. Bhanwara Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 2001 Cri LJ 3230 (Raj).

99. Sections 302 and 303.—Conviction of accused under Section 303 by High Court—Section 303 having been struck down by the Supreme Court, conviction was alleged to Section 302. The High Court opined that extreme penalty of death was not called for and sentence reduced to life imprisonment. The Supreme Court set aside the death and impose the life sentence, AIR 1985 SC 1120. Constitutionally Section 303 can be challenged on the ground that it contravenes Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution. 1982 Cr LJ 763 ; 1982 Cr LJ 969 but see contra AIR 1983 SC 473.

100. Murder and unlawful assembly.—Held on facts that all the accused persons could be held as members of unlawful assembly where common object was at least to cause hurt in as much the deceased person not having injuries in such number or in such circumstances as would indicate anything like given determination on the part of the assailants to endanger their lives. Held, in the circumstances that the accused were guilty of the offence under Section 325, read with Section 149, 1963 Jab LJ 932 : 1964 (2) Cr LJ 185 : AIR 1964 Mad Pra 182 ; but see 1964 (1) Cr LJ 114 : AIR 1964 Madh Pra 30 ; 1964 (1) Cr LJ 198.

Common Intention or Unlawful Assembly accused persons having formed an unlawful assembly and in pursuance of common object thereof, committed murder of deceased and injured his brother too. Out of seven accused persons five were acquitted. However, the fact remains that these two appellants were found to have inflicted the injuries with sharp edged weapon, as well as, Lathi. They have also been individually charged with the offence under Section 302, IPC. In that view, they were bound to be convicted for the offence under Section 302 read with Section 34, IPC. They came together on the spot, they also gave abuses to the deceased and thereafter, acted along with each other. Therefore, we have no hesitation in upholding the conviction, but not with the aid of Section 149, IPC, but with the aid of Section 34. Unfortunately, the High Court has not discussed this aspect of the case. Murli and Anr. vs. State of Rajasthan. 2010 (2) CrLJ 2228 (SC).

The High Court has noted that from the side of the complainant which includes deceased also, five persons have received in total as many as 15 injuries. The main injury on the head of the deceased has been attributed to A1. Similarly, Gulam Rasul, Jan Mohammad son of Sultan and another Jan Mohammad, have also received wounds on the head. Injury on the head of Gulam Rasul was an incised wound caused by a Farsa. Jan Mohammad son of Sultan had received an incised wound on the head. The other Jan Mohammed had received lacerated wound on the head. The other injuries on the persons of all the other injured persons are in the shape of bruises or lacerated injuries most of which have been caused by lathies.

The prosecution evidence clearly shows that the common object of the unlawful assembly was to commit the murder of Habib and it was not just an assembly at a particular point of time where the accused persons had assembled with Frasa and lathis in order to cause injury on the complainant including Habib-deceased who had gone for filing nomination papers for the Panchayat election.

The High Court found that the purpose of the unlawful assembly was to stop Habib, his brother Gulam Rasul and their supporter from either contesting the election or supporting the persons who filed the nomination. They were all present near the gate of the school where the nomination papers were to be filed. Both the trial Court and High Court have on analyses of the evidence come to hold that all the accused persons had formed an unlawful assembly armed with weapons which were likely to cause death and, therefore, conviction under Sec. 148 IPC and application of Sec. 149, IPC does not suffer from any infirmity. In the background facts, it is clear that the conviction as done is appropriate. Siri Kishan vs. State of Haryana, 2009 (12) SCC 757 : 2009 (8) JT 305 : 2009 (6) SCR 1184 : 2009 (6) Scale 438.

Sine qua non for—Scope.—Omission on the part of a prosecution witness to name and identify an accused in the dock cannot be held to be wholly insignificant so as to record a judgment of conviction. Presence of an accused while the offence was committed is a sine qua non to find him guilty of being member of unlawful assembly. If his present is doubted question of finding him guilty does not arise.

In a case of this nature, the rule of prudence should be applied. Something more than their being cited as an accused in a witness box would be necessary. The Court must have before it some materials to form an opinion that they had shared a common object. Akbar Sheikh vs. State of West Bengal, 2009 (7) SCC 415 : 2009 (6) Scale 745 : 2009 (6) JT 315 : 2009 (7) SCR 518 : 2009 (4) SLT 328.

Sec. 149, IPC consists of two parts. The first part of the Sec. means that the offence to be committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. In order that the offence may fall within the first part, the offence must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused was member. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under Sec. 141, if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed and this is what is required in the second part of the section. The purpose for which the members of the assembly set out or desired to achieve is the object. If the object desired by all the members is the same, the knowledge that is the object which is being pursued is shared by all the members and they are in general agreement as to how it is to be achieved and that is now the common object.

The distinction between the two parts of Sec. 149 cannot be ignored or obliterated. In every case, it would be an issue to be determined, whether the offence committed falls within the first part or it was an offence such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object and falls within the second part. However, there may be cases which would be within first part, but offences committed in prosecution of the common object would be generally, if not always, be within the second part, namely, offences which the parties knew to be likely committed in the prosecution of the common object.

Sec. 149, IPC has clear application to the facts of the cases. Therefore, the trial Court and the High Court were justified in convicting the appellant. The appeals are dismissed. Raj Nath vs. State of U.P., AIR 2009 SC 1422 : 2009 (4) SCC 334 : 2009 (1) JT 373 . 2009 (1) Scale 619 : 2009 (1) Supreme 370 : 2009 (1) SCR 336 : 2009 (1) JCC 801.

In the instant case village political rivalry led to double murder. The accused were put to notice under charge No. 1 that they were members of an unlawful assembly armed with deadly weapons and in prosecution of common object of such assembly, namely, in murdering deceased 1 and 2, they committed offence of rioting, punishable under Sec. 148 IPC. A-1 to A-5 and A-6 to A-9 were noticed of the particulars under charge No. 4 that during the course of same transaction as mentioned in charge No. 1, they committed murder by intentional causing death of D-1 and thereby committed an offence punishable under Sec. 302 IPC. A-3, A-6, to A-8, A-10 to A-13 were put to notice under charge No. 5 that during the course of the same transaction as mentioned in charge No. 1 they committed murder by intentional causing death of D-2 and thereby committed an offence punishable under Sec. 302. Reading of charge No. 4 and charge No. 5 leaves no manner of doubt, since the transaction mentioned in charge No. 1 has been made integral part thereof, that all the necessary ingredients of Sec. 149 IPC are implicit therein except mentioning of Sec. 149 IPC specifically. The particulars stated in charge Nos. 4 and 5 are reasonably sufficient to give the appellants adequate notice of Sec. 149 IPC although not specifically mentioned. Thus, non-mentioning of Sec. 149 in charge No. 4 and charge No. 5 would not be a fundamental defect of an incurable illegality that may warrant setting aside the conviction and sentence of the accused. Non-framing of a charge under Sec. 149 IPC, on the face of the charges framed against the appellants would not vitiate their conviction; more so when the accused have failed to show any prejudice in this regard. The present case is a case where there is mere omission to mention Sec. 149 in charge Nos. 4 and 5 which at the highest may be considered as an irregularity and since the appellants have failed to show any prejudice, their conviction and sentence is not at all affected. Tenor of cross-examination of injured witnesses by the defence also rules out any prejudice to them. The offence, in the established facts and circumstances of the case, under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 149 IPC is implicit, the omission to mention Sec. 149 IPC specifically in the charge Nos. 4 and 5 cannot affect their conviction. In no way their conviction is rendered bad as the appellants has assembled together armed with axes and sickle and were parties to the assault on deceased and others. In a situation such as this it was not obligatory upon the prosecution to prove which specific overt act was done by which of the accused. Anna Reddy Sambasiva Reddy and Ors. v. State of A. P.. AIR 2009 SC 2661 : 2009 (6) SCR 755 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 546 : 2009 (3) Crimes 17 (SC) : 2009 (5) JT 617 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 223 (SC) : 2009 (4) Supreme 506 (SC).

101. Sections 302 and 34.—To constitute common intention, the acts of the accused should be done in pursuance of a pre-arranged plan or, a pre-arranged concert, which may even develop on the spot during the course of the commission of the offence. 1964 (1) Cr LJ 121 ; see also 1964 (1) Cr LJ 426 : AIR 1964 Pat 158. The accused were charged in respect of offences under Sections 148 and 302 read with Section 149 but they were convicted under Section 302, read with Section 34, against them. It was held that there was no question of prejudice. AIR 1974 SC 1256 ; AIR 1973 SC 2221 ; AIR 1980 SC 879 ; AIR 1974 SC 541 ; AIR 1974 SC 778 ; 1977 Cr LJ 252 (conjoint complicity is the inevitable inference when a group animated by that intent accomplish their purpose cumulatively) ; AIR 1985 SC 891 (Commutation of death sentence not possible because of the tender age of the accused, but FIR does not establish presence of the accused and description of the accused by the prosecution witness does not tally with that the accused, acquittal of the accused on the ground of possibility of the accused not being a participant held valid).

The evidence clearly shows that accused No. 1 gave the stick blow on the head of and she fell down and succumbed on the spot. The evidence clearly shows that accused No. 1 was intending to commit murder of V and hence gave the said blow. Therefore, accused No. 1 can be convicted under Section 302, of I.P.C. simpliciter. The evidence of P.W. 3 shows that after commission of murder, accused No. 2 came forward to help him in order to dispose of the said dead body of V. He helped him to put the same in a gunny bag and put it in the basket. Both accused Nos. 1 and 2 in furtherance of their common intention tried to cause the dead-body of V to disappear by concealing it in the ditch so as to save the accused No. 1 from legal punishment. Hence, both of them are liable for committing the offence punishable under Section 201, read with Section 34, of I.P.C. and the Judge has correctly recorded the conviction in this respect. Gonpat Waman Shelar v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Mah LR 688 at p. 695 (Bom).

Accused persons carrying various weapons like Axe, handle of Axe and handle hoe came to house of deceased in morning. Accused armed with axe dealt Axe blow on head of deceased, resulting he fell down after sustaining bleeding injuries. Witnesses- family members, when came to intervene were given blows on their heads by accused carrying handles of Axe and hoe. Some other accused kicked, fisted and prevented witnesses from intervening in quarrel. Accused convicted under Secs. 34, 143, 144, 148, 323, 302 and 149. Jagan Shravan Patil vs. State of Maharashtra, 2009(11) SCC 517 : 2009 (3) Scale 615 : 2009(3) JT 284 : 2009(2) Supreme 352.

Medical report indicated that deceased was unconscious when she was immersed into water. There was conscious effort on the part of defence to make out a case of suicide. This was found totally inconsistent with sequence of events resulting in death of deceased. Hence conviction upheld. Radheysham Ramkishan Chandak v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Mah LJ 741.

Where no dependable evidence to lead to inference that M committed crime in furtherance of common intention. No meeting of minds. No preconcert. Similar intention different from common intention. No case of sharing the intention. Case against the appellants armed with lathis not proved beyond reasonable doubt. Hence it is held that conviction and sentence unsustainable in law. Ram Lal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 3 Crimes 618 : 1995 Cr LR 341 (MP).

Where for fastening constructive liability under Section 34, I.P.C. simultaneous consensus of minds should be there to bring about a particular result. In instant case accused used only stick against deceased on his face. This could not be said to have common intention to kill with co-accused who employed deadly weapon on vital parts. Hence conviction was altered from Section 302, I.P.C. to that of under Section 325, I.P.C. Sayad v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Bom CR 334.

Where motive not established—Co-accused acquitted—Conviction is not justified. Shyam v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 252 (All).

Where the presence of three eye-witnesses P.W. 1, P.W. 2 and P.W. 3, at the time and place of occurrence is extremely doubtful and in any case their evidence is not intrinsically reliable to warrant a conclusion regarding participation of 3 accused appellants in commission of murder. Hence appeal is allowed and conviction and sentence is set aside. Bhagirath v. State of U.P, (1994) 31 ACC 685.

Where dead-body found in a room—Strangulation cau circumstantial evidence—No corroboration by other evider justified. Hence, conviction set aside. Kishan Singh and others 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 101.

Where fatal Bhala injury ensued by the main accused—Co-accused minor stick injuries. Hence ought not to be prosecuted under Sections 302. Section 34. Therefore common intention cannot be deduced. Gopal Singh v. St Bihar, 1995 SCC (Ori) 146 (SC).

Where daughter is eye-witness. Other witnesses turned hostile. Common intention developed at spot.—Accused who played no role was acquitted and other were convicted. Gurdeo Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 115.

Where accused was aged 74 years and 18 years and there no overt act of any kind attributed to them—No evidence of common intention. Hence under the circumstances mere presence insufficient to warrant conviction under Sections 302/34, I.P.C. Arjun Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimqs 130 : 1995 Cr LR 348 : (1995) 2 RCD 507.

Where petitioner alongwith 14 others forming unlawful assembly committed five murders. He was undergoing life imprisonment since four years back. Application for first furlough. It was held prima facie evident what sort of dangerous person the petitioner is—Petition is liable to be dismissed. Maganbhai Prasanbhai v. State, (1994) 3 Crimes 530 (Guj).

102. Sections 302 and 325.—Where the victim of an assault by several persons dies of injuries which were caused by the violence not of one single person but of several persons be labouring the victim, it is safer to convict the accused of the grievous hurt under Section 325, 4 DLT (AM) 17 : 50 Cr LJ 1003 : AIR 1949 Ajmer 49 ; 4 DLR (A & M) 47 : AIR 1949 Ajmer 29 : 50 Cr LJ 583 ; 3 DLR (A & M) 35 ; 48 Cr LJ 367 : 229 IC 293 ; 46 Cr LJ 728 : AIR 1944 Mad 223 : 45 Cr LJ 729 ; ILR 1945 Mad 73 ; AIR 1942 Cal 426 : 43 Cr LJ 455 ; AIR 1942 Mad 100 : 43 Cr LJ 320 ; AIR 1939 Rang 263 : 40 Cr LJ 871 ; AIR 1939 Oudh 254 : 40 Cr LJ 754 : AIR 1939 Mad 269 : 40 Cr LJ 308.

103. Several accused.—Where murder has been committed by several accused by one instrument but there is no evidence who committed the murder, all the accused can be convicted if it is found that there was common intention to commit murder under Section 34, I.P.C. AIR 1941 Bom 139 : ILR 1941 Bom 315 : 42 Cr LJ 697 : 195 IC 208 ; see also AIR 1941 Pat 550 : 42 Cr LJ 603 ; AIR 1941 Lah 117 : 42 Cr LJ 475 ; AIR 1940 Lah 485 : 42 Cr LJ 82 ; AIR 1940 Lah 53 : 41 Cr LJ 348 ; AIR 1939 Rang 361 : 41 Cr LJ 44 : AIR 1939 Lah 245 : ILR 1939 Lah 77 : 40 Cr LJ 712. As regards desirability of passing death sentence to all the accused, vide AIR 1938 Cal 295 : 39 Cr LJ 479 : but see AIR 1935 Lah 337 : 36 Cr LJ 1001 ; 36 Cr LJ 958 : AIR 1935 Pesh 75. High Court can reappreciate evidence on record so far as it affects case for and against convicted accused for determining whether they had the common intention with them who was assaulted ILR 1964 Guj 414.

Where three accused were acquitted on the same evidence. Whether this may be a ground of acquittal. It was held in negation. Hence merely on this ground it cannot be held to disbelieve that prosecution case. Suraj Pal v. State of U.P., (1994) 1 Crimes 502 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 701 : 1994 (1) PLJR 104 : 1994 ALJ 467 : AIR 1994 SC 748 : 1994 Cr LJ 928.

Where P.W. 7 was not an eye-witness—Other eye-witness turned hostile. P.W. 6 wa child witness and not mentioned in FIR. Hence it was not safe to convict the thre accused appellants. Battilal, Ramjilal and Ramkishore v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) WLC (Raj) 190 : 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 41.

Non-naming of one or few of accused persons in FIR or in dying declaration, whe not fatal. Prosecution case that the accused persons committed criminal trespass int the school and tried to give lesion in the classes and some outsider accused person being armed with iron rod, spear etc. started assaulting the clerk of the school.

Eighteen persons faced trial out of which were acquitted by the trial Court and th High Court. Names of some of the appellants were not mentioned in the FIR or th dying declarations.

The law is fairly well settled that FIR is not supposed to be an encyclopaedia of th entire events and cannot contain the minutes details of the events. When essentiall material facts are disclosed in the FIR that is sufficient. FIR is not substantive evidenc and cannot be used for contradicting testimony of the eye witnesses except that may b used for the purpose of contradicting maker of the report. Though the importance o naming the accused persons in the FIR cannot be ignored, but names of the accuse persons have to be named at the earliest possible opportunity. The question is whethe a person was impleaded by way of afterthought or not must be judged having regard t the entire factual scenario in each case. Therefore, non naming of one or few of th accused persons in the FIR is no reason to dis-believe the testimony of crucia witnesses. The evidence of witness is clear and cogent. Kirender Sarkar vs. State o Assam, AIR 2009 SC 2513 : 2009 CrLJ 3727 : 2009 (12) SCC 342 : 2009 (6) JT 114 2009 (6) SCR 1133 : 2009 (6) Scale 589.

104. Abettor.—Person instigating others to beat deceased and in whose presenc injuries are inflicted by such others causing death is guilty under Section 302, 1933 C C 1387 : AIR 1933 Lah 928 : see also AIR 1933 Lah 660 : 1933 Cr C 882 : AIR 193 Rang 236 : 11 Rang 354 : 1933 Cr C 907, 1941 MWN 872 ; AIR 1939 Oudh 33.

Where there being altercations between main accused and deceased. Main accuse took gun from appellant and loaded it with cartridges. And appellant instigated mai accused to shoot by saying, "Maro Sale Ko". Hence it is held, that appellant's convictio for abetment upheld and appeal dismissed. Manbir Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 SC (Cri) 1150.

105. Murder or culpable homicide.—In a case, the accused attacked deceased o neck with sharp-cutting weapon. The cut wound extensively damaged blood vessels i neck. The cause of death as explained by the doctor was primarily due to injury cause by the respondent. Bleeding and the consequential heart failure were the effects of suc injury. Held, Section 300 does not contemplate a situation of miraculous survival on th contrary it contemplates an ordinary situation and that is why legislature has advisedl used the words "bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause death". In th instant case, the opinion of doctor that if proper medical care were to be provided, th injured could have survived was a hypothetical answer and was not somethin applicable to the facts of the case. Accused was liable to fall under Section 302 and no under Section 304 II of IPC. State of Rajasthan v. Dhool Singh, AIR 2004 SC 1264 : 200 Cr LJ 931 : 2004(1) Crimes 165 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 850 : 2003(10) JT 179.

From the evidence on record, Court finds that there had been an altercation between the deceased and the appellant, before the shots were fired. The fact is testified by witness who stated that the two quarrelled with each other, because of the land dispute, before the shots were fired. The first shot was fired by the appellant in the air, which suggests that he did not have any intention to kill the deceased, who was his real brother, but wanted only to browbeat and scare him and assert his dominance over him, may be on account of the fact that the deceased was younger to him. It was only the second shot, which caused the death. This shot was also not aimed at any vital part of the body. It was aimed just below the right shoulder. The shot, as per the opinion of Doctor Sharma, was fired from a distance of only 6-7 feet. Appellant was a Home Guard volunteer and, therefore, he was supposed to have been trained at handling the firearms, before he was so appointed. His firing a shot from a distance of only 6-7 feet, aiming the upper chest, just below the right shoulder, suggests that he did not intend to cause the death, though he can be presumed to have had the intention to cause an injury, which could have caused death. Therefore, we hold the appellant guilty not of the offence of murder, under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, but of offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, punishable under Section 304 (first part) of the Indian Penal Code. Jodh Raj. vs. State of H.P., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2488 (HP).

It is for the prosecution to prove their case of murder and if upon a review of all available evidence a doubt arises as to whether the accused committed murder of whether he committed culpable homicide ; by reason of exceeding the right of private self-defence, he is entitled to be found guilty of the lesser offence only. 171 Ind Cas 586 : 38 Cr LJ 1095 : AIR 1937 Rang 343.

Held, on facts that the accused died homicidal violence. There is no evidence to establish that the appellant could have any bona fide claim of right to the land which the deceased was ploughing and consequently in entering that field which at the moment was in possession of the deceased. 1963 MPLJ (Notes) 83. The crucial test for deciding whether a right of private defence of property is available or not, is whether the harm to the property committed by the offender is immediate or not. 29 Cut LT 245.

Where the Court concluded that in all probability (i) there was free fight, (ii) deceased received fatal injuries, (iii) no previous enmity and (iv) offence was committed without prior medition offence committed is culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Abdul Hamid alias Phoulad v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 212 (MP).

In an incident on account of some minor quarrels, stone used for commission of the crime not a deadly weapon. Cause of death was due to cerebral haemorrhages with blunt trauma over skull offence of murder not made out. It would be an offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder punishable under Section 304, Part I of the Code. Baby Mathew D'Souza v. State, (1994) 2 Crimes 608 (Bom).

Injuries where on non-vital part of the body and there was no direct evidence but only circumstantial evidence. Offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder made out. Maliya v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1413.

Where accused, in grave and sudden provocation occasioned by obscene and objectionable behaviour of deceased with his real sister shot dead decease it was held that the accused was liable to be convicted for offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Pushpendra Singh v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 2022 (All) : 2005 All LJ 1149 : 2005(51) All Cri C 858 : 2005(2) All Cri R 1871.

Where evidence of witness that accused in the course of altercation and quarrel all of a sudden assaulted deceased wife by wooden matte meant for washing clothes, was corroborated by injuries found on dead body of deceased, conviction of accused under Section 302 IPC was altered to one under Section 304-II of IPC. Sunil Kr. Jachak v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 209 (Chhattisgarh) : 2004(2) MPHT 47.

Since incident occurred all of a sudden during free fights between parties without any intention to cause death of any one hence conviction under Section 302, IPC altered to one under Section 304-II, IPC. Rang Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 316 (Raj) : 2004(1) Raj Cri C 125 : 2004(1) WLC 68.

Where ocular evidence as to incident corroborated by post-mortem report proved fact that accused committed offence of culpable homicide therefore accused liable to be convicted under Section 304-II, IPC and not under Section 302, IPC. Magan Singh v. State of Uttaranachal, 2005 (2) Crimes 516 (Uttar) : 2005(52) All Cri C 396 : 2005(2) All Cri R 1463 : 2005(4) Cur Cri R 143 : 2005(2) UC 913.

Where accused gave fatal blow on deceased without intention and premeditation at a spur of moment though it was likely to cause death, accused was held liable to be convicted under Section 304-II/34, IPC. Nageshwar Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 146 (Pat).

Where eye-witnesses giving sufficiently detailed version of the murderous assault by the accused—Their testimony corroborating each other's. Hence prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt that the accused was the person responsible for the homicidal death of the deceased. Bhaga Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 375 : (1995) 2 RCD 31 (Raj) (DB).

No intention to cause death or cause particular injury which ultimately proved fatal accused to be imputed with knowledge that the injury caused by him was likely to cause death. Accused was found guilty of offence under Section 304, Part II. Jaikishan v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 3 Crimes 480 (Raj).

Where accused inflicted multiple injuries with hard and blunt weapon "dengaras" and injuries were likely to cause death in ordinary course of nature though no injury on vital part of body, it was case of murder and not culpable homicide. Ananda Gavaji Valvi v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 2826 (Bom).

Death of the deceased caused due to fatal injuries inflicted by appellant with M.O.I. weapon—Evidence of prosecution-witnesses corroborate each other in all material particulars No reason to disbelieve them. Case of culpable homicide amounting to murder established as punishable under Section 302. Kaduvakuzhiyul Sudhakaran v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 210 : 1995 Cr LJ 721 (Ker) (DB).

Accused inflicted injury on deceased's head with blade portion of axe resulting into death and intention was proved. Accused committed culpable homicide amounting to murder under Section 302. His conviction under Section 302, held proper. Shlodas Antaram Meshram v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 B Cr C 127 : (1995) 2 Mah LJ 36 (Bom).

106. Homicide or suicide.—There are certain methods by which homicidal and suicidal throat wounds are ordinarily distinguished. If more than one severe wound is present, the case is usually one of murder, a suicide may make more than one wound but only one of them will be severe. Again self-inflicted wound are usually less severe and deep, and inference can sometimes be drawn from the position in which the body is found. An intending suicide seldom cuts his throat while lying in bed ; he usually does so in the erect to sitting position, and on the supervention of unconsciousness he collapses to the floor and probably turns over his face. A body stretched out in bed with a wound on the throat suggests murder during sleep, one on its back on the floor makes it possible to infer homicide in which more than one person has a hand ; a body face downwards is almost certainty of a suicide. 18 Pat LT 683 : AIR 1932 Pat 652.

107. Determination as to murder or suicide.—In a case there was dying declaration of deceased who was in a fit state of mind at the relevant, but while the prosecution dropped material witness, the defence brought out a new case of suicide in cross-examination of prosecution witnesses, when the prosecution did not declare hostile. It was held that two views were possible and, therefore, the conviction of the accused for murder was liable to be set aside giving benefit of doubt. Minaben Meerabhai v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 1 (Guj) : 2002 Cri LR (SC Mah Guj) Guj 292 : 2003(2) DMC 10 : 2002(3) GCD GUJ 2080 : 2002(2) GUJ LR 1662.

In the instant case, the version of homicide set up by the prosecution as well as the version of suicide set up by the accused appeared to be highly improbable and did not impose confidence in the mind of the Court to believe other version. It was held that when to incredible version confronted the Court, the Court had to give benefit of doubt to the accused and it was not safe to sustain the conviction and the accused would be entitled to benefit of doubt. State of Maharashtra v. Sanjay D. Rajhans, 2005 Cr LJ 120 : AIR 2005 SC 97 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 231 : 2005(4) Crimes 338 (SC) : 2004(8) Supreme 138.

In a case where accused are charged of the offence under Sec. 498-A and Sec. 302 there should be no difficulty for the Court to convict the accused under Sec. 306 if the basic ingredients of the offence under Sec. 306 of IPC are established by the prosecution even without framing a charge under that section. What is material and relevant, is that the prosecution should establish that the accused had enough notice of the allegations which could form the basis for conviction under Sec. 306 of IPC. In a bride burning case there could be or could not be any eye-witness and if there is no direct evidence the Courts have to base the order of conviction either under Sec. 302 or under Sec. 306 of IPC on the basis of circumstantial evidence. Motive for committing murder and basic ingredients of the offence under Sec. 306 of IPC in such cases could be one and the same. In both the cases the accused would make every effort to disprove the case of the prosecution under Sec. 498-A, namely, that neither any demand of dowry was made nor any gifts or presents or money was received by the accused at a subsequent stage or that he subjected the deceased to cruelty for the same or for any other reason. In other words, the accused would try to disprove the motive if a charge is under Sec. 302 and/or to establish that the ingredients of the offence under Sec. 306 do not exist. The motive for conviction either under Sec. 302 or the basic ingredients to establish charge under Sec. 306 of the IPC in a case of bride burning would be common and, therefore, the conviction under Sec. 306 of IPC can safely be recorded and same would not result in failure of justice in any manner even if the charge under Sec. 306 was not framed and the accused was tried only under Sec. 302 r/w Sec. 498-A of IPC. There is absolutely no reason and ground as to why the trial Court cannot frame alternative charge under Sec. 306 of IPC in a case of bride burning particularly where the accused are charged under Sec. 498-A also. As a matter of fact, if the facts and circumstances demand, the trial Court should frame alternative charge under Sec. 306 also so as to keep the accused on guard and make him aware that there could be a conviction under Sec. 306 even if a charge under Sec. 302 of IPC is not established. Kisan and Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, 2007 CriLJ 130 (Bom).

108. Procedure.—Cognizable–Warrant–Not–Bailable Not compoun-dable—Triable by Court of Session.

High Court can not alter finding of acquittal to conviction under Section 302. AIR 1962 Punj 348 : ILR (1962) 1 Punj 836 : 1962 (2) Cr LJ 210 : Cr LJ 62 All Cr R 214. Conviction under Sections 302, 307 and 149 can be converted into one under Sections 302, 307 and 34. AIR 1961 SC 177 : 1962 All Cr R 23 : 1963 Mad LJ (Cr) 175 : 1961 Cr LJ 853.

Where the Session Judge cannot take cognizance and cannot be assigned with the case without commitment so any order passed by him with regard to remand be it with reasons or not must be held to be without injurisdiction and hence illegal. Rashid v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 103 : 1995 (32) ACC 69 (Alld).

109. Right of private person to insist upon enquiry.—It cannot be said that in the case of an offence under Section 302, I.P. Code, any private person has got any inherent right to insist upon an enquiry. AIR 1948 Mad 230 : 49 Cr LJ 459.

110. Charge.—I (name and office of Magistrate, etc.) hereby charge you (name of the accused) as follows :

That on or about the............day of............. at............. you committed murder by intentionally (or knowledgly) causing the death of (name of the deceased), and thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 302, of the Indian Penal Code, and within the cognizance of Court of Session (or High Court).

And I hereby direct that you be tried by the said Court of the above charge.

Where on the evidence led before the Court or not, even though no separate substantive charge has been framed against that accused under Section 302, I.P.C. heldyes. Virender Kumar alias Bittoo v. State, (1995) 2 Crimes 466 (Del) (DB).

Where a charge under Section 302, I.P.C. had been framed and where prosecution failed to prove the same and where screening of offence has been made out and accused person has got knowledge about it and purposely misled the Police and pushed conviction under Section 201, I.P.C. conviction can be made even without framing a charge. Anisetti Swaprasadarao v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 ALT 13 (NRC) (AP).

Discrepancy as regard the time of the death taking place between prosecution version and the charges framed by the Court—Time very significant factor. Hence no conviction on basis of such charge, case remitted back. Sukhdev v. State of M.P, (1995) 2 Crimes 336 (MP).

Section 221, Cr. P.C. makes it clear that only when it is doubtful which of several offences the facts can be proved will constitute alternative charges can be framed. This provision will apply only in cases where there is no doubt about facts which can be proved but a doubt arises as to which of several offences had been committed on proved facts in which case any of murder charge can be framed and tried or alternative charge can be framed. Mishrilal v. State of M.P., (1995) 3 CCR 178 (MP).

When accused was charged for offence under Section 302 read with Section 149, accused persons were found guilty. But where no prejudice were caused to accused person for not framing an independent charge under Section 302, it was held that trial is not vitiated. Swamygowda v. State of Karnataka, 1997 Cri LJ 423 (Kant).

111. Bail.—AIR 1940 Oudh 8 : 40 Cr LJ 841. In AIR 1962 SC 253 the Supreme Court observed that if the offence is of a kind in which bail should not be granted considering the seriousness, the Court should refuse bail even though it has very wide powers under Section 298 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. See also AIR 1968 Guj 77.

Where second bail appellant was filed and there was inordinate delay in decision of appeal. It was held, that the appellant was entitled for bail. Ghanshyam v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 310 : 1994 JIC 294 : 1994 (23) ALR 561 : 1994 U.P. Cr R 226 (All).

Where accused merely catching hold of the deceased while the main culprit was giving knife blows. But accused not named in F.I.R. There was no identification evidence. Hence accused, held, entitled for bail. Dinesh v. State, 1995 JCC 549 (Del).

Accused has absconded after judgment such person makes a mockery of court and loses his right to remain on bail. Premendra Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 ACC 214 (All).

Where once chargesheet filed within prescribed time, bail not to be granted under Section 167, Cr.P.C. Biju. Varghese v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 (1) Crimes 698 (Bom).

Where application rejected on ground of "adverse police opinion"—Petitioner having law abiding clean conduct both inside and outside jail. Mere relying on phrase "adverse police opinion" without anything in support of same cannot be made ground for rejecting parole leave application. Parole to be granted. Vallabh Ramji v. State of Gujarat, (1994) 1 Crimes 198 (Guj) : 1994 Cr LR (Guj) 72.

112. Dying declaration.—Where burn injuries were to the extent of 70%. There was doubtful dying declaration and material witness also became hostile. Tutoring possible. Dying declaration was in question answer format. There was no other evidence to connect the accused with offence. Held, conviction set aside. Acquittal of accused is proper. Kalloo v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 276.

Discrepancies in dying declaration—Apparent discrepancies.—In the first dying declaration recorded by a Nayab Tehsildar, it has been clearly stated that she tried to set herself ablaze by pouring kerosene on herself, but in the subsequent declaration, recorded by the another Nayab Tehsildar, a contrary statement was made. It appears that one dying declaration earlier was made before the Doctor. The trial Court referred to the evidence of Dr. Chaturvedi who stated that the deceased was admitted on bed No. 8, but the father of the deceased stated that her daughter was admitted on some other bed number.

The trial Court and the High Court came to abrupt conclusions on the purported possibility that the relatives of the accused may have compelled the deceased to give a false dying declaration. No material was brought on record to justify such a conclusion. The evidence of the Nayab Tehsildar who recorded Exh. D4 was examined as PW. 8. His statement was clear to the effect that nobody else was present when he was recording the statement. That being so, in view of the apparent discrepancies in the two dying declarations it would be unsafe to convict the appellant. Heeralal vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2009 CrLJ 2787 : 2009 (12) SCC 671 : 2009 (4) JT 115 : 2009 (3) Scale 715 : 2009 (4) SCR 283.

Dying declaration recorded by Magistrate—Reliability.—Deceased did not state in his dying declaration before the Judicial Magistrate that accused Nos. 1 to 4 were his assailants in the occurrence. Ex. P-12 is the dying declaration of deceased recorded by. Judicial Magistrate Kalavathi (PW-11). According to dying declaration of deceased from the hospital at 10.00 p.m. on 26.08.1989 she went and saw deceased in the Trauma Ward and she put some questions to him and was satisfied that the injured was in a fit condition and she recorded Ex. P-12 statement given by deceased in the presence of PW-12 and she obtained the left hand thumb impression of him in it. PW-12 has also given a certificate in Exh. P-12 that the patient was fully conscious and was able to speak throughout the recording of the statement. From the above, it is clear that the Judicial Magistrate after observing formalities had recorded the dying declaration of deceased in the presence of duty doctor. In that Exh. P-12 dying declaration. Deceased had stated as follows :

> "Today night four persons chased and stabbed me near the fly-over. Their names are not known. One month before, they exhibited posters that we would all be killed. It is not known who are they."

Deceased in the above statement has stated that four persons attacked him and he did not know their names. According to the prosecution case, deceased knew all the accused very well since he had an encounter with all of them a few days before the occurrence as is evident from the testimony of PW-10. In such circumstance, if really accused Nos. 1 to 4 had attacked deceased, definitely he would have told the names or identification of the assailants. The prosecution relied on Exh. P-21 statement given by deceased to PW-22 Head Constable in the Coimbatore Medical College Hospital as his dying declaration. According to PW-22 Head Constable, he received intimation about the admission of deceased in Government Hospital at 8.15 p.m. and he went to Trauma Ward in the Hospital and enquiry deceased at 9.30 p.m. and recorded Exh. P-21 statement given by him and Dr. Jayaprakash (PW-25) had given a certificate in it. PW-25 was not the doctor on duty in Trauma Ward at the time of recording Ex. P-21 statement and he himself in the cross examination has stated that usually the doctor incharge of the ward alone would certify in the dying declaration. Exh. P-21 statement of deceased runs to two full pages and the names of the accused and the overt acts on their part were mentioned in detail and the signature of deceased is also found in it. Exh. P-21 was recorded at 9.30 p.m. by the Head Constable and Exh. P-12 was recorded at 10.15 p.m. by the Judicial Magistrate. There is vast difference in both the statements with regard to the contents and it is pertinent to note that Exh. P-22 first information report based on Exh. P-21 complaint was received in the Court at 6.40 a.m. on 27.08.1989 and Exh. P-21 statement as such had reached the Court only on 28.08.1989. The actual complaint was not sent along with the first information report and it leads to a serious suspicion as noted by the High Court. In the circumstances, the dying declaration recorded by Judicial Magistrate (PW-11) deserves acceptance and in it deceased did not implicate accused Nos. 1 to 4 as his assailants.

The High Court highlighted the above said aspects to direct acquittal. We find that the analysis made by the High Court to direct acquittal cannot be faulted. The appeal is without merit and dismissed accordingly. State of Tamil Nadu vs. Subair, AIR 2009 SC 1189 : 2009 CrLJ 1777 : 2008 (16) Scale 284 : 2009 (1) JT 27 : 2008 (17) SCR 1046.

Death of wife alleged to have been burnt by accused husband. Listed eye-witness were not examined—Prosecution case based solely on dying declaration recorded by Executive Magistrate—Dying declaration not recorded by Judicial Magistrate though available in same station—Procedure of Rule 31 not followed—No proof that deceased was in fit condition to make statement—At the time of recording brother and mother of deceased were present—Statement of mother not reliable. Conviction cannot be based on such dying declaration. Cingiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 1 ALT (Cri) 626 : 1994 Cr LJ 1242 (AP) (DB).

Where Murder at Railway Station and doctor recording the dying declaration—Delayed recording of the eye-witness's statements—Delay was sufficiently explained. Hence accused ought not to be acquitted. Vinay Kumar v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 3 (SC) : 1994 Cr LJ 942 : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 719 : AIR 1994 SC 830 : 1994 Supp (1) SCC 359 : 1993 (4) Scale 567 : 1993 (3) Crimes 1055 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 719.

Dying declaration was recorded by Magistrate but he did not puting specific question whether victim was conscious and mentally fit. However doctor certified mental condition of victim. Doctor was not examined by prosecution—Serious injuries were inflicted on the victim still sufficient evidence to show that Magistrate was satisfied with mental condition of victim while recording dying declaration. Hence it was held that dying declaration was validly recorded and conviction upheld. M. Bhadraiah v. State of A.P., (1994) 1 APLJ 6 (SN) : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 1.

Conviction based on two dying declarations—The versions recorded in two statements given by deceased at variance. Absence of any other independent evidence—Not be safe to base the conviction of appellants on the basis of such dying declaration. Sakharam Chimaji Sarane v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 527 (Bom).

Where prosecution evidence found reliable. Hence conviction based on dying declaration needs no interference. Parmanand v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 CrLR 414 (Raj).

In a case the deceased wife made the statement that the accused had poured kerosene and set her on fire. Since none of his relations were present there, the statement was found reliable and trustworthy and conviction was held proper. Kanak Singh Rai Singh Rav v. State of Gujarat, 2003 Cr LJ 855 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 691 : 2003(1) SCC 78 : 2003(1) Crimes 168 (SC) : 2002(8) Supreme 419.

In a case the dying declaration was found to be beyond the scope of reliability as deceased had made simply oral statement before her father and others. The conviction based on such statement was set aside. Teklal Mahto v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 84 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1351 : 2003(3) East Cri C 143.

Where the dying declaration showed that it were accused who had inflicted injuries on accused which resulted in his death. It was held that the conviction was proper. Ram Muni Yadav v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4131 (All) : 2003(2) A Cri R 1577 (All).

In a Supreme Court case, the evidence of Magistrate was unequivocal that the deceased was conscious and was able to answer the questions. The certificate of the doctor who was with him was also obtained on the dying declaration. If some person other than the accused attacked and burnt him there was no reason why the deceased would have thought of implicating the accused while leaving out the real culprits. Sree

Vijaya Kumar v. State of Inspector of Police, Kanya Kumari, 2005 Cr LJ 3085 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1896 : 2005 (10) SCC 737 : 2005(3) Crimes 55 (SC) : 2005(4) Supreme 662 : 2005(5) JT 481.

In a case there was serious inconsistency between the contents of the dying declaration and ocular evidence as well as documentary medical evidence. It was held as the circumstances raised serious doubts as to the implicit credibility of the dying declaration and, therefore, the dying declaration could not be believed. Shekh Mehboob v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 2136 : AIR 2005 SC 1805 : (2005) 10 SCC 387 : 2005(1) Crimes 386 (SC) : 2005(2) Supreme 458.

Ample evidence on record that deceased was in sense and speaking and disclosed the incident—The dying declaration was true and reliable—The axe was recovered from kotha of the accused at his instance and is in exclusive possession and found 'A' blood group—Conviction upheld. Prakash Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 397 (Raj).

Where deceased suffered extensive damage to his liver which may cause instantaneous death—Dying declaration was rightly discarded. State of M.P. v. Sunder Singh, 1994 Cr LR (MP).

Deceased murdered by pouring kerosene and putting fire—Oral dying declaration followed by dying declaration recorded by S.H.O.—Dying declaration and Parcha Bayan bearing the signature of the deceased. Dying declaration admissible in evidence. Parmanand v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 414.

Death was caused by burning dying declaration that a day prior to incident appellant attempted to rape her—On failure to commit rape he set her on fire—No witness deposed about attempted rape—Conduct of deceased that after being set on fire in courtyard she would rush inside room did not inspiring confidence and unnatural—Dying declaration recorded by A.S.I, not endorsed by doctor who was present there. All create suspicion—No further evidence to establish prosecution case. Hence conviction of appellant was held not sustainable. Jagga Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 3 Crimes 567 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 135 : 1994 Supp (3) SCC 463 : 1994 (6) JT 99 : 1994 (4) Scale 188 : 1994 (2) UJ 620 : 1994 (4) CCR 729 (2) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1798.

The oral dying declaration alleged to have been made by deceased to several witnesses was discarded as unreliable. There was no other evidence available to link the appellant with offence. The possibility of committing suicide could not be ruled out. Hence order of conviction was held liable to set aside. Sanjeev v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 2 Crimes 48 : 1994 B Cr C 247 (Bom).

Where it is not a rule of law that dying declaration cannot be acted upon without corroboration. If the court is satisfied that it was in time and voluntary it can base conviction on it without corroboration. Vithal Sadashiv Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Bom CR 702 : 1994 Cr LJ 2035 (Bom).

Two dying declarations were recorded by Magistrate and Doctor—Dying declaration corroborated by recovery of blood-stained knife with B group of blood and watch at the instance of accused—Versions in both the dying declaration same. Conviction upheld. Mustaq Ali v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 411 (Raj).

Where dying declaration—Not corroborated, can be basis for conviction sustained. (Smt.) Chandrabai Balu Kapase v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Bom CR 503 : (1995) 1 Mah LR 792 : (1995) 2 B Cr C 156 (Bom).

Where record of case history of patient can be treated as dying declaration. (Smt.) Chandrabai Balu Kapase v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Bom CR 503 (Bom) : (1995) 1 Mah LR 792 : (1995) 2 B Cr C 156 (Bom).

Where dying declaration was unreliable. There was no evidence of source from which poison was procured. The prosecution case was unacceptable. Hence conviction and sentence is set aside. Accused acquitted. (Smt.) Kampuri v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 WLC (Raj) 570.

Where prosecution case corroborated by medical report and dying declaration. Conviction order was justified and conviction was upheld. Sumer Chand v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 931 (All).

Death of deceased husband alleged to have been caused by wife accused by burning. Both deceased and accused married 10 years prior. Their only son died few weeks before. Extensive burn injuries and no-eye-witness—Deceased being under influence of liquor at the time of incidence—Oral dying declaration corroborated by statements of two witnesses—Medical evidence showing deceased not in fit condition to make oral dying declaration—No motive established—Circumstantial evidence not connecting accused with crime. It was held, that conviction was not sustainable. Darshana Devi v. State of Punjab, (1995) 4 Crimes 225 : (1995) 3 CC Cases 122 (SC) : 1995 Supp(4) SCC 126 : 1995(7) JT 269 : 1995(5) Scale 695 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 38.

Where the dying declaration recorded by Magistrate not even remotedly implicated the accused in the incident and the evidence of eye-witness had not disclosed specific ill treatment or torturing given by accused to deceased on account of non-fulfilment of demand of dowry, the accused was acquitted. State v. (Smt.) Satya-bhama Pandurang, 2003 Cr LJ 1996 (Bom).

Evidence on record showed ill-treating and beating his wife by accused from preceeding two years. Evidence also showed that the relations between accused and his wife was not cordial. Testimony of child of deceased and two brothers of deceased was reliable. Three dying declarations were wholly trustworthy. The doctor clearly recorded in the Accident Register and also stated that the patient was conscious. The conviction of accused was held proper. State of Karnataka v. Shariff, 2003 Cr LJ 1254 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1074 : 2003(2) Supreme 16 : 2003(2) Crimes 144 (SC) : 2003(2) SCC 473.

The accused was convicted on the basis of dying declaration as no eye-witness to incident was available. Doctor had certified that the victim was in a position to speak and sensing and seeing his condition the dying declaration was recorded which was signed by brother of deceased in the presence of nurse and ward boy whose presence in hospital was natural. The conviction was held proper. Abdul Kasem v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3667 (Gau).

In a Madras case there were five dying declaration made before separate persons including the Magistrate. According to all the dying declarations, the accused had fumed Kerosene oil and set the deceased on fire. The doctor opined that she was conscious through out. It was held that the conviction of the accused was proper. Jairaj v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1479 (Mad) : 2002(2) Mad LW (cri) 943.

Where the deceased was in fit mental condition when dying declaration on which she had impleated the accused, conviction was held proper. Simabhai Ramji Bhai

Chauhan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4728 (Guj) : 2003(3) Crimes 109 : 2003(2) DMC 340 : 2003(2) GCD Guj 1109.

Where eye-witness has turned hostile and does not support the prosecution case. The other eye-witnesses who is said to have taken the deceased to the hospital turned hostile by stating that the injured was not talking and that he did not enquire his name and thus he also has not supported the prosecution case and though the police witness has claimed to have recorded dying declaration of the deceased in hospital, the doctor has stated in evidence that the deceased was not in a condition to give statement and there is no explanation as to why the statement of the deceased had not been recorded in presence of the doctor and as to why no certificate was obtained from the doctor as to the fitness of the deceased to give statement and even the witness who brought the deceased to the hospital has not supported the dying declaration by stating that no dying declaration was recorded in his presence, it has been held that since the whole prosecution is based on the dying declaration which is not trustworthy, the conviction of the accused cannot be sustained because the prosecution has utterly failed to establish that the deceased had given dying declaration. Thanu v. State, (2004) 1 Crimes 71 (Chh).

The accused mother-in-law was alleged to have thrown a lighted kerosene lamp against her deceased daughter-in-law due to which she received burn injuries. Dying declaration was recorded by magistrate on same day but certificate about fitness of deceased was obtained Post factum. It was held that it cannot be said that there was medical opinion about fit mental condition when declaration was made. The conviction of accused solely made on the basis of such dying declaration was not proper. Sarojini Amma v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3323 (Ker) : 2003(4) All cri LR 312 : 2003(2) Ker LJ 792.

Case was based on two dying declarations—The quarrel about of dowry mentioned in dying declaration. No burn injuries on scalp. The statement of deceased was not in question and answer form. The fact of beating was contradicting in two dying declarations. Hence conviction could not be based on them. Abdul Rehman v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 663 (Raj).

Dying declaration recorded by head constable it was not established whether deceased was capable of making declaration, since he received 24 grievous injuries—The conviction was not justified. Bashir Shah v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) 2 Crimes 850 (Raj) : 1994 Cr LJ 2526.

The evidence of eye-witnesses was corroborated from medical evidence—The finger prints of accused were found on the glasses and blood-stained clothes and knife recovered at the instance of accused. Dying declaration made before P.W. 6—Case proved beyond reasonable doubt. Conviction upheld. Jakir Hussin v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 403 (Raj).

The dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate not in question-answer form and not accompanied by the doctor's certificate of fitness was held reliable. Kamal Kumar v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 735 : 1995 JCC 280 : 1995 Cr LJ 2240 : (1995) 59 DLT 65 : (1995) 3 CCR 498 (Del) (D.B.).

When dying declaration is not necessarily be made before the Magistrate. Charipalli Shankararao v. Public Prosecutor, High Court A. P. Hyderabad, (1995) 1 Crimes 393 (SC) : 1995 JIC 684 : 1995 (32) ACC 430 : 1995 Cr R 253 (SC).

Where the witness stayed for the whole night at accused place and did not report after the accused confessed the guilt. This makes the story of extra-judicial confession doubtful. Nathu Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 680 (Raj).

Where there were minor contradiction in F.I.R. and dying declaration. But even if there was some difference in time of exact firing by informant, it cannot be said that there exist any contradictions in these two pieces of evidence. Bhondu v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 172 (All).

Where death of wife was caused by burning. The accused was husband though he married 15 years ago—His relations with wife remained strained. Conviction awarded on the basis of dying declaration recorded by Judicial Magistrate. Doctor's testimony that victim was in fit state to make dying declaration. Dying declaration though not in question-answer form and not corroborated still held wholly reliable and conviction justified. Subhash v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Crimes 66 (P & H) (DB).

Where there was delay in lodging F.I.R., there was no previous enmity and neither notice nor intention was proved dying declaration of the offence held, not reliable. Liddu v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 599 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 364 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R (P & H).

Where there is no infirmity in recording dying declaration. It was absolutely free and voluntary statement when the patient was capable of giving out the same. Sumer Chand v. State of U.P, 1995 (32) ACC 84 (All).

The accused closed the door of room, set ablaze his wife and then ran away from the place. From the conduct of the accused adverse inference could be drawn specially when deceased in her dying declaration had named the accused for committing this inhuman act. The order of conviction was confirmed. Sri Kumar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ.

Dying declaration was recorded by police officer but there was no evidence to the effect that condition of victim was so precarious that the magistrate could not be summoned whereas victim remained alive for three days after burning incidence. The prosecution witnesses had admitted in their cross-examination that the victim was not in a position to speak as at the time she was taken to the hospital she was unconscious. It was held that under the said circumstances alleged dying declaration could not be the sole basis for the conviction. Dinesh Gopal Bhure v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3083 (Bom) : 2003(4) Crimes 502 : 2003 All MR (cri) 637.

The accused was lying dead on culvert of village on morning whereas he was given a threat on eve of this incident. Dying declaration made not his niece was found unreliable and delay in filing the FIR was to convincingly explained. It was held that the possibility could not, therefore, be ruled out that accused was roped in falsely on account of mere suspicion. The conviction of accused was set aside. Chandra Mohan Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2003 Cr LJ 3988 (Uttaranchal) : 2003(12) All Ind Cas 190 : 2003(47) All Cri C 740.

Where the wife was burnt by pouring Kerosene on the person of deceased and her dying declaration was recorded and was well within the prescribed norms, the conviction based on such declaration was held proper. Puran Babu Chavan v. State. 2003 Cr LJ 4684 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (CRI) 649.

In a Supreme Court case, the witness merely stated that he knew deceased and used to talk to him and further that at 1.30 pm on 3.9.2004, the deceased contacted him over phone and told him that his petition presented to HR & CE Department was numbered if any danger came to him, the accused alone will be responsible for the same. It was held that since the telephonic conversation which the deceased had with the witness, did not relate to the cause of his death or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, the same did not come within the purview of Section 32(1) of the Evidence Act. Jayendra Saraswathi Swamigal v. State of T.N., 2005 Cr LJ 883 : AIR 2005 SC 716 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 481 : 2005(1) Crimes 113 (SC) : 2005(1) Supreme 82 : 2005(2) SCC 13.

Accused was alleged to have caused the death of deceased wife by inflicting knife blow on stomach of deceased. The dying declaration as recorded by executive magistrate was not certified by doctor that the patient was in a conscious condition. As such it was found not reliable but blow given on vital part of body with a deadly weapon showed that accused intended to cause the death. As such he was held guilty under Section 304 instead of under Section 302. Rajendra Singh Bahadursingh Zala v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3222 (Guj) : 2003(4) Crimes 398.

Where the prosecution case is supported by dying declaration recorded by police, surrounding circumstance and other evidence on record medical evidence also. The defence evidence was contradictory and not satisfactory. Hence conviction justified. Fulo Devi v. State of Bihar, (1995) 2 East Cr C 531 (Pat).

Where the dying declaration was recorded in the form of nods and gestures by Magistrate after deceased was declared conscious and fit by doctor-full reliance could have been placed on the statement of deceased as recorded by P.W. 11 to find the accused guilty under Section 302, I.P.C. Hence conviction confirmed. Meesala Ram Krishan v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1994) 2 Crimes 114 (SC) : (1994) 54 DLT 336 : (1994) 4 SCC 182 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 251.

Injury caused by the knife and the accused seen running after the injury caused—Corroboration by dying declaration—Knife used was recovered—Conviction was held justified. Baluakas Pradip Moreshwar v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Crimes 534 (Bom).

No independent witness available despite occurrence in market- place at 4.30 in the evening-Witnesses including the doctor recording the dying declaration were inimical towards accused—Discrepancies in oral evidence and dying declaration—Trial Court rightly discarded both the dying declaration and the oral evidence. State v. Pulandar, (1995) 2 Crimes 346 (MP).

The dying declaration was recorded in language not different from one spoken by deceased and inspiring confidence as being true version of statement given by deceased. The statement of child witness P.W. 6 was rightly believed by trial judge as free from an exaggeration. Hence conviction and sentence confirmed. Hans Raj v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 WLC (Raj) 307.

The dying declaration does not make liable the accused 'P for causing fracture on frontal bone. Author of particular injury not proved. Hence conviction under Section 302, I.P.C. is not sustainable and altered to Section 325/149, I.P.C. Pooran Son of Bansi v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 317 (Raj).

Where the dying declaration was not recorded by any Magistrate or Doctor, the Judge rightly discarded such dying declaration for valid reasons. Rama v. State of U.P., 1995 (32) ACC 113 (All).

Witnesses stated that when deceased obstructed the removing of the articles the appellant poured kerosene on her and lit fire. Their evidence is truthful and there is no reason to disbelieve it. Hence the High Court was justified in accepting dying declaration and oral evidence as truthful and reliable. Hence there is no ground to interfere. Charipalli Shankarao v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P., Hyderabad, (1995) 1 Andh LT (Cr) 421 (SC) : (1995) 1 Crimes 393 : 1995 JIC 684 : 1995 (32) ACC 430 : 1995 Cr R 253 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 777 : 1995 Supp (4) SCC 24 : 1995 (10 JT 364 : 1995 (1) Scale 192 : 1995 (1) CCR 66 (SC) : 1995 (1) UJ 354 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 21.

The victim blamed mother-in-law for pouring kerosene oil and lighting the fire. This was recorded in case history. This uncorroborated dying declaration can form basis for conviction. Smt. Chandrabal Balu Kapase v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Bom CR 503 (Bom).

Where there was acceptance of dying declaration. Guidelines for causing death of wife and child by pouring kerosene oil and setting fire. For the act husband made accused in dying declaration before Magistrate and statement to police. Guidelines satisfied by facts and inference drawn by lower Courts. Uttam Bhagwant Sangle v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Bom CR 631 : (1995) 1 B Cr C 99 (Bom).

Where conviction based on dying declaration justified. Therefore conviction was justified. Shyam Kumar Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 128 (All) (DB).

Where the cause of death was shock and syncope due to severe peritonitis and anemia as per doctor. Dying'declaration in form of F.I. R. was proved by witnesses. Conviction is liable to be converted under Section 304, Part II, I.P.C. Jail term also reduced to period already undergone. Prem Singh v. State of M.P., (1994) 2 Crimes 494 (MP).

Injuries on accused not explained—Accused might have exercised right of private defence though such plea not raised. There being doubt that High Court can give its benefit to accused. Since there being great diversion in versions in F.I.R., dying declaration and other witnesses—These versions not supported by medical evidence. Acquittal by High Court requires no interference. Chakhan Lal v. Prem Chand, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1142.

Where accused given knife blows on deceased persons' different parts of body eye-witnesses found reliable and trustworthy—Ocular evidence supported by medical evidence—Oral dying declaration implicating accused—At instance of accused knife recovered—Accused person's clothes found soaked with deceased person's blood—Conviction and sentence of accused upheld as he is alone responsible of committing murder conviction is maintained. Unus Khan Sardar Khan Pathan v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Mah LR 18 (Bom).

Where doctor not produced to prove if death was caused due to burn injuries. No witness of incident or any neighbour examined—Dying declaration was also implicating appellant. Dying declaration not inspiring nor true or voluntary. Except it there was no other evidence. Hence there found no evidence to connect appellant with crime. Appeal was allowed and conviction was set aside. Bhoor ji v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 154 (Raj).

The object of punishment has been succinctly stated in Halsbury's Laws of England (4th Edition; Vol. II; Para 482) thus :—

> "The aims of punishment are now considered to be retribution, justice, deterrence, reformation and protection and modern sentencing policy reflects a combination of several or all of these aims. The retributive element is intended to show public revulsion to the offence and to punish the offender for his wrong conduct. The concept of justice as an aim of punishment means both that the punishment should fit the offence and also that like offences should receive similar punishments. An increasingly important aspect of punishment is deterrence and sentences are aimed at deterring not only the actual offender from further offences but also potential offenders from breaking the law. The importance of reformation of the offender is shown by the growing emphasis laid upon it by much modern legislation, but judicial opinion towards this particular aim is varied and rehabilitation will not usually be accorded precedence over deterrence. The main aim of punishment in judicial thought, however, is still the protection of society and the other objects frequently receive only secondary consideration when sentences are being decided".

In Dinesh vs. State of Rajasthan, 2006 AIR SCW 1123 = 2006 (3) SCC 771, it is held:

> "An undeserved indulgence or liberal attitude in not awarding adequate sentence in such cases would amount to allowing or even to encouraging 'potential criminals'. The society can no longer endure under such serious threats. Courts must hear the loud cry for justice by society in cases of heinous crime of rape and impose adequate sentence. Public abhorrence of the crime needs reflection through imposition of appropriate sentence by the Court".

In this case, the learned Additional Sessions Judge forgot the necessity of awarding due sentence. He had shown undue leniency in awarding a sentence lesser than the minimum sentence, that too, after finding that the appellant deserved no leniency and liable to be punished deterrently. He had assigned no reason to award a lesser sentence. The sentence awarded for offence under Section 302, IPC is illegal. But in view of our finding in appeal that the conviction under Section 302 is to be altered to one Section 304 Part II and we having been found that a sentence of rigorous imprisonment for ten years with fine would meet the ends of justice, no separate order is warranted in this Revision Case. Accordingly, the Revision Case is disposed of. We hope that the learned Additional Sessions Judge would take lessons. Mohanan vs. State of Kerala, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 2920 (Ker).

When it was recorded before doctor and Magistrate in fit state of mind with unimpeachable evidence it can not be said it was influenced just because a distant relation accompanied deceased to hospital. Navakoti Veera Raghavulu v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 86 (SC).

When oral dying declaration is not convincing, it can not be relied upon without corroboration. Ram Pyari v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 46 (All).

When no oral dying declaration was mentioned in statement recorded under Section 161, Cr PC but introduced for first in evidence after six years of incident, it can not be accepted and relied upon. R. Ramesh v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 174 (AP).

Dying declaration need not be corroborated for basing conviction on it. State of M.P. v. Balkishan, 1997 (1) Crimes 29 (MP).

113. Capital Punishment-Rarest of Rare cases.—The Court has to see whether there is something uncommon about the crime which renders the sentence of imprisonment of life inadequate and calls for greater punishment, i.e., death sentence. Chandran v. State of Kerala, (1994) 2 KLJ 215 (Ker).

In a latest case reported in Ramjirat v. State of Bihar, 1999 (8) SCC 389; 2000 Cri LJ 19, their Lordships of the Supreme Court have given the guidelines under which the death sentence has to be ordered. Their Lordships held that in order to award death sentence the court should ask itself and answer the following questions. (1) Was there something uncommon about the crime which renders sentence of imprisonment for life inadequate and calls for a death sentence (2) Where the circumstances of the crime such that there is no alternative but to impose death sentence even after according maximum weightage to the mitigating circumstances which speak in favour of the offender. Refering Officer v. Tingili Ashappa 2000 Cri LJ 2569 (AP) : 2000 (1) An LT Cr. 489 (AP).

In Dhananjoy Chatterjee alias Dhana v. State of West Bengal, (1994) 2 S.C.C 220 while confirming the sentence of death the Court opined:

> "In our opinion, the measure of punishment in a given case must depend upon the atrocity of the crime, the conduct of the criminal and the defenceless and unprotected state of the victim. Imposition of appropriate punishment is the manner in which the Courts respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal. Justice demands that Courts should impose punishment befiling the crime so that the courts reflect public abhorrence of the crime. The Court must not only keep in view the rights of the criminal but also the rights of the victim of crime and the society at large while considering imposition of appropriate punishment."

The accused in furtherance of their diabolic motive conspired to teach a lesson to the complainant by killing such of those members of the family who were vulnerable and helpless. This was clear from the timing of the attach which was when other able members of the family were away from the house and only the aged and the weak remained alone in the house. Also the fact that they solicited the help of four of their friends (other accused) showed that the intention was to kill as many members of the complainant family as possible, irrespective of the fact whether the victims where the cause of their vengeance or not. The ghastly manner of attack on the deceased, showed that the act in question was premeditated , senseless dastardly and beyond all human reasoning inasmuch as 53 wounds were inflicted on the 5 deceased persons each one suffering at least 10 wounds on an average. The attacks were aimed at such parts of the body in succession where even a single stab would have, in the ordinary course, sufficed to cause death. The denuding of the lower part of the body off showed an element of perversity which could be attributed to the mind of frustrated men who totally lacked human sensitivity. A holistic examination of the material on record showed that the barbaric offence in question could only be termed as a rarest of the rare case. State of U.P. v. Dharmendra Singh, 2000 Cri LJ 5 (SC) : 1999 AIR (SC) 3789 : 1999 (8) SCC 325 : 1999 (7) JT 207 : 1999 (6) Scale 113 : 1999 (8) Supreme 183 : 1999 (8) SLT 3 : 2000 (1) SCJ 55 : 1999 (9) SRJ 486 : 1999 (4) CCR 25 (SC) : 1999 (2) JCC (SC) 567 : 1999 SCC (Cr) 1425 : 1999 (4) Recent CR 250.

It is possible in a given set of facts that the court might think even in a case where death sentence can be awarded, the same need not be awarded because of the peculiar facts of that case like the possibility of one or more of the accused being responsible for offence less culpable than the other accused, in such circumstances, in the absence of their being no material available, to bifurcate the case of each accused person the court might think it prudent not to award the extreme penalty of death. But then such a decision would rest on the availability of evidence in a particular case. A straight jacket formula for awarding death sentence can be evolved which is applicable to all cases. The facts of each case will have their own implication on the question of awarding sentence. State of U. P. v. Dharmendra Singh, 2000 Cri LJ (SC) : 1999 AIR (SC) 3789 : 1999 (8) SCC 325 : 1999 (7) JT 207 : 1999 (6) Scale 113 : 1999 (8) Supreme 183 : 1999 (8) SLT 3 : 2000 (1) SCJ 55 : 1999 (9) SRJ 486 : 1999 (4) CCR 25 (SC) : 1999 (2) JCC (SC) 567 : 1999 SCC (Cr) 1425 : 1999 (4) Recent CR 250.

In Ronny alias Ronald James Alwairs v. State of Maharashtra, 1998 Cri LJ 1638 : AIR 1998 SC 1251 : 1998(3) SCC 625 : 1998(2) JT 375 : 1998(2) Scale 261 : 1998(3) Supreme 378 the Supreme Court on facts found extenuating factors to curb the sentence which is clear from the following extract from the judgement.

"From the facts and circumstances, it is not possible to predict as to who among the three played which part. It may be that the role of one has been more culpable in degree than that of the others and vice versa. Where in a case like this it is not possible to say as to whose case falls within the rarest of the rare cases, it would serve the ends of justice if the capital punishment is commuted into life imprisonment.

In Ronny's case the Apex Court while discussing the role of the Court in imposing the extreme penalty in para 40 of the said case, has observed thus: "The obligation of the Court in making the choice of death sentence for the person who found guilty of murder is onerous indeed. But by sentencing a person to death, the Court is giving effect to the command of law which is in public interest whereas in committing the murder or being privy to commit murder, even if it be a vengeance for another murder, the convict is violating the law which is against public interest."

In Dharmender Singh's case (Supra) it was contended that after the High Court refused to confirm the death sentence, the accused entertained a just expectation of survival which was a mitigating factor. The Court repelled the contention and held that "We do not find legal basis for this argument. In a judicial system like ours where there is hierarchy of Courts possibility of reversal of judgements is inevitable, therefore, expectations of an accused cannot be a mitigating factor to interfere in an appeal for enhancement of sentence if the same is otherwise called for in law.

Where the accused was labouring under impression that his three daughters were not from him caused death of his wife and children under extreme mental or emotional disturbance, the case cannot be classified in the category of "rarest of rare". State of Maharashtra v. Raju Dadaba Dorge, 2001 Cri LJ 3638 (Bom) : 2001 (1) CCR 115 (126) : 2001 (5) Bom CR 98 : 2001 (1) B Cri C 93 (Bom) (DB).

Where both accused-appellant and deceased last seen together. Same group of blood found on stone as weapon of offence, clothes of deceased and clothes of appellant. Hence conviction is justified. However as act of appellant killing deceased with already stone being not so cruel, unusual or diabolic, death sentence altered to life imprisonment. Ashok Kumar v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 4 Crimes 50 : 1995 SCC (Cr) 1085 (SC) : 1996 Cr. LJ 421 : 1996 AIR (SC) 265 : 1995 Supp (3) SCC 626 : 1995 (6) JT 660 : 1995 (5) Scale 443 : 1995 (4) CCR 52 (SC).

Where accused killed his children in prime of their youth and wrapped their bodies in plastic mattress and covered with earth in locked room and accused also admitted guilt, death penalty was held justified. Janki Dass v. State, 1995 Cr LJ 2175 (Del).

Where alleged murder interrogated after lapse of three years—Contradictions regarding age of deceased as per post-mortem report—Reasons for award of death-sentence devoid of merit and judicial approach. Hence execution of death sentence suspended and bail granted. (Smt.) Usha v. State of U.P. 1994 ACC 101 : 1994 UP Cr R 249.

Taking all facts and circumstances into consideration the extreme penalty of sentence of death should be substituted by sentence of life imprisonment which shall meet the ends of justice. Janki Dass v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 2 CCR 35 (SC) : 1995 Cr LJ 1464 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 1002 : 1992 Supp (3) SCC 143 : 1994 (5) JT 604 : 1994 (3) Scale 905 : 1994 (2) UJ 535 : 1994 (3) Crimes 375 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1673 : 1995 (1) CCR 51 (SC).

It is true that the act of the appellant is barbaric and gruesome. Three helpless persons are done to death while asleep in a room which they thought to be safe after bolting the door from inside. The door is locked from outside to ensure that no one escapes. However, Court also finds that the appellant is not a professional or a hardcore killer. The prosecution has not been able to bring on record the exact manner in which the incident has occurred, the genesis or the sequence of the events, but evidence establish only the circumstances which leave no scope for any other hypothesis than the guilt of the appellant. But how the act was committed is not established. In this set of circumstances, it would be stretching a bit too far to put this case in the category of rarest of rare cases. Court has no material to come to the conclusion that the appellant would be a risk and menace for the society in future and his elimination is the only remedy for the safety of society. Further the appellant has a disabled wife and eight children to look after. We are, therefore, of the view that the punishment of death is a bit too harsh.

Foregoing discussion would result into partly allowing the appeal preferred by the convict appellant by altering the sentence from death penalty to imprisonment for life while confirming his conviction for the offence of murder. He shall suffer imprisonment for life, that is, till he breathes his last breath. State of Gujarat vs. Fatehsinh Ramlal Chauhan, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2473 (Guj).

The incident occured at the spur of moment. He was engrossed in conversation with his wife and mother-in-law to pursuade them that his wife should accompany him to his house that very day. The accused's request was turned down and in the heat of passion and out of frustration picked of sharp edged weapon lying nearby killed has wife and mother-in-law by repeated blows. It was held not to be the rarest of rare cases. Mani Ram v. State of Uttranchal, 2001 Cr. LJ 3403 (Uttaranchal) : 2001 (3) Crimes 1 (6) : 2001 (43) ACC : 137 (Utt) (DB).

The evidence of witnesses with regard to allegation that the accused offence intoxicate sweets to inmates of house of deceased with a view to execute plan of murder without any hindrance was not trust worthy considering the mitigating circumstances, it was found that the accused was a young man of about 30 years and these was all probability of the accused being reformed and rehabilated. It was held that the case did not fall within the category of "rarest of rare cases". State of Orissa v. Kiran Kumar Bedi, 2006 Cut LJ 1381 (Orissa).

When murders of four close relatives including wife and infant child committed by accused under influence of extreme mental and emotional disturbances out of sheer frustration and without pre-planning, it is not rarest of rare cases. Vinod Malhotra v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 82 (Raj).

In a case the accused killed deceased and his son by setting house on fire. The deceased apprehending the assault concealed himself in the room in which her son was also sleeping to kill the father. In such a situation the court held that it was not a rarest of rare cases warranting extreme penalty of death. State of M.P. v. Puthu, 2001 Cri LJ 3217 (M.P.).

After keeping in mind the relevant considerations for awarding the extreme penalty of death and also on considering the fact that in the instant case, the sole eye-witness did not tell, according to P.W. 1, the names of four of the appellants. Although the murders had been committed in a premeditated and calculated manner with extreme cruelty and brutality, for which normally sentence of death will be wholly justified. In the special facts of the case, it will not be proper to award extreme sentence of death on the appellants. Raja Ram Yadav v. State of Bihar, 1996 Cr. LJ 2307 (SC).

Accused was found guilty of burning his own brother and sister by pouring kerosene oil upon their persons. There was no premeditation. In reply to show cause notice for enhancement of sentence he stated that he was suffering from accused mental conflict for a long time. Case did not fall category of rarest of rare cases. Dina Bawari v. State of Assam 2002 Cri LJ NOC 9 (Gau) : 2001(4) Cur Cri R 355 : 2001(3) Gau LR 101.

Evidence, is wholly reliable being clear cogent and convincing F.I.R. lodged within an hour of the incident. Evidence coupled with corroborative evidence. Conclusively proved that accused caused the death of the deceased. Medical report supporting the evidence of the witnesses. Evidence relating to motive need not be considered—No interference with the order of conviction but not a case fit for capital punishment. Hence appeal dismissed. Malkiat Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 3 Crimes 530 (P & H).

Where accused, committing robbery and triple murder. His guilt is established by all circumstances. Hence death sentence confirmed. Conviction sustained. Amrutlal Someshwar Joshi v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 B Cr C 71 : (1995) 2 Bom CR 312 (Bom).

When accused aged 19 years stabbed three women resulting in their deaths and witnesses stated that accused was under some psychic disorder and had no previous enmity with deceased women, it is not case of rarest of rare cases and thus death sentence committed to one of life imprisonment. Joseph v. State of Kerala, 1996 Cri LJ 4094 (Ker).

Where accused, young persons of about 30 and 25 years of age respectively were found killing one helpless lady and her two children in most and manner for committing robbery of ornaments and cash which were kept in the house; accused being relative of victim; enjoyed her confidence and taking undue advantage of situation committed gruesome murder along with his associate and therefore it was considered a rarest of rare case. S.K. Nair v. State of Punjab, 1997 Cri LJ 772 (SC) : : AIR 1997 SC 1537 : 1997 (1) SCC 141 : 1996 (10) JT 338 : 1996 (13) Scale 237 : 1996 (8) Supreme 182 : 1996 (4) Crimes 186 (SC) : 1996 (8) AD (SC) 77.

Where accused killing his children and burying their dead bodies in his own house. Conviction was for murder and sentence to death. Accused being mentally disordered. Death sentence altered to life-imprisonment. Janki Das v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 2 CCR 35 : 1995 Cr LJ 1464 (SC) : (1995) 2 CCR 35 (SC) : 1995 Cr LJ 1464 (SC) : 1995 AIR (SC) 1002 : 1992 Supp (3) SCC 143 : 1994 (5) JT 604 : 1994 (3) Scale 905 : 1994 (2) UJ 535 : 1994 (3) Crimes 375 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1673 : 1995 (1) CCR 51 (SC).

Second petition against conviction and sentence with a view to prolong the matter is not maintainable. Sukumar Barman v. State of West Bengal, 1994 SCC (Cri) 36.

Where death sentence was to be awarded in rarest of the rare cases. Malkiat Singh v. State of Punjab, 1995 SCC (Cr) 982 (SC).

Where there were 10 murders in broad daylight. Assault was made by accused party led by A-11 on unarmed and innocent persons. In peculiar facts and circumstances of case and when the occurrence took place almost 10 years ago. High Court should not have enhanced the sentence of A-11 from life imprisonment to death. Jashubha Bharatsinh Gohil v. State of Gujarat, (1994) 2 Crimes 92 (SC) : (1994) 4 SCC 353 : 1994 (3) JT 250 : 1994 (2) Scale 534 : 1994 (3) CCR 710 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 1193.

Cold blooded and brutal murder of girl of 7 years after raping her in forest and there was no eye witness but only had circumstantial evidence only. Death was due to asphyxia by throttling her. Medical evidence showing forcible sexual assault just before death. Accused absconded and apprehanced after 14 months and one underwear of accused stained with blood found near dead-body in forest. Clothes of deceased completely found smeared with blood. There were serious bleeding injury in her private part. Circumstances established guilt of accused. Conviction of accused confirmed with sentence of death as offence fell in category of forest rape cases. Laxman Naik v. State of Orissa. 1994 (1) Crimes 806 (SC) : AIR 1995 SC 1387 : 1995 Cr. LJ 2692 : 1994 (3) SCC 381 : 1994 (2) JT 39 : 1994 (1) UJ 645 : 1994 (1)Scale 692 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 656 : 1994 (2) CCR 299 (SC) : 1994 JCC 376.

Where two boys hit by lathi with great pressure. Hence boys dying on the spot. This is not rarest of rare case. Capital punishment is set aside. Life imprisonment is awarded to accused person. State of M.P. v. Shriram, 1995 Cr LR (MP) 25.

No doubt the murder was committed in a most cruel manner but this alone is not the aggravating circumstance to award extreme penalty considering other aspects of the case, the motive, the number of accused who shared the common object of unlawful assembly, the role played by each of the accused and respective age of the accused, the case is rarest of rare and therefore death penalty was altered to one of life imprisonment. Amar Pal v. State of U.P. 2002 Cri LJ 290 (All.)

Where it was alleged that accused killed his real brother's two minor sons and aunt while they were asleep they were attempting to murder brother's wife and daughter but there was absence of provocation. Because this murder was committed in cool and calculated manner, therefore, it was held that present case is one of rarest of rare case and hence, death sentence was justified. Surja v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 Cri LJ 51 (SC) : AIR 1997 SC 18 : 1996 (6) SCC 271 : 1996 (8) JT 461 : 1996 (7) Scale 192 : 1996 (7) Supreme 248 : 1996 (3) SCJ 275 : 1996 (4) Crimes 45 : 1996 SCC (Cr) 1314 : 1996 (7) AD (SC) 97.

Section 302, makes it clear that along with the sentence of death or imprisonment for life, the Court is legally bound to impose a fine as well. It is the settled law that the quantum of fine should be commensurate with the capacity of the accused to pay the same. So, Court agreed that no excessive fine should be imposed under Section 302 IPC while sentencing a particular accused for life imprisonment or imposing a death penalty. However, some fine has to be imposed which is mandatory to be imposed in view of the clear wording of Section 302. So, imposition of Rs. 500/- as fine in the present case is in order as the amount is not excessive. Hari Kishore v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 2540 (Del).

A 16 year old girl, was preparing for her 10th class examination at her house and suddenly both the accused took advantage of her being alone in the house and committed a most shameful act of rape. The accused did not stop there but they strangulated her by using her undergarment and thereafter took her to the septic tank along with the cycle and caused injuries with a sharp edged weapon. The accused did not even stop there but they exhibited the criminality in their conduct by throwing the dead body into the septic tank totally disregarding the respect for a human dead body. The Court held that it was a rarest of rare cases and awarded the capital punishment. Molai v. State of MP 2000 Cri LJ 392 (SC) : AIR 2000 SC 177 : 1999 (9) SCC 581 : 1999 (8) JT 361 : 1999 (6) Scale 606 : 1999 (8) Supreme 664 : 1999 (9) SLT 56 : 1999 (3) SCJ 686 : 1999 (10) SRJ 399 (2) : 1999 (4) CCR 225 (SC) : 1999 (4) Recent CR 844 : 2000 (1) JCC (SC) 30 : 2000 SCC (Cr) 438.

In absence of pre-plan to commit murder, death sentence reduced to one of life imprisonment with fine. State v. Banwarilal, 1996 Cr LJ 1078 (Raj).

Where the evidence disclosed that the act of deceased in tying his buffalo on the disputed land infuriated the accused and the incident accused all of a sudden. The case cannot be regarded as a rarest of rare case where the penalty of death would be justified. Rajendra Rai v. State of Bihar 1999 Cri LJ 1448 (SC) : AIR 1999 SC 996 : 1999 (2) SCC 423 : 1999 (1) JT 334 : 1999 (1) Scale 314 : 1999 (1) Supreme 362 ; 1999 (1) Crimes 57 (SC) : 1999 (1) CCR 65 (SC) : 1999 SCC (Cr) 239.

Murder of lady who was alone in the house with number of wounds inflicted on her, person being a ghastly murderer was held a rarest of rare cases calling for death sentence. However, the confession of the accused person under Section 164, Cr PC and Section 313, Cr PC which remained till the last stage of the trial was taken as a mitigating circumstances in favour of the accused and the sentence of imprisonment was awarded. State of Mizoram v. Sri Lalrinawma 2000 Cri LJ 2358 (Gau) : 2000 (2) Crimes 344 : 2000 (2) Gau LR 406 : 2000 (1) Gau LT 616 (Gau.) (DB).

When accused is not found to have made or likely to have made any pecuniary gain by committing alleged offence of burning by fire imposition of sentence of fine of Rs. 10,000/- besides sentence of death, was held not proper. Chandrawati v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 975 (Del).

When accused lost control over himself due to anger and committed murder in land dispute. It is not rarest of rare cases for award of death sentence. S.G. Gowdegowda v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 852 (Kant).

When accused mother-in-law subjected deceased to harassment and cruelty for demand of dowry and then setting her on fire. It is not rarest of rare case for death penalty. Chandrawati v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 975 (Del).

In gruesome murder of five persons when it is shown that accused was not a person of dangerous character and there was no premeditation, it does not fall under rarest of rare cases. Rataniya Bhima Bhil v. State of Gujarat, 1997 Cri LJ 891 (Guj).

In Om Prakash v. State of Haryana, 1999 Cri LJ 2044 (SC) : AIR 1999 SC 1332 : 1999 (3) SCC 19 : 1999 (1) JT 599 : 1999 (1) Scale 570 : 1999 (2) Supreme 227 : 1999 SCC (Cr) 334 : 1999 (2) KLT 21 (SN), the question was whether the case of the accused could be one of the 'rarest of the rare' case. The Apex Court after considering the background of the matter observed as under:—

> "Considering the aforesaid background of the matter, the question would be whether the case of the appellant could be one of the 'rarest of the rare' cases so that death sentence is required to be imposed. In our view, even though this is a gruesome act on the part of the appellant, yet it is a result of human mind going astray because of constant harassment of the family member of the appellant as narrated above. It could be termed as a case of retribution or act for taking revenge. No doubt, it would not be a justifiable act at all, but the accused was feeling morally justifiable on his part. Hence, it would be difficult to term it as the 'rarest of the rare' cases. Further, this is not a crime committed be- cause of lust for wealth or women, that is to say, murders are neither for money such as extortion, dacoity or robbery; nor even for lust and rape; it is not an act of anti-social element, kidnapping and trafficking in minor girls or of an anti social element dealing in dangerous drugs which affects the entire moral fibre of the society and kills number of persons nor is it crime committed for power or political ambitions or part of organised criminal activities. It is a crime committed by the accused who had a cause to feel aggrieved for injustice meted out to his family members at the hands of the family of the other party who according to him were strong enough physically as well as economically and having influence with the authority which was required to protect him and his family. The bitterness increased to a boiling point and because of the agony suffered by him and his family members at the hands of the other party and for not getting protection from the police officers concerned or total inaction despite repeated written prayers goaded or compelled the accused to take law in his own hand which culminated in gruesome murders; may be that his mind got derailed of the truck and went astray or beyond control because of extreme mental disturbances for the constant harassment and disputes. Further considering the facts and circumstances, it cannot be said that he would be a menace to the society; there is no reason to believe that he cannot be reformed or rehabilitated and that he is likely to continue criminal acts of violence as would constitute a continuing threat to the society. He was working in B.S.F. as a disciplined member of the Armed Forces aged about 23 at the relevant time, having no criminal antecedent. In the result, we are of the view that this case cannot be treated as one of the rarest of rare cases where lesser sentence of imprisonment of life would not at all be adequate."

As to what circumstances bring a particular case in the category of rarest of rare case will vary from case to case depending upon the nature of crime; weapons used, the manner in which it is purported and the reasons, cause of motive for which it was committed. In the absence of nature and cause for murder of his own wife infore and children and what prompted the accused to kill his own wife after 11 years of marriage and children aged 7 years and 2½ years, being not established by the prosecution, it cannot be said that this is one of the rarest of rare case where death sentence alone could be awarded. Brij Bhushan Sharma v. State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 1384 (All).

In a Punjab and Haryana case, the accused was found guilty of committing attempt to commit rape and maternal sister and also murder of his maternal grand mother. It was found that the mother had inflicted number of injuries with sharp-edged weapon on the vital parts of body of both victims. The murders had been committed without any provocation and in a cold-blooded manner. Accused in his defence, took false plea of alibi and of unsound mind. It was held that the case fell within the category of "rarest of rare cases" and death sentence was warranted. State of Punjab v. Kulwinder Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 3937 (P&H) : 2005(4) Rec Cri R 1 : 2005(3) Chand LR (Civ & Cri) 451.

The instant case was preplanned and broad-day light brutal murder of a public leader. Charges against accused were established beyond reasonable doubt. Motive to kill was available on record and there was no reason for false implication. It was held that death sentence was warranted. Narmadeshwar Prasad Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 3295 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 1426 : 2005(2) BLJR 1463 : 2005(3) East Cri C 367 : 2005 SJLJR 251.

The accused taking advantage of the helplessness of the informant attempted to commit rape on her. With such an intention he entered her house late in the night and caught hold of her in an attempt to make her sleep with him. One cannot underestimate the depravity of a person who makes such attempt taking advantage of the helplessness of a married lady. Not only this, he entered the house to satisfy his lust armed with pistol. The only inference that can be drawn is that he was prepared to go to any extent in achieving his vile objective. Thereafter when the child woke up and out of fear clung to his mother he wanted the child to be separated from his mother. This again demonstrates the complete lack of emotion and sensitivity so far as the accused is concerned. The child was a helpless spectator who could neither defend himself nor his mother. He could offer no resistance. His mother was in no better position. Then, to shoot the child who was clinging to his mother out of fear is another gruesome act executed with extreme cruelty particularly having regard to the fact that a son aged about ten years clinging to his mother was being shot at in her presence. Neither the deceased nor his mother had offered any provocation to the accused. Killing an innocent child in the presence of his helpless and defenceless mother is itself an act of extreme cruelty. The question yet arises as to whether this is one of the rarest of rare cases in which a death sentence can be upheld. This case comes dangerously close to the category of cases which can be said to be the rarest of rare cases. However having regard to the fact that the conviction of the accused is based upon the sole tesacmony of the informant not a matter of law but by way of abundant caution, the sentence of death may not be justified on the facts of the case and life imprisonment will meet the ends of justic. State of Bihar v. Triloki Singh, 1998 Cri LJ 2447 (Pat).

In a Bombay case, several persons assaulted complainant and deceased who subsequently died but trial judge acquitted them as in his view it was a case of personal rivalry and prosecution had failed to prove the guilt of the accused. On appeal the alibi pleaded by one of the accused was accepted and he was acquitted but all others were convicted under Section 302/34 as in the opinion of Court it could not be said that entire evidence was discrepant and of no value and was liable to be discarded. State v. Lalu Laxman Pabale, 2003 Cr LJ 1174 (Bom) : 2002 All MR (cri) 2204.

In a Supreme Court case, one of the accused set up the plea of alibi relying upon the records relating to his attendance in his battalion at Meerut cantonment. The evidence showed that he was living out of cantonment in a village which was just 35 km away from his work place and it was quite possible for him to go to the village and report back next morning at parade at 6 a.m. The plea of alibi was therefore not accepted and his conviction for murder was upheld. Jasbir v. State of Haryana, 2003 Cr LJ 826 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 554 : 2002(10) SCC 324 : 2003(1) Supreme 311 : 2003(1) Crimes 389 (SC).

The deceased died of asphyxia during the commission of rape on her by accused but it could not be said that it was a murder of brutal. Grotesque, diabolical revolting or dastardly nature and consequently it does not call for the extreme penalty of death. State v. Suresh, 1998 Cri LJ 2491(All).

In a case of murder and rape the accused aged less than 22 years on the relevant day was sentenced of death. The apex Court modified the sentence to an imprisonment for life and observed : "However, the learned counsel for the appellant submitted that in any set of circumstances, this is not the rarest of the rare case where accused is to be sentenced to death. He submitted that age of the accused on the relevant day was less than 22 years. It is his submission that even though the act is heinous, considering the fact that no injuries were found on the dedeased, it is probable that death might have occurred because of gagging her mouth and nosetrix by the accused at the time of incident so that she may not raise hue and cry. The death, according to him, was accidental and unintentional one. In the present case, there is nothing on record to indicate that the appellant was having any criminal record nor it can be said that he will be a grave danger to the society at large. It is true that his act is heinous and requires to be condemned but at the same time it cannot be said that it is rarest of the rare case where accused requires to be eliminated from the society. Hence there is no justifiable reason to impose the death sentence."

In State of Maharashtra v. Bharat Fakira Dhiwar 2002 Cri LJ 215(SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 16 : 2001(7) Scale 285 : 2001(5) Supreme 67 : 2001(3) Crimes 234 (SC) the accused was convicted and sentenced to death by trial Court but he was acquitted by High Court. In appeal, Supreme Court while convicting accused did not impose extreme penalty of death in spite of the fact that the case is perilously near the region of rarest of the rare cases, as the accused was once acquitted by the High Court. Death sentence altered to sentence of life imprisonment.

The victim was not taken by surprise and the accused had not pounced upon her and had rendered her helpless. She had completely removed her Salwar. Her Kurta was rolled up to the neck. The circumstances indicated that probably she was not unwilling initially to allow the accused to have some liberty with her. The accused not being able to resist his urge for sex went ahead. In spite of her willingness for a sexual intercourse, offered some resistance and started raising shouts at that stage. The accused to prevent her from raising shouts tied the salwar around her neck which resulted in strangulation and her death. This was held to be not a case fit for death sentence. This is not a case of extreme penalty of death. Kumudi Lal v. State of U.P., 1999 Cri LJ 2523 (SC) : AIR 1999 SC 1699 : 1999 (4) SCC 108 : 1999 (3) JT 121 : 1999 (2) Scale 622 : 1999 (4) Supreme 121 : 1999 (3) Crimes (SC) : 1999 (2) CCR 81 (SC) : 1999 SCC (Cr) 491 : 1999 (2) Recent CR 485.

The age of the accused being of 22 years cannot, in the factual matrix of the matter under consideration, be said to be a mitigating factor. Accused is of 22 years of age while the victim was aged 30 years and at the time of the unfortunate death, she was under pergnancy between 22 to 30 weeks, the other victim was an innocent girl a child of 8 years the murder was cold blooded while two victims were in helpless and hapless situation. No amount of preversity would prompt a person to break open the door by removing the bricks from the wall and commit such gruesome murders on failure to satisfy the lust—the human lust ought to know its limits. Imagination shall have to run wild to consider existence of any mitigating factors in the matter of sentence, having due regard to even the subsequent conduct of the accused in the matter of disposal of the bodies as noticed above.

Can there be any mitigating circumstances on account of such ghastly act the answer cannot but be in the negative. The mother of the accused was bolted inside the room and she watches as a bewildered spectator from the creeks of the window and it is the mother who had given evidence about the bad characteristics and the reputation of the accused in the locality; the sister-in-law has been murdered along with an innocent child. The savage nature of the crime has shocked judicial conscience. The murder was cold blooded and brutal without any provocation. It certainly makes it a rarest of the rare cases in which there are no extenuating or mitigating circumstances. Jai Kumar v. State of M.P., 1999 Cri LJ 2569 (SC).

In Satish Kumar Kantilal Dave v. State of Gujarat 1999 Cri LJ 2628 (Guj) the accused was a poor man and a driver in Ahmedabad Municipal Transport Bus Services. He had committed double murder for his love for Geeta the daughter of the deceased person. He was not a lethal economic offender nor he was hardened criminal. It was not on record that he relished the killing to the extent that he was beyond rehabilitation. That was, therefore, not the rarest of the rare case as contemplated and as such the accused did not deserve capital punishment. In Panchi V. State of U.P. (1998) 7 SCC 171 : 1998 Cri LJ 4044 the Honourable Apex Court has observed as under (at page 4047-4048/of Cri LJ).

In a murder case, the accused hacked on the head of his deceased class-mate and caused her death. he accused committed offence after previous planning and with extreme brutality. No material was placed before the Court to prove probability that the accused would commit criminal act as would constitute continuing threat to society and the accused could not be reformed and rehabilated. The Court held that the mitigating circumstances outweigh aggravating circumstances and converted the death sentence to life imprisonment. Yelchuri Manohar v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 4593 (AP) : 2005(2) ALD (CRL) 758 : 2005 (3) Andh LT (Cri) AP 386.

The accused, who was a drunkard, had regular quarrels with his father. The accused intentionally, recklessly and knowingfully, the consequences of his action assaulted his father. The post-mortem report showed the injuries caused by the accused to the deceased. This proved his guilty mind and the guilt, conviction and sentence of life imprisonment was sustained. Channappa Advyappa Ambi v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 89 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 3284 (Bom).

We have extracted the above reasons of the two Courts only to point out that it is the savagery or brutal manner in which the killers-perpetrated the acts on the victims including one little child which had persuaded the two Courts to choose death sentence for the four persons. No doubt brutality looms large in the murder in this case particulary of the old and also the underaged child. It may be that the manner in which the killings were perpetrated may not by itself show any lighter side but that is not very peculiar or very special in those killings. Brutality of the manner in which a murder was perpetrated may be a ground but not the sole criterion for judging whether the case is one of the rarest of rare cases as indicated in Bachan Singh case supra. In a way every murder is brutal, and the difference between one from the other may be on account of mitigating or aggravating features surrounding the murder."

Accused being relative of victim lady and her two children enjoyed her confidence and taking undue advantage committed gruesome murder of lady and children and committed robbery of ornaments and cash kept in their house. This is rarest of rare case and death sentence awarded. State of M.P. v. Mukund, 1997 Cri LJ 534 (MP).

In Mohd Chaman v. State (N.C.T. of Delhi) 2001 Cri LJ 725(SC) a baby girl aged about one and half years had been a prey to the lust of a thirty years old man and had been killed in a most revolting manner arousing intense and extreme indignation to community on the question of sentence. The apex Court preferred to adopt the safer course and imposed the sentence of life imprisonment on the accused and set aside the sentence of death. The Apex Court observation may be usefuly noted as under:—

> "Coming to the case in hand, the crime committed is undoubtedly serious and heinous and the conduct of the appellant is reprehensible. It reveals a dirty and preverted mind of a human being who has no control over his carnal desires. Then the question is whether the case can be classified as of a rarest of rare category justifying the severest punishment of death. Testing the case on the touchstone of the guidelines laid down in Bachan Singh, AIR 1983 SC 898 : 1980 Cri LJ 6361 (Supra). Machhi Singh AIR 1983 SC 957; 1983 Cri LJ 1457 : (Supra) and other decisions and balancing the aggravating and mitigating circumstances emerging from the evidence on record, we are not persuaded to accept that the case can be appropriately called one of the rarest of rare cases deserving death penalty. We find it difficult to hold that the appellant is such a dangerous person that to spare his life will endanger the community, we are also not satisfied that the circumstances of the crime are such that there is no alternative but to impose death sentence even after according maximum weightage to the mitigating circumstances in favour of the offender. It is our considered view that the case is one in which a humanist approach should be taken in the matter of awarding punishment."

In State of Karnataka v. Sheikh Khader, 2000 Cri LJ 430 (Kant) it was submitted that the accused were young persons and they had old parents and that they had already undergone two years' in custody and leniency in punishment was requested, the court held:—

> "We have taken into consideration these factors as also the overall complexion of the case. We need to note that the facts clearly established that this was a premeditated murder and that this was committed with an abnormally high degree of brutality. The case, viewed at from various features, which the Supreme Court has laid down from time to time does come dangerously close to the rarest of the rare cases, but in our considered sentences prescribed under Section 302, IPC.

In Manohar Lal v. State (N.C.T. of Delhi) 2000 Cri LJ 581 (SC) the accused killed four persons by setting them ablaze in an incident taking place during riots following assassination of Indira Gandhi. Regarding sentence, the apex Court observed: "The normal sentence for murder is life imprisonment and death penalty is now reserved to be given in rarest of the rare cases in which the other sentence is unquestionably fore closed (vide Bachan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1980) 2 SCC 684 (AIR 1980 SC 898 : 1980 Cri LJ 636). Thus death penalty is now sequestered to the narrowest region. What the appellants have done were no doubt acts of the most gruesome nature. But we bear in mind that they were on a rampage, and they ran berserk unguided by sense or reason and triggered only by a demented psyche. They had no special or personal animosity towards anyone of the deceased individually. The assassination of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi had blind-folded those youths and unfortunately there was no leadership to bridle the mob frenzy unleashed with all cruelty. The Court after making above observations held that sentencing accused to death was not proper.

While awarding death sentence felonious propensity of offender could not be the sole basis but other factors like motive, manner and magnitude of offence are also to be considered. Krishan v. State of Haryana, 1997 (2) Crimes 59 (SC) ; 1997 AIR SCW 2554.

In State of Haryana v. Nirmal Singh 1999 Cri LJ 662 (P&H) the observation of Mr. Justice M.L. Singhal may be usefully noted:—

> "Upon taking an overall global view of all the circumstances in the light of this proposition that when life imprisonment appears to be an altogether inadequate punishment having regard to the relevant circumstances of the crime, the option to impose sentence of imprisonment for life cannot be senselessly exercised and after according full weightage to the mitigating circumstances and drawing up a just balance between the aggravating and mitigating circumstances, we feel that death sentence will be the only sentence that will meet the ends of justice. Award of imprisonment for life will be no imprisonment indeed because we know that after earning remissions and paroles, a person hardly spends 10 years both day and night in the four-walls of the jail. Five years or so, they have already remained in jail and they will come out of jail after remaining there for another about 5 years and after coming out of jail, they will feel emboldened that they are still alive, will enjoy with their family and what the society has done to them though they had eliminated the entire line of their co-villager Tale. After getting out of jail, no wonder they eliminate punam, her family and punam's sister Nirmal and her family. Dharmpal and Nirmal do not deserve to remain in human society. They have forfeited their right to remain members of an orderly society because of their having acted brutally, shockingly, desparately, irrationally in eliminating the entire > family of Tale. If, there had been little human tinge in them, it would have directed them only to eliminate Neelam and Punam. What was the fault of Tale who did not appear at all in the rape case? What was the fault of Krishna? What was the fault of two sons of Tale i.e. Tinu and Parveen who were 10-11 and 12-13 years old. Dharmpal and Nirmal are savage and brutes. They committed murder of Tale and four members of his family in premeditated and calculated manner. It is certainly the rarest of rare cases where death sentence will be the only proper sentence that will commensurate with the gravity of the crime and the circumstances in which the same was committed. If the death penalty imposed upon them by the learned Sessions judge is diluted, that will be going against the just aspriations of the society expected from the administrators of law and justice. Nirmal appellant is equally barbaric, brute denude of human compassion and human heart. He too has forfeited his right to remain a member of an orderly society. Let we live and others live is absolutely alien to them."

In a Gauhati case, two persons were burnt to death by bolting the house from outside. One of the victim managed to come out of the house but the accused persons caught hold of him and threw him back with the burning house. The incident took place in broad day light and was preplanned. There was absolutely no mitigating circumstances in favour of the accused person. The accused were not repentant at all inasmuch as soon after the occurrence, he absconded and he was apprehended long thereafter. Imposition of death penalty was held proper. State of Assam v. Holiram Bardoloi, 2005 Cr LJ 1020 (Gau) : 2004(2) Gau LT 113 Gau.

114. Punishment in cases where self defence is borne out.—It should always be remembered that in awarding a sentence in a case wherein plea of self-defence is borne out, the approach of the Court should be realistic and not wooden. It should place itself in the predicament of the accused and then decide as to what sentence should be imposed on him. In the instant case, the deceased had tresspassed into the house of the accused-appellant, thereafter assaulted him and it was only then that the appellant inflicted two knife blows on his chest. Considering the high-handed conduct of the deceased, a sentence of five years R.I. coupled with the sentence of fine and that in its default, sentence imposed on the appellant, by the trial Court would meet the ends of justice. Shivaji Ganu Naik v. State of Maharashtra, 1999 Cri LH 471 (Bom).

Considering their antecedents, the way in which the murder was planned and executed inside the court hall while the court was in session, the various attacks on the face of the deceased which made even his identification impossible and also dragging on the body by all the accused towards the court compound and threw it inside the SLB School compound and there after escaping themselves by scaling over the compound wall would amply prove that it is not usual case of murder but a rarest of rare case. Sheik Meeran v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1999 Cri LJ 4981 (Mad).

The accused committed murder of the deceased girl not intentionally and with any premeditation. On the other hand the accused found a young girl alone in a lonely place and picked her up for committing rape; while committing rape and in the process by way of gagging, the girl died. The medical evidence also indicated that the death was on account of asphyxia. In the circumstances the court held that it could not be held to be one of the rarest of rare cases justifying the punishment of death. Akhtar v. State of U.P., 1999 Cri LJ 5007 (SC) : 1999(6) SCC 60 : 1999(9) JT 348 : 1999 SCC (Cr) 1058.

In Natarajan v. State 2000 Cri LJ 1045 (Mad) the Madras High Court's observation on the subject may usefully be noted as under:—

> "To true it is, that the assault was on the ladies who were helpless and hopeless. It is also true that the accused had shown cruelty in assaulting the deceased persons with a dangerous weapon like sickle and had inflicted number of injuries on them even when no retaliation was offered by any of these persons. Yet, however, this case could not be placed on the high pedestal of rarest of rare case. We have already given our reasons of extreme poverty on the part of the accused, his utter helplessness in the matter and the bitter insult offered to him by his mother in law which must have affected his mind. It has to be borne in mind that the accused does not have any criminal list. There is no evidence on record to suggest that he was a person of cruel or arrogant nature. The evidence is completely wanting in their behalf. Here is the case of a poor and a meek villager who does not have a criminal history. Picked by the constant poverty and further by the insults offered by his own near and dear ones, the man had acted at the spur of the moment in a biased manner so as to terminate two lives and endangered two others. It can not be said to be a rarest of a rare case. Perhaps, the evidence of the eye witnesses that the accused was uttering that unless Gomathiammal was finished, there would be no peace in the family, suggests the constant dissatisfaction and disturbed atmosphere in his family for a long time. True it is that two persons have lost their lives, but the number of persons losing their lives in the incident has not been the only factor. In the reported decision of A. Deivendran v. State of Tamil Nadu (1997) 4 Crimes 181: (1988 Cri LJ 814) (SC), where the Supreme Court was dealing with the offence of murder of two old ladies during the robbery bid as also the murder of one more victim, the Supreme Court observed that the number of persons died in the incident is not determinative factor for deciding whether the extreme penalty of death could be awarded or not. In that case relying upon the decisions in Machhi Singh v. State of Punjab (1983) 3 SCC 470; (1983 Cri LJ 1457); Suresh v. State of UP, (1981) 2 SCC 569 : (1981 Cri LJ 746); Raja Ram Yadav v. State of Bihar, (1996) 9 SCC 287 : (1996 Cri LJ 2307) and Mukund alias Kundu Mishra v. State of Madhya Pradesh (1997) 3 Scale 769 (1997 Cri LJ 3182), the Supreme Court refused to award the death sentence. It is liable to be seen that this was a robbery case and the murders were for gain, so also the murders in Raja Ram Yadav's case (Supra) Mukund alias Kundu Mishra's case (supra) were obviously for gain. Yet considering the peculiar facts, the Supreme Court did not choose to award extreme penalty."

The accused and Sudipa wanted only Sudipa's mother to be removed from this world. At no point of time the accused had planned to kill Sudipa's father and her grand-parents. Sudipa was ill treated by her mother and no other way could be seen for improving Sudipa' future. It was, therefore, out of helplessness and frustration that Sudipa and accused had decided to remover her. There was no other reason. Till Sudipa's mother was made to eat the Kalojam mixed with poison there was not even the remotest desire on the part of the accused to kill Sudipa's father or her grand-parents. The subsequent events happened unexpectedly. The accused killed them out of confusion and fright that he would be named as the murderer of Sudipa's mother. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, the Supreme Court hold that it was not a fit case in which the death sentence could be regarded as an appropriate punishment. Randhir Basu v. State of West Bengal, 2000 Cri LJ 1417 (SC) : AIR 2000 SC 902 : 2000 (3) SCC61 : 2000 (1) JT 618 : 2000 (1) Scale 483 : 2000 (2) Supreme 534 : 2000 (2) Crimes 41 (SC) : 2000 (10 CCR 195 (SC) : 2000 SCC (Cr) 587.

In State of Haryana v. Raju, 2000 Cri LJ 2726 (P&H) a young girl of 11 years was kidnapped and raped and murdered brutally by the accused who was a young man of 20/22 years. He Smashed the child's skull and face with a brick which indicated his insensitive and sick mind. The court observed that "It is true that the extreme penalty has to be awarded in the rarest of rare cases. But, we cannot allow every sick man to evade the rope and make the society suffer. Society needs to be saved from the sick men like Raju. They must be eliminated, that others may live. Helpless children like Rinku need to be given a sense of security and protected from such persons. We find no mitigating circumstances which may warrant anything less than the extreme penalty." In Suresh v. State of Haryana, 2000 Cri LJ 2792 (All). The accused committed heirous crime in a diaboliced manner. As many as five persons were murdered. Who were the own close relatives of one of them. It was such a ghastly crime that amongst the victims were three innocent children aged between one and nine years. The offence was committed by them with planning. Having regard to the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case and the magnitude of the horendous crime committed by the accused, the extreme penalty of death was called for to be awarded to them for the offence under section 302, IPC.

The accused appellant was a young lady of about 22 years of age at the time of the incident and after a lapse of 19 years he must be about 42 years of age. During this long interval his socio-economic conditions must have gone radical changes. Having regard to all these circumstances as well as to the nature of the injury caused by the appellant, the weapon used by him and the circumstances in which the offence was committed, it is felt that a sentence of 7 years shall meet the ends of justice. Naseem alias Bhatey v. State 2000 Cri LJ 3043 (All).

The accused killed his wife and children having administered poison to them and thereafter severed their heads from tranks and then fled away. On the question of sentence the court made the following observations. "It is true that the murder is cold blooded one and on pre-planned hypothesis but that alone in my mind does not attract the case of rarest of rare case for imposing capital punishment in such a case. It is true that it is a cold blooded triple murder but the mind of the accused and the subsequent action of the accused totally infers that he was distrubed minded with a fear psychosis which has completely demurred all his fine and pleasing normal instincts and made him a cruel murderer. Considering all this aspect I am of a firm opinion that this case does not come within the purview of rarest of rare case for imposing capital punishment and I do covert the same to rigorous imprisonment for life. Manik Mukherjee v. State of Bihar, 2000 Cri LJ 3661 (pat).

In Ram Deo Chauhan v. State of Assam 2000 Cri LJ 3954 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 2679 : 2000(7) SCC 455 : 2000(8) JT 430 : 2000(5) Scale 355 : 2000(5) Supreme 312 the murder was pre-planned cold blooded brutal and quadriple. The murder was committed in the most brutal manner with severe cruelty inflicting number of injuries on each victim including a female baby hardly of 2½ years of age and two helpless women. They were murdered while they were in deep sleep after lunch keeping the doors and windows of the house open without suspecting any foul play from any quarter. Th Supreme Court after referring to various judgements observed as under.—

> "It is true that in a civilised society a tooth for tooth, and nail for nail or deat for death is not the rule but it is equally true that when a man becomes a beas and menace to the society, he can be deprived of his life according to the procedur established by law, as constitution itself has recognised the death sentence as premissible punishment for which sufficient constitutional provisions for a appeal, reprieve and the like have been provided under the law. It is true that lif sentence is the rule and death sentence is an exception. We are satisfied that th present case is an exceptional case which warrants the awarding of maximu penalty under the law to the accused/appellant. The crime committed by th appellant is not only shocking but it has also jeopardised the society. The awardin of lesser sentence only on the ground of the appellant being a youth at the time o occurrence cannot be considered as a mitigating circumstance in view of ou findings that the murders committed by him were most cruel, heinous an dastardly. We have no doubt that the present case is the rarest of the rar requiring the maximum penalty, imposable under law."

In Verabharathi v. State 2000 Cri LJ 4236 (Mad) the mitigating circumstances wer that the accused had relatively clean past inasmuch as nothing had been said abou the previous nefarious criminal activities. All the three accused were also in their lat 20's or early 30's. Two of the accused persons came from educated backgroun inasmuch as their parents had the teachers. All the there accused had famil depending upon them as also the old parents. It was not clear as to who had actual murdered the girl. It was not found that the accused could not be reformed or that the were a total menace to the society to the extent that their remaining in the societ would itself prejudice the general interest of the society. In view of the above fact death sentence was altered to one of life imprisonment. Veerabharathi v. State 2000 C LJ 4236 (Med).

On the one hand there were aggravating circumstances with regard to the rape an murder of a minor girl of about 5 years of age, who was totally unprotected as also th brutality and the depravity with regard to the manner in which the crime had bee committed and on the other hand there were mitigating circumstances that the accuse was a boy of 20 years i.e. in the age of adolescence, he was not a hardened crimin with any criminal record in past, his father had already expired, seeming to be ignora of social and moral values, could not be said to be a menace to the society, it appeare to be a case of impulsive bravado of sex and that he wanted to satisfy his sexual urg on the date of the incident and in the process, the murder was also committed. Th accused was convicted solely on the basis of circumstantial evidence with corroboratio of button and saliva on bidi bud etc. coupled with his own say before doctor. Deat sentence was altered to that of life imprisonment. Trikambhai v. State of Gujarat, 200 Cri LJ 4363 (Guj) : 2000 (3) Guj LR 1925 : 2000 Cr. LR (Guj) 593.

In State v. Mota, 2000 Cri LJ 4414 (Kant) the two accused armed with dead weapons killed 5 persons in most savage and blood curdling manner. The court whi determining the sentence observed as under:—

> "There is only one small factor which can be pleaded on behalf of the accuse and that was their status and the circumstances under which the incident too > place. The two accused in this case come from what can be described as virtually the poorest of the poor strata; it is a social tragedy that they have been deprived of any form of education or literacy and starting from this premise one has to try and recreate their mental condition if they felt that the only little possession on this planet namely a small piece of land that made for their virtual sustenance was threatened. The situation in rural India and particularly at this level, makes for a very harsh life style and the prosecutions has suggested, as admitted by the witnesses, that the deceased chotaiah was mixed up in some form of so-called "nata" or witchcraft which was supposed to have been used for purposes of trying to deprive the accused of whatever little land their life solely depended on. The Court has to perhaps visualize that this provided a life and death situation for the accused and there is no doubt that reaction on their unsophisticated minds was a violent one. The learned spp is right when he points out that when accused came down at the dead of night with such deadly weapons machus and when they straightaway went and hacked their victims into pieces that they came there with the mental predisposition of killing those persons, but we cannot lose sight of the circumstances that triggered off this action. The law cannot and will never justify the taking of life but while evaluating the gravity of the offence and prescribing the punishment, the law cannot lose sight of these deep seated aspects. If one were to take this aspect of the matter into consideration, as we have to, then this case would get relegated to the category of those cases in which the Supreme Court has said that even though on a normally evaluation the crime called for a death sentence that it still should not be awarded. This is the solitary ground on which we refrain from enhancing the sentences even though, as indicated in the judgement, the learned spp has otherwise made out an absolutely a fit case for awarding the death sentences.

In a latest case reported in Ram ji Rat. v. State of Bihar, 1999(8) SCC 389: 2000 Cri LJ 19 : AIR 1999 (SC) 3857 : 1999(8) JT 236 : 1999(6) Scale 565 : 1999(9) Supreme 36, their lordships of the Supreme Court have given the guidelines under which the death sentence has to be ordered. Their Lordships held that in order to award death sentence the court should ask itself and answer the following question. (I) Was there something uncommon about the crice which renders sentence of imprisonment for life inadequate and calls for a death sentence.

Were the circumstances of the crime such that there is no alternative but to impose death sentence even after according maximum weightage to the mitigating circumstances which speak in favour of the offender. Refering officer.v. Tingili Ashappa 2000 Cri LJ 2569 (AP).

115. Term "imprisonment".—The term "imprisonment" includes the sentence of imprisonment for life and this word enjoined in Section 31 of Cr PC not defend in Cr PC. Kamalanatha v. State of T.N., 2005 (3) East Cr C 78 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2132 : 2005(5) SCC 194 : 2005(4) JT 170 : 2005(3) Crimes 24 (SC) : 2005(4) Supreme 501.

116. Eye-witness—Testimony of—Merely because deceased and complainants had criminal track record would not be ground to discard evidence of witnesses which was otherwise reliable. The fact that the police had given clean chit to accused would be of no consequence. Conviction was held proper. Dhanaj Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2004 SC 1920 : 2004 Cr LJ 1807.

Eye-witnesses—Minor inconsistencies.—There is a minor discrepancy pointed out as to what eye-witnesses have spoken about the manner of arrival of the motor riders. PW-3 stated that they came when the deceased was crossing the road while PW-4 stated that they were already there. This is too a trivial matter to corrode the credibility of the witnesses who were being examined after a length of time. Abuthagir vs. State, AIR 2009 SC 2797 : 2009 CrLJ 3987 : 2009 (7) Scale 585 : 2009 (5) Supreme 138 : 2009 (5) SLT 352 : 2009 (8) SCR 432.

Independent eye-witnesses—Delayed.—It is seen that the PWs. 3 and 4 disclosed that they had witnessed the incident. Before PW-22 their evidence was recorded. The incident took place on 29.08.1997 and the accused persons were arrested after about 8 months. Till the arrest of the accused the statements of PWs. 3 and 4 were not recorded under Sec. 161 of Code. After arrest because their photos were published in the newspapers, that is how PWs. 3 and 4 came to the Police Station on their own accord on two different occasions and gave statements. It has been submitted by learned Counsel for the appellants that PWs. 3 and 4 did not disclose the incident to any one. They have no interest either for prosecuting the accused or making a statement in the defence. They are independent witnesses. In such a case it is absurd to hold that Investigating Officer had erred in recording the statement of PWs. 3 and 4. The investigating agency was making all possible efforts to know the names of the witnesses. This factor cannot be doubted. If really as contended by learned Counsel for the appellants the prosecution wanted to tamper some witnesses they could have immediately done so after the incident.

In the instant case, as PWs. 3 and 4 have no enmity with the accused they are independent and natural witnesses. They are not under the control of the police and do not have in any sense any obligation to the police. Since they have revealed the truth after long time after seeing the photos of the accused persons, that cannot be a factor to discard their evidence. Abuthagir vs. State, AIR 2009 SC 2797 : 2009 CrLJ 3987 : 2009 (7) Scale 585 : 2009 (5) Supreme 138 : 2009 (5) SLT 352 : 2009 (8) SCR 432.

Where evidence of eye-witnesses as to incident was cogent, consistent and reliable and remained unshaken in lengthy cross-examination and also corroborated by medical evidence and witnesses, it was held that the conviction of accused was just and proper. Mohan Manjhi v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 1545 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 308 : 2004(3) JCR JHA 413 : 2004(3) JLJR 437.

Where evidence of eye-witnesses as to incident was cogent, consistent and reliable as their presence on spot of incident was natural and corroborated by post-mortem report that repeated blows of iron-rod given by accused with sufficient force on head of deceased resulting into his death, it was held that convicted warranted no interference. Babulal v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 2095 (MP).

Where evidence of eye-witnesses as to incident that accused stabbed deceased with knife was cogent and reliable and weapon of offence recovered at instance of accused stained with blood matching with blood group of deceased, conviction warrants no interference. Bass v. State of T.N., 2005 (2) Crimes 648 (Mad).

Where evidence of sole eye-witness, wife of deceased that accused attacked deceased with kripan on his back side causing his death was corroborated by medical evidence. he conviction warrants no interference. Sohan Singh v. State (NCT of Delhi), 2005 (2) mes 540 (Del).

The accused killed 13 persons of his family in moonlite night. The surviving members of the family were eye-witnesses. Their presence in the house was natural. Since the accused were known to eye-witnesses being members of the family, they were identified by them in moonlite night. The accused renamed on the scene of crime for a longtime killing the victims one after the other. There could be no doubt about their identity to the eye-witnesses. In the area where the incident took place there were big farms and residential portion in each farm was located at quite a distance. Therefore, presence of independent witnesses was not probable. Motive for commission of crime also appeared on record. It was held that conviction was justified. Gurmeet Singh v. State of UP, 2005 Cr LJ 4384 : 2005 (4) Crimes 84 (SC) : 2005(8) JT 628 : 2005(6) Supreme 571 : 2005(7) Scale 610. See also Narwadeshwar Prasad Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 3295 (Jhar) : AIR 2005 Jhar HCR 1426 : 2005(2) BLJR 1463 : 2005(3) JCR JHA 284.

The reliable and fully corroborated evidence of independent eye-witnesses was considered and accepted as independent eye-witnesses had no enmity with accused and there was no reason for falsely deposing against her. Motive was not considered relevant in this case as guilt was proved beyond reasonable doubt. The conviction of accused was upheld. Deoki Devi v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 204 (Jhar.) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 924 : 2003(2) JCR JHA 682 : 2003(3) JLJR 95.

The accused were alleged to have murdered the deceased near kahua tree but body was recovered from the place which was 200 yards away. Evidence of eye-witness, who was also independent witness was reliable as he had consistently deposed during trial as to what had been stated by him in farde beyan (FIR). The recovery of two empty cartridges from spot by investigation agency corroborated the fact mentioned in testimony of witness that two shots were fired. The non mentioning of tree in FIR was of no relevance and delay in filing of FIR in the circumstances was inconsequential. The conviction of accused was held proper. Gaya Yadava v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 1564 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1759 : 2003(2) Crimes 257 : 2003(3) JT 479 : 2003(9) SCC 122 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1767.

In a Supreme Court case the accused were seen dragging the deceased and when witnesses tried to intervene they fired and killed the deceased. The eye-witnesses immediately after firing ran away and on next day headless body of deceased was recovered from the field of accused. The head was lying near the tube well of accused. The presence of witnesses at place of occurrence was not doubtful and accused could not explain as to how headless body of deceased was lying in his field. Their conviction was restored and acquittal order was set aside. State of Punjab v. Karnail Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 3892 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3609 : 2003(11) SCC 271 : 2003(5) Supreme 508 : 2003(3) Crimes 292 (SC).

The accused charged for committing the murder as there was standing dispute between accused party and deceased party. The eye-witness evidence was corroborated by medical evidence and otherwise also it was found truthful. It was held that conviction of accused was well founded and could not be disturbed. Shyam Sunder v. State of Chattisgarh, 2002 Cr LJ 4315 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 3292 : 2002(8) SCC 39 : 2002(4) Crimes 291 (SC) : 2002(6) Supreme 471.

There was question of evidentiary value of eye-witness account as his name was not mentioned in FIR which was lodged by son of deceased and explanation for this omission given by informant was found plausible. The eye-witness's statement was recorded immediately after the investigation was started. It was held that plea of defence side that immediately after the investigation was started. It was held that plea of defence side that testimony of eye-witness was doubtful. lacked substance. The conviction of accused under Section 302 was confirmed. Chittar Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 3548 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3590 : 2003(3) Crimes 131 : 2003(7) JT 270 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1377 : 2003(6) SCC 397.

In a Gauhati case, the accused with an intention to kill had assaulted deceased with an axe following an altercation and went away but returned back again and gave two more blows on head with same axe. Medical evidence had given full support and corroboration to the evidence of eye-witnesses. The Court held that accused could be said to have killed deceased with the intention to cause his death and conviction under Section 302 was justified. Pulu Tanti v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3505 (Gau.).

In an Allahabad case the accused persons were alleged to have committed the murder of a person by assaulting him with knife. The immediate motive of crime was beating of one of the accused persons by deceased. The testimony of three eye-witnesses was consistent on all material points and found above suspicion reliable. The evidence was also corroborated by the facts stated in the FIR. The conviction of accused persons was held sustainable. Narendra v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2068 (All) : 2003 All LJ 773 ; 2003(46) Cri C 211 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2949.

In a case, the deceased was attacked with dangerous weapons and eye-witnesses had seen everything as incident had taken place near their houses where light emitted by tubelight enabled them to identify the culprits. It was held that their evidence was cogent and conviction was proper. Suresh Sita Ram Surve v. State of Mahrashtra, 2003 Cr LJ 475 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 344 : 2002(10) SCC 28 : 2003(8) Supreme 352 : 2003(1) Crimes 156 (SC).

The accused assaulted and killed the deceased and eye-witnesses account of wife and son of deceased when analysed minutely by High Court was found to be credible and cogent. Medical report and postmortem report showed that there was no discrepancy in medical evidence vis-à-vis ocular evidence. The accused here had killed the deceased when he was sleeping outside and reason was some altercation they had over a petty issue on some other day. The plea taken by accused was sudden fight but court said in sudden fight there is no premeditation and fight takes place in heat of passion and there is no time for the passion to cool down. There is mutual provocation and one attacks another. Hence in this case it was held that exception 4 to Section 300 was not applicable and conviction for murder was proper. For application of exception 4 it was pointed out that fight not only be sudden but also it should be shown that offender had not taken undue advantage or acted in cruel or unusual manner. Dhiraj Bhai Gorakhbhai Nayak v. State of Gujarat, 2003 Cr LJ 3723 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2855 : 2003(9) SCC 322 : 2003(6) JT 189 : 2003(3) Crimes 219 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 223.

The prosecution case was fully established by direct testimony of eye-witnesses which was corroborated by medical evidence. However High Court acquitted the accused on the ground that investigation was tainted and was of no substance. On appeal the Apex Court held that the failure of the Investigating Officer in sending the fire-arms and empties for compassion could not completely throw out the prosecution case when the case was fully established from the testimony of eye-witnesses. whose presence on the spot was not doubted. Amar Singh v. Balwinder Singh. 2003 CrLJ 1282 (SC) : AIR 2003 SC 1164 : 2003 (2) SCC 518 : 2003 (2) Supreme 155 : 2003 (2) Crimes 186 (SC).

The accused husband alleged to have killed his wife by cutting her throat with sharp razor and testimony of witnesses was corroborated with each other and also with medical evidence. Plea of alibi was not tenable and extra judicial confession was found truthful. It was held that conviction of accused for gruesome murder of his wife was proper. Arun Das v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1337 (Cal) : 2003 Cal Cri R 231 : 2003(2) Cal HN 180 : 2003(2) Crl LT 226.

Accused assaulted deceased with lathi fitted with iron rings. Incident took place at 8 am. Evidence of witnesses residing in nearby locality and present at time of incident found reliable. Statement of injured eye-witness, who travelled with deceased on motorcycle within hours of incident, cannot be discarded on ground of acquaintance or friendship with deceased. Medical evidence that injuries may have been caused by sharp, heavy cutting weapon were found acceptable as nature of weapon not examined during investigation and heavy blow with lathi fitted with iron rings would have caused skull to break. There was no evidence as to whether deceased took food or not before leaving house in morning. Thus finding by doctor that stomach of deceased was empty would be of no consequence as to time of incident. There were no incongruities in prosecution evidence. Conviction of accused was held proper. Ram Kishan v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 4236 (A) : AIR 2004 SC 4678 : 2004 Ali LJ 3773 : 2004(6) Supreme 479 : 2004(3) Crimes 397 : 2004(7) Scale 569 : 2004(3) JCC 1694.

There used to be quarrels between deceased and accused on the point of accused grazing their cattle in the field of deceased. Accused inflicted injuries on deceased and caused death of the deceased. Son of deceased, witnessed incident. Another son and wife of deceased identified accused by voice as they were standing at a distance. Evidence of said witnesses clearly established that accused were responsible for death of deceased. Fact that incident happened far away from house of deceased. However prosecution failed to explain as to how dead body was found near boundary of his property. When the incident had occurred far away from the house of deceased. It was held that, that would not cast doubt on prosecution case. Conviction of accused was proper. Kishnia v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 4227 : AIR 2004 SC 4318 : 2004(6) Supreme 474 : 2004(3) Crimes 20 (SC) : 2004(4) Recent Cr 294.

In the instant case there was alteration and quarrel in between accused and deceased. The presence of eye-witness and complainant on the spot of occurrence was proved. The testimony of sole eye-witness was found reliable and trustworthy as the same was corroborated by medical evidence. The deposition proved that the intention of the accused was to cause death of the deceased in as much as the assault was directed at the neck of the deceased. The weapon of offence had been recovered at the instance of the accused from his own house. Held, the testimony of the eye-witness could not be branded as related or interested witness because he was merely a friend of the deceased. There was no enmity between himself and accused persons. His conduct was consistent and natural in accompanying the deceased to his office at Loco Shed on the date of the incident. Conviction of accused for offence of murder could not be interfered with. Yakub Ismailbhai Patel v. State of Gujarat, AIR 2004 SC 4209 : 2004 Cr LJ 4205 : 2004(7) JT 178 : 2004(7) Scale 374 : 2004(3) JCC 1335 : 2004(4) Recent CR 731.

Where there was direct evidence of eye-witness that accused caused death of deceased by gun-shot injuries, the eye-witness had also sustained injuries and there was no discrepancy in his evidence, the conviction was not interfered with. Janak Singh v. State of UP, AIR 2004 SC 2495 : 2004 Cr LJ 2533 : 2004(4) Supreme 110 : 2004(3) Crimes 79 (SC) : 2004(2) Recent CR 711.

In the instant case it was alleged that the respondent-accused armed with a dagger, picked-up a fight with injured witness and stabbed him on his thigh and thereafter stabbed his wife on chest resulting into her death. Evidence of the I.O. that he received a telephonic message from doctor in hospital was contrary to the evidence of witnesses that they went to police station and lodged a complaint. There was material contradiction between evidence of witnesses regarding recovery of dagger from place of incident. Conviction was held not proper. State of HP v. Sukhvinder Singh, AIR 2004 SC 2834 : 2004 Cr LJ 1434 : 2001(1) Supreme 945 : 2004(2) Crimes 22 (SC) : 2004(2) Scale 210 : 2004(1) JCC 398.

The conviction of accused for murder was held proper where the accused could not shake the credibility of eye-witness account and there was no material contradictation in prosecution case. Sarwan Singh v. State of Punjab, 2003 Cr LJ 21 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 3652 : 2003(1) SCC 240 : 2002(7) Supreme 85 : 2002(4) Crimes 414 (SC).

Where the solitary eye-witness graphically described the assaults on the deceased stating that he gave several blows on the person of deceased while co-accused caught hold of him to facilitate the assailants, conviction of accused under Section 302/34 IPC on the basis of sole testimony of eye-witness was held proper. Sunil Kumar v. State Govt. of NCT, Delhi, AIR 2004 SC 552 : 2004 Cr LJ 819 : 2003(4) Crimes 383 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 519 : 2003(11) SCC 367.

The accused without any provocation had inflicted a single blow on the head of deceased and two three blows on back of injured witness with a wooden bar. Here deceased was father and injured was mother of the accused. The conviction of accused under Section 302/323 was held proper as there was no reason to disbelieve the statement of injured mother eye-witness. The deceased in a Supreme Court case was found murdered in his farm house and blood stains were found on number of places in house. The eye-witnesses evidence that accused were perpetrators of crime was cogent and reliable. The conviction of accused under Section 302 was held proper. Rajesh v. Chandu Lal Gandhi, 2002 Cr LJ (NOC) 52 (Orissa) : 2001(92) Cut LT 628 : 2001(21) OCR 215 : 2001(2) Orissa LR 215.

When eye-witness does not disclose the incident to persons when he must have met after incident, his such conduct indicates that actually he had not seen the incident. Ganpat Kondiba Chavan v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (2) Crimes 38 (Bom).

When evidence of eye-witness has been found cogent, consistent and corroborative with medical evidence, it can be relied upon though eye-witness is mother of deceased and interested. Jivan Lal v. State of M.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 1 (SC) : 1996 (9) Scale 262 : 1996 (8) Supreme 791 : 1997 (1) CCR 125 (SC).

Testimony of an eye-witness found reliable can not be ignored on mere ground that name of such eye-witness was not mentioned in FIR. Sahab Singh v. State of Rajasthan. 1997 (1) Crimes 251 (SC) : AIR 1997 SC 945 : 1997(3) JT 181 : 1997(2) Scale 429 : 1997(2) Supreme 644.

Accused Raj stands on the same footing and in absence of any material on record there is no scope of distinguishing his case from other persons who have been acquitted on the ground that being the son of the main accused Harish who was prime mover of the crime he may have a motive and as such his conviction cannot be sustained. Charan Singh v. State of UP, (2004) 1 Crimes 423 (426, 427) (SC) : (2004) 4 SCC 205 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 104 : 2004(2) Supreme 421 : 2002(3) Scale 71.

Where testimony of complainant was contradictory with evidence of I.O. and other witnesses and dying declaration was also found not credible, conviction of accused was set aside. Sheikh Meheboob v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 2136 (SC) : 2005(10) SCC 387 : 2005(3) JT 137 : 2005(2) Supreme 458 : 2005(1) Crimes 386 (SC) : 2005(1) JC 511.

The evidence of PW2 alone was sufficient to fasten guilt on the accused appellant. But, added to that is the evidence of PW1, the informant, which further strengthens the prosecution version. The First Information Report was lodged with promptitude. Merely because PW2 was examined after some time, the reason thereof had been clearly explained by the investigating officer who stated that after the information was lodged by PW1 at the police station he interrogated him and thereafter left for the place of incident which he reached at 8.45 PM. So far as time of injury on PW2 was concerned, the opinion of PW4 (doctor) was clearly hypothetical. He himself stated that there could be a margin of 2-3 hours. That being so, credible evidence of eye-witnesses did not become tainted. Great emphasis was laid on the approximate time of injury. That is no way affected the credibility of PW2's evidence. Though evidence of PW1 did not specifically indicate the injury on PW2 that was but natural. The High Court was justified in dismissing the appeals filed by the accused appellants before it. Jai Karan v. State of UP, 2003 (4) Crimes 503 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 1148 : 2004 Cr LJ 403 : JT (2003) 8 SC 220.

The accused was alleged to have killed the deceased and ocular evidence was in full conformity with material (medical) evidence as occurrence had taken place in broad day light. Absence of motive was irrelevant and immaterial in view of ample ocular evidence. The conviction of accused was held proper. Ram Babu Jha v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3167 (All) : 2003(2) Crimes 14 : 2003 All LJ 1578 : 2003(46) All Cri C 892 : 2003(1) All Cri R 714. The accused as per eye-witnesses set the house on fire and when deceased came out of that they assaulted and killed him to take the revenge of killing of their mother by accused. They were found guilty and convicted. Bhukhlal Tewari v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 194 (Jhar).

In a case the accused had caused the death of deceased and evidence of eye-witnesses was consistent, reliable and unshakable as they had seen the accused inflicting axe blow on the neck of the deceased. The age of accused as 16 years was also proved. The conviction of the accused under Section 302 was maintained but sentence of life imprisonment was quashed. Pran Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2721 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1380 : 2003(46) All Cri C 531 : 2003(1) All Cri R 488.

In a Supreme Court case, it was held that the highly hypothetical imaginary story advanced by defence to extent that the witness and his family members had killed the deceased could not be accepted being too hollow and that the conclusion arrived at that charges under Section 302/34 stood established. Krishnan and O. Ayyar Thavar v. State of T.N., 2003 Cr LJ 3705 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2978 : 2003(7) SCC 56 : 2003(5) Supreme 173 : 2003(3) Crimes 197 (SC).

In State of Karnataka v. Papanaika, 2004 Cr LJ 4667 : AIR 2004 SC 4967 : AIR 2004 SCW 5689 : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 3269 : AIR 2004 JHAR HCR 3112, the Apex Court observed and held as under:

> "After close examination of the evidence of eye-witnesses and after taking chaff from the gram, so far as the testimony of eye-witnesses, the wife of the deceased and the nephew of the deceased, can be said to be trustworthy and there can be no reason to disbelieve, these two witnesses leave apart other eye-witnesses. These two witnesses were injured witnesses, as they were examined by the doctors and, therefore, their testimony was wholly reliable so far as accused persons 1 to 6 were concerned and they also have been corroborated by other eye-witnesses and they have been supported by the medical evidence also. Therefore, the testimony of these witnesses fully substantiate the prosecution case. Therefore, the order passed by the High Court acquitting the accused 1 to 6 by taking easy approach would be liable to be set aside. Further mere fact that the houses of the accused persons were damaged and main accused was also injured, would not negate the prosecution case. The injury on the person of main accused cannot improbabilise the whole of the prosecution case......"

Where there is direct testimony of eye-witnesses corroborated by medical evidence fully establishing prosecution version, mere failure or omission of negligence on the part of investigating officer cannot affect credibility of prosecution version. Ram Bali v. State of UP, AIR 2004 SC 2329 : 2004 Cr LJ 2490 : 2004(2) Crimes 498 : 2004(3) Supreme 547 : 2004 SCC (Cr) 2045.

In the instant case the doctor who conducted post-mortem was not examined. Motive was not established and provocation prompting to commit murder was also absent. It was held that since prosecution failed to explain fatal injuries sustained by accused plea of right of private defence was established and, therefore, conviction was set aside. Sita Ram Jha v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 72 (Pat).

Failure of prosecution witnesses of incident to withstand cross-examination and their admission that they did not know names of assailants and anti-timed FIR render conviction unsustainable. Atul Singh v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 111 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2742 : 2003(47) All Cri C 172.

In a case, the incident occurred in presence of informant, father of deceased. The testimony of informant was corroborated by medical evidence. The testimony of informant was also corroborated by an independent witness. Delay in conducting post-mortem was also explained. Acquittal of accused was held justified. Jagdish Narain v. Krishna, 2005 Cr LJ 4513 : AIR 2005 SC 4341 : 2005(4) Crimes 109 (SC) : 2005(6) Supreme 629 : 2005(12) JT 327.

Held, during the course of investigation a serious doubt was cast on the fair investigation by the Investigating Officer and the Investigating Officer was subsequently changed but that did not render the testimony of eye-witness unreliable. After going through the testimony of eye-witness, the wife of the deceased, it left no manner of doubt that she was a truthful witness and her testimony fully supported the case of the prosecution. The technical grounds sought to be utilized by the High Court in discarding the testimony of this witness nowhere showk the truthful version given out by eye-witness. Therefore, it could be said that the conviction of accused under Section 302, IPC by the trial Court for causing the death of husband of said eye-witness was correct. State of Punjab v. Hakam Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 4111 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1679 : 2005(10) SCC 124.

In a case, the presence of eye-witness at the place of occurrence was sought to be justified on the reasoning that she was waiting for a bus to go to another place where she was being treated. The prosecution produced no evidence to show that she was required to go in connection with her treatment. In fact the witness could not even disclose the name of the doctor who was treating her. The testimony of eye-witness also suffered from improvements. It was held that the eye-witness could not be believed. State of UP v. Shri Krishan, 2005 Cr LJ 892 : AIR 2005 SC 762 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1551 : 2005(1) Crimes 200 (SC) : 2005(1) Supreme 263 : 2005(10) SCC 394.

117. Delay in examination of.—Unless the Investigating Officer is not categorically asked about the reason for the delay in examining the witnesses, the defence cannot gain any advantage therefrom. Ramanand Yadav v. Prabhu Nath Jha, 2004 Cr LJ 828 : AIR 2004 SC 124 : 2003 Crimes 446 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 21 : 2003(8) JT 514.

Where no question regarding delay in recording statement by police was put to Investigating Officer specifically, delay in recording statement was held not fatal. Sunil Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, 2005 Cr LJ 1402 : AIR 2005 SC 1096 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1230 : 2005 Cr LJ 1402 : 2005(9) SCC 283 : 2005(1) Scale 608.

In the instant case the High Court held that no reliance could be placed on the evidence of eye-witness because he was examined by the police on 27.11.1979 while the occurrence took place on 15.10.1979 and even though he was mentioned as an eye-witness in the FIR. He was projected as an independent witness but it appeared from the evidence of wife of deceased that he happened to be the causing of the deceased. The Supreme Court agreed with the High Court and held that the eye-witness, in the circumstances of the case could not be considered as reliable. State of UP v. Gambhir Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 2579 : AIR 2005 SC 2439 : (2005) 11 SCC 271 : 2005(2) Crimes 175 (SC) : 2005 SCC (Cr) 1633.

Where the investigating officer was not asked about reason for delay in examining witnesses it was held that the prosecution could not be discarded on such ground. Ramanand Yadav v. Prabhu Nath Jha, AIR 2004 SC 1053 : 2004 Cr LJ 640 : 2003(8) JT 404 : 2003(7) Supreme 576 : 2003(4) Crimes 399 (SC).

118. Testimony of eye-witness in darkness.—In a murder case of neighbouring at night the parties were close relatives living in neighbouring huts. There were strained showed relations between the parties on account of dispute relating to partition of property. The parties were used to live on the midst of nature and accustomed to live without light. The presence of witness at scene was natural as incident had taken place near to huts of accused and deceased, who were neighbours. The place of incident being away from village which itself was situated in remote area of Taluka, no body could dare to go to police station at dead of night to lodge FIR and this delay was reasonable. The trial Court acquitted the accused on the ground that due to darkness the witnesses could not have really witnessed the occurrence. The High Court did not accept this plea and reversed the acquittal of accused. The Supreme Court held that despite the cogent and convincing evidence on record a finding in favour of the accused was arrived at by learned session judge on an incomplete evaluation of the evidence resulting in total miscarriage of justice. As such High Court was justified in interfering with judgment and conviction of accused was justified. Shivraj Bapuray Jadhav v. State of Karnataka, 2003 Cr LJ 3542 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1372 : 2003 (3) Crimes 161 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3578 : 2003(6) SCC 392 : 2003(5) Supreme 65.

119. Interested witness.—Prosecution alleged that accused persons armed with pistols and lathis came to house of deceased in night and fired shots at him resulting into his death. Testimony of eye-witness wife of deceased was trustworthy and corroborated with evidence of other witnesses. Non-disclosure of her statement to effect that she had gone out of house chasing accused upto one furlong before Investigating Officer was of no consequence. Medical report showed that death took place because of 'injuries' meaning thereby more than one injury fully supported prosecution case. Testimony of witnesses could not be rejected merely because they were related to deceased. State of UP v. Nawab Singh, AIR 2004 SC 1511 : 2004 Cr LJ 1367 : 2004(1) Supreme 954 : 2004(1) Crimes 440 (SC) : 2004(2) JT 79.

120. Evidence of Solitary Eyewitness.—Positive findings of the Investigating Officer also support the prosecution case. The Investigating Officer found one quarter bottle of Aristocrat liquor lying empty near the Almirah in the room in which the incident is said to have taken place. He seized blood-stained earth from the place of occurrence and a blood-stained dhoti belonging to the appellant. The blood-stained earth, dhoti and dagger seized from the appellant apart from the blood-stained clothes which the deceased persons were wearing, were sent to the Chemical Examiner who reported that the same contained human blood and its group was 'A' which was blood group of the deceased persons. Thus, objective finding of the Investigating Officer and the report of the Chemical Examiner go to show complicity of the appellant with the crime. Ashok Kumar Pandey v. State of Delhi, AIR 2002 SC 1468 : 2002(4) SCC 76 : 2002(3) JT 103 : 2002(2) Scale 647 : 2002(2) Supreme 430 : 2002 Cr LJ 1844.

In Babuli v. State of Orissa, AIR 1974 SC 775; (1974 Cri LJ 510), also in catena of judgment the Apex Court has held that when the witnesses are not disclosing the names of accused persons for about 20 hours, their testimony loses importance. Similarly, in State of Orissa v. Brahmanand Nanda, AIR 1976 SC 2488; (1976 Cri LJ 1985), the Apex Court has held that when eyewitnesses are not disclosing names of assailant for a day and half their credibility suffers. In the matter at hand even after coming to know of the fact that subsequent to cruel beating seen by these two witnesses Pramila was found missing from her inlaws house for two days, they did not disclose the factum of beating seen by them to the family members of Pramila. All these factors emerging in the prosecution evidence have not been appreciated by the trial court and reliance on these witnesses was placed by it which to our mind is contrary to the established legal principles of appreciation of evidence. Kevji and others v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 725 (Raj) : 2002 (1) Raj (Cri) C 61 : 2002 (1) Raj W 525 (Raj) : 2002(1) WLC 547 (Raj).

The two appellants alongwith two others accused persons were charged for committing the murder and an offence under Section 27 of Arms Act. There was only one eye-witness and High Court confirmed the order of conviction on the ground that evidence of sole eye-witness was sufficient in the normal course to base a conviction. The Supreme Court held that presence of eye-witness at the scene of occurrence was highly doubtful and his testimony could not be relied upon as he being closely related to deceased was an interested witness. The Court set aside the conviction by giving the benefit of doubt to the accused appellants. This benefit was also extended to the accused who had not appealed. Suresh Choudhary v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 1717 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1981 : 2003(4) SCC 128 : 2003(2) Supreme 523 : 2003(2) Crimes 48 (SC).

The Court refused to place reliance on evidence of sole eye-witness. Where in a land dispute the prosecution had failed to establish complete and conclusive chain of circumstances to bring guilt of accused. Lallu Manjhi v. State of Jharkhand, 2003 Cr LJ 914 (SC) : AIR 2003(SC) 886 : 2003(2) SCC 501 : 2002(10) JT 377 : 2003(1) Supreme 316 : 2003(1) Crimes 393 (SC).

In a case the sole eye-witness stated that the accused had killed his mother on village path by giving on her neck dao blow. The evidence was considered reliable and trustworthy as it was corroborated by evidence of investigating officer. It was held that culpability of the accused had to be judged not by the quantity but by the quality of the evidence tendered by the prosecution and that conviction of accused was proper. Anil Chandra Deka v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2458 (Gau).

In a M.P. Case, the conviction based on testimony of sole eye-witness was set aside where the delay in lodging FIR was sufficiently not explained and the conduct of eye-witness to run without stop in order to get the help of relatives of the deceased was quite unnatural. Nabab Khan v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 94 (MP) : 2003(2) All Ind Cas 501 : 2003(1) MPHT 165 : 2002(2) Cur Cri R 413.

In a Patna case, the evidence of eye-witness to incident was cogent and reliable, as death of deceased by gun shot injury was admitted by defence, establishing motive behind crime, place of incident, time and manner, it was held that conviction of accused warranted no interference. Medni Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 164 (Pat).

121. Solitary eye-witness.—The solitary eye-witness in the instant case was a chance-witness whose presence at the spot of incident was highly doubtful. His conduct of not informing anybody about the incident though persons were available on his way back until he went to village square appeared unnatural. In examination-in-chief he stated that he saw only one assault on deceased while in cross-examination, he stated that he saw accused attacking deceased twice and both inquires were caused in his presence. It was held that his evidence was not reliable. Shankarlal v. State of Rajasthan. AIR 2004 SC 3559 : 2004 Cr LJ 2874 : 2004(4) Supreme 345 : 2004(3) Crimes 132 (SC) : 2004(2) JCL 959.

In a murder case the sole eye-witness claimed that he had seen accused persons from a distance of 10 to 20 steps with their back towards him at night and had identified 10 out of 11 accused. It all appeared to be improbable as he was on inimical terms with accused and his ocular evidence was not supported by any other evidence. It was held that prosecution had failed to establish its case beyond doubt and conviction of accused was liable to be set aside by extending him the benefits of doubt. Jasim Mian v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 205 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1110 : 2003 (2) JCR Jha 491.

122. End of Socitary Witness.—In the instant case the said witness was chance witness whose presence at spot of incident was highly doubtful. His conduct of not informing anybody about the incident though persons were available on his way back until he went to village square appearing unnatural. In examination-in-chief he stated that he saw only one assault on deceased while in cross-examination, he stated that he saw accused attacking deceased twice and both injuries were caused in his presence. His evidence was not reliable. There was unexplained delay in filing complaint. There was no other material base to convict the accused was held entitled to benefit of doubt. Shankarlal v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 2874 : AIR 2004 SC 3559 : 2004(4) Supreme 345 : 2004(3) Crimes 132 (SC) : 204(2) JCC 959.

123. Conviction.—Accused suffered from deformity of fingers in both the hands. However he was fully capable of using his arms like normal person. His right thumb and index finger are sufficiently strong. Held, fact that he was not capable of holding any object with firm grip from either of his hands did not mean that he could not hold a knife at least in his right hand. It was common experience that physically challenged persons since birth as of necessity, impressed their own methods of doing things like a normal person. The ornament snatched from deceased were recovered at the instance of accused. The fact that no explanation was offered by accused as to how he came in possession of gold chain belonging to deceased is strong circumstance to prove his complicity. Other circumstances especially unexplained injuries on hand of accused and blood of same group being found on clothes of deceased as well as an accused gave rise to further presumption that the removal of gold ornaments and fatal attack on deceased had taken place as part of the same transaction. Each circumstance was incriminating in nature and totality of circumstances concdusively prove guilt of accused. Conviction was proper. Gilbert Pereria v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 4837 : AIR 2004 SC 4454 : 2004(7) JT 121 : 2004(4) Crimes 65 (SC) : 2004(6) Supreme 644 : 2004(7) Scale 99.

Where injury caused by accused by deadly weapon from behind with extreme force was inflicted intentionally which was sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death, then the conviction under Section 302, IPC warrants no interference. Soham Singh v. State (NCT of Delhi), 2005 (2) Crimes 540 (Del).

The accused conspired to commit murder but certain accused were not named in FIR and this was considered inconsequential. The motive relating to land dispute was proved and guilt of accused was proved beyond any doubt. The conviction of accused under Section 302/120 was held proper. Nirpal Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4668 (P&H).

If certain persons are given benefit of doubt and are acquitted, that does not mean that others whose involvement in crime was proved should also be extended benefit of doubt. Their acquittal was set aside and conviction order of Sessions Judge was confirmed. State of UP v. Rashid, 2003 Cr LJ 2011 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1243 : 2003(9) SCC 449 : 2003(2) Supreme 743 : 2003(2) Crimes 65 (SC).

Merely because deceased and complainants had criminal track record would not be ground to discard evidence of witnesses which was otherwise reliable. The fact that the police had given clean chit to accused would be of no consequence. Conviction was held proper. Dhanaj Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2004 SC 1920 : 2004 Cr LJ 1807 : AIR 2004 SCW 1609 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 148 : 2004(2) Crimes 2 : 2004(3) Scale 93.

In the instant case, the witnesses saw accused at the time and place of inciden after the incident. Pistol was recovered from the accused and the bullet found therei tallied with empty khokha recovered from place of occurrence. The pistol recovered was in working condition and was used for firing. There was convincing evidence of witnesses as to how the incident occurred. It was held that the evidence regarding recovery of empty khokha from place of incident could not be discarded on ground that witness did not see such article lying there on ground after incident. Accused was liable to be convicted. Hem Raj v. Raja Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 901 : AIR 2004 SC 1489 : 2004(1) Supreme 510 : 2004(1) Crimes 317 (SC) : 2004(4) Scale 637.

In the instant case, the acquitted accused members of unlawful assembly had enmity with deceased. There was no finding that acquitted accused were not members of assembly or they ceased to be so. The fact that no injury could be assigned to the acquitted accused was held to be no ground to acquit them. Jai Shree Yadav v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 4826 : AIR 2004 SC 4443 : 2004 All LJ 3232 : 2004(3) Crimes 286 (SC) : 2004(6) Supreme 236 : 2004(6) JT 519 : 2004(6) Scale 587.

It was alleged that the accused person armed with deadly weapons assaulted deceased persons. Motive was proved since father of accused was murdered for which deceased were made accused and were granted bail prior to the date of occurrence. Presence of eye-witnesses at place of occurrence and time of occurrence was not doubtful. Held, testimony of eye-witnesses was trustworthy and could not be discarded merely because they were related to deceased persons and inimical to accused. Acquittal of accused persons was proper. State of UP v. Sheo Sanehi, 2004 Cr LJ 4650 : AIR 2004 SC 4974 : 2004 All LJ 3784 ; 2004(9) JT 196 : 2004(8) Scale 520 : 2004(4) Crimes 163 (SC) : 2004(7) Supreme 275.

The accused armed differently came to the place of occurrence where PW1 was cutting fodder in his nohara and started firing indiscriminately in which two persons died on the spot and certain others received gunshot injuries. In Trial Court the accused persons were convicted under Sections 148, 302, 307 and 448 and one accused was also convicted under Section 3/25 of Arms Act but the High Court acquitted them. The Apex Court held that High Court had erred in acquitting the accused as evidence was sufficient to point to the guilt of accused. Hence, acquittal by High Court was set aside and conviction order of Additional Sessions Judge was restored. State of Rajasthan v. Bhawani, 2003 Cr LJ 3857 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 4230 : 2003(7) SCC 291 : 2003(5) Supreme 287 : 2003(3) Crimes 228 (SC).

In a murder case, the wife had tried to rescue her husband, and had sustained some injury also. Her presence at the spot was found natural and her evidence was corroborated by medical evidence. It was held that conviction of accused was proper. Brij Rani v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 3756 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3566 : 2003(3) Crimes 238 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 301.

The testimony of eye-witness showed that accused had fired on deceased resulting in injuries on chest and forehead but postmortem report did not show any pellet injury on forehead of deceased. From circumstances it appeared that eye-witness stated the pellet injuries due to presence of blood on forehead of deceased. It was held that testimony of eye-witness was reliable and conviction was proper. Amba Lal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 115 (Raj) : 2003(1) WLC 587.

"A crime committed on Indian soil against the popular national leader a former Prime Minister of India, for a political decision taken by him in his capacity as the head of the executive and which met with the approval of the Parliament, by persons running political organisation in a foreign country and their agents in concert with some Indians for the reason that it did not suit their political objectives and of their organisation cannot but be a rarest of rare case. In such a case the part played by A-1 (Nalini) is a candid participation in the crime of conspiracy to assasinate Shri Rajiv Gandhi who was himself a young popular leader so much loved and respected by his fellow citizens and had been the Prime Minister of India. The conspirators including A-1 (Nalini) had nothing personal against him but he was targetted for the political decision taken by him as the Prime Minister of India. She in spite of being an Indian citizen joined the gang of conspirators and engaged herself in pursuit of common intention to commit the crime only because she was infatuated by the love and affection developed for A-3 Muragan and this played her part in execution of conspiracy which resulted in the assasination of Shri Rajiv Gandhi and death of many police officers and innocent citizens including a small girl. In a person like A-1 taking into consideration all the mitigating circumstances, there is no room for any lerienay kindness and beneficience". State of Tamil Nadu v. Nalini 1999 Cri LJ 3124 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 2640 : 1999(5) SCC 253 : 1999(4) JT 106 : 1999(3) Scale 241 : 1999(5) Supreme 60.

When accused was found coming out of residential portion of house immediately after incident and was found carrying some articles wrapped in white sheet with stains of blood, conviction of accused was held proper. Manmohan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 AIR SCW 1003 : AIR 1997 SC 1773 : 1997 (2) JT 72 : 1997 (1) Scale 538 : 1997 (1) Supreme 671 : 1997 (1) Crimes 114 (SC) : 1997 Cr. LJ 1632.

The accused entered the house of deceased and inflicted serious injuries. The graphic description of incident given by the grand mother of deceased who was sleeping alongwith deceased was found genuine. The conviction was held proper. Jagbandhu Kishan v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 378 (Orissa).

The prosecution case was based on evidence of direct eye-witnesses who were reliable and trustworthy but due to winter holidays in Court FIR was presented before magistrate after lapse of one complete day which was not considered fatal to prosecution case. The conviction and sentence awarded under Section 302/34 were upheld. Ram Dev v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1680 (Raj) : 2003(1) WLC 34.

When chain of incriminating circumstances is not complete, conviction is not sustainable. Radhey Shyam v. State, 1997 (1) Crimes 69 (Del).

In absence of reliable and independent corroboration of confessional statements of appellants, conviction cannot sustain. Makhlal Mahto v. State of Bihar, 1997 (1) Crimes 568 (Pat).

When only eye-witness turned hostile and there was inordinate delay in recording statement under Section 161. Cr PC with material contradictions and improvements, conviction was held not sustainable. Shaikh Shamshad v. State of A.P., 1997 (1) Crimes 50 (AP).

.In absence of any evidence to connect accused for injury found on deceased wife and that accused was in house on fateful night, no presumption can be drawn that accused must be in house at that time of occurrence and hence conviction not sustainable. Mehmood v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 413 (Raj).

124. Conviction held not sustainable.—In the instant case the accused were well known to eye-witnesses. Deposition of eye-witness was not corroborated by statement in FIR. He and other eye-witness sought to implicate more accused persons for the first time in course of their deposition. The credibility of the witnesses was doubtful. The person who could really unfold prosecution case and who ought to have been main target, if motive alleged was true was not examined as witness. FIR was lodged after much deliberation and the explanation for delay in lodging FIR was not found acceptable. It was held that acquittal could not be interfered. State of Punjab v. Ajaib Singh, AIR 2004 SC 2466 : 2004 Cr LJ 2547 : 2004(3) Supreme 494 : 2004(2) Crimes 459 (SC) : 2004(2) JCC 842.

There was fight due to misunderstanding in which death of 12 persons was caused. The ocular evidence and medical evidence were discrepant. The acquittal of accused was held proper. State of Punjab v. Harbans Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 2335 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2268 : 2003(11) SCC 2003 : 2003(3) Supreme 492 : 2003(2) Crimes 479.

There was different versions of witnesses as to scene of offence and investigation had examined the child eye-witness 4-5 days after the occurrence but investigating officer projected to have examined him on the same day. There was another eye-witness who had turned hostile. The conviction was set aside. Zafar v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1218 (SC) : 2003 (SC) 931 : 2003(3) SCC 51 : 2003(1) Supreme 763 : 2003(2) Crimes 93 (SC).

In the instant case, the eye-witness though not chance witness as he had brought lunch to his uncle (victim) in the grazing field but there was missing link in evidence as after serving lunch why he waited for two hours, in grazing field when incident took place. The conduct of the eye-witness was unusual as though he saw accused persons heading towards his uncle with weapons, he hid behind tree, however, when he saw his father in neighbouring field he did not join him. There were material contractions between evidence of eye-witnesses and medical evidence indicating suspicion about presence of eye-witnesses. There was considerable doubt on regard to place of incident and also as to lodging of FIR at place of occurrence after deliberations. Police was unable to find any blood on spot though body was lying at spot when the police came. It was held that the acquittal of accused was justified. Ram Sewak v. State of MP, 2004 Cr LJ 3043 (SC) : AIR 2004 SC 4592 : 2004 (4) Scale 698 (SC) : 2004 (3) Supreme 501 : 2004 (3) SLT 400 (SC).

The prosecution case was that the accused instigated or exhorted his father to shoot deceased. There was considerable discrepancy in the statements of prosecution witnesses or the language used by accused to exhort and the manner and the place where the said exhortation was given. The complaint filed did not reveal that the accused had exhorted or instigated his father to shoot. It was held that the conviction of accused with the aid of Section 34, IPC was not proper. Abdul Wahid v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2004 SC 3211 : 2004 Cr LJ 2850 : 2004(3) Crimes 75 (SC) : 2004(4) Supreme 103 : 2004(4) Scale 719.

The accused were assailed to have opened fire on the members of the prosecution party who were sitting on the front seat of the jeep and this caused immediate death of two persons and injuries to others. The prosecution witness was doubtfully present on scene and motive of murder could not be proved. Trial Court acquitted the accused but High Court reversing the findings of trial Court had convicted the accused. On appeal

Supreme Court setting aside the conviction held that High Court has committed error in interfering with the order of acquittal as order of trial Court was not suffering from the vice of perversity. Shailendra Pratap v. State of U.P., 2003 Cr LJ 1270 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1104 : 2003(1) SCC 761 : 2003(1) Crimes 324 (SC) : 2003(1) Supreme 160.

The accused was charged for committing the murder of deceased but post mortem report and medical evidence as to actual occurrence of incident, its place and time were not unanimous. The eye-witnesses, wife and mother-in-law of deceased stated that deceased had taken meals just before the incident but medical report stated that stomach including both intestines were empty. It was held that serious dispute as to actual time of incident was fatal to the prosecution case and accused was entitled to the acquittal. Moti v. State of U.P., 2003 Cr LJ 1694 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1897 : 2003(9) SCC 444 : 2003(2) Supreme 806 : 2003(2) Crimes 62 (SC).

In State v. Raja, 2003 Cr LJ 1816 (All) : 2003 All LJ 41 : 2003(46) All Cri C 49 : 2003(1) All Cri LR 402 : 2003(1) All Cri R 42, there was contradiction between medical report and oral evidence and the acquittal was held proper.

The accused persons were convicted under Sections 302/149 and 148 but on appeal it was found that injuries sustained by accused were not explained whereas it was necessary. It was held that true genesis and manner of occurrence was not disclosed. The conviction of accused was set aside. Lakhwinder Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1694 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1897 : 2003(9) SCC 444 : 2003(2) Supreme 806 : 2003(2) Crimes 62 (SC).

In the instant case, several discrepancies and short-comings were noticed in the evidence in respect of recovery of pistol and empty cartridges. There was nothing to show that the gun to which reference was made was the weapon of assault. The custody of empty cartridges recovered from the spot was not established. It was not explained as to where the empty cartridges were till then lying and with whom. It was not clear from evidence that it was hidden in such a way so as to making it difficult to be noticed. The evidence tendered was totally silent as to in whose custody were the bullets, empty cartridges and the pistol. It was held that the discrepancies and short-comings as noticed above considerably erode credibility of the prosecution version. That being so, the prosecution could not be said to have established the accusation against the accused beyond reasonable doubt and the accused would, therefore, be entitled to be acquitted. Anter Singh v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2004 SC 2865 : 2004 Cr LJ 1380 : 2004(1) Supreme 1005 : 2004(2) Crimes 38 (SC) : 2004(2) JT 332 : 2004(1) JCC 470.

In the instant case 39 persons of a rival groups in a village was alleged to have assaulted and killed two persons. The evidence of the eye-witness, who was injured, claimed that he did not get medically examined being afraid of the accused persons would not be tenable. He claimed to have stated before the police officers about the incident and on the basis of that the first information report was recorded. Thereafter, there was no reason for him to be apprehensive as claimed not to go for medical treatment. If really he was so terrified it cannot be understood as to how after two days the fear vanished and he went for treatment. The conduct of the father of deceased was equally shrouded in mystery. Though the Police post was just in front of his house, he did not choose to inform the police and the FIR was lodged after considerable length of time.

Further, there were clear contradictions between the versions of PW-1 and PW-2. The conduct of PW-4 regarding search of dead bodies who could not trace the dead body was highly improbable as the dead bodies were found 15 to 20 yards from place of occurrence. There was no definite information in FIR vis-à-vis the crime. Calling dog squad by police showed that the names of the assailants were not known. In the circumstances the acquittal of the accused was held justified. Gorle S. Naidu v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ 924 : AIR 2004 SC 1169 : 2004(1) Crimes 212 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 893 : 2003(10) JT 170 : 2003(10) Scale 698.

The deceased was attacked by the accused persons at midnight while he was sleeping alongwith three other persons. Two of eye-witnesses turned hostile and did not support the prosecution case. Story of naming accused by deceased to his mother was falsified by medical report which stated that the injuries sustained could have caused instantaneous death. None of eye-witnesses could have identified assailants as it was dark night. The guilt was not proved beyond doubt and conviction was set aside. Baikunth Mahto v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2135 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 569.

In the instant case there was material contradiction in prosecution evidence in respect of time and date of incident. The witnesses from whom most important of recoveries re stamps etc. were made were not examined. There was no material to show that the blood-stained towel was concealed as such of manner that I.O. could not have noticed it on the day of inquest itself. Acquittal of accused was held proper. State of Tamil Nadu v. Surinder, 2004 Cr LJ 913 : AIR 2004 SC 1216 : 2003(8) Supreme 730 : 2004(1) Crimes 141 (SC) : 2003(10) JT 190.

The accused was alleged to have given an axe blow on the head of deceased resulting into his death but medical evidence was inconsistent with the alleged manner of occurrence and solitary evidence of son was not corroborated by any independent evidence. The conviction of accused was set aside. Khadi Oraon v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 87 (Jhar) : Air 2003 Jhar HCR 303 : 2003(1) JCR JHA 2914 : 2003(1) JLR 146.

In an Allahabad case also where the eye-witness had failed to explain the injuries sustained by accused, the benefit of doubt was given to the accused. Ram Asrey v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2276 (All) : 2003 (46) ACC 392 (All) : 2003 All LJ 808 : 2003 (46) All Cri C 392.

In Brij Pal Singh v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 2533 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2460 : 2003(11) SCC 219 : 2003(4) JT 378 : 2003(4) Crimes 40 (SC) : 2003(2) Supreme 866 the evidence of eye-witnesses was contrary to the opinion of the ballistic expert. The eye-witnesses deposed that the accused-appellant had fired shot by 12 bore gun but missed the target and hit the wall. As per ballistic expert the truth was otherwise. The eye-witnesses were all relatives and their evidence was contradictory also. The accused were held entitled to acquittal.

The accused were alleged to have strangulated the deceased to death for not bringing enough dowry but prosecution could not establish that there was any demand of dowry. Apart from this who committed the murder could also not be established. The statement of co-accused under Section 313 Cr PC that deceased had consumed poison and he saw her husband pressing her neck neither implicated him nor could be made use of by prosecution to prove the guilt of accused persons. The acquittal of accused persons was held proper. Subimal Sarkar v. Sachindra Nath Mandal, 2003 Cr LJ 1274

(SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1108 : 2003(2) SCC 566 : 2003(1) Supreme 252 : 2003(1) Crimes 324 (SC).

In a Supreme Court case the accused had killed his classmate from whom he had borrowed money. The evidence showed that the money was paid back and no other evidence to link the accused was available. The recovery made at the instance of accused was not reliable as people knew it in advance that there was going to be such a recovery. The conviction of accused was, therefore, set aside as presumption under Section 114(a) that accused was perpetrator of crime could not be raised. Babu Das v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 2536 (SC) : 2003(9) SCC 86 : 2003(4) JT 289 : 2003(3) Supreme 562 : 2003 SCC (Cr) 1749 : 2003(2) Crimes 520 (SC).

Three persons were charged under Section 302/34 for causing death of deceased but main accused was convicted under Section 302 and remaining other two under Section 302/34. On appeal it was found that prosecution witness of occurrence did not withstand cross-examination and they did not know the names of assailants. The evidence of father of deceased was also not found reliable and worthy of credence in view of inconsistencies and improbabilities of material facts. It was held that case of prosecution is not proved beyond doubt and conviction of accused was liable to be set aside. Atul Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 111 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2742 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1917 : 2003 All LJ 2782.

In a case conviction was set aside when there was no blood on the person of deceased, delay in lodging FIR was not explained and the probability of the eye-witness was ruled out. Nagappa v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 796 (Kant) : AIR 2003 Kant HCR 279 : 2003(2) Kant LJ 578.

The accused was alleged to have killed the deceased and his 12 years old son but testimony of wife and daughter of deceased was not trustworthy as the same was full of the controversy and chances of false implications could not be ruled out. The acquittal of accused in these circumstances was held proper. State v. Krishna Pal, 2003 Cr LJ 1115 (All) : 2003 All LJ 221 : 2003(46) All Cri C 47.

In a case, the complainant was only eye-witness who had concealed himself in a fodder room at the relevant time. But this fact was not established beyond doubt. Other evidence including recovery of pistol was also not relevant. It was held that the conviction was not proper. Ganga Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 653 (All) : 2002 All LJ 2659 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2652.

In a Supreme Court case, there was long-standing enmity between eye-witness and family of accused and incident had taken place at a village in the month of June and there was no reason for witnesses to go to another on bicycle in hot summer season. There was also contradiction between his testimony and medical report and no cycle of witness was found on spot. The conviction of accused was held not sustainable. Baldev Singh v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 880 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2098 : 2003(9) SCC 45 : 2003(1) Supreme 306 : 2003(1) Crimes 384 (SC).

The accused persons were uprooting the crops when son of witness questioned their presence in the field. The son was killed instantly but witness who could have been main target was spared. This fact had caused serious doubt about the presence of said witness at place of incident. The other eye-witnesses were partisan witnesses. The conviction based on such evidence was not considered proper and conviction of the accused was set aside. State of UP v. Bhagwant, 2003 Cr LJ 2337 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 2293 : 2003(10) SCC 74 : 2003(3) Supreme 439 : 2003(2) Crimes 464 (SC).

The version of eye-witness was unreliable and their presence on spot was also doubtful. The co-accused had no motive to join accused in fatal assault. It was held that the acquittal of accused was proper. Mohan Singh v. Prem Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 11 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 3582 : 2002(10) SCC 236 : 2002(4) Crimes 453 (SC) : 2002(7) Supreme 163.

Where the death was due to shock and haemorrhage no culprit was named in FIR as it was not sure that death was caused due to fatal injury inflicted by accused and above all the testimony of eye-witnesses was found unreliable, conviction of accused was set aside. Lacheppu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 668 (All) : 2002 All LJ 2721 : 2002(45) All Cri C 1035 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2471.

In a M.P. Case, the accused alleged to have caused the death of deceased but no evidence linking the accused with alleged crime could be produced. The conviction of accused was set aside by extending to him the benefit of doubt. Natta v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2222 : 2003(1) Crimes 502 : 2003(2) Cur Cri R 575 : 2003(1) MPLJ 613.

In a Supreme Court case, where a lady and her 8 months old daughter was killed different versions of a witness were recorded and thus credibility of said witness was sufficiently impeached. It was held that he certainly did not come in the category of witness on whom implicit reliance could be placed as there was no evidence to corroborate his testimony and therefore the conviction based on such evidence was liable to be set aside. Sadhu Ram v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2331 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3530 : 2003(11) SCC 231 : 2003(2) Crimes 307 (SC) : 2003(3) Supreme 357.

In an Allahabad case the evidence of relation witnesses i.e. brother, sister-in-law and mother of deceased was contradictory and full of falsehood and embellishment and no independent witness was produced. The medical report also did not support prosecution story that deceased was assaulted by bricks. It was held that the defence version that informant brother had killed deceased on account of suspicion of illicit intimacy of deceased with his wife appeared to be probable and conviction was not justified. Jai Narain v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 168 (All) : 2002 All LJ 2415 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2264 : 2003(1) All LJ 73.

The accused in a case was alleged to have murdered the dairy owner with whom he was employed but extra judicial confession made to the person who had no intimacy with accused was found not reliable. It was held that conviction was liable to be set aside as guilt of accused was not proved beyond reasonable doubt. Chhotu v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 82 (P&H) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 561 : 2004(1) DMC 260 : 2004(1) JCJR 33.

The death of accused was caused due to the strangulation. Recovery of dead body, chappals, bags and books belonging to deceased at instance of accused was made and deceased was last seen in the company of deceased. The conviction of accused for offence under Section 302/364 was held proper. Suresh Dutt v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3342 (Raj) : 2003(3) Crimes 15 : 2003(4) Raj LW 2552 : 2003(3) WLC 655.

Accused along with deceased stayed in a hotel during the night and in early morning left the hotel asking the waiter to take care of their uncle who was in room and they will come back very soon. Recovery of articles belonging to deceased was found not reliable. The only proof that accused had hired a taxi could not itself form basis of conviction. The conviction was quashed and judgment of High Court was reversed. Shivraj Bapuray Jadhav v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3542 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3578 : 2003(6) SCC 392 : 2003(5) Supreme 65 : 2003(3) Crimes 161 (SC) : 2003(3) JT 160.

In a Supreme Court case, the clash was between two persons belonging to difference political parties but it took twelve hours to lodge the FIR whereas police station was only at hundred meters distance. The names of assailants were not mentioned to the doctor who had examined the deceased and injured witness was another circumstance against the prosecution. Hence possibility of implication of accused persons as a result of after thought due to political bitterness could not be ruled out. Hence conviction order of High Court was set aside and acquittal order of trial Court was restored. Rajeevan v. State of Kerala, 2003 Cr LJ 1572 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 1813 : 2003(3) SCC 355 : 2003(2) Supreme 852 : 2003(2) Crimes 265 (SC).

125. Medical evidence.—Medical evidence being only opinion evidence can not nullify absolutely unimpeachable evidence of eye-witnesses. Pran v. Daula, 1997 (1) Crimes 107 (SC).

In a murder case, the wife had tried to rescue her husband, and had sustained some injury also. Her presence at the spot was found natural and her evidence was corroborated by medical evidence. It was held that conviction of accused was proper. Brij Rani v. State of MP, 2003 Cr LJ 3756 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3566 : 2003(3) Crimes 238/(SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 301.

In the instant case, the accused husband and his parents were harassing the deceased wife by demand of dowry on various occasions. Even a month prior to the date of occurrence wife was compelled to bring dowry amount from her father and since the deceased did not bring the dowry amount demanded by the accused, the accused with the intention to commit murder of the deceased, had beaten her severely with force as a result of which the victim, who was pregnant by five months had fallen down. sustained hurt and started bleeding and died, further in order to screen the death of the victim. the accused poured kerosene on her dead body and closing the door and locking it from outside lighted match stick and threw the same through the open window of the kitchen and set fire to the dead body of the victim and ran-off from the scene.

The medical witness who was an expert witness knowing the medical science having studied and practiced in the field not only on her findings at the time of post mortem examination but also from out of the findings of the chemical analysis report was definitely able to arrive at the conclusion confirming the case of the prosecution that the deceased did not die of self-immolation committing suicide but it was a death due to asphyxia and after the death, pouring the kerosene, the burnt injuries found on the body of the deceased and therefore they could not have been caused by the deceased and all the circumstances leading to the death to have been caused and then for the burn injuries which were found on the body of the deceased to occur, all the evidences suggest only the accused to have committed the offence and in these circumstances. the conclusion of the trial Court that it was the accused who committed the murder and the other acts of burning the body, pouring kerosene and torching the same through the window standing from outside in order to make it appear that it was a suicide was proper and was rightly held guilty under Ss. 302 and 201 IPC and Sec. 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act. Dhandapani v. State, 2005 CriLJ 2847 (Madras).

126. Death Sentence.—If after considering the material on records, the Court comes to the conclusion that the case belongs to the rarest of rare category, the acquittal or sentence of life imprisonment of Trial or High Court should not be considered to be a mitigating factor. Devender Pal Singh v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 918 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 886 : 2003(2) SCC 501 : 2003(1) Supreme 316 : 2003(1) Crimes 393 (SC).

Death sentence—Imposition—Considerations.—In a death sentence matter, it is not only the nature of the crime but the background of the criminal, his psychology, his social conditions and his mindset for committing the offence are also relevant. See also Ravji alias Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, [1996 (2) SCC 175 : AIR 1996 SCW 132], this Court held as under:

> "...The crimes had been committed with utmost cruelty and brutality without any provocation, in a calculated manner. It is the nature and gravity of the crime but not the criminal, which are germane for consideration of appropriate punishment in a criminal trial. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should"respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal"...."

Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari & Anr vs State of Maharashtra, 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT 1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC).

Brutal acts done by accused—Rarest of rare case. The defence of drunkenness can be availed of only when intoxication produces such a condition as the accused loses the requisite intention for the offence. The onus of proof about reason of intoxication due to which the accused had become incapable of having particular knowledge in forming the particular intention is on the accused. Basically, three propositions as regards the scope and ambit of Sec.85, IPC are as follows : (i) The insanity whether produced by drunkenness or otherwise is a defence to the crime charged; (ii) Evidence of drunkenness which renders the accused incapable of forming the specific intent essential to constitute the crime should be taken into account with the other facts proved in order to determine whether or not he had this intent; and (iii) The evidence of drunkenness falling short of a proved incapacity in the accused to form the intent necessary to constitute the crime and merely establishing that his mind is affected by drink so that he more readily give to some violent passion, does not rebut the presumption that a man intends the natural consequences of his acts. In the present case, the plea of drunkenness can never be an excuse for the brutal, diabolic acts of accused. The trial Court and the High Court have rightly treated the case to be one falling in rarest of rare category thereby attracting the death sentence. Bablu alias Mubarik Hussain v. State of Rajasthan, 2007 CriLJ 1160 (SC).

In imposition of death sentence no rigid formula or standard could be fixed. Only a broad guideline consistent with legislative policy indicated by legislature in Section 354(3) Cr PC alone shall be considered for invoking the extreme penalty of death sentence. There is nothing wrong in pronouncement of sentence by Trial Court on same day on which conviction was passed specially when no request is made by accused for hearing of case for sentencing on some other date. Gurdev Singh v. State of Punjab, 2003 Cr LJ 3764 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 4187 : 2003(7) SCC 258 : 2003(3) Crimes 242 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 320.

Both the sides were armed with deadly weapons, the case is not worth consideration, for award of a sentence graver than the life imprisonment, that is to say the death penalty. Rahul Singh vs. State of H.P., 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3117 (HP).

It is true that the act of the appellant is barbaric and gruesome. Three helpless persons are done to death while asleep in a room which they thought to be safe after bolting the door from inside. The door is locked from outside to ensure that no one escapes. However, Court also finds that the appellant is not a professional or a hardcore killer. The prosecution has not been able to bring on record the exact manner in which the incident has occurred, the genesis or the sequence of the events, but evidence establish only the circumstances which leave no scope for any other hypothesis than the guilt of the appellant. But how the act was committed is not established. In this set of circumstances, it would be stretching a bit too far to put this case in the category of rarest of rare cases. Court has no material to come to the conclusion that the appellant would be a risk and menace for the society in future and his elimination is the only remedy for the safety of society. Further the appellant has a disabled wife and eight children to look after. We are, therefore, of the view that the punishment of death is a bit too harsh.

Foregoing discussion would result into partly allowing the appeal preferred by the convict appellant by altering the sentence from death penalty to imprisonment for life while confirming his conviction for the offence of murder. He shall suffer imprisonment for life, that is, till he breathes his last breath. State of Gujarat vs. Fatehsinh Ramlal Chauhan, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2473 (Guj).

In the instant case the accused being one of relatives was on visiting term with deceased and he eliminated his entire family including an infant of three years of age. There was no provocation and motive was to gain some financial benefit and evidence showed cold blooded and premeditated approach of accused. It was held to be a rarest of rare cases and imposition of death sentence was affirmed. The age of accused and dependency of his old parents was not considered. Dayanidhi Bisoi v. State of Orissa, 2003 Cr LJ 3697 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3915 : 2003(9) SCC 310 : 2003(5) Supreme 74 : 2003(3) Crimes 167 (SC).

The unarmed and helpless family members were attacked by their own servant and three of them were killed but fourth one had saved herself by locking in bath room. The evidence of this injured witness about sequence of events that happened from voices and conversation she heard clinchingly pointed to involvement of the accused. Considering the brutality of manner in which the crime was committed it was held to be a rarest of rare case and death penalty was held justified. Om Prakash v. State of Uttaranchal, 2003 Cr LJ 483 (SC) : 2003(1) SCC 648 : 2002(8) Supreme 589 : 2003(1) Crimes 180 (SC) : 2003 SCC (Cri) 412.

Imposition of Death sentence—Social issues—Multiple murders, outcome of inter-caste marriage.—Sushma was the younger sister of this accused and it is a common experience that when the younger sister commits something unusual and in this case it was an inter-caste, inter-community marriage out of the secret love affair, then in the society it is the elder brother who justifiably or otherwise is held responsible for not stopping such affair. It is held as the family defeat. At times, he has to suffer taunts and snide remarks even from the persons who really have no business to poke their nose into the affairs of the family. This was further aggravated because of the so-called higher status of a Brahmin family on the part of Dilip and so-called non-Brahmin status of Prabhu. It has come on record that Sushma was moved to Andheri at the house of Shashidharan and this ought to have added as a spark which resulted in tornado. Dilip undoubtedly was a young person not even having crossed his 25 years of life and not having any criminal antecedent. If he became the victim of his wrong but genuine caste considerations, it would not justify the death sentence. The murders were the outcome of social issue like a marriage with a person of so-called lower caste. However, a time has come when we have to consider these social issues as relevant, while considering the death sentence in the circumstances as these. The caste is a concept which grips a person before his birth and does not leave him even after his death. The vicious grip of the caste, community, religion, though totally unjustified, is a stark reality. The psyche of the offender in the background of a social issue like an inter-caste-community marriage, though wholly unjustified would have to be considered in the peculiar circumstances of this case.

No doubt, the murder was brutal. However, it has been pointed out that this was not a diabolic murder nor had the murderers acted in depravity of their minds by disfiguring the bodies. The incident must have taken place barely within 10-15 minutes when they came, assaulted the family members and left. True it is that the two ladies who were assaulted were helpless and so were Krishnan and Prabhu. But when we weigh all the circumstances, particularly, about the mindset of Dilip, the cruel acts on the part of the accused would not justify the death sentence. The disturbed mental feeling or the constant feeling of injustice has been considered by this Court as a mitigating circumstance in Om Prakash v. State of Haryana, 1999 (3) SCC 19, where the accused had committed the murder of seven persons. That is also an indicator to the fact that mere number of persons killed is not by itself a circumstance justifying the death sentence. In a death sentence matter, it is not only the nature of the crime but the background of the criminal, his psychology, his social conditions and his mindset for committing the offence are also relevant. See also Ravji alias Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 (2) SCC 175.

Once this Apex Court decide not to award the death sentence to accused No. 1. Dilip, the accused No. 3, Manoj also deserves not to be given death sentence. Even he is a person without any criminal antecedents and he appears to have joined the company of Dilip only out of his commitment as he was shown to be a resident of the same house. We, therefore, do not think that even he deserves death penalty. Accused No. 2. Sunil has comparatively a lesser role. Admittedly, he has not assaulted Krishnan or Prabhu, to begin with. Who has assaulted Prabhu and Abhayraj is still not clear, as it could also be that in the assaults the leading role could have been taken by the unknown accused. In that view, he also does not deserve the death sentence. The question is then how are these accused persons to be dealt with. Ordinarily, they would be liable to be awarded the life imprisonment. Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari & Anr. vs State of Maharashtra, 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT 1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC).

Imposition of Death sentence—When permissible?.—It needs to be reiterated that the choice of the death sentence has to be made only in the rarest of the rare cases and that where culpability of the accused has assumed depravity or where the accused is found to be an ardent criminal and menace to the society and; where the crime is committed in an organized manner and is gruesome, cold-blooded, heinous and atrocious; where innocent and unarmed persons are attacked and murdered without any provocation. State of Punjab vs. Manjit Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2888 : 2009 (8) JT 482 : 2009 (8) Scale 622 : 2009 (9) SCR 864 : 2009 (5) SLT 480.

Death sentence—Many persons murdered not by itself sufficient to justify death sentence.—When we weigh all the circumstances, particularly, about the mindset of Dilip, the cruel acts on the part of the accused would not justify the death sentence. The disturbed mental feeling or the constant feeling of injustice has been considered by this Court as a mitigating circumstance in Om Prakash v. State of Haryana, [1999 (3) SCC 19] where the accused had committed the murder of seven persons. That is also an indicator to the fact that mere number of persons killed is not by itself a circumstance justifying the death sentence. In fact in one other case reported as Ram Pal v. State of U.P. 2003 (7) SCC 141, total 21 persons were killed as the accused trapped them in a house and burnt the house. Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari & Anr vs State of Maharashtra, 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT 1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC).

Death sentence—Number of deaths—Not determinative factor for awarding death sentence.—So far State's appeal as regards sentence is concerned, it is to be noted that number of deaths in a case would not be the determinative factor for awarding the death sentence. Even in the case of single victim death sentence can be awarded taking into consideration the circumstances of the case. In the instant case looking to the background facts it cannot be said that the High Court by altering the sentence from death to life has acted inappropriately. Aqeel Ahmad v. State of U. P., AIR 2009 SC 1271 : 2008 (17) SCR 1330 (SC) : 2009 (1) JT 136 (SC) : 2008 (16) Scale 251 (SC) : 2009 (2) SLT 11 (SC).

Death sentence—Rarest of rare cases.—Extreme poverty had driven the appellant to commit the gruesome murder of three of his very near and dear family members – his wife, minor son and daughter.

There is nothing on record to show that appellant is a habitual offender. He appears to be a peace loving, law abiding citizen but as he was poverty stricken, he thought in his wisdom to completely eliminate his family so that all problems would come to an end. Precisely, this appears to be the reason for him to consume some poisonous substances, after committing the offence of murder. No witness has complained about his bad or intolerable behaviour in the past. Many people had visited his house after the incident is indicative of the fact that he had cordial relations with all. He is now about 35 years of age and there appear to be fairly good chances of the appellant getting reformed and becoming a good citizen.

Thus, looking to the matter from all angles and after giving our serious consideration to the whole matter, we are of the opinion that it is not a fit case where it would fall within the category of "rarest of rare case" and, therefore, death sentence as awarded to him by learned trial Judge and confirmed by High Court deserves to be set aside and quashed and is accordingly done so by us instead he is held guilty of commission of offence under Sec. 302 of the IPC on three counts and is awarded life imprisonment for the same. Sushil Kumar vs. State of Punjab, AIR 2010 SC 832.

Where act of accused is cruel in committing murder but not a rarest of rare type of murder therefore death sentence imposed on accused modified to imprisonment for life. Krushna Naik v. State of Orissa, 2005 Cr LJ 1343 (Ori) : 2005(29) All ind Cas 588 : 2005(2) Crimes 361 : 2005(99) Cut LT 283 : 2005(30) OCR 253 : 2005(1) Orissa LR 284.

Where accused committed crime in most barbaric manner to deter others from challenging supremacy of accused in village in broad day light in a pre-planned way then in absence of any mitigating circumstances in favour of accused, death sentence imposed on accused warrants no interference. Holiram Bordoloi v. State of Assam, 2005 Cr LJ 2174 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2059 : JT 2005(4) SC 249 : 2005(3) Supreme 232.

Where accused sacrificed a child of only one year before Goddess Kali for personal gain and to promote his fortunes, it was held that such unprovoked killing of defenceless child fell into rarest of rare cases and thus imposition of death sentence was justified. Sushil Murmu v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 (3) East Cr C 20 (SC).

While determining sentence in a case of rarest of rare cases, guide lines laid down by Apex Court in Machi Singh and Bachan Singh case to be kept in mind. Sushil Murmu v. State of Jharkhand, 2005(3) East Cr C 20 (SC).

Where deceased, a child of less than 6 years, was raped and thereafter brutally murdered then case falls under category of rarest of rare cases and as such imposition of capital punishment warrants no interference. State of UP v. Satish, 2005 Cr LJ 1428 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 1000 : 2005(2) Supreme 13 : 2005(1) Crimes 146 SC : 2005 SCC (Cr) 642.

The five accused entered into the office of the deceased persons and started indiscriminate firing inside the office and committed the murder of deceased persons. The deceased thereafter ran away. It was held that as there was no evidence that the accused were hardened criminals and dangerous persons that to spare their life will endanger the society or community, the case was not the rarest of rare case calling for the death penalty was not made out. Rajesh Sharma v. State of Uttaranachal, 2005 Cr LJ 2846 (Uttr.) : 2005(2) Crimes 359 : 2005(118) DLT 60 : 2005(1) FAC 140.

The object of punishment has been succinctly stated in Halsbury's Laws of England (4th Edition; Vol. II; Para 482) thus :—

> "The aims of punishment are now considered to be retribution, justice, deterrence, reformation and protection and modern sentencing policy reflects a combination of several or all of these aims. The retributive element is intended to show public revulsion to the offence and to punish the offender for his wrong conduct. The concept of justice as an aim of punishment means both that the punishment should fit the offence and also that like offences should receive similar punishments. An increasingly important aspect of punishment is > deterrence and sentences are aimed at deterring not only the actual offender from further offences but also potential offenders from breaking the law. The importance of reformation of the offender is shown by the growing emphasis laid upon it by much modern legislation, but judicial opinion towards this particular aim is varied and rehabilitation will not usually be accorded precedence over deterrence. The main aim of punishment in judicial thought, however, is still the protection of society and the other objects frequently receive only secondary consideration when sentences are being decided".

In Dinesh vs. State of Rajasthan, 2006 AIR SCW 1123 = 2006 (3) SCC 771, it is held:

> "An undeserved indulgence or liberal attitude in not awarding adequate sentence in such cases would amount to allowing or even to encouraging 'potential criminals'. The society can no longer endure under such serious threats. Courts must hear the loud cry for justice by society in cases of heinous crime of rape and impose adequate sentence. Public abhorrence of the crime needs reflection through imposition of appropriate sentence by the Court".

In this case, the learned Additional Sessions Judge forgot the necessity of awarding due sentence. He had shown undue leniency in awarding a sentence lesser than the minimum sentence, that too, after finding that the appellant deserved no leniency and liable to be punished deterrently. He had assigned no reason to award a lesser sentence. The sentence awarded for offence under Section 302, IPC is illegal. But in view of our finding in appeal that the conviction under Section 302 is to be altered to one Section 304 Part II and we having been found that a sentence of rigorous imprisonment for ten years with fine would meet the ends of justice, no separate order is warranted in this Revision Case. Accordingly, the Revision Case is disposed of. We hope that the learned Additional Sessions Judge would take lessons. Mohanan vs. State of Kerala, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 2920 (Ker).

Imposition of Death sentence—Social issues—Multiple murders, outcome of inter-caste marriage.—Sushma was the younger sister of this accused and it is a common experience that when the younger sister commits something unusual and in this case it was an inter-caste, inter-community marriage out of the secret love affair, then in the society it is the elder brother who justifiably or otherwise is held responsible for not stopping such affair. It is held as the family defeat. At times, he has to suffer taunts and snide remarks even from the persons who really have no business to poke their nose into the affairs of the family. This was further aggravated because of the so-called higher status of a Brahmin family on the part of Dilip and so-called non-Brahmin status of Prabhu. It has come on record that Sushma was moved to Andheri at the house of Shashidharan and this ought to have added as a spark which resulted in tornado. Dilip undoubtedly was a young person not even having crossed his 25 years of life and not having any criminal antecedent. If he became the victim of his wrong but genuine caste considerations, it would not justify the death sentence. The murders were the outcome of social issue like a marriage with a person of so-called lower caste. However, a time has come when we have to consider these social issues as relevant, while considering the death sentence in the circumstances as these. The caste is a concept which grips a person before his birth and does not leave him even after his death. The vicious grip of the caste, community, religion, though totally unjustified, is a stark reality. The psyche of the offender in the background of a social issue like an inter-caste-community marriage, though wholly unjustified would have to be considered in the peculiar circumstances of this case.

No doubt, the murder was brutal. However, it has been pointed out that this was not a diabolic murder nor had the murderers acted in depravity of their minds by disfiguring the bodies. The incident must have taken place barely within 10-15 minutes when they came, assaulted the family members and left. True it is that the two ladies who were assaulted were helpless and so were Krishnan and Prabhu. But when we weigh all the circumstances, particularly, about the mindset of Dilip, the cruel acts on the part of the accused would not justify the death sentence. The disturbed mental feeling or the constant feeling of injustice has been considered by this Court as a mitigating circumstance in Om Prakash v. State of Haryana, 1999 (3) SCC 19, where the accused had committed the murder of seven persons. That is also an indicator to the fact that mere number of persons killed is not by itself a circumstance justifying the death sentence. In a death sentence matter, it is not only the nature of the crime but the background of the criminal, his psychology, his social conditions and his mindset for committing the offence are also relevant. See also Ravji alias Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 (2) SCC 175.

Once this Apex Court decide not to award the death sentence to accused No. 1, Dilip, the accused No. 3, Manoj also deserves not to be given death sentence. Even he is a person without any criminal antecedents and he appears to have joined the company of Dilip only out of his commitment as he was shown to be a resident of the same house. We, therefore, do not think that even he deserves death penalty. Accused No. 2, Sunil has comparatively a lesser role. Admittedly, he has not assaulted Krishnan or Prabhu, to begin with. Who has assaulted Prabhu and Abhayraj is still not clear, as it could also be that in the assaults the leading role could have been taken by the unknown accused. In that view, he also does not deserve the death sentence. The question is then how are these accused persons to be dealt with. Ordinarily, they would be liable to be awarded the life imprisonment. Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari & Anr. vs State of Maharashtra, 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT 1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC).

The confirmation of death sentence cannot be based only on the precedents and on aggravating facts and circumstances of any other case. The essential and relevant mitigating circumstances of the particular case always play a role of negative elements against the positive theory of death punishment. In the present case, admittedly there was no eye-witnesses. The whole conviction was based on circumstantial evidence. The prosecution proved through respective witnesses all connected circumstances to per point the guilt of the accused persons. Accused 'S' played vital role but he was missing. He was a young man having no earlier criminal records. It was held that in facts and circumstances of the case no "rarest of rare" case was made out and therefore the death penalty imposed on "S" was liable to be set aside. State of Maharashtra v. Sahebrao, 2005 Cr LJ 2788 (Bom) : 2005 All LJ 1607 : 2005(51) All Cric 899 : 2005(2) All ci R 1161 : 2005(29) All inad Cas 547 : 2005(3) Rec Cri R 283.

After the accused was spelled by the prosecution party as one of the culprits and he was confronted with that accusation, that he retaliated and dealt blow with full knowledge that the same might in the ordinary course of nature cause death. It was held that the case was not "rarest of rare" and, therefore, death sentence was liable to be modified to life imprisonment. Krishna Naik v. State of Orissa, 2005 Cr LJ 1343 (Orissa) : 2005(2) Crimes 361 : 2005(30) OCR 253.

Where a child of less than 6 years was raped and thereafter brutally murdered, it was held that the case fell on "rare of rarest" category and awarding death sentence was proper. State of UP v. Satish, 2005 Cr LJ 1428 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 1000 : 2005(2) Supreme 13 : 2005(1) Crimes 146 SC : 2005 SCC (Cr) 642.

127. Appreciation of Evidence.—The only overt act attributed to A3 and A5 is that they have beaten P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 with sticks. P.W. 2 was examined by Dr. Venugopal (P.W. 9) and found two incised injuries. None of them could be attributed to a blow with a stick. P.W. 1 was examined by the same doctor and he noticed one small lacerated wound on the left wrist, a contusion on the left knee and an incised injury on the left ear. The contusion on the left knee could very probably be the result of any contact with hard objects while tumbling down it was a small contusion. It is difficult for us to countenance the situation that three lathi worn youthful sons-in-law would have inflicted all the blows with the sticks on P.W. 1 lady ultimately resulting in just one minor lacerated injury on her left wrist. The roles were attributed to the three sons-in-law as a result of the deliberations made during the interval between the time of occurrence and the lodging the FIR. That interval is quite good enough for embellishment and exaggerations after the deliberations with the relatives for whom P.W. 1 was waiting before the FIR was lodged by her. Boya T. Venkatewarlu and others v. State of A.P. AIR, 2002 SC 2419 : 2002 (10) SCC 208 : 2001 (5) JT 309 : 2001 (5) Supreme 675 : 2001 (4) SLT 489.

In a case, the accused were said to have attacked the deceased as a result of which he succumbed to his injuries. The High Court found the witnesses to be unreliable for the reasons recorded by it. The High Court considered the evidence of the witnesses and pointed out that infirmities in their evidence which discredited their testimony. It was held that appreciation of the evidence by the High Court was neither perverse nor were the findings recorded not supported by evidence on record and that the Supreme Court was not justified in interfering with the possible reasonable conclusion which could be arrived at on the basis of evidence on record. State of UP v. Sunder Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 2186 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 905 : AIR 2005 (SC) 2238 : 2005(3) Supreme 359 : 2005(2) Crimes 106 (SC) : 2005(3) SCC 734.

128. Awarding of Sentence–Interpetation of Judgement.—A perusal of the operative part of the judgment of the High Court clearly shows that so far as the punishment under Section 302 is concerned, it has disagreed with the Sessions Court and altered the sentence to one of life imprisonment from death. It has nowhere stated that it is also awarding a fine or that it was confirming the fine awarded by the Sessions Court for the offence under Section 302, IPC. In the absence of any such specific recording it should be deemed that the High Court has awarded only a sentence of life imprisonment for an offence under Section 302, IPC. Rachhpal Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 2002 SC 2710 : 2002(6) SCC 462 . 2002(5) JT 388 : 2002(5) Scale 308 : 2002(5) Supreme 118.

Court can sentence accused to imprisonment for rest of his life or term excepting 14 years. When a murder convict comes to Supreme Court carrying a death sentence awarded by the trial Court and confirmed by the High Court, the Court may find that the case just falls short of the rarest of the rare category and may feel somewhat reluctant in endorsing the death sentence. But at the same time, having regard to the nature of the crime, the Court may strongly feel that a sentence of life imprisonment which, subject to remission, normally works out to a term of 14 years would be grossly disproportionate and inadequate. If in such cases the Court's option is limited only to two punishments, one a sentence of imprisonment, for all intents and purposes, of not more than 14 years and the other death, the Court may feel tempted and find itself nudged into endorsing the death penalty. Such a course would indeed be disastrous. A far more just, reasonable and proper course would be to expand the options and to take over what, as a matter of fact, lawfully belongs to the Court, i.e., the vast hiatus between 14 years' imprisonment and death. The Court, therefore, can substitute a death sentence by life imprisonment for rest of life of convict or by a term in excess of fourteen years and further to direct that the convict must not be released from the prison for the rest of his life or for the actual term as specified in the order, as the case may be.

The formalisation of a special category of sentence, though for an extremely few number of cases, shall have the great advantage of having the death penalty on the statute book but to actually use it as little as possible, really in the rarest of the rare cases.

Section 45 of the Penal Code defines "life" to mean the life of the human being, unless the contrary appears from the context. Section 53 enumerates punishments, the first of which is death and the second, imprisonment for life. Section 57 provides that in calculating fractions of terms of punishment, imprisonment for life shall be reckoned as equivalent to imprisonment for twenty years. Section 57 of the Penal Code does not in any way limit the punishment of imprisonment for life to a term of twenty years. Section 57 is only for calculating fractions of terms of punishment and provides that imprisonment for life shall be reckoned as equivalent to imprisonment for twenty years. It is now conclusively settled that the punishment of imprisonment for life handed down by the Court means a sentence of imprisonment for the convict for the rest of his life. As regards provisions for remission of sentence under Criminal P. C. and the prisons Act and Rules they can apply only to sentences of fixed term and life imprisonment, being for the rest of life, is by nature indeterminate. The remission rules are, however, applied to life convicts by deemed conversion of life imprisonment into a fixed term of 20 years. The deemed conversion of life imprisonment into one for fixed term by executive orders issued by the State Governments apparently flies in the face of a long line of decisions by Supreme Court and has no statutory sanction. Life convicts are therefore, granted remission and released from prison on completing the fourteen year term without any sound legal basis. Moreover, remission is allowed to life convicts in the most mechanical manner without any sociological or psychiatric appraisal of the convict and without any proper assessment as to the effect of the early release of a particular convict on the society. The grant of remission is the rule and remission is denied in the rarest of the rare cases. Swamy Shraddananda @ Murali Manohar Mishra v. State of Karnataka, 2008 CriLJ 391 (SC).

129. Death Sentence reduced to life Imprisonment.—The medical evidence of the present case also creates a heavy shadow of doubt in the presence of the witnesses because of their occular testimony being at variance with the medical evidence. It is consistent case of both these witnesses that the appellant at the time of incident was having a Pharsa while his unknown companions were having spears and they all had caused injuries to the deceased from their respective weapons. A perusal of the post mortem report shows that injury No. 8 was a bone deep lacerated wound. Doctor Agrawal P.W. 3 has admitted in his cross-examination that this injury was the result of lathi below. It was certainly an injury caused by a hard blunt object. How this injury was sustained by deceased has not been explained by both these witnesses. In addition to that contrusions all around both the wrists were also found. This also indicates that perhaps both the hands of the deceased were tied with a rope before he was mercilessly assaulted. None of the witnesses stated so. Neither in the F.I.R. nor in his statement before the Court the first informant gave any explanation of the delay in F.I.R. Since the F.I.R. was lodged with a considerable delay, possibility of the false nomination of the appellant on account of manipulation and consultation cannot be ruled out. Sita Ram v. State of U.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2915 (All.) : 2002 (44) ACC 1118 : 2002 (2) A Cri R 1054 (All).

Reverting back to the present case, it is no doubt true that both the respondents behaved in a most cruel manner, killed four persons while they were asleep. Three, out of the four deceased persons, were murdered within the precincts of a Gurdwara. But, there are certain mitigating circumstances in the case which cannot be lost sight of. Both the respondents, as is disclosed from the records, had illicit relationship with the third accused namely Bhinder Kaur and when she narrated her woes and the harassment, both the accused persons, as it appears from the record, lost their balance and acted in a cruel manner by entering into the house of Sewa Singh-deceased in the dead night and killing Sewa Singh in the house and other three sons in the Gurdwara. Thereafter, they also gave threat to everybody outside the house by stating that they have killed those persons and, therefore, no one should dare to come near them. This behaviour on the part of the accused-respondents would show that they acted in the manner being driven more by infatuation and also being devoid of their sense on coming to know about the ill treatment meted out to Bhinder Kaur. Though the act of the accused is a gruesome one but it was a result of human mind going astray. No doubt, they acted in a ghastly manner for which, in our considered view, they have been adequately punished. The High Court has given its reasons for not awarding the death sentence and also relied upon a Supreme Court decision for the purpose.

In view of the aforesaid discussion, keeping in view entire facts and circumstances of the case, the reasons given by the High Court for altering and converting capital sentence to a sentence of life are found to be cogent and reasonable. We do not intend to interfere with the said judgment and order passed by the High Court. Therefore, the life sentence awarded to all the three accused persons by the High Court stands upheld. State of Punjab vs. Manjit Singh, AIR 2009 SC 2888 : 2009 (8) JT 482 : 2009 (8) Scale 622 : 2009 (9) SCR 864 : 2009 (5) SLT 480.

The appellant though hailing from a poor family had no criminal background and it could not be reasonably postulated that he will not get rehabilitated or that he would be a menace to the society. The boy of tender age would also once for all be deprived of the parental protection. Keeping in view all these aspects, in the opinion of the court, it could not be said that the imposition of life imprisonment would not adequately meet the requirements of the case or that only an imposition of the extreme punishment alone would do real or effective justice. Therefore, the sentence of death commuted to imprisonment for life. Vashram Narshibhai Rajapara v. State of Gujarat, 2002 Cri LJ 2930 (S.C.) : AIR 2002 SC 2211 : AIR 2002 SCW 2314 : 2002(2) Crimes 306 : 2002(4) Scale 95.

The accused was charged for committing the murder of three persons and assaulting the other four but had done this due to extreme mental and emotional disturbance. This was not considered in rarest of rare cases and death sentence was reduced to imprisonment for life. State of Rajasthan v. Pappu, 2002 Cr LJ (NOC) 214 (Raj) : 2002(4) Raj LW 1956.

Where the accused after killing the deceased had stolen his gold ring and chain, it was held that prosecution had made out its case against the accused under Section 302 and death sentence was converted into life imprisonment. Kurale Pullaiha v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1060 (AP) : 2002(2) ALD (CRI) 659 : 2003(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 58.

Death sentence—Imposition—Considerations.—In a death sentence matter, it is not only the nature of the crime but the background of the criminal, his psychology, his social conditions and his mindset for committing the offence are also relevant. See also Ravji alias Ram Chandra v. State of Rajasthan, [1996 (2) SCC 175 : AIR 1996 SCW 132], this Court held as under:

> "...The crimes had been committed with utmost cruelty and brutality without any provocation, in a calculated manner. It is the nature and gravity of the crime but not the criminal, which are germane for consideration of appropriate punishment in a criminal trial. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should"respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal"...."

Dilip Premnarayan Tiwari & Anr vs State of Maharashtra, 2009 AIR SCW 7592 : AIR 2010 SC 361 : 2010 CriLJ 905 (SC) : 2009 (15) JT 1 (SC) : 2009 (14) Scale 489 (SC) : 2009 (8) Supreme 108 (SC) : 2009 (9) SLT 1 (SC) : 2010 (1) Crimes 3 (SC).

In a case according to circumstantial evidence accused and her husband had killed her parents, brother and grand mother and their bodies were hidden in septic tank behind the house. The motive was to misappropriate the property of deceased and confessional statement of approver pointed towards the accused. The charge of murder was proved beyond doubt but seeing the probabilities of reforms in accused persons, the death sentence was modified to life imprisonment. State of Jharkhand v. Saiyed Rizwan, 2003 Cr LJ 2098 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 513 : 2003(1) Cur Cri R 399 : 2003(2) JCR JHA 235.

Incidentally, the prosecution involved both the father and the son whereas the father has to wait outside, the son was completing his part of duty in a most heinous killing of four persons. The Sessions Court, however in the absence of iota of evidence of even his presence outside the door acquitted the father through convicted the son under Section 302 and the High Court converts the sentence of death penalty to that of life imprisonment but the State has also appealed against the High Court's finding and as noticed above Mr. Sushil Kumar appearing for the State in no uncertain terms submitted that State's appeal is by reason of the fact that a social evil ought not to be allowed to be in the midst of the society since the accused Ravi is not only an evil but a social menace. State's anxiety to put a man in the gallows is however not every plainly understandable neither it is understanding as to the State's attitude being eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth – it is true that it is the responsibility to maintain law and order but the State on the other hand also maintains reformatory schools and if the State is failed to bring the accused to books in a Court of law can the State's failure be countenanced by the apex Court? Why was not Sukhdayal examined? Why there weren't any independent witness? Mr. Sushil Kumar had no answer. Obviously erudite as he is, only contended that the records otherwise would be sufficient to bring home the charge and the penalty imposed by the Sessions Court. We are however not in a position to lend any credence to the submissions of Mr. Sushil Kumar that the death penalty ought not to have been transformed to that of life imprisonment as is sought to be done by the High Court. Deepak Kumar v. Ravi Virmani, AIR 2002 SC 1320 : 2002 Cr LJ 1781 : (2002) 2 SCC 737 : 2002(1) Supreme 458 : 2002(1) JT 555 : 2002(1) Sale 570.

Where prosecution successfully prove its case that accused running an Ashram and known as Goodman had raped 13 Ashram girls and committed murder of one of them who were mostly orphans and destitutes therefore conviction and sentence of life imprisonment needs no interference. Kamalanatha v. State of T.N., 2005 (3) East Cr C 78 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2132 : 2005(5) SCC 194 : 2005(3) Crimes 24 (SC) : 2005(4) Supreme 501.

The accused slit the neck of deceased with a shaving razor in the ward of jail hospital. There was sufficient evidence to point out the guilt of accused but both parties were rivals in their trade and accused as well as deceased had criminal and anti social antecedents. The crime committed in this case was not extremely brutal, grotesque, diabolical, revolting or dastardly and Court, therefore, did not consider it rarest of rare cases and sentence of death was modified to a sentence of R.I. for life. State of Jharkhand v. Anil Sharma, 2003 Cr LJ 1739 : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 436 : 2003(1) East Cri C 131 : 2003(1) JLJR 155.

The accused had committed murder by pouring acid on his near relative, maternal uncle's son due to some family dispute but prosecution failed to prove that the accused was a threat to society and was not amenable for reformation. The death sentence of accused was reduced to imprisonment for life. The Public Prosecutor v. Pathuraji Narasimha Rao, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 229 : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1124 : 2003(9) All Ind Cas 599 : 2003(2) BLJR 1389.

The accused had shot dead three Police personnel who were his colleagues because constable (deceased) had initiated action against him. It was held that killing was without premeditation and motive was out of panic reaction and in state of frenzy. Death sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life. Gyasuddin Khan v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 395 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 210 : 2003(9) JT 1 : 2004(1) Crimes 90 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 499.

The incident in question was sequel to murder of close relatives of accused by members of victim's family. The incident was sufficient to provoke the accused persons who had jointly perpetrated the crime and were convicted and awarded different punishment i.e. death sentence to accused and imprisonment for life to co-accused as his age factor was taken into the consideration. The accused awarded death penalty preferred an appeal questioning the sentence of death on various grounds. It was held that role played by appellant was similar to the role played by the other accused persons who were given lesser sentence. The appellant was not leader of gang and was in custody for nearly 17 years. These were circumstances which should have been considered as mitigating circumstances in awarding the punishment. The death sentence of accused appellant was accordingly converted to imprisonment for life. Ram Pal v. State of UP, 2003 Cr LJ 3760 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 4168 : 2003(7) SCC 141 : 2003(5) Supreme 297 : 2003(3) Crimes 234 (SC).

The accused persons in pursuant to criminal conspiracy had caused death of an under trial by hurling explosive substance at his back. This was not rarest of rare cases where death penalty could be imposed. Farooq v. State of Kerala, 2002 CrLJ 2534 (SC) : AIR 2002 SC 1825 : 2002 (4) SCC 697 : 2002 (2) Crimes 183 (SC) : 2002 (3) Supreme 199.

In absence of any exceptional circumstances, life imprisonment imposed on accused for committing murder though intentionally cannot be enhanced. Prem Sagar v. Dharambir, 2004 Cr LJ 17 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 21 : 2004(1) SCC 113 : 2003(8) JT 76 : 2003(4) Crimes 372 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 502.

Held, in this case the argusome murder was perpetrated in cold blooded, pre-meditated and well organized manner. It calls for deterrent punishment. Such gruesome and cold blooded murder with a view to grab the property is not only delict the law but also have a deleterious effect in civil society. At the time of granting leave, this Court did not issue notice for enhancement of punishment. However, considering the nature of the crime and the manner in which it has been perpetrated, the ends of justice would warrant that the appellant should be in jail in terms of Section 57 of the Indian Penal Code. We direct that the appellant shall not get the benefit of any remission either granted by the State or by Government of India on any auspicious occasion. Reddy Sampath Kumar v. State of A.P., 2005 CrLJ 4131 : AIR 2005 SC 3478 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1710 : 2005 (7) SCC 603 : 2005 (4) Crimes 1 (SC) : 2005 (7) Scale 270 : 2005(6) Supreme 228.

Where accused convicted for murdering his elder brother giving knife blows on his chest and abdomen but without any pre-planning, it will not fall within the category of rarest of rare cases. On perusal of the evidence, the manner and time of the alleged occurrence. Held that it is a case of simple murder to attract Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, which took place without any pre-planning. This case does not come under the preview of 'rarest case among the rear cases' to confirm capital punishment. In such circumstances the death sentence, commuted to life imprisonment. The State of Bihar v. Manoj Sahu alias Manoj Prasad Sahu, 2002 Cri LJ 2278 (Jhar.) : AIR 2002 Jhar HCR 437 : 2002(2) JCR Jha 8 : 2002(1) JLJR 759.

The deceased was picked up from his cot, thrown on the ground and was then repeatedly shot while two accused were catching hold of him. This evidence of eye-witnesses was not found probable. The conviction of accused was held not proper. Jontam v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4646 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2412 : 2003(47) All Cri C 150 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1646.

The accused killed the deceased by firing the shot but presence of eye-witness on spot was found doubtful as he had strong enmity with accused and was having motive to falsely implicate the accused. There was inordinate delay in filing the FIR. It was held that accused was entitled to benefit of doubt. Shiv Bali v. State of UP, 2003 Cr LJ 4637 (SC) : 2003 All LJ 2367 : 2003(46) All Cri C 1155 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1856.

In a Supreme Court case, the accused was alleged to have suddenly put his gun against the deceased and fired. Accused, thereafter allegedly pressed neck of deceased and strangulated him. The witnesses, who were forest officials got scared and ran straight up to third village without caring to go back to help the victim or even informing villagers of the villages, they had crossed of the incident. Tehir conduct was most unnatural. No motive for offence was established. Although firing was allegedly done by placing gun on back, no charning or blackening of skin was observed by doctor around wounds. No strangulation mark was found on dead body. Special report reached Magistrate after many days. In the circumstances it was held that prosecution case and veracity of eye-witnesses both were doubtful and, therefore, the accused was liable to be acquitted. Badam Singh v. State of MP, AIR 2004 SC 26 : 2004 Cr LJ 22 (SC) : 2003(4) Crimes 439 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 7 : 2003(9) Scale 222 : 2003(8) JT 547.

Where the deceased was alleged to have been shot and he was profusely bleeding after receiving gun shot and the eye-witnesses who were accompanying the deceased stated that they carried the deceased on their shoulder while one of them held the chest of the deceased, the possibility of these witnesses clothes being not blood-stained was next to impossible and therefore, the presence of these eye-witnesses at the place of occurrence was extremely doubtful. Their presence also became suspect on the date of incident in the village because of the material contradictions in their evidence I.O. State of Rajasthan v. Taran Singh, 2004 Cr LJ 654 (SC) : (2003) 12 SCC 341 : AIR 2004 SC 1080 : 2003(4) Crimes 456 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 36 : 2003(8) JT 115.

Seizure of firearms and recovering the empties and sending them for examination by the ballistic expert would have only corroborated the prosecution case but not sending them to the ballistic expert is not fatal in view of the categorical testimony of eye-witnesses about the whole incident. State of Punjab v. Hakam Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 4111 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1679 : 2005(7) SCC 408 : 2005(6) Supreme 261 : 2005(7) Scale 43.

In another Supreme Court case it was held that non-sending of gun to ballistic expert, when the firing from gun was not disputed could not be said to be fatal. Ramesh Shish Rai v. Jagdish Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 669 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1611 : 2004(4) Crimes 306 : 2004(10) JT 594 : 2005(10) SCC 598.

The accused was alleged to have fired at deceased over a wordy altercation between deceased and accused relating to grazing of cow. Eye-witness had seen the incident from a distance of 30 feet. Weapon of offence was not recovered and non-recovery of weapon from the house of accused appellant did not extend to his benefit. The appeal was, therefore, without any merit and was dismissed. Krishna Gope v. State of Bihar, 2003 Cr LJ 3890 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3114 : 2003(10) SCC 45 : 2003(3) Crimes 343 (SC) : 2003(5) Supreme 606.

In a case the accused at the dead of night armed with gun entered into house of deceased, fired at deceased and injured his daughter who had identified the accused in the light of glowing earthenware. The evidence showed that shots were repeated and that enabled the injured eye-witness to identify the accused but could not correctly recognise the other accused who was wrongly named in FIR. It was held that if during investigation case was found correct against one accused only and not against another one, it did not mean that the whole prosecution story was false. Hence conviction of main accused under Section 302/307 was fully justified. Krishna v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4075 (All) : 2003 All LJ 2012 : 2003(46) All Cri C 930 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1259.

Where the accused was not satisfied with the petition of joint family property and one day when a dispute arose about fixing door in cattle shed, he fired the shot and killed an innocent boy. The Apex Court set aside the acquittal and conviction order of trial Court was restored. The Court observed "In view of the unsatisfactory nature of disposal of the appeal and the inherent improbabilities and irregularities in the conclusions, the unreasoned impugned judgment of High Court warrants reversal. Rama Kant Rai v. Madan Rai, 2004 Cr LJ 36 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 77 : 2003(4) Crimes 310 (SC) : 2003(7) Supreme 326 : 2004(1) Recent Cr 83.

Where accused after firing gun at deceased and killing him, gave blow on head of another victim which could have led to his death, it was held that the accused was guilty of offences under Sections 307 and 302, IPC. Narain v. State, 2005 Cr LJ 2005 (All) : 2005 All LJ 984 : 2005(51) All Cri C 636 : 2005(1) All Cri R 983.

The accused was alleged to have fired at the deceased and constable on duty had arrested the accused on spot. No other eye-witness was available and wife and father of deceased were not examined. The firing was not from close range and mutilated condition of body showed that body was thrown there after committing the murder. It was held that the accused was entitled to the acquittal. Alimulah v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3912 (All) : 2003 All LJ 1893 : 2003(47) All Cri C 69 : 2003(2) All Cri R 1237.

The deceased died of gunshot injuries and extra-judicial confession was made before the witnesses who were inimically deposed towards him. This was found not reliable and presence of witness at the time of incident was doubtful. The acquittal of accused under the circumstances was held proper. The Court observed that inference of guilt could be justified only when all the incriminating facts were found to be incompatible with incidence of accused. State of Rajasthan v. Rajaram, 2003 Cr LJ 3901 (SC) : 2003(10) SCC 434 : 2003(7) JT 437 : 2003(4) Crimes 53 (SC) : 2003(6) Supreme 223.

In the instant case, the specific allegation was that the accused fired at the deceased from his gun hitting him on his back. The medical evidence was to the effect that on the back of the deceased there was only an exit wound and there was no entry wound on the back of the deceased. It was held that the presence of eye-witness was doubtful and that the accused was entitled to benefit of doubt. State of UP v. Shiv Kumar, 2005 Cr LJ 2604 : AIR 2005 SC 2992 : 2005(11) SCC 212 : 2005(2) Crimes 153 (SC) : 2005(3) Supreme 564.

Irked by the remark of deceased, some of the members of the Barati party protested and it led to heated exchange of words and mutual abuses. At that stage, the acquitted accused exhorted the appellant to attack the persons of the group who were involved in the scuffle. It appeared that the three appellants of the Barati party were carrying arms which was not unusual for the Baratis to carry in those rural areas. Then, according to the prosecution case, the three appellants, fired at deceased persons and they died at the spot. Three other persons, namely Dwarka Prasad, Kurva and Ujagar Singh also sustained injuries from the shots fired at them by the accused. Held it was difficult to believe that accidental firing would have taken place from all the three guns handled by the three appellants at about the same time. Therefore, there was no hesitation in rejecting this contention. Suresh Chandra v. State of U.P., 2005 Cr LJ 3449 : AIR 2005 (SC) 3120 : 2005 (6) SCC 130 : 2005 (5) Supreme 364 : 2005 (6) JT 397 (SC) : 2005 (5) Scale 629.

A rustic village woman cannot explain about bore of gun or rifle. The wife of the deceased whose presence in the house was quite natural and she having clearly identified the respondent who fired the gun at her husband should be enough to establish the factum of whole prosecution story. To expect from her to give the description in a photogenic manner is asking too much.

Sometimes while appreciating the testimony of rustic villagers we are liable to commit mistake by losing sight of their rural background and try to appreciate testimony from out rational angle. When a lady is confronted with number of intruder in her house armed with deadly weapons and showering bullets she cannot give a very accurate and photogenic version as whole thing happened in a few minutes. Therefore, while appreciating such testimony Court should give due regard to their rural background and the whole scenario in which the incident happened. She has narrated the whole incident as it happened and also stated that her husband also fired and that shot killed one of accused. That lends considerable support to the testimony of this witness. If she really wanted to give a wrong version of incident she could have totally exonerated her husband. But she has categorically stated that the shot fired by her husband from the gun hit one of accused. Whether both the shots fired by her husband hit deceased-accused or one, she cannot depose in such a photogenic manner. But she admitted that one of the shots hit her deceased-husband when there was exchange of fire from the accused side. She had categorically deposed that accused fired a shot from the rifle hitting on the back side of the buttock of her deceased husband. Her testimony cannot be rejected. State of Punjab v. Hakam Singh, 2005 Cr LJ 4111 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1679 : 2005(7) SCC 408 : 2005(7) Scale 43 : 2005(6) Supreme 261.

It is true that two innocent children lost their lives for no fault of theirs. We also notice that Dharia is a weapon, which is ordinarily to be found in the house of any farmer or agriculturist in that area as stated by PW-3. He seems to have used the weapon as lying in the house. The offence was obviously not committed for lust of power or otherwise or with a view to grab any property nor in pursuance of any organized criminal or anti-social activity. Chances of repetition of such criminal facts at his hands making the society further valnerable are also not apparent.

Therefore, the case will not fall in the category rarest of rare cases. Therefore, death penalty commuted to life imprisonment Dharamendra Singh alias Mansing Ratansingh v. State of Gujarat, 2000 Cri LJ 2631 SC.

The High Court altered death punishment to life imprisonment, however no finding for awarding fine. It will be deemed that High Court awarded only sentence of life imprisonment and not of fine.

It is on record that the appellants are owning agricultural land though the extent and fertility on the same is not available. It is also seen that they own a tractor and a trolly are normally owned by farmers having large extent of land. They also own a Maruti car, which also indicates that appellants are reasonably affluent. On this basis, it is reasonable to conclude that the appellants are capable of paying at least Rs. 1 lakh per head as compensation. Therefore, the court modify the order of the High Court by reducing the compensation payable from Rs. 2 lakhs each Rs. 1 lakh each and direct the appellants to pay the said sum, totaling Rs. 2 lakhs, as directed by the High Court. Rachhpal Singh v. State of Punjab, 2002 Cri LJ 3540 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 2710 : 2002(6) SCC 462 : 2002(5) JT 388 : 2002(5) Scale 308 : 2002(5) Supreme 118.

130. Injuries.—Perusal of the entire evidence gives an impression that there was prior enmity between deceased and the accused persons and on the given day the accused persons assaulted him, but, then most of the injuries were dealt on the lower parts of the body, which reveals that they had no intention to murder. Garjan Sahu and Ors. vs. State of Orissa, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1880 (Ori).

From the evidence on record, Court finds that there had been an altercation between the deceased and the appellant, before the shots were fired. The fact is testified by witness who stated that the two quarrelled with each other, because of the land dispute, before the shots were fired. The first shot was fired by the appellant in the air, which suggests that he did not have any intention to kill the deceased, who was his real brother, but wanted only to browbeat and scare him and assert his dominance over him, may be on account of the fact that the deceased was younger to him. It was only the second shot, which caused the death. This shot was also not aimed at any vital part of the body. It was aimed just below the right shoulder. The shot, as per the opinion of Doctor Sharma, was fired from a distance of only 6-7 feet. Appellant was a Home Guard volunteer and, therefore. he was supposed to have been trained at handling the firearms, before he was so appointed. His firing a shot from a distance of only 6-7 feet, aiming the upper chest, just below the right shoulder, suggests that he did not intend to cause the death, though he can be presumed to have had the intention to cause an injury, which could have caused death. Therefore, we hold the appellant guilty not of the offence of murder, under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, but of offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, punishable under Section 304 (first part) of the Indian Penal Code. Jodh Raj. vs. State of H.P., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2488 (HP).

131. Conduct of witness.—Post-event conduct varies from person to person. The conduct of witness in going to the house of his uncle instead of reporting the incident to the police cannot be said to be unnatural, impairing the creditworthiness of his evidence. The post-event conduct of a witness varies from person to person. It cannot be a cast iron reaction to be followed as a model by every one witnessing such event. Different persons would react differently on seeing any serious crime and their behaviour and conduct would, therefore, be different. [See : Rammi @ Rameshwar vs. State of M.P., 1999 (8) SCC 649]. Therefore, having witnessed a dastardly murder, it was not unnatural for the said witness to go to his uncle and, therefore, the Courts below were justified in not rejecting his evidence merely on that score. Babasaheb Apparao Patil vs. State of Maharasthra, AIR 2009 SC 1461 : 2009 (1) JT 55 : 2008 (15) Scale 205 : 2008 (16) SCR 769.

132. Conversion of offence—Permissibility.—It is obvious that even though there is no specific charge framed and the offence under other section is made out, the Court can record a finding under such a charge, which is punishable with lesser sentence for a cognate offence.

In a situation, where both the charges under Ss. 302, IPC and 306, IPC cannot be levelled against the accused, but, if the circumstances suggest conclusively that the offence was sufficiently proved to the extent of the offence under S. 306, IPC, this Court, being an appellate Court, can always hold that the accused has committed an offence under S. 306, IPC and the conviction for the said offence can safely be recorded. Godugula Adellu v. State of A.P., 2008 CriLJ 206 (AP).

133. Time of death—Determination.—Time of occurrence cannot be fixed with precision merely based on opinion expressed in text books on medical jurisprudence which sets only broad indicators.—Dasari Siva Prasad Reddy vs. Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P., AIR 2004 SC 4388 : 2004 (6) JT 489 (SC) : 2004 (7) Scale 59 (SC) : 2004 (6) Supreme 281 (SC) : 2004 (3) Crimes 313 (SC).

Medical science is not yet so perfect as to determine the exact time of death nor can the same be determined in a computerised or mathematical fashion so as to be accurate to the last second. The state of the contents of the stomach found at the time of medical examination is not a safe guide for determining the time of occurrence because that would be a matter of speculation, in the absence of reliable evidence on the question as to when exactly the deceased had his last meal and what that meal consisted of.

The time required for digestion may depend upon the nature of the food. The time also varies according to the digestive capacity. The process of digestion is not uniform and varies from individual to individual and the health of a person at a particular time and so many other varying factors.

Factors were also noted by HWV Cox in his book referred to by learned Counsel for the appellant. (See Seventh Edition, at pages 300 to 302). An author's view which is opinion based on certain basic assumptions only cannot be substitute for evidence let in to prove a fact which invariably depends upon varied facts, and according to the peculiar nature of a particular case on hand. The only inevitable conclusion is that the plea is without any substance, apart from the fact that the said plea pertaining to mere appreciation of facts was not raised before the High Court.—Ram Bali vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2004 SC 2329 : 2004 (Supp-1) JT 211 (SC) : 2004 (4) Scale 611 (SC) : 2004 (3) Supreme 547 (SC) : 2004 CrLJ 2490 (SC) : 2004 SCC (Cr) 2045 (SC) : 2004 (2) Crimes 493 (SC).

134. Intention to cause death—Determination.—The intention to cause death or at all events intention of causing bodily injury which is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death was made out. The circumstances to bring the case under Exception (4) to Section 300 do not exist.—Pulichera Nagaraju v. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2006 SC 3010 : 2006 (6) Supreme 339 (SC) : 2006 (9) SRJ 236 (SC) : 2006 CrLJ 3899 (SC) : 2006 (3) Crimes 233 (SC).

* * * * *

Sec. 303. Punishment for murder by life-convict.—Whoever, being under sentence of imprisonment for life, commits murder, shall be punished with death.

Synopsis

1. Amendment....1695
2. Scope of....1695
3. Applicability....1695
4. Witness....1695
5. Procedure....1695
6. Charge....1695

1. Amendment.—The words in italics were substituted by the words "transportation for life" by Act 26 of 1955 Section 117 and Schedule with effect from 1.1.1956.

2. Scope of.—This section is violative of Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution. AIR 1983 SC 473 : 1983 CrLJ 811; AIR 1983 CrLJ 111; AIR 1984 SC 1120 : 1984 CrLJ 928.

3. Applicability.—(Case laws before the section was struck down as ultra vires in AIR 1983 SC 438). When the Provincial Government under Section 401, Cr. Pro. Code, remitted the remainder of the sentence of transportation of a person, without condition he cannot be said to be one under a sentence of transportation for life. AIR 1943 Sind 114 : 44 Cr LJ 530 ; 40 Cr LJ 530 ; 40 Cr LJ 490 : AIR 1938 Rang 124. Section 303 cannot be confined only to cases where a person undergoing sentence of imprisonment for actually and in fact himself commits an act which results in death of the victim. The said section would apply in cases where a person under going sentence of imprisonment for life is convicted either under Section 302, read with Section 34 or under Section 302 read with Section 149. The legal effect of such conviction in either case is that he must be deemed to have committed the murder as much as the actual murder has 1962 SCD 1024 : (1963) 2 SCJ 416 : AIR 1963 SC 118 : AIR 1961 SC 1494 : (1961) 2 Cr LJ 969 ; Section 303 can not be confined only to cases where a person undergoing sentence of imprisonment for life actually and in fact himself commits an act which results in the death of the victim. AIR 1963 SC 118 : (1962) 2 Ker LP 28 ; AIR 1976 SC 133 : 1975 Cr LJ 624 ; 1982 Cr LJ 136.

An order of acquittal, annulling or voiding a conviction operates from motivity. AIR 1976 SC 133 ; see also 1979 Cr LJ 1285. Section 303 is a like a proviso to Section 302 and a Court trying a person can apply the provision of Section 303 if it is brought to its notice that the person tried is under a sentence of life imprisonment. AIR 1973 SC 786.

4. Witness.—The evidence by street hawkers and vendors are not merely 'chance' witness and it cannot be discarded on this score. (1986) 1 Crimes 490 : 1984 Cr LJ 41 (NOC) (Ori) : (1984) 57 Cut LT 27 : (1984) Ori LR 51.

5. Procedure.—Cognizable—Warrant—Not bailable—Not compoun-dable—Triable by Court of Session.

6. Charge.—I (name and designation of Session Judge) hereby charge you.............(name of the accused) as follows:—

That you on or about....................(date) at........................(time) and at...................(place) while being under a sentence of imprisonment for life, committed made by intentionally or knowingly causing the death of.................(name of the deceased) and thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 303, I.P.C.—and within my cognizance.

"And I hereby direct that you be tried in the Court on the said charge".

* * * * *

Sec. 304. Punishment for culpable homicide not amounting to murder.—Whoever commits culpable homicide not amounting to murder, shall be punished with imprisonment or life, for imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death; or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, or with fine, or with both, if the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death, but without any intention to cause death or to cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death.

Synopsis

1. Amendment........1697
2. Scope........1697
3. Onus........1706
4. Sections 304 and 323........1707
5. Sections 304 and 324........1708
6. Sections 304 and 325........1709
7. Sections 304, Part I and 34........1709
8. Section 304 (2)—Applicability of........1711
9. Section 304 Part II and Section 34........1716
10. Cases........1723
11. Abetment of suicide........1741
12. Section 304, Second part & Section 299........1741
13. Sections 304 and 300........1741
14. Sections 304 and 326........1744
15. Jury........1745
16. Sentence........1745
17. Evidence and proof/Eye-witness........1754
18. Power of High Court........1760
19. Interference by Supreme Court........1760
20. Procedure........1760

21. Retrial 1761
22. Charge 1761
23. Intention 1761
24. Conviction 1763
25. Acquittal 1767
26. Motive 1767
27. Dying declaration 1768
28. Knowledge 1769
29. Benefit of doubt 1769
30. Confession 1770
    (a) Confession—Various discrepancies. 1770
31. Sudden quarrel 1771
32. Severe Beating 1773
33. Culpable Homicide 1773
34. Circumstantial Evidence 1777
35. Private defence 1779
36. Injuries. 1782
37. Bail 1782
38. Benefit of probation 1783
39. Single blow or injury. 1783
40. Murder or Culpable Homicide—Proof. 1783
41. Non examination of minor injury on accused—Effect of. 1785
42. Appropriate sentence—Factors to be taken into consideration. 1786
43. Unlawful Assembly 1786
44. Administration of drug—Error in stating offence 1787

1. Amendment—The words in italics was substituted for the words "transportation for life" by Act 26 of 1955, Section 117 and Schedule with effect from 1.1.1956.

2. Scope.—A greater latitude of discretion is given to the Judge in apportioning the punishment of culpable homicide when it does not amount to murder ; for he is empowered to pass any sentence ranging from transportation for life to a small fine. In general, the Court makes no distinction, either in its definitions and penal provisions, between cases in which a man causes an effect designedly and cases in which he causes it with knowledge that he is likely to cause it. But this section awards a more severe punishment to culpable homicide in which the act causing death, is done intentionally for the purpose of causing death than it does to these homicide in which the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death but without intention to cause it."—Morgan aid Macphierson.

There is a fine distinction between the class of cases that framers of death code contemplated while prescribing the two parts of Section 304, IPC. The first part of the section postulates a more serious class of offences where the courts can infer that there is a clear intention. To cause death whereas the second part of the Section contemplates a slightly lesser class of offences where there is knowledge that the act is likely to cause death, but where the intention to cause death is not present.

Though there is a fine distinction between the two classes of offences, there is still a very clear cut difference between them and we need to record that the courts are required to give effect to the difference on the basis of the special facts of each case. To quote an example, if the weapon used happens to be a small club, the manner in which the blow is inflicted viz. the degree of force used and more importantly the part of the body at which it is aimed would be a prime relevance, but the Courts would still take cognizance of the fact that the use of this sort of a weapon would signify the intention of really causing the hurt rather than of killing. The real difference is between the aspect of intention and knowledge and as we shall demonstrate. If on the other hand the weapon used is a lethal weapon such as a dagger and the blow is aimed at a vital part of the body, the only legatimate inference which the courts will draw is that the accused definitely intended to kill. Loki v. State of Karnataka 2000 Cri LJ 149 (Kant).

There were several factors which made the prosecution version unreliable. It was noted that the First Information Report was purportedly lodged on 22.03.1989 but the same was received by the Illaqa Magistrate after a long time i.e. on 24.03.1989 though the Court of the Illaqa Magistrate was situated at less than half a kilometer. Additionally the number of injuries as stated by the so called eye witness, PW. 3 was at great variance with the medical evidence. It also noted that the medical examination conducted at 3.30 P.M. by Dr. M.M. Sharma, PW. 1 showed that the injuries were caused within duration of 6 to 12 hours. His specific evidence was that the deceased could have received the injuries at about 10 AM on 22.03.1989 and he had not received injuries within six hours. According to the prosecution version the occurrence took place at 3.30 PM and the medico legal examination was done at 5.30 pm.

Delayed dispatch of FIR to Magistrate and distinction between witness and Medical witness. Though some of the factors highlighted by the High Court may not create a dent in the prosecution version but the cumulative effect certainly casts a shadow upon the credibility of the prosecution version. The view taken is a possible view. Therefore, no interference is called for. State of Haryana vs. Krishan, 2008 (15) SCC 208 : 2008 (12) JT 627 : 2008 (15) Scale 129.

The courts have from time to time illustrated the distinction in different decisions and we need to refer to only three of them, the first reported is Kulwant Rai v. State of Punjab, AIR 1982 SC 126 wherein the Supreme Court held that on an application of these principles in a somewhat similar situation, that since there was no intention on the Part of the accused to cause death, that the case would fall under Section 304, part II IPC. The next decision is reported in AIR 1998 SC 289, 1998 Cri LJ 495, (Sudhir Samanta v. State of West Bengal) wherein the Supreme Court on the basis of the nature of the injuries reduced the conviction from one under Section 302, IPC to Section 304, Part I IPC. The last decision is reported in AIR 1998 SC 3115 (1998 Cri LJ 4560) (State of Punjab v. Gurcharan Singh) wherein again the Supreme Court took note of the fact that the incident took place on the spur of the moment without any specified intention and one blow was inflicted in the course of a sudden incident and the conviction was again the course of a sudden incident and the conviction was again reduced from section 302, IPC to one under Section 304, Part I IPC.

The first part of Section 304, is intended only on those cases in which the act of the accused person would be culpable homicide amounting to murder, but to the fact that it was committed in circumstances which render one or other of the exceptions in Section 300 applicable. 3 PR 1911 Cr : 9 PWR 1911 : 87 PLR 1911 : 87 LR 1911 : 10 Ind Cas 852 : 12 Cr LJ 274 AIR 1942 Oudh 368; 43 Cr LJ 211; AIR 1940 Rang 259 : 42 Cr LJ 124 : AIR'1939 Rang 525 : 40 Cr LJ 725 ; 41 CWN 570 : ILR (1937) 2 Cat 280.

The second part of this section applies (inter alia) to those rather rare cases of deliberate assault where the act of assault can be separated from the injury caused with the result that knowledge of likelihood to cause death can be proved without intention to cause vital injury being established. AIR 1943 Nag 145 : 44 Cr LJ 512 , see also AIR 1945 Lah 43, Part II has no application where injuries are, inflicted with intention of causing hurt, AIR 1935 Rang 391 : 37 Cr LJ 186. Where intention is absent and knowledge can be attributed Part II is applicable. AIR 1935 Lah 80 ; AIR 1937 Rang 243 : 39 Cr LJ 114. In certain cases according to the circumstances knowledge is presumed. AIR 1938 Lah 618 : 39 Cr LJ 927 : 177 IC 642 : AIR 1933 Lah 883 : 35 Cr LJ 65 ; AIR 1930 Bom 483 : 32 Cr LJ 289, Second Part of this section is to be read with last few words of Section 299 and has no connection with Section 300 or with the exceptions mentioned therein and must not be confused with culpable homicide not amounting to murder. AIR 1943 All 344 : 45 Cr LJ 97 : ILR 1943 All 853.

The documentary and oral evidence of the doctor, as adduced, that he also treated the patient and conducted the post-mortem examination made it crystal clear that the deceased remained under treatment in hospital for 8 days and died after 8 days of the incident in question. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries. Maniben vs. State of Gujarat, 2009 (8) SCC 796 : 2009 (3) Crimes 298 (SC) : 2009 (12) JT 82 : 2009 (12) SCR 753 : 2009 (10) Scale 654 : 2009 (5) Supreme 700.

According to this section there are two degrees of guilt, the graver one depends on the intention proved or to be inferred from all the circumstances and the less serious of which does not depend on intention at all. AIR 1940 Rang 259 : 44 Cr LJ 124. Where death is caused by the accused under grave and sudden provocation an offence under Part I has been committed. AIR 1939 Lah 436 : 40 Cr LJ 868 ; AIR 1939 Sind 97 : 40 Cr LJ 375 ; AIR 1935 Rang 156 : 39 Cr LJ 561 ; 38 PLR 43 ; AIR 1937 Rang 540 : 39 Cr LJ 255 AJR 1938 Pesh 10 : 39 Cr LJ 401 : AIR 1936 Nag 103 : 17 Cr LJ 607. Where death is caused exceeding the right of private defence an offence under section is committed. AIR 1939 Lah 393 : 40 Cr LJ 904 ; AIR 1939 Lah 534 : 41 Cr LJ 150 : AIR 1942 Mad 58 : 201 IC 390 : 40 Cr LJ 904 ; AIR 1939 Lah 534 : 41 Cr LJ 150 : AIR 1943 Mad 58 : 201 IC 390 ; AIR 1937 Oudh 54 : 37 Cr LJ 931 ; AIR 1934 Oudh 207 : 35 Cr LJ 801 ; 35 Cr LJ 639 : AIR 1933 Lah 1048. Part I is applicable where death was caused under grave and sudden provocation. ILR 1939 Lah 278 : AIR 1939 Lah 471 ; 40 Cr LJ 928 : AIR 1939 Lah 426.

Section 304 must be interpreted as providing punishment for offence of culpable homicide in all cases where the accused cannot be convicted of murder. 140 Ind Cas 49 : 39 Cr LJ 849 : 28 NLR 233 : AIR 1932 Nag 121 (FB), Part I applies where there is guilty intention and Part II applies where there is no such intention but there is guilty knowledge. 130 Ind Cas 884 : 35 CWN 456 : 32 Cr LJ 598 : 58 Cal 1138 : AIR 1931 Cal 545 ; AIR 1932 Lah 372 : 1932 Cr C 490 : 33 PLR 474 : 33 Cr LJ 445 : 1937 Rang LR 393; AIR 1933 Oudh 269 : 35 CrLJ 58. Where the offence is under Section 304, the accused must be given clear notice of part under which he is charged. AIR 1934 Sind 23.

When an intention to cause death or bodily injury was not proved and was not even likely, a conviction under the first clause of Section 304, I.P. Code, is untenable. SC 123 Oudh. A person who beats another brutally and continuously, so that death results, is guilty of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder, according as there may or may not have been grave provocation. 5 WR Cr 78. A person who causes death by acts done with the knowledge that they are likely to cause such bodily injury as was dangerous to life, is guilty of only culpable homicide (Section 304) and not of murder (Section 302). The provocation contemplated by Section 300 should, be of a character to deprive the offender of his self-control. In determining whether it was so, it is admissible to take into account the condition of mind in which the offender was at the time of the provocation. 2 M 122 : 1 Weir 302 ; see also 19 WR Cr 35 ; 7 WR Cr 77 : 18 All 497 ; 1 WR Cr 33. The burden of proving grave and sudden provocation is on the accused. AIR 1932 Lah 11 : 33 Cr LJ 186. In case of sudden quarrel and provocation the accused is guilty under Section 304. AIR 1932 Lah 302 : 33 Cr LJ 577 : see also AIR 1933 Lah 869 : 1933 Cr C 1114 ; AIR 1931 Lah 189 : 32 Cr LJ 1205 : 134 Ind Cas 583 ; 33 PLR 546 : 33 Cr LJ 446 : 137 Ind Cas 267 : AIR 1932 Lah 3 : AIR 1933 Oudh 41 ; 144 Ind Cas 160 : 1933 Cr C 589 : 34 Cr LJ 804 : AIR 1934 Pesh 38. Where knowledge and intent are absent, and the deceased is the aggressor conviction should be under Section 326. AIR 1933 Lah 733 ; see also AIR 1931 Lah 103 : 33 Cr LJ 183 : 1931 Cr C 167 ; AIR 1932 Oudh 279 : 9 Own 655 ; but see AIR 1933 Oudh 269 : 1933 Cr C 596 : 10 OWN 482. In case of merciless and determined beating with hands and feet conviction should be under Section 304. AIR 1933 Lah 883 : 1933 Cr C 1177 ; see also AIR 1933 Rang 27 : 1933 Cr C 1014.

Framing of charge. The deceased was a patient of asthma which could cause asphyxia which was ultimately said to be the cause of death. It is also clear that notwithstanding his serious respiratory problem, the deceased was kept in a windowless room which was full of dust and cobswebs which are known allergens for triggering an asthma attack, which can be fatal, as in this case. The injuries found on the body of the deceased may have been caused during attempts at resuscitation, but all the said circumstances can only be considered during a proper trial and not on the basis of surmises at the time of framing charge where on the strength of the charge sheet only a prima facie satisfaction about the commission of an offence has to be arrived at by the trial Court. Therefore, while rejecting the submissions made that there were no materials on record to frame charge against the accused persons even under Sec. 323/34 IPC, we cannot but observe that on a prima facie view of the matter, there is ground to proceed against the accused persons even under Sec. 304 Part II IPC. The High Court had erred in quashing the charge framed against the accused persons under Sec. 304 Part II and observing that in view of the materials on record only a charge under Sec. 323 could be brought against the accused persons. Indu Jain vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 976 : 2009 CrLJ 951= 2008 (15) SCC 341 : 2008 (12) JT 524 : 2008 (14) SCR 1137 : 2008 (15) Scale 168 : 2009 (2) SLT 72..

There was no common object and in any event the present appellant was not a member of any unlawful assembly. Having held so, the High Court ought not to have altered the conviction as recorded by the trial Court. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed. The order of the trial Court vis-a-vis the present appellant is restored and that of the High Court vis-a-vis the present appellant stands quashed. If the appellant has served the sentence as imposed by the trial Court, the bail bonds executed for giving effect to order shall stand discharged. Otherwise, the appellant shall surrender forthwith to serve the remainder of sentence. Komal vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1958 : 2009 (1) Crimes 373 : 2009 (11) SCC 55 : 2009 (2) Scale 479 : 2009 (1) SCR 1142 : 2009 (2) Supreme 25 : 2009 (2) SLT 480.

Where injuries inflicted on the deceased with the intention of causing hurt. Clause 2 of Section 300 comes into application. 1935 Cr C 1114 : AIR 1945 Rang 391. If in a case of murder the prosecution has failed to prove the intention which is necessary in order that an accused should be convicted of murder, then it fails to prove that the accused is guilty of murder and the accused should not be convicted of murder even in the alternative. If the prosecution can prove the knowledge which is necessary for the conviction of an offence under Section 304. Part II, and not in the alternative. AIR 1938 Sind 63 : 31 SLR 48 ; see also AIR 1938 Pesh 10. Where the accused struck only one blow with a stick on the head of the deceased, and that too after the latter had struck him on the thigh with a heavy stick and upto that point the accused merely appeared to have intended to give the deceased an ordinary beating with his stick, and ordinary beating was all that seemed to have been required by the motive suggested for the attack, it cannot be assumed in the circumstances of the case that the accused intentionally struck a blow which he knew was likely to cause death. The offence committed by him does not therefore fall under Section 304, Part II, but one under Section 325. AIR 1928 Lah 714.

Similarity of cases. The High Court did not accept the stand of the prosecution regarding applicability of Sec. 304 Part II read with Sec. 149 IPC. It was held that in respect of the respective acts committed by each one of them the matter is required to be considered. From the post mortem certificate it was noticed that the first injury was caused by main accused with aruval on the neck and the corresponding injury caused the death. At the same time, other accused have attacked the deceased and contributed corresponding injuries. Therefore, it was held that main accused had to be convicted in terms of Sec 302, IPC. So far as others are concerned the acts attracted Sec. 304 Part II, IPC.

Appellant has submitted that while others were convicted for offence punishable under Sec. 304 Part II, IPC he alone has been convicted under Sec. 302 IPC. According to him, there is a parity between the co-accused persons. The High Court has indicated the reasons for which the appellant's case was treated differently. The trial Court and the High Court have noted that the appellant had given a fatal blow on the neck with aruval and the injury caused by such act proved fatal. Therefore, there is no substance in the plea of the appellant that he stood on similar footing as that of co-accused persons. Jagebar Ali vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2009 SC 1774 : 2009 CrLJ 1711 : 2009 (1) Crimes 237(SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 108 : 2009 (2) JT 17 : 2009 (1) Scale 674 ; 2009 (1) SCR 407.

In absence of a specific charge for a distinct offence under Section 304B, IPC accused cannot be convicted on that account under Section 302, IPC. Suresh Kumar v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 2131 (P&H) : 2005(2) All Cri LR 731 : 2005(2) DMC 342 : 2005(2) Hindu LR 47 : 2005(2) Rce Cir R 427.

Case of the prosecution would go to show that when the accused and the injured witness Rajammal were undressed for having sexual intercourse for money the deceased person Mani had demanded money from the accused and since the accused did not pay the money deceased Mani had caused injuries with stone on the accused which infuriated the accused to cause injuries against the said Mani which lead to his death. The said circumstances would go to show that the injury sustained by the accused on his left chest and the case of the prosecution that the demand of money for the alleged illegal sexual intercourse had enraged the accused to sustain sudden provocation against the deceased Mani and the accused had caused injuries to the deceased Mani only on such provocation of the said deceased Mani.

Therefore, the prosecution did not prove any enmity as envisaged in the charges framed against the accused and when there was no previous enmity in between these two persons there could not be any understanding between the accused and the deceased person to have unlawful and illegal sexual intercourse with the said Rajammal by the accused for money.

In the said circumstances, this Court is of the view that the offence committed by the accused against the deceased Mani would fall under Section 304, Part I, IPC since it was not intentionally done but only a culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Eswaran @ Shanmugavel vs. State, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3180 (Mad).

Where evidence of witnesses, that demand soon before her death was made by accused-husband and she was subjected to cruelty and harassment by her husband to meet his unlawful demand of dowry then conviction of accused was held justified and proper. Prem Nath v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 2244 (P&H) : 2005(2) DMC 342 : 2005(2) All Cri LR 731 : 2005(2) Rec Cri R 427.

The distinction between the intention to cause injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, and the intention to cause injury likely to cause death depends upon the degree of probability of death resulting from the act committed. Apart from cases falling within the second clause of Section 300, if, from the intentional act of injury committed, the probability of death resulting is high the finding should be that the accused intended to cause death or injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, and the conviction, should be murder unless one of the exceptions applies ; if there was probability in a less degree of death ensuing from the act committed the finding would be that the accused intended to cause injury likely to cause death, and the conviction should be of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 5 LBR 80 : 10 Cr LJ 359 : 3 Ind Cas 710. The accused who professed to be a specialist in witchcraft beat a woman who was believed to be passed by an civil spirit with the object to exercising the spirit. The woman died of the beating protesting that she was not possessed and refusing to be beaten. Held, that the accused was guilty of an offence under the second part of Section 301, I.P. Code 44 Ind Case 679 : 19 Cr LJ 475. The difference between the two parties of Section 304, I.P. Code, is that under the first part the crime of murder is first established and the accused is then given benefit of one of the exceptions while under the second part of the same section the crime of murder is never established at all. 69 Ind Cas 454 : 23 Cr LJ 726. If the act of the accused falls within either of the clauses 1, 2 and 3 of Section 300 but is covered by any of five Exceptions it will be punishable under the first part of Section 304 : and if the act falls within clause 4 of Section 300 but is covered by any of the Exceptions it will be punishable under the second part of Section 304, 103 Ind Cas 841 : 28 Cr LJ 761 : AIR 1927 Sind 232 : 32 PR 1887 Cr. Where the cause of death was single lathi blow a sentence of 7 years' rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 400 is unduly severe. In such a case the sentence of fine is unnecessary. 5 LLJ 180 ; 1928 Lah 416 ; 5 Lah LJ 414 : 1923 Lah 170. The first part of Section 304 applies where there is no guilty intention and the part applies where there is no such intention but there is guilty knowledge, AIR 1931 Cal 345 : 35 CWN 456 : 130 Ind Cas 884 Section 304, applies to the following classes of cases (i) where the case falls under one or other clause of Section 300 but is covered by the exceptions to that section (ii) where injury caused is not one of the higher degree of likelihood, covered of the expression "sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death but is of a lower degree of likelihood generally spoken of as an injury "likely to cause death" and the case does not fall under clause (2) of Section 300 (iii) where the act done is with the knowledge that death is likely to ensue but there is no intention to cause death or and injury likely to cause death it may be that there is no intention to cause any injury at all or there may be an intention to cause simple or grievous hurt but not an injury likely to cause death. 1952 ALJ 546 ; see also 1953 Cr LJ 1516 : AIR 1953 Trip 7. Section 304 divides the offence of culpable homicide into two grounds of guilt, the graver of which depends on the intention proved or to be inferred from all the circumstances and the lessserious of which does not depend on the intention at all. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 141 : 1960 C LJ 303 : 1960 Mad LJ (Cr) 265.

If the offence is not culpable homicide the section is not applicable. 1979 Cr LJ 1092 : AIR 1979 SC 1434 ; See also 1971 Cr LJ 1654 ; 1963 (1) Cr LJ 762 : AIR 1963 HP 18. Where the culpable homicide falls under any of the 4 of clauses of Section 300 and none of the exceptions applies, the culpable homicide is murder and is punishable under Section 302 and not under this section. AIR 1976 SC 2445 : 1976 Cr LJ 1888 ; 1983 Cr LJ 993 : AIR 1983 SC 614 ; AIR 1980 SC 573 : 1980 Cr LJ 412 ; AIR 1979 SC 1711 : 1979 Cr LJ 1196.

Trial for offence which come under Section 304/34 I.P.C. Appeal was made against. Conviction, there was delay in F.I.R. and unfair investigation. Majority of witnesses turning hostile—Eye-witnesses was found not reliable. Hence conviction, was held not sustainable. Puran Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 R Cr C 607 (Raj).

Where there was custodial death Courts should not insist for direct evidence. It was held that such cases should be dealt with in a realistic manner. State of Madhya Pradesh v. Shyamsunder Trivedi, 1995 MLJ (Cr) 656 (SC) : 1995(4) SCC 262 : 1995(4) JT 445 : 1995(3) Scale 343.

The injuries to testicles was not opined to be direct cause of death. The death took place after two days of incident. Hence offence amounts to one punishable under Section 323 and not under Section 304, Part II of Code. Pirthi v. State of Haryana, 1995 JIC 554 (SC) : (1995) 1 East Cr C 439 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 1582 : 1993(4) Scale 35 : 1994 Cr LJ 2187 : 1994 SCC (Cr) 402.

Where there was single fatal head injury and other injuries being minor. Use of non-deadly weapon. Offence was held under Section 304, Part II. Madhusudan Sathpathy v. State of Orissa, 1995 SCC (Cr) 155 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 474 : 1994 Cr LJ 144.

A statement made under Section 162. Cr. P.C. counter a deposition at the trial stage but is not a defence or Court witness. 1986 Cr LJ 427 (Ori) : AIR 1986 SC 467 : (1986) 1 SCJ 166.

According to the evidence of the autopsy surgeon, the head injury caused to the victim was, not doubt, sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death but on the material on record it would be hazardous to hold that the appellant had the mens rea for the offence covered under Part I of Section 304. However, in dealing the fatal blow on the head with such force as to result in fracture the appellant can certainly be ascribed the knowledge that death was likely to be caused thereby. 1988 (1) Crimes 138 (MP).

In the instant case, the accused threw a bomb on the head of the deceased. The head of the deceased was completely smashed and his brain part came out and it, resulted in the instant death of the deceased. The bomb was thrown from a close range and the fact that the accused too sustained injuries was indicative of that fact. It was pleaded by the defence that the entire incident had happened on a sudden quarrel and there was no premeditation or serious intention on the part of the accused to cause the death of the deceased. It was also pointed out that the accused had been undergoing imprisonment since 1992. The above pleas were held not sufficient to bring the offence within the purview of Section 304 Part I. Rama Mangaruji Chacherkar v. State of Maharashtra 2002 Cri LJ 573 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 283 : AIR 2001 SCW 5000 : 2002(1) Crimes 202.

The accused was convicted on the charge of hitting the head of deceased with a wooden bat as a result of which he died. Presence of the only eyewitness to the occurrence was also found to be doubtful. Medical evidence was also found to be contrary to circumstantial evidence. Held, that conviction of the accused Section 304 could not be sustained and accused was entitled to acquittal. 1987 Cri LJ 6 (Delhi).

When accused persons with common intention beard deceased violently, they must have knowledge that they were likely to cause death and as such case falls under Section 304, Part II. Dilip Singh v. State of Haryana, 1993 Cri LJ 2092 (SC).

The testimony of both eye-witnesses is corroborated by medical evidence and doctor has stated that injuries on deceased could have been caused by knife which was recovered at instance of the appellant. The appellant grappled with deceased and gave knife blow and did not repeat the blow. The appellant intended to cause an injury which is likely to cause death. Hence that does not fall under Section 302, IPC but under Sec. 304, Part I, IPC. Ram Babu Kumar v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 452 (P & H).

The primary requirement of an offence to fall under Section 300 is that there must have been an intention to kill but when such intention is prompted by any of the exceptions. In this case Exception-I, the offence would be under Section 304, Part I. But in the present case there is absolutely no evidence that the appellant ever had any intention of killing the deceased. He had merely picked up a stone and threw it at the deceased because of the insulting abuses made at him. It was a sudden and impulsive act without any premeditation or intention to kill. The offence committed hence was one where the appellant would be presumed to have the knowledge that the act was likely to cause death though there was no intention to cause death. In such circumstances, the offence was under Section 304, Part II, I.P.C. and not under Section 304. I. His conviction as under Section 304, Part I, I.P.C. is liable to be set aside and instead he is liable to be convicted under Section 304, Part II. Gopa Bagarty v. State, (1994) 1 Crimes 1171 at p. 1172 (Ori).

It is apparent that accused caused single injury with lathi. The possibility of verbal altercation between the parties and of blow having landed on the head of the deceased by chance cannot be ruled out. Hence the offence falls in the ambit of Section 304, Part II, I.P.C. and substantive sentence of imprisonment is reduced to five years' rigorous imprisonment and fine imposed by trial Court is set aside. Puran Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 509 (P & H).

It is difficult to hold that the appellant intended to cause the injuries to the liver and the spleen which unfortunately proved to be fatal. Having regard to the nature of the weapon used and the part of the body on which blows were dealt, it is difficult to hold that he intended to cause the death or intended to cause that particular injuries to the liver and the spleen. However, under the circumstances he must be attributed to have the knowledge that by dealing such blows he was likely to cause the death of the deceased in which case the offence is one punishable under Section 304. Part II, I.P.C. Karam Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 64 at p. 65 (SC) : 1993 Cr LJ 3673.

- Trial for offence which fell under Section 304, eye-witness not stating in F.I.R. that accused assaulted the deceased—However during trial the eye-witness deposing that the accused assaulted the deceased with Farshi. Hence the deposition of the eye-witness not reliable. Ramesh Maruti Patil v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 East Cr C 426 (SC) : 1994 Cr LJ 8 : AIR 1994 SC 28 : 1994 JIC 406.

Where there was Phalli injury upon the head of deceased and had no second injury, offence does not fall under Section 302, I.P.C. The offence shall be deemed under Section 304. Part II, I.P.C. Rajinder Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 68 : (1994) XXI Cr LT 298 (P & H) (DB).

The report was lodged by deceased's daughter promptly. Injury was found sufficient to cause death in ordinary course of nature. The presence of blood of the same group on kulhari and payajama of accused lend assurance to the case finding of trial Court that appellant committed the offence. No interference called for. Sahwag Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 (2) Crimes 621 (P & H).

Giving of one blow with pair of scissors on vital part of body infers that accused had knowledge that it would cause death though he may not have intended to commit murder and hence conviction falls under Section 304, Part II, IPC. Mavila Thamban Nambiar v. State of Kerala, 1997 (1) Crimes 72 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 687 : 1997(1) JT 367 : 1997(1) Scale 145 : 1997(1) Supreme 452.

In Sahen v. State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 401 (All) the circumstances which emerged in the prosecution evidence itself indicated that on account of accused having Manjha which could have gone to the deceased, some annoyance was cansed to the deceased who feeling aggrieved started abusing the accused and then both of them exchanged abuses and grappled with each other. In such a factual situation it could not be said with certainty that the accused had aimed the blow an a particular part of the body of the deceased and thereby had intended to cause injury which ultimately proved fatal. The held that the accused was guilty only under Section 304, Part I of the IPC.

3. Onus.—The onus is on the accused under Section 105 of Evidence Act of show that there were extenuating circumstances which reduced the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. AIR 1943 Pat 397 : 45 Cr LJ 213.

When accused and deceased being in drunken state quarrelled themselves and accused gave several stone blows on head of deceased, accused liable to be convicted under Section 304, IPC. Gayadhar Naik v. State of Orissa, 1997 Cri LJ 1950 (Ori).

Merely because there was a quarrel and accused persons claimed to have sustained injuries, that does not confer a right of private defence extending to the extent of causing death as in this case. Though such right cannot be weighed in golden scales, it has to be established that the accused persons were under such grave apprehension about the safety of their life and property that retaliation to the extent done was absolutely necessary. No evidence much less cogent and credible was adduced in this regard. The right of private defence as claimed by the accused has been rightly discarded.

It is to be noted that Heeralal has stated that the appellant had assaulted both legs, thigh and hands of the deceased with pharsa. He chopped both the legs of the deceased who died instantaneously. Beerbali's (P.W.5) evidence was also to similar effect.

In the instant case, in a brutal manner the appellant had chopped both legs of the deceased and with the weapon caused other injuries on the body of the deceased. Above being the position, there is no scope for interference in this appeal. Radhe v. State of Chhattisgarh, AIR 2008 SC 2878 : 2008 (10) SCR 110 (SC) : 2008 (11) SCC 785 : 2008 (7) JT 386 (SC) : 2008 (9) Scale 638 (SC) : 2008 (6) SLT 409 (SC) : 2008 (7) SRJ 174 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3520 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 928 : 2008 (3) JCC 2083 (SC).

Accused and deceased were together in car of accused during time in which deceased must have inhaled carbon monoxide which resulted in her death.

Sitting in the car, with all its window glasses closed and switching on the engine of the car and the air conditioner, either for taking some rest or for talking with anyone, by parking the car in the car shed with its door closed, with a view to have some privacy, is not uncommon. Therefore, no mens rea could be attributed against the accused in doing the said acts which do not constitute ingredients of any offence much less, the one under Section 304, Part II of IPC.

Further, it is the very case of the prosecution that the deceased and the accused were deeply in love with each other to the knowledge of their parents and other members of their respective families. It is also its further case that the accused and the deceased had decided to marry each other and the parents of both of them had consented to the same. Therefore, it could be not even be imagined that the accused could do or omit to do, any act, knowing fully that such act or omission could take away the life of the deceased.

In order to attribute against the accused, the knowledge required for the offence under Section 304, Part II of IPC the prosecution has to establish that he switched on the engine and the air conditioner while sitting with the deceased inside the car by parking it in his garage with its door and window closed, fully knowing that the engine of the car would emit carbon monoxide and the person inhaling the same would die. No material on record, collected by the I.O. during investigation, including the report as to Narco Analysis Examination performed on the accused, establishes that he did the said acts fully knowing that by doing so he was likely to cause inhalation of carbon monoxide by himself and the deceased and it could result in the death of the deceased.

Therefore, Court is of the considered opinion that even if entire material on record, including the statement of the accused made before CW 28, Dr. Malini, the Assistant Director of FSL, during his Narco Analysis Examination is accepted at its face value, it could not be held that the accused did any act or that he omitted to do any act, which, he was bound to do, and thereby caused inhalation of carbon monoxide by the deceased which resulted in her death. On the other hand, it is the case of the prosecution that the accused himself had inhaled carbon monoxide while sitting in the car along with the deceased talking to her and he made all the possible efforts bona fidely, which any one could have made under the said circumstances, in getting the life of the deceased saved. That being so, it could not be held that the death of the deceased was homicidal. If the accused had 'knowledge' that the engine would emit carbon monoxide which could be dangerous to human life, and that there was possibility of himself and the deceased inhaling the same and that its inhalation could result in any severe breathing problem, or death, he would never have chosen to sit in the car along with the deceased in that condition. Therefore, the contention of the Counsel for the respondent-CBI that when the accused himself felt breathlessness, he should be taken to have had the knowledge that if the deceased were not taken to the hospital for immediate treatment, she might die cannot be accepted.

In view of foregoing discussion, Court is of the considered opinion that the entire material on record collected by the Investigating Officer, even if taken as its face value, is not sufficient to come to conclusion that there is any ground for presuming that the accused has committed the offence under Section 304, Part II of IPC, so as to frame charge against him for the same. On the other hand, the said material shows that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused for the said offence and hence, the accused-petitioner deserves an order of discharge under Section 227, Criminal Procedure Code. Pradeep Kumar vs. State of Karnataka, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2672 (Kant).

The deceased was only a boy of 15 years and the accused was also in the threshold of youth at the relevant time. After perusing the evidence, it appears that there was no intention of murder, but then in course of punishing the deceased for his past conduct, the accused appears to have crossed the limit without knowing the consequence. Buchu alias Shyamsundar Hembram vs State of Orissa, 2010 Cri LJ 1070 (Orissa).

4. Sections 304 and 323.—Knowledge that the act was likely to cause death must be presumed. 1964 All Cr R 271 : 1964 All WR (HC) 292 ; AIR 1953 MB 262 : 1954 Cr LJ 6 ; AIR 1959 Ker 372 : 1959 Mad LJ (Cr) 641 : 1959 Cr LJ 1331 ; 39 Mys LJ 293 : 1961 (2) Cr LJ 515 ; ILR 1955 Patiala 399.

In F.I.R. no reference of injuries on accused side made—Allegation that the accused inflicted injury by pharsa on deceased—But medical report not indicating any pharsa injury—Origin of incident becoming doubtful—Statement of deceased under Section 161, Cr. P.C. cannot be reliable—Held, conviction not sustainable. With the background of the case it becomes highly doubtful as to whether the statement of the deceased as recorded by the Investigating Officer which might be admissible under Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act could and should be taken to be truthful statement at all. Firstly, that was a statement which had gone uncross-examined and secondly, four eye-witnesses who had tried to prove the prosecution case did not come out with any explanation of injuries of the accused inasmuch as they did not also explain the absence of pharsa injury on the deceased. Therefore, the said statement of deceased also does not hold the prosecution case and the trial Court had rightly refused to place reliance on the said testimony, may be on the ground that it was inadmissible in evidence because even its admissibility does not advance the prosecution case. Thus the entire prosecution story appears to be doubtful. The result is that it cannot be said that the prosecution has succeeded in proving the case against the appellant beyond reasonable doubt. Budhi v. State of U.P, (1994) 1 Crimes 966 at p. 970 (All).

Absence of common intention. Offence does not fall under Section 304. It falls under Section 323. Bharamarbar Prusty v. State of Orissa, (1995) 8 OCR 411 (Ori).

When accused gave a push on chest of deceased who fell down on stone resulting in death, there was no intention to cause any injury or damage to deceased on part of accused and hence offence under Section 323, IPC only is made out. Pichapillai v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3634 (Mad).

Where there was no evidence to prove that accused pushed deliberately to deceased from stair on stepping stone; conviction under Section 304, Part II was held to be altered to one under Section 325. Bakkiaraj v. State by Inspector of Police, 1997 Cri LJ 429 (Mad).

5. Sections 304 and 324.—The determination of the nature of offence depends necessarily on the answer to the question. What degree of injury should the accused be deemed in the circumstances of the case to have intended or to have known himself to likely to inflict as a result of the blow aimed at him. AIR 1947 All 132 : 1957 Cr LJ 336.

Complainant party already received compensation from Civil Court subsequent claim cannot be awarded. Once claim awarded no other relief. Jassa Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 115 : 1994 Cr LJ 916 (P & H).

After the incident, which occurred at about 6 or 7 a.m., by the time the deceased was taken to the hospital, there was a lapse of 6 to 6½ hours. Even after recording F.I.R at 8.15 a.m., it was more than five hours thereafter that the deceased reached the hospital. Thus the evidence on record rendered the version of P.Ws. 1 and 2 that the accused dealt blows on the chest of the deceased was held doubtful by the court which observed that "it is difficult to fathom as to at what point of time, the deceased might have received the injuries on the chest. The possibility of the deceased having received these injuries after the lodging of the F.I.R. at 8.15 a.m. and before he reached the hospital at about 1.30 p.m. cannot be ruled out."

In view of the above, the conviction of the accused for the offence punishable under Section 304 Part II, IPC cannot be sustained, but from the acceptable evidence of P.Ws. 1 and 2, what is proved beyond reasonable doubt is that the accused dealt blow with the spade on the head of the deceased, resulting in simple injury. These acts of the accused do constitute the offence under Section 324, I.P.C. In the result the appeal is allowed partly." Thathadi Appala Naidu v. The Inspector of Police Gagapathingaram Circle, 1999 Cri LJ 1186 (AP).

In a case the accused not being a Gynecologist pressed and squeezed stomach of complainants' wife thereby inducing delivery of child. The child was born alive, and was taken to clinic of child specialist where he died within 20 minutes. It was held that it could not be said that the accused undertake to conduct the delivery with the intention of causing such badly injury to the child as was likely to cause death of the child and, therefore, no prima facie case under Section 304-II of the IPC existed against the accused and the order framing charge under Section 304-II could not be sustained under law. (Dr.) Arun Dewangan v. State of Chhatisgarh, 2006 Cr LJ 1440 (Chattis).

6. Sections 304 and 325.—The line between culpable homicide not amounting to murder and grievous hurt is a very thin and subtle one. In the one case the injuries must be such as are likely to cause death ; in the other, the injuries must be such as endanger life. 223 IC 195 : 47 Cr LJ 378 : AIR 1946 Bom 38 (FB) ; see also AIR 1945 Lah 43 : 220 IC 325 ; see also AIR 1953 Trip 9 : 1954 Cr LJ 1516 ; AIR 1957 All 132 : 1957 Cr LJ 336 : 1956 All LJ 532 ; Madh Bh 1955 Cr 179 : 1955 HCR 1173.

7. Sections 304, Part I and 34.—A charge of common intention to commit culpable homicide not amounting to murder is absolutely unreal and in nearly every practical case must be ridiculous. It is difficult to suppose that two or three persons who have the right of private defence would even in real life have a sort of discussion to reach the common intention of exceeding that right. If a judge directs a jury that they can on certain facts bring in a verdict of a common intention to commit homicide not amounting to murder, under Section 304, Part I, read with Section 34, I.P. Code, a more confusing way of putting a case before a jury cannot be imagined. In such a case it is not enough for the Judge merely to explain the application of Section 34, I.P. Code, but he should deal with the evidence to point out what, if any, there is to support such a theory. Where this is not done. the conviction cannot be supported, 1LR (1937) 2 Cal 250 : 41 CWN 570. Where the injuries inflicted on person are not such as sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, but are merely injuries, which are likely to cause death, then the accused is guilty under Section 304. Part I and not under Part II. AIR 1953 All 189 : 1953 Cr LJ 455 ; see also 1965 (2) Cr LJ 331 : AIR 1965 All 417.

Part I of Section 304 applies to cases of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death if either it is not covered by clauses two and three of Section 300 or though so covered, falls with any of the exceptions. AIR 1957 SC 324 ; 1957 Cr LJ 420 ; AIR 1975 SC 179 : 1975 Cr LJ 243 ; AIR 1980 SC 267 : 1980 Cr LJ 211 ; AIR 1979 SC 1454.

The accused did not intend to cause death of the deceased. In the moments of anger he did cause such bodily injuries to her as were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The particular injury caused on the neck of the deceased by the appellant proved fatal. There might not be an intention of the accused to cause the death of the deceased by causing that bodily injury to her, but his act could have given him knowledge of the likely consequences of the act intentionally done by him. The act so done by him constituted the offence, punishable under section 304, Part I IPC. Jahid v. The State, 1999 Cri LJ 4430 (Raj).

During the marriage ceremony of the son of Parwati where the women folk, who were participating in the festivities, were teased by the deceased in an inebriated state. The resultant fall-out was the immediate response to the said incident with the intention of preserving the honour and dignity of the said women. It is on account of the said incident that subsequently the accused persons assaulted Ishwar and when he tried to run away, they chased him and on being caught, he was fatally injured by Anil @ Balli and Sucha Singh with knives. Although, it has been urged that the Appellants herein had knowledge that both Anil and Sucha Singh were carrying knives, the same is not borne out from the evidence and their role in the incident in chasing the victim and, thereafter, holding him, was more likely to teach him a lesson as was sought to be projected as his defence. In the absence of any common intention, the conviction of the Appellants under Section 302 with the aid of Section 34 cannot be sustained. It is no doubt true that the evidence of PW. 5 the complainant and PW. 7 another eye-witness was corroborated by the injuries on the body of the victim, but that by itself would not establish common intention as far as the appellants in the present appeal are concerned.

The role attributed to them would, in our view, attract the provisions of Section 304 Part I IPC and not Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC. The appeal as far as the appellants' conviction under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC must, therefore, succeed and their conviction must be altered to one under Section 304 Part I read with Section 34 IPC. Raju and Anr. vs. State of Haryana, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1924 (SC).

The fact that both accused came armed with guns and gunshots were fired from both the guns aiming the victim resulting in his death, necessarily means that both of them shared common intention to commit murder. Hence both the accused were guilty of an offence punishable under Section 302, read with Section 34, I.P.C. Chandrakant Mahadu Mhaire and others v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Bom CR 97.

The appellants co-shared the common intention with other co- accused who were incidentally his servants. Though benefit of doubt was extended to others and they were let off on technical grounds the same benefit cannot be extended to appellant against whom the case has been proved to the hilt. Sheo Shanker alias Chhotey v. State of U.P., 1995 UP Cr R 45 (All).

Offence fell under Section 304, I.P.C. It was alleged that 17 persons caused injuries with their respective weapons on different parts of the bodies of the deceased—15 was acquitted and two were convicted—Appeal was filed against the same. Whether conviction of two accused was not justified under Sections 304, Part II/34, I.P.C. Convictions under Sections 148 and 323/149, I.P.C. confirmed. Phani Bhushan Das v. State of West Bengal, (1994) 3 RCR 638 (SC) : 1994(6) JT 57 : AIR 1995 (SC) 70 : 1994(4) Scale 136 : 1995 Cr LJ 551.

When deceased was drunk with no enmity with accused who on quarrel regarding some payment inflicted a solitary gupti blow causing death, conviction under Section 304, Part I is proper. Kumar Nanaso Jadhav v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 8 (Bom).

When appellant and deceased were friends and quarrel arose over trivial matter in a liquor drinking party and knife injury inflicted on non-vital part i.e. thigh which resulted in fatal, offence is covered under Section 304, Part II, IPC. Radhey Shyam v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 (1) Crimes 337 (Raj).

When occurrence took place in sudden quarrel and in heat of passion death caused because of single hit by wooden log. There was no intention to cause death and conviction altered to one under Section 304, Part I, IPC. Perumal v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 1773 (Mad).

Considering the injury on the left anterior aspect of thorax in the intercostal space, just lateral to the left lateral border of the body of sternum and which was sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature, the offence committed by appellant would fall under Section 304, Part I of the Indian Penal Code. Gurkirpal Singh v. State of Punjab 1999 Cri LJ 2176 (P&H).

Non-examination of the fingerprint expert has not, in any way, affected the case of the prosecution because it has come on record that before the seizure of the weapon of offence many persons had handled it. Though the report of the Serologist is not available on the record, yet the report of the Chemical Analyser clearly and unequivocally shows that the clothes of the appellant and the weapon of offence were stained with human blood. Non ascertainability of the blood group cannot be made a basis to discard the evidence of the witnesses who otherwise inspire the confidence of the Court and are believed. No fault can be found with the judgment of the High Court by which the findings of the acquittal recorded by the trial Court were set aside. Keshavalal v. State of Madhya Pradesh AIR 2002 SC 1221 : 2002(3) SCC 254 : 2002(2) JT 628 : 2002(2) Scale 410 : 2002(2) Supreme 184 : 2002(2) Crimes 92 (SC).

8. Section 304 (2)—Applicability of.—Clause (2) applies when the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death but without any intention to cause death or to cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death. 1951 AWR (HC) 477 : 1951 ALJ 464 : (1951) 1 MLJ 675 ; 1952 Cr LJ 1271 : AIR 1952 Assam 157 ; AIR 1956 SC 116 : 1956 Cr LJ 29 . Camilo Vaz v. State of Goa, 2000 Crl. LJ 1816 (SC) see also 1963 (1) Cr LJ 762 : AIR 1963 HP 18. Where it was held that Part II comes into play when death is caused by doing an act with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death and when such act is the infliction of bodily injury that infliction must be intentional. 1963 (1) Cr LJ 762 : AIR 1963 HP 18 ; 1964 Cur LJ 74 : (1964) 2 Cr LJ 197 : AIR 1964 Punj 321 ; see also 30 Cut LT 556 ; AIR 1984 SC 759 : 1984 Cr LJ 478 (only one blow with knife—Incident occurring on spur of moment, the accused was held to be guilty of offence under Section 304, Part II). Part II applies to acts which are done without any intention to cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death but which are done with such knowledge AIR 1972 SC 855 : 1972 Cr LJ 582 ; see also AIR 1979 SCJ 1532 : 1939 Cr LJ 1135; AIR 1983 SC 529 : 1983 Cr LJ 961.

Accused and deceased were together in car of accused during time in which deceased must have inhaled carbon monoxide which resulted in her death.

Sitting in the car, with all its window glasses closed and switching on the engine of the car and the air conditioner, either for taking some rest or for talking with anyone, by parking the car in the car shed with its door closed, with a view to have some privacy, is not uncommon. Therefore, no mens rea could be attributed against the accused in doing the said acts which do not constitute ingredients of any offence much less, the one under Section 304, Part II of IPC.

Further, it is the very case of the prosecution that the deceased and the accused were deeply in love with each other to the knowledge of their parents and other members of their respective families. It is also its further case that the accused and the deceased had decided to marry each other and the parents of both of them had consented to the same. Therefore, it could be not even be imagined that the accused could do or omit to do, any act, knowing fully that such act or omission could take away the life of the deceased.

In order to attribute against the accused, the knowledge required for the offence under Section 304, Part II of IPC the prosecution has to establish that he switched on the engine and the air conditioner while sitting with the deceased inside the car by parking it in his garage with its door and window closed, fully knowing that the engine of the car would emit carbon monoxide and the person inhaling the same would die. No material on record, collected by the I.O. during investigation, including the report as to Narco Analysis Examination performed on the accused, establishes that he did the said acts fully knowing that by doing so he was likely to cause inhalation of carbon monoxide by himself and the deceased and it could result in the death of the deceased.

Therefore, Court is of the considered opinion that even if entire material on record, including the statement of the accused made before CW 28, Dr. Malini, the Assistant Director of FSL, during his Narco Analysis Examination is accepted at its face value, it could not be held that the accused did any act or that he omitted to do any act, which, he was bound to do, and thereby caused inhalation of carbon monoxide by the deceased which resulted in her death. On the other hand, it is the case of the prosecution that the accused himself had inhaled carbon monoxide while sitting in the car along with the deceased talking to her and he made all the possible efforts bona fidely, which any one could have made under the said circumstances, in getting the life of the deceased saved. That being so, it could not be held that the death of the deceased was homicidal. If the accused had 'knowledge' that the engine would emit carbon monoxide which could be dangerous to human life, and that there was possibility of himself and the deceased inhaling the same and that its inhalation could result in any severe breathing problem, or death, he would never have chosen to sit in the car along with the deceased in that condition. Therefore, the contention of the Counsel for the respondent-CBI that when the accused himself felt breathlessness, he should be taken to have had the knowledge that if the deceased were not taken to the hospital for immediate treatment, she might die cannot be accepted.

In view of foregoing discussion, Court is of the considered opinion that the entire material on record collected by the Investigating Officer, even if taken as its face value, is not sufficient to come to conclusion that there is any ground for presuming that the accused has committed the offence under Section 304, Part II of IPC, so as to frame charge against him for the same. On the other hand, the said material shows that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused for the said offence and hence, the accused-petitioner deserves an order of discharge under Section 227, Criminal Procedure Code. Pradeep Kumar vs. State of Karnataka, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2672 (Kant).

The High Court was right in altering the conviction from one under Section 302 to Section 304, Part II. having regard to the fact that the death occurred after 24 hours of inflicting injury and also the type of weapon used for causing the iniury Rakesh Singh v. State of H.P., 1996 Cr LJ 2311 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 3173 : 1996(4) JT 53 : 1996(9) SCC 89 : 1996(3) Scale 346 : 1996(3) Supreme 430.

In a Supreme Court case, the evidence on record showed that the accused picked up the gun, un locked it loaded it with cartridges and shot the gun from a close range of about 4/5 ft. aimed at chest of the deceased. The accused took plea that on the date of occurrence he had invited guests to attend the dinner and the deceased was one of them. He was heavily drunk. The accused dissuaded him from returning to his place and advised him to come on the next day. But the accused paid little heed. To scare the accused, the deceased picked up the gun lying there, loaded the same with blank cartridges which only create noise. But the deceased tried to snatch it from him. In the scuffle when the deceased pulled the barrel of the gun accidentally it got fired and the deceased sustained injuries on his chest. After seeing the injury, the accused was totally shocked and fled away. The after accused persons denied their involvement in the occurrence. In view of the scenario described by the prosecution witnesses and the evidence of ballistic expert, the offence committed by the accused was covered by Section 304, Part-II. Shankar Narayan Bhadalkar v. State, AIR 2004 SC 1966 : 2004 Cr LJ 1778 (SC) : 2004(3) JT 211 : 2004(3) Scale 78 : 2004(3) Supreme 652.

In a Jharkhand case, the accused gave single blow on the head of deceased with wooden bar which was lying at the spot resulting into his death. Deceased was not shifted to hospital immediately but was hospitalized next day thus he could have been saved by timely medical help. Intention to kill could not be inferred. Conviction of accused under Section 302 was altered to one under Section 304, Part-II. Mahendra Raut v. State of Bihar (New Jharkhand), 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 82 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 581 : 2003(3) JLJR 776.

The deceased asked the wife of the accused whether she had tea. The accused got irritated and inflicted severe blow with wooden block on head of deceased. The deceased succumbed to injuries after 18 hours, the court held that "I do not think that deceased committed any crime in asking the wife of the appellant whether she had tea. Even assuming that the appellant had been married recently and such a conduct of the deceased irritate him there was a limit to which he could go. It should be born in mind that just about an hour before fatally assaulting the deceased the appellant had locked him inside the room of his house and assaulted him with slippers. To inflict a sever blow with a wooden block on the head of the deceased for such an act, about an hour thereafter in my opinion, would not justify the substantive sentence of the appellant being reduced to the period already undergone, as contended by Mr. Marwadi. But be that as it may a sentence of 5 years R.I. on these facts is certainly excessive. I feel that considering the overall circumstances the ends of justice would be squarely satisfied if the substantive sentence of 5 years' R.I. awarded to the appellant is reduced to 2½ years, R.I. and he is directed to pay a fine of Rs. 2,500/- and to undergo 6 months R. I. In default."

The deceased went to the shop of the accused with a request to give him 9 lighted petromax and on the latter's refusal, there was exchange of words which was followed by a scuffle. The witness who happened to be in the shop intervened and separated them. A tea shop owner near the shop of the accused also reached the place of incident and held the deceased with a view to take him away. The accused who was then sitting on a stool, picked up a pair of scissors lying on the table in front of him and caused a step injury on the right side of the chest of accused. The accused again tried to inflict one more blow which landed on the right cheek of accused who thereafter fell down on the ground. It was held by the Hon'ble Apex Court that the offence of the appellant would more appropriately fall under section 304, Part II of the Indian Panel Code as the appellant had given one blow with a pair of scissors on the vital part of the body of deceased and therefore, it would be reasonable to infer that he had knowledge that any injury with the pair of scissors on the vital part would cause death though he may not have intended to commit the murder – Mavila Thamban Nambiar v. State of Kerala, 1997 SCC (Cri) 726 : 1997 Cri LJ 831 : AIR 1997 (SC) 687 : 1997(1) JT 367 : 1997(1) Scale 145 : 1997(1) Supreme 452.

The appellant had given one blow but the blow no doubt was quite severe, as a result of which the intestines had protruded out. The appellant had no animosity against the deceased and he was involved because of the altercations with PW.I- The scenario in which the appellant had been stated by the eye witnesses to have given one blow on the deceased, it could not be said that he gave the blow in question either with the intention of causing murder of the deceased or he can said to have the requisite knowledge that the death would otherwise be the inevitable result. In such a situation even on accepting the prosecution case, it was bold that the accused did not commit the offence under section 302 but under Part II of Section 304 IPC. K. Rama Krishnan Unithan v. State of Kerala, 1999 Cri LJ 2101 (SC) : AIR 1999 (SC) 1428 : 1999(3) SCC 309 : 1999(2) JT 235 : 1999(2) Scale 128 : 1999(3) Supreme 162.

The quarrel between the two took place all of a sudden and in the heat of the moment the appellant had picked the stove and had thrown it towards the deceased. Since the appellant had thrown a burning stove on the deceased he would have known that his act was likely to cause burns resulting in death. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case he can be said to have committed an offence under section 304 Part II, IPC. Hari Shankar v. State of Rajasthan, 1999 Cri LJ 2902 (SC) ; See also Mohan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2006 Cr LJ 1333 (Raj).

Accused is a Police Constable, who beat a fragile old man of 60 years weighing only 38 kg. The ribs of the deceased were broken, which resulted in his death. The court held that the case squarely fell within the ambit of section 304 Part-II IPC because he was presumed to intend the consequencies of his act. State of Kerala v. Balakrishan, 1999 Cri LJ 5038 (SC).

It was established by the prosecution that when deceased arrived, the accused picked up a stone and dropped it on his head from the roof of his house, from which it could be safely inferred that the accused had the knowledge that he by his said act was likely to cause death of deceased. The seizure memo indicated that it was a large stone weighing about 15 kilograms. Thus, from the size of the stone used in causing the injury and the manner in which it was thrown from the roof of the house on the deceased, there was clear indication that the accused fully knew that he by his said act was likely to cause death of deceased. Under these circumstances, the trial court had in no way erred in convicting the appellant of offence under Section 304, Part-II of the Indian Penal Code. Santosh v. State of M.P., 2000 Cri LJ 1140 (M.P.)

Accused made an attempt to end her life by jumping into well along with a female child in her lap. The child died in the incident. The accused had been suffering from colic pain right from the time of her delivery and even after her prolong treatment by village doctor she could get no relief from griping pain of belly. Taking into consideration the old illness of tuberculosis coupled with severe and continuous stomach pain.

general mental condition of the appellant was not normal, otherwise she would not have decided to carry on and die with her newly born baby. Her mental condition indicated that at the time of incident, she was gripped with an idea to end her life and also to end the life of the newly born baby so that she may not be starved to death without her mother. The offence of accused therefore, fell under the category of offence punishable under Section 304, Part II, I.P.C. The offence under Section 309, I.P.C. was also found proved against the accused. "Baijanti Bai v. State of M.P., 2000 Cri LJ 3253 (M.P.).

In State of U.P. v. Indrajeet, 2000 Cri LJ 4663 (SC). The accused a carpenter by profession caused injuries by using implement used in carpentary which is not really such a deadly weapon so as to cause per se any serious wound or a grievous hurt or injury to the victim. Of the two injuries found inflicted on the body of the victim, only one was found to be a serious one, which was considered in the normal course to be sufficient to cause death. Though the intrusion into the hut by the respondent in the early hours of the morning may be construed to be with a sinister intention or purpose, out from the type of the weapon he was carrying, it could not be either reasonably or legitimately postulated that it was with the intention of committing the murder of the victim or inflicting upon the victim such a grave, serious injury sufficient to cause her death, particularly when he would be fully aware of the fact that in the hut the father and the mother of the deceased would also be present at that time. Apart from any positive motive being either attributed in the case, or alleged or proved by the prosecution, there was no clinching circumstance or evidence to reasonably establish the culpability of the accused for a charge of murder. Absence of intention to cause the death coupled with the lack of knowledge that death would be inevitably cause on account of the injury would make the offence fall only under Section 304, Part II, IPC, and not under Section 302, IPC. Consequently, in the absence of any motive or intention to kill and having regard to the type of weapon used and the number as well as the nature of injuries found inflicted, the case on hand could not appropriately be said to be one warranting the application of Section 302, IPC.

There was a scuffle between the deceased and appellant, which lasted only for five minutes as per the evidence of informant and in which, admittedly, only one blow by chhura was given by the appellant. In view of these facts it cannot be inferred that there was pre-meditation for committing the murder of deceased and the appellant inflicted single injury by chhura with the intention of causing of death of the deceased. The possibility of giving chhura blow by the appellant by whipping out a chhura from his waist to the deceased in the heat of passion and in agitated mental state which was the result of provocation caused to him by the verdict of panchayati which went in favour of the deceased with whom he had stranged relations cannot be ruled out. So Section 304 Part II was held attracted. Paras Kumar v. State of Bihar, 2000 Cri LJ 112 (Pat.).

All the appellants were armed with sharp edged weapons. Each one of them could have beheaded the deceased by using the sharp side. They did not even use it from that side. In fact, not a drop of blood was shed. Not even an abrasion was caused. It was the prosecution's own case that each one of them had used the weapon from the blunt side. Still further, the weapons were not wielded with full force. One blow with full force could have smashed the skull or at least caused a crack in the cranium. The statement of doctor showed that the injuries to the deceased could be the result of these weapons if used lightly. He further clarified that chances were very rare that such injuries being caused by forceful blow with the heavy blunt weapon. No fracture of the skull was caused. The use of the weapons from the blunt side and that too without applying full force indicated that the appellant did not have the intention to cause death or to inflict injuries which may be sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course. It was to teach him a lesson for having complained to the Panchayat. The case fell within the purview of Section 304 Part II. Dev Singh v. State of Punjab, 2000 Cri LJ 347 (P&H).

It had not been spelt out in evidence as to which injury was caused to the deceased by the accused individually or who was the author of the fatal blow dealt to the deceased. But the fact remained that the appellants, armed with danda, lathi, had participated in the incident. It was said that the occurrence took place on account of some minor incident which had taken place earlier in the day time between the deceased on the one hand and the accused. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case, the intention of the accused could only have been to cause injuries to the deceased and they did not share any common intention to cause death of the deceased. The conviction of the accused was altered from one under Section 302 of the IPC to one under Section 304, Part II read with Section 34 of the IPC. Martam Sinku v. State of Bihar, 1999 Cri LJ 4159 (Pat.).

In Sanjay Goel v. State of U.P. 2002 Cri LJ 625 (All) the accused was in love with the deceased and wanted to marry her. The deceased came in contact with another boy and was gradually developing a cold feet towards the accused. The accused managed to meet the deceased in her room in hostel at Kanpur and was there for three hours prior to occurrence. But accused and the deceased consumed arsenic poison purchased by the accused. The deceased died but the accused survived on account of his strong physique and vomitting. Administration of person by accused to the deceased was not established. The Hon'ble High Court after going through the evidence made the following observations :—

"In the circumstances we are of the opinion that this is not a case of murder or homicide but is a case of an attempt to commit sucide by both. As we have already come to the conclusion that it was the appellant who had successfully persuaded the victim Mamta to be a party to his desire to end their lives, therefore the knowledge that the death as a result of this conjoint effort of both or anyone of them may occur cannot be excluded in the circumstances of the case. From the evidence it is apparent that she was naive and lacked enough will power to resist this appellant.

The evidence further shows that her parents were reluctant to this relationship. Thus, there is every possibility of this appellant having prevailed on her and they both accordingly consumed poison. In the end we find the appellant guilty of the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder under the second category because the knowledge that it will result in her death was very much present there. Since we have come to the conclusion that she succumbed to him as a result of an artful persuasion of the appellant for which he had sufficient time, calm and peace present in the surrounding, the deceased being a gullible partner to his personality, therefore, we hold the appellant guilty for the above offence."

9. Section 304 Part II and Section 34.—In AIR 1950 Pesh, 24, Mohd. Shafi, J. observed : "Common intention should not be mixed up with 'common object' in Section 149, Penal Code. Both are not in any way synonymous. Under Section 149, Penal Code a person who is a member of an unlawful assembly is guilty of the offence committed by another member of the unlawful assembly, although he had no intention to do it because it is done in the prosecution of the common object of the assembly of which both were members. Similarly the 'same' or 'similar' intention should not be confused with common intention. The dividing line between the two as pointed out by their Lordships of the Privy Council in AIR 1945 PC 118 : 46 Cr LJ 689, is very thin, yet is very material and substantial. A person in doing an act may have the same or similar intention with another person doing the same act, yet he may not have a common intention with him so as to invoke the aid of Section 34, Penal Code, in convicting him. In the latter case, there is always an element of pre-planning before an act is actually done between two or more persons. Under Section 299, Penal Code, if any person causes death by doing an act with the intention of causing death, or with the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, or with the knowledge that he likely by the act to cause death, commits an offence of culpable homicide. Under Section 300, IPC culpable homicide is murder if the act by which death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or secondly, if it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause death of a person to whom the harm is caused : or thirdly, if it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, or, if the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must in all probability cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such bodily injury as above said. Culpable homicide is not murder, if the offender whilst deprived of the power of self-control by grave and sudden provocation, causes the death of the person who gave the provocation, or causes the death of any other person by mistake or accident, if the offender, in the exercise in good faith of the right of the private defence of person or property, exceeds the power given to him by law and causes the death of the person against whom he is exercising such right of defence without premeditation, and without any intention of doing more harm than is necessary for the purpose of such defence, if the offender, being a public servant or aiding a public servant for the advancement of public justice, exceeds the powers given to him by law, and causes death by doing an act which, in good faith, believes to be lawful and necessary for the due discharge of his duty as such public servant and without ill will towards the person, whose death is caused, and lastly, if it is committed without presumption in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender, having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. If culpable homicide is murder, it is punishable under Section 302, Penal Code, if it is not, it is punishable under Section 304 (Part II), Penal Code.

If however, the person committing an act which results in the death of another person does it with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death but without any intention to cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, he is guilty under Section 304 (Part II), Penal Code. Since the element of intention is missing in the last mentioned case, the question of two or more persons having a common intention does not at all arise. It is, therefore, that the majority of the High Courts in pre-partitioned India including this High Court AIR 1942 Pesh 51 : 43 Cr LJ 766, have held that Section 34, Penal Code, will in no case apply to an offence falling under Section 304 (Part II), Penal Code. No hard and fast rule, however, can be laid down as regards the application of Section 34, Penal Code, to an offence falling under Part I of Section 304 Penal Code. Every case shall have to be decided on its own merits. Reading the two parts of Section 304, Penal Code, together one is led to irresistible conclusion that while the intention to commit the death is missing from the second part, it is very much present in the first, and when a person commits the death of another person even if he may be unavoidably driven to it, can have common intention with another person committing the death under the same compulsion. It is true that some cases in which a person commits the death of another person, without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender's having taken undue advantage or acted in an unusual manner, he may have same or similar intention with another person, but not the common intention, yet the possibility of his common intention with another person developing during the course of the event cannot altogether to be excluded".

In a Full Bench case of the Allahabad High Court reported in AIR 1951 All 21 (FB), the question referred to the Full Bench was, "Whether it is possible to convict an accused person of an offence under Section 304. Part II, read with Section 34, Penal Code" In answering the question in the affirmative, Wali Ullah, J., said. "On a comprehensive and careful review of the authorities referred to above and, in particular the provisions of the group of sections beginning with Section 32 and ending with Section 38, Penal Code, it is clear to my mind, that the. expressions "common intention" and "in furtherance of common intention of all", in Section 34 must be interpreted against the background afforded by the basic principles of the sections of group. If "common intention" be limited to what is known as mens rea or guilty mind, necessary for the constitution of the crime, actually committed, it would undoubtedly make the basic principle contained in Sections 35, 37 and 38 unworkable. It seems to me, therefore, that the legislature intended that the two expressions in Section 34 must be interpreted in a wide sense so as to cover even a case where more persons treat the one act in a co-operative spirit, but not with an intention shared by all to commit a particular crime......Section 34 no where says that all persons who are acting in pursuance of a common plan are necessarily guilty of the same offence. The common intention animating all those who are acting in concert within the meaning of Section 34 must, therefore, be an intention to do particular criminal act or bring about a particular result, not necessarily the act or the result which constitutes the crime charged. Here the word 'intention' is used in a much wider sense and is not confined to what is described a volitional intention, i.e., something willed and therefore intended.....

"I now come back to the specific question which we have to answer, viz., whether it is possible to convict an accused person of an offence under Section 304, Part II, read with Section 34, Penal Code. Section 304, Part II, Penal Code, provides punishment for culpable homicide not amounting to murder when such an offence is committed without intention either to cause death or to cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, but is committed by doing an act with knowledge that it is likely to cause death. If Section 34 be interpreted as I have endeavoured to do, it seems to me that there is no difficulty in punishing with its aid a number of person under Section 304, Part II. If the common intention of Section 34 is not necessarily confined to an intention to commit the very crime with which the accused is charged, a number of persons may act in pursuance of a common intention with this result that the doer of a particular part would, be deemed to be the doer of the whole and, if any or all persons participating in the action is or are shown to have a knowledge that the act is done either singly or jointly with others is likely to bring about death, every such person can be punished under Section 304, Part II. There is no possible conflict between the kind of knowledge contemplated by Section 304 Part II, and the kind of common intention contemplated by Section 34 in pursuance of which the group of persons in question started the operation. As mentioned above, the axiom laid down by Section 34 and the basic principle running through Sections 35, 36, 37 and 38 mean only this that any one of the joint participators in the act is to be deemed to be the doer of the entire act". The Full Bench thus answered the question in the affirmative. "We therefore answer the first question in the affirmative and hold that it is possible to convict a person of an offence under Section 304, Part II read with Section 34, Penal Code, provided the Court is of opinion that each person taking part in committing the crime in furtherance of the common intention of all had knowledge that this act was likely to cause death." The following cases have been overruled by the above Full Bench case, namely, AIR 1943 All 271 : AIR 1936 All 437 ; 29 All 282 : 5 Cr LJ 130 ; 40 All 103 : 43 IC 438 : 1887 AWN 236 and 13 Cr LJ 265 : 9 ALJ 180.

In AIR 1950 Ass 98, Thadair, C.J., observed : "The question whether in point of law. Section 34, Penal Code, applies to a case where accused persons are charged with and found guilty under Section 304, Part II, Penal Code, came up before a Division Bench of the Calcutta High Court reported in AIR 1944 Cal 339 : 45 Cr LJ 771. Lodge and Dass, JJ., differed, Khondkar, J. agreed with Lodge, J., and referred to the case reported in 31 CWN 314 : AIR 1927 Cal 324 : 28 Cr LJ 334. in which the following observations were made. There is yet another objection to the charges and verdict. It is that Section 34, which is based on a common intention, cannot possibly be used in Part II of Section 304, which expressly excludes intention. Personally I do not think that it could be used with part I either except possibly in a very rare case...... With reference to these observations, Lodge. J., remarked. 'With great respect to the learned Judge, I am not quite able to discover whether he did or did not discuss it or give any reason for his decision. But it is clear from a perusal of the judgment that the learned Judge decided the case upon other consideration and that the decision of that case did hot depend on the interpretation of Section 34. The learned Judge's remarks, therefore, on the applicability of Section 34 to Section 304, Part II may be considered as obiter dicta......Though the question of the true interpretation of Section 34 has been considered in many reported cases. In the majority of those cases, the term 'criminal act' was examined and the Courts did not attempt to explain the meaning of the phrase in furtherance of the common intention of all........In the result therefore, I hold that there is no difficulty in applying Sections 34 and 35 to cases of culpable homicide punishable under Section 304(2)'. with great respect we think, the view taken by Lodge and Khondkar, J., is right". In the above case Khondkar J., observed :

"It follows that, as already indicated, I cannot concur with my brother Das in view that the principle of Section 34 can never be applied to an offence punishable under the Second Part of Section 304". "He came to this conclusion by giving the words 'common intention' occurring in Section 34 a meaning varying with the facts of each case. In his view 'common intention' referred to in Section 34 could not be given a constant connotation. It varied with the facts of each particular case. In this view of the matter.

he could not hold that Section 34 could never be applied to an offence punishable under Section 304, Part II. He however made certain observations which considerably reduced the scope of the applicability of Section 34 to cases falling under Section 304, Part II. His observations are as follows:

'Before I have this subject, however, I ought to add that I am inclined to endorse the observations of Henderson, J, that in actual facts, cases in which the principle enunciated in Section 34 can be applied to an offence punishable under Part II of Section 304, are not of very frequent occurrence. Cases of the type out of which the appeals here dealt with have arisen, are really cases in which the offence committed is in fact murder punishable under Section 302. In order to allay the qualms of juries who, in this province, are notoriously averse to returning affirmative verdicts of capital charges, Judges frequently go to the artificial length, in leaving open an avenue to a verdict under Section 304, Part II, where the evidence shows that it is either murder or nothing". All the reported cases on this point have been referred to and discussed by Full Bench of the Allahabad High Court in the case reported in AIR 1951 All 21 : 1950 ALJ 802. A particular knowledge is an essential ingredient of the offence under Section 304, Part II unless a Court records a finding that each person taking part in committing the crime in furtherance of the common intention of all, had the knowledge that their act was likely to cause death. The accused cannot be rightly held guilty under Section 304, latter part. AIR 1953 All 491 : 1953 Cr LJ 1111 : 1953 ALJ 346. It is logically wrong to hold that Section 34 can never be applied to a case under the 2nd part of Section 304, 1953 Cr LJ 1815 : AIR 1953 Punj 262.

Deceased in her dying declaration, had attributed acts of carrying vessel containing acid and throwing content thereof on her only to accused. Both accused were demanding illicit body relations with her as also entering into her house.

It cannot be said with certainty that co-accused had accompanied main accused to house of deceased with common intention to commit murder. Appellant is, therefore, liable to be convicted under Sections 326 and 304, Part II and not under Section 300.

In absence of any active role played by the appellant or overt act being done by the appellant it cannot be said with certainty that the appellant had accompanied the main accused to the house of the deceased with a common intention to murder the deceased. In view thereof, the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC cannot be sustained.

It can be said with certainty that the appellant had the intention to inflict bodily harm on the deceased otherwise the appellant would not have accompanied the main accused to the house of the deceased. Since the appellant was present at the scene of occurrence and simply watched the main accused throwing acid on the deceased without preventing the accused from doing so clearly establishes that the appellant had intended to cause injury to and also disfigurement of the deceased and as such is liable to be punished under Section 326 IPC. Also since the appellant could be said to be possessing knowledge that the throwing of acid is likely to cause death of the deceased, a case under Section 304 Part II is also made out. Bengai Mandal alias Begai Mandal vs. State of Bihar, AIR 2010 SC 686.

Deceased in her dying declaration, had attributed acts of carrying vessel containing acid and throwing content thereof on her only to accused No. Both accused were demanding illicit body relations with her as also entering into her house.

It cannot be said with certainty that co-accused had accompanied main accused to house of deceased with common intention to commit murder. Appellant is, therefore, liable to be convicted under Secs. 326 and 304, Part II and not under Sec. 300.

In absence of any active role played by the appellant or overt act being done by the appellant it cannot be said with certainty that the appellant had accompanied the main accused to the house of the deceased with a common intention to murder the deceased. In view thereof, the conviction of the appellant under Sec. 302 read with Sec. 34 IPC cannot be sustained.

It can be said with certainty that the appellant had the intention to inflict bodily harm on the deceased otherwise the appellant would not have accompanied the main accused to the house of the deceased. Since the appellant was present at the scene of occurrence and simply watched the main accused throwing acid on the deceased without preventing the accused from doing so clearly establishes that the appellant had intended to cause injury to and also disfigurement of the deceased and as such is liable to be punished under Sec. 326 IPC. Also since the appellant could be said to be possessing knowledge that the throwing of acid is likely to cause death of the deceased, a case under Sec. 304 Part II is also made out. Bengai Mandal alias Begai Mandal vs. State of Bihar, AIR 2010 SC 686.

A conviction under Section 304, Part II read with Section 34 is legal and valid. Part II of Section 304. can be read together with Section 34, notwithstanding that Part II of Section 304 speaks only of knowledge while Section 34 deals with common intention. It is an error to view that Section 304 is divorced from common intention whatsoever, (1964) 1 SCWR 344 : (1964) 2 SCA 656 : 1964 (2) Cr LJ 350 : (1964) Cr LJ (SC) 152 : 1964 All Cr 187 : AIR 1964 SC 1263 ; see also AIR 1960 Punj 310 : 1960 Cr LJ 851. If the result of beating is death of the victim and if the beating was done by a group of persons in furtherance of the common intention and if each of the assailants possess the knowledge of that the beating is likely to cause death, the offence would come under Section 304, read with Section 34, I.P.C., 1975 Cr LJ 789.

The accused persons (A-3 and A-4) took picked up a quarrel with PW1, PW2 and deceased. Though the deceased and PW1 and PW2 ignored the assault and proceeded further the said accused persons chased them and took up a quarrel again. Accused No. 1 came there along with others and used violence and injuries were caused to deceased due to which he ultimately died. It was held that it was a clear case of doing a criminal act in furtherance of the common intention and convicting the accused for the offence under Section 304-II read with Section 34, IPC, no error of law had been committed. Saravanan v. State of Pondicherry, 2005 Cr LJ 117 (SC) : 2005(1) SCJ 54 : AIR 2005 (SC) 57 : 2005 SCC Cr 161 : 2004(2) Crimes 323 (SC) : 2004(8) Supreme 98.

The High Court acquitted one of accused convicted of the offence of murder by the Sessions Court as he made a gift of three acres of land in favour of the widow of the deceased as compensation on account of the loss of life of husband and converted the conviction of another accused from Section 302 to Section 304A, the order of the High Court would be liable to be set aside. AIR 1984 SC 1029 : 1984 Cr LJ 832.

In a case, death was caused by an axe and it was done in retaliation of an earlier incident between accused and deceased's son. The doctor confirmed the homicidal death but he did not say anything about sufficiency of injury causing death in the ordinary course of nature. It was held that the offence fell under Section 304, Part-II. Surjan Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 233 (MP).

When it was case of single knife blow and deceased did not die instantaneously conviction falls under Section 304, Part II, IPC. Kripasing Sheetala Prasad Srivastava v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 (1) Crimes 38 (Bom).

The death was due to hemorrhage and shock resulting from the injury. But there are other circumstances also that have to be taken care of. It transpires in the statement of injured Braham Prakash, P.W.3 that accused Devinder Singh had given knife blow. He had suddenly taken out the knife and caused only one injury. He did not care to repeat the same. It was towards the back side of the chest. These facts clearly show that there was not the intention but one can say that it likely to cause death without intention to cause death. Therefore, Devinder Singh must be held guilty of the offence punishable under Section 304, Part II of the Indian Penal Code. Prithvey Singh v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 2874 (Del.) : 2002(2) Cur Cri R 36 : 2002(96) DLT 785.

Keeping in view the medical evidence, and the nature and manner of assault on the deceased as emerging from eyewitness account of the three eyewitnesses, the High Court was well justified in holding that respondents Nos. 2 to 11 could be held guilty of the offence of murder and that their offence could only be culpable homicide not amounting to murder, punishable under Section 304, Part II, IPC, because all of them could be attributed with the knowledge that injuries caused by them were likely to result in the death of the injured. The view taken by the High Court is sound and suffers from no error. It is a reasonable view based on proper appreciation of evidence. Kripal Singh v. State of Madhya Pradesh and Others, AIR 2002 SC 2547 : 2001(10) JT 341 : 2002(3) Supreme 89 : 2002(2) Crimes 166 (SC).

From the evidence of PW1 it appears that both the accused and the deceased were in a friendly mood when one asked for a glass of juice from the other. Shortly thereafter while the deceased has left the shop of PW1, the accused went behind and gave the blow in question and further, the blow in question had been given from the back side and only a single blow had been given. In these circumstances, it is difficult for us to hold that the accused can be said to have had the necessary intention for causing the murder of the deceased while giving the blow in question, though ultimately the blow had become fatal. We, therefore, set aside the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 and convict him under Section 304, Part II and sentences him to imprisonment for 5 years.

Deshraj Yadav v. State of M.P., 2002 Cri.LJ. 407. M.P. So far as quantum of punishment is concerned, the plea of learned counsel was that the accused is in custody since 19.9.1997 and may be sentenced for the period he has already undergone. Learned counsel submitted that even the Apex Court in a spate of judgments has awarded by and large five years imprisonment for offence under Section 304, Part II, IPC. He being a family member of the deceased may be considered sympathetically. Learned Public Prosecutor opposed it.

Held also punishment shall be commensurate to the crime. Even if a crime is committed with a close member of the family that by itself will not be considered as a mitigating circumstance. Misguided leniency encourages a criminal and the society suffers and plea for reduction in view of delay or accused having married and settled was not found to be tenable ground by the Apex Court for an offence under Section307, IPC vide judgment in 1995 Supp (3) SCC 686: (AIR 1996 SC 546.) Chinadural v. State of Thaminl Nadu. Sentencing requires care and caution. Umed Singh v. State of Rajasthan. 2002 Cri LJ414 Raj. H.C.

The inadequacy as well as excessive harshness of the sentences both are detrimental to the interest of the Society, inasmuch as it should be guided by the intention of the court to afford an accused an opportunity to reform himself. It becomes necessary all the more in the cases of this nature. Bearing in mind the principles and the fact that the learned Additional Sessions Judge has failed in complying with the provisions of Section 235(2) of the CrPC in the present case, we are invested with an obligation to apply ourselves decisively and effectively to inflict a sentence upon this appellant which may not either suffer from leniency or harshness, it should tend towards efficacious and legitimately genuine sentence. Sanjay Goel v. State of U.P. 2002 Cri LJ 625 (All) : 2001 All LJ 2713 : 2001(3) All Cri R 2389 : 2002(1) Rce Cri R 356.

Where it was contended that the case is covered under Section 304. Part II, I.P.C. and not under Section 302, because there is nothing on the record to show that the appellant had the intention of causing death or causing such bodily injuries as were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. There was merit in this submission. The injuries were caused by rubber belt and also by bamboo stick. None of the injuries except injury No 4. were sufficient in the ordinary cause of nature to cause death. There is nothing on record to show how injury No 4. was caused except the statement of S.I. Bijoy P.W.22 the investigation the appellant disclosed to him that in the process of assault the head of the victim happened to hit the cot as a result of which she died. As such, the case is covered under Section 304, Part II IPC. Udai Man Gurung. v. State of Sikkim, 2002 Cri LJ 691, Sikkim. H.C. : 2001(3) Crimes 364.

10. Cases.—If in case it is difficult to determine whether the offence proved to have been committed by the accused is culpable homicide or murder, the proper course is to convict the accused of the lesser offence. LBR (1872-1892), 459. Where a sweeper had been appointed as a Rakha by a Jat to watch his crops of gram and on account of the former stealing the staff quarrel ensued and he was strangled to death by the latter. Held, that the culprit was guilty of no offence punishable by the second part of Section 304, I.P. Code, and a sentence of 4 year's rigorous imprisonment was quite sufficient. 6 PWR 1913 Cr : 66 PLR 1912 : 15 Ind Cas 318 : 13 Cr LJ 478. In a case of culpable homicide, when a man is killed by a blow, the intention of the accused is a presumption of law. He is presumed to have intended the natural and necessary consequence of his act, even if he is drunk. 12 Cr LJ 524 : 12 Ind Cas 292 : 4 Bur LJ 252 ; 1923 Lah 516. Where the accused threw his stick at the deceased with such force that it hit him in the head with the point and made a punctured wound which caused his death, held, that the accused was not liable to be punished under Section 304A, because injury was intentionally caused to the deceased. Rat Un Cr C 673. A person cannot be convicted under this section on mere probability. Rat Un Cr C 636 : Cr Reg 4 of 1894. The prisoner, a fully developed adult man, was charged with causing the death of his wife a girl about eleven years and three months. The death was caused by haemorrhage from a laceration in the upper part of the vagina caused by the prisoner having sexual intercourse with her. Held, that the prisoner was guilty of an offence, under Section 338 and not under Sections 304, 304A or 325 of the Penal Code. 18 Cal 49.

Where the accused found his sister having illicit connection with another man and in a sudden passion killed them both on the spot, held, that the accused received very grave and sudden provocation, sufficient to reduce the case to a culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 18 All 497 : AWN 1896. 161. Where there was a fight between the deceased and the accused, but the deceased struck the first blow, and no motive sufficient to induce the accused to deliberately murder the deceased was proved, held, that the accused were guilty of culpable homicide only though the deceased died as a result of the injuries inflicted by the accused. 5 MLT 207 : 4 Ind Cas 1116. Conviction in alternative under Secs. 325 and 304. Part II, is not proper AIR 1933 Lah 865 : 1933 Cr C 1112 : 146 Ind Cas 221. Where the accused, the Jail Superintendent, on being attacked with shoe by prisoner thrusted wooden substance in his rectum which caused his death, he is guilty of offence under Sec. 304 (2) and not under Sec. 325. AIR 1932 Lah 199 : 1932 CrC 220 : 33 PLR 49 : 33 CrLJ 365 Ind Cas 729. Where the accused kills a woman above 18 years with her consent, he is guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. AIR 1931 Mad 436 : 60 MLJ 616 : 32 Cr LJ 659 : 54 M 504.

Where the deceased met his death in an affray and the evidence given in the Court is obviously not reliable and the medical evidence shows that there was only one long cut on the body of the deceased and it could not possibly be determined who caused it, a conviction under Section 304. I.P.Code, cannot be sustained. 165 Ind Cas 889 : 38 Cr LJ 89. The punishment to be inflicted for an offence under Section 304, for murder of the adulterer caused by sudden provocation by the husband of the woman is discretionary. The principal object in view by which the Courts should be guided is a sufficient determent punishment. UBR (1892-1896) Vol. I, 1213.

The High Court has noted that from the side of the complainant which includes deceased also, five persons have received in total as many as 15 injuries. The main injury on the head of the deceased has been attributed to A1. Similarly, Gulam Rasul, Jan Mohammad son of Sultan and another Jan Mohammad, have also received wounds on the head. Injury on the head of Gulam Rasul was an incised wound caused by a Farsa. Jan Mohammad son of Sultan had received an incised wound on the head. The other Jan Mohammed had received lacerated wound on the head. The other injuries on the persons of all the other injured persons are in the shape of bruises or lacerated injuries most of which have been caused by lathies.

The prosecution evidence clearly shows that the common object of the unlawful assembly was to commit the murder of Habib and it was not just an assembly at a particular point of time where the accused persons had assembled with Frasa and lathis in order to cause injury on the complainant including Habib-deceased who had gone for filing nomination papers for the Panchayat election.

The High Court found that the purpose of the unlawful assembly was to stop Habib, his brother Gulam Rasul and their supporter from either contesting the election or supporting the persons who filed the nomination. They were all present near the gate of the school where the nomination papers were to be filed. Both the trial Court and High Court have on analyses of the evidence come to hold that all the accused persons had formed an unlawful assembly armed with weapons which were likely to cause death and, therefore, conviction under Sec. 148 IPC and application of Sec. 149, IPC does not suffer from any infirmity. Siri Kishan vs. State of Haryana, 2009 (12) SCC 757 : 2009 (8) JT 305 : 2009 (6) SCR 1184 : 2009 (6) Scale 438.

In a case in a scuffle between accused and deceased over parking of three wheeler scooter, accused took out his pistol and fired at the deceased. The bullet missed deceased and instead hit thigh of a prosecution witness. Accused fired again and bullet hit the deceased killing him there only. Held, defence plea of trigger being pressed intentionally second time during course of scuffle was unacceptable. The accused was guilty of offence under Section 304-II and not under Section 302, IPC. Exception I to Section 300 IPC applied. Sukhdev Singh v. Delhi State (Govt. of NCT of Delhi), 2003 Cr LJ 4315 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 1714 : 2003(7) SCC 441 : 2003(7) Scale 102 : 2003(5) SLT 134.

In an Orissa case during the fight accused went to his house, brought a knife and stabbed the deceased to death. He knew that the injury caused him may cause the death but he had no intention to do this. The accused was convicted under Section 304, Part-II. Purandar Mirdha v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 210 (Orissa).

In a Gauhati case, the incident had taken place due to quarrel between two ladies and other witnesses had intervened in the matter in order to stop the fighting. The accused had given a single injury on head of the deceased. It was held that the accused had committed an offence under Section 304, Part-II. Manik Das v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 225 (Gau) : 2003(3) Gauhati GAU LR 526.

The assault was made with spear on the abdomen and chest and victim died a week after the incident due to Septicaemia. The accused wanted to cause only grievous hurt as he was in position to cause instantaneous death but had left the place after being persuaded by his wife. It was held that accused was liable to be convicted under Section 304. Shanmugam v. State of Tamil Nadu, 2003 Cr LJ 418 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 209 : 2002(10) SCC 4 : 2003(1) Crimes 123 (SC) : 2003 SCC (Cr) 1501 : 2002(8) Supreme 243. The accused assaulted the deceased when he refused to do plantation of paddy seeding in his field. Here none of injuries were aimed at vital part of body as there was no intention to cause the death but cumulative injuries were sufficient to cause death. Shiv Murit Upadhyaya v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1109 (All) : 2003(46) ACC 123 (All) : 2003 All LJ 172 : 2003(46) All Cri C 123 : 2002(3) All Cri R 2987.

Accused a constable allegedly assaulted informant with fists, slaps and danda when he refused to pay for his drinks. Accused fired from his rifle when the neighbouring shop-keeping and passers be assembled and protested for his high handed behaviour. As a result the fire from his rifle hit a woman who died in course of treatment. Medical evidence corroborated prosecution version. Statement of eye-witnesses were reliable though there were minor contradiction in their statements. Prosecution case was proved beyond doubt. Conviction of accused under Section 304-II was held proper. Radha Kumar v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 4925 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 991 : 2004(1) East Cri C 358 : 2003(3) JLJR 285.

Where death results from a violent attack the accused should be convicted to the Court of Session on a charge of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 1 CLR 141. When a Judge convicts on a charge of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, he should state under which of the Exception of Section 300, Penal Code, the case falls. I Agra Cr 3. The Judge in this case did not find that the accused intended to cause death nor was it found that the act was done with the intention of causing any particular bodily injury as the offender knew to be likely to cause death, nor that the offender knew that it must in all probability cause death or such bodily injury as was likely to cause death. In view of the facts above stated the offence was held to fall unde Section 304, I.P. Code. UBR (1892-1896) Vol. 1. 215 ; see also UBR (1892-1896) Vol. 1 211 ; 6 PLR 1903 : 30 PR 1932 Cr ; AWN 1898, 163 ; 27 PR 1883 Cr ; 1 Weir 299. The accused rushed wildly into a house and without considering the consequences attacked his mother-in-law, a woman of fifty-five with a dah and by mistake cut another woman of sixty-one on the arm, and died of the shock by the cut. The wound was not such as would ordinarily cause the death of a woman of that age. Held, that he committed only culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 4 LBR 257 : 9 Cr LJ 364. The deceased having enticed away a married woman, the father and the husband of the woman armed with stick waited for him on the road by which he was expected to pass, and gave him blows on the chest and back, but refrained from hitting him above the head held, that the accused were liable to be convicted under Section 304 (2). 10 PR 1890 Cr. Where a person snatches up a log of heavy wood, and strikes another with it on a vital part with so much force and vindictiveness as to cause that person's death almost on the spot, that act must be held to have been done with the knowledge that it was likely to cause death; but if the act is done without forethought, in the heat of passion and on a sudden quarrel, offence committed is culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 7 WR Cr 70. The question for solution in cases where death is caused by a single blow given in anger, on the impulse of the moment, with a weapon not deadly in its nature, is always one of fact, not of law, as to the intention of knowledge with which the striker acted. 5 PR 1893 Cr ; 1924 Lah 492. Where the right of private defence has been exceeded the accused is guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. AIR 1932 Lah 344 : 138 Ind Cas 418 : 33 Cr LJ 587 : 33 PLR 282 : 1932 Cr C 425 ; see also AIR 1933 Lah 227 : 1933 Cr C 347 : 146 Ind Cas 34 ; AIR 1934 Lah 108 ; AIR 1933 Rang 340 : 1933 Cr LJ 1150. Where the common intention of the assailant was only to cause grievous hurt and there was only one serious blow on the head and the other blows on the head and the other parts of the body were of a comparatively slight nature ; Held, that it cannot be held that the assailants intended to cause the death of their victim or to cause such bodily injury as was likely to cause death. The case therefore fell within the purview of the second part of Section 304 and not under the first part. AIR 1935 Lah 80. In an unpremeditated joint attack, when each individual beats with a stick, anything more than knowledge that their joint act in its cumulative effect is likely to cause death cannot be imputed to them collectively. 162 Ind Cas 430 : 31 NLR Supp 215 : 37 Cr LJ 607 : 1936 Cr C 605 : AIR 1935 Nag 103. Where the language used by the deceased was highly provocative and murder was in no way premeditated, the accused is guilty only of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 38 PLR 43. Where in a course of sudden quarrel between the accused, the deceased expressed his intention of attacking and kicking the accused and went towards him and on a sudden fight that ensued between them the accused used a clasp knife and inflicted a wound in the chest of the deceased causing his death. Held, that as there was grave and sudden provocation from the deceased when he proceeded towards the accused with the intention of kicking him and as the accused used a clasp knife when he had so far lost his self-control during the struggle that he did not inflict the injury with the intention of causing such bodily injury as was likely to cause the death, he could therefore be convicted under Section 304 and not under Section 302. AIR 1938 Rang 15 ; see also AIR Mad 723. The accused after an alternation smote the deceased on the leg above the ankle with his dah with such force that he cut through the bones and the articles and the man died in consequence after four days. Held, that the accused should be convicted under Section 304, Part I and not under Section 302. AIR 1938 Rang. 71 : 1937 RLR 393. Even when death is caused the accused should be convicted under Section 323 or Section 325 in the absence of intention or knowledge to cause death. AIR 1941 Mad 560 : 42 Cr LJ 707 ; AIR 1941 Rang 141 : 42 Cr LJ 591 ; AIR 1938 Lah 714 : 40 Cr LJ 261 ; 40 PLR 562 ; AIR 1936 Lah 833 : 37 Cr LJ 1079 ; AIR 1941 Mad 746 : 42 Cr LJ 638 : AIR 1942 All 400 : 44 Cr LJ 110 ; AIR 1942 Mad 415 : 43 Cr LJ 671 ; AIR 1935 Oudh 446 : 36 Cr LJ 1262 ; 36 Cr LJ 573 : AIR 1935 Oudh 381 : AIR 1950 Kutch 2.

In the instant case, the accused nurtured grudge due to partition of property. The accused armed with shoe, stick and log entered the field and assaulted the deceased. The testimony of eye-witnesses was trustworthy and reliable and conviction of accused was upheld. Two co-accused were acquitted by giving them benefit of doubt and other two were given the benefit of probation and no appeal challenging it was filed. The conviction of remaining accused was held proper and not entitled to benefit granted to accused, when he was the main brain behind the crime. Chaudhari Ramjibhai Narasanghbhai v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 280 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 313 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 269 : 2003(4) Crimes 471 SC : 2003(8) Supreme 67.

The accused tried to cause injury with the help of a knife but was prevented from doing it. No case under Section 326 could be made out. Therefore, he was convicted under Section 304/34 for sharing common intention with the accused. Harjeet Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2151 (Delhi) : 2003(3) All Cri LR 982 : 2003(103) DLT 217 : 2003(67) DRJ 46.

The act of accused was without any premeditation where one of the accused had fired from his gun which has hit the chest of deceased. The conviction of accused was altered to one under Section 304 Part-II. Laldhari Rai v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1951 (Pat) : 2003(1) East Cri C 118 : 2003(1) BLJ 521 (Pat).

The wife poured kerosene on her body and threatened the husband that she was going to commit suicide. The husband threw a live match stick and burnt her to death. It was held that there was no intention to cause the death as he was in a drunken state. The sentence was reduced to three years. R.I. Bappala Siddappa v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 242 (AP) : 2002(1) ALD (CRL) 378 : 2002(1) Andh LT (Cri) AP 167.

The accused stabbed wife with penknife as a result of heat of passion and due to apprehension that he would be arrested if he appeared before police as advised by deceased wife. The conviction under Section 304 was held proper. Ekambaram v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 278 (Mad) : (2003) 1 Mad LW (Cri) 282.

Where the accused having failed to passify his 9 years old child pressed the mouth of the child who was crying and the child die to suffocation. It was held that the accused was guilty of offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Lakhan v. Raju Balian Yadava, 2003 Cr LJ 4424 (Bom) : 2003 All MR (CRI) 1741.

The accused was alleged to have assaulted deceased with hockey and gave him kick blows. The evidence of witnesses and medical evidence proved prosecution case beyond shadow of doubt. However, intention to cause fatal injury to deceased was not proved. Fight took place on spur of moment. Conviction of accused under Section 304-II and 34 was held proper. Having regard to the circumstances of case, including nature of offence and character of offenders. The Hon'ble High Court issued directions to release them on probation of good conduct. Sanjay v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4761 (Delhi) : 2005(1) Cur Cri R 162 : 2004(114) DLT 132 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 635.

Where the accused, a police constable caused the deceased's death by violently beating him in the course of police enquiry into a theft case, held, that the accused was not liable to be convicted for culpable homicide, but was guilty of an offence under Section 300, Penal Code 86 PR 188. Where in arresting the deceased who with others, was attempting to commit theft, the accused struck a blow on the deceased with a stick, held, that the accused had not used excessive violence and were not therefore, guilty of culpable homicide. 26 PR 1872 Cr. In a quarrel between himself and the deceased, the accused gave her a blow on the side of the head with a heavy hammer, which he picked up on the spur of the moment, and caused thereby her death ; held, that the accused were merely guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder 30 PR 1902 Cr : 6 PLR 1903 ; see also 24 WR 48 ; AWN 1881. 156 ; Rat Un Cr C 6. The Chief Court reduced the sentence to one of two or three years imprisonment, in a case where death was caused or provocation in a sudden fight the accused not taking any unfair advantage over the deceased. 12 PR 1886 Cr ; 13 PR 1866 Cr ; see also 9 Cr LJ 245 : 1 SLR 1 Cr. A prisoner, who struck the deceased a hasty but a fatal blow with a stick in his hand at the time for abusing his mother, was held guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 1 WR Cr 23. The finding by a man of his wife in actual intercourse with another is a provocation grave and sudden enough to reduce the offence of murder, to culpable homicide not amounting to murder and such an offence must be visited with a light sentence. Rat U Cr C 932 : Cr Reg 42 of 1897 ; see also AIR 1930 Lah 172 ; 10 Lah LJ 508 : 115 Ind Cas 476 : 30 Cr LJ 481 ; AIR 1950 Lah 131. Two persons stated that having caught the deceased in the act of having sexual intercourse with the wife of one of them they killed him on the spot. Held, that the grave provocation given reduced the crime from murder to culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 1 WR Cr 17 ; see also AWN 1885, 197 ; 3 BLR A Cr 33 ; 27 PR 1900 Cr ; 89 PR 1899 Cr ; 87 PR 1866 Cr ; 1 Weir 307 ; 8 PR 1890 Cr ; 8 WR Cr 38 ; 4 WR Cr 38 ; 6 WR Cr 42 ; 4 PR 1904 Cr. Where the accused when in a state of intoxication, produced by his own act struck the deceased with a bamboo, thereby causing fracture of the skull, which resulted in death, held, that the accused should be charged with culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 1 Weir 301 ; see also 2 LBR 204. Accused were hillmen and three of them were devil dancers who attempted at C's request or at any rate with his consent, to dispossess C's wife of devil by applying a hot ladle to her mouth and throat and to various parts of her body, with the result that she died. Held, that the accused were guilty under Section 326 and not under Section 304-A. AIR 1935 All 282. Where the crime is unpremeditated this section applies. AIR 1935 Lah 149. Where two accused had the common intention of beating the party of which the deceased was a member and the deceased died as a consequence of a blow struck in the beating, held, that both the accused were responsible under Sections 304 and 34, I.P. Code. AIR 1933 All 504.

In a Bombay case, the accused allegedly killed his wife by using sickle. Evidence though circumstantial was found impeachable. As per report of chemical examiner the sickle contained blood-stain of deceased. Accused made extra-judicial confession before his son. Prosecution failed to prove intention of accused in killing his wife. The accused after assaulting his wife tried to commit suicide. It was held that likelihood of knowledge that such injury might cause death could be attributed to the accused and, therefore, the accused was liable to be convicted for offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Ghansham Dashrath Waghmore v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 4889 (Bom) : 2004 (4) Crimes 188 : 2004 (2) Bom CR (Cr) 837 : 2004 (7) All MR (Cri) 1847.

In a Bombay case, the accused allegedly killed deceased by a knife-blow during the sudden quarrel. There was neither intention to commit murder nor motive for the commission of offence. There was no ocular evidence to connect accused with the crime except dying declaration wherein deceased implicated the accused. Medical evidence supported the case of single knife blow, conviction of accused under Section 302 was altered to one under Section 304, Part-II. Bajirao Maruti Dale v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 1638 (Bom).

In a Bombay case, the deceased in a fit of anger poured Kerosene on herself and accused husband hit her. The dying declaration was fully corroborated by the circumstantial evidence. The accused tried to douse fire and took deceased to hospital. It was held that it was a case of sudden flair of emotions resulting from domestic quarrels and it could not be said that the accused had intention to kill wife but at the same time it could not be said that he had no knowledge that if he put wife on fire, she was likely to be dead. The accused, was therefore convicted for offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Sambhaji Mukund Suryawanshi v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 5067 (Bom).

In Jharkhand case, the accused assaulted deceased with hard blunt weapon. According to doctor, who conducted post-mortem on dead body, all the injuries except one were simple and superficial and had there been first aid given to deceased, he would have survived. Thus, there was no intention on the part of accused to kill the deceased. Conviction of accused for murder was set aside and he was convicted for offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Kaleshwar Ahir v. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand), 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 12 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 170 : 2003(4) JCR JHA 85 : 2003(4) JLJR 567.

In a Madras case, the accused allegedly killed deceased by a sharp-edged weapon. Motive for offence was proved. The evidence of the eye-witness, wife of deceased, whose presence at the place of occurrence was natural as the offence was committed in Court yard of the house, was corroborated by evidence of other witnesses. Dying declaration was reliable even in absence of endorsement as to fit condition of deceased in view of eye-witness's account. Weapon of offence was recovered at the instance of accused. The intention to kill the deceased was clear from the fact that the accused had made several attacks to cause injuries likely to cause death. The Court held that in view of the fact that the accused were enraged after coming to know that the deceased had hit their mother. Conviction under Section 304, Part-I was held proper. Damodharan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 279 (Mad).

In a case where the plea of insanity was raised, the prosecution case was doubtful as regards injury inflicted on deceased in view of medical evidence and testimony of sole eye-witness. Evidence of witnesses showed that the accused was mentally unsound at the time of commission of offence. It was held that non-consideration of factual position of mental health of accused by trial Court in terms of Section 329, Cr PC vitiated trial and, therefore, the conviction of accused was not proper. Nandiswar Das v. State of Assam, 2004 Cr LJ 4723 (Gau) : 2004(24) All Ind Cas 105 : 2004(3) Gau LT 117.

In a Supreme Court case, the incident took place in a sudden fight in heat of passion. Keeping the fact that both the accused and the deceased had consumed considerable amount of alcohol which is established by the evidence of doctor and the service revolver being next to the place the fight took place, it could altogether be ruled out that the shots were fired not with an intention of taking undue advantage by the accused. The accused could only be found guilty of an offence punishable under Section 304, Part II. Manke Ram v. State of Haryana, 2003 Cr LJ 2328 (P&H).

Where the accused gave a single lathi blow causing fatal head injury to deceased and the evidence of which was corroborated by medical evidence was found reliable. It was held that since lathi blow was inflicted without intention to cause death, conviction under Section 304, Part II was proper. Ghanshyam v. State of Rajasthan, 2003 Cr LJ 1663 (Raj).

The accused conducted surgery keeping the patient in a store room which was ill equipped for such a major surgery. He was operated for severe, stomach pain but died. It was pleaded on behalf of defence that it was a case of medical negligence for which only civil liability could be contemplated. The defence counsel also cited, Augustine Saldanhe v. State of Karnataka, 2003 Cr LJ 4458 : (2003) 10 SCC 472, wherein only compensation was awarded to victim who even after undergoing the tubectomy operation conceived and delivered a child. It was held that the situations of the Apex Courts case and the instant case were different and framing of charges in the case on hand for offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder was justified. Ajith (Dr.) v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4458 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3843 : 2003(10) SCC 472 : 2003(4) Crimes 89 (SC) : 2003(6) Supreme 677.

Causing death by beating a thief without the knowledge that the act was so imminently dangerous that it would in all probability cause his death, or such bodily injury as was likely to cause death, is culpable homicide not amounting to murder under Section 304, 7 WR Cr 54. When a man of full age (i.e., above 18 years) admits himself to an emasculation, preformed neither by skilful hand nor in the least dangerous way and death ensues in consequence, the persons concerned in the act are guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 5 WR Cr C 7. Where the accused on being attacked by the deceased armed with a large club, fired at him, without any particular aim, but lowering the muzzle of his gun, so as to hit a vital part, and death ultimately resulted from the wound inflicted, held, that the accused had not exercised a legal right of private defence, as he could have escaped by standing back, and that he was therefore, guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 13 PR 1868 Cr ; but see AWN 1882, 172. It is a doubtful question whether a person, constructively guilty of murder under Section 304 of the Penal Code, can be said to have committed the offence of murder within the meaning of Section 149, of the Code, so as to make others by a double construction guilty of murder. 8 Cal 739 : 12 CLR 233. Section 304 coupled with Section 149, applies only to such persons who, though not taking an active part in unlawful assembly, are liable to be punished by reason of their being members of the unlawful assembly, and a person being killed in prosecution of the common object. 6 CWN 98. Where a person, on the spur of the moment in the heat of passion, and without any premeditation and motive for causing death, seized a chhavi the first weapon which came to his hands, and inflicts with it a blow on the head of another which results in the death of the latter. The former's act fails within the 2nd part of Section 304, Penal Code. But in such a case the culprit deserves the maximum sentence of imprisonment provided for that offence. 4 PWR 1934 Cr : 3 PLR 1914 : 14 Cr LJ 178 : 22 Ind Cas 754. When the only inmates of the house were the husband and his two wives and the deceased's elder wife was habitually ill-treated and half-starved by her husband, and at last she was found suffering from a serious injury to head, from the effect of which she died three days after she was admitted to hospital where she was too ill to make any statement and there was no indication, that the injury was accidental or self-inflicted, and the explanation given by the husband as to the injury was unsatisfactory and highly improbable, the presumption is that the injury was caused by her husband. Held, also that to inflict such an injury on the head of a woman already reduced by ill-treatment to such a poor condition, was an act which warrants the finding that the culprit must have known that it was likely that death would be the result, and was sufficient to bring him under Section 304, Part 2, I.P.C. 3 PWR 1913 Cr : 150 PLR 1913 : 19 Ind Cas 715 : 14 Cr LJ 283.

In a sudden fight only two incised wounds were found on head of deceased. Though accused had knowledge but no intention to cause death. The conviction was converted from under Section 302 to one under Section 304-II. Ranglal v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 316 (Raj) : 2004(1) Raj Cri'c 125 : 2003(3) Raj LR 7990 : 2004(1) WLC 68.

The accused persons caused serious head injury to the deceased but evidence showed that although they knew that death was likely to be caused but they did not intend to do so. The conviction of accused was ordered under Section 304 as incident had taken place suddenly out of trivial matter and accused had not repeated the blow with a stone. The third accused was acquitted as he had not participated in attack. Gudev Singh v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 552 (Raj) : 2002(1) Raj LR 724 : 2003(1) Raj LW 146 : 2002(2) WLC 710.

The accused caused the death of deceased by giving a dagger blow on chest of deceased consequent to a quarrel over a trifle matter. Evidence on record showed that accused appellant independently committed said offence and as the appellant was knowing the charge and tried to meet the same, there was no question of any prejudice being caused to him. It was held that in number of cases Court has held that when accused fully knew the charge against him no prejudice will be caused to him for non-framing of charge under Section 302, IPC and the conviction of accused under Section 304 was proper. Md. Nur Islam v. State of Assam, 2003 Cr LJ 4370 (Gau).

Where grave discrepancies between the statement of the deceased contained in the first report and the evidence of his witness as to the persons attacking him and giving him fatal injuries, throw a great doubt on the whole case, the benefit of which must be given to the accused. 23 PWR 1914 Cr : -172 PLR 1914 : 15 Cr LJ 530 : 24 Ind Cas 842. B went to a police station and made report of an assault against F and others. The police declined to take action and he referred to a Magistrate. The accused F with his companions went to the house of B, evidently with the intention of taunting her with her failure to obtain any satisfaction from the police. A tenant of B, who was in B's house at the time, picked up a stick and came out abusing and threatening the intruders. F struck the tenant one severe blow with a chhavi at his head from which he died. F was convicted of an offence under Section 304, Penal Code, and his companions of the offence under Section 149 read with Section 334, I.P. Code. Held, that F was rightly convicted of the offence, under the first part of Section 304. But his companions must be acquitted, for none of them took any part in any assault at B' house. 55 PLR 1911 : 10 PWR 1911 : 12 Cr LJ 187 : 10 Ind Cas 643. Where a prisoner admits having thrown a girl into a canal, but the body cannot be found, it is expedient to convict him of murder; his act would properly be met by a conviction of attempt to murder. Rat Un Cr C 687 : Cr Reg 7 of 1894. Where the common intention of a number of assailants is to cause grievous hurt, and death is caused by one of the assailants cannot be convicted under Section 304, 29 All 282 AWN 1907, 51 : 4 ALJ 207 : 5 Cr LJ 130 ; see also 109 PLR 1916 : 17 Cr LJ 451 : 36 Ind Cas 1311 ; 40 All 133 : 6 ALJ 11 : 43 Ind Cas 438 : 19 Cr LJ 150 : 5 Lah LJ 121 ; 1924 Lah 61 : 7 Lah LJ 46 : 86 Ind Cas 341 : 26 Cr LJ 757 : AIR 1925 Lah 318 ; 30 Cr LJ 903 : AIR 1929 All 575 : 118 Ind Cas 369 ; 34 CWN 1127 : 30 Cr LJ 187 ; 1933 Cr C 1389 : AIR 1933 Lah 930. Where the accused with the object of punishing the deceased for abusing one of the dignitaries in the village, ran, caught and held the deceased permitting the principal offender to stab the victim twice with a dagger, the accused are guilty of abetment of culpable homicide under Section 304, 109 AIR 1950 Kutch 5. Where there was no intention to kill and there was only intention to commit theft and murder was committed in carrying out the former intention, 2 years' imprisonment under 2nd part is proper. AIR 1947 All 67 : 48 Cr LJ 181.

Where in committing dacoity, the accused stuffed a cloth into the deceased's mouth in order to silence him and not with any idea of killing him, held, they must be convicted under Sections 304 and 395 I.P. Code. and not under Section 302 and 396, I.P. Code, 18 MLT 103 : 1915 MWN 621 : 16 Cr LJ 614 : 30 Ind Cas 438. An offence under this section has been committed when severe beating is given to a woman to cast out evil spirit with party's consent resulting in death. 1 UBR (1902-1903). Penal Code 1.

If the immediate cause of death be the improper administration of dangerous drugs, then the persons who administered such drugs without any excuse are the persons "who caused the death". LBR (1872-1892), 179. Where death was caused by a blow with a stick, but it appeared that death would not have been caused by the violence apparently used, had the deceased's spleen been in a healthy condition and that the accused did not prove that the deceased's spleen was diseased, held, that the accused was merely guilty of voluntarily causing hurt by a dangerous weapon, but not of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. AWN 1881, 112. Where the husband, a fully developed adult man had several intercourses with his child wife who was an immature girl and he did it with such a violence as to rupture the vagina and destroy the partition between the vagina and the rectum and the wife died in consequence he commits an offence under Section 304 of the Penal Code as he did a dangerous act with a wanton disregard as to the consequence in having intercourse with his wife thus causing her death. 11 SLR 76. Where the accused were convicted under Section 304, Part 2, Penal Code, for causing the death of the deceased by violence, and the medical evidence showed that the cause of death was either concussion of brain due to head injuries or possibly opium poisoning, and the body bore no signs of injuries except four slight superficial lacerations but no fracture of any bone, while on the other hand opium was found in the stomach and the first report did make mention of the fact that the deceased had admitted having taken opium. Held, that the prosecution had failed to prove that the death was caused by any act of the accused, and they were therefore, entitled to an acquittal. 16 FWR 1916 Cr : Cr LJ 147 : 33 Ind Cas 627. Where the accused proved to have driven his motor car in a rash manner during night while he was in a drunken condition and he ran his car against four person a carrying a bier and injured two of them so severely that they died subsequently. Held, that the accused should be convicted under Sections 337 and 394. I.P. Code and sentenced to 18 months' rigorous imprisonment. 1929 MWN 395. Where a person was attacked by five men all armed with lathis and where therefore in defending himself he hit them back inflicting injuries which in the case of two of the assailants resulted in their death and where the person was charged with having exceeded the limits of private defence, held that in such situation, it was not possible for one to restrict himself to exactly the necessary numbers and force of blows and that therefore the accused should be acquitted. 117 Ind Cas 937 : 1929 Cr C 38 : 30 Cr LJ 863 : A1R 1929 Lah 494, where the accused committed murder exceeding the right of private defence, an offence under this section is committed. AIR 1944 Lah 97 : 45 Cr LJ 634.

The accused inflicted the injury by which death was caused with his dang in a fit of provocation. Two blows were struck on the head causing fracture and the third blow fell on the chest of the deceased. Held, that the conviction should be under Section 304, Part 2, and not under Section 304 Part I, I.P. Code. 11 Lah LJ 52 : AIR 1929 Lah 180. Where in a scuffle the accused struck three lathi blows which fractured his bones and caused gangrene resulting in death but it was found that the accused did not intend to cause death—Held, that the accused was not guilty of murder but was guilty of manslaughter. 42 All 302 : 18 ALJ 224 : 58 Ind Cas 463 : 21 Cr LJ 783. Two parties armed with lathis indulged in a fight, and one of the contesting parties received injuries from the effects of which he died. It was uncertain which of the several persons composing the opposite side struck the fatal blow. Held, that these persons are guilty of an offence under Section 304. I.P. Code, 58 Ind Cas 242 : see also 60 Ind Cas 676 : 22 Cr LJ 276 : 3 UPLR Lah 34. Where the accused possessed by a superstitious belief made an offering of his child to a crocodile in a certain tank with a pure heart believing that though the crocodile would doubtless take the child away, it would return the child unimpaired and the child would thereafter have charmed life and attain to a good old age. Held, that as the accused had no intention of causing death to the child, he was guilty of an offence under the last clause of Section 304, I.P. Code, as what he did was with the knowledge that his act would result in the death of the child. 33 Cr LJ 179 : 25 CWN 676 : 62 Ind Cas 414 : 22 Cr LJ 526. If two or more people are found to have had a common intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death and that result ensue, all are guilty of the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. quite irrespective; of who caused the particular injury leading to death. 9 O & AIR 1024 ; 1923 Lah 336 ; 72 Ind Cas 532 : 24 Cr LJ 421 ; 83 Ind Cas 76 AIR 1925 Oudh 284. When the accused killed another whom he saw occupying the same bed with the wife of his cousin and there was no motive for the crime, he must have acted under sudden and grave provocation and the conviction can only be under Section 304, I.P. Code. 1923 Lah 312. Even when there is no evidence as to previous existence of any serious enmity and the affairs arose out of a petty quarrel of the moment, this is hardly an extenuating circumstance in favour of accused using a weapon like a chavi on slight provocation which shows a callous disregard of human life for which he must suffer the consequence. 73 Ind Cas 932 : 24 Cr LJ 708 : 1928 Lah 326.

When the Court finds that the accused must have known he was likely to cause death and concluded from that an offence under Section 300(4). I.P. Code, the conviction must be changed into one under Section 304, I.P. Code. 2 Bur LJ 99. Where the charge is one of murder under Section 302 and there is no question of the first exception to Section 300 being admitted by the prosecution and a Magistrate specially empowered under Section 30, Cr. Pr Code, heard the case and convicted under Section 304, I.P. Code, the proceedings were quashed and the accused committed of the Sessions. 69 Ind Cas 459 : 23 Cr LJ 731. During a sudden and unpremeditated affray a person was killed. The evidence showed that even after he fell down incapacited, the accused continued striking him. Held, a plea of self-defence was not sustainable and they were guilty under Section 304, 6 Lah LJ 483. Where the accused, a youth of about 18 years forcibly committed rape on a girl of 12 and the girl's vagina was ruptured and as a result of shock the girl died. Held. that the accused was not guilty under Section 304, I.P. Code of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, as death was not the natural consequence of the simple sexual offence but he was guilty of rape only 3 Pat 410 : 83 Ind Cas 651 : 1924 Pat 553. In the midst of quarrel, a man was abused by his sister-in-law and he struck her with stone. Her skull was fractured and she died. Held, he acted on the impulse of the moment and could be convicted only under Section 304, IP. Code. LR 5 All 175 : 25 Cr LJ 809 : 81 Ind Cas 320 : 1925 All 4. In the course of a dispute about drawing water from a tap, the accused drew a knife and stabbed the deceased piercing the chest wall and cutting the heart. Held, though the blow was struck in a sudden fight without premeditation, the accused must have known that striking in the chest with a dangerous weapon might prove fatal and was therefore guilty under Section 304(2). 25 Cr LJ 1289 : 82 Ind Cas 361 : 1925 Lah 148 : see also AIR 1931 Lah 189. Where three men armed with dangs attacked another and caused two grievous hurts, it can be presumed that they all intended to cause or knew that they were likely to cause grievous hurt. Where only one blow was struck on the head which resulted in death and there was no evidence to show which of the three accused struck that blow, none of them can be convicted of culpable homicide. 6 Lah LJ 268 : 1924 Lab 555. Where the skull of the deceased was fractured as the result of a blow on the head in an attack upon one man by four persons who beat him with lathis but there was no other grievous hurt and it was not known which of the accused struck the blow which fractured the skull and resulted in his death. Held, the accused did not know that death was likely to be caused but they must have known that grievous hurt was likely to be caused, and that they committed therefore the offence of causing grievous hurt. 6 Lah LJ 317 : 1924 Lah 654.

Where a person hits another on the temple with a lathi he must be taken to have intended to cause such hurt as would in the ordinary course of nature cause death. Where death ensues, he is guilty under Section 304, I.P. Code. 26 Cr LJ 1160 : AIR 1925 Oudh 482 : 88 Ind Cas 520. A person can be convicted under Section 304(1) I.P. Code, in a murder trial, only if one of the exceptions to Section 300, is proved. 86 Ind Cas 826 : 26 Cr LJ 890 : AIR 1925 Lah 549. Where death was due to single blow by only one out of five people but the assailant could not be spotted out, all cannot be convicted under Section 309 read with Section 34, but only under Section 325. 86 Ind Cas 337 : 26 Cr LJ 753 : AIR 1924 Pat 553. The accused struck the deceased, who was sitting with certain enemies of the accused watching an entertainment, on the head with lathi which resulted in his death. Held that the accused must have known that he was likely to cause death and was guilty under Section 304(2) and five years' rigorous imprisonment was appropriate sentence. AIR 1925 Lah 111. Where the wounds inflicted on the deceased were not serious but such as would not individually amount to more than simple hurt and no motive for murder was established. Held, that the offence was only culpable homicide not amounting to murder. 26 PLR 702 : 7 Lah LJ 524 : AIR 1925 Lah 621. In order to remove a culpable homicide from the category of murder the provocation must not only be grave but also sudden and must have by its gravity and suddenness deprived the accused of the power of self-control. 83 Ind Cas 712 : 26 Cr LJ 152 : AIR 1923 Lah 493. Section 34 which is based on common intention cannot possibly be used with the second part of Section 304 which expressly exclude intention. 26 Cr LJ 827 : 85 Ind Cas 475 : AIR 1925 Cal 913. Where the death is caused by knife-stab in sudden fight, the offence falls under this section, AIR 1925 Lah 148. Mere apprehension of hurt will not entitle a person to plead "private defence" to a conviction under Section 304 of the Indian Penal Code. 27 PLR 430 : 95 Ind Cas 276 : 27 Cr LJ 756 : 8 Lah LJ 455 ; (1957) 1 Andh WR 181 (reasonable apprehension of death or grievous hurt—Exceeding right of private defence) 1962 Ker LT 868 : (1962) 2 Ker LR 466. Burden of proving the right of private defence, vide ILR (1955) 7 Assam 392. The High Court set aside the conviction for an offence under Section 304 (2) on the ground that the prosecution witnesses were partial and their testimony was palpably false 27 PLR 22 : 95 Ind Cas 597 : 27 Cr LJ 821 : 8 LLJ 182. The Judge did not explain circumstances when an act, if it does not amount to murder, whether it amounts to culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The charge was held to be amounting to misdirection. ILR (1955) 7 Assam 392.

Presumably every body knows that the abdomen is a most delicate and vulnerable part of the human body, and if a man with that knowledge kicks the abdomen with such violence as to cause fracture of two ribs and rupture of the spleen which was normal he should be presumed to have done so with the knowledge that he, by so kicking, was likely to cause death, 96 Ind Cas 641 : 27 Cr LJ 977 : AIR 1926 Lah 313. A lathi is a lethal weapon and, if a person chooses to lay about with a lethal weapon with all the force at his command, it must be presumed that he knew he was likely to cause death. 94 Ind Cas 137 : 37 Cr LJ 569 : AIR 1926 Lah 426. Where the injuries inflicted by the accused result in death, the question in such cases is not concluded by the amount of reasoning from the mere fact that the injury caused did in fact result in death. What has to be seen is first, what degree of injury did the man intend ; and secondly, what did he know as to the consequence of such injury. AIR 1931 Cat 261 (SB) : 34 CWN 1127 : 32 Cr LJ 187. The mere fact that a member of one unlawful assembly which assailed its victim was a Sikh wearing Kripan unsheathing with which he dealt blow to the victim is not sufficient to hold the other members of the assembly constructively liable for causing of death simply because he was wearing a Kripan Gian v. Emperor. AIR 1930 Lah 532 : 122 Ind Cas 721 : 31 Cr LJ 448. Seizure of the person and dragging a debtor to his creditor by the peons of the creditor against his will, constitutes an offence of abduction within the meaning of Section 362 thereby giving the person so dragged the right of private defence of his body even to the causing of death subject to restrictions mentioned in Section 99. If while defending himself such person strikes the person against whom he was defending on a sudden irritable impulse thereby exceeding the power given to him under the statute and caused death of other person, the offence comes not under Section 302 but under Section 304. Daroga v.

Emperor, AIR 1930 Pat 347. It is not improper to inflict lesser sentence, where the circumstances demanding exercise of discretion, e.g., absence of strong motive coupled with possibility of murder having been committed without premeditation and under temporary derangement of mind due to fear of being prosecuted and convicted of criminal offence. AIR 1930 Sind 224. Person inflicting wounds in defending himself is not guilty. AIR 1930 Lah 93.

Where death is the result of sudden quarrel between parties, there is no intention of pre-determination to cause death. The offence in such cases will always be punishable under Section 304, Part II. State of MP v. Reshiraj, 2004 Cr LJ 1445 (SC).

Where there was a sudden quarrel and a fight in the course of which the deceased was stabbed by the accused and the accused himself received an injury from some weapon such as a knife, held, that the accused cannot be said to have taken undue advantage of the deceased since he himseif was attacked and wounded also by a knife, and more appropriate section under which the accused should have been convicted is Section 304. 97 Ind Cas 952 : 27 Cr LJ 1192 ; see also 106 Ind Cas 449 : 29 Cr LJ 33 : 27 ALJ 508 : AIR 1929 All 535. Where the accused went along with two persons who were armed and at the scence of occurrence he gave the order to beat but the others assaulted the deceased so severely that he subsequently died, held, that the reasonable inference is that the accused intended all the results that followed and that he was rightly convicted under Sections 304 and 109, 6 Pat 627. Where a man receives three injuries on his head, it is most improbable that he was attacked by more than two persons. 103 Ind Cas 58 : 28 Cr LJ 634 : 1 Luck C 197 : 8 AI Cr R 314. Where it is found that the aggressor was not the accused but the deceased, the Court should not pass a severe sentence. 99 Ind Cas 58 : 28 Cr LJ 24. Six persons one of whom was armed with an iron lathi went to take possession of a taur. The deceased person resisted them and the man who was armed with lathi inflicted a fatal injury on the head of the deceased which fractured his skull and killed him. Held, that under the circumstances, the armed person was guilty of offence under Section 304 (2), I.P. Code and the others of an offence under Section 325. 9 Lah LJ 529. Where the wife of the accused and the deceased woman were quarrelling and the accused being provoked by the abuses given to his wife, in sudden anger, struck the deceased a heavy blow on the head with a heavy lathi and fractured her skull and caused her death. Held, that the circumstances of the case do not lead to the inference of an intention to kill and it cannot be inferred on the evidence that the accused had the knowledge that the act was so imminently dangerous that it must in all probability cause death. 8 Pat LT 594 : 102 Ind Cas 349 : 28 Cr LJ 541 : 8 AI Cr 189. In case of sudden fight between young boys, accused stabbing deceased without premeditation, the offence committed by him was that punishable under Section 304, Part I and not under Part II thereof. AIR 1956 Bom 267 : 1956 Cr LJ 503 ; see also 1956 MBLJ 472 : Madh BLR 1956 Cr 56 ; where in a trial the injuries are proved to be only likely to cause death and the offence committed by the unlawful assembly against the deceased would be punishable under Section 304 only. ILR 1962 AP 313 : 1963 (2) Cr LJ 70. Where the accused inflicted many blows on the body of the deceased, and also used kicks in order to drive away an evil spirit, and thereby caused the death, the accused is guilty under Section 304 (2), Penal Code. AIR 1928 Lah 917.

Where the husband and wife were not on very good terms and on one occasion the husband asked for pan and the wife refused pan and threw dirty rice water in his face whereupon the husband beat her with stone and killed her. Held, that the refusal of his wife to give him pan was liable to make him angry but the throwing of dirty water in the face was an act which would cause a husband to lose control of himself and would be a grave and sudden provocation and therefore the offence was not one of murder but culpable homicide not amounting to murder... 117. Ind Cas 164 : 30 Cr LJ 720 : AIR 1930 Pat 201. If a man joins with another to assault a third even though the original intention may be merely to inflict relatively harmless injuries, and he sees his companion in a course of action which may reasonably be expected to bring about the death of the deceased and takes no steps to interfere with that action or to assist the deceased such an act is an act or omission which renders him liable to be convicted under Section 304 read with Section 32 and 34, I.P. Code. It must be apparent to every person that to hold an elderly man's head under water for any longer than is required to inflict a mere ducking is liable to bring about the death of the person, 9 Pat LT 826 : 114 Ind Cas 222 : 36 Cr LJ 276 : AIR 1929 Pat 65.

In case of an exorcism of curing the woman of evil spirits, death is caused by suffocation by smoke, the accused is to be convicted under Section 304, Part II as the act is done with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death. AIR 1964 Mad 410 : 1964 (2) Ind Cas 557 : 1964 Mad LJ (Cr) 157. The question whether the accused had the knowledge that his act was likely to cause death is, as in the case of intention, is a question of fact depending upon the circumstances of the particular case. the weapon used, the part of the body on which the injury was inflicted, the nature of injuries caused, the deliberateness of the act etc. AIR 1979 SC 1532 : 1979 Ind Cas 1135 ; AIR 1984 SC 735 : 1984 Cr LJ 478 ; AIR 1985 SC 336 ; AIR 1983 SC 529 : 1983 Cr LJ 1135 ; AIR 1982 SC 1406 : 1982 Cr LJ 1946 : AIR 1982 SC 52 : 1982 Cr LJ 195.

In a case deceased was hit by accused with a milk can with such force as to cause fracture of the skull of the deceased resulting in his death, he (accused) should be convicted under Section 304, Part II considering the fact that he was provoked into hitting the deceased. 1988 (1) Crimes 251 (Del).

Death of the husband caused under grave provocation being a man of bad habits which caused the accused amounting to mental and physical cruelty. The accused was beaten on the day of incident and received several injuries from a blunt weapon. Held, the appellant could not have been convicted for any offence when her act was in exercise of right of private defence. (1986) 1 Crimes 82 (Guj).

The serious charge against the accused was that he poured Kerosene Oil over his wife and set her on fire. It is urged that the accused is a young man with 2 children. Held, it cannot be a ground for limiting his sentence down to the sentence already undergone. 1986 Cr LJ 739 (Bom).

The accused and his wife had a domestic quarrel on 25.6.1982. When she was slapped twice or thrice causing her to fall down every time which resulting in injuries to her head. Inmates of the house including the accused did not inform either the police or neighbours nor was any medical aid provided. The accused pleaded in his defence that she fell down from the ladder but the nature of injuries did not answer its tests. The judicial confession made earlier on the question of quarrel was retracted by the accused at the Sessions trial. Held, judicial confession in the circumstances should be relied upon. (1986) 2 Crimes 441 (Cal).

Death of deceased under suspicious circumstances. Charge of abetment of suicide and cruelty. Conviction under Section 304-B, I.P.C. Revision petition was filed. Since there was no evidence of murder as there was no injury on deceased. Presumption as to abetment of suicide. Accused-appellants held guilty of offence under Section 306, I.P.C. in place of Sec. 304-B, IPC. Hiralal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1995) 3 CCR 434 (MP).

Injuries were made on non-vital part—Neither there was fracture nor-damage to internal organ—Offence made out only under Section 304, Part II/149. I.P.C. not under Sections 302/149, I.P.C. Kirti Mahto v. State of Bihar, 1-994 SCC (Cri) 1493 : 1994 Supp(2) SCC 569.

The record suggested that after grappling and exchange of abuses between accused and the injured P.W. for few minutes, the accused took out his kirpan and caused injuries to deceased and the P.W. Out of 3 injuries only one proved fatal. His acts falls within purview of Section 304, Part I for causing death of the victim and under Section 308 for causing injuries to P.W. Sukhwinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 1 CC Cases 304 (P & H).

Causing of death by knife injury. Prosecution unable to explain appellant's injury inflicted on vital parts of his body. There were interested eye-witnesses—No ocular evidence reliable and safe. Hence conviction and sentence of accused person cannot be sustained. Gopal Anjayya v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 2 Mah LR 265 (Bom).

Where testimony of witness, son of deceased was reliable, trustworthy and corroborated by medical evidence and with evidence of other eye-witnesses then defence plea as to place of incident not comes in way to convicting accused. Ch. Ramjibhai Narasangbhai v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 280 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 313 : 2004(1) SCC 184 : 2003(9) JT 96 : 2003(4) Crimes 471 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 67.

Where evidence of eye-witness as to incident cogent and reliable as death of deceased by gun shot injury admitted by defence, establishing motive behind crime, place of incident, time and manner therefore conviction of accused warrants no interference. Medni Singh v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 164 (Pat) : AIR 2004 (SC) 313 : 2004(1) SCC 184 : 2003(9) JT 96 : 2003(4) Crimes 471 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 67.

Where involvement of accused in commission of offence was established then accused cannot take advantage of benefit of probation extended to two co-accused person. Ch. Ramjibhai Narasangbhai v. State of Gujarat, 2004 Cr LJ 280 (SC).

In a Supreme Court case, the accused allegedly killed deceased by thrusting spear in his abdomen. The evidence of eye-witnesses showed that the accused caused injuries to deceased. One of the eye-witnesses was also injured during the occurrence. The presence of eye-witnesses was not doubtful. The conviction of accused under Section 304, IPC was held proper. Naval Kishore Singh v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 4252 : AIR 2004 SC 4421 : 2004(6) Supreme 445 : 2004(3) Crimes 373 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 1967.

Where in a joint attack during sudden quarrel between parties resulting in death of victim and causing injuries to others, accused persons were held liable to be convicted under Section 304, Part-II. State of MP v. Deshraj, 2004 Cr LJ 1415 : AIR 2004 SC 2764 : 2004(1) Crimes 375 (SC) : 2004(1) Supreme 745 : 2004(2) JT 146 : 2004(1) JCC 367.

During altercation with the deceased, the accused took out a knife and stabbed deceased in abdomen who died after running a short distance. Testimony of witnesses who witnessed the incident was corroborated by medical evidence. The incident had accused without pre-meditation or planning and had taken place all of a sudden. It was a case of single injury. It was held that the conviction of accused for the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder could not be interfered with. State of UP v. Qamar, 2004 Cr LJ 2390 (All) : 2004 All LJ 1290.

The act of stabbing of his wife by husband was witnessed by their children in torch-light. Their ocular evidence and dying declaration were found trustworthy, truthful and reliable. The injury was caused on vital part i.e. abdomen. It was held that intention could be resumed regarding causing such injury as was likely to cause death and that the accrued was liable to be convicted for offence under Section 304-I. Sebvalam Suranna Dora v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 427 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 742.

The circumstances showed that the accused had seen some incident of victim with "S" which prompted him to rush to Kitchen with instrument by which he was cutting firewood and assaulted victim on his head with same and also by knife. Weapons of offence were seized with blood-stain from place of occurrence. It was held that the circumstances were sufficient to indicate that the injuries caused to victim could not be contemplated without any heat or passion and the conviction of accused under Section 302 was altered to one under Section 304 Part II. Jerka Munda v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4764 (Cal).

In a case, the accused threw lighted lamp in a fit anger. Circle Inspector laid charge-sheet for offence under Section 302/34 when FIR was registered under Section 304-II. It was held that the offence fell under Section 304-II and that the non-examination of the Circle Inspector which did not cause was immaterial. 2004 Cr LJ 78 (AP).

Accused allegedly caused injuries on the head of deceased mother by throwing stones resulting into her death. The presence of solitary eye-witness, husband of deceased at the place of incident was not doubtful, as he was an injured witness. His testimony was reliable and corroborated by medical evidence. There was no unreasonable delay in lodging FIR. It was held that the testimony of the such eye-witness could not be discarded on the sole ground of interestedness and that the conviction of accused under Section 304, Part-II was proper. Shankar v. State of Rajasthan, 2004 Cr LJ 1608 (Raj).

In a Gauhati case, the accused allegedly stabbed his brother-in-law with fishing spear after quarrel. Three prosecution witnesses who were members of the same family turned hostile because they did not want to lose another family member. Confession by accused was voluntarily made and was true. Detailed nature of confession ruled out the possibility of any tutoring by police. The confession was corroborated by other evidence. There was no animus or intention on the part of accused to cause death of deceased. His conviction under Sec. 302 was modified to one under Sec. 304, Part-II. Rajen Boro v. State of Assam, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 42 : 2003(3) Cur Cri R 470 : 2003(2) Gau LT 632.

The accused allegedly assaulted informant and his father with lathi and sabbal, when asked to plough in their share of land. Father of the informant died. Informants' wife; who came to the site of occurrence on an alarm being raised, was also assaulted by accused persons. Consistent statement of maternal witnesses, that accused took active part in assaulting the victims. The testimony of material witnesses was supported by injuries found on persons of victims, conviction of accused under Section 304, Part-

It was held proper. Raska Hansda v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 115 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 883 : 2003(3) East Cri C 116.

In an Orissa case, the accused on coming to know that the deceased, an old man, had sexually assaulted his minor daughter, got enraged and in heat of temper assaulted deceased causing his death. Accused after assault took injured to hospital for treatment. It was held that the act of accused in taking the deceased to hospital for treatment indicated that he had no intention to murder deceased and, therefore, conviction was altered from Section 302 to one under Section 304, Part-II. Sibai Hemram v. State of Orrisa, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 233 (Orissa).

In another Orissa case, the accused persons felt insulted when the deceased being Headmam sent them to appear before the Punch on an allegation of theft of cock. The accused were not enmicals but they were illiterate tribals with volatile temperament. They had no intention to kill the deceased. The conviction of accused persons was altered from 302 to one under Section 304, Part-II. Madkami Irma v. State of Orissa, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 225 (Orissa) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 2295 : 2003(3) BLJR 2190 : 2003(3) East Cri C 511.

The evidence showed that accused had assaulted complainant, his father who died and his wife. Testimony was supported by injuries found on persons of victims. Conviction under Section 304 part-II was held proper. Raska Hans da v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 115 (Jhar). Husband set his wife to fire and she died in spite of treatment in best hospital. Accused husband was convicted under Section 304 I and not under Section 304, Part-II. Paraman v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3379 (Ker) : 2004(2) DMC 535 : 2004(1) KER LJ 697.

In a case where the deceased was assaulted the deceased with lathi on spur of moment and there was premeditation or any intention of accused persons commit his murder. It was held that the accused persons could be said to have knowledge that their act would result into death of the deceased although they had no intention to kill them and thus the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder was made out. Ramadhar Sharma v. State of Bihar, 2005 CrLJ 3874 (Pat) : 2005 (2) EastCriC 84.

In the present case, appellant was not armed with any deadly weapon. From the statements of the witnesses what appears is that the appellant and deceased were grappling and fighting and in that sequence when the deceased jumped down in another field the appellant threw a stone which hit the deceased on his head. It is settled principle of law that Section 304, Part II gets attracted when it is proved that even if the accused had no intention to cause such bodily injury as was likely to cause death but had the knowledge that the injury was likely to cause the death. Baraf Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2005 Cr LJ 3212 (Uttar) : 2005(3) UC 1539 UTR.

Where accused inflicted cart-peg injury on head of deceased without any premeditation during altercation between them when both were going to sarpanch to settle dispute between them therefore accused liable to be convicted under Section 324, IPC and not under Section 304-II, IPC. Bhukya Babilal v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 1315 (AP) : 2004(2) ALD (CRL) 689.

Where victim died after about 20 days from the date of incident in which accused poured edible oil mixed with castor oil on him without intention to kill him therefore while evaluating requisite mens rea and nexus between mens rea and offence, status of parties involved in offence have to be taken into consideration hence offence of accused fell under Section 324, IPC and sentence of one year imprisonment awarded. Yerra Veera Lakshmi v. State of A.P., 2005 (2) Crimes 482 (AP).

11. Abetment of suicide.—The prosecution story, if believed, shows that the quarrel between the deceased and the appellant had taken place on 25th July, 1998 and if the deceased came back to the house again on 26th July, 1998, it cannot be said that the suicide by the deceased was the direct result of the quarrel that had taken place on 25th July 1998. Viewed from the aforesaid circumstances independently, the ingredients of 'abetment' are totally absent in the instant case for an offence under Section 306, I.P.C. It is in the statement of the wife that the deceased always remained in a drunken condition. It is common knowledge that excessive drinking leads one to debauchery. It clearly appeared, therefore, that the deceased was a victim of his own conduct unconnected with the quarrel that had ensued on 25th July, 1998 where the appellant is stated to have used abusive language. Sanju alias Saujoy Singh Sengar v State of Madhya Pradesh, 2002 Cri LJ 2796 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 1998 : AIR 2002 SCW 2035 : 2002(4) Scale 270 : 2002(3) Supreme 650.

12. Section 304, Second part of Section 299.—Section 304 divides offence of culpable homicide into two degrees of guilt, the graver of which depend on the intention proved or to be inferred from all circumstances and the less serious of which does not depend on the intention at all. But though the absence or presence of intention is the criterion to be adopted in deciding on which side of the line an offence under Section 304 falls there are cases in which there is an intention which makes the offence the graver offence of culpable homicide but which would yet fall short of the intention requisite to satisfy Section 300. Cases coming under the last para of Section 299 are either cases under Section 300. In that class of cases, recourse cannot be had directly to the first part of Section 304 unless it is a prima facie case of murder to which some exception applies. AIR I960 Andh Pra 41 : (1960) 1 An WR 313 : 1960 Cr LJ 303.

13. Sections 304 and 300.—In this country if a person were to beat another with a shoe, that is considered to be the height of shame and particularly in the midst of a number of villagers present in the street. Held, there was grave and sudden provocation and the offence was not one of murder under Section 300 but only under Section 304 Part I. AIR 1953 Mad 579 : 1953 Cr LJ 1109 : (1953) 1 Mad LJ 180.

In a case the acid was poured on body of deceased as per evidence of doctor and dying declaration but death had occurred after 37 days and injuries themselves were not sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death, the conviction of accused was altered from under Section 302 to one under Section 304. Sukumaran v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1462 (Ker). The accused, not a license holder fired the gun at the close range of 4-5 feet aiming at the deceaseds' chest. It was considered negligence and conviction was done under Section 304, as it was not a negligence cause. Shankar Narayan v. State of Maharashtra, 1778 (Ker). The accused killed deceased by shouting her on temple but direct evidence in the matter could not be produced. The accused held guilty under section 304. Thamilarasan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1639 (Mad) : 2004(4) All Cri LR 405 : 2004(1) Mad LW (Cri) 401.

Deceased gave birth to three girls so mother-in-law/accused was unhappy and threw burning-wick on clothes of deceased and thereby set them on fire. The post-mortem report of the deceased was placed on record during the trial and doctor, who conducted the post-mortem examination was also examined as a witness in the trial. The said documentary and oral evidence of the doctor, as adduced, that he also treated the patient and conducted the post-mortem examination made it crystal clear that the deceased remained under treatment in hospital for 8 days and died after 8 days of the incident in question. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Sec. 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Sec. 304 Part II of IPC.

We find that the view taken by the trial Court was a cogent and plausible view and, therefore, we hold that the conviction and sentence imposed by the trial Court is justified. Considering the totality of the circumstances and the fact that the appellant is of 85 years of age and had undergone the sentence imposed by the trial Court under the provisions of Sec. 304, Part II of IPC, we set aside the conviction and sentence of the appellant imposed by the High Court of Gujarat and restore the judgment and order passed by the trial Court. Maniben vs State of Gujarat, 2010 AIR SCW 570 : AIR 2010 SC 1261

In the scheme of the IPC culpale homicide is genus and 'murder' its specie. All 'murder' is 'culpable homicide' but not vice-versa. Speaking generally, 'culpable homicide' sans 'special characteristics of murder is culpable homicide not amounting to murder'. For the purpose of fixing punishment, proportionate to the gravity of the generic offence, the IPC practically recognizes three degrees of culpable homicide. The first is, what may be called, 'culpable homicide of the first degree'. This is the gravest form of culpable homicide, which is defined in Sec. 300 as 'murder'. The second may be termed as 'culpable homicide of the second degree'. This is punishable under the first part of Sec. 304. Then, there is 'culpable homicide of the third degree'. This is the lowest type of culpable homicide and the punishment provided for it is also the lowest among the punishment provided for the three grades. Culpable homicide of this degree is punishable under the second part of Sec. 304.

In the instant case, the culpable homicide of his second wife by accused husband, who was suspecting illicit relationship of deceased with the guest who had witnessed accused sitting on chest of deceased and assaulting her with hands, held, was liable to be punished u/Sec. 304 Part II and not for murder u/Sec. 300 and custodial sentence of ten years was held sufficient to meet the ends of justice. Budhi Lal vs State of Uttarakhand, AIR 2009 SC 87 : 2009 CriLJ 360 (SC)

Both parties very closely related to each other and they have dispute with regard to land. Accused came to place of incident fully armed. Object was to sort things out with deceased as he was creating problems for them and their lather over land in question, and to remove him from scene once and for all. Plea of right of defence found rightly rejected. It has also been contended that no case under Sec. 302 of the IPC had been made out and if at all the accused were liable to be convicted under Sec. 304 Part-II of the IPC. We find no merit in this plea. It is clear from the record that the accused had come to the place of incident fully armed with the object to sort things out with the deceased as he was creating problems for them and their father over the land in question and to remove him from the scene once and for all. Furthermore, in the light of the serious injuries caused to the deceased and to prosecution witness the matter does not fall within the ambit of Sec. 304 Part II of the IPC. Chandrappa and Ors. v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2008 SC 2323 : 2008 (11) SCC 328 : 2008 (5) JT 540 (SC) : 2008 (6) Scale 454 (SC) : 2008 (4) SLT 278 (SC) : 2008 (6) SRJ 25 (SC).

In a fight over possession of certain land both parties attacked each other and if two views which emerged out of whole discussion were entitled to the benefits of doubt but in any case they had exceed the right of private defence. The conviction under Section 302 was altered to one under Section 304 and conviction under Section 307 was altered to one under Section 304. Mahendra Paras Yadav v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1492 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 553 : 2004(1) JCJR 142.

The accused came home in a drunken State started quarreling with his wife. His son attempted to interfere to save his mother. The accused picked up a chaffer and inflicted a cut injury on his son on the back of his left leg below the knee. The son died due to excessive bleeding. It was held that the offence committed was not an offence punishable under Section 302, IPC, but the offence was one which was punishable under Section 304, Part-II, IPC. Thankachan v. State of Kerala, 2005 Cr LJ 4130 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3819 : AIR 2005 SCW 4577 : 2005(3) Crimes 255 : 2005(6) Supreme 14.

The case of the prosecution was that the respondent who was armed with a knife had caused injuries on the person of the deceased. The High Court found that the medical evidence on record did not make out a case of murder. The medical evidence on record discloses that the injuries found on the person of the deceased were simple injuries and none of them was described as grievous. There was no evidence to prove that the injuries inflicted on the deceased were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. There was a bruise on the front of the neck of the deceased and the medical evidence disclosed that there was bleeding of the trachea as a result of that injury, and the bleeding resulted in clotting of the blood in the trachea leading to Asphyxia. This injury was not attributed to the respondent, and there was nothing to establish that the injury which ultimately resulted in the death of the deceased was intended by any one. In the circumstances, the offence under Section 302, IPC was not made out and the offence made out was punishable under Section 304, Part-II, IPC. State of Rajasthan v. Jora Ram, 2005 Cr LJ 2578 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 2440 : AIR 2005 SCW 2393 : 2005(4) Scale 461 : 2005(3) Supreme 568.

14. Sections 304 and 326.—The charge against the appellants under Section 304 read with Section 149 of the Penal Code but the jury returned a verdict of not guilty in respect of that charge. They however returned an unanimous verdict of guilty under Section 304 Part II. No charge was framed under this section. They can be held guilty under Section 326 and no prejudice would be caused to the accused thereby. AIR 1958 Assam 44 : ILR (1956) 8 Assam 191 : 1958 Cr LJ 742 ; ILR (1963) 15 Assam 552.

Accused as a member of unlawful assembly allegedly inflicted fatal injury by spear on deceased. There was no motive for accused to cause the injury. The injury was caused during a melee in which six persons took part. It was held that the act of accused wouid amount to causing grievous hurt with deadly weapon under Section 326 and not one under Section 304. Ramu v. State of UP, AIR 2004 SC 1605 : 2004 Cr LJ 1407 : 2004(1) Crimes 325 (S)C 2004(1) Supreme 828 : 2004(2) JT 289.

Court acted in hot case and no proper opportunity given to prosecution to lead evidence. When Court issued summons to witnesses, they should be examined—In case there do not appear coercive method to be used for securing presence of these witnesses—It should not be left on choice of prosecution to examine or not examine witnesses—F.I.R, was lodged and seven injuries found by doctor on person of injured, revision allowed as injustice has crept in and fair trial not done. Case remanded for re-trial. Azaz Hussain v. J.J. Jan and State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR 231 (MP).

Only one injury by kulhari blow was given on the left leg of victim and blow was repeated. Accused did not come armed but picked up kulhari from the spot. Hence accused cannot be said to have remote knowledge that such an injury would result in death. Hence liable to be convicted under Section 326. I.P.C. Sahwarg Singh v. State of Punjab., (1994) 2 Crimes 621 (P & H).

Sentence of fine imposed was also not changed. The death of accused was caused due to injured spleen of deceased but there was no proof to show that accused had caused injuries on spleen. However their involvement in causing head injuries was proved by eye witness's statement. Accused were convicted under Section 326/34. Ganga Paller v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4339 : AIR 2003 (SC) 3191 : AIR 2003 SCW 4547 : 2003(7) Scale 387 : 2003(6) Supreme 649.

Conviction was held under Section 304, Part I appellant inflicted simple injury with axe—Other accused acquitted. Injury by appellant not sufficient to cause death in ordinary courses. Accused appellant could be convicted for his individual act. Hence appellant's conviction altered to one under Section 326. Moti Lal v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LJ 1633 (SC) : (1994) 3 Recent CR 77 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 353 : AIR 1994 SC 1544.

Accused husband and mother in law allegedly demanded money from deceased, beat her and caused her death by strangulating her. There was no evidence to show that the deceased was harassed or money was demanded by accused. The statements of witnesses about harassment caused to deceased recorded by the Mandal Revenue officer were not produced before the Court. Even the copies thereof were supplied to the accused. It was held that the charges u/Secs. 304, 398A & 201, IPC against accused were not proved and hence the conviction was set aside. Mohd. Dowlath v. State of AP, 2004 CrLJ 760 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (CRL) 822 : 2004(1) DMC 447 : 2004 Mat LR 261.

15. Jury.—As this section deals with two kinds of culpable homicide, the jury ought to be asked to say under which part they find the accused guilty. 19 Bom 71 : ILR (1937) 2 Cal 250 : 41 CWN 570 ; 41 CWN 575.

16. Sentence.—In a case of culpable homicide, a sentence of two years' rigorous imprisonment is grossly inadequate. AIR 1950 lah 159. A case of murder which owing to the application of one of the exceptions to Section 300 is reduced to culpable homicide not amounting to murder is punishable, so far as imprisonment is concerned. with a maximum term of ten years, if no intention imputable to the accused under Sec. 299 but only the knowledge therein mentioned. AIR 1939 Rang 225 : 40 Cr LJ 725.

Conviction is nothing but proof of offence committed by a person or otherwise the proof of guilt and sentence is the punishment. According to this Court, so far conviction is concerned the Court should not compromise with that but regarding sentence, Court has to consider many aspects at the time of exercising its discretion that it has to protect society and stamp out criminal proclivity as the same is the object of law at the time of imposing the sentence. The Court has also to keep in mind that in what circumstances the accused committed the offence, what was his age at the time of offence and what is his age ultimately when he is going to suffer the sentence and social background of this family i.e. whether anybody is dependent on him or not and whether the crime committed by him was planned one or occurred due to certain situation that arose at that moment. In the instant case, at the time of commission of offence under S. 304 Part II, the accused was at senile age of late sixty's. But by this time another seven years have already been passed and he is stepping to the age of seventy's. Therefore, the prayer for reduction of sentence was considered with some human touch by this Court. Sentence of 5 years RI reduced to already undergone and with fine. Md. Isub Ali v. State of Tripura, 2008 CriLJ 100 (Gau).

Lenient sentence should be given when the accused committed an offence under grave and sudden provocation or exceeded his right of private defence. 34 Cr LJ 1170 ; 34 Cr LJ 1161 : 35 Cr LJ 461 : 35 Cr LJ 1163 : 35 Cr LJ 1445 ; 42 Cr LJ 755 ; 39 Cr LJ 927 ; 39 Cr LJ 137 ; 37 Cr LJ 931. Considering the youth of the accused a lenient view was taken and the accused was sentenced to six month's R.I. in a charge of hitting his father in rage possibly on account of his refusal to pay him money. The offence was held to be under Section 324 and not under Section 304. 1957 All WR (Sup.) 117 : AIR 1958 Mys 48 : AIR 1957 Mys 159 : 1958 Cr LJ 529 : AIR 1985 SC 236.

Reduction of life imprisonment—Scope.—Santosh Dorjee along with his cousin brother went to an eatery situated for taking food. They placed order and were waiting there. All of a sudden one Bikram Dorjee came there and assaulted Santosh Dorjee by a knife in his belly. Seeing the same assault Sankar panicked and rushed away from the place of occurrence thinking that Bikram Dorjee might assault him. He informed the matter to the parents of Santosh who was by then taken to Birpara hospital. Sankar accompanied father of Santosh from Santosh was later on transferred to Silliguri medical college where he died the next day. Prosecution case the Birpara P.S. was started against the accused Bikram Dorjee under Sec. 304 IPC. After investigation charge sheet was filed. Since the accused pleaded innocence trial was held.

The trial Court found the appellant guilty and convicted him in terms of Sec. 304 Part I IPC. The appeal filed by the appellant was dismissed by the High Court. The only point in support of the appeal is relating to quantum of sentence.

On the peculiar facts of the case, we are of the view that 10 years custodial sentence would meet the ends of justice. The appeal is allowed to the aforesaid extent. The appellant be set at liberty if he has served the sentence imposed. Bikram Dorjee vs. State of West Bengal, AIR 2009 SC 2539 : 2009 (2) Crimes 354 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 325 : 2009 (6) Scale 325 : 2009 (6) SCR 884 : 2009 (3) Supreme 772.

The witnesses have not only named the appellant, but also enumerated the specific role of hitting the deceased by bricks. On analysis of the entire evidence on record, it is abundantly clear that the conviction of the appellant cannot be sustained under Secs. 302/149 IPC. However, we do not agree with the second submission that the appellant also cannot be convicted under Sec. 304 Part II/149 IPC. In our considered view, when the bricks were thrown on the vital parts of the body of the deceased who was an old man of 78 years, in that event, knowledge to commit murder can definitely be attributed to the appellant. In this case, the deceased died instantaneously after receiving the brick injuries. On consideration of the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case, the ends of justice would be met if the conviction of the appellant under Secs. 302/149 IPC is set aside and the appellant is convicted under Secs. 304 Part-II/149 IPC and sentenced to five years imprisonment. Naimuddin vs State of West Bengal, 2010 CrLJ 392 (SC) : AIR 2010 SC 505

The accused was found to have committed offence relatable to Section 304 Part-I and not under Section 302. The plea of accused that incident occurred two decades back was held not tenable as custodial sentence of 6 years even on a liberal approach was to serve the ends of justice. Sentence of fine imposed was also not changed. State of MP v. Ghanshyam Singh, 2003 Cr LJ 4339 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3191 : 2003(8) SCC 13 : 2003(6) Supreme 649 : 2003(41) Crimes 6 (SC).

Altering of conviction—From 304-I to Sec. 304-II. The offence of Sec. 304 Part I IPC is of a higher degree than that of the offence under Sec. 304 Part II IPC, as also held in Ruli Ram vs. State of Haryana, [2002 (7) SCC 691, Para 8.] The learned Single Judge, therefore, was not justified in converting the order of conviction and altering the same from Sec. 304 Part II IPC to Sec. 304 Part I IPC, particularly when the prosecution did not file any appeal. By virtue of the order passed by the learned Single Judge the appellant stood convicted of a higher degree of offence than that of Sec. 304 Part II IPC, although the learned Single Judge altered the sentence from eight years to five years. Jarnail Singh vs. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 1141 : 2009 (3) SCC 391 : 2009 (1) JT 644 : 2009 (1) Scale 610 : 2009 (1) SCR 311 : 2009 (1) Supreme 224 : 2009 (1) SLT 679.

Alteration of conviction—Scope. Clause (b) of Sec. 299 corresponds with Clauses (2) and (3) of Sec. 300. The distinguishing feature of the mens rea requisite under Clause (2) is the knowledge possessed by the offender regarding the particular victim being in such a peculiar condition or state of health that the internal harm caused to him is likely to be fatal, notwithstanding the fact that such harm would not in the ordinary way of nature be sufficient to cause death of a person in normal health or condition. It is noteworthy that the 'intention to cause death' is not an essential requirement of Clause (2). Only the intention of causing the bodily injury coupled with the offender's knowledge of the likelihood of such injury causing the death of the particular victim, is sufficient to bring the killing within the ambit of this clause. This aspect of Clause (2) is borne out by illustration (b) appended to Sec. 300.

Clause (b) of Sec. 299 does not postulate any such knowledge on the part of the offender. Instances of cases falling under Clause (2) of Sec. 300 can be where the assailant causes death by a fist blow intentionally given knowing that the victim is suffering from an enlarged liver, or enlarged spleen or diseased heart and such blow is likely to cause death of that particular person as a result of the rupture of the liver, or spleen or the failure of the heart, as the case may be. If the assailant had no such knowledge about the disease or special frailty of the victim, nor an intention to cause death or bodily injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, the offence will not be murder, even if the injury which caused the death, was intentionally given. In Clause (3) of Sec. 300, instead of the words 'likely to cause death' occurring in the corresponding Clause (b) of Sec. 299, the words "sufficient in the ordinary course of nature" have been used. Obviously, the distinction lies between a bodily injury likely to cause death and a bodily injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The distinction is fine but real and if overlooked, may result in miscarriage of justice.

The above are only broad guidelines and not cast iron imperatives. In most cases, their observance will facilitate the task of the Court. But sometimes the facts are so intertwined and the second and the third stages so telescoped into each other that it may not be convenient to give a separate treatment to the matters involved in the second and third stages.

Considering the factual scenario and the facts that one arrow was shot the offence is covered by Sec. 304 Part I IPC and not Sec. 302 IPC. Though it cannot be laid down that whenever one arrow is shot Sec. 302 IPC will not apply, on the facts of the present case it appears to be so. Therefore, conviction is altered from Sec. 302 IPC to Sec. 304 Part I IPC. Custodial sentence of eight years would meet the ends of justice. Laxminath vs. State of Chhattisgarh, AIR 2009 SC 1383 : 2009 (3) SCC 519 : 2009 (1) JT 365 : 2009 (1) SCR 348 : 2009 (1) Scale 459 : 2009 (2) SLT 754.

Alteration of conviction—Scope. Clause (b) of Sec. 299 corresponds with Clauses (2) and (3) of Sec. 300. The distinguishing feature of the mens rea requisite under Clause (2) is the knowledge possessed by the offender regarding the particular victim being in such a peculiar condition or state of health that the internal harm caused to him is likely to be fatal, notwithstanding the fact that such harm would not in the ordinary way of nature be sufficient to cause death of a person in normal health or condition. It is noteworthy that the 'intention to cause death' is not an essential requirement of Clause (2). Only the intention of causing the bodily injury coupled with the offender's knowledge of the likelihood of such injury causing the death of the particular victim, is sufficient to bring the killing within the ambit of this clause. This aspect of Clause (2) is borne out by illustration (b) appended to Sec. 300.

Clause (b) of Sec. 299 does not postulate any such knowledge on the part of the offender. Instances of cases falling under Clause (2) of Sec. 300 can be where the assailant causes death by a fist blow intentionally given knowing that the victim is suffering from an enlarged liver, or enlarged spleen or diseased heart and such blow is likely to cause death of that particular person as a result of the rupture of the liver, or spleen or the failure of the heart, as the case may be. If the assailant had no such knowledge about the disease or special frailty of the victim, nor an intention to cause death or bodily injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, the offence will not be murder, even if the injury which caused the death, was intentionally given. In Clause (3) of Sec. 300, instead of the words 'likely to cause death' occurring in the corresponding Clause (b) of Sec. 299, the words "sufficient in the ordinary course of nature" have been used. Obviously, the distinction lies between a bodily injury likely to cause death and a bodily injury sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The distinction is fine but real and if overlooked, may result in miscarriage of justice.

The above are only broad guidelines and not cast iron imperatives. In most cases, their observance will facilitate the task of the Court. But sometimes the facts are so intertwined and the second and the third stages so telescoped into each other that it may not be convenient to give a separate treatment to the matters involved in the second and third stages.

Considering the factual scenario and the facts that one arrow was shot the offence is covered by Sec. 304 Part I IPC and not Sec. 302 IPC. Though it cannot be laid down that whenever one arrow is shot Sec. 302 IPC will not apply, on the facts of the present case it appears to be so. Therefore, conviction is altered from Sec. 302 IPC to Sec. 304 Part I IPC. Custodial sentence of eight years would meet the ends of justice. Laxminath vs. State of Chhattisgarh, AIR 2009 SC 1383 : 2009 (3) SCC 519 : 2009 (1) JT 365 : 2009 (1) SCR 348 : 2009 (1) Scale 459 : 2009 (2) SLT 754.

In a Karnataka case, the evidence of injured witness was found reliable and the accused causing fatal injuries were convicted under Section 304/34 but those who had inflicted injuries to a witness was convicted under Section 326. Since the case was pending for the last 13 years, the sentence was reduced to the period already undergone. State v. Salim Khan, 2004 Cr LJ 552 (Raj).

In a case the sentence was reduced in view of the long duration and trifling nature of case in which single injury was caused. Md. Nur Islam v. State, 2003 CrLJ 4370 (Gau).

Reduction of compensation and custodial sentence both—Scope. We find that in a case of this nature where the High Court has altered conviction from Sec. 304 Part I to 304 Part II IPC and has considerably reduced the period of custodial sentence, there was no basis for reducing the compensation as awarded, i.e. Rs. 5 lakhs to Rs. 3 lakhs. No reason has been indicated to justify the reduction. Accordingly, we enhance the quantum of compensation to Rs. 5 lakhs. The balance of amount, if any, required to be deposited shall be so done within a period of four weeks from today. Kaliben Rabari vs. State of Gujarat, 2009 CrLJ 2843 : 2009 (11) SCC 797 : 2009 (7) JT 360 : 2009 (5) Scale 26 : 2009 (5) SCR 331 : 2009 (4) Supreme 392.

In a case where the accused was convicted after setting aside acquittal, sentence of 10 years was reduced to 5 years, as several years, had elapsed after acquittal of accused. State of Rajasthan v. Maharaj Singh, 2004 Cr LJ 4195 : AIR 2004 (SC) 4205 : 2004(3) Crimes 395 (SC) : 2004(6) Supreme 476 : 2004(7) JT 506.

Where accused persons convicted under Section 304 r/w Section 34, IPC, were young men at time of incident about 13 years back having no criminal background, sentenced to period already undergone by them. State of Karnataka v. Salim Khan, 2004 Cr LJ 335 (Kant).

Since accidental death of victim was not direct result of only rash and negligent act of accused hence accused remained in custody for 7 days entitled to reduction in substantive sentence of imprisonment for two months to period already undergone. Bharat Pandharinath More v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 205 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (CRI) 136 : 2004(1) Bom CRI (Cri) 958.

Where the incident took place long back and many years had passed after acquittal of accused, sentence of imprisonment was reduced from seven years to five years in facts and circumstances of the case. State of Karnataka v. Bharkoo Kushali Katharkar. 2004 Cr LJ 4229 : AIR 2004 SC 4333 : 2004(7) SCC 487 : 2004(6) Supreme 472 : 2004(3) Crimes 390 (SC) : 2004(7) JT 208.

The evidence showed that the accused caused death of young boy in a cruel and brutal manner. The accused convicted under Section 302, IPC. The appellate court converted the conviction under Section 304 without specifying whether it came under Part I or II. It was held that no interference with sentence of 7 years imprisonment was called for. Naval Kishore Singh v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 4252 : AIR 2004 SC 4421 : 2004(6) Supreme 445 : 2004(3) Crimes 373: 2004 SCC (Cri) 1967.

In a sudden quarrel, death of the deceased was caused due to blow given by pick axe in the heat of passion. The blow was not repeated and thus there was no intention to cause death. Sentence of eight years was held to be on higher side and it was reduced to three years R.I. Bagdi Ram v. State of MP, AIR 2004 SC 387 : 2004 Cr LJ 632 : 2003(8) Supreme 579 : 2004(1) Crimes 108 (SC) : 2003(10) JT 219.

Where the case was pending for more than 23 years from the date of incident, sentence of five years R.I. was held sufficient to meet the ends of justice. Brij Lal v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 1873.

In case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, the accused inflicted solitary knife blow on stomach of deceased. The accused was aged less than 19 years at the time of incident. It was held that the sentence of 7 years R.I. would meet the ends of justice. Barkat-ullah v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 4482 (All) : 2004 All LJ 3370.

Where the accused was about 55 years at time of incident and he was now 78 years of age, it was held that R.I. for two years and fine of Rs. 20,000/- would be sufficient. State of UP v. Hari Ram, 2004 Cr LJ 1895 (All).

Where in case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, the accused spent more than 7 years in jail, the accused was held liable to be released with immediate effect. Bajirao Maruti Dale v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 1638 (Bom) : 2004(1) Bom CR (Cri) 685.

The accused persons were convicted under Section 304, Part-II read with Section 34. Incident was outcome of some violent quarrel inter se between the groups. It was held that since the accused were young men having no antecedents of criminal background and about 13 years have elapsed from the date of incident, the ends of justice would meet if the accused was sentenced to period already undergone by them. State of Karnataka v. Salim Khan, 2004 Cr LJ 335 : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 32 : 2003(4) All Cri LR 265 : ILR (Kant) 2003(4) KAR 3337.

In a case the accused had undergone ordeal of interacted trial for about five years. They were in custody for more than two years. Appeal was pending for about 14 years.

It was held that in the circumstances, the sentence of ten years R.I. is liable to be rendered to period already undergone. Arjun Mehra v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 3676 (Jhar) : 2005(3) East Cri C 230 : 2005(3) JCR JHA 222 : 2005(4) JLJR 589.

Where the accused was not healthy and the whole family was dependant on him and his parents were also dependants on the accused, the sentence of 7 years R.I. was modified to a period of 4 years and however, the payment of fine as imposed by the lower court was confirmed. Bodo Lokya v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 255 (AP) : 2005(1) Andh WR 116 (A.P.).

When the offence was committed, the accused was a young man of about 22-23 years. He had already undergone over 6-7 years incarceration and had not been able to avail the benefit of bail/suspension of sentence due to his mobility to furnish a surety. He had clean antecedents. There was no motive for committing the offence. The offence was committed in the heat of moment following the quarrel. It was held that in the facts of the case and circumstances, the sentence of life imprisonment, in view of the mitigating circumstances deserved to be modified to a period of 10 years with remission as admissible under rules and benefit of set off of the period undergone in custody under Section 428, Cr PC. Subhash Kumar v. State of Govt. of NCT of Delhi, 2005 Cr LJ 4399 (Delhi) : 2006(1) Crimes 26 : 2005(123) DLT 487 : 2005(4) Rec Cri R 974.

The accused gave simple blow of knife on person of deceased which fell on his throat causing his death. The fact is proved by evidence of eye-witnesses and corroborated by medical evidence. The offence committed is culpable homicide and would fall under Section 304. Part II, I.P.C, Hence conviction and sentence under Section 302 altered to one under Section 304. Part II. Sekhar v. State, 1994 Cri LJ 2479 : 1994 MLJ (Cr) 570 (Mad).

The head injury as proved by the medical report was externally protruding outside. The absence of medical opinion that injury was sufficient in ordinary course of nature to result in death would not make any difference. Hence the offence proved against him under Section 302, I.P.C. was clearly made out. Phoolbhan Saha v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 172 (N) (MP).

Sentence of young boy of 18 years old may be reduced. Narain v. State, 1994 Cr LR 75 (Raj).

Reduction of sentence under Section 304, Part II by High Court not proper particularly when accused remained on bail through out and served only 2-1/2 months in jail. State of Punjab v. Mohinder Singh., AIR 1994 SC 113.

In criminal law inevitable decisions are given in relation to special facts of each case. Hence argument that sentence may be moulded to afford help to dependents of victim cannot be accepted. Madhukar Chandar v. State of Maharashtra, (1994) 1 Bom CR 617.

The deceased had stepped into the mango groves of the accused for dishonestly plucking mangoes in the dead of night and was beaten with a lathi and split bamboo under the heat of the moment. In an appeal from his conviction, sentence was reduced from 5 years R.I. to 4 years R.I. (1986) 2 Crimes 340 (Cal).

The medical evidence lends corroboration to ocular account that deceased as a result of head injury received by him at the hands of appellant with a Tamba on spur of moment without any premeditation. Apart from this both deceased and appellant are close relatives and the appellant has under gone agony of trial for over two years the period of sentence is reduced to rigorous imprisonment for 4 years instead of 8 years. Bhura Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 (2) CC Cases 554 (P & H).

Conviction came under Section 304, Part II I.P.C. an old accused suffering from mental agony. Hence High Court reduced the sentence. Balu Sendappriyar v. State by Inspector of Police, Patukottaim, 1995 Cr LJ 155 (Mad).

Conviction was made under Section 304, Part II—Appeal was hence made—Appellant accused killed his wife and her paramour when found them in compromising position and trial Court rightly found occurrence as sudden and on grave provocation—Sentence of 5 years, imprisonment reduced to one year imprisonment. BibhshanYadav Deshmukh v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 4 Crimes 157 (Bom).

Two persons from side of accused also receiving serious injuries. Both accused and complainant parties closely related, appellant giving only one blow by cricket stump appellant was below 21 years of age even on date of passing of sentence and benefit of probation should be extended which cannot be denied except in rare cases. Bhupesh Ramchandra More v. State of Maharashtra, 1994 (1) Crimes 2 : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 5 : (1994) 2 Bom CR 403 (Bom).

When accused was convicted under Section 304, Part II and sentenced to R.I. of 5 years with fine of Rs. 3.000/- and thereafter he realising his misdeeds tried to commit suicide, Supreme Court had reduced sentence to period already undergone and enhanced fine to Rs. 1,00,000/-. Venkatesh v. State of Tamil Nadu, 1993 Cr LJ 61 (SC) : AIR 1993 (SC) 1230 : 1993 Supp(3) SCC 301 : 1992(2) Scale 698.

Conviction for offence came under Section 304, Part II I.P.C. High Court awarded sentence for period already undergone and a fine of Rs. 4,000/- Appeal against the same was filed, there was long lapse of time. The apex court maintained the imprisonment, however, the fine enhanced to Rs. 10,000/-. State of Punjab v. Mohinder Singh, 1995 SCC (Cr) 147 (SC) : AIR 1994 (SC) 113 : 1994 Cr LJ 3903.

Passenger of bus standing on footboard fell down and expired when bus driver took sharp turn at great speed—Guilt of driver accused established beyond doubt—Occurrence took place 23 years ago, hence conviction was held proper but sentence of one year's imprisonment reduced to period already undergone. Shivdev Singh v. State (Delhi Administration), 1995 Cr LJ 2142 (Del).

Main accused and the deceased were brothers contesting a case of land dispute of long standing. He shot at the deceased where sons were also injured. Held, the co-accused were not responsible for any overt act of the accused who had knowingly and intentionally shot him down. He should be convicted under Section 302. I.P.C. and Section 323, I.P.C. whereas the others should be convicted under Section 323/34. I.P.C. 1986 Cr LJ 197 (All).

An accused of 18 is a child and cannot be tried with adults accused of a dacoity. A minor should be tried by juvenile Court. His conviction was set aside and case remanded to Magistrate concerned for onward transmission to the trial Court i.e., juvenile Court. 1986 Cr LJ 381 (Cal) : (1986) 1 Crimes 185.

The accused were set at liberty for want of evidence on its reappraisal in an appeal since the prosecution failed to bring the guilt to the accused. (1986) 2 Crimes 640.

Death was held in police custody—Trial of Police personnel was made. Prosecution evidence well corroborated—Conviction, was hence sustainable. Sadasivan Mohanachandran v. State of Kerala, 1994 SCC (Cri) 165 ; 1994 Cr LJ 920 : (1994) 1 CCR 1 (SC).

When accused tried for forming unlawful assembly and allegedly killing the deceased in presence of witnesses. All the eye-witnesses except one testifying that they did not witness the occurrence. Only one eye-witness testifying the killing and his testimony well corroborated by medical evidence—However, mens rea being absent. Hence accused cannot be convicted for murder.—Accused, held guilty of offences under Section 304. Part II and 149. Pooma Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LJ 359 (Raj).

Acquittal because identity of the accused not established—There was filed claim-petition by deceased's L.R. W.S. by the accused stating that he was driving the truck at the relevant time. It was held that his acquittal having been recorded and proceeding terminated any statement of a person recorded subsequent to the completion of trial not to be considered for the purpose of reappraisal of evidence. Court to be slow and reluctant in interfering with the order of acquittal in revision application filed by private party. Navinchandra Ramlal Kayastha v. State of Gujarat, 1995 Cr LR 202 (Guj).

The medical evidence establishes beyond all reasonable doubt that the deceased died due to homicidal violence. The nearest kith and kin of the deceased who were present at the scene of occurrence have been cited as eye-witnesses. So far as the part played by the appellant is concerned the evidence of the eye-witnesses is consistent. The High Court however, held on the basis of the injuries found on the four accused persons that there was a free fight and that the prosecution had suppressed the origin of the occurrence. Having held that it was a free fight, the High Court however convicted the accused for their individual acts. So far as the appellant is concerned, the High Court relied on the evidence of P.W. 3 who deposed that it was the appellant who caused the lacerated injury on the head by throwing a stone. As a matter of fact this evidence finds corroboration from the medical evidence. Even in the F.I.R. it was mentioned that it was the appellant who threw the stone on the head of the deceased as a result of which the brain-matter came out. The High Court was given good reasons for convicting the appellant under Section 304, Part II and sentence awarded also is not excessive. Therefore the appeal is dismissed. The appellant who is on bail shall surrender and serve out the remaining period of sentence. Kotwal v. State of M.P., 1994 SCC (Cri) 92 at p. 93 : 1994 Cr MLJ 255 : AIR 1994 SC 564 : 1993(4) Scale 517 : 1994 Cr LJ 255.

Conviction was made under Section 304, of I.P.C. Fight was between two step-brothers. One in drunken state hit the other with Gupti resulting in death—Accused brother 19 year's old remained in custody for 2 year's and 11 months. Conviction was maintained but sentence reduced to period already undergone. Narain v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 199 : 1994 Cr LR (Raj) 266 (Raj).

• When accused killed his wife in order to take revenge but without any provocation, sentence of 5 years R.I. not excessive and fact that accused having four children is no ground to show sympathy. Shanmugham v. Inspector of Police, 1996 Cri LJ 3702 (Mad).

When accused is below 21 years of age at time of occurrence and was not previous convict or with bad antecedents he can be released on probation of good conduct. Sitaram v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cr LJ 1055 (Raj).

Where the accused was about 80 years at the time of the occurrence and he was totally for bidden at the time of High Courts judgment it was held that the ends of justice would be met if his sentence is reduced to that already undergone by him. Dev Singh v. State of Punjab, 2000 Cri LJ 347 (P&H).

When the High Court held that accused had not committed offence of murder and therefore, as a logical corollary he was not liable to be sentenced to life imprisonment. It is difficult to appreciate how the same sentence of the life imprisonment could be imposed on him by enhancing his sentence under Section 304, Part I.

It is now well settled that imposing of sentence is in the realm of discretion of the Court and unless this sentence is found to be grossly inadequate the appellate Court would not be justified in interfering with the discretionary order of sentence. Ram Sajiwan Singh v. State of Bihar, 1996 Cr LJ 2528 (SC) : AIR 1996 (SC) 3265 : 1996(8) SCC 552 : 1996(4) JT 502 : 1996(4) Scale 63.

Where the accused was prompted to commit the crime on account of the fact that the deceased was moving with other persons while her husband was abroad, the sentence under Section 304 (Part–II) was reduced from seven years to five years R.I. In this case, the accused was convicted under Section 304 (Part-II) for killing his sister by implicting Danda blow- Franco 'D' Souza v. State of Goa, 2000 Cri LJ 1985 (Bom).

In the instant case, the accused who was an engineering graduate consumed arsenic poison along with his girl friend but survived. He was found guilty of offence under Section 304, Part II. He was married during pendency of case. He sufficiently suffered mentally and morally. He already remained in jail for 3 years and 10 months. He had old parents to look after. Thus having regard to his age, character, antecedents, his social background, academic background, family obligations and above all the fact that he hardly will have any academic feature, the High Court reduced his sentence to the period already undergone and a fine of Rs. 2 lakh in addition to it. Sanjay Goel v. State of U.P. 2002 Cri LJ 625 (All.) : 2001 All LJ 2713 : 2001(3) All Cri R 2384 : 2002(1) Rce Cri R 356.

The incident had occurred 21 years ago and most of the accused were aged between 55-60 years at the time of Judgment in appeal and with the passage of time their socio-economic conditions must have undergone radical changes during this long interval. Looking to these facts and having regard to the circumstances in which the crime was committed where the accused were unnecessarily suspected of having set fire to the fodder of Nathoo, to the kind of weapons used, the number and nature of injuries caused, the antecedents of the accused persons etc., it would not be reasonable to award severe punishment to the accused and the ends of justice would sufficiently be met if each of the accused is sentenced to three years, R.I. under section 304 Part-II read with section 149 IPC and to pay a fine of Rs. 5000/-. Ganga Singh v. State of UP. 2000 Cri LJ 1965, (All).

It is well established law that while selecting an appropriate sentence the Court should weigh the aggravating as well as mitigating and extenuating circumstances going in favour of the accused. At the time of incident, the accused was a young lady about 17 years of age. By the time after gap of more than 20 years, he must be about 37 years of age. With the passage of time the passion of both sides must have cooled down and there was nothing on record that the accused had any criminal history or that he had indulged on criminal activities during the pendency of appeal. Taking all these circumstances the life imprisonment was reduced to 5 years' R.I. Pramod v. State of U.P., 2001 Cri LJ 925 (All).

When after altercation and fight deceased took out knife and seeing it accused assaulted deceased with bricks at spur of moment, sentence of 10 years imprisonment reduced to period already undergone. Ghasiram Lakra v. State of Orissa, 1997 Cri LJ 939 (Ori).

Where the appellant picked up a heavy stone and threw it down from the roof of his house on the deceased, it was held that it would not be proper to reduce the sentence to the period already undergone by the accused. However, keeping in view the fact that the said accused had faced the agony of trial for a period of more than a decade, the sentence of 2 years. R.I. coupled with sentence of fine awarded by the trial court would be sufficient to meet the ends of justice. Santosh v. State of MP 2000 Cri LJ 1140 (MP).

When sentence imposed is manifestly inadequate, it can be interfered with. Surinder Kumar v. State of Haryana, 1997 Cri LJ 1737 (P&H).

The injuries were four in number and those injuries resulted in internal injuries as well. In the internal examination it was found that left sided 8th and 9th ribs at midaxillary line were fractured. Left lung was also torn. Spleen was ruptured and according to the opinion of the doctor the cause of death was due to shock and haemorrhage (massive) due to rupture of inner surface of spleen. In these circumstances a sentence of fine of Rs. 3000/- was inadequate and it was enhanced to RI of 2 years and fine. State of Madhya Pradesh v. Kamla Shanker, 1999 Cri LJ 2709 (M.P.)

Where the accused inflicted lathi blow on the head of the deceased without any provocation on her side, sentence of seven years imprisonment imposed on him was held not excessive. Umed Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 414 (Raj).

17. Evidence and proof/Eye-witness.—A police constable and not the informant had-witnessed the occurrence as a result of which the F.I.R. was lodged. The appellant was arrested and the trial was pending against 72 years old female. Held, she was entitled to bail. 1986 Cr LJ 365.

Eye-witnesses. After investigation, charge-sheet was filed. As the accused persons pleaded innocence, trial was held. Twelve witnesses were examined to further the prosecution version. The trial Court placed reliance on the evidence of eye-witnesses and found the appellant guilty. Questioning the conviction, the appellant preferred an appeal before the High Court. The stand taken before the High Court that the occurrence took place in course of sudden quarrel was not accepted. The appellant has filed this appeal primarily on the ground that even if the prosecution version is accepted in its totality, case under Sec. 302, IPC is not made out. The appropriate conviction would be under Sec. 304 Part I, IPC. Posuram Deshmukh v. State of Chhattisgarh., AIR 2009 SC 2482 : 2009 (5) SCR 807 (SC) : 2009 (7) JT 120 (SC) : 2009 (5) Scale 332 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 745 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 346 (SC) 2009 (3) JCC 1699 (SC).

Testimony of Eye witnesses—Some omissions—Effect of. The High Court found that the trial Court has over looked the evidence of the eye witnesses, more particularly, PWs. 2 to 5. It was also noted that PW-10 the father of accused Bhola accepted that Kailasho Devi accompanied by her son and the deceased in injured condition came to his shop and on enquiry Fandi Ram and his wife informed him that he was beaten by accused Dharmu and Fundi Ram also nodded his head supporting the version of his wife. The High Court noted that the evidence clearly established that the accused persons took liquor with the deceased in the house of accused Bhola. There was election dispute. PW-10 who was Pradhan proclaimed that he did not vote for a winning party and this was the bone of contention between the accused persons and the deceased. The accused persons were also drunk. They started quarreling with the deceased and gave him a fist blow and assaulted him with some stones which was witnessed by Kailasho Devi and her son Jagdish Singh from their house. Therefore, the order of acquittal was set aside.

It is to be noted that the accused persons pleaded that the evidence of the eye witnesses cannot be accepted as there were omissions, contradictions and discrepancies in the evidence of most of the prosecution witnesses. In the effort of false implication, prosecution made introduction of PW-9, an eye witness. It is fairly settled position in law that even if there are some omissions, contradictions and discrepancies the entire evidence cannot be discarded. After exercising care and caution and shifting the evidence to separate the truth from untruth, exaggeration, embellishments and improvements the Court can come to a conclusion as to whether the residual evidence is sufficient to convict the accused.

Undue importance should not be attached to omissions, contradictions and discrepancies which do not go to the root of the matter and shake the basic version of the prosecution witnesses. A witness cannot be accepted to possess a photographic memory and to recall the deals of an incident verbatim. Ordinarily, it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. A witness could not have been anticipated the occurrence which very often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties cannot, therefore, be expected to be attuned to absorb all the details. Thus, minor discrepancies were bound to occur in the statement of witnesses. Bhola vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1338 : 2009 CrLJ 1885 : 2009 (11) SCC 460 : 2009 (2) SCR 750 : 2009 (3) Scale 186;: See also Sohrab and Anr. vs. The State of M.P., AIR 1972 SC 2020;: State of U.P. vs. M.K. Anthony, AIR 1985 SC 48.

Coming to the plea about variance between medical evidence and ocular evidence, it is to be noticed that even on an casual reading of the evidence it cannot be said that the ocular evidence was at variance with the medical evidence. The High Court has analyzed the medical evidence and the ocular evidence to conclude that the evidence of eye witnesses was cogent and trustworthy and, therefore, held that the trial Court's conclusions were unsustainable. Sripathi vs. State of Karnataka, AIR 2010 SC 249 : 2009 CrLJ 4646 : 2009 (11) SCC 660 : 2009 (7) JT 146 : 2009 (5) SCR 309 : 2009 (5) Scale 5 : 2009 (2) Supreme 319.

We find that the evidence of eyewitnesses clearly establishes the roles played by the Hardeep Singh and Harjinder Singh. It is also clear from the prosecution evidence that on hearing of the exhortation of the acquitted Gurcharan Singh, Jaswinder Singh and Harjinder Singh had given blows on the legs of the deceased. After he fell down, Hardeep Singh gave blow on the head. Similarly Harjinder Singh also gave blows on the head. After the deceased fell down Jaswinder Singh did not attack on any vital part of the deceased's body. He assaulted on the arm of the deceased. In the aforesaid circumstances, while appeal filed by the accused appellants Hardeep and Harjinder Singh is dismissed, the appropriate conviction of Jaswinder Singh would be under Sec. 304 Part II, IPC. Hardeep Singh and Ors. v. State of Haryana, AIR 2008 SC 3113 : 2008 (9) SCR 1114 (SC) : 2008 (10) JT 593 (SC) : 2008 (8) Scale 686 (SC) : 2008 (4) Supreme 501 (SC) : 2008 (8) SLT 38 (SC) : 2008 (3) Crimes 28 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 1818 (SC) : 2008 (4) Recent CR 125 (SC).

Testimony of Solitary eyewitness—Presence of eyewitness at the spot at that point of time was also providential and he has been examined only as a chance witness. The other alleged eye witness namely Chanan Singh, Member Panchayat of village Kasiana was not examined at all on the ground that he was won over by the accused. Manjit Singh, Sarpanch who is stated to be the last and third eye witness turned hostile. Therefore, out of the three eye witnesses' one has become hostile whereas the other was not examined at all by the prosecution and we have only one eye witness, who happens to be the brother of the deceased. If his evidence is discarded there is no other evidence on the basis of which the accused could be convicted.

The entire story sought to be put forth by the prosecution and by eyewitness particularly appears to be doubtful and full of contradictions. It will be unsafe to convict a person on the basis of such unreliable and untrustworthy evidence particularly when such statements are full of embellishment and contradictions, without corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial. Consequently, we set aside the order of conviction and sentence passed against the appellant and give him benefit of doubt. He stands acquitted of the charges. He shall be set free immediately, unless required in any other matter.

PW-7 is said to be the eye witness who has allegedly seen the entire occurrence including the exchange of hot words between the appellant and the deceased in a winter night and that also when it was totally dark. According to him, he could see the entire incident in the light of the headlight of the car.

The aforesaid statement of eyewitness does not appear to be trustworthy and reliable for the simple reason that even though the headlight of the car was on, it would be lighting only the front portion and not the side of the car and may not even have lighted sufficiently to enable PW. 7 to see as to what had happened inside the car. Jarnail Singh vs. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 1141 (SC): 2009 (3) SCC 391 : 2009 (1) JT 644 : 2009 (1) Scale 610 : 2009 (1) SCR 311 : 2009 (1) Supreme 224 : 2009 (1) SLT 679.

Solitary relation witness. It is no doubt true that conviction could be based on the sole testimony of a solitary eye witness but in order to be the basis of conviction his presence at the place of occurrence has to be natural and his testimony should be strong and reliable and free from any blemish. In Chuhar Singh vs. State of Haryana, 1976 (1) SCC 879, this Court held that what is important is not how many witnesses have been examined by the prosecution but what is the nature and quality of evidence on which it relies. The evidence of a single witness may sustain a sentence of death whereas a host of vulnerable witnesses may fail to support a simple charge of hurt. Since the case must stand or fall by the evidence of single witness, it is necessary to examine that evidence critically.

However, when we scrutinize the evidence of PW-7, in the present case, we do not find him to be trustworthy and reliable witness for he is changing his version frequently. He had given one version in the FIR which is reiterated during the course of investigation before the police whereas he had given a totally different version at the time of his statement before the Court. He had stated in the FIR that following the altercation between the deceased and the accused the deceased first gave a knife blow. When inquest proceedings took place on the next day at 7.00 a.m. he stuck to the same version and during investigation also he confirmed the aforesaid allegation made by him whereas in the trial he stated that the accused first gave two knife blows to the deceased and then he tried to commit suicide by giving a knife blow to himself. He had also stated that on receiving those two blows the deceased came through the window and fell down on the ground. The said version also cannot be believed for the deceased after receiving the injuries could not have gone out of the window unless the door was open. The car was allegedly parked with the headlights on and if that was so, the key of the car was available in the starting/ignition switch and, therefore, there was no reason why the said car could not have been driven with the dead body of the deceased and the injured to the hospital as also to the police station by the said PW-7 and the other witnesses allegedly with him at that point of time for it has come in evidence that the other witness knew driving as he was driving the tractor. Jarnail Singh vs. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 1141 : 2009 (3) SCC 391 : 2009 (1) JT 644 : 2009 (1) Scale 610 : 2009 (1) SCR 311 : 2009 (1) Supreme 224 : 2009 (1) SLT 679.

Solitary evidence.—The statement of said witness gets corroborated from the evidence of doctor who had conducted the post-mortem. According to learned counsel for the appellant on the basis of sole evidence conviction cannot be sustained but then law is well settled that even on the basis of a solitary evidence the Court can convict an accused provided the Court is satisfied that the evidence is trustworthy, reliable and does not suffer from any infirmity. In this case at hand on a reading of the evidence of P.W.2, who is a boy of only 14 years, it appears that he had seen the occurrence and had given vivid description as to how his father was assaulted by the accused. The said statement also gets corroborated to certain extent with regard to prior enmity with her mother-P.W.1.P.W.3 was another child witness. He was also travelling in the trolley rickshaw. He had stated that all of a sudden there was altercation between Prafulla and the accused. Of course this witness had not seen the assault part. The said statement reveals that not only he confessed about the guilt but also disclosed as to where he had kept the weapon of offence. On the basis of said statement the police recovered the weapon of offence. The Doctor who had conducted post-mortem also opined that the injuries might have been caused by such weapon. The statement leading to discovery can be accepted under Section 27 of the Evidence Act in evidence.

In view of the discussions made above this Court is satisfied that the conclusions arrived at by the learned Addl. Sessions judge does not suffer from any infirmity and the same are based on cogent and reliable evidence. This Court, therefore, is not inclined to interfere with the said finding. However, it appears, that the accused is in custody for about nine years. That apart, evidence is available to reveal that there was ill-feeling between the deceased and the accused on the allegation that the accused was having illicit extra-marital relationship with the informant. The evidence of P.Ws.2 and 3 clearly reveals that while proceeding on the road all of a sudden there was an altercation between the deceased and the accused and being enraged in the heat of passion without any premeditation took out a knife and indiscriminately stabbed

Prafulla, thereby causing his death. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances this Court feels that ends of justice and equity will be better served if the order of conviction under Section 302 of IPC is set aside and instead the appellant is convicted under Section 304, Part-II, IPC and sentenced to the period of imprisonment already undergone by him. Before parting it is apt to say that the endeavour made by Mr. Soumendra Patnaik who was engaged by this Court as an Amicus Curiae in assisting this Court, is very much appreciated. Sana alias Sanatan alias Dhaneswar Samalv State of Orissa, 2010 Cri LJ 299 (Orissa).

Suppression of genesis of evidence—Discrepancy and inconsistency. The discrepancies coming on record in the evidence of witnesses in no circumstances can be termed to be minors in nature which in our view, are vital for disbelieving and discrediting the evidence of the eye-witnesses. The High Court discarded the important pieces of evidence on the basis of surmises and conjectures. On the day and time of the incident none of the eye-witness including injured witnesses had seen the appellant travelling on Bus. It is their evidence testimony that there were some more persons present at the bus stand, who took the luggage of the appellant after the same was unloaded from the rooftop of the bus. It has come in the evidence of these witnesses that one person hit PW-Laxman Dass. The Investigating Officer has not cared to find out the identity of those persons who were accompanying the appellant on the scene of occurrence and took his luggage or out of those persons who hit PW-Laxman Dass with a stone. It appears that the prosecution has suppressed the genesis of the evidence.

It is the evidence of Fire Arm Expert, that he examined rifle No. 243 of 302 bore which was deposited with the Scientific Branch of the Forensic Science Laboratory by Constable Ram Chhabile. It is clear from the evidence of the Ballistic Expert that the rifle of, 302 bore was sent to him for scientific analysis and not rifle of 315 bore which allegedly was used by the appellant at the time of commission of the offence and which later on was handed over to H.C. Sukhram Singh, who sealed the same in the Police Station. This discrepancy and inconsistency in regard to the use and recovery of the weapon of offence from the possession of the appellant is very vital to discard the truthfulness of the prosecution case. The prosecution has failed to prove that the same weapon of offence was sent to the Ballistic Expert which allegedly was handed over by PW-Vimal Kumar Tiwari or Shambhu Dayal Chaurasia to Head Constable in the Police Station. The contentions of the learned Counsel appearing for the State that such type of minor discrepancy has to be ignored from consideration cannot be accepted.

It is the case of the prosecution that single bullet was fired by the appellant from rifle of 315 bore which caused injuries to four persons.

Witness Tiwari deposed that on the day of incident the appellant fired one single bullet shot, which first hit Prahlad Babu and then Dhanna Lal and the bullet came out of the body of Dhanna Lal and in the process hit two other persons whom he did not know. It has come in his evidence that he could not tell whether all the injured persons were standing in a queue when they received bullet shot.

A Fire Arms Expert examined rifle and he also scientifically examined three live cartridges and one missed fire round. It is his opinion that two pieces of metal could have been fired from above rifle. He placed on record copy of the test report. In cross-examination this witness stated that he could not definitely point out whether pieces of metals i.e. EB2 and EB3 were the pieces of same bullet which was fired from same rifle. It is his opinion that rifle was of .302 bore and not of .315 bore. He also categorically stated that one bullet could cause only one entry wound to a person. Mahendra Pratap Singh vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2009 (11) SCC 334 : 2009 (1) Crimes 424 : 2009 (3) JT 120 : 2009 (2) SCR 1033 : 2009 (3) Scale 122 : 2009 (2) Supreme 175 : 2009 (2) SLT 520 : 2009 (2) JCC 1131.

The witnesses have not only named the appellant, but also enumerated the specific role of hitting the deceased by bricks. On analysis of the entire evidence on record, it is abundantly clear that the conviction of the appellant cannot be sustained under Secs. 302/149 IPC. However, we do not agree with the second submission that the appellant also cannot be convicted under Sec. 304 Part II/149 IPC. In our considered view, when the bricks were thrown on the vital parts of the body of the deceased who was an old man of 78 years, in that event, knowledge to commit murder can definitely be attributed to the appellant. In this case, the deceased died instantaneously after receiving the brick injuries. On consideration of the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case, the ends of justice would be met if the conviction of the appellant under Secs. 302/149 IPC is set aside and the appellant is convicted under Secs. 304 Part-II/149 IPC and sentenced to five years imprisonment. Naimuddin vs State of West Bengal, 2010 CrLJ 392 (SC) : AIR 2010 SC 505

In a Gauhati case the accused stabbed deceased with a dagger resulting into his death. The FIR was promptly lodged mentioning name of accused as sole assailant. Testimony of eye-witness, brother of deceased was found trustworthy. Oral dying declaration made by deceased was corroborated with eye-witness. Medical evidence also supported oral dying declaration. The weapon of offence was recovered at the instance of accused. In view of the fact that injuries on the person of deceased were not on any vital part and that the occurrence took place on a petty quarrel, the Court held that the conviction of accused under Section 304, Part-I was held proper. Damarudhar Nath v. State of Assam, 2004 Cr LJ 1129 (Gau) : 2004(2) Gau LT 1.

When direct evidence is available, the minor discrepancy in the medical evidence may not play an important role. Bada Lokya v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 255 (AP) : 2005(1) Andh WR 116 (AP).

There were vital contradictions in evidence of eye-witnesses. They cause two accused appellants singled out only on ground that they, used iron rod and stone. 15 out of 17 accused were acquitted and occurrence took place 21 years before. Hence conviction under Section 304, Part II 34, I.P.C. is set aside but that under Section 148, 329 and 149. I.P.C. confirmed. Phani Bhushan Das v. State of West Bengal, 1995 Cr LJ 551 (SC) : 1994(6) JT 57 : AIR 1995 (SC) 70 : 1994(4) Scale 136.

Sufficient evidence—Omissions—Contradictions—When not material. It is to be noted that the accused persons pleaded that the evidence of the eye witnesses cannot be accepted as there were omissions, contradictions and discrepancies in the evidence of most of the prosecution witnesses. In the effort of false implication, prosecution made introduction of PW-9, an eye witness. It is fairly settled position in law that even if there are some omissions, contradictions and discrepancies the entire evidence cannot be discarded. After exercising care and caution and shifting the evidence to separate the truth from untruth, exaggeration, embellishments and improvements the Court can come to a conclusion as to whether the residual evidence is sufficient to convict the accused.

Undue importance should not be attached to omissions, contradictions and discrepancies which do not go to the root of the matter and shake the basic version of the prosecution witnesses. A witness cannot be accepted to possess a photographic memory and to recall the deals of an incident verbatim. Ordinarily, it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. A witness could not have been anticipated the occurrence which very often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties cannot, therefore, be expected to be attuned to absorb all the details. Thus, minor discrepancies were bound to occur in the statement of witnesses.

The High Court has analysed the evidence in the aforesaid background and has rightly come to the conclusion that the guilt of the accused persons has been established. Prithu vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2070 : 2009 (11) SCC 588 : 2009 (3) JT 440 : 2009 (2) SCR 765 : 2009 (3) Scale 192;; See also Sohrab and Anr. vs. The State of M.P., AIR 1972 SC 2020;; State of U.P. vs. M.K. Anthony, AIR 1985 SC 48.

Substantial part of the statement disbelieved not other part of the statement of the witness may not be declared false. But that will be very good reason to closely examine the remaining part. Bans Raj v. State of U.P., 1994 Cr R 114.

Where oral evidence of witnesses that accused caused stab injury on back shoulder of deceased was corroborated with medical evidence than even in absence of premeditation or pre-plan, finding of guilt of accused stand proved. David v. State, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 40 (Mad).

18. Power of High Court.—Where the accused is found not guilty and acquitted of the offence punishable under Section 302, but is found guilty under Section 304, the High Court as a Court of appeal has no power to convert the finding of acquittal into one of conviction under Section 302 and to enhance the sentence imposed on him. AIR 1950 All 380. In AIR 1944 All 137 : 42 Cr LJ 38 (SB). Sir Iqbal Ahmed, C.J., said" An appellate Court is, subject to the other provisions contained in the Code, empowered under Section 423 (I)(b)(2) to alter finding of acquittal into one of conviction even though no appeal has been preferred by the Provincial Government. This power is however, subject to the condition that the Appellate Court can not enhance the sentence imposed by the trial Court. Section 439, Cr Pr. Code, empowers the High Court to enhance the sentence in exercise of its revisional powers ; but as was pointed out by Their Lordships of the Privy Council in AIR 1928 PC 254 : 29 Cr LJ 828 that the High Court while dealing only with the application for revision, has no jurisdiction to convert the trial Court's finding of acquittal on the charge of murder into one of conviction of murder. Ibid; AIR 1955 SC 178 : 1955 Cr LJ 1642 ; AIR 1979 SC 1104 : 1979 Cr LJ 516 : (1980) 1 Cal HN 504.

19. Interference by Supreme Court.—The Supreme Court will not interfere in an appeal by special leave, with a conviction under this section. AIR 1971 SC 2268 : 1971 Cr LJ 1355 ; 1980 Cr LJ 1014 : AIR 1980 SC 1315.

20. Procedure.—Cognizable—Warrant—Not Bailable—Not compou-ndable—Triable by Court of Session.

21. Retrial.—Retrial can be ordered for wrong direction to the jury or trial by a wrong Court. 35 CWN 458 : 32 Cr LJ 598 : AIR 1931 Cal 345 : 44 CWN 651 ; 41 CWN 575 ; AIR 1932 Cal 487 : 33 Cr LJ 645 : 36 CWN 164.

22. Charge.—I (name and office of Magistrate, etc.) hereby charge you (name of the accused) as follows—

That you, on or about the....................day of........................., at,....................... committed culpable homicide not amounting to murder with the intention his death on a grave and sudden provocation [as the claim] causing the death of....................and thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 304. clause 1 or clause 2 (as the case may be) of the Indian Penal Code, and within my cognizance.

And I hereby direct that you be tried by me of the above charge.

23. Intention—In Tholan v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 1984 SC 759 (1984 Cri LJ 478) their Lordships believed that when an accused dealt only one blow with a knife the offence is not an offence under Section 302 IPC but an offence under Section 304, Part II IPC. The intention of the accused had been established by single blow but by giving single blow it was interpreted that the accused was having the knowledge and consequences of his act and, therefore, the accused was convicted for the offence under Section 304, Part II, IPC. In Ranjitsingh Chandrasingh Atodaria v. State of Gujarat, AIR 1994 SC 1060 (1994 Cri LJ 1425) the same principle was applied as laid down by their Lordships in the aforesaid decision (Supra). In Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P v. Gali Satyanarayana, 2000 Cri LJ 1753 (A.P.), the accused had inflicted only one stab injury on the left side of chest of the deceased little below nipple causing his death. Therefore, the act of the accused was not an offences punishable under section 302, IPC but it was an offence punishable under Section 304, Part II , IPC.

Intention to cause death - Circumstances from which can be gathered. Court has to proceed to decide the pivotal question of intention, with care and caution, as that decides whether the case falls under S. 302 or 304 Part I or 304 Part II. The intention to cause death can be gathered generally from a combination of a few or several of the following, among other, circumstances : (i) Nature of the weapon used; (ii) Whether the weapon was carried by the accused or was picked up from the spot; (iii) Whether the blow is aimed at a vital part of the body; (iv) The amount offeree employed in causing injury; (v) Whether the act was in the course of sudden quarrel or sudden fight or free for all fight; (vi) Whether the incident occurs by chance or whether there was any premeditation; (vii) Whether there was any prior enmity or whether the deceased was a stranger; (viii) Whether there was any grave and sudden provocation, and if so, the cause for such provocation; (ix) Whether it was in the heat of passion; (x) Whether the person inflicting the injury has taken undue advantage or has acted in a cruel and unusual manner; (xi) Whether the accused dealt a single blow or several blows. Hari Singh and Anr. v. State, 2008 CriLJ 2133.

Single lathi injury on the head—Intention to cause injury was held to be absent—However knowledge (requisite) can be inferred. Offence falls under Section 304. Part II. Badri Prasad v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 757.

The dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries. There is also evidence on record to prove ant establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under Clause (4), of Sec. 300 of IPC. Maniben vs. State of Gujarat, 2009 (12) SCR 753 : 2009 (8) SCC 796 : 2009 (3) Crimes 298 (SC) : 2009 (12) JT 82 : 2009 (10) Scale 654 : 2009 (5) Supreme 700 : 2009 (4) JCC 2564.

Nobody, chase person with sword for any benevolent purpose. It is unfortunate, instead of causing the death of Aslam Khan the accused caused the death of his brother. It is nothing but change of malice from one brother to another brother. From these facts we are of opinion that it is not a case in which the benefit of Sec. 304-I, IPC or Sec. 304-II, IPC can be given to the accused. One has to see the intention and the intention of the accused in the present case is more than apparent that he chased Aslam Khan with sword and on his failure to catch hold of Aslam Khan with sword he caused the death of an innocent bystander who has not given any provocation to the accused for the murderous act. It is the intention which was predominantly present in his mind when the accused chased Aslam Khan and therefore, this intention he satisfied by inflicting the murderous blow on the deceased on his vital part of body. Therefore, under these circumstances, we are of opinion that the conviction of the appellant under Sec. 302, IPC is well founded and there is no ground to interfere in this appeal.

However, so far as the present case is concerned, we are satisfied that the intention of the accused is more than apparent when he chased Aslam Khan after taking out a sword from his house and since he could not succeed to cause injury on Aslam Khan he diverted his malice on his brother an innocent person who was present and gave no cause to this accused. Therefore, under these circumstances, we do not find any merit to convert the offence under Sec. 302 IPC to either Sec. 304-I, IPC or Sec. 304-II, IPC. Rahimbux v. State of M.P., AIR 2008 SC 3111 : 2008 (8) SCR 213 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 763 (SC) : 2008 (6) SLT 35 (SC) : 2008 (3) Crimes 48 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1369 (SC).

Only one blow on head caused death. The action of accused after the blow shows that he never intended to cause his death. Hence conviction altered to one under Section 304, Part II and sentence reduced. Kailash Hazari Lal v. State of M.P, 1995 Cr LR 182 (MP).

While deciding whether an intention to cause an injury which is, sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death.—Courts must consider the nature of the injuries caused and attendant circumstances. Jagpati v. State of M.P., 1995 SCC (Cr) 397 (SC) : AIR 1993 (SC) 1360 : 1994 Supp(1) SCC 460 : 1993 CrLJ 1058.

Non-planned, non-intention and a result of sudden provocation was the cause of death—Conviction under Section 302, rightly converted under Section 304. Part II. Naval Singh v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 242 (MP).

There was found no motive, no intention or no knowledge to cause death. 'Post mortem' report about injury not mentioning nature of injuries and which injury caused death and evidence of Medical Expert cannot be relied upon. Hence conviction under Section 304, Part II set aside and accused convicted under Section 323 instead. Sugna Ram v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 523 (Raj).

Death was caused with no intention to murder in the heat of passion. In this case it was held that a person being headless doing act which was not premeditated, case falls within the Exception IV of Section 300, I.P.C. and as such the accused-appellant can be held liable under Section 304, Part I of the I.P.C. and not under Section 302, I.P.C. Korma Munda v. State of Bihar, (1995) East Cr C 691 (Pat).

Accused set the victim on fire—No intention to cause death was made out requisite knowledge that death is likely to be caused can be imputed on the accused. Prakash and another v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 CCR 445 (BD).

When the accused was pushing the old deceased. Deceased's head hit the door frame and died hence neither the intention nor the knowledge can be imputed to the accused—Conviction held, to be altered to one under Section 325, I.P.C. Dina and Dinabhandh v. State, (1995) 4 Crimes 480 (Ori).

It was held that it is a case of intentional landing of blows on vital organ of body and therefore, the accused must be held guilty of intentional infliction of injuries which were likely to cause death. Hence accused deserves to be convicted under Section 304, Part. I.P.C., instead of Section 302, I.P.C. Naresh Kumar v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 181 (Raj) (DB).

Accused giving no threat to the complainant so as to cause death or grievous hurt no offence under Section 506, I.P.C. is made out. 1993 Cr LJ 85 (P & H).

Accused assaulted deceased by crow-bar without much force. Deceased dragged for some distance. It was hence held that there being no intention to cause death. Section 304, Part II is applicable. Krupasindhu Bhoi v. State of Orissa, 1995 Cr LJ 1488 (Ori).

When evidence of related eye-witness is reliable and corroborated by medical evidence delay in lodging FIR is of no consequence. However in absence of intention to cause fatal injury, offence falls under Section 304, Part II. IPC. Ujjagar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1997 Cri LJ 2633 (P&H).

24. Conviction.—The accused in a fit of anger had thrown a lighted lamp over the deceased. The plea of accused that he did the act in a fit of anger without any intention to do it was not accepted and his conviction under Section 304 Part II was held proper. Sheikh Nurjehan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 78 : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 592 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 291 : 2004(1) Crimes 185.

Appeal against conviction.—If apparently accused had fired only in the air with an idea to scare away the aggressors so that they should scatter then he has obviously committed no offence. It was nobody's case that he had fired at the two dead persons. The finding of both Courts is clear that only accused Nos. 3 and 4 had fired. The High Court dismissed the appeal of appellant Deomuni Sharma on the wrong impression that even he was convicted of the offence under Sec. 302, IPC substantively or with the aid of Sec. 149, IPC, one look at the Trial Court's judgment suggests that he was not so convicted. The Trial Court convicted him only of offence under Sec. 307 read with Sec.

149, IPC. Therefore, the very basis of the High Court judgment against the appellant is knocked down. The other appellants who were convicted for the offence under Sec. 304 Part I, IPC have not filed any appeal nor has the prosecution come up in appeal against this finding and the consequent conviction for offence under Sec. 304 Part I, IPC. Therefore, this finding has become final. Reading the finding as it is, along with the finding given, it is clear that the appellant's conviction which is also not specifically referred to by the High Court is per se incorrect as the appellant was never convicted for the offence under Sec. 302, IPC and even that finding of the Sessions Judge was never challenged by the prosecution. Deomuni Sharma v. State of Jharkhand., AIR 2009 SC 2731 : 2009 (9) SCR 587 (SC) : 2009 (8) Scale 303 (SC) : 2009 (4) Supreme 459 (SC) : 2009 (6) SLT 83 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 490 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3948 (SC).

The witnesses have not only named the appellant, but also enumerated the specific role of hitting the deceased by bricks. On analysis of the entire evidence on record, it is abundantly clear that the conviction of the appellant cannot be sustained under Secs. 302/149 IPC. However, we do not agree with the second submission that the appellant also cannot be convicted under Sec. 304 Part II/149 IPC. In our considered view, when the bricks were thrown on the vital parts of the body of the deceased who was an old man of 78 years, in that event, knowledge to commit murder can definitely be attributed to the appellant. In this case, the deceased died instantaneously after receiving the brick injuries. On consideration of the totality of the facts and circumstances of the case, the ends of justice would be met if the conviction of the appellant under Secs. 302/149 IPC is set aside and the appellant is convicted under Secs. 304 Part-II/149 IPC and sentenced to five years imprisonment. Naimuddin vs State of West Bengal, 2010 CrLJ 392 (SC) : AIR 2010 SC 505

Upon the refusal to serve wine, accused inflicted one knife blow on the chest—Consequently death of the deceased has occurred and act not being premeditated. No previous enmity was proved hence conviction for murder has to be altered to one under Section 304, Part I. I.P.C. Prakash alias Omprakash v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 CCR 411 (Raj).

There were three external lacerated injuries. Doctor did not opine as to which of these injuries was individually sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death—Appeal was allowed and appellant convicted for offence under Section 304. Part I, I.P.C. Ratan Kumar v. State, (1995) 8 OCR 79 (Ori).

The evidence of 'J' (P.W. 1) in this regard is very important. According to appellant he has purchased this land from 'J' but she has denied having sold this land to him. This takes out the bottom of appellant's claim. Under the circumstances the Sessions Judge made no mistake in holding that appellant was an aggressor and a trespasser. Hence conviction must be sustained. Bhulau v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 21.

Accused assaulted the deceased without premeditation on a sudden fight on heat of passion. Accused also suffered head injury which though simple was on vital part of the body. There was no clear evidence to show intention to cause death. It was held that the act could be said to have been done with knowledge that it was likely to cause death and thus the accused was liable to be convicted for offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Balu Raosaheb Navale v. State of Maharashtra, 2005 Cr LJ 366 (Bom) : 2004 Adl MR (Cri) 2602 : 2004(2) Bom CR (Cri) 730.

There were no conclusive finding regarding actual cause of death. Injuries found on body of deceased were simple. There were strained relations between appellants and deceased. In the absence of any evidence that injuries inflicted on deceased were of the nature which were likely to cause death or that the accused had knowledge that the same could have caused death of deceased, conviction under Section 304, Part II, I.P.C. is not sustainable. Hence appellant held, guilty under Section 323, I.P.C. Mariana D' Souza (Miss) v. State, 1994 (2) Crimes 435 (Bom).

Offence fell under Section 304, Part II, conviction was made by trial Court—Parties were related to each other injuries on accused party not explained—Benefit of doubt was given—Conviction order was set aside. Prahlad Apto v. State of A.P., (1994) 3 Crimes 764 (AP).

Trial for offence which fell under Section 304, Part II, medical evidence corroborating the ocular evidence. Prosecution evidence inspiring confidence—Conviction was held, sustainable, Sadasivam Mohanachandran v. State of Kerala, (1994) 1 CCR 1 (SC) : 1994 SCC (Cr) 165 : 1994 Cr LJ 920 : AIR 1994 SC 654.

Conviction of the accused which fell under Section 304, on account of his hurling a bomb on the mob and causing the death of a lady. Prosecution version being trustworthy and inspiring confidence. Conviction need not be interfered with. Bimbadhar Parida v. State of Orissa, (1994) 1 East Cr C (NOC) 13 (SC).

Where the accused was not armed with any weapon and had only kicked the victim from behind, it was held that the accused could not have intention to cause death but certainly he had caused such bodily injury to decease which was likely to cause his death and therefore, the accused was liable to be convicted for offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Magan Singh v. State of Uttaranchal, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 189 : (2005) 2 Crimes 516 (Uttaranchal) : 2005(52) All Cri C 396 : 2005(2) Crimes 516 : 2004(4) Cur Cri R 143.

Trial of offence which fell under Section 304, Part II, I.P.C.—Accused's identity not well established and testimony of the sole eye-witness being shaky and not inspiring confidence.—Conviction, was held non sustainable. Nathu v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 Crimes 309 (Bom).

Assault was made with brick on forehead of deceased. Incident occurred when B.D.O. came for enquiry against sarpanch on complaint from appellant. At the spot 40 to 50 villagers present but no independent witness examined. Only brother of deceased and sarpanch examined as eye-witnesses. Names of assailants not disclosed to B.D.O., registration of F.I.R. suspicious.—Evidence of eye-witnesses not inspiring confidence—Both eye-witnesses inimical with appellant accused. It was held not safe to sustain conviction and appeal was allowed. Jaspreet Singh. v. State of Punjab, (1995) 4 Crimes 296 (P & H).

Trial for the offence under Section 304, Part II, I.P.C. deceased and accused were brothers. On slight provocation of the deceased, the accused losing his self-control and killing him by stabbing. There was absence of motive for killing. However, evidence on record clearly indicating the guilt of the accused—Barring minor discrepancies in the evidence—Conviction was rightly recorded. Anver v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 727 (Mad).

Conviction under Section 304, Part II when offence was of murder. Incident took place at the spur of moment—Only 2-3 fist blows and kicks inflicted. There was found no previous enmity. No intention to cause death and no knowledge that such blows will cause death. Hence conviction was altered to one under Section 323. State v. Ulam Mustafa, (1995) 1 RCD 126 (Raj).

Where there was voluntarily causing of grievous hurt. Accused's action falling under Section 325, I.P.C.—He cannot be held guilty of offence under Section 304, Part II, for culpable homicide not amounting to murder and hence alteration of sentence from three years' rigorous imprisonment to one year's R.I. under Section 325, I.P.C, justified. Shailesh alias Shailendra son of Bhalchand alias Appasaheb Fulzele v. State of Maharashtra, (1995) 1 B Cr C 384 (Bom).

Conviction came under Section 302, I.P.C. when the offence was of murder, injuries inflicted with sharp edge of an axe on non-vital part of body of deceased and fatal injury inflicted on temple region by blunt side of axe. It was thus as revealed from nature and location of injuries assault was not to cause murder. Thus conviction altered to one under Section 304, Part II. Sunderram v. State of M.P., 1995 MP LJ 67 (Notes) (MP).

Hitting the head successively with heavy weapon—Indicative of appellant's intention to cause death of the deceased does not cover under the exception. Punishable not under Section 304, Part I but under Section 302. I.P.C. No conversion possible. Subunga Malik v. State, (1995) 2 CCR 285 (Ori).

Conviction for offence falls under Section 304, Part II—Appeal against the same was filed abnormal conduct of eye-witnesses during trial their testimony not substantiated by any other evidence—Conviction held non-sustainable. Anna v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 794.

Appeal which was filed against seven years imprisonment was challenged in appeal. Thus it was held that the Additional Sessions Judge made no mistake in holding that the appellant was an aggressor and a trespasser, hence conviction of the appellants must be sustained. Bhulau v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR (MP) 97 (MP).

Conviction was made under Section 304, Part II, I.P.C.—Appeal against the same was filed and there was delay in F.I.R. There was non-examination of the in7dependent witnesses and conviction was based on sketchy evidence—It was held non-sustainable. Kashi Naresh and Nanhhu Singh v. State of U.P., (1995) 4 Crimes 356 (All).

Fatal injuries were caused to the accused from merciless beating from the split bamboo and lathi on the head of the victim, while stealing mangoes from his grove. The dying declaration of the deceased was corroborated by independent witness disinterestedly. Held, not only the dying declaration of the victim recorded by the I.O at the hospital was correct but his conviction was equally justified. (1986) 2 Crimes 349 (Cal).

The injury on accused was caused prior to incident and murder took place in retaliation. No self-defence right is available in retaliation. Hence conviction does not warrant interference, Bheralal v. State of M.P., 1995 Cr LR 190 (MP).

Accused assaulted victim to outrage her modesty in presence of three more ladies in a fair—Uncle of victim interfered when accused persons assaulted him also resulted in his death after two days and statement of victim contradictory and full of improvements and not supporting prosecution-story. Evidence of other eye-witness ladies was not convincing—Prosecution evidence being very weak. Hence conviction was set aside. Anil S/o Balaji Lade v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 2149 (Bom).

In quarrel between accused and deceased when act of giving stick blows was not preplanned but done at spur of moment, conviction under Section 304, Part II proper. Karuppiah v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3776 (Mad).

The accused even according to the prosecution case, was in a fully drunken state. The deceased who was also in a state of complete intoxication was not in a position to talk as stated by P.W. 2 and he would not have been in a position to respond to the demands made by the accused. The accused must have been trying to evoke favourable response from him with regard to the collections made on the previous day. The process of beating, abusing and dragging must have continued for quite some time.

In the result, the conviction and sentence under Section 304, Part I of the Indian Penal Code was confirmed. Dedukula Khabala v. State of A.P. 1996 Cr LJ 2196 (AP).

In case of injuries on left hand and belly of deceased caused by arrows from long distance when no particular injury which would prove fatal thereby was intended, appropriate conviction would be under Section 304, IPC. Nara Singh Challan v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 2204 (Ori).

25. Acquittal.—When accused caused injury on head with back side of weapon and victim survived conviction under Section 304 not attracted. Harendra Nath Mandal v. State of Bihar, 1993 Cri LJ 2830 (Pat).

The accused inflicted simple injury with axe which resulted in death of deceased. Hence accused could be convicted for his individual act even if all other accused were acquitted. Moti Lal v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1994) 3 Recent CR 77 (SC) : 1994 Cr LJ 1633 : (1994) 2 East Cr C 353 : AIR 1994 SC 1544.

The statement of eye-witnesses who are related is discrepant and not supported by medical evidence. Their evidence shows that main culprit was 'D' who has been acquitted. No appeal against his acquittal. In view of this evidence the appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt and therefore entitled to be acquitted. Bhimsen v. State of M.P., 1994 Cr LR (MP) 17.

Conviction was made under Section 304, Part II—Fatal knife injuries on accused not explained—Prosecution failed to establish prosecution story—Hence accused was acquitted. Mohabbat Singh v. State of Rajasthan. 1994 RCC 48 (Raj).

The deceased was allegedly wrongfully confined in police station and assaulted by three police constables. He died after he was admitted in the hospital. The other police personnel stated exactly opposite in cross-examination to what they had stated in examination-in-chief. In the absence of any reliable evidence to show that the accused wrongfully confined the deceased and caused any specific injury to him, the accused was held entitled to acquittal. Damber Bahadur Chettri v. State of Sikkim, 2005 Cr LJ 808 (Sikkim).

26. Motive.—The kurta containing blood-stains was not sent for chemical examination. Death was by use of force. There was no motive and no pre-meditation Hence conviction converted to that under Section 304, Part II I.P.C. instead of under Section, 302, I.P.C. Conviction under Section 323, confirmed. Chunnu Lal v. State, 1995 JIC 219 (All).

Where a case accused was nephew in relation of the deceased and close friend and motive of crime was not established and accused is not of a bad character, it was observed that conviction under Section 304, Part III should be maintained. 1988 (1) Crimes 208 (Raj).

27. Dying declaration.—Charge was of killing daughter-in-law by mother-in-law. Conviction was given. The written dying declaration on record corroborates statement of P.W. 5 to whom first dying declaration was made. The dying declaration is perfectly correct and does not smell of any infirmity. Hence order of conviction and sentence passed by trial court is confirmed. Kashibai v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1995) 3 CCR 323 (MP).

Reliance on Dying declaration. The basis of conviction of the accused is the dying declaration. The situation in which a person is on the deathbed is so solemn and serene when he is dying that the grave position in which he is placed, is the reason in law to accept the veracity of his statement. It is for this reason that the requirements of oath and cross-examination are dispensed with. Besides, should the dying declaration be excluded it will result in miscarriage of justice because the victim being generally the only eyewitness in a serious crime, the exclusion of the statement would leave the Court without a scrap of evidence.

There is no material to show that the dying declaration was the result or product of imagination, tutoring or prompting. On the contrary, the same appears to have been made by the deceased voluntarily. It is trustworthy and has credibility.

As a matter of fact, the dying declaration refers to one of the parts of the incident as described by PW. 1. Even otherwise the dying declaration clearly implicates the accused appellant. To add to that is the recovery of the weapon of assault. Unfortunately, the trial Court did not discuss the evidence relating to recovery and discarded the same without indicating any reason. There was no discussion by the trial Court to discard the dying declaration. S.P. Devaraju vs. State of Karnataka, AIR 2009 SC 1725 : 2009 (12) SCC 676 : 2009 (2) Scale 572 : 2009 (2) JT 408.

Wayward habits of accused resulting in frequent quarrel between accused and his deceased-wife. In the light of the law laid down by this Court we have critically examined dying declaration made by the deceased and the surrounding circumstances. There is no doubt whatsoever that the statement made by the deceased was on her own volition. It was voluntarily made without any coercion or tutoring of anyone. The statement is natural and coherently made by the deceased in a fit state of mind. There is nothing on record to doubt the evidence of PW-2 who recorded the dying declaration and evidence of duty doctor, who certified that the deceased was in fit state of mind to make her statement. Except PW-2 and doctor no other individual was present when she made the statement. We do not find any reason whatsoever not to accept the dying declaration. Suffice it to say that the High Court took a very lenient view in convicting the appellant for the offence punishable under Sec. 304, Part I, IPC and sentencing him to undergo rigorous imprisonment only for a period of seven years. Ongole Ravikanth v. State of A.P., AIR 2009 SC 2129 : 2009 (10) SCR 155 : 2009 (8) JT 88 (SC) : 2009 (8) Scale 824 (SC) : 2009 (5) SLT 137 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3944 (SC) : 2009 (3) JCC 2414 (SC).

When death of the deceased by burning caused by his wife. Incident was seen by his son and daughter. Evidence of eye-witnesses and dying declarations established guilty of accused wife. Hence conviction under Section 304, Part I though improper, it is maintained as no appeal was filed by State. T. Anjanamma v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1995 Cr LJ 1462 (AP).

Conviction based on dying declaration—Doctor opining that injuries on head being serious death could have been instantaneous—However doctor not ruling out possibility of injured being conscious for some time—Held, dying declaration being possible—Evidence of direct witness being simple and straight-forward amply corroborated dying declaration—Held, conviction confirmed, Panna v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1140.

28. Knowledge.—Accused was not having any knowledge that such injury would cause death or was likely to cause death. Hence conviction under Section 304, Part II was not proper. However offence under Section 325, I.P.C. was made out as injury was caused by stump i.e., blunt weapon object. Shailesh alias Shailendra v. State of Maharashtra, 1995 Cr LJ 914 (Bom).

In the case accused gave electric connection to the wire around paddy, field for the purpose of hunting boars but instead one person died of electric shock. Owner of the land had seen in the previous evening and had warned the accused that some human being might get caught and die. It was held that the case was where knowledge was involved and not the intention. Therefore, prima facie, the acts of the accused would amount to an offence punishable under Section 304. For coming under Section 304-A there should be neither intention nor knowledge. 1987 Cri LJ 1817 (Mad).

Appeal was made against conviction—Injury was by knife—Witnesses proved the case and knowledge of injury to cause death established. Conviction was held justified. Hussain Ahmad v. State of U.P., 1994 JIC 122 (All) (DB).

Appellant throwing bomb on a mob—With the knowledge that it had likely to cause death—Thus causing death of a lady—Conviction was made under Section 304, Part II, irrespective of the fact whether the bomb fell on the deceased or vice versa. No interference warranted. Bimbadhar Parida v. State of Orissa, 1994 SCC (Cri) 26 : 1993(4) JT 551 : 1993 Supp(4) SCC 34 : 1993(3) Crimes 284 : 1993(3) Scale 361.

Where accused gave knife blow on vital part of body of the deceased, it can be inferred that accused had knowledge that injury would cause death though he may not have intention to commit murder, hence conviction under Section 304, Part II, proper. Mavila Thamban Nambiar v. State of Kerala, 1997 Cri LJ 831 (SC) : AIR 1997 (SC) 687 : 1997(1) JT 367 : 1997(1) Scale 145 : 1997(1) Supreme 452.

29. Benefit of doubt.—Prosecution for offence which fell under Section 304, Part II—Accused pleading alibi—Accused being a government servant—Nature of the duties of the accused was such that his absence from duty during lunch hours did not seem probable—Accused, held, entitled to the benefit of doubt. Satya Pal v. State of U.P., 1995 JIC 77 (Alld).

Prosecution alleging injuries caused by accused with brickbats and lathis belied by medical evidence and not free from suspicion—Ocular evidence was held doubtful accused entitled to benefit of doubt. Avtar Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 CrLJ 876 (P&H).

In the present case, which is based on circumstantial evidence the probability cannot be ruled out that the said dal was cooked by some other lady, who was also admittedly present in the house of B on the date of the incident. Consequently, this hypothesis can also not be ruled on that the said dal was served without knowing that poison was mixed in the said dal. In any case there is no evidence to indicate as to which of the two accused appellants mixed the said poison in the said dal and therefore, both of the accused appellants were entitled to get benefit of doubt and were entitled to be acquitted of the charges framed against them. Smt. Haribai v. State of M.P., 1996 Cr LJ 2143 (MP).

Discrepancy between description of assailant given in FIR and actual description of features of accused given in identification memo, entitle accused to be given benefit of doubt. State of U.P. v. Avinash, 1997 Cri LJ 966 (All).

30. Confession.—In case of circumstantial evidence each of circumstances relied on by prosecution must be proved without any missing link between circumstances establishing that the deceased alone committed the offence. The corroboration of extra-judicial confession need not be in material particulars but can be only corroboration in general. Motive alone cannot be a deciding factor but in instant case non-examination of 'V' a friend of accused does not affect sanctity of extra-judicial confession, accused acquitted. Panchavamam v. State, (1995) 21 LW (Cr) 248 (Mad).

The extra-judicial confession is believable as rightly done by the trial Court and the High Court. The same not was made to a stranger but to a friend. Therefore, the trial Court and the High Court have rightly acted upon the extra-judicial confession. At the same time the background in which the assault has been made clearly shows that Sec. 302 IPC has no application. The assault was made in the course of sudden quarrel without pre-meditation. The accused was not armed at the relevant point of time. Even according to prosecution he picked up the wooden log which was lying there and made the assault.

That being the position, we alter the conviction to Sec. 304 Part II IPC. Custodial sentence of 8 years would meet the ends of justice. Shiva Karam Payaswami Tewari vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 1692 : 2009 (11) SCC 262 : 2009 (1) JT 625 : 2009 (1) SCR 442 : 2009 (1) Scale 717 : 2009 (1) Supreme 461.

Accused causing death of his wife. There was grave and sudden provocation. Altercations between them was over wife's extra-marital affairs, and deceased wife compared manner of sexual intercourse of her paramour with her. It is enough for accused to have grave and sudden provocation to cause her fatal injuries—Confessional statement was made by accused. Conviction under Section 304, Part I was upheld. State of Karnataka v. R. Varadaraju, (1994) 1 Crimes 736 : (1994) 2 Ker LJ 40 (Kar).

Accused husband confessed to have assaulted deceased wife with axe as recorded by special Judicial Magistrate is inadmissible in evidence. Bhansaheb v. State of Maharashtra, 1997 Cri LJ 467 (Bom).

(a) Confession—Various discrepancies.—The case of the prosecution is that the sole accused killed his friend, by throwing boulder on the head of the deceased, in front of the house of the deceased at about 10.00 p.m. and dragged the dead body of the deceased into his hut, and concealed the dead body under the cot of the deceased, and ran away. It is also the version of the prosecution that on next day of occurrence at about 8.00 a.m. two persons, the prosecution witnesses came to the Police Station, and stated that the accused confessed about the murder committed by him, and shown the dead body to them, and on the confession made by the accused to them, they reported the same to the Inspector of Police, and he registered the same under Ss. 302 and 201, IPC. The only evidence available as against the accused is the extra-judicial confessions alleged to have been made by him to two persons. Some variation appeared in between the versions of those two persons. It was not clear as to in which language the accused communicated with those persons and whether they understood that language. While FIR filed with police mentioned of "one granite stone", the prosecution version was that two stones were used by accused in killing the deceased. The seized stones were not sent for examination. Thus there is discrepancy relating to weapon used. The alleged place of occurrence was in the midst of other huts and it was improbable that if anything happened in pursuance of quarrel between the accused and the deceased, the neighbours and others would not have gathered and witnessed the same. Thus in view of the facts and circumstances of the case, the accused could not be convicted relying upon the discrepant extra-judicial confession. He is entitled to the benefit of doubt and acquittal. George Peter v. State of A.P., 2005 CriLJ 1607 (AP).

31. Sudden quarrel.—Occurrence of crime happening most unexpectedly in a sudden quarrel without premeditation there was found, no intention to cause death or fatal injuries—Knowledge was full that injury inflicted was likely to cause death. Hence offence under Section 304, Part I, I.P.C. made out. State of Rajasthan v. Ratan Lal, 1995 Cr LR 425 (Raj).

This cannot be stated to be a case of sudden quarrel because the accused persons after the quarrel went inside and came back with arms. In the instant case though the witnesses stated that after initial exchange of hot words and quarrel the accused persons went inside and came back, it is to be noted that they have fairly accepted that while the exchange of hot words, quarrel was continuing and immediately i.e. in less than two and three minutes they came back.

That being so, in the peculiar facts of the case we are of the considered view that appropriate conviction would be under Sec. 304 Part I read with Sec. 149 IPC. The conviction is accordingly altered. The other convictions remain unaltered. Ramjit vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, 2009 (11) SCC 373 : 2009 CrLJ 1139 : 2009 (1) JT 342 : 2009 (1) Scale 446 : 2009 (1) SCR 184 : 2009 (1) Supreme 583.

When accused committed offence under grave and sudden provocation he is liable to be convicted under Section 304, Part I. Murugesan v. State, 1993 Cri LJ 2565 (Mad).

When there was sudden quarrel and one knife injury was inflicted to the deceased intention of causing death by injury not proved. Hence offence made out under Section 304, Part II. Raimal alias Raila v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 98 (Raj).

Case of the prosecution would go to show that when the accused and the injured witness Rajammal were undressed for having sexual intercourse for money the deceased person Mani had demanded money from the accused and since the accused did not pay the money deceased Mani had caused injuries with stone on the accused which infuriated the accused to cause injuries against the said Mani which lead to his death. The said circumstances would go to show that the injury sustained by the accused on his left chest and the case of the prosecution that the demand of money for the alleged illegal sexual intercourse had enraged the accused to sustain sudden provocation against the deceased Mani and the accused had caused injuries to the deceased Mani only on such provocation of the said deceased Mani.

Therefore, the prosecution did not prove any enmity as envisaged in the charges framed against the accused and when there was no previous enmity in between these two persons there could not be any understanding between the accused and the deceased person to have unlawful and illegal sexual intercourse with the said Rajammal by the accused for money.

In the said circumstances, this Court is of the view that the offence committed by the accused against the deceased Mani would fall under Section 304, Part I, IPC since it was not intentionally done but only a culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Eswaran @ Shanmugavel vs. State, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3180 (Mad).

The extra-judicial confession is believable as rightly done by the trial Court and the High Court. The same not was made to a stranger but to a friend. Therefore, the trial Court and the High Court have rightly acted upon the extra-judicial confession. At the same time the background in which the assault has been made clearly shows that Sec. 302 IPC has no application. The assault was made in the course of sudden quarrel without pre-meditation. The accused was not armed at the relevant point of time. Even according to prosecution he picked up the wooden log which was lying there and made the assault.

That being the position, we alter the conviction to Sec. 304 Part II IPC. Custodial sentence of 8 years would meet the ends of justice. Shiva Karam Payaswami Tewari vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 1692 : 2009 (11) SCC 262 : 2009 (1) JT 625 : 2009 (1) SCR 442 : 2009 (1) Scale 717 : 2009 (1) Supreme 461.

It was a clear case of sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel between the parties and the accused has not taken undue advantages and acted in a cruel manner, the provisions of Exception 4 to Section 300, I.P.C. being attracted, the appellant would thus be liable for culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Hence conviction and sentence under Sec. 302, IPC is set aside. He now stands convicted for an offence under Sec. 304, Part I, IPC and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for five years. Tara Chand v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CCCases 64 (P&H).

When accused student gave kick and fist blows which resulted in fatal injuries to deceased, accused liable to be convicted under Section 325. Rajesh Anantram Thakur v. State of Maharashtra, 1993 Cri LJ 208 (Bom).

The doctor's evidence does not show that there is any mark of violence on the neck of the appellant. In any event the deceased was not armed and even if the plea of the appellant is to be accepted he has clearly exceeded the right of self-defence and would also be punishable under Section 304, Part I, I.P.C. In any event no interference is called for so far as his conviction is concerned. Now coming to the sentence it is seen from the facts and the circumstances that it was a sudden quarrel and it took place because the girl was being taken away to her in-law's house. Further there is only one injury on the deceased. Taking these circumstances into consideration while confirming the conviction under Section 304, Part I, I.P.C. the Court reduced the sentence of 4 years rigorous imprisonment. Kamal Singh v. State of M.P., (1994) 1 PLJR (SC) 111 at p. 112 : 1994 Cr LJ 136 (SC).

When by congent evidence single blow by father on son during sudden quarrel resulting in to latters is established, conviction under Section 304, Part II, IPC, is justified. Jagdish Mahto v. State of Bihar, 1997 (2) East Cr C 321 (Pat) ; See also State of U.P. v. Shyan Veer, 2005 Cr LJ 2606 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 4108 : 2005(2) Crimes 155 : 2005(3) Supreme 566.

32. Severe Beating.—Death of a School boy due to beating by teacher. The matter was reported in newspaper – FIR registered under Section 304/201 IPC during the pendency of writ petition and the concerned teacher was suspended – In such circumstances as the law took its course in the due course the writ petition not entertain and matter directed to be handled with cere. Hira Devi v. Smt.Deola Khan Devi and Others, AIR 2002 NOC 97.

33. Culpable Homicide.—There was absence of evidence as to the depth of the injury. Conclusion difficult that the injury was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. No intention to cause death was found appellant had the requisite knowledge that by dealing the blows by blunt side of the axe on back side of the neck he was likely to cause death. Hence an offence of culpable homicide as per Section 299, I.P.C. made out being punishable under Section 304, II, I.P.C. Sonu v. State, (1995) 8 CCR 41 (Ori).

Culpable homicide—Degree of. In the scheme of the IPC culpale homicide is genus and 'murder' its specie. All 'murder' is 'culpable homicide' but not vice-versa. Speaking generally, 'culpable homicide' sans 'special characteristics of murder is culpable homicide not amounting to murder'. For the purpose of fixing punishment, proportionate to the gravity of the generic offence, the IPC practically recognizes three degrees of culpable homicide. The first is, what may be called, 'culpable homicide of the first degree'. This is the gravest form of culpable homicide, which is defined in Sec. 300 as 'murder'. The second may be termed as 'culpable homicide of the second degree'. This is punishable under the first part of Sec. 304. Then, there is 'culpable homicide of the third degree'. This is the lowest type of culpable homicide and the punishment provided for it is also the lowest among the punishment provided for the three grades. Culpable homicide of this degree is punishable under the second part of Sec. 304.

In the instant case, the culpable homicide of his second wife by accused husband, who was suspecting illicit relationship of deceased with the guest who had witnessed accused sitting on chest of deceased and assaulting her with hands, held, was liable to be punished u/Sec. 304 Part II and not for murder u/Sec. 300 and custodial sentence of ten years was held sufficient to meet the ends of justice. Budhi Lal vs State of Uttarakhand, AIR 2009 SC 87 : 2009 CriLJ 360 (SC)

Deceased gave birth to three girls so mother-in-law/accused was unhappy and threw burning-wick on clothes of deceased and thereby set them on fire. The post-mortem report of the deceased was placed on record during the trial and doctor, who conducted the post-mortem examination was also examined as a witness in the trial. The said documentary and oral evidence of the doctor, as adduced, that he also treated the patient and conducted the post-mortem examination made it crystal clear that the deceased remained under treatment in hospital for 8 days and died after 8 days of the incident in question. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under clause (4) of Sec. 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered under Sec. 304 Part II of IPC.

We find that the view taken by the trial Court was a cogent and plausible view and, therefore, we hold that the conviction and sentence imposed by the trial Court is justified. Considering the totality of the circumstances and the fact that the appellant is of 85 years of age and had undergone the sentence imposed by the trial Court under the provisions of Sec. 304, Part II of IPC. Maniben vs State of Gujarat, 2010 AIR SCW 570 : AIR 2010 SC 1261

Both parties were armed but accused was armed also with fire-arms. Accused caused serious gunshot injuries to deceased with knowledge that it was likely to cause death. There was no justification for merciless assault. The right of self-defence extended was only to cause hurt and not death. Hence not entitled to right of self-defence. Accused convicted under Section 304, Part II for offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Balwan Singh v. State of U.P., 1994 Cri LJ 2052 (All).

From the evidence on record, Court finds that there had been an altercation between the deceased and the appellant, before the shots were fired. The fact is testified by witness who stated that the two quarrelled with each other, because of the land dispute, before the shots were fired. The first shot was fired by the appellant in the air, which suggests that he did not have any intention to kill the deceased, who was his real brother, but wanted only to browbeat and scare him and assert his dominance over him, may be on account of the fact that the deceased was younger to him. It was only the second shot, which caused the death. This shot was also not aimed at any vital part of the body. It was aimed just below the right shoulder. The shot, as per the opinion of Doctor Sharma, was fired from a distance of only 6-7 feet. Appellant was a Home Guard volunteer and, therefore, he was supposed to have been trained at handling the firearms, before he was so appointed. His firing a shot from a distance of only 6-7 feet, aiming the upper chest, just below the right shoulder, suggests that he did not intend to cause the death, though he can be presumed to have had the intention to cause an injury, which could have caused death. Therefore, we hold the appellant guilty not of the offence of murder, under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, but of offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, punishable under Section 304 (first part) of the Indian Penal Code. Jodh Raj. vs. State of H.P., 2010 (2) CrLJ 2488 (HP).

In the instant case accused stabbed the deceased wife on the chest on her refusal to have sexual intercourse with him and it was proved that the said act was done out of sheer frustration. It was held that this was an act of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Ghansham v. State of Maharashtra, 1996 Cr LJ 27 (Bom).

Conviction under an act not amounting to murder. It is quite clear from the record that there was an altercation preceding the incident of murder in which the accused-appellant was insulted by the deceased and by doing so the deceased provoked the accused-appellant. The deceased also took out the 'Khukri' which was under the pillow with the intention of assaulting the accused-appellant and the accused-appellant in order to save herself grappled with the deceased and during that process she also received injuries. The prosecution has failed to give any explanation with regard to those injuries received by the accused-appellant. Further, it is also established in evidence that the 'Khukri' used in the commission of offence was kept by the deceased under her pillow while she was sleeping in the veranda outside the house. Clearly, there was no intention on the part of the accused-appellant to kill the deceased. That being the position, we are of the considered view that the present case cannot be said to be a case under Sec. 302 IPC but it is a case falling under Sec. 304 Part II IPC. It is trite law that Sec. 304 Part II comes into play when the death is caused by doing an act with knowledge that it is likely to cause death but there is no intention on the part of the accused either to cause death or to cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death.

Held, the accused to be guilty for offence under Sec. 304 Part II IPC. Her conviction under Sec. 302 IPC is, therefore, set aside. The accused-appellant has already undergone about seven years of imprisonment. We, therefore, alter the sentence to the period already undergone by the accused-appellant. Jagriti Devi vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2869 : 2009 (3) Crimes 289 (SC) : 2009 (8) JT 648 : 2009 (10) SCR 167 : 2009 (9) Scale 48 : 2009 (5) Supreme 691 : 2009 (5) SLT 614.

When attack was not preplanned and victim died after 17 days of occurrence. Offence under Section 304, Part II made out. Balbir Singh v. State of Haryana, 1996 Cri LJ 2663 (P & H).

When fatal injury was caused by blunt side of axe and death occurred after three days, there was no intention to cause death and hence conviction under Section 304, Part II is proper. Jeev Dan v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3929 (Raj).

Let us now examine whether by the act committed the appellant is liable for the offence under Section 302, IPC or Section 304, Part I, IPC. In cross-examination witness has specifically stated that the children at times irritated the accused calling him as 'Baya'. Other witness in cross-examination has also admitted that people called the accused as Sarat Baya in the locality. In view of this evidence, it can be safely concluded that the appellant caught hold of the deceased, assaulted her and threw her into the well as the children irritated him. Taking an overall view of the fact situation, this Court is satisfied that the appellant is guilty of committing an offence under Section 304, Part I, IPC. Accordingly, conviction of the appellant under Section 302, IPC is converted to one under Section 304 (Part-I). Sarat Chandra Sahoo vs. State of Orissa, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3084 (Orissa).

When accused aimed at head of deceased by inflicting blow with such a force causing fracture of bones, it cannot be said that he had no knowledge that injury on head was likely to cause death. Karuppa Pillai v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3880 (Mad).

When prosecution story supported by independent eye-witnesses found reliable and corroborative of medical evidence and stab injury on person of deceased son-in-law was not preplanned or with intention to cause death, conviction under Section 304, Part II, proper. Sivanandi v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 4469 (Mad).

When accused inflicted cut injuries to deceased, a paramour of his mother, who shouted for help, no right of private defence is available to accused. Sivakumar v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 4229 |Mad).

The word 'Culpable homicide' has been defined in Section 299 I.P.C. Section 299 is divided into three parts. The first part refers to the act by which the death is caused by being done with the intention of causing death. That part corresponds to the first part of Section 300. The second part of Section 299 speaks of the intention to cause such bodily injury as is likely to cause death. This has corresponding provisions in Clause 11 I.P.C. Section 304 Part I covers cases which by reason of the exception under Section 300 are taken out of the purview of Clauses (1), (2) and (3) of Section 300, but otherwise would fall into it and also clauses which fall within the second part of Section 299 corresponds to clause "Fourthly" of Section 300. Section 304, Part II I.P.C. covers those cases which fall within the Third Part of Section 299 but do not fall within the Fourth clause of Section 300. Rawail Singh v. State of Punjab and others, 2002 Cri LJ 3075 (P&H) : 2002(3) All Cri LR 265 : 2002(2) Rce Cri R 706.

During the marriage ceremony of the son of Parwati where the women folk, who were participating in the festivities, were teased by the deceased in an inebriated state. The resultant fall-out was the immediate response to the said incident with the intention of preserving the honour and dignity of the said women. It is on account of the said incident that subsequently the accused persons assaulted Ishwar and when he tried to run away, they chased him and on being caught, he was fatally injured by Anil @ Balli and Sucha Singh with knives. Although, it has been urged that the Appellants herein had knowledge that both Anil and Sucha Singh were carrying knives, the same is not borne out from the evidence and their role in the incident in chasing the victim and, thereafter, holding him, was more likely to teach him a lesson as was sought to be projected as his defence. In the absence of any common intention, the conviction of the Appellants under Section 302 with the aid of Section 34 cannot be sustained. It is no doubt true that the evidence of PW. 5 the complainant and PW. 7 another eye-witness was corroborated by the injuries on the body of the victim, but that by itself would not establish common intention as far as the appellants in the present appeal are concerned.

The role attributed to them would, in our view, attract the provisions of Section 304 Part I IPC and not Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC. The appeal as far as the appellants' conviction under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC must, therefore, succeed and their conviction must be altered to one under Section 304 Part I read with Section 34 IPC. Raju and Anr. vs. State of Haryana, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1924 (SC).

The accused persons had obstructed the deceased from casting his vote as per the story of the prosecution and the deceased was assaulted and, therefore, it shall have to be observed that the accused persons have committed any lessor offence punishable under IPC or the law as to Election and if the Investigating Agency finds that these petitioners any of them can be held guilty of the said offence, then the Investigating

Agency can take appropriate steps and file appropriate report. The offence under Sections 143 and 147 are the offences against the State, so order of this Court would not come in the way of the police, if the police intends to charge sheet the accused for the said offence along with other offence if the same is found to have been committed. The complaint being CR No. 1-238 of 2001 registered with A-Division Police Station, Bharuch for the offence punishable under Section304 of IPC quashed. Hiralal Motibhai Patel and Others v. State of Gujarat. 2002 CRI. L.J. 2781. Guj. H.C. : 2002 Cri LR (SC MAH GUJ) Guj 280 : 2002(2) GCD GUJ 907.

34. Circumstantial Evidence.—In appeal from conviction, the evidence was re-appraised and it was found that the P.Ws. 7 and 10 were hostile whereas the presence of P.W. 9 was doubtful. The circumstantial evidence fell short of driving guilt home to the accused. None had deposed on other injuries and what caused them. Circumstantial evidence was contradicted by the medical evidence. Held, the accused was entitled to acquittal. (1986) 2 Crimes 483 (Del).

Circumstantial evidence—Conditions precedent.—There is no doubt that conviction can be based solely on circumstantial evidence but it should be tested by the touchstone of law relating to circumstantial evidence laid down by this Court as far back as in 1952. The conditions precedent in the words of this Court, before conviction could be based on circumstantial evidence, must be fully established. They are :

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must' or 'should' and not 'may be' established;

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

Raju vs. State, AIR 2009 SC 2171 : 2009 (1) Crimes 377 : 2009 (11) SCC 111 : 2009 (2) SCR 783 : 2009 (3) JT 183 : 2009 (3) Scale 179 : 2009 (2) Supreme 65.

The place of occurrence was accessible to an outside. Hence involvement of an outside cannot be ruled out. It cannot be conclusively held that accused was the author of the crime and none-else. The absconding of the accused after the occurrence itself cannot be considered as a circumstance to fasten him with liability. Antaryami Sahu v. State of Orissa, (1994) 2 Crimes 356 (Ori).

Last seen.—Evidence of witness is clear and cogent. His presence at the spot has been established. He used to have business transactions with the deceased. He stated about the present appellant holding a handle of soil cutter. Though the deceased and the present appellant were engaged in exchange of hot words, that could not have given an impression to witness that accused would take the life of the deceased. Therefore, the fact that he left the place on being told by the deceased to do so cannot be a ground to disbelieve his evidence. According to him he had seen the deceased and the accused engaged in wordy tussle around 9.00 p.m. The wife of the deceased PW-1 found his dead body at about 9.30 p.m. The time gap when the deceased was last seen alive in the company of the accused and when his dead body was seen is not very large. Admittedly, the bone of contention between the deceased and the accused was non-payment of the commission on account of which they were quarreling. The trial Court and the High Court have rightly held the appellant to be the author of the crime. Raju v. State, by Inspector of Police, AIR 2009 SC 2171 : 2009 (2) SCR 783 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 111 : 2009 (3) JT 183 (SC) : 2009 (3) Scale 179 (SC) : 2009 (2) Supreme 65 : 2009 (1) Crimes 377 (SC).

Last seen theory—When not reliable.—There are three main incriminating circumstances against the accused. The first piece of evidence is the suggestion that the third person who was urinating close by the bridge was Gopal Sah, the second, the extra judicial confession made by Dasrath Sah and the third, the recovery of alleged murder weapon – a sickle. We are of the opinion that this evidence is, to say the least, unacceptable. It has come in the statement of PW. 8 Kameshwar Choudhary that he had seen Dasrath Sah alonog with the deceased near the bridge and that another person was urinating close by. It is the suggestion and inference that this person was Gopal Sah.

We find that in this situation the statement of PW. 5 Mohd. Nadaf that he had seen the three convicted accused moving swiftly away from the direction of the site of the murder at about 7.30 p.m. or that he had seen the appellant Gopal Sah with a sickle in hand is hardly sufficient to hold him guilty of murder. We are, further, of the opinion that an extra judicial confession is, on the face of it, a weak piece of evidence and the Courts are reluctant in the absence of a chain of cogent circumstances to rely on this evidence for the purpose of recording a conviction. In any case, we find that the confession made by Dasrath Sah can, if at all, be used against him and not against his co-accused. The statement of the Investigating Officer with respect to the place where the two murder weapons had been allegedly thrown makes the recovery itself tenuous. Moreover, as the sickle allegedly in the hands of Gopal Sah had been recovered from a pond three months after the murder, no evidentiary value whatsoever can be attached to this circumstance as well.

The argument of the State Counsel that as the appeal of Bhushan Sah had been dismissed on merits, the appeal of Gopal Sah must meet the same fate must now be examined. We observe that Bhushan Sah's appeal had been dismissed in limine on the ground of limitation as also on merits but we have chosen to hear the present appeal after leave had been granted by this Court long before Bhushan's special leave petition had been filed. We, even otherwise, are of the opinion that the evidence involving Bhushan Sah is qualitatively and quantitatively different from the evidence against Gopal Sah, as would be apparent from the circumstances noted above, not only with respect to the last seen but also relating to the recovery of various items from his house which could be said to be relatable to the murder. We must, therefore, conclude that the dismissal of the special leave petition of Bhushan Sah in limine, would not by itself be a ground to dismiss the appeal of Gopal Sah.

For the reasons stated above, we find the judgment of the trial Court and the High Court in so far as Gopal Sah is concerned to be unsustainable. He is accordingly acquitted of all charges. The appeal is allowed in the above terms. Gopal Sah vs. State of Bihar, 2008 (16) Scale 224 : 2009 (1) SLT 369 : 2009 (1) JCC 322.

The court begins with circumstance (a) last seen. In respect of this circumstance, these is evidence of Yeshhodabal, P.W. 2 and Gangasagar, P.W. 7 (mother and wife of the deceased Narayan respectively) and Nivrutti Thombre, P.W.3 – The evidence of Yeshodabai and Gangasagar shows that on 26.2.1992 at about 7 p.m the appellant came to their house. He and the deceased Narayan had dinner and thereafter, he said he and Narayan would sleep in the field and thereafter he left with Narayan to the latter's field where they slept. In the said field, Nivrutti Thombre also slept at a distance of 50 ft. from them. At about 2 to 2.30 a.m., Nivrutti heard cries of the deceased "Save me. Nivrutti Mama" and hearing them Nivrutti rushed to the place where Narayan and appellant were sleeping. He saw an axe in the hands of appellant and acquitted accused Dayandeo and Sakharam running away. After going through the evidence on the record held that the appellant came to their place on 26.2.1992 at 7p.m., had dinner with Narayan and, thereafter the two of them slept in the field of Narayan. The court therefore, observed that evidence of Nivrutti Thombre has rightly been relied upon by the trial Judge. Sopan Punjaram Mule v. State of Maharastra 2002 Cri LJ 376 (Bom.).

35. Private defence.—The land was in possession of the accused. The complainants tried to forcibly take possession of the land thus they are trespassers. The complainants were armed with 'Kassiya'—Accused could not have apprehanced death by "Kassiys" yet they inflicted a gun shot injury thereby killing a person, hence accused have exceeded the right of private defence, conviction under Section 304, Part I is therefore confirmed. Dilip Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1994) RCC 520.

The right of private defence is essentially a defensive right circumscribed by the governing statute i.e. the IPC, available only when the circumstances clearly justify it. It should not be allowed to be pleaded or availed as a pretext for a vindictive, aggressive or retributive purpose of offence. It is a right of defence, not of retribution, expected to repel unlawful aggression and not as retaliatory measure. While providing for exercise of the right, care has been taken in IPC not to provide a mechanism whereby an attack may be a pretence for killing. A right to defend does not include a right to launch an offensive, particularly when the need to defend no longer survived.

In the present case the High Court has rightly held that even if it is accepted that at some point of time the appellant was exercising the right of private defence, the same was exceeded and has rightly found him guilty under Sec. 304 Part I, IPC and sentenced him to undergo imprisonment for five years. The sentence as imposed cannot be considered to be harsh. On payment of fine of Rs.20, 000/-, same was to be paid to the heirs of the deceased. Here again there appears to be no infirmity in the order of the High Court. Ranveer Singh vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1658 : 2009 Cr LJ 1534 : 2009(3) SCC 384 : 2009(1) JT 544 : 2009(1) Scale 740 : 2009 631.

There was scuffle between appellant and deceased when deceased forbade appellant from ploughing land. Appellant fired shot with pistol on deceased. No evidence to establish that there was grave apprehension about his safety. Appellant cannot be said to have exercised right of private defence. Occurrence took place in course of a sudden quarrel.

Merely because there was a quarrel and some of the accused persons sustained injuries, that does not confer a right of private defence extending to the extent of causing death as in this case. Though such right cannot be weighed in golden scales, it has to be established that the accused persons were under such grave apprehension about the safety of their life and property that retaliation to the extent done was absolutely necessary. No evidence much less cogent and credible was adduced in this regard.

Considering the background facts it is clear that the appellant cannot be said to have exercise the right of private defence. However, there is substance in the plea that the occurrence took place in the course of a sudden quarrel. That being so the conviction is altered from Sec. 302 IPC to 304 Part I IPC, custodial sentence of ten years would meet the ends of justice. Santokh Singh v. State of Punjab., AIR 2009 SC 1923. : 2009 (2) SCR 412 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 197 : 2009 (2) JT 468 (SC) : 2009 (2) Scale 661 (SC) : 2009 (2) Supreme 118 (SC) : 2009 (1) Crimes 397 (SC) : 2009 (2) JCC 1014 (SC).

Exceeding of Self-defence. We have heard learned Counsel for the parties at length and perused the judgments and depositions on record. The deceased had received 20 incised injuries caused on various parts of the body in general and on vital parts of the body in particular. The deceased was killed mercilessly by inflicting twenty incised injuries and mostly on the vital parts of the body.

Even if we accept the version of the High Court that the accused had the right of private defence, in the facts and circumstances of the case, but he had exceeded his right so he was convicted under Section 304 Part I IPC.

On examination of the injuries on the accused it is clearly borne out that those injuries are very minor and superficial in nature whereas twenty incised injuries inflicted on the deceased were of very serious nature and character. The Sessions Court has gravely erred in acquitting the accused on the face of the testimony of the witnesses in the case. We have to examine the evidence in proper perspective - why should ordinarily PW. 1, mother of the deceased would falsely implicate the accused and let off the real assailant? Similarly, why PW. 2, nephew of the deceased would save the real assailant and falsely name the accused? The High Court in the impugned judgment while reversing the judgment of the Sessions Court convicted the accused under Sec. 304 Part I IPC

The appellant must be convicted at least under Sec. 304 Part I IPC. No interference is called for. The appeal being devoid of any merit is accordingly dismissed. Moorthy vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2009 CrLJ 1104 : 2008 (13) JT 265 : 2008 (15) Scale 315 : 2008 (16) SCR 271 : 2008 (9) SLT 344.

When several injuries caused to complainant with blunt weapon and injuries on deceased being sufficient to cause death in normal course, accused exceeded his right of self-defence and conviction under Section 304, Part I, IPC would be proper. Kehar Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1997 Cri LJ 1753 (Raj).

The High Court observed that according to the appellants incident occurred in two different places in different phases and in the incident of assault to the deceased and the witnesses they were not present and they sustained injuries caused by the deceased and some of the injured witnesses at the house of Kamal. The High Court has in part accepted the stand of the appellants that they were exercising the right of private defence, but at the same time the evidence also shows that the appellants committed criminal trespass. Therefore, they cannot claim the benefit of exception of having acted in exercise of right of private defence.

On a combined reading of the judgments of the trial Court and the High Court it is clear that the evidence is to the effect that the accused appellants were upto some stage exercising the right to protect and defend their properties. But thereafter they exceeded the right. Therefore, this appears to be a case where instead of convicting the appellants under Sec. 302 IPC it would be proper to convict the appellants for offence punishable under Sec. 304 Part I, IPC. Custodial sentence of 10 years would meet the ends of justice. Madan and Ors. v. State of M.P., AIR 2008 SC 3083 : 2008 (10) SCR 855 (SC) : 2008 (11) SCC 657 : 2008 (8) JT 156 (SC) : 2008 (10) Scale 33 (SC) : 2008 (5) Supreme 260 (SC) : 2008 (7) SRJ 401 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3950 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 942 : 2008 (3) Crimes 102 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 1944 (SC).

In a Madras case, the accused was shot at by accused on spur of moment. The circumstances that accused was last seen with deceased during purchases of air gun from shop of one of the prosecution witnesses, conduct of accused trying to hide himself after occurrence and extra-judicial confession to the village administrative officer were held prove the guilt of the accused. However, it was found that there was no plan or premeditation and therefore, conviction of accused under Section 304, Part-II was held justified. Sivakumar v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 3805 (Mad) : 2004 Mad LJ Cri 813 : 2003 All MR (CRI) 1685 : 2004(1) Bom CR (Cri) 89.

The trial Court and the High Court found that this is not a case where it can be said that the appellants were exercising the right of private defence. The plea taken was that the accused persons also suffered injuries and, therefore, the defence version of false implication and exercise of right of private defence should be accepted. The High Court noticed that the injuries on the accused persons were superficial in nature. After analyzing the evidence, the trial Court and the High Court have found that there was no question of exercising the right of private defence. The trial Court and the High Court with reference to the evidence on record found that the so-called injury on accused has to be viewed with suspicion. Although accused claimed and alleged that he had sustained bhala injury, the injury report discloses that the injury found on him by the Doctor indicated that the accused had suffered injury by hard blunt substance and the injuries were simple. Therefore, the High Court's judgment so far as the conviction and sentence of accused is concerned is affirmed. However, considering the long passage of time and the period of sentence imposed, we think it appropriate to extend to other appellants the benefits of Sec. 360 Cr.P.C. Nasiruddin Khan and Ors. v. State of Bihar., AIR 2008 SC 3198 : 2008 (10) Scale 528 (SC) : 2008 (5) Supreme 431 (SC) : 2008 (7) SLT 436 (SC) : 2008 (8) SRJ 143 (SC) : 2008 (3) Crimes 196 (SC).

Accused persons had a legitimate right to the use of reasonable force to defend their property. The right of private defence falls under two categories i.e. (1) as a total and (2) as a partial defence. In the first category, there will be no offence but in the 2nd category by virtue of Exception 2 to Section 300, IPC the offence of murder is reduced to the offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. It is well-settled that even where accused exceeds right of private defenee and causes fatal injury in good faith where infact it was not so necessary, then under Exception 2 to Section 200, IPC, then it will be still a lesser of once than murder, if the intention of the accused was to do no more harm than which in his behalf was necessary and he did not act with a vengeful motive in the purported exercise of his rights. Amar Gond and others. v. State of U.P 2002 Cri LJ 1234 (All) : 2002 All LJ 76 : 2001(43) All Cri C 992 : 2001(3) All Cri R 2263

In instant case, there was a sudden fight in which a person was shot at and kille and another two persons were injured. The scrutiny of the prosecution evidence and th attending circumstances wholly demolished the defence version of two accused persons One injured person filed F.I.R. immediately after the incident and thereafter the tw injured persons were sent for medical examination. The Investigating Office immediately proceeded to the spot and recovered one DBBL gun and one countrymad pistol. Such recovery was made immediately after the lodging of the F.I.R., lendin credence to the prosecution version. F.I.R. itself had been lodged with promptitude wit no time gap for concoction or deliberation. The injuries found on person of accuse were superficial and simple. The fact that they were caused by a person of prosecutio side did not mean that aggressor was prosecution side. The accused persons had also after their arrest, filed an F.I.R., in which ultimately final report was submitted. Th accused did not thereafter file a private complaint. One accused shot dead the decease and another accused caused firearm injuries to another person. The murder was no premeditated. Thus conviction of one accused under Sec. 304, Part I, Penal Code an another accused under Sec. 323, Penal Code was proper. Since another accused use illicit countrymade pistol, he was also liable to be convicted under Sec. 25 of the Arms Act. Budh Singh and another v. State of U.P., 2005 CriLJ 2005 (Allahabad).

36. Injuries.—Minor, insignificant or superficial injuries. Minor, insignificant o superficial injuries on person of accused need not be explained by the prosecution Mohammad Ashraf v. State of UP, 2004 Cr LJ 2690 (All).

Perusal of the entire evidence gives an impression that there was prior enmity between deceased and the accused persons and on the given day the accused persons assaulted him, but, then most of the injuries were dealt on the lower parts of the body which reveals that they had no intention to murder. Garjan Sahu and Ors. vs. State o Orissa, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1880 (Ori).

Single lathi blow on head causing death—Scope. When the accused-appellant saw the face of the deceased he simply picked up his lathi and with that gave one blow on the head of the deceased. The said blow was so forceful that as a consequence of which the deceased died within an hour and before he could be taken to the hospital. There is a direct nexus between the blow of lathi and death of the deceased which is immediately caused after giving the blow.

Although it is a case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, but considering the nature of the injuries which was caused on a vital part of the body, we are of the considered view that there was intention on the part of the accused-appellant to cause death of the deceased.

We, therefore, alter the conviction of the appellant from Sec. 302, IPC to Sec. 304 Part I IPC. In our considered opinion, custody and sentence of 10 years would be appropriate and sufficient. Indrasan vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2760 : 2009 (8) JT 680 : 2009 (3) Crimes 217 (SC) : 2009 (9) Scale 58 : 2009 (9) SCR 1127 : 2009 (5) Supreme 198.

37. Bail.—The present affidavits were not alibi evidence but evidence of denial which on its face was procured after the rejection of 1st bail application. Such evidence of denial of complicity of accused in commission of crimes when stated on affidavits during the course of investigation or after the charge-sheet was submitted was not to be taken into notice and cannot be ground for grant of bail. Hence no case was made out for grant of bail on due application for bail. Amod Kumar Sharma v. State of U.P., 1995 UP Cr R 35 (All).

38. Benefit of probation.—In a case where the benefit of probation was extended to two co-accused persons and no appeal was filed challenging it. It was held that the accused could not take advantage of such benefit granted to co-accused persons, more so when his role in crime was established and he was main brain behind the crime. Chaudhari Ramjibhai Narasangbhai v. State of Gujarat, AIR 2004 SC 313 : 2004 Cr LJ 280 : 2003(4) Crimes 471 (SC) : 2003(8) Supreme 67 : 2004(1) SCC 184.

Sec. 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act empowers the Court to release a person on probation of good conduct, subject to the conditions that the offence is not punishable with death or imprisonment for life. Only in the event, the provisions of the said Act are applicable, Sec. 6 of the Act can be taken recourse to.

Appellant was charged with commission of an offence under Sec. 302 of the Indian Penal Code. He has been found guilty under Sec. 304 Part I thereof which provides for imprisonment for life or imprisonment of either description of a term which may extend to imprisonment for life. In this view of the matter, the provisions of the Act are not applicable.

The learned trial Judge has not heard the appellant on the question of sentence as is provided for under Sub-Sec. (2) of Sec. 235 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Although the learned Counsel is correct, but keeping in view the fact that the conviction of the appellant was under Sec. 304 Part I of the Indian Penal Code, we are of the opinion that even otherwise the sentence imposed on him is just and proper. Bala Baine Linga Raju vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2009 CrLJ 3426 : 2009 (2) Crimes 394 (SC) : 2009 (6) SCC 706 : 2009 (13) JT 657 : 2009 (7) SCR 595 : 2009 (7) Scale 73 : 2009 (4) Supreme 75 : 2009 (4) SLT 219.

39. Single blow or injury.—It is not laying down that in no case of single blow or injury, the accused cannot be convicted under Section 302 IPC. In cases of single injury, the facts and circumstances of each case has to be taken into consideration before arriving at the conclusion whether the accused should be appropriately convicted under Section 302 IPC or under Section 304 Part II IPC. Gurmukh Singh vs. State of Haryana, 2010 (1) CrLJ 450 (SC).

40. Murder or Culpable Homicide—Proof.—The finding that deceased, who was a child of tender age, died a homicidal death is not challenged before this Court. The finding recorded by the High Court that the appellant and her husband had confined their child, in the bathroom of rented premises for a period of 14 days is based on the analysis and appreciation of evidence tendered by prosecution witnesses and more particularly evidence of landlord, PW-5 and that of his son PW-7. The fact that deceased died due to starvation is amply proved by the testimony of Medical Officer who performed autopsy on the dead body of the deceased and contents of the post mortem notes. The fact that child, was found dead in the bathroom is also established by the reliable and trustworthy testimony of PW-6. The appellant has failed to show error in the reasonings or the conclusions of the High Court. No perversity, miscarriage of justice, shocking misreading of evidence or gross misapplication of the provisions of Indian Penal Code could be pointed out by the learned Counsel for the appellant. There are no reasonable grounds for believing that the appellant had not committed the offence in question. The High Court, in effect has confirmed the finding recorded by the trial Court that the appellant and her husband had confined their child, in a bathroom and caused her death by not providing food and water. The finding recorded by the High Court that the appellant and her husband had definite knowledge that their act of confining deceased, in a bathroom would result into her starvation which was likely to cause her death and, therefore, the appellant has committed offence punishable under Section 304, Part II IPC is eminently just and well-founded. Therefore, this Court is of the firm opinion that the conviction of the appellant recorded under Section 304, Part II read with Section 34 is not liable to be interfered with in the instant appeal.

As on today, the appellant is of more than 67 years of age. The record further indicates that the appellant has also a major daughter, who was aged 10 years at the time of the incident and a son. On the facts and in the circumstances of the case, this Court is of the opinion that interest of justice would be served if conviction of the appellant under Section 304, Part II, read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code is maintained and the sentence is reduced to the period already undergone. Sau. Panchashila Dada Meshram vs. State of Maharashtra, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1919 (SC).

Deceased gave birth to three girls so mother-in-law/accused was unhappy and threw burning-wick on clothes of deceased and thereby set them on fire. The post-mortem report of the deceased was placed on record during the trial and doctor, who conducted the post-mortem examination was also examined as a witness in the trial. The said documentary and oral evidence of the doctor, as adduced, that he also treated the patient and conducted the post-mortem examination made it crystal clear that the deceased remained under treatment in hospital for 8 days and died after 8 days of the incident in question. The deceased was admitted in the hospital with about 60% burn injuries and during the course of treatment developed septicemia, which was the main cause of death of the deceased. It is, therefore, established that during the aforesaid period of 8 days the injuries aggravated and worsened to the extent that it led to ripening of the injuries and the deceased died due to poisonous effect of the injuries.

It is established from the dying declaration of the deceased that she was living separately from her mother-in-law, the appellant herein, for many years and that on the day in question she had a quarrel with the appellant at her house. It is also clear from the evidence on record that immediately after the quarrel she along with her daughter came to fetch water and when she was returning, the appellant came and threw a burning tonsil on the clothes of the deceased. Since the deceased was wearing a terylene cloth at that relevant point of time, it aggravated the fire which caused the burn injuries. There is also evidence on record to prove and establish that the action of the appellant to throw the burning tonsil was preceded by a quarrel between the deceased and the appellant. From the aforesaid evidence on record it cannot be said that the appellant had the intention that such action on her part would cause the death or such bodily injury to the deceased, which was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause the death of the deceased. Therefore, in our considered opinion, the case cannot be said to be covered under Cl. (4) of S. 300 of IPC. We are, however, of the considered opinion that the case of the appellant is covered u/Sec. 304 Part II of IPC.

We find that the view taken by the trial Court was a cogent and plausible view, under of therefore, we hold that the conviction and sentence imposed by the trial Court, g justified. Considering the totality of the circumstances and the fact that the appellant is of 85 years of age and had undergone the sentence imposed by the trial Court under the provisions of Sec. 304, Part II of IPC, we set aside the conviction and sentence of the appellant imposed by the High Court of Gujarat and restore the judgment and order passed by the trial Court. Maniben vs State of Gujarat, 2010 AIR SCW 570 : AIR 2010 SC 1261

In the instant case, the appellant inflicted a stab injury on complainant. Seeing that PW. 1-complainant was being hurt, Beena-deceased his wife came to rescue. In the heat of passion, deceased was also stabbed. It fell at the buttock. Beena-deceased ran. The appellant followed her and kicked her. As a result, she fell down. Though the appellant could stab her again, he didn't. The stab cut iliact artery, caused bleeding which resulted in the death. Injury was neither intended nor inflicted targeting a vital part. But, it struck at the buttock. The injury was sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature and the victim succumbed to the injuries. Our considered view is that there was no intention to cause death, but the intention was only to inflict injuries to deceased. Therefore, no offence under Section 302, IPC was established, but only an offence under Section 304, IPC, Part II was established. Conviction under Section 302, IPC is liable to be altered to Section 304, IPC, Part II. Mohanan vs. State of Kerala, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 2920 (Ker).

Submission that the appellants had committed an offence only under S. 304, Part II of the Indian Penal Code cannot be accepted for more than one reason. Appellants had formed an unlawful assembly. They came to the place of occurrence with deadly weapons. The overt acts attributed to them resulted in causing serious injuries on the head of the deceased. They not only were grievous in nature, the skull of the deceased was also found fractured. The intensity of the assault on the person of the deceased by the appellants, therefore, can be well imagined. When three injuries have been caused on vital parts of the body, we have no doubt in our mind that the appellants knew that the said injuries were likely to cause death or cause such bodily injury which may result in death. Padmanaban vs. State, AIR 2010 SC 47 : 2009 (10) JT 172 : 2009 (10) Scale 526 : 2009 (12) SCR 252 : 2009 (5) Supreme 763 : 2009 (6) SLT 751.

41. Non-examination of minor injury on accused—Effect of.—Non-explanation of injuries by the prosecution will not affect prosecution case where injuries sustained by the accused are minor and superficial or where the evidence is so clear and cogent so independent and disinterested, so probable, consistent and creditworthy, that it outweighs the effect of the omission on the part of prosecution to explain the injuries.

When the prosecution comes with a definite case that the offence has been committed by the accused and proves its case beyond any reasonable doubt, it becomes hardly necessary for the prosecution to again explain how and under what circumstances injuries have been inflicted on the person of the accused. It is more so when the injuries are simple or superficial in nature. In the case at hand, triffle and superficial injuries on accused are of little assistance to them to throw doubt on veracity of prosecution case, particularly, when the accused who claimed to have sustained injuries has been acquitted. Siri Kishan vs. State of Haryana, 2009 (6) SCR 1184 : 2009 (12) SCC 757 : 2009 (8) JT 305 : 2009 (6) Scale 438.

e sentence—Factors to be taken into consideration.—These are are required to be taken into consideration before awarding to the accused. These factors are only illustrative in character and h case has to be seen from its special perspective. The relevant
: (a) Motive or previous enmity; (b) Whether the incident had taken place on the spur of the moment; (c) The intention/knowledge of the accused while inflicting the blow or injury; (d) Whether the death ensued instantaneously or the victim died after several days; (e) The gravity, dimension and nature of injury; (f) The age and general health condition of the accused; (g) Whether the injury was caused without premeditation in a sudden fight; (h) The nature and size of weapon used for inflicting the injury and the force with which the blow was inflicted; (i) The criminal background and adverse history of the accused; (j) Whether the injury inflicted was not sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death but the death was because of shock; (k) Number of other criminal cases pending against the accused; (l) Incident occurred within the family members or close relations; (m) The conduct and behaviour of the accused after the incident. Whether the accused had taken the injured/the deceased to the hospital immediately to ensure that he/she gets proper medical treatment? These are some of the factors which can be taken into consideration while granting an appropriate sentence to the accused. The list of circumstances enumerated above is only illustrative and not exhaustive. Gurmukh Singh vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 SC 2697 : 2009 (3) Crimes 416 (SC) : 2009 (11) JT 122 : 2009 (11) Scale 688 : 2009 (13) SCR 548 : 2009 (8) SLT 122.

43. Unlawful Assembly.—Elements of Sec. 149 covers element of Sec. 147.—The plea that in case of unlawful assembly and murder the trial Court after, coming to the finding that charge under Sec. 147 of IPC was not established, could not hold the appellants guilty under Sec. 304, Part II read with Sec. 149, would not be tenable. The charge under Sec. 147 was a separate and distinct charge. There was no need of framing separate charge under Sec. 147 of as elements of Sec. 149 covers the elements of Sec. 147. When the trial Court found the appellants guilty under Sec. 304, Part II read with Sec. 149 the elements of Section 147 of IPC merged with the elements of Sec. 149. Observation of the trial Court that charge under Sec. 147, was not established was a mistake as the trial Court failed to consider that the main charge was under Sec. 304 read with Sec. 149 and the said charge automatically covers elements of Sec. 147. From the evidence of eye-witness presence of all the accused persons at the place of occurrence was well-proved and their evidence clearly proves formation of unlawful assembly whose common object was to assault the deceased and others and their evidence clinchingly proves that the accused person were armed with deadly weapons like sickle and lathi. Two eye-witnesses were themselves the injured persons who were assaulted by the accused and their evidence is the best evidence and they are the best witnesses in this case. From evidence, elements of Sec. 304, Part II read with elements of Sec. 149 were well established and finding of the trial Court that Sec. 147 was not established is inconsequential and such a finding does not favour the accused and does not wipe out elements of Sec. 149. Ananta Deb Singha Mahapatra and Ors. v. State of W. B., 2007 CriLJ 1705 (Calcutta).

44. Administration of drug—Error in stating offence.—The charge under Section 304 framed against the appellant-accused was with definite allegation of culpable homicide not amounting to murder by reason of administration of drug without taking precaution for reaction there from. This is totally different from causing hurt by means of administration of unwholesome drug. On no count a definite charge of culpable homicide can be an error for causing hurt. Going by Sec. 214, Cr. P.C., in every charge words used in describing an offence shall be deemed to have been used in the sense attached to them by law under which such offence is punishable. Therefore, to construe the section relating to culpable homicide as only an error for causing hurt by unwholesome drug will lead to misleading so far as the accused is concerned resulting in failure of justice so far as his opportunity to defend is concerned. Therefore, the contention that mentioning of Section 304, I.P.C. in the charge was only an error for Section 328, I.P.C., the ingredients of which have been brought in evidence, and therefore, the conviction can be confirmed as under Sec. 328, I.P.C., as the accused is in no way prejudiced by such error in stating the offence, would not be tenable. Radha Sasidharan v. State of Kerala, 2006 CriLJ 4702 (Ker).

* * * * *

Sec. 304-A. Causing death by negligence.—Whoever causes the death of any person by doing any rash or negligent act not amounting to culpable homicide shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

Synopsis

1. Amendment....1788
2. Mens rea. 1788
3. Scope. 1788
4. Culpable rashness, etc. 1792
5. Rash or negligent driving....1795
6. Causing death by negligence driving. 1800
7. Inadequate sentence 1801
8. Duty of motor car driver....1802
9. Negligence 1803
10. Allegation of gross negligence....1808
11. Criminal Negligence 1809
12. Criminal proceedings—Quashing of 1811
13. Criminal negligence of a medical practitioner....1812
14. Guidelines for Medical practitioners....1818
15. Death must be causa causans of rash or negligent act....1819
16. Conviction....1819
17. Sentence 1820
18. Procedure....1824
19. Acquittal 1824

20. Charge 1824
21. Benefit of probation........ 1825
22. Witnesses/Evidence and proof. 1826
23. Intention and Knowledge........ 1828
24. Professional negligence.. 1829
25. Road traffic fatalities. 1829
26. Sections 279 and 304A. 1829
27. Overtaking prohibited in certain cases. 1831
28. Deceased herself a medical student........ 1832
29. Separate sentence under Sec. 279. 1832
30. Scene of offence Panchanama is not substantive evidence 1833

1. Amendment—Section 304-A has been inserted by the Indian Penal Code amendment Act, 1870 (7 of 1870), Section 12.

2. Mens rea.—Sections 304-A, like other sections of the Penal Code. requires a mens rea or guilty mind. The rashness or negligence must be such as fairly to be described criminal. Mere carelessness is not sufficient for conviction under this section. AIR 1958 Sing 100. Rashness means doing an act with the consciousness of a risk that evil consequences will follow but with the hope that they will not. Negligence is a breach of duty imposed by law. In criminal cases, the amount and degree of negligence are the determining factors. There must be mens rea in criminal negligence also. In order to establish criminal liability the facts must be such that the negligence of the accused went beyond a mere matter of comprehension and showed such disregard for the life and safety of others. Russel on Crimes 1960 Ed. p. 641 AIR 1957 Madh Pra 236 : 1957 Cr LJ 1416 : 1957 Jab LJ 208.

3. Scope.—In order to constitute the offence under Section 304-A of the I.P.C. the prosecution should prove that the death of the person must have been caused by the accused by doing any act in a rash and negligent manner and as such there must be positive proof that the rash or negligent act of the accused was proximate cause which resulted in death of the deceased. Before a person is convicted for the offence under Section 304-A of the I.P.C. it must be proved that the act was done with conscious risk and consequences of death was likely to follow therefrom and there was mens rea in doing such negligence act. Ladu Kishore Chaudhary v. State of Orissa, 2000 Cri LJ 3617. This section applies to rash and negligent acts and does not apply to the cases where hurt is voluntarily caused, 2 Bom LR 613. In AIR 1950 All 300, Agarwalla, J., said "This section obviously does not apply to cases where there is an intention to cause death or knowledge that the act will in all probability cause death. It only applies to cases in which without any such intention or knowledge death is caused by what is described as a 'rash' or negligent act. A negligent act is an act done without doing something which a reasonable man, guided upon those considerations which ordinarily regulate the conduct of human affairs, would do, or act which a prudent or reasonable man would not do in the circumstances attending it. A rash act is a negligent act done precipitately. Negligence is the genus, of which rashness is the species. It has sometimes been observed that in rashness the action is done precipitately with the consciousness that the mischievous or illegal consequences may follow, but with a hope that they will not. But it is not necessary that there should always be this consciousness of the consequence. This is also untrue as the observations of Lord Atkin in Andrews v. Director of Public Prosecution, 2 All ER 552 : 1937 AC 576 will show".

Offences made under Section 304-A. I.P.C. Death of boy due to electrocution on a field. Field not belonging to accused—Involvement of accused was fully established. accused charged on ground of recovery of iron rod and copper wire kept in his house—No evidence to show as to how and from where service connection and electricity taken and as to how deceased was electrocuted. Investigating agency or electricity department not indentifying source from which electric energy was unlawfully taken. Hence it was held that mere conjectures and suspicion will not bind accused with criminal liability. Conviction set aside. Chakkarvarthy v. State, (1995) 2 LW (Cr) 776 (Mad).

Petitioner, a truck driver, while driving a truck was involved in an accident resulting in death of a boy aged 8 years. He was sentenced under Sections 304-A and 279. As regards sentence under Section 279 it was argued that petitioner could not have been sentenced under Section 279 separately after he had been found guilty under Section 304-A. The submission was found to be acceptable as some of the facts found as ingredients of the offence under Section 304-A covered the ingredients of offence under Section 279. The sentence of fine under Section 279 was therefore, set aside. 1987 Cri LJ 1403 (Madh Pra).

Accused driving mini door auto allegedly dashed against deceased, who sustained head injuries and died on spot. Mere fact that a witness happened to be a person known to owner of offending vehicle shall not be enough to hold him to be an interested witness.

Witness in categorical terms has given a vivid description of the accident and he has given details of how the accident took place. According to his testimony he saw the offending vehicle coming at a high speed and hitting the cyclist and then the pedestrian (deceased Chinnan @ Chinnasamy) and thereafter drifting towards the nearby bush. The nature of accident was described by witness as rightly pointed out by the Government Advocate will be enough to arrive at a conclusion that the vehicle was driven rashly and negligently, as a result of which the accident took place. The witnesses cannot be expected to mention the legal terminology while speaking the plain facts relating to the accident. It is for the Court to decide based on such evidence whether the act of rash and negligence on the part of the petitioner was established or not. The Courts below, on an appreciation of evidence, have arrived at a correct conclusion that the rash and negligent act on the part of the petitioner was proved beyond reasonable doubt. There is no scope, whatsoever, to hold the same to be either defective or infirm warranting interference in this criminal revision case. Ponnusamy vs. State, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2656 (Mad).

Default in making payment of instalments by a finance company. Superdari was granted by Magistrate—Petition challenging the order was made. It was held that the inference of High Court is not called for and the present petition moved for the limited purpose of superdari during trial of challan case is dismissed without prejudice to the rights and relief claimed by him in civil suit pending in civil Court. Harkesh Kumar v. State of Punjab, 1994 Cr LT 316 (P & H).

In the above-mentioned case reported in 1937 AC 576. Lord Atkin. Said. "Simple lack of care such as will constitute civil liability is not enough. For purposes of the criminal law there are degrees of negligence, and a very high degree of negligence is required to be proved before the felony is established. Probably of all the epithets that can be applied, 'recklessness' most nearly covers the case. It is difficult to visualise a case of death caused by 'reckless' driving in the connotation of that term in ordinarly speed which would not justify a conviction of man-slaughter, but it is probably not all embracing, for 'recklessness' suggests an indifference to risk, whereas the accused may have appreciated the risk and intended to avoid it, and yet shown in the means adopted to avoid the risk such a high degree of negligence as would justify a conviction". Vide and Elliost's Case, 16 Cox Cr C 710 ; Rex v. John, 3 Car & P 635 : 172 ER 579 ; AIR 1950 Mad 308 ; AIR 1945 All 16 : 46 Cr LJ 260; AIR 1944 Nag 285 : ILR 1944 Nag 732 ; AIR 1944 Sind 124 ; AIR 1944 Nag 285 ; AIR 1943 PC 72 : 44 Cr LJ 589 (PC) : AIR 1942 All 328 : 43 Cr LJ 921; AIR 1941 Lah 459.

The rash and negligent act referred to in this section means the act which is the immediate cause of death and not any act or omission which can at best be said to be a remote cause of death. Where, therefore, there was no rashness or negligence on the part of the driver of a motor lorry so far as his use of the road or the manner of driving was concerned, he cannot be convicted under 304-A on the ground that the brakes of the lorry were not in perfect working order and that the lorry carried on horn 164 Ind Cas 333 : 9 RO 89 : 37 Cr LJ 975 : 1936 OWN 720 : 1936 Cr C 1083 : AIR 1936 Oudh 400. The provisions of this section seems to apply to cases where there is no intention to cause death and no knowledge that the act done, in all probability, would cause death. 14 Cal 566. Acts, probably or possibly involving danger to others, but which, in themselves, are not offences, may be offences under Sections 336, 337 or 304-A, if done without due care to guard against the dangerous consequences. 4 Cal 764. Where the act causing death of the accused it is its nature criminal, this section has no application. 12 Mad 56. This section does not apply where there is neither culpable rashness nor culpable negligence in the sense in which those terms are usually accepted. 14 CPLR Cr 126 ; LBR (1872-1892), 89 ; UBR (1897-1901) Vol I. 314 ; LBR (1872-1892), 89 ; LBR (1872-1892), 308; 1 Weir 324 ; 1 Weir 326 ; 14 Bom LR 887 ; 7 PWR 1913 ; Rat Un Cr C 964 ; 15 ALJ 615. This section is not intended to cover cases where there is no intention to cause hurt. 3 ALJ 394 ; see also 3 ALJ 678 ; 25 Cr LJ 449 ; 36 Cal 302 ; 38 Cal 855 ; 4 Cal 815 ; 30 CWN 66 ; 14 Bom LR 887. This section has no application where the offence is committed voluntarily. 4 Cal 764.

This section does not apply to a case in which there has been voluntary commission of an offence against a person. 1963 (1) Cr LJ 762 : AIR 1963 HP 18. If a man intentionally commits any offence and consequences beyond his immediate purpose result, the result is not to be attributed to mere rashness ; if knowledge could not be imputed, still the wilful offence does not take the character of rashness, because its consequences have been unfortunate but acts probably or possibly involving danger to others which in themselves are not offence within the meaning of Section 304-A, Penal Code, and kindred actions, if done without due care to guard against dangerous consequences, 15 Cr LJ 512 ; 18 Cr LJ 193 ; 14 Ind Cas 195 : 16 CWN 1055 : 39 Cal 585 : 17 Bom LR 217 : 16 Cr LJ 305 : 28 Ind Cas 641. To find a person, who had caused the death of another with an enlarged spleen by blows inflicted on the body and was charged with culpable homicide, guilty under Section 304-A, it would not do for the juries to infer rashness from the mere fact of the prevalence of the disease of the spleen in the district : but they must be satisfied of the accused's knowledge of such prevalence and of the danger to life involved in the striking on the trunk of the body of a person who might be affected with the disease. 4 Cal 815. Where a person is beaten and death ensued on account of the rupture of a deceased spleen, the offence is one under Section 321 and not under Section 304-A, Penal Code. Rat Un Cr C 63 ; see also Rat Un Cr C 67 ; 11 PR 1880 Cr ; 5 PWR 1912 : 157 PLR 1913.

In India, looking at the passive submission, and submissiveness of the native servant, it would be a dangerous doctrine of hold that the master inside a carriage is entirely guiltless, if his directions brought about the rash and negligent driving. 1 Weir 322 : 6 MHC App. 31. A conviction under Section 304-A is not sustainable where death has resulted from violence intentionally directed against the deceased by the accused. The conviction should be under Section 323, I.P. Code. 11 PR 1880 Cr. Where, being insulted in a drunken brawl, the accused threw down the deceased and stamped his feet on his body and death ensued within twenty days, the offence was one under Section 323 of the Penal Code, and not under Section 304-A. Rat Un Cr C 67. Where it is found that the speed of the motor vehicle was not excessive and the lorry was driven on the left side of the road, it is difficult to convict the accused for rashness and negligence. AIR 1950 Ajm 45. If the surgical operation by an unskilled practitioner caused death of the patient, an offence under this section is committed. 14 Cal 566. Where the act causing the death of the accused is in its nature criminal Section 304-A of the Penal Code has no application 12 Mad 56 : 1 Weir 326. Mere carelessness is not sufficient for conviction under this Section. This section like other section of the Penal Code requires a mens rea or guilty mind. The rashness or negligence must be such as fairly to be described criminal. AIR 1938 Sind 100 : 39 Cr LJ 566 ; see also AIR 1941 288 : 42 Cr LJ 621 : ILR 1941 All 441 ; AIR 1939 Pesh 33 : 40 Cr LJ 854 ; AIR 1947 All 49 : 1946 ALJ 502.

Simple lack of care such as will constitute civil liability is not enough to prove a charge of homicide by negligence. A very high degree of negligence is required to be proved before a charge under Section 304-A of the Penal Code is established. 1951 MWN 154 : (1951) 2 MLJ 25 ; (1962) 2 Mad LJ 508, (in sections of the Penal Code where the means required is negligence, the word 'negligence' is not used in any way different from the word 'negligence' in civil law, but there is bound to be difference between the proof of negligence required to sustain a conviction for criminal negligence and proof of negligence required in civil suit to obtain compensation for damages) ; (1962) 2 Mad LJ 508 : 1962 Mad LJ (Cr) 668.

The prosecution must prove that the accused was guilty of rashness or negligence is utter indifference to consequences. ILR 1959 Cut 709 : 1959 (1) Ori JD 703. Section 304-A does not apply to a case in which there has been the voluntary commission of an offence against the person. Acts which are in themselves criminal will not be acts which may be termed as negligent. AIR 1955 All 626 : 1955 Cr LJ 1448. Before a conviction can be heard under Section 304-A, a very high degree of negligence which must amount to recklessness or utter indifference to consequences and not merely negligence of tort. AIR 1954 All 186: 1954 Cr LJ 405 (negligence and rashness are the same things).

Interested witness. Having scrutinized the evidence on record, merely because two witnesses have turned hostile, would not by itself mean that either the identity or the rash and negligent driving by the petitioner has not been proved on record. All that witnesses are clear in their depositions that it was the petitioner who was driving the vehicle. They have been subjected to searching cross-examination and the veracity of their evidence in examination in chief has not been controverted. Learned Counsel submits that deceased PW. 1 has to be treated as an interested witness and his evidence is to be scrutinized with greater care and caution. True, PW. 1 is an injured person and it is his daughter who died and his other family members received injuries, but that fact by itself does not render his evidence untrustworthy. This principle has been affirmed by the Supreme Court in Kalegura Padma Rao vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, represented by the Public Prosecutor, AIR 2007 SC 1299 = 2007 (12) SCC 48, holding :

> "We may also observe that the ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently, being a partisan witness, should not be relied upon has no substance. This theory was repelled by this Court as early as in Dalip Singh's case, AIR 1953 SC 364 = 1953 Cri LJ 1465, in which surprise was expressed over the impression which prevailed in the minds of the Members of the Bar that relatives were not independent witnesses. Speaking through Vivian Bose, J. it was observed (AIR Page 366, Para 25) :
>
> "We are unable to agree with the learned Judge of the High Court that the testimony of the two eye-witnesses requires corroboration. If the foundation for such an observation is based on the fact that the witnesses are women and that the fate of seven men hangs on their testimony, we know of no such rule. If it is grounded on the reason that they are closely related to the deceased we are unable to concur. This is a fallacy common to many criminal cases and one which another Bench of this Court endeavoured to dispel in 'Rameshwar vs. State of Rajasthan', AIR 1952 SC 54 at Page 59 = 1952 Cri LJ 547. We find, however, that it unfortunately still persists, if not in the judgments of the Courts, at any rate in the arguments of Counsel".

The golden rule of assessing evidence of any witness is to see as to whether in the natural sequence of events, the person deposing as a witness is one who is naturally familiar with the facts stated under oath, his testimony stands the test of cross-examination and he has no motive to implicate the accused. These factors established on record and witnesses have no motive to falsely implicate the petitioner. Krishan Sinh vs. State of HP, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3048 (HP).

4. Culpable rashness, etc.—Culpable rashness is acting with the consequences that mischievous and illegal consequences may follow, but with the hope that they will not, and often with the belief that the actor has taken sufficient precaution to prevent this happening. The immutability arises from acting despite the consequences. Culpable negligence is acting without the consciousness that illegal and mischievous effects will follow, but in circumstances which show that the actor has not exercised the caution incumbent upon him, and that if he had, he would have had the consciousness. The immutability arises from the neglect of the civil duty of circumspection. 7 MHC 119. To come under this section the death should be the direct result of a rash and negligent act of the accused, and that act must have been the proximate and efficient cause without the intervention of another negligence. 4 Bom LR 679 ; 3 Bom LR 494 ; 32 Cal 645. Criminal rashness is hazarding a dangerous or wanton act, with the knowledge that it is so and that it may cause injury or knowledge that it will be probably caused. The criminality lies in running the risk of doing such an act with recklessness or indifference as to consequence. 30 CWN 66 : 33 Cal 333 : 91 Ind Cas 889 : 27 Cr LJ 153 ; see 30 Cal 302 : 13 CWN 362 : 9 Cr LJ 204 ; see also AIR 1933 Rang 326 : 1933 Cr C 1284 : AIR 1934 Mad 209 : 66 MLJ 318 : 35 Cr LJ 691. Where the act is voluntarily caused this section has no application. 2 Bom LR 613 ; 38 Cal 855 : 15 Cr LJ 513.

The prisoner had been in charge of a police-station, the vicinity of which had been troubled by thieves. On the occasion a thief had fired at the prisoner. If having been reported to the prisoner that three thieves were prowling about, he, with other men, went out to patrol. They saw a man crouching under a tree, and thinking he must be a thief, the prisoner fired at him and killed him. The man proved to be a haleara. The prisoner wrote a false report to the effect that the deceased had been killed by thieves. Held, that, under the circumstances, the accused was guilty of an offence under Section 304-A. AWN 1881 156. The owner of a ferry having the exclusive right to be carry passengers across a certain river at a particular spot, and being found to be punished under Section 304-A, if he causes the death of any passenger by drowning owing to the unsoundness of the boats. 16 All 472 : AWN 1894, 182 ; see also 6 All 248 : AWN 1884 71. Rash act means extra-hasty act. AIR 1933 Rang 326 : 1933 Cr C 1284. Overloading a lorry is not rash and negligent act within Section 304-A. 137 Ind Cas 262 : 33 PLR 492 : 33 Cr LJ 436 : AIR 1932 Lah 319 : AIR 1932 Lah 366.

Culpable rashness is acting consciously that mischievous and illegal consequences may follow; but with hope that they will not and often with the belief that the actor had taken sufficient precaution to prevent happening. State of Maharashtra vs. Dhananjay Laxmanrao Bhagat and Ors., 2010 (2) CrLJ 1980 (Bom) (Nagpur).

Where the evidence of a Civil Surgeon showed that milk was administered in such quantity as to kill the child, but there was no evidence to show that the mother was aware of it, held, that she was not guilty of an offence under Section 304-A 5 NWP 38. The accused who was watching his field one dark night, hearing a noise in the field shouted whereupon a thief ran out of it whom he followed and struck with a stick. The thief fell down, and the accused caused him and took him to the Zamindar's house. The thief became insensible and subsequently died from the effects of the blow which the accused had given him. Held, with reference to the terms of Section 304-A that the conviction under that section bad. AWN 1881, 103.

Where, in the deceased's omission to immediately drive pigs, that were grazing upon the accused's land, the latter took up a piece of a trick and threw it at the deceased from a distance of five paces, and it struck him over the spleen, which being in diseased state, was ruptured, and death ensued ; held, that the accused was guilty only of hurt, and not of causing death by a rash and negligent act. 3 All 597 : AWN 1881, 37. Intentional violence is not a rash or negligent act. 11 PR 1180 Cr. Where the accused struck his servant, who was suffering from an enlarged spleen, and thereby caused his death by its rupture, held, that he was not guilty of an offence under Section 304-A. 7 PR 1877. Where death is caused by an act, which is in itself an offence, Section 304-A is not applicable. 15 PR 1882 Cr ; see also 134 Ind Cas 772 : 32 Cr LJ 1248 : AIR 1931 Lah 275. Where the accused seeing a stooping child in the early morning, in a place considered by the villagers to be haunted, and considering the child to be a spirit or demon, caused his death by inflicting blows, before he discovered his mistake. held, that he was properly convicted under Section 304-A, as he did not act in good faith, i.e., with due care and attention. 11 PR 1888 Cr Section 304-A does not apply to cases of death caused by direct violence intended to cause bodily injury, but without the knowledge that this is likely to cause death. 34 PR 1887 Cr. Where death was caused by the wife administering poison received from her paramour to her husband, the wife all the while thinking the substance to be only a charm and having no knowledge of the poisonous nature of the substance administered till she did see the effect, held, that she was guilty only of an offence under Section 304-A. 60 PR 1897 Cr. Where the accused struck the deceased on the head while he was standing on the edge of a well, by which the deceased lost his balances and was drowned. held, that he was guilty of an offence under Section 304-A, as he did not cause death by doing an act with the knowledge that he was likely by such act to cause death. 33 PR 1889 Cr. When during a quarrel between the complainant and the accused's father the accused struck a blow with a stick on the complainant, but fell upon a child of two years, which the complainant had on his hip during the quarrel, thereby causing the child's death, held, that although the blow, if it has hit the complainant, could not have been likely to cause more than simple hurt, the accused was guilty of an offence under Section 304-A. under the circumstances of the case. 28 PR 1888 Cr. Section 304-A, I. P. Code, must be read along with Sections 336, 337 and 338 and all these sections are confined in their operation to acts done without any criminal intent, apart from the rashness or negligence which is their essential ingredient. 16 ALJ 615. Where on a charge of murder the Sessions Judge disagrees with the verdict of the jury in favour of the accused, it is open to him to convict the accused under Section 304-A, 25 Bom LR 610. On a certain night the two appellants fought with each other, each using a knife. There were no other witness to the occurrence. Each appellant was convicted under Section 307, I.P. Code, on the evidence of his opponent and the corroborative evidence of the wound caused to opponent and the admissions of the appellant that he was himself wounded in the occurrence. Each appellant received five six serious wounds and would have died if he had not received early medical attendance. In each case the condition of the wounded man was so serious that his dying deposition was taken. Held, that neither of the appellants could be legally convicted under Section 307, I.P. Code, but that they were both guilty under Section 326, I.P. Code. 2 Rang 558. Criminal rashness in hazarding a dangerous or wanton act with the knowledge that is so and that it may cause injury or knowledge that it will be probably caused. The criminality lies in running the risk of doing such an act with recklessness or indifference as the consequence. 30 CWN 66. When the accused hit one of his companions in shooting a bear he cannot be said to have acted either negligently or rashly. 9 Lah LJ 482. The words "rashly" and "negligently" mean doing an act without due diligence and caution. The words are comparative words. AIR 1952 Ajmer 34 : 1952 Cr LJ 1236. The question whether the accused's conduct amounted the culpable rashness or negligence depends directly on the question as to what is the amount of care and circumspection of the case. In such cases it is necessary to avoid being influenced by the prejudice arising out of the loss of a life which is so dominant a factor in accident cases. ILR 1953 Hyd 95 : 1953 Cr LJ 42 : AIR 1953 Hyd 123 (AIR 1950 All 300 and AIR 1926 Cal 300 relied on) : 1953 Cr LJ 1850 : AIR 1953 TC 617. Acting with the consciousness that mischievous and illegal consciousness may follow but with the hope that will not follow is culpable rashness. Culpable negligence is acting without the consciousness that the illegal and mischievous effect will follow. 1959 MPLJ (Notes) 138 ; see also 1964 MPLJ (Notes 69 : 1954 All WR (HC) 134 : 1964 All CR 118 : 1965 (1) Cr LJ 524 : AIR 1965 All 196 (distinction between civil and criminal liability).

This section applies to cases into which neither intention nor knowledge of the kind contemplated in Sections 299 and 300 is present AIR 1976 SC 1012 : 1976 Cr LJ 732.

5. Rash or negligent driving—A rash act is primarily an over hasty act. It is opposed to a deliberate act. Still a rash act can be a deliberate act in the sense that it was one without due care and caution. Culpable rashness lies in running the risk of doing an act with recklessness and with indifference as to the consequences. Criminal negligence is the failure to exercise duty with reasonable and proper care and precaution guarding against injury to the public generally or to any individual in particular. It is the imperative duty of the driver of a vehicle to adopt such reasonable and proper care and precaution. The principle of reslpsa loquitor is only a rule of evidence to determine the onus of proof in actions relating to negligence. The said principle has application only when the nature of the accident and the attending circumstances would reasonable lead to the belief that in the absence of negligence the accident would not have occurred and that the thing which caused injury is shown to have been under the management and control of the alleged wrong door. Mohammad Ajmuddin v. State of A.P., 2000 Cri LJ 3508 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 2511 : 2000(7) SCC 72 : 2000(8) JT 317 : 2000(3) Crimes 119 (SC).

Accused while overtake took his vehicle completely at wrong side of road at high speed and dashed against scooter coming from opposite direction. Due to wrong side and high speed witnesses proving his rash and negligent driving, held, conviction is proper. Zamir Khan vs State, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4044 (Bom).

There were some speed breakers near the spot. Therefore, ordinarily the applicant should have controlled his vehicle. Panchnama, however, shows that the victim was possibly standing at the centre of 10 ft. road and signaling applicant's vehicle to stop. P.W. 2 P.S.I. Yusuf Mansub Ali was in the party, which accompanied P.I. Pawar. He, too, stated that though Signal was given by Police Officer to stop the luxury bus, driven by the applicant, the applicant did not stop the bus and it gave dash to Police Officer. Cross-examination as regards, whether the witness ought to have been at the spot is irrelevant for finding out as to how the mishap occurred. The remaining paragraphs of the cross-examination do not show that the witness had either not seen the incident or that the accident occurred due to victim's negligence. Though it was sought to be suggested to the witness that the road turned before approaching the spot, he categorically stated that there was no turn. Thus, there was absolutely no turn or bend on the road which could have prevented the applicant from noticing a Police Officer in uniform on road. Even if it is taken that Police Officer was actually standing in the middle of the road, as rightly pointed out by the learned Additional Public Prosecutor, a suggestion made in cross-examination of P.W. 3 Police Constable Pawar nails the applicant.

It was suggested to the witness of the cross-examination that the luxury bus, driven by the applicant, was not prepared to stop. Police Officer started to cross the road and in hurry of getting to stop the luxury bus Police Officer himself dashed against the bus. Thus, according to the applicant himself, even after seeing the Police Officer signaling the bus to stop, he was not prepared to stop the bus and dashed against the officer who was attempting to stop the bus. Witness was a passenger in luxury bus, which had already been stopped, and stated that he had not seen the accident, which is not improbable. Considering this state of defence, it cannot be said that the learned Magistrate or the learned Sessions Judge erred in concluding that the mishap occurred on account of rash and negligent act of the applicant and that the mishap led to death of Police Officer. Sanjay Rambhau Patil vs State of Maharashtra, 2010 CriLJ 1407 (Bombay).

Negligence and rashness can be said to be essential elements for applicability of provision. State of Karnataka vs. Muralidhar, AIR 2009 SC 1621 : 2009 (4) SCC 463 : 2009 (4) SCR 400 : 2009 (4) JT 108 : 2009 (4) Scale 35.

The evidence of witnesses clearly show that the vehicle was being driven at a very high speed. Evidence on record show that more than 50 persons were there in the truck and the appellant was driving the same at a very high speed. One of the witnesses has stated that the truck was being driven as if it was an aeroplane. Therefore, the conviction as recorded cannot be faulted. Kuldeep Singh v. State of H.P., AIR 2008 SC 3062 : 2008 (10) SCR 1063 (SC) : 2008 (8) JT 219 (SC) : 2008 (10) Scale 64 (SC) : 2008 (7) SRJ 560 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3932 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 2141 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 933 (SC).

A passenger might fall down from a moving vehicle due to one of the following causes: it could be accidental; it could be due to the negligence of the passenger himself; it could be due to the negligent taking off of the bus by the driver. However, to fasten the liability with the driver for negligent driving in such a situation there should be the evidence that he moved the bus suddenly before the passenger could get into the vehicle or that the driver moved the vehicle even before getting any signal from the rear side. A driver who moves the bus forward can be expected to keep his eyes ahead and possiblility on the sides also. A driver can take the reverse motion when that driver assures himself that the vehicle can safely be taken backward. It is a wrong proposition that for any motor accident negligence of the driver should be presumed. An accident of such a nature as would prima facie show that it cannot be accounted to anything other than the negligence of the driver of the vehicle may create a presumption and in such a case the driver has to explain how the accident happened without negligence on his part. Merely because a passenger fell down from the bus while boarding the bus, no presumption of negligence can be drawn against the driver of the bus. Ibid.

In Mohammad Ajmuddin case (Supra) the possible explanation of the driver was that he was unaware of even the possibility of the accident which happened. It could be so. When he moved the vehicle forward his focus normally would have been towards what was ahead of the vehicle. He was not expected to move the vehicle forward when passengers are in the process of boarding the vehicle. But when he got a signal from the conductor that the bus can proceed he was expected to start moving the vehicle. The evidence in the instant was too scanty to fasten him with criminal negligence. Some further evidence was indispensably needed to presume that the passenger fell down due to the negligence of the driver of the bus. Such further evidence was lacking in the instant case. Therefore, the Court was disabled from concluding that the victim fell down only because of the negligent driving of the bus.

In the instant case the evidence in relation to the identity of the accused who was alleged to have dashed the scooter resulting into death of scooter driver and injuries to pillon rider who was carrying the gas cylinder was cryptic. The evidence relating to the rashness or negligence or excessive speed was missing. Non-seizure of gas cylinder and non-examination of pillon rider was a fator against the prosecution. In view of the circumstances and facts, the conviction of accused was held not proper. Smt. Manju Baradia v. State Chhattisgash, 2001 Cri LJ 3762 (Chathisgarh).

In a case of accident where a pedestrian was killed the doctor who conducted the post-mortem was not examined and no explanation was offered by the prosecution before the court as to why he was not examined. It was held that the cause of death was not proved and the accused was entitled to acquittal. Jerald v. State by Inspector of Police, 2001 Cri LJ 3656 (Madras).

In a case, where the deceased did not stop the cart he was driving, the accused assaulted him with lathi on his back due to which he fell down and wheel of cart passed through his body. It was held that the conviction of accused for causing death by negligence was justified. Shiv Dani Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1338 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 168 : 2003(2) East Cri C 512.

In a Delhi case where the accused, who had allegedly caused the death by negligent driving of bus, neither examined owner nor produced other evidence to show that he was not driving the bus on a given date. It was held that the plea of false implication was not available, as his name and number of bus was mentioned in FIR. However, the sentence of imprisonment was reduced to the period already undergone. Kishore Chand v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ 3321 (Delhi) : 2002(97) DLt 705 : 2002(62) DRJ 519 : 2002(3) Rec Cri R 401.

Where the accused while driving his truck rashly and negligently. killed a boy of eight years who was standing on the side of road, the defence plea that accident occurred due to mechanical failure was not accepted as there was no evidence of witnesses that the accused after incident stopped truck at a distance of 3 kms and ran away and conviction of accused was held proper. Chhanga v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 4306 (MP). In State v. Bhagirath, 2003 Cr LJ 4608 (MP) : 2003(2) MPHT 520 : 2003(2) MPLJ 462, where a woman was standing by the side of road was killed due to rash and negligent driving, conviction was held proper.

In a Delhi case scooterist was hit by accuser's truck from behind resulting in his death. The site plan prepared by the investigating officer showed about negligence attributed to the accused. It was not the case of accused that the scooterist suddenly applied breaks and the accused was taken unaware, which led to accused's truck hitting scooter from behind. It was held that the testimony of witnesses could not be discarded merely because they did not use words "rashness" or "negligent" and instead used words " high speed" and that the conviction of accused was proper. Paras Nath v. State of Delhi, 2004 Cr LJ 731 (Delhi) : 2003(107) DLT 169 : 2004(1) Rec Cri R 154.

Contravention of Rule (4) of Orissa Motor Vehicles Rules, 1940 was held itself, to be culpable negligence. (1969) 4 Ori JD 372. The degree of rashness and negligence on the part of the accused required to be proved in criminal cases should be of such a nature that an inference about the commission of a crime may be safely made against him. Simple lack of care which may give rise to civil liability will not be enough for the purposes of establishing guilt under Section 304-A. Driving a bus when both its brakes are out of order is itself a negligent act. 1961 (2) Cr LJ 561. The driver of the truck heavily loaded with timber and carrying in violation of the Motor Vehicles Rules permitting carrying of only 6 persons and driving down that road at a speed of 25 to 30 miles per hour and when negotiating a bend in the road from left to the right the truck went for about 40 yards to the extreme left of the road which was 17 feet wide, knocked down 6 curved stones fixed on the left rolled down into a ditch below and turned turtle killing down 6 persons on the spot. Held, that in the circumstances of the case the incident was the direct result of reckless and negligent driving by the petitioner in utter disregard of the safety of the passengers travelling in it and there was no question of error of judgment. AIR 1961 Ori 45 : 1961 All Cr R 207 : 1961 (1) Cr LJ 300 ; see also 1961 Raj LW 466 ; 1960 Raj LW 680 : ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1415 ; AIR 1959 Mad 497 : 1959 Mad LJ (Cr) 31 : (1959) 1 Mad LJ 46 : 1959 Cr LJ 1344 : 1959 Mad WN 67, where it was held that in an offence under Section 304-A. I.P. Code, where a death is caused by the negligent and rash driving of motor can consists of two factors (a) speed and (b) failure to apply the brakes in time. See also 25 Cut LJ 175 (for test of rash or negligent driving) ; AIR 1954 All 186 : 1954 Cr LJ 405 : 1953 All LJ 689 ; AIR 1954 Mys 491 : 34 Mys LJ 166; 1957 Raj LW 104 ; ILR 1954 Cut 603 (passenger allowed to sit on the top of goods due to negligence of driver).

Accused driving a truck dashed against a cyclist from opposite direction also hitting a tree and stopping later beyond 180 feet. Driving indicated to be at excessive speed and rash. Burden was on the accused to prove how the unfortunate accident occurred. The principle of res ipsa loquitur was applied. 1965 MLJ (Notes) 114 (1950 NLJ 300 : AIR 1945 Neg 212 : ILR 1945 Nag 556 was followed).

Criminal negligence is the gross and culpable neglect of failure to exercise that reasonable and proper care and precaution to guard against injury either to the public in general or to individual. AIR 1972 SC 685 : 1972 Cr LJ 496; 1968 Cr LJ 1501 : AIR 1968 SC 1319. Reckless driving or driving in a manner dangerous to public life is rashness AIR 1975 SC 1966 ; AIR 1975 SC 1324. But the negligence that may give rise to civil liability will not be enough for the purpose of establishing the crime under Section 304, I.P. Code. AIR 1967 Mad 365. There must be nexus between the death of a person and the negligent act of the accused. AIR 1968 SC 829 ; AIR 1957 MP 236 : (1969) 35 Cut LT 723 (it must be shown that the act was done with the consciousness of a risk that evil consequence of death was likely to follow therefore and/or there was mens rea in the doing of the negligent act alleged against the accused) : AIR 1965 All 196 ; AIR 1979 SC 1848 : 1979 Cr LJ 1394 : 1979 Cr LJ 1258 : 1979 Cr LJ 1136 : AIR 1979 SC 1227.

Petitioner's convicted for rash and negligent driving of vehicle resulting in death of a person. No sufficient ground shown for cause of delay in filing appeal against conviction before ADJ and medical certificate filed by him showing advise for his rest upto a particular date in future showing that it was obtained just for purpose of condonation of delay. Thus revision was dismissed. Devinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 2 CC Cases 81 (P & H).

Now the question whether the prosecution has able to established the case against the petitioner. The answer is in the negative. It has not been establish clearly and conclusively that the petitioner was driving the vehicle rashly and negligently. Rather, the evidence points out that the vehicle was being maintained properly and before handing over the vehicle to the petitioner, it was thoroughly checked. The speed of the vehicle has not been established. The evidence on this aspect is varying, but looking to the slope and the evidence that points out that the petitioner was a good driver with a clean record, it is reasonable to conclude that he was driving the vehicle at a low speed. Further, no tangible evidence has been produced suggesting clearly that the wheel sheered off after the impact and not before that. As a matter of fact, this was crucial point which should have been established to show that the petitioner was either rash in driving the vehicle or negligent in not taking care to see that it did not strike the sides. In such a situation, it is worth while to depend on the evidence which points out that not only brake system had failed, but also the wheel had sheered off. Whereafter the vehicle had moved to the left then to the right before falling down the road after hitting the parapet.

Therefore, looking to the evidence in the light of the legal principles involved in this case, it is difficult to uphold the conviction of the petitioner by the District Court Martial. The petitioner cannot be convicted on the basis of vague and contradictory versions of the prosecution witnesses, though it is unfortunate that a number of lives have been lost. The Confirming Authority as well as the Appellate Authority have not given any reasons for rejecting the petition. Lalit Kumar v. Union of India, 1990 (2) Sim LC 233.

The deceased sat on the pillion of a motor cycle driven by the accused. A bus ahead struck on an electric pole whose live-wire fell electrocuting the deceased (pillion rider). Held, the accused was not guilty of the offence under Section 304-A. I.P.C. 1986 Cr LJ 542 (Raj) : 1985 Raj LW 162 : 1985 Raj LR 293.

Accident occurred on kutcha portion of right side of road, in which a boy standing there was dashed and died due to injuries caused by this accident—Place of accident is itself indicative of negligent manner in which vehicle was being driven. Conviction by High Court was fully justified. As occurrence took place 15 years ago. appellant be released on probation of good conduct. A.P. Raju v. State of Orissa, 1995 SCC (Cr) 675 : (1995) 2 East Cr C 486 (SC).

Statement of accused is to be considered as a whole and the accused cannot be convicted by using only one part of his statement. Surendra Kumar v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 94 (All).

When driver of bus who could have seen passenger entering bus from front entrance but did not wait till she entered bus and instead started bus speedily which resulted in fall and death of passenger under rear wheel guilt of accused is proved beyond doubt. Kaliaperumal v. State, 1996 Cri LJ 3658 (Mad).

There must be direct nexus between death of person and rash and negligent act of accused. Sudalaimuthu v. State, 1997 Cri LJ 1038 (Mad).

In Ladu Kishore Chaudhary v. State of Orissa, 2000 Cri LJ 3617 (Orissa) there was absolutely no meterial to show that the petitioner was driving at a high speed with total disregard for life and safety of others so as to criminally make himself liable for rashness and negligence. There were one or two shops near the place of occurrence, where mere driving the vehicle at a high speed may not amount to rash and negligent act. There was no material on record to show that the truck came on non-tar portion causing the accident. The accused was held entitled to acquittal of the charge.

On the high way the vehicles have right of way and if a person deceives to cross the high way, the rules of the road require that the person would have to wait until the transfer has based and only then embark on crossing the highway. It is a very familiar error committed by pedestrians even on the national highway that they saunter and to the road regardless of the movement of the traffic and if a person does a suicidal act of this type, then it would be imperissible for a court in situation of this type to hold the driver of the vehicle responsible for the consequences of the act. In the instant case the incident had accused at night one may presume therefore, that the light conditions were relatively poor and in this background if the deceased, alighted from the jeep and was impatient to get to the other side of the road and made his way across the highway regardless of the on coming vehicles, there was every possibility that he was the main. Contributory to the incident in quatrain. State v. Mahammed Yusuf, 2001 CriLJ 5 (Kant).

Having regard to the serious nature of the accident, which resulted in the death of four persons, the learned single Judge should not have interfered with the sentence imposed by the Court below. It may create and set an unhealthy precedent and send wrong signals to the subordinate Courts which have to deal with several such accident cases. If the accused are found guilty of rash and negligent driving, courts have to be on guard to ensure that they do not escape the clutches of law very lightly. The sentence imposed by the courts should have deterrent effect on potential wrong-doers and it should commensurate with the seriousness of the offence. Of course, the Courts are given discretion in the matter of sentence to take stock of the wide and varying range of facts that might be relevant for fixing the quantum of sentence, but the discretion shall be exercised with due regard to larger interest of the society and it is needless to add that passing of sentence on the offender is probably the most public face of the criminal justice system. State of Karnataka v. Sharanappa Basanagouda Aregoudar, AIR 2002 SC 1529 : 2002(3) JT 243 : 2002(3) Scale 83 : 2002(2) Supreme 500.

Rash or negligent driving—Contra. For convicting a person under Section 304-A of the I. P. C., it is necessary that the death of the person must be caused by rash and negligent act of the accused. In the present case, from the evidence, it is clear that although the applicant was driving the truck, but neither he was driving the vehicle rashly nor the prosecution could prove any negligent on his part. If a truck driver starts his truck and someone riding motor-cycle come behind and attempts to cross the truck and received stroke from back portion of it, it cannot prove negligence of the truck driver. Thus conviction and sentence passed by the Trial Court and affirmed by appellate Court, is set aside and appellant is acquitted of the charge under Sec. 304-A. Ramcharan v. State of M.P., 2007 CriLJ 2884 (Chattisgarh).

6. Causing death by negligence driving.—What the petitioner has done in course of his examination under Section 313 Cr. P.C. is simply denying everything. He does not say anything, and even to the general question that is asked at the end as to whether he has got anything to say, he did not choose to say anything, nor did he care to explain the manner in which the accident occurred, i.e. in order to rebut the above said presumption as regards the accident occurring due to his negligence, and in order to show that accident occurred for a particular reason not attributable to his negligence. This was, therefore, an appropriate case wherein, on the basis of presumption that the Supreme Court was speaking about that conviction could be based. The trial court did not record the statement of the accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in a satisfactory manner. It was necessary for the Magistrate to enable the petitioner/accused personally to explain each of those circumstances appearing in the evidence, therefore, the examination of the accused was faulty. Keshwamurthy v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 103 (Kant.).

Accused driving mini door auto allegedly dashed against deceased, who sustained head injuries and died on spot. Mere fact that a witness happened to be a person known to owner of offending vehicle shall not be enough to hold him to be an interested witness.

Witness in categorical terms has given a vivid description of the accident and he has given details of how the accident took place. According to his testimony he saw the offending vehicle coming at a high speed and hitting the cyclist and then the pedestrian (deceased Chinnan @ Chinnasamy) and thereafter drifting towards the nearby bush. The nature of accident was described by witness as rightly pointed out by the Government Advocate will be enough to arrive at a conclusion that the vehicle was driven rashly and negligently, as a result of which the accident took place. The witnesses cannot be expected to mention the legal terminology while speaking the plain facts relating to the accident. It is for the Court to decide based on such evidence whether the act of rash and negligence on the part of the petitioner was established or not. The Courts below, on an appreciation of evidence, have arrived at a correct conclusion that the rash and negligent act on the part of the petitioner was proved beyond reasonable doubt. There is no scope, whatsoever, to hold the same to be either defective or infirm warranting interference in this criminal revision case. Ponnusamy vs. State, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2656 (Mad).

In a case, the deceased was crushed under rear wheel of truck while alighting due to his full pant being entangled in side hook of truck. Accused did not offer any explanation as to whether he had moved the truck after receiving indication from some one. The eye-witnesses stated that the accused moved the truck without ensuring that all passengers had alighted safely. It was held that death of deceased was direct and proximate cause of the act of the accused and that the conviction of accused under Section 304A was proper. Munna Khan v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 525 (Chh) : 2003(8) all Ind Cas 298 : 2003(2) MPHT 29.

Driving was in rash and negligent manner as road was narrow but speed was high and there was sign board indicating go-slow. It was held that acquittal of driver by trial Court has resulted in miscarriage of justice. The accused was, therefore, convicted but sentence was reduced to the period already undergone. State v. Maduvalappa Fakirappa, 2004 Cr LJ 3712 (Kant) : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 2515 : 2004(4) All cri LR 130 : 2001(6) Kant LJ 28.

On the basis of the evidence on record it was proved beyond reasonable doubt that the accused was driving the truck in question on a public way in a rash and negligent manner thereby endangering the human life and as a consequence of such driving a child of 5-1/2 years was crushed to death. It was held that conviction of accused was proper. State of HP v. Madan Lal, 2005 Cr LJ 803 (HP).

7. Inadequate sentence.—If the accused are found guilty of rash and negligent driving, courts have to be on guard to ensure that they do not escape the clutches of law very lightly. The sentence imposed by the Courts should have deterrent effect on potential wrong-doers and it should commensurate with the seriousness of the offence. Of course, the courts are given discretion in the matter of sentence to take stock of the wide and varying range of facts that might be relevant for fixing the quantum of sentence, but the discretion shall be exercised with due regard to larger interest of the society and it is needless to add that passing of sentence on the offender is probably the most public face of the criminal justice system. State of Karnataka v, Sharanappa Basnagouda Aregoudar, 2002 Cri L.J 2020 (SC) : AIR 2002 (SC) 1529 : 2002(2) Crimes 30 : 2002(3) Scale 83.

Sentence—Lenient view. Coming to the question of sentence, in Dalbir Singh v. State of Haryana, 2000(5) SCC 82 : 2000 AIR SCW 1653, Para 13, it has been stated as follows :

> "......While considering the quantum of sentence to be imposed for the offence of causing death by rash or negligent driving of automobiles, one of the prime considerations should be deterrence. A professional driver pedals the accelerator of the automobile almost throughout his working hours. He must constantly inform himself that he cannot afford to have a single moment of laxity or inattentiveness when his leg is on the pedal of a vehicle in locomotion. He cannot and should not take a chance thinking that a rash driving need not necessarily cause any accident; or even if any accident occurs it need not necessarily result in the death of any human being; or even if such death ensues he might not be convicted of the offence; and lastly, that even if he is convicted he would be dealt with leniently by the Court. He must always keep in his mind the fear psyche that if he is convicted of the offence for causing death of a human being due to his callous driving of the vehicle he cannot escape from a jail sentence. This is the role which the courts can play, particularly at the level of trial courts, for lessening the high rate of motor accidents due to callous driving of automobiles."

Kuldeep Singh v. State of H.P., AIR 2008 SC 3062 : 2008 (10) SCR 1063 (SC) : 2008 (8) JT 219 (SC) : 2008 (10) Scale 64 (SC) : 2008 (7) SRJ 560 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3932 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 2141 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 933 (SC).

8. Duty of motor car driver.—Where there is heavy vehicular traffic on the road and the road is invisible in a cloud of dust, it is the duty of all motorists under these conditions to stop their cars. To continue driving must obviously be dangerous when it is impossible to see anything at all in the neighbourhood. The position is aggravated when the motorist gets on the wrong side of the road and collides with another car. He is in such circumstances guilty of rash and negligent act. ILR 1940 Lah 646 : 42 Cr LJ 465 : AIR 1941 Lah 113. Accused is guilty under this section when he causes death of a child, by driving lorry at a speed of 50 or 55 miles per hour. AIR 1941 Lah 459 ; see also AIR 1945 All 16 : 49 Cr LJ 260 : ILR 1944 All 674. Negligence means want of requisite degree of care. ILR 1944 Nag 732 : AIR 1944 Nag 285. The principles of resipsa loquitur does not conflict with the principle of criminal jurisprudence that the burden of proving an offence lies on the prosecution. It means that the circumstances are themselves eloquent of the negligence of some body who brought about the state of things which is complained of. ILR (1945) Nag 556 : AIR 1945 Nag 242. In a serious case of rash driving of a motor bus, a lenient sentence should not be passed. 1937 MWN 1328 : but see AIR 1937 Bom 96 : 38 Cr LJ 600. But where the driver is guilty of error of judgment he should not be convicted under this section. AIR 1938 Sind 700 : 39 Cr LJ 566. The mere fact that just before the accident the accused asked his driver to blow the horn and overtake the car which was going ahead does not warrant a charge under Section 304-A read with Section 114. AIR 1939 Mad 571 : 40 Cr LJ 850. Mere velocity of the vehicle is not the only criterion of rash and negligent driving. It may consist in talking, while driving, risks which, by the exercise of little diligence, could have been avoided. AIR 1935 Nag 200 : 36 Cr LJ 1368 ; see also AIR 1934 Mad 209 : 35 Cr LJ 691. A driver of a motor vehicle who is himself negligent cannot plead in his defence the negligence of a pedestrian whom he knocked unconscious and killed. Ibid ; see also AIR 1938 Sind. 100 : 39 Cr LJ 566. But see AIR 1957 MP 236 : 1957 Cr LJ 1416 (where contributory negligence can be pleaded) ; 1963 (1) Cr LJ 692 ; 1962 All Cr 376 : 1962 (1) Cr LJ 189 ; AIR 1958 MP 205 : 1958 MPC 213 : 1958 Jab LJ 331 : ILR 1957 MP 357 : 1958 Cr LJ 1032, where it was held that plea of contributory negligence was open also to a driver not possessing licence.

A driver who suddenly fasted with a perilous situation had to decide in split second how best to act in order to avoid it and even if he decided upon a cause which might subsequently be shown to be wrong, he was not criminally liable, 1964 MPLJ (Notes) 63. The Court has to judge what is the amount of care and circumspection which a prudent and reasonable man could consider it to be sufficient having regard to all circumstances of the case. 1979 Cr LJ 1255.

9. Negligence.—Negligence is an omission to do something which a reasonable and prudent man guided upon those considerations which would ordinarily regulate the conduct of human affairs, would do or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. State of Maharashtra vs. Dhananjay Laxmanrao Bhagat and Ors., 2010 (2) CrLJ 1980 (Bom) (Nagpur).

Negligence or rashness—Meaning of. Sec. 304-A speaks of causing death by negligence. This Sec. applies to rash and negligent acts and does not apply to cases where death has been voluntarily caused. This Sec. obviously does not apply to cases where there is an intention to cause death or knowledge that the act will in all probability cause death. It only applies to cases in which without any such intention or knowledge death is caused by what is described as a rash and negligent act. A negligent act is an act done without doing something which a reasonable man guided upon those considerations which ordinarily regulate the conduct of human affairs would do or act which a prudent or reasonable man would not do in the circumstances attending it. A rash act is a negligent act done precipitately. Negligence is the genus, of which rashness is the species. It has sometimes been observed that in rashness the action is done precipitately that the mischievous or illegal consequences may fall, but with a hope that they will not. Lord Atkin in Andrews v. Director of Public Prosecutions (1937) AC 576 at p. 583 : 2 All ER 552) observed as under:

> "Simple lack of care such as will constitute civil liability is not enough. For purposes of the criminal law there are degrees of negligence; and a very high degree of negligence is required to be proved before the felony is established. Probably of all the epithets that can be applied 'recklessness' most nearly covers the case. It is difficult to visualize a case of death, caused by reckless driving in the connotation of that term in ordinary speech which would not justify a conviction for manslaughter; but it is probably not all embracing, for

> 'recklessness' suggests an indifference to risk whereas the accused may have appreciated the risk and intended to avoid it, and yet shown in the means adopted to avoid the risk such a high degree of negligence as would justify a conviction." State of Karnataka v. Muralidhar, AIR 2009 SC 1621.

Negligence is the breach of a duty caused by omission to do something which a reasonable man guided by those considerations which ordinarily regulate the conduct of human affairs would do, or doing something which a prudent and reasonable man would not do. The definition of negligence as given in Law of Torts, Ratanlal & Dhirajlal (edited by Justice G.P. Singh), referred to hereinabove, holds good. Negligence becomes actionable on account of injury resulting from the act or omission amounting to negligence attributable to the person sued. The essential components of negligence are three: 'duty', 'breach' and 'resulting damage'. Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab, 2005 CR LJ 3710 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3180 : 2005(6) SCC 1 : 2005(5) Supreme 297 : 2005(3) Crimes 63 (SC).

What constitutes negligence has been analysed in Halsbury's Laws of England (4th Edition) Volume 34 paragraph 1 (para 3) as follows :

> "Negligence is a specific tort and in any given circumstances is the failure to exercise that care which the circumstances demand. What amounts to negligence depends on the facts of each particular case. It may consist in omitting to do something which ought to be done or in doing something which ought to be done either in a different manner or not at all. Where there is no duty to exercise care negligence in the popular sense has no legal consequence, where there is a duty to exercise care, reasonable care must be taken to avoid acts or omissions which can be reasonably foreseen to be likely to cause physical injury to persons or property. The degree of care required in the particular case depends on the surrounding circumstances, and may vary according to the amount of the risk to be encountered and to the magnitude of the prospective injury. The duty of care is owned only to those persons who are in the area of foreseeable danger, the fact that the act of the defendant violated his duty of care to a third person does not enable the plaintiff who is also injured by the same act to claim unless he is also within the area of foreseeable danger. The same act or omission may accordingly in some circumstances involve liability as being negligent although in other circumstances it will not do so. The material considerations are the absence of care which is on the part of the defendant owed to the plaintiff in the circumstances of the case and damage suffered by the plaintiff, together with a demonstrable relation of cause and effect between the two".

In this context the following passage from Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law, 19th Edition (1966) at page 38 may be usefully noted :

> "Yet a man may bring about an event without having adverted to it at all he may not have foreseen that his actions would have this consequence and it will come to him as a surprise. The event may be harmless or harmful. If harmful, the question rises whether there is legal liability for it. In tort at common law this is decided by considering whether or not a reasonable man in the same circumstances would have realised the prospect of harm and would have stopped or changed his course so as to avoid it. If a reasonable man would not, then there > is no liability and the harm must lie where it falls. But if the reasonable man would have avoided the harm then there is liability and the prepertrator of the harm is said to be guilty of negligence. The word negligence denotes and should be used only to denote, such blameworthy inadvertence, and the man who through his negligence has brought harm upon another is under a legal obligation to make reparation for it to the victim of the injury who may sue him in tort for damages. But it should now be recognized that at common law their is no criminal liability for harm thus caused by inadvertence. This has been laid down authoritatively for manslaughter again and again. There are only two states of mind which constitute mens rea and they are intention and recklessness. The difference between recklessness and negligence is the difference between advertence and inadvertence they are opposed and it is a logical fallacy to suggest that recklessness is a degree of negligence The common habit of lawyers to qualify the word "negligence" with some moral either such as 'wicked' 'gross' or 'culpable' has been most unfortunate since it has inevitably led to greet confusion of thought and of principle. It is equally misleading to speak of criminal negligence since their is merely to use an expression in order to explain itself."

In a case, the deceased fell down from third floor, while he was watching tying of rope to weight which was being lifted from ground floor and died. It was held that the act of the deceased could not be attributed to the accused persons who were lifting weight and that there was a rash and negligent act on the part of the accused, more so when there was absence of mens rea. G.D. Ghai v. State of Karnataka, 2004 Cr LJ 1024 : 2004(2) Crimes 34 : 2004(2) Rec Cri R 561 : AIR 2004 Kant HCR 205.

"Negligence", says the Restatement of the law of Torts published by the American Law Institute (1934) Vol.I. Section 28 "is conduct which falls below the standard established for the protection of others against unreasonable risk of harm". It is stated in Law of Torts by Fleming at page 124 (Australian Publication 1957) that this standard of conduct is ordinarily measured by what the reasonable man of ordinary prudence would do under the circumstances. In Director of Public Prosecutions v. Camplin (1978) 2 All ER 168 it was observed by Lord Diplock that "the reasonable man" was comparatively late arrival in the laws of provocation. As the law of negligence emerged in the first half of the 19th century it became the anthropomorphic embodiment of the standard of care required by law. In order to objectify the law's abstractions like "care" "reasonableness" or "foreseeability" the man of ordinary prudence was invented as a model of the standard of conduct to which all men are required to conform.

In Syed Akbar v. State of Karnataka, (1980) 1 SCC 30 : 1979 Cri LJ 1374 it was held that "where negligence is an essential ingredient of the offence, the negligence to be established by the prosecution must be culpable or gross and not the negligence merely based upon an error of judgement. As pointed out by Lord Atkin in Andrews v. Director of Public Prosecutions (1937) (2) All ER 552) simple lack of care such as will constitute civil liability, is not enough; for liability under the criminal law very high degree of negligence is required to be proved. Probably, of all the epithets that can be applied 'rackless' most nearly covers the case."

According to the dictionary meaning 'reckless' means 'careless', 'regardless' or 'heedless' of the possible harmful consequences of one's acts. It presupposes that if thought was given to the matter by the doer before the act was done. It would have been apparent to have that there was a real risk of its having the relevant harmful consequences, but granted this recklessness covers a whole range of states of mind from failing to give any thought at all to whether or not there is any risk of those harmful consequences, to recognizing the existence of the risk and nevertheless deciding to ignore it. In R. v. Briggs (1997) a All ER 475 it was observed that a man is reckless in the sense required when he carries out a deliberate act knowing that there is some risk of damages resulting from the act but nevertheless continues in the performance of that act.

In R. v. Caldwell (1981) 1 All ER 961, it was observed that :—

> "Nevertheless, to decide whether someone has been 'reckless' whether harmful consequences of a particular kind will result from his act, as distinguished from him actually intending such harmful consequences to follow does call for some consideration of how the mind of the ordinary prudent individual would have reacted to a similar situation. If there were nothing in the circumstances that ought to have drawn the attention of an ordinary prudent individual to the possibility of that kind of harmful consequences, the accused would not be described as 'reckless' in the natural meaning of that word for failing to address his mind to the possibility nor if the risk of the harmful consequences was so slight that the ordinary prudent individual on due consideration of the risk would not be deterred from treating it as negligible could the accused be described as reckless in its ordinary sense if, having considered the risk, he decided to ignore it (In this connection the gravity of the possible harmful consequences would be an important factor. To endanger life must be one of the most grave). So to this extent, even if one ascribes to reckless only the restricted meaning adopted by the court of Appeal in Stephenson and Briggs, of foreseeing that a particular kind of harm might happen and yet going on to take the risk of it. It involves a test that would be described in part as objective in current legal jargon questions of criminal liability are seldom solved by simply asking whether the test is subjective or objective."

The decision of R. v Caldwell (Supra) has been cited with approval in R v. Lawrence (1981) 1 All ER 974 and it was observed that:

> "--- Recklessness on the part of the doer of an act does presuppose that there is something in the circumstances that would have drawn the attention of an ordinary prudent individual to the possibility that his act was capable of causing the kind of serious harmful consequences that the section which creates the offence was intended to prevent, and that the risk of those harmful consequences occurring was not so slight that an ordinary prudent individual would feel justified in treating them as negligible. It is only when this is so that the doer of the act is acting 'recklessly' if , before doing the act. He either fails to give any thought to the possibility of there being any such risk or having recognized that there was such risk. He nevertheless goes on to do it".

In M. Shafi Garoo v. The State, 2000 Cri LJ 2172 (Del.) death of a caddie was caused due to rash and negligent stroke of player while playing golf and a charge was framed under Section, 304A, IPC. The prosecution case hinged solely on the evidence of the caddies who opined that had the petitioner played the stroke with case and caution, the ball would not have hit the deceased. The Court observed as under :

> "The question for consideration is whether the opinion of the said witnesses who are to be examined as expert witnesses, measures up to the well accepted principles of judging the credibility of such an evidence. There is nothing in the statements of the said witnesses to show or suggest that they had made any scientific study or research in respect of the game of golf. No doubt, caddies might have acquired some experience in the game of golf but that is not sufficient to make them as experts in the said game and to give the label of expert evidence to their evidence. That apart, one fails to understand what is care or caution which could have been exercised by the petitioner in playing of offending stroke. It is not that the deceased caddie was standing in the line of the stroke and that petitioner should not have hit the ball till the caddle moved out of the way. It is worth mentioning that the site plan prepared by the investigation officer clearly show that at the relevant time the deceased Amit James was not near or around the petitioner. On the contrary it indicates that there was sufficient distance between the two. It also indicates that the deceased caddie was out of the line of the stroke. In these circumstances, the petitioner's act of playing the offending stroke did not create an obviously or real risk or harmful consequences resulting from it. While playing the offending stroke, the petitioner was not taking any risk in difference to the consequences. That being so, this circumstances of playing the stroke did not bespeak negligence or dereliction of duty to exercise due care and caution.
>
> "I find that there is nothing on the record to show that at the relevant time the petitioner did not exercise reasonable care to ensure that the deceased caddie was not exposed to any danger or that the petitioner had played the offending stroke in such a manner as to create an obvious or serious risk of causing physical injury to some person who might happen to be present in the golf course and that in playing the stroke in that manner the petitioner did so without having given any thought to the possibility of there being any such risk or having recognized that there was some risk involved, had nonetheless gone on to take it. It appears that the stroke played by the petitioner had accidentally deflected causing fatal injury to the deceased caddie. No reasonable player could be expected to anticipate the extraordinary event that happened on the day in question and led to consequences that could not reasonably be anticipated. An error of judgement of the kind such as the one in the instant case which comes to light only on post accident reflection, but could not be foreseen by the petitioner in that fragmented moment before the accident, is not a sure indeed of culpable negligence within the meaning of section 304-A IPC."

In a case, the car being driven by the accused hit a road side tree resulting in the death of two persons hurt travelling in the car in addition to causing hurt to another occupant and grievius to another occupant of the car. The road was of a width of 19 ft of cement and tar road with 6 ft Kacha road on either side. According to report of 1 MV Inspector the accident was not due to mechanical defect in the vehicle. The Court held that in such a situation, an accident of that nature would prime facie show that the same could not be accounted to anything other than the negligence of the driver of the vehicle and that a presumption in that regard arose. The Court further held that it was for the accused to explain how the accident occured without the negligence on his part. Keashavamurthy v. State 2002 Cri LJ 103 (Kant).

In Aman Pal v. State 2002 Cri LJ 290(All) gun shot was fired deceased, his legs were form, thereafter his head was severed from the trunk and headless dead body was burnt. The eye-witness and medical evidence supported the prosecution story. FIR containing the names of all assailants was lodged promptly. The evidence of eye-witness was found reliable and story corroborated by other evidence. Conviction under Section 302 read with 149, 148 and 201, IPC was held proper.

In the case the injured was taken to dispensary. Obviously when the child was taken to the dispensary it was the duty of the Pharmacist to either diagnose the injury correctly or advise for immediate check up by an expert or doctor. In absence of such advice by pharmacist the Headmaster or the Class-Teacher could not have realized the gravity of the injury. As it appears from the materials that child was brought to the Headmaster who offered him a stool to sit. The complainant was informed over phone about the incident and on her query the Headmaster also intimated that there is nothing to worry about and since no such apprehension was ever expressed by pharmacist and when the child was found deteriorating he was immediately sent back in the school bus. In such circumstances the petitioners can not he held liable for negligence causing death of the child. Ramesh Chandra Mohapatra and another v. State of Orissa and others, 2002 Cri LJ 3453 : 2002(3) Crimes 119 : 2002(3) Cur Cri R 66.

Although in an appeal from an order of acquittal the powers of the High Court to reassess the evidence and reach its own conclusions are as extensive as in an appeal against an order of conviction, yet, as a rule of prudence it should always give proper weight and consideration to such matters as (i) the views of the trial Judge as to the credibility of the witnesses; (ii) the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused, a presumption certainly not weakened by the fact that he has been acquitted at the trial; (iii) the right of the accused to the benefit of any doubt; and (iv) the slowness of an appellate court in disturbing a finding of fact arrived at by a Judge who had the advantage of seeing the witnesses, where two reasonable conclusions can be drawn on the evidence on record the High Court should as a matter of judicial caution, refrain from interfering with the order of acquittal recorded by the Court below. In other words, if the main grounds on which the Court below has based its order acquitting the accused, are reasonable and plausible, and cannot be entirely and effectively dislodged or demolished, the High Court should not disturb the acquittal. State of Rajasthan v. Kesa and others. 2002 Cri LJ 432 Raj. H.C.

10. Allegation of gross negligence.—The plea of Association of Victims of Uphaar Tragedy to frame charges under Section 304 IPC against accused Shri. Sushil Ansal and Shri Gopal Ansal, in addition to the charges already framed against them, cannot be sustained on them, in as such as prima facie a case of negligence only is made out against them. The allegations against them show gross negligence, want on carelessness and callous indifference with regard to the upkeep and maintenance of the cinema. Had rapid dispersal facilities been available to the patrons in the balcony, no death or injury could have taken place and as such, this court is of the considered view that there are no good and sufficient grounds for slapping a charge under Section 304 IPC against these two accused. Sushil Ansal v. State, 2002 Cri LJ 1369 (Delhi) : 2002(4) All Cri LR 527 : 2002(1) Cur Cri R 309 : 2002(95) DLT 623.

11. Criminal Negligence.—Criminal negligence means gross and culpable neglect or failure to exercise that reasonable and proper care and precaution to guard an individual in particular against injury. State of Maharashtra vs. Dhananjay Laxmanrao Bhagat and Ors., 2010 (2) CrLJ 1980 (Bom) (Nagpur).

"Criminal negligence" is the gross and culpable neglect or failure to exercise that reasonable and proper care and precaution to guard against injury either to the public generally or to an individual in particular, which having regard to all the circumstances out of which the charge arises, was the imperative duty of the accused person to have adopted. 30 CWN 66, see also 1952 ALJ 553 : 1952 AWR (HC) 604. Where owing to strong wind and rough water, a ferry-boat overturns and sinks resulting in loss of life, the lesses of the ferry cannot be convicted of an offence under Section 304A, Penal Code, unless it is shown that the boat, although overcrowded was in an unseaworthy condition at the time of the occurrence. 16 Cr LJ 72 : 26 Ind Cas 664. Where death is caused by a negligent act, an offence under this section has not been committed inasmuch as there was no likelihood of the result following. 1 M 224 : 1 Weir 325 ; AIR 1941 Mad 766 : 43 Cr LJ 126. Contributory negligence on the part of person killed is no defence of itself to a charge under Section 304-A. AIR 1938 Sind 100 ; see also 6 All 248 : 1884 AWN 71.

Very high degree of negligence is required. Charge of professional negligence on a medical person is a serious one as it affects his professional status and reputation and as such the burden of proof would be more onerous. A doctor cannot be held negligent only because something has gone wrong. He also cannot be held liable for mischance or misadventure or for an error of judgment in making a choice when two options are available. The mistake in diagnosis is not necessarily a negligent diagnosis. Even under the law of tort medical practitioner can only be held liable in respect of an erroneous diagnosis if his error is so palpably wrong as to prove by itself that it was negligently arrived at or it was the product of absence of reasonable skill and care on his part regard being held to the ordinary level of skill in the profession. For fastening criminal liability very high degree of such negligence is required to be proved. Death is the ultimate result of all serious ailments and the doctors are there to save the victims from such ailments. Experience and expertise of a doctor are utilised for the recovery. But it is not expected that in case of all ailments the doctor can give guarantee of cure. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs Sukumar Mukherjee & Ors., 2010 AIR SCW 769 : AIR 2010 SC 1162

Where a snake-charmer, exhibiting a cobra with unextracted fangs in public, placed it on the head of one in the crowd to display his own skill and with no intention of causing harm, whereupon the cobra, in being pushed off the spectator, hit him and caused his death, held, that the snake-charmer was guilty of an offence under Section 304 and not merely under Section 304-A of the Penal Code. 5 Cal 351 : 1 CLR 580. Where a girl 17 years of age being tired of her husband's ill-treatment attempted to commit suicide by jumping into a well and she has no consciousness that her child was on her neck and she jumped with the child and the child died of the jump though the girl survived. Held, that she was guilty under Section 304-A. 27 Bom LR 604 : 87 Ind Cas 840 : 26 Cr LJ 1016 : A1R 1925 Bom 310.

The accused who is arraigned with negligence cannot claim the benefit of an error of judgment when she exercised none. 18 SLR 199 : AIR 1925 Sind 233. The accused's liability is determined by what is the proximate cause. If the proximate cause is negligence of the accused, the presence of another and contributory cause is not a defence. Ibid death should be direct result of rash and negligent act, 145 Ind Cas 612 : 1933 ALJ 205 : 34 Cr LJ 1013 : 55 All 263 : AIR 1933 All 232 : but see AIR 1937 Bom 96 : 38 Cr LJ 660. Person killing another in act of unloading pistol which he knows to be loaded is guilty of negligence. AIR 1930 Lah 462 : 1930 Cr C 531. The accused who was driving a motor-bus when coming across a stationary tram car instead of proceeding straight drove the bus to the other side of the tram with the result that a boy was knocked down and killed. It appeared that the accused did not blow the horn while so crossing and that he accelerated the speed while in the act of crossing and immediately after. Held, that the act of the driver in making the deviation was not such a rash act as would bring the case within Section 304-A, I.P. Code. Held, however that the conduct of the accused is not blowing the horn and in accelerating the speed just when passing close to the tramcar amounted to culpable negligence and that he was liable to be convicted under Section 304-A, I.P. Code. 30 Bom LR 665 : 11 Ind Cas 657 : 29 Cr LJ 897 : AIR 1928 Bom 208.

Prosecution must prove accused guilty of culpable negligence to bring case under Sections 304-A and 338. 1962 Raj LW 281. The accused a snake charmer administering his pills disciples along with heated liver of .goats, but in the absence of proof that death was the direct result of taking pills, he can not be held guilty under Sections 304-A and 337. 30 Cut LT 18 : 1964 (2) Cr LJ 42 : AIR 1964 Ori 173.

Victim died due to drowning in swimming pool. Deceased himself had unauthorisedly and surreptitiously entered in pool which was meant for adult trained swimmer and drowned. None of the witnesses deposed about negligent act of any of the accused which can be said to have caused death of deceased or which could establish connection between the death of deceased as direct result of negligence of any of the respondents/accused. The trial Court did consider the evidence of each witness examined in the case but could not find acceptable evidence to establish nexus between death of deceased with any rash and negligent act of any of the accused, as proximate cause of death. State of Maharashtra vs. Dhananjay Laxmanrao Bhagat and Ors., 2010 (2) CrLJ 1980 (Bom) (Nagpur).

Criminal rashness is hazarding a dangerous or wanton act with the knowledge that is so and that it may cause injury, but without intention to cause injury, or knowledge that it will probably be caused. The criminality lies in running the risk of doing such an act with recklessness or indifference as to the consequences, criminal negligence is the gross and culpable neglect or failure to exercise that reasonable and proper care and precaution to guard against injury either to the public generally or to an individual in particular, which, having regard to all the circumstances out of which the charge has arises, it was the imperative duty of the accused person to have adopted. ILR 1962 Nag 93 : 1952 Cr LJ 1191 : AIR 1952 Nag 268.

A ferry contractor whose previous licence for service had expired took the risk of putting the boat in water and ferring passenger and transporting them as floods in the river were receding was guilty under Section 304-A for rash and negligent act, but the servants of the ferry contractor were not guilty under the section. 1962 All Cr R 257 : 1963 All (1) Cr LJ 44 : ILR 1962 Bom 404 : AIR 1963 Bom 1.

Owner fixing live naked electric wire of high voltage across passage to his latrine to dissuade trespassers but without giving any warning that the wire was live one. The trespasser got shock and died some time after. Held, that the occupier is guilty of offence under Section 304-A, (1964) 1 SCJ 417 : (1964) 2 SCA 198 : (1963) 2 SCWR 419 : 1963 Cur LJ (SC) 123 : 1964 (1) Cr LJ 138 : AIR 1964 SC 205 (To become crime, act need not be actionable wrong) Ratnappa Shivaalingappa Jeevani & Anr. v. State of Karnataka, 2006 Cr LJ 1579.

It was allged that the accused had obtained direct illegal connection from the electric pole. Deceased came into contact with the same and died due to electrocution in neighbouring field of accused. charge of theft of energy was not proved against the accused. Evidence showed that the agriculturists used uninsulated electric fencing around their lands to protect crops from wild animals. Owner of field where dead body was found and other neighbouring agriculturists were not examined. It was held that the mere fact that wire was running up to a particular point, it could not be said that the said act would have been Act of accused and this conviction of accused under section 304A was not proper. Jodu Ramulu v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ (NOC) 216 (AP) : (2005) 1 Andh LT (Cri). 9.

Criminal negligence has been defined as meaning gross and culpable neglect of failure to exercise the reasonable and proper care which it was the imperative duty of the accused to have exercised. (1968) 1 SCR 121 ; AIR 1971 Bom 164 : 72 Bom LR 492 ; 1980 Cr LJ (NOC) 132 : 49 Cut LT 337 ; AIR 1972 SC 685 : 1972 Cr LJ 496 ; Jacob Mathev v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 3710 (SC).

The word 'gross' has not been used in Section 304A of IPC, yet it is settled that in criminal law negligence or recklessness, to be so held, must be of such a high degree as to be 'gross'. The expression 'rash or negligent act' as occurring in Section 304A of the IPC has to be read as qualified by the word 'grossly'. Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 3710 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3180 : 2005(6) SCC 1 : 2005(3) Crimes 63 (SC) : 2005(5) Supreme 297.

The sine qua non for an offence under Section 304-A namely rashness or negligence was singularly missing and the charge so framed should be groundless, 1981 Cr LJ 1067 ; 1979 Cr LJ 1281.

12. Criminal proceedings—Quashing of.—The petitioner gave on contract repair of well when two persons got buried under the debris due to collapse of wall. The occurrence was just an accident and could be termed as misfortune and that criminal intention to cause death cannot be imputed to petitioner, under Section 304-A, I.P.C. criminal proceedings quashed. Dharampal v. State of Haryana, (1995) 1 CC Cases 407 (P & H).

Petitioners were laymen they could not be held liable for negligence of persons who were constructing it. At any rate, death was not as a result of act of two petitioners. Hence FIR in question as a whole and consequent proceedings are quashed. Krishan Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 Recent CR 259 (P & H).

In a Supreme Court case, the accused was charge-sheeted for offence under Section 304A IPC triable by Magistrate. Subsequently, the charge was altered to Section 304, Part-II triable by Court of Session. It was held that court of trial was empowered to alter charge to Section 304, Part-II triable by Court of Session, as it caused no prejudice to accused and the trial was directed to proceed on the basis of charges framed by Magistrate's Court. It was clarified that if Magistrate came to the conclusion that there was sufficient material to charge serious offence under Section 302, Part-II, he would proceed to do so. Finding given by the High Court in a petition under Section 482, Cr PC for quashing charge as to non-existence of material to frame charge for an offence under Section 304, Part-II IPC was held premature. State of Maharashtra v. Salman Salim Khan, 2004 Cr LJ 920 : AIR 2004 (SC) 1189 : 2004(1) Crimes 172 : 2003(8) Supreme 891 : 2004(1) SCC 525.

13. Criminal negligence of a medical practitioner.—Negligence in the context of medical profession necessarily calls for a treatment with a difference. To infer rashness or negligence on the part of a professional, in particular a doctor, additional considerations apply. A case of occupational negligence is different from one of professional negligence. A simple lack of care, an error of judgment or an accident, is not proof of negligence on the part of a medical professional. So long as a doctor follows a practice acceptable to the medical profession of that day, he cannot be held liable for negligence merely because a better alternative course or method of treatment was also available or simply because a more skilled doctor would not have chosen to follow or resort to that practice or procedure which the accused followed. When it comes to the failure of taking precautions what has to be seen is whether those precautions were taken which the ordinary experience of men has found to be sufficient; a failure to use special or extraordinary precautions which might have prevented the particular happening cannot be the standard for judging the alleged negligence. So also, the standard of care, while assessing the practice as adopted, is judged in the light of knowledge available at the time of the incident, and not at the date of trial. Similarly, when the charge of negligence arises out of failure to use some particular equipment, the charge would fail if the equipment was not generally available at that particular time (that is, the time of the incident) at which it is suggested it should have been used.

A professional may be held liable for negligence on one of the two findings: either he was not possessed of the requisite skill which he professed to have possessed, or, he did not exercise, with reasonable competence in the given case, the skill which he did possess. The standard to be applied for judging, whether the person charged has been negligent or not, would be that of an ordinary competent person exercising ordinary skill in that profession. It is not possible for every professional to possess the highest level of expertise or skills in that branch which he practices. A highly skilled professional may be possessed of better qualities, but that cannot be made the basis or the yardstick for judging the performance of the professional proceeded against on indictment of negligence. Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 3710 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3180 : 2005(6) SCC 1 : 2005(3) Crimes 63 (SC) : 2005(5) Supreme 297.

Child suffering from Dengue fever died in hospital of accused while taking treatment. District Civil Surgeon reported that excess fluid was administered to child which was fatal. Record to prima facie indicate negligence on part of accused. Held, he cannot be discharged. Dashavatar Gopalkrishna Bade vs State of Maharashtra, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4056 (Bom).

Doctor caused death of deceased as he put oxygen mask on deceased which was without oxygen in cylinder. Civil Surgeon wrote letter to in-charge of Police Station that it was responsibility of Ward-in-charge to check whether cylinders were empty. He did not mention that for this act, the doctor has responsible. Similarly, witness ward-incharge has mentioned that in emergency it is his duty to check the oxygen cylinder as to whether the same is filled or empty. This letter and the statement of this departmental witness indicate that prima faciely it was not the duty on doctor to check the cylinder. It is a fact that they did not treat the deceased at all. On these facts of their non-availability, they cannot be held responsible for such criminal negligence, on which they can be prosecuted for the offence punishable under Section 304-A of IPC. As rightly submitted on behalf of these doctors, at the most they can be dealt with in accordance with their service rules, if any lapse appears on their part. State of M. P. etc vs Ramlakhan Singh & Ors. etc., 2010 Cri LJ 1574 (MP).

Doctor was not available when called in emergency and as result patient died. It is a fact that they did not treat the deceased at all. On these facts of their non-availability, they cannot be held responsible for such criminal negligence, on which they can be prosecuted for the offence punishable under Section 304-A of IPC. As rightly submitted on behalf of these doctors, at the most they can be dealt with in accordance with their service rules, if any lapse appear on their part. State of M. P. etc vs Ramlakhan Singh & Ors. etc., 2010 Cri LJ 1574 (MP).

The doctor is not presumed to have given guarantee to cure. He is required to exercise the degree of care and skill expected of a reasonable and prudent medical practitioner. It is a matter of common sense that a medical practitioner is not obliged and can never be expected to achieve success in all cause. His duty like other professionals is to exercise reasonable care, caution and skill. If he is found failing in exercise of such things, obviously then, he is to be visited with legal consequences either under the civil law or under criminal law. Even a best surgeon is likely to make honest error in judgement. Therefore, what is required to be judged is causation, nexus of injury with the action alleged to be negligent. A doctor is never presumed to be infallible. He is also not obliged to achieve success in every clinical case that he treats. Doctor cannot be held negligent simply because something goes wrong. Doctor can be found guilty only if he falls short of standard of reasonable skilful medical practice. The part played by Anaesthetist by having failed to check up during the preoperative anaesthesia test as to whether the patient would withstand 3 ml. local anaesthesia drug which was administered through spinal cord to the patient, especially when he had sustained injuries both on the head and leg, may amount to criminal negligence which would warrant Anaesthetist facing the proceeding under Section 304-A, I.P.C. But such a criminal negligence cannot be attributed to the surgeons though it is stated by the prosecution that both the doctors who were responsible for the medical treatment for the patient, have not checked whether all medical check up formalities including anaesthesia test was properly performed before the operation. The responsibility of those doctors who were incharge of operation and their failure to checkup the performance of the medical formalities through Anaesthetist before commencing operation, might reflect negligence, which may attract civil law and certainly not criminal law. Lakshmanan Prakash v. State, 1999 Cri LJ 2348 (Madras).

Before parting with the case of Lakshmanan Prakash the Madras High Court further observed that—

> "After the instant case was reported in the newspaper, immediately after the registration of the case, there was a fear both in the mind of the public and in the mind of the doctors. The doctors became reluctant to conduct even emergent operations apprehending the criminal prosecution. The people also began to be afraid to go to the doctors to undergo operation apprehending the mismanagement by the doctors. Though this fear got subsided in course of time, this Court feels that the fear psychosis developed in the mind of the doctors apprehending the arrest and prosecution, has got to be erased. At the same time, the doctors also should be reminded of their duties so that the fear of the public for the doctor's mishandling could be alleviated. The prime object of the medical profession is to render service to humanity with full respect for the dignity of man. The reward of financial gain is only a subordinate consideration. Whosoever choose this profession assumes the obligation to conduct himself in accordance with its ideals viz. A physician should be an upright man, instructed in the art of healings, physicians should merit the confidence of patients entrusted to their cares, rendering to each a full measure of service and devotion. Physician should try continuously to improve medical knowledge and skill and should make available to their patients and colleagues the benefits of their professional attainments . In his management, the physician should never forget that the health and the lives of those entrusted to his care depend on his skill and attention. A physician is expected to uphold the dignity and honour of his profession. Once having under taken a case the physician should not neglect the patient. The doctors declare, while taking their pledge at the time of registration, that they would maintain the utmost respect for human life and practise their profession with conscience and dignity, and that the health of the patients would be their first consideration."

A great care should be taken before imputing criminal negligence to professional man acting in the course of his profession. A doctor is not criminally responsible for a patient's death unless his negligence and incompetence passed beyond a mere matter of comprehension and showed such disregard of for life and safety as to amount to a crime against the State. The degree of negligence required is that it should be gross, and neither a jury nor a Court can transform negligence of a lesser degree into gross negligence merely by giving it that appellation. Merely because too strong a mixture was once dispensed and a number of persons were made gravely ill, a criminal degree of negligence cannot be said to have been proved. 207 IC 104 : 44 Cr LJ 569 : A1R 1943 PC 72 : 1943 ALJ 427 ; see 1965 [1) Cr LJ 763 : AIR 1265 SC 831 [a homeopath administering poisonous medicine without studying its effect).

The death of patient was caused due to negligence of accused in not putting a cuffed endotracheal tube of proper size in a prescribed manner. It was held that though act may amount to negligence but it was not so reckless or grossly negligent as to make him criminally liable. Proceedings were quashed. (Dr.) Duresh Gupta v. Govt. of NCT of Delhi, 2004 Cr LJ 3870 (SC) : AIR 2004 (SC) 4091 : 2004 (3) Crimes 149 : 2004 (6) Scale 432.

A doctor who administers a medicine known to or used in a particular branch of medical profession impliedly declares that he has knowledge of that branch of science and if he does not, in fact, possess that knowledge, he is prima facie acting with rashness or negligence. Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 3710 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3180 : 2005(6) SCC 1 : 2005(3) Crimes 63 (SC) : 2005(5) Supreme 297.

The cases of doctors (surgeons and physicians) being subjected to criminal prosecution are on an increase. Sometimes such prosecutions are filed by private complainants and sometimes by police on an FIR being lodged and cognizance taken. The investigating officer and the private complainant cannot always be supposed to have knowledge of medical science so as to determine whether the act of the accused medical professional amounts to rash or negligent act within the domain of criminal law under Section 304A of IPC. The criminal process once initiated subjects the medical professional to serious embarrassment and sometimes harassment. He has to seek bail to escape arrest, which may or may not be granted to him. At the end he may be exonerated by acquittal or discharge but the loss which he has suffered in his reputation cannot be compensated by any standards. However, it cannot be said that doctors can never be prosecuted for an offence of which rashness or negligence is an essential ingredient. All that is to emphasize is the need for care and caution in the interest of society; for, the service which the medical profession renders to human beings is probably the noblest of all, and hence there is a need for protecting doctors from frivolous or unjust prosecutions. Many a complainant prefers recourse to criminal process as a tool for pressurising the medical professional for extracting uncalled for or unjust compensation. Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 3710 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3180 : 2005(6) SCC 1 : 2005(3) Crimes 63 (SC) : 2005(5) Supreme 297.

All the averments made in the complaint, even if held to be proved, do not make out a case of criminal rashness or negligence on the part of the accused appellant. It is not the case of the complainant that the accused-appellant was not a doctor qualified to treat the patient whom he agreed to treat. It is a case of non-availability of oxygen cylinder either because of the hospital having failed to keep available a gas cylinder or because of the gas cylinder being found empty. Then, probably the hospital may be liable in civil law (or may not be—we express no opinion thereon) but the accused appellant cannot be proceeded against under Section 304A IPC on the parameters of Bolam's test. Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 3710 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3180 : 2005(6) SCC 1 : 2005(3) Crimes 63 (SC) : 2005(5) Supreme 297.

The spinal anesthesia was given and it developed respiratory problems. The Nursing Home was devoid of basic facilities. Hence it cannot escape the liability and are liable to be tried for negligence. State of M.P. v. (Dr.) Bharti Patidar, 1995 Cr LR 243 (MP).

Negligence on part of hospital and each of treating doctors—Cumulative effect. A patient would feel the deficiency in service having regard to the cumulative effect of negligence of all concerned. Negligence on the part of each of the treating doctors as also the hospital may have been contributing factors to the ultimate death of the patient. But, then in a case of this nature, the Court must deal with the consequences the patient faced keeping in view the cumulative effect.

In the instant case, negligent action has been noticed with respect to more than one respondent. A cumulative incidence, therefore, has led to the death of the patient. It is to be noted that doctrine of cumulative effect is not available in criminal law. The complexities involved in the instant case as also differing nature of negligence exercised by various actors, make it very difficult to distil individual extent of negligence with respect to each of the respondent. In such a scenario finding of medical negligence under Sec. 304-A cannot be objectively determined.

This Court is of the opinion that for the death of deceased although all doctors were negligent, the extent thereof and keeping in view our observations made hereinbefore, it cannot be said that they should be held guilty for commission of an offence under Sec. 304-A of the Indian Penal Code. We furthermore in a case of this nature do not intend to exercise our discretionary jurisdiction under Article 136 of the Constitution of India having regard to the fact that a judgment of acquittal has been recorded by the Calcutta High Court. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs Sukumar Mukherjee & Ors., 2010 AIR SCW 769 : AIR 2010 SC 1162

Contributory negligence—Determination of.—To conclude, it will be pertinent to note that even if we agree that there was interference by Kunal Saha during the treatment, it in no way diminishes the primary responsibility and default in duty on part of the defendants. In spite of a possibility of him playing an over-anxious role during the medical proceedings, the breach of duty to take basic standard of medical care on the part of defendants is not diluted. To that extent, contributory negligence is not pertinent. It may, however, have some role to play for the purpose of damages. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs. Sukumar Mukherjee, 2009 (9) SCC 221 : 2009 (10) JT 256 : 2009 (13) SCR 1 : 2009 (10) Scale 675 : 2009 (6) SLT 164.

Interference in treatment by husband of patient. It is to be noted here that Nursing Superintendent being a professional cannot take this plea. Moreover, the same is not borne out of records at AMRI. Even if we assume this statement to be true, in a professional setting of this nature, these interferences should have been resisted by them. Interference cannot be taken to be an excuse for abdicating one's responsibility especially when an interference could also have been in the nature of suggestion.

It will be pertinent to note that even if we agree that there was interference by husband during the treatment, it in no way diminishes the primary responsibility and default in duty on part of the defendants. In spite of a possibility of him playing an over-anxious role during the medical proceedings, the breach of duty to take basic standard of medical care on the part of defendants is not diluted. To that extent, contributory negligence is not pertinent. It may, however, have some role to play for the purpose of damages. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs Sukumar Mukherjee & Ors., 2010 AIR SCW 769 : AIR 2010 SC 1162

Distinction with Tort Law or Consumer Protection Act. Standard of proof as also culpability requirements under Sec. 304-A of Indian Penal Code stands on an altogether different footing. On comparison of the provisions of Penal Code with the thresholds under the Tort Law or the Consumer Protection Act, a foundational principle that the attributes of care and negligence are not similar under Civil and Criminal branches of Medical Negligence law is borne out. An act which may constitute negligence or even rashness under torts may not amount to same under S. 304-A. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs. Sukumar Mukherjee, 2009 (9) SCC 221 : 2009 (10) JT 256 : 2009 (13) SCR 1 : 2009 (10) Scale 675 : 2009 (6) SLT 164.

Treatment not to be in accordance with medical protocol. The cleavage of opinion, if any, as we have noticed hereinbefore, is between pro-steroid group and anti-steroid group. Accepted treatment protocol so far as the pro-steroid group is concerned has also been noticed by us. We have proceeded to determine the question of negligence on the part of the respondents herein principally on the premise that even if the opinion of the pro-steroid group is followed, the respondents have failed and/or neglected to even act strictly in terms of the treatment protocol laid down by them. The opinion of the anti-steroid group appears to be more scientific and structured but the same by itself, we are conscious of the fact, would not lead us to the conclusion that the respondents are guilty of gross negligence.

It is also to be noted at this juncture, that there may well be a difference of opinion on the course of action to be adopted while treating a patient of TEN, but the treatment line followed by Dr. Mukherjee which entailed administration of 80 mg of Depomedrol injection twice is not supported by any school of thought. The treatment line, in this case, does not flow from any considered affinity to a particular school of thought, but out of sheer ignorance of basic hazards relating to use of steroids as also lack of judgment. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs Sukumar Mukherjee & Ors., 2010 AIR SCW 769 : AIR 2010 SC 1162

Hospital knowingly fail to provide some amenities. This Court must bear in mind that negligence is attributed when existing facilities are not availed of. Medical negligence cannot be attributed for not rendering a facility which was not available. In our opinion, if hospitals knowingly fail to provide some amenities that are fundamental for the patients, it would certainly amount to medical malpractice. As it has been held in Smt. Savita Garg vs. Director, national Heart Institute, 2004 AIR SCW 5820, that a hospital not having basic facilities like oxygen cylinders would not be excusable. Therein this Court has opined that even the so-called humanitarian approach of the hospital authorities in no way can be considered to be a factor in denying the compensation for mental agony suffered by the parents. The aforementioned principle applies to this case also insofar as it answers the contentions raised before us that the three senior doctors did not charge any professional fees. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs Sukumar Mukherjee & Ors., 2010 AIR SCW 769 : AIR 2010 SC 1162

Notice to doctor or hospital—Pre-requisites for issuing. While this Court has no sympathy for doctors who are negligent, it must also be said that frivolous complaints against doctors have increased by leaps and bounds in our country particularly after the medical profession was placed within the purview of the Consumer Protection Act.

Many doctors have stopped giving (even as family physicians) Morphia or Pethidine injection even in emergencies despite the fact that from the symptoms the doctor honestly thought that the patient was having a heart attack. This was out of fear that if the patient died the doctor would have to face legal proceedings.

Similarly in cases of head injuries (which are very common in road side accidents in Delhi and other cities) earlier the doctor who was first approached would started giving first aid and apply stitches to stop the bleeding. However, now what is often seen is that doctors out of fear of facing legal proceedings do not give first aid to the patient, and instead tell him to proceed to the hospital by which time the patient may develop other complications.

Hence Courts/Consumer Fora should keep the above factors in mind when deciding cases related to medical negligence, and not take a view which would be in fact a disservice to the public.

We, therefore, direct that whenever a complaint is received against a doctor or hospital by the Consumer Fora (whether District, State or National) or by the Criminal Court then before issuing notice to the doctor or hospital against whom the complaint was made the Consumer Forum or Criminal Court should first refer the matter to a competent doctor or committee of doctors, specialized in the field relating to which the medical negligence is attributed, and only after that doctor or committee reports that there is a prima facie case of medical negligence should notice be then issued to the concerned doctor/hospital. This is necessary to avoid harassment to doctors who may not be ultimately found to be negligent. We further warn the police officials not to arrest or harass doctors unless the facts clearly come within the parameters laid down in Jacob Mathew vs. State of Punjab, 2005 (6) SCC 1 : 2005 AIR SCW 3685, otherwise the policemen will themselves have to face legal action. Martin F. D'Souza vs. Mohd. Ishfaq, AIR 2009 SC 2049 : 2009 (3) SCC 1 : 2009 (2) JT 486 : 2009 (3) SCR 273 : 2009 (2) Scale 629 : 2009 (2) Supreme 40 : 2009 (2) SLT 20.

Criminal liability—Doctor cannot be held guilty. Charge of professional negligence on a medical person is a serious one as it affects his professional status and reputation and as such the burden of proof would be more onerous. A doctor cannot be held negligent only because something has gone wrong. He also cannot be held liable for mischance or misadventure or for an error of judgment in making a choice when two options are available. The mistake in diagnosis is not necessarily a negligent diagnosis. Even under the law of tort medical practitioner can only be held liable in respect of an erroneous diagnosis if his error is so palpably wrong as to prove by itself that it was negligently arrived at or it was the product of absence of reasonable skill and care on his part regard being held to the ordinary level of skill in the profession. For fastening criminal liability very high degree of such negligence is required to be proved. Death is the ultimate result of all serious ailments and the doctors are there to save the victims from such ailments. Experience and expertise of a doctor are utilised for the recovery. But it is not expected that in case of all ailments the doctor can give guarantee of cure. Malay Kumar Ganguly v. Sukumar Mukherjee & Ors., 2010 AIR SCW 769 : AIR 2010 SC 1162

14. Guidelines for Medical practitioners.—Statutory Rules or Executive Instructions incorporating certain guidelines need to be framed and issued by the Government of India and/or the State Governments in consultation with the Medical Council of India. So long as it is not done, we propose to lay down certain guidelines for the future which should govern the prosecution of doctors for offences of which criminal rashness or criminal negligence is an ingredient. A private complaint may not be entertained unless the complainant has produced prima facie evidence before the Court in the form of a credible opinion given by another competent doctor to support the charge of rashness or negligence on the part of the accused doctor. The investigating officer should, before proceeding against the doctor accused of rash or negligent act or omission, obtain an independent and competent medical opinion preferably from a doctor in government service qualified in that branch of medical practice who can normally be expected to give an impartial and unbiased opinion applying Bolam's test to the facts collected in the investigation. A doctor accused of rashness or negligence, may not be arrested in a routine manner (simply because a charge has been levelled against him). Unless his arrest is necessary for furthering the investigation or for collecting evidence or unless the investigation officer feels satisfied that the doctor proceeded against would not make himself available to face the prosecution unless arrested, the arrest may be withheld. Jacob Mathew v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 3710 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3180 : 2005 (6) SCC 1 : 2005 (5) Supreme 297 : 2005 (3) Crimes 63 (SC).

15. Death must be causa causans of rash or negligent act.—A conviction can be sustained under Section 304-A if death is the direct result of rash or negligent act of the accused. AIR 1959 MP 284 : 1959 Cr LJ 983 : 1960 Jab LJ 308 ; 61 Bom LR 1309 : ILR 1959 Bom 1753 ; AIR 1954 Assam 169 : ILR (1953) 5 Assam 412 : 1954 Cr LJ 1279. On materials of the case the Supreme Court held in AIR 1954 SC 271 : ILR 1954 Patiala 66 : 1954 Cr LJ 727, that the accused was guilty of an offence under Section 304-A as the death of the victim was the result of the rash and negligence act of the accused ; see also AIR 1960 MP 50 : 1960 Cr LJ 234.

Medical evidence as also the evidence of the witnesses, show that the driver was heavily drunk. Drunkenness without anything more, would constitute rashness. 1988 (1) Cri LC 118 (Ker).

In case of death occurred as a direct consequence of the gross and wilful negligence of the petitioner it was observed that to sustain a charge of causing death by negligent act it was necessary that death should have been the direct result of the negligent act. That act must be the proximate cause, without any other supervening act or intervention. 1987 Cri LJ 200 (Ker).

16. Conviction.—Death caused by negligence. Car-driver abruptly opening door of his car and knocking down cyclist. Just then lorry coming from behind running over cyclist who died. Death caused due to running over of lorry. Driver of lorry can be convicted under Section 304-A. It was held that car-driver though negligent can be convicted only under Section 337, I.P.C. P.S. Jose v. State of Kerala, 1994 Cri LJ 363 (Ker).

Conviction for rash and negligent driving—Validity. When deceased a girl was about to board offending bus driven by accused-driver took bus speedily and made her to fall down whereby she sustained injuries and ultimately died. No material contradiction in evidence of prosecution witnesses. The question that would arise is as to what made her to fall down from the bus? The accident occurred because of the conductor having given wrong signal and the driver having rash and negligently started and driven the offending bus without taking care to see as to whether the passengers, including the victim, boarded the bus properly or not. Hence, Absolutely there is no material contradiction in the deposition of witnesses. It is pellucidly and palpably clear that the occurrence took place because of the negligent act of the conductor in giving whistle and the driver of the bus having taken the bus in a rash and negligent manner. Neither the conductor nor the driver can fob off their respective responsibilities as against each other and try to wriggle out of the responsibilities also.

It can be said that occurrence took place because of negligent act of conductor in giving whistle and driver of bus having taken bus in a rash and negligent manner. Neither conductor nor driver can fob off their respective responsibilities by blaming each other. However, cutting across technicalities, the analysis of the depositions of those witnesses would reveal that the findings of the Courts below cannot be found fault with. As such, it is clear that both the driver and the conductor of the offending bus were responsible for causing the accident for which they have been rightly convicted by both the Courts. Rajaram & Anr vs State, 2010 Cri LJ 1644 (Madras).

Child suffering from Dengue fever died in hospital of accused while taking treatment. District Civil Surgeon reported that excess fluid was administered to child which was fatal. Record to prima facie indicate negligence on part of accused. Held, he cannot be discharged. Dashavatar Gopalkrishna Bade vs State of Maharashtra, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4056 (Bom).

Illegal long extension of electric wire by respondent causing death of deceased. Hence offence of culpable negligence was proved—Acquittal set aside and convicted and sentenced to pay fine of Rs. 5,000/- payable to L.Rs. of the deceased. State of M.P. v. Bhagwandas, (1995) 1 CCR 286 (MP).

Victim died due to electrocution. Prosecution of the accused for offence under Section 304-A. It was held that high degree of negligence and rashness has to be proved—Ordinary negligence not sufficient to record conviction. State of H.P. v. Lilla Datt, (1995) 1 Crimes 481 (HP).

When it is established that accused caused death of eight persons due to rashness and negligence of accused in motor accidents, conviction of accused was proper. M.A. Waheed v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 1059 (AP).

17. Sentence.—It is very dangerous to attempt to distinguish in cases falling under Section 304-A between the proximate and ultimate cause of death due to a rash and negligent act. The mere fact that a human life is lost due to negligent driving of motor car does not justify the Court in passing a deterrent sentence, if the loss of life could not have been reasonably anticipated by the accused. In considering the question of enhancement of sentence one has to consider whether the rash and negligent act of the accused shows consciousness on his part as regards the risk to which he was exposing other persons. The severity of the sentence must depend to a great extent on the degree of callousness which is present in the conduct of the accused. AIR 1937 Bom 96 : 38 Bom LR 1111 : 186 Ind Cas 870 : 38 Cr LJ 660 : 9 RB 411; see also AIR 1934 Oudh 18. It is no part of the duty of the Court to punish with savage sentences every motorist who has the misfortune to have an accident, which results in a loss of life, even though the accident is due to an error of judgment on the part of the driver. The circumstances of each case must be considered in imposing sentence. Moreover, one has to remember that driving motor cars has become an essential part of human activities and it is impossible to avoid a certain number of accidents. Ibid.

In a case of this sort the sentence to be imposed cannot be measured by the consequences of the act, unless those consequences were necessarily inherent in the act, 168 Ind Cas 865 : 38 Cr LJ 658 : 9 RB 410 : 38 Bom LR 1111 : AIR 1937 Bom 80. For sentence see also AIR 1960 Mys 177 : ILR 1959 Mys 477 : 1960 Mad LJ (Cr) 318 : 1960 Cr LJ 965 ; AIR 1960 Madh Pra 105 : 1959 MPLJ 856 : 1959 Jab LJ 495 : 1960 Cr LJ 482. In regard to the sentence the Court must keep out false prejudices in cases of accidents. AIR 1959 Mad 497 : 1959 Mad WN 67 : 1959 Mad LJ (Cr) 31 : (1959) 1 Mad LJ 46 : 1959 Cr LJ 1344. The imposition of one punishment on a driver of a motor vehicle under Section 304-A. I.P. Code for causing death by negligence and a further punishment for the same offence under Section 121 of the Motor Vehicles Act for using a vehicle in unsafe condition is opposed to law. AIR 1955 Mad 548 (1954) 2 MLJ 765 : 1965 Cr LJ 1267 ; AIR 1960 Mys 177.

Sentence—Lenient view. Coming to the question of sentence, in Dalbir Singh v. State of Haryana, 2000 (5) SCC 82 : 2000 AIR SCW 1653, Para 13, it has been stated as follows :

> "......While considering the quantum of sentence to be imposed for the offence of causing death by rash or negligent driving of automobiles, one of the prime considerations should be deterrence. A professional driver pedals the accelerator of the automobile almost throughout his working hours. He must constantly inform himself that he cannot afford to have a single moment of laxity or inattentiveness when his leg is on the pedal of a vehicle in locomotion. He cannot and should not take a chance thinking that a rash driving need not necessarily cause any accident; or even if any accident occurs it need not necessarily result in the death of any human being; or even if such death ensues he might not be convicted of the offence; and lastly, that even if he is convicted he would be dealt with leniently by the Court. He must always keep in his mind the fear psyche that if he is convicted of the offence for causing death of a human being due to his callous driving of the vehicle he cannot escape from a jail sentence. This is the role which the courts can play, particularly at the level of trial courts, for lessening the high rate of motor accidents due to callous driving of automobiles."

Kuldeep Singh v. State of H.P., AIR 2008 SC 3062 : 2008 (10) SCR 1063 (SC) : 2008 (8) JT 219 (SC) : 2008 (10) Scale 64 (SC) : 2008 (7) SRJ 560 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3932 (SC) : 2008 (3) JCC 2141 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 933 (SC).

The applicant was prosecuted for the offence punishable under Section 304A of the Penal Code but actually the applicant had given dash to a Police Officer who was trying to stop the vehicle and therefore, ought to have been prosecuted and tried for an aggravated assault, if not murder. This is not a case where benefit of probation could be extended to the applicant. The contention of the learned Additional Public Prosecutor is unexceptionable and therefore, there is no question of considering the applicant for being dealt with under the Probation of Offenders Act or under Section 360 of the CrPC in spite of his young age or absence of previous criminal history. It is true that the sentence imposed i.e. rigorous imprisonment for two years, was maximum prescribed for the offence punishable under Section 304A of the Penal Code. However, in the circumstances, recounted above, it cannot be said that the sentence calls for any interference. Sanjay Rambhau Patil vs State of Maharashtra, 2010 CriLJ 1407 (Bom.).

Bus was driven at high speed as stated by eye witness and not have any mechanical failure. Concurrent finding of fact that bus was being driven rashly and negligently. Six months' simple imprisonment and a direction to the appellant to pay a fine of Rs. 1,000/- for commission of the offence punishable under Sec. 304A and simple imprisonment for one month and to pay a fine of Rs. 500/- for the offence punishable under Sec. 279 of the Indian Penal Code cannot be said to be shocking. B. Nagabhushanam v. State of Karnataka, AIR 2008 SC 2557 : 2008 (8) SCR 444 (SC) : 2008 (5) SCC 730 : 2008 (6) JT 568 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 716 (SC) : 2008 (6) SLT 292 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 61 : 2008 (2) JCC 1423 (SC) : 2008 (3) Recent CR 50 (SC).

Sentence shall be adequate and not only be symbolic. AIR 1966 Bom 122 : AIR 1961 Ori 95.

Where the deceased was thrown out of truck due to a jerk and case was pending for a longtime, the sentence was reduced to the period already undergone. Bharat Pandhari Nath More v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 205 (Bom) : 2004 All MR CCRi 136 : 2004(1) Bom Cr (cri) 958.

In a case where the death was caused by negligence, petitioner had already suffered rigour of trial for 13 years. He had already undergone incarceration for four months. The accused had no record of previous conviction. There was no complaint against him while he was on bail. It was held that no useful purpose would be served in requiring him to undergo remaining portion of his sentence at belated stage and hence the sentence of imprisonment was reduced to period already undergone. Dhanpal Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 2724 : 2004(111) DLT 464 : 2004(74) DRJ 506.

In a case where the deceased was crushed under the wheel of truck while alighting, as his full part was entangled in the side hook of truck. The deceased had move the truck without ensuring that all the passengers had alighted safely. It was held that the benefit of probation of offenders Act could not be extended to accused in view of the fact that he was carrying passengers in flagrant violation of rules in open truck which was not meant for carrying passengers. Munna Khan v. State of MP (Now Chhattisgarh), 2004 Cr LJ 525 (Chh) : 2003(8) All Ind Cas 298 : 2003(2) MPHT 29.

The trial Court by observing that the accused driver was a poor man of young age and swayed by nature of offence and circumstances under which the offence was committed, awarded sentence lesser than maximum punishment prescribed by law. The High Court held it improper. Babul Chakraborty v. State of Tripura, 2005 Cr LJ 4712 (Gau) : 2006(39) All Ind Cas 842 : 2006(1) Gau LR 568.

Where the incident of causing death by negligence driving occurred more than 10 years before and the accused was under stress and strain of investigation and trial, the sentence was reduced to three months simple imprisonment and fine of Rs. 1000/-. State of HP v. Madan Lal, 2005 Cr LJ 803 (HP) : 2004(2) Cur LJ (CCR) 22 : 2003(2) Shim LC 406.

The fact of the accused being a young boy of 24 years of age, this being his first offence and he being the only bread, earner of the family will have to be given some weight in considering quantum of sentence. Sanjay v. State of Maharashtra, 1999 Cri LJ 2923 (Bom).

Where a truck and auto-rickshaw collided against each other but due to the negligence of both the drivers, the rickshaw dashed against a child who was killed. The Supreme Court increased the fine and ordered a sum out of the fine to be paid to the mother. AIR 1977 SC 892 : 1977 Cr LJ 549 ; AIR 1972 SC 2127 : 1972 Cr LJ 1393 ; (1982) 2 SCC 439 (sentence of the raised from Rs. 2000/- to Rs. 10.000/- to be paid as compensation).

Six person's died due to rash and negligent driving. Others injured—Agony of four years in trial—Appeal not decided while six months passed—Benefit of probation was not given. Punishment was modified and sentence reduced. Gurcharan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 1 : (1994) 1 CC Cases 267 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 580 : (1994) 3CC Cases 35 (P & H).

Majority of accidents are caused because of negligent and reckless driving. The purpose of punishment is to deter rash and negligent driving. Hence it is now to amend the provisions of Section 304-A to make it more stringent on question of punishment. These offenders do not deserve to be released on probation. Pravinsinh Himatsinh Zala v. State of Gujarat, (1995) 1 GLR 595 (Guj).

The deceased was standing on foot board and fell down on sharp turn in fast speed. He expired in hospital. Hence there is no merit in revision but sentence reduced to period already undergone. Shivdev Singh v. State (Delhi Administration), (1995) 58 DLT 462 (Del).

Where car was in high speed and deceased received injuries while crossing the road because brake could not be applied—Held. sentence reduced to six months. Chandramohan Nair v. State of Kerala, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1750.

While negotiating a sharp turn truck of applicant brushed side by side against another truck coming from opposite direction resulted in death of one person and injuries to few others. It is correct that applicant alone was not responsible for accident. The drivers of both vehicles were rash and negligent. However it will not mitigate the responsibility of the applicant. Hence conviction under Sections 304-A and 279, I.P.C. is confirmed but sentence reduced to one month's simple imprisonment and fine increased to Rs. 5,000/- other sentences are upheld. Sudesh Kashinath Naik v. State of Goa, 1994 B Cr C 449 (Bom).

Prosecution for rash and negligent driving and hence was convicted. Appeal against the same was filed and conviction was sustained—However, in the peculiar facts of the case sentence reduced to period already undergone.—Hari Ram v. State, (1995) 1 Crimes 40 [Del).

Conviction was made under Section 304-A, I.P.C. Sentence of one year's, imprisonment with fine—Reduction of sentence was made with prolonged litigation. Hence it was held that sentence reduced to period of 7 months, already undergone. Darshan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1995) 2 CC Cases 547 (P & H).

Rash and 'negligent' driving of truck hence convicted—Concurrent findings—Prayer seeking reduction of sentence mitigating circumstances was considered, and sentence of imprisonment reduced to already undergone and fine imposed. Revision allowed partly. Simrath Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR (Raj) 344.

Where the accused, a truck driver, caused accident due to his rash and negligent driving resulting into death of three persons and injuries to five persons sitting in the truck, it was held that the accused did not deserve any leniency on account of delay of the disposal of the case and that the accused had to undergo the penance of the crime he had committed. Chunni Lal v. State of Rajasthan, 2000 Cri LJ 2499 (Raj).

There was negligent and rash driving—Three persons dead as a result, no help to victims as petitioner runaway—Benefit of probation was not given. But considering agony of trial sentence was reduced to one year from two years—Rs. 1.00 to 15.00 given to heirs. Tulsa Ram v. State of Haryana, (1994) 1 CC Cases 266 (P & H).

Where petitioner was only earning member of his family and was not previous convict—Benefit of probation be given—Awarded payment of Rs. 10,000 to the legal heirs of deceased. Jagir Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) I CC Cases 630 : (1994) 2 CC

Cases 270 : (1994) 2 Crimes 566 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 118 : (1994) 2 Recent Cr R 350 (P & H).

Conviction order passed for an offence under Section 304-A, petitioner was the only earning member and was not previous convict. Hence sentence reduced to 3 months R.I. and payment of compensation to the decease awarded. Gurinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 3 CC Cases 548 (P & H).

Death was due to accident. Negligence of the driver established—Claim was made before claims Tribunal—Claim and appeal against dismissal, claimant was held entitled to award of Rs. 1,50,000/ Haji Zainulla Khan v. Nagar Mahapalika, Allahabad, 1994 SCC (Cri) 1568.

Conviction and sentence of fine of Rs. 500 was imposed—State appeal for enhancement of sentence. It was held the reasoning of Magistrate itself showed that he entertained about guilt of the accused. Hence matter is liable to be sent back for fresh trial. State v. Ibrahimsab Maibubsab, (1994) 2 Crimes 283 : (1994) 2 Kar LJ 176 (Kar).

18. Procedure.—Cognizable—Warrant—Not bailable—Not compou-ndable—Triable by Magistrate of the first class.

19. Acquittal.—After accident the petitioner did not lend any helping hand in order to remove the injured from site of accident to hospital. Hence grant of probation under Section 4(1) of Act, 1958 is not considered fit. However considering the agony of trial of 3-1/2 years undergone by him the sentence is reduced. Jagtar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 CC Cases 234 (P & H).

The accused—Petitioner took himself to police station after causing accident resulting to death of cyclist. The petitioner is only bread winner of the family and had already undergone custody for a week and facing agony of trial and appeal since June, 1988. In the circumstances it is a fit case to release petitioner, giving him benefit of Section 4 of Act, 1958. Fine enhanced. Madan Lal v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 1 WLC 228 (Raj).

Allegation was of negligent and careless driving resulting in death. One petitioner was the only earning member of family. Compensation granted by M.A.C.T.—Petitioner was not a previous convict—No misuse of bail was held. Benefit of probation may be given—After paying Rs. 8,000/- to heirs entitled to be acquitted. Bhola Dass v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 262 : (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 88 (P & H).

In absence of any evidence that deceased-wife was subjected to cruelty for demand of dowry soon before her death, conviction of accused under Section 304-B not proper, Inder Raj v. State of Rajasthan, 1996 Cr LJ 924 (Raj).

20. Charge.—I (name and office of Magistrate, etc.) hereby charge you (name the accused) as follows :—

That, on or about the..........day of............ at.......... you caused the death of..........by doing a rash or negligent act not amounting to culpable homicide, and thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 304-A of the Indian Penal Code, and within my cognizance. And I hereby direct that you be tried on the said charge. The charge would be defective if it uses the words 'rashness and negligence'. AIR 1960, Madh Pra 105 : 1960 Cri LJ 482 : 1956 Jab LJ 495.

21. Benefit of probation.—Bearing in mind the galloping trend in road accidents in India and the devastating consequences visiting the victims and their families, Criminal Courts cannot treat the nature of the offence under Section 304-A, I.P.C. as attracting the benevolent provisions of Section 4 of the Probation of Offenders Act. While considering the quantum of sentence to be imposed for the offence of causing death by rash or negligent driving of automobilies one of the prime considerations should be deterrence. A professional driver pedals the accelerator of the automobile almost throughout his working hours. He must constantly inform himself that he cannot afford to have a single moment of laxity or inattentiveness when his leg is on the pedal of a vehicle in locomotion. He cannot and should not take a chance thinking that a rash driving need not necessarily cause any accident or even if any accident occurs it need not necessarily result in the death of any human being or even if such death ensues he might not be convicted of the offence and lastly that even if he is convicted he would be dealt with leniently by the Court. He must always keep in his mind the fear psyche that if he is convicted of the offence for causing death of a human being due to his callous driving of vehicle he cannot escape from jail sentence. This is the role which the Courts can play particularly at the level of trial courts, for lessening the high rate of motor accidents due to callous driving of automobiles. Dalbir Singh v. State of Haryana, 2000 Cri LJ 2283 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 1677 : 2000(5) JT 463 : 2000(4) Scale 323 : 2000(3) Supreme 749.

The applicant was prosecuted for the offence punishable under Section 304A of the Penal Code but actually the applicant had given dash to a Police Officer who was trying to stop the vehicle and therefore, ought to have been prosecuted and tried for an aggravated assault, if not murder. This is not a case where benefit of probation could be extended to the applicant. The contention of the learned Additional Public Prosecutor is unexceptionable and therefore, there is no question of considering the applicant for being dealt with under the Probation of Offenders Act or under Section 360 of the Code of Criminal Procedure in spite of his young age or absence of previous criminal history. It is true that the sentence imposed i.e. rigorous imprisonment for two years, was maximum prescribed for the offence punishable under Section 304A of the Penal Code. However, in the circumstances, recounted above, it cannot be said that the sentence calls for any interference. Sanjay Rambhau Patil vs State of Maharashtra, 2010 Cri LJ 1407 (Bombay).

Where accused was 30 years' youngman and litigation was continuing 9 years and accused provided medical help to deceased. Benefit of probation given to accused. Gurmej Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Recent Cr R 162 (P & H).

Fatal accident due to rash and negligent driving of bus by petitioner—Two persons on Scooter died—Petitioner youngman having wife and four small children is only bread earner of his family. In case of his conviction he may lose his job—Motor Accident Claims Tribunal already awarded sufficient compensation to legal heirs of deceased. It was held, fit case to give benefit of probation of good conduct to petitioner. Darsban Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 Crimes 742 (P & H) : (1994) 2 CC Cases 102 : (1994) XXI Cr LT 147.

There was rash and negligent driving and did not render medical aid to deceased. Two persons were dead as a result of accident, benefit of probation was not given and sentence was reduced. Krishan Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 1 CC Cases 655 (P&H).

22. Witnesses/Evidence and proof.—Interested witness.—Having scrutinized the evidence on record, merely because two witnesses have turned hostile, would not by itself mean that either the identity or the rash and negligent driving by the petitioner has not been proved on record. All that witnesses are clear in their depositions that it was the petitioner who was driving the vehicle. They have been subjected to searching cross-examination and the veracity of their evidence in examination in chief has not been controverted. Learned Counsel submits that witness has to be treated as an interested witness and his evidence is to be scrutinized with greater care and caution. True, witness is an injured person and it is his daughter who died and his other family members received injuries, but that fact by itself does not render his evidence untrustworthy. This principle has been affirmed by the Supreme Court in Kalegura Padma Rao vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, represented by the Public Prosecutor, AIR 2007 SC 1299 = 2007 (12) SCC 48. holding :

> "We may also observe that the ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently, being a partisan witness, should not be relied upon has no substance. This theory was repelled by this Court as early as in Dalip Singh's case, AIR 1953 SC 364 = 1953 Cri LJ 1465, in which surprise was expressed over the impression which prevailed in the minds of the Members of the Bar that relatives were not independent witnesses. Speaking through Vivian Bose, J. it was observed (AIR Page 366, Para 25) :
>
> "We are unable to agree with the learned Judge of the High Court that the testimony of the two eye-witnesses requires corroboration. If the foundation for such an observation is based on the fact that the witnesses are women and that the fate of seven men hangs on their testimony, we know of no such rule. If it is grounded on the reason that they are closely related to the deceased we are unable to concur. This is a fallacy common to many criminal cases and one which another Bench of this Court endeavoured to dispel in 'Rameshwar vs. State of Rajasthan', AIR 1952 SC 54 at Page 59 = 1952 Cri LJ 547. We find, however, that it unfortunately still persists, if not in the judgments of the Courts, at any rate in the arguments of Counsel".

The golden rule of assessing evidence of any witness is to see as to whether in the natural sequence of events, the person deposing as a witness is one who is naturally familiar with the facts stated under oath, his testimony stands the test of cross-examination and he has no motive to implicate the accused. These factors established on record and witnesses have no motive to falsely implicate the petitioner. Krishan Sinh vs. State of HP, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3048 (HP).

Evidence of eye-witnesses of accident—Credibility. From eye-witness in the cross-examination, it is elicited that after hearing the sound, he turned and saw the accident. He has denied all other suggestions including the suggestion that he did not see the accident. In fact, when PW. 1 was cross-examined immediately after his examination-in-chief, nothing was suggested to him regarding the accident. However, he was recalled twice for the purpose of further cross-examination, at the request of the accused and during further cross-examination, certain suggestions relating to the accident were put to him, which, he denied. Nothing is elicited from eye-witness to indicate that he could not see the accident in question. The only material suggestion put to him in the cross-examination was since the bullock-cart was going ahead of the bus he could not see the bus, but he has denied this suggestion. This suggestion is incongruous, as the bullock-cart cannot cover the bus, as the bus is taller than the bullock-cart and the seat of the driver of the bus itself will be above the height of bullock-cart. In fact it is not suggested to eye-witness that he was not present near the tea stall and he did not see the accident. Thus, the presence of eye-witness near the tea stall is not seriously disputed in the cross-examination. There is no suggestion to eye-witness that he did not witness the actual collision between the two vehicles. In fact, from the tenor of cross-examination of eye-witness behalf of the accused indicates that the accused seriously did not dispute the fact that the collision took place on the extreme western side of the tar road while the bus driver was overtaking the bullock-cart which was going ahead of him.

The learned Magistrate has disbelieved the evidence of witness on the ground that in his cross-examination he has stated that after hearing the sound he turned round and came to the place of the accident; he disbelieved the evidence of eye-witness 2 on the ground that while drinking tea near the tea stall he could not concentrate as to what happens on the road and that he could not see the bus as a bullock-cart was proceeding ahead of the bus. He disbelieved the evidence of witness on the ground that he could not identify the driver of the bus though he saw the bus coming from a distance of 10 to 15 feet and he could not say the speed at which the bus was driven. I fail to understand as to how the evidence of these witnesses could be disbelieved for the above reasons. When it is shown that was the pillion rider of the motor cycle and when it was not disputed that the accused was the driver of the bus which was involved in the accident, the fact that the pillion rider did not identify the bus driver should not be a ground to reject his evidence. On the ground that pillion rider or could not say the speed with which the bus was driven, his evidence could not have been disbelieved, as, in a prosecution for the offence under Sections 279, 338 and 304-A, IPC, the question required to be considered is whether, they accused drove the vehicle in a rash and/or negligent manner so as to endanger human life. In my opinion, the reasons assigned by the learned Magistrate to reject the evidence of witnesses are not proper and are irrelevant reasons. The evidence of other witnesses clearly establish that they were present near the tea stall and they had seen the accident. The evidence of pillion rider who was the pillion rider is convincing and acceptable. For improper and irrelevant reasons, the learned Magistrate has disbelieved the evidence of PWs witnesses. Therefore, the finding of the learned Magistrate in this behalf is perverse and illegal. State of Karnataka vs. Kumayian, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3376 (A) (Karn).

Evidence of pillion rider. Collission between motor cycle and bus. In the cross-examination of Pillion rider there was no suggestion that he was not proceeding as pillion rider on the motor cycle. In fact, the evidence on record shows that he was injured in the accident and for several days he was treated as in-patient in the hospital. Therefore there is no difficulty in believing his evidence that he was proceeding as pillion rider on the motor cycle, as such he was the best witness to speak as to the manner in which the accident occurred. However, the learned Magistrate for strange and peculiar reasons has disbelieved the evidence of pillion rider. The learned Magistrate has disbelieved the evidence of witness on the ground that in his cross-examination he has stated that after hearing the sound he turned round and came to the place of the accident; he disbelieved the evidence of eye-witness 2 on the ground that while drinking tea near the tea stall he could not concentrate as to what happens on the road and that he could not see the bus as a bullock-cart was proceeding ahead of the bus. He disbelieved the evidence of pillion rider on the ground that he could not identify the driver of the bus though he saw the bus coming from a distance of 10 to 15 feet and he could not say the speed at which the bus was driven. I fail to understand as to how the evidence of these witnesses could be disbelieved for the above reasons. When it is shown that witness was the pillion rider of the motor cycle and when it was not disputed that the accused was the driver of the bus which was involved in the accident, the fact that the pillion rider did not identify the bus driver should not be a ground to reject his evidence. On the ground that pillion rider or could not say the speed with which the bus was driven, his evidence could not have been disbelieved, as, in a prosecution for the offence under Sections 279, 338 and 304-A, IPC, the question required to be considered is whether, the accused drove the vehicle in a rash and/or negligent manner so as to endanger human life. In my opinion, the reasons assigned by the learned Magistrate to reject the evidence of witnesses are not proper and are irrelevant reasons. The evidence of other witnesses clearly establish that they were present near the tea stall and they had seen the accident. The evidence of the pillion rider is convincing and acceptable. For improper and irrelevant reasons, the learned Magistrate has disbelieved the evidence of witnesses. Therefore, the finding of the learned Magistrate in this behalf is perverse and illegal. State of Karnataka vs. Kumayian, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3376 (A) (Karn).

Probation—Benefit not granted. Considering number of road accidents and devastating consequences thereof benevolent provisions of S. 4 of Probation of Offender's Act not to be applied to such cases and benefit of Probation of Offender's Act cannot be granted. Zamir Khan vs State, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4044 (Bom).

23. Intention and Knowledge.—This section obviously does not apply to cases where there is an intention to cause death or knowledge that the act will in all probability cause death. It only applies to cases in which without any such intention or knowledge death is caused by what is described as a 'rash' or negligent act. A negligent act is an act done without doing something which a reasonable man, guided upon those considerations which ordinarily regulate the conduct of human affairs, would do, or act which a prudent or reasonable man would not do in the circumstances attending it. A rash act is a negligent act done precipitately. Negligence is the genus, of which rashness is the species. It has sometimes been observed that in rashness the action is done precipitately with the consciousness that the mischievous or illegal consequences may follow, but with a hope that they will not. But it is not necessary that there should always be this consciousness of the consequence. This is also untrue as the observations of Lord Atkin in Andrews v. Director of Public Prosecution, 2 All ER 552 : 1937 AC 576

In order to be encompassed by the protection under Sec. 304-A there should be neither intention nor knowledge to cause death. When any of these two elements is found to be present, Sec. 304-A has no application. When the background facts are considered in the light of the legal principles set out above, the inevitable conclusion is that stand of the appellant is clearly unsustainable. Girish Singh v. State of Uttaranchal., AIR 2008 SC 3136 : 2008 (8) SCR 47 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 586 (SC) : 2008 (6) SLT 194 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1417 (SC) : 2008 (3) RecentCR 58 (SC).

24. Professional negligence—Very high degree of negligence is required.—Charge of professional negligence on a medical person is a serious one as it affects his professional status and reputation and as such the burden of proof would be more onerous. A doctor cannot be held negligent only because something has gone wrong. He also cannot be held liable for mischance or misadventure or for an error of judgment in making a choice when two options are available. The mistake in diagnosis is not necessarily a negligent diagnosis. Even under the law of tort medical practitioner can only be held liable in respect of an erroneous diagnosis if his error is so palpably wrong as to prove by itself that it was negligently arrived at or it was the product of absence of reasonable skill and care on his part regard being held to the ordinary level of skill in the profession. For fastening criminal liability very high degree of such negligence is required to be proved. Death is the ultimate result of all serious ailments and the doctors are there to save the victims from such ailments. Experience and expertise of a doctor are utilised for the recovery. But it is not expected that in case of all ailments the doctor can give guarantee of cure. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs Sukumar Mukherjee & Ors., 2010 AIR SCW 769 : AIR 2010 SC 1162

25. Road traffic fatalities.—The human toll in such accidents in tragic. Survivors and family members are affected not only by an immediate death or disability, but also lifetime psychological and physical suffering. Crashes often result in orphans, and some victims, as young as infants, spend the rest of their lives with medical facilities. State of Karnataka vs. Muralidhar, AIR 2009 SC 1621 : 2009 (4) SCC 463 : 2009 (4) JT 108 : 2009 (4) SCR 400 : 2009 (4) Scale 35.

Tools needed to combat this epidemic. We have the tools needed to combat this epidemic. In the developed nations, proven methods such as enforcement of laws regarding driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, reducing speed limits, and requiring seat belts and restraints have shown significant reduction in traffic fatalities. Road design and road environment, vehicle design, and road safety standards are also strategies that successfully address traffic safety. For maximum impact of RTI's, a systems approach with multiple, scientifically proven prevention techniques must be employed. Education alone has been shown to be less effective, and often ineffective.

Proven interventions for developed countries require research, modification, and testing for developing countries. For example, developing countries face poorly designed and maintained roadways, unsafe vehicles, drivers under the influence of drugs or alcohol, lack of national policies, and inadequate enforcement. Success will require significant new resources supported by sustained political commitment. State of Karnataka vs. Muralidhar, AIR 2009 SC 1621 : 2009 (4) SCC 463 : 2009 (4) JT 108 : 2009 (4) SCR 400 : 2009 (4) Scale 35.

26. Sections 279 and 304A.—The only distinguishing feature is that in Section 279 the rash and negligent act made punishable relates to the manner of driving or riding on a public way, while the offence under Section 304A extends to any rash or negligent act falling short of culpable homicide. (1968) 34 Cut LT 500. In the absence of a definite finding as to whether the driving was negligent or not, the conviction under Sections 304A and 279, IPC, cannot be maintained. (1975) 2 Cr LJ 1402. Where two persons viz., a driver of a motor car and driver of motor truck coming from different directions collided, it was held that they could not be tried in one trial for offences under Sections 279 and 304A, IPC. AIR 1973 Guj 275.

True that in the instant case the appellant has been found to be guilty of offences punishable under Secs. 279 and 304A, IPC for driving rashly and negligently on a public street and his act unfortunately resulted in the loss of a precious human life. But it is pertinent to note that there was no allegation against the appellant that at the time of accident, he was under the influence of liquor or any other substance impairing his driving skills. It was a rash and negligent act simplicities and not a case of driving in an inebriated condition which is, undoubtedly despicable aggravated offence warranting stricter and harsher punishment.

Having regard to all these facts and bearing in mind the fact that the mother of the victim has no grievance against the appellant and has prayed for some can be taken in the matter and the sentence of imprisonment can be reduced. We are of the opinion that the ends of justice would be met if the sentence of imprisonment is reduced to the period already undergone but in addition thereto, the appellant should be directed to pay an amount of Rs. 1,00,000/- to the mother of the deceased by way of compensation. Learned counsel for the appellant, in fact, indicated that his client was willing to pay that much amount. We order accordingly. Manish Jalan v. State of Karnataka., AIR 2008 SC 3074 : 2008 (8) SCC 225 : 2008 (7) JT 643 (SC) : 2008 (9) Scale 814 (SC) : 2008 CrLJ 3941 (SC) : 2008 (3) SCC (Cr) 456 : 2008 (3) JCC 1846 (SC)

Sec. 279 deals rash driving or riding on a public way. A bare reading of the provision makes it clear that it must be established that the accused was driving any vehicle on a public way in a manner which endangered human life or was likely to cause hurt or injury to any other person.

Obviously the foundation in accusations under Sec. 279 IPC is not negligence. Similarly in Sec. 304 A the stress is on causing death by negligence or rashness. Therefore, for bringing in application of either Sec. 279 or 304 A it must be established that there was an element of rashness or negligence. Even if the prosecution version is accepted in toto, there was no evidence led to show that any negligence was involved. Braham Dass vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 3181 : 2009 CrLJ 4297 : 2009(8) SCR 908 : 2009(7) SCC 353 : 2009(9) Scale 43 : 2009(8) JT 615 : 2009(4) Crimes 70(SC) : 2009(6) Supreme 646.

Reduction of sentence. The appellant has been convicted under Secs. 279 and 304-A of the Indian Penal Code and has been sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of 6 months and to pay a fine of Rs. 2,000/- The sentence as far as conviction under Sec. 279 I.P.C is concerned has been set aside by the High Court. What remains after the judgment of the High Court is the conviction under Secs. 279 and 304-A. I.P.C. wherein the appellant was sentenced to undergo six months simple imprisonment alongwith a fine of Rs.2, 000/-. In out view, this is one of those cases where instead of confining the appellant in prison, the interest of justice will be better served if he is made to compensate the family of the deceased on account of the loss suffered by them.

Accordingly, while maintaining the appellant's conviction under Secs. 279 and 304-A IPC notwithstanding the agreement arrived at between the parties, we increase the amount of fine from 2,000/- to Rs. 20,000/- to be paid by the appellant to the parents of the deceased and reduce the sentenced to the period already undergone. subject to payment of the fine. The aforesaid amount is to be deposited by the appellant in the trial Court within three weeks from date, and on such deposit, the said amount shall be made over to the parents of the deceased and the appellant shall be released forthwith. In default of such deposit, this order shall remain in abeyance for a period of four weeks and if still no deposit is made within the said period the appeal will stand dismissed. Puttaswamy vs. State of Karnataka, 2008 (17) SCR 272 : 2009 (1) SCC 711 : 2008 (15) Scale 483 : 2008 (12) JT 561.

27. Overtaking prohibited in certain cases.—The Central Government in exercise of its power under Section 118 of the Motor Vehicles Act has framed the regulations called "Rules of Road Regulations, 1989" and the same has come into force from 1.7.1989. Regulation No.6 deals with over, taking prohibited in certain cases. According to this regulation, the driver of a motor vehicle shall not pass a vehicle travelling in the same direction as himself if his passing is likely to cause danger to other traffic proceeding in any direction. In the light of this, the accused as driver of the KSRTC bus before overtaking the bullock-cart going ahead of him should have seen as to whether his act would cause danger or inconvenience to the vehicle/s coming from opposite or any other direction. Without taking such care or caution, the respondent - accused proceeded to overtake the bullock-cart and unmindful of the fact that a motorcycle was coming from the opposite direction on the correct side of the road, the accused proceeded further and dashed against the motor-cycle. In the light of the above^ there is no substance in the argument that the rider of the motor-cycle ought to have stopped the vehicle after seeking the bus and avoided the collision. As the rider was moving on the correct side of the road, and he was not overtaking any vehicle, there was no duty cast on him to stop the vehicle. Thus the respondent - accused did not take such care and caution which a prudent and reasonable man was required to take in the circumstance of the case and in spite of the fact that two wheeler was coming from opposite direction, by keeping to its correct side, the respondent instead of stopping the bus and avoid overtaking the bullock-cart going ahead of him as it was likely to cause danger to the two wheeler coming from the opposite direction, proceeded further wantonly and ultimately caused injury to both the rider and pillion rider of the two wheeler. Thus the facts and circumstances of this case clearly indicate that there is culpable rashness and neglignece on the part of the accused. He did not act as a prudent and reasonable driver would have done in such circumstance.

Ex.P. 4 is the sketch prepared by the Investigating Officer during the investigation and Ex. P. 2 is the spot mahazar. If the contents of Exs.P. 2 and P. 4 are read together, it is clear that the actual collision took place at a distance of about 5 feet from the western edge of the tar road. The correctness of the contents of Exs.P.2 and P.4 is not disputed by the accused. Thus from the contents of Exs. P.2 and P.4, it is clear that the accident occurred almost at the western edge of the road, which was wrong side to the direction in which the bus was proceeding. The evidence on record indicates that the right front portion of the bus dashed against the motorcycle and the motor-cycle came under the right front wheel of the bus and ultimately the bus after dragging the motor-cycle to a distance of about 20 feet stopped on the foot path situated on the western side. From this, it is manifestly clear that the bus driver drove the bus in a rash and negligent manner and the vehicle was not under his control. He was not in a position to bring the bus to halt and in the absence of any tyre mark on the road, it appears the accused also did not make any effort to apply break to stop the bus. No doubt there is no clear evidence as to whether the driver of the bus drove the vehicle at a great speed. However, the speed by itself is not the sole factor to decide the culpability of the driver of the vehicle, and it is the rash and negligent act which is very much necessary to be considered. The question as to whether a person drove the vehicle in a rash and negligent manner depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case. The totality of the circumstances has to be taken to find out as to whether there was rash and negligent act on the part of the accused person. In the case on hand by taking the entire evidence on record as a whole and the silence on the part of the accused, it is clearly established that the respondent - accused drove the bus in a rash and negligent mannen and that was responsible for the accident which resulted in the death of one person and injury to another. Accused who was the driver of the bus which involved in the accident had the special knowledge as to how the accident occurred and as to whether or not he was responsible for the accident. Unfortunately, during the examination under Section 313 CrPC, the accused has not come out with any explanation. He has merely denied all the incriminating circumstances put to him. State of Karnataka vs. Kumayian, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3376 (A) (Karn).

Accused while overtake took his vehicle completely at wrong side of road at high speed and dashed against scooter coming from opposite direction. Due to wrong side and high speed witnesses proving his rash and negligent driving, held, conviction is proper. Zamir Khan vs State, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4044 (Bom).

28. Deceased herself a medical student.—When a patient agrees to go for medical treatment or surgical operation, every careless act of the medical man cannot be termed as 'criminal'. It can be termed 'criminal' only when the medical man exhibits a gross lack of competence or inaction and wanton indifference to his patient's safety and which is found to have arisen from gross ignorance or gross negligence. Where a patient's death results merely from error of judgment or an accident, no criminal liability should be attached to it. Mere inadvertence or some degree of want of adequate care and caution might create civil liability but would not suffice to hold him criminally liable.

Where the deceased herself was a medical student and she was aware of her disease and the gravity of it, and the delay in her treatment was not due to doctor's negligence but the deceased herself waited for her brother's arrival with necessary funds to meet the medical expenses, and the operation was performed by the doctor with the assistance of anesthetist and necessary antibiotics were also administered to her and the death occurred due to post operative complications though she was provided necessary treatment such as putting oxygen etc., it was held that the death of patient was not caused due to recklessness or negligence of accused doctor. Katcherla Venkata Sunil v. Dr. Vanguri Seshumamba and Ors., 2008 CriLJ 853 (AP).

29. Separate sentence under Sec. 279.—When deceased a girl was about to board offending bus driven by accused-driver took bus speedily and made her to fall down whereby she sustained injuries and ultimately died. No material contradiction in evidence of prosecution witnesses.

Law is well settled that simply because the accused are found guilty under Section 304 (A) IPC and sentence imposed, there is no embargo for the Court to impose separate sentence under Section 279 IPC also. But in this case, both the Courts below fell into error on this aspect. This Court, being revisional Court, is not inclined to impose any sentence for the first time for the offence under Section 279 IPC Accordingly, this revision is partly allowed. Rajaram & Anr. v. State, 2010 Cri LJ 1644 (Madras).

30. Scene of offence Panchanama is not substantive evidence.—In accident cases it is too much to expect oral evidence to prove the rash and negligent driving as accidents take place within fraction of seconds and it may not be possible for any witness to speak about the exact manner in which the accident took place. Therefore, it is only the circumstantial evidence which is very very important to come to a conclusion as to how the accident took place and whether there was any rash and negligent driving on the part of the driver of the vehicle. Moreso, in accidents of head-on-collision involving two vehicles where it is to be decided as to which driver was responsible for the accident or both the drivers were responsible. But, in the present case the prosecution solely relied on the scene of offence panchanama which is not substantive evidence. Mere marking of panchanama is not sufficient and that the contents of panchanama are to be brought on record through the mediators or through the Investigating Officer through whom the panchanama is marked. Where the contents of panchanama were not brought on record and simply panchanamas were marked, the trial Courts must realize that mere marking of panchanama is not sufficient and that the contents of panchanama shall be spoken to by the witnesses in the presence of the accused to enable him to cross-examine and then only the Court can place reliance on the contents of panchanama. Therefore, the Courts must exhibit patience to record the contents of the panchanama on which the prosecution proposes to rely to prove the relevant circumstances required to establish the guilt of the accused. Here in the instant case, there is absolutely no legal evidence to prove any of the circumstances. Without there being evidence, the trial Court drew the inference that the bus went to right side of the road and hit the jeep and, therefore, the driver of the bus was rash and negligent. Ofcourse, so far as the damages to the vehicles are concerned, the Motor Vehicle Inspector stated about the damages in respect of both the vehicles. These damages noted by the Motor Vehicle Inspector shows that more damage was caused to the jeep. But, merely because more damage was caused to the jeep, it cannot be inferred from that circumstance that the bus driver went with high speed and hit the jeep. In fact the said damages indicate that the jeep driver went with high speed and hit the bus and, therefore, there was extensive damage to the jeep and not to the bus. There is another circumstance in support of such inference that none of the bus passengers received injuries. If really the bus was going with high speed at the time when it hit the jeep, the passengers in the bus should have necessarily received injuries on account of sudden jerk. Therefore, the inference drawn by the trial Court basing on the damage to the jeep as per scene of offence panchanama is not sound and correct. Suruvu Parshaiah v. State of A.P., 2006 CriLJ 824 (AP).

* * * * *

[1][Sec. 304-B. Dowry death.—(1) Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand or dowry, such death shall be called "dowry death" and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused her death.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section "dowry" shall have the same meaning as in Section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 (28 of 1961).

Whoever commits dowry death shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may extend to imprisonment for life.

Synopsis

1. Scope 1835
2. Section 304B does not conceive agreement 1838
3. Applicability of 1839
4. Offence 1841
5. Dowry death 1843
    (a) What amounts to? 1843
    (b) 'Dowry'—Words and Phrases 1845
    (c) Ingredients of offence. 1845
6. Demand of dowry in respect of invalid marriage 1845
7. Presumption 1847
8. Non-Examination of doctor conducting post-mortem 1849
9. "Soon before death"—Interpretation 1849
10. Culpable Homicide 1855
11. Normal Circumstances 1855
12. Evidence and Proof 1855
13. Circumstantial evidence 1859
14. Burden of Proof 1859
15. Procedure 1860
16. Dying Declaration 1860
17. Bail 1861
18. Conviction 1861
19. Acquittal. 1866
20. Sentence 1873

---

1. Inserted by Act 43 of 1986 (w.e.f. 19.11.1986).

21. Cruelty 1873
22. Framing of Charge 1876
23. Death of wife in her matrimonial home. 1876
24. Symbolic marriage—Scope. 1876
25. Unnatural death. 1877
26. FIR 1877
27. Murder or suicide—Determination of—Post mortem report. 1877
28. Cruelty and dowry death—Distinction between 1878
29. Investigation—Slip-shod investigation. 1879
30. Dowry death or Abetment of suicide 1880

1. Scope.—Provision thereunder Section 304-B is not mutually exclusive—They deal with different offence. Keshab Chandra Panda v. State (1995) 1 CCR 427 (Ori).

While dealing with the expression "soon before the death", the Apex Court in the matter of Prem Kanwar vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1242 = 2009 Cri LJ 1123, has held that "soon before the death" means proximate and live-link must exist between effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and concerned death. Para 12 of the said judgment reads thus :

> "A conjoint reading of Section 113-B of the Evidence Act and Section 304-B, IPC shows that there must be material to show that soon before her death the victim was subjected to cruelty or harassment. Prosecution has to rule out the possibility of a natural or accidental death so as to bring it within the purview of the 'death occurring otherwise than in normal circumstances'. The expression 'soon before' is very relevant where Section 113-B are pressed into service. (Prosecution is obliged to show that soon before the occurrence there was cruelty or harassment and only in that case presumption operates.) Evidence in that regard has to be led by prosecution. 'Soon before' is a relative term and it would depend upon circumstances of each case and no strait-jacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute a period of soon before the occurrence. It would be hazardous to indicate any fixed period, and that brings in the importance of a proximity test both for the proof of an offence of dowry death as well as for raising a presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act. The expression 'soon before her death' used in the substantive Section 304-B, IPC and Section 113-B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity test. No definite period has been indicated and the expression 'soon before' is not defined. A reference to expression 'soon before' used in Section 114, illustration (a) of the Evidence Act is relevant. It lays down that a Court may presume that a man who is in the possession of goods 'soon after' the theft, is either the thief or has received the goods knowing them to be stolen, unless he can account for his possession. The determination of the period which can come within the term 'soon before' left to be determined by the Courts, depending upon facts and circumstances of each case. Suffice, however, to indicate that the expression 'soon before' would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the concerned cruelty or harassment and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live-link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand the concerned death. If alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb mental equilibrium of the woman concerned, it would be of no consequence."

Sanjay Kumar Kesharwani vs. State of Chhattisgarh, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1844 (Chha).

It is a unique legal phenomenon in the Indian Penal Code that the only act, the attempt of which alone will become an offence. The person who attempts to commit suicide is guilty of the offence under Section 309 IPC whereas the person who commits suicide cannot be reached at all Section 306 renders the person who abets the commission of suicide punishable for which the condition precedent is that suicide should necessarily have been committed. It is possible to abet the commission of suicide. But nobody would abet a mere attempt to commit suicide. It would be preposterous if law could afford to penalise on abetment to the offence of mere attempt to commit suicide. It there is not abetment, there is no question of the offence under Section 306 coming into play. Hence there cannot be an offence under Section 116 read with Section 306, IPC. Satveer Singh v. State of Punjab 2001 Cri LJ 4625 (SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 2828 : 2001(8) SCC 633 : 2001(8) JT 208 : 2001(6) Scale 513.

Essential ingredients for offence under Sectin 304-B of IPC and for raising presumption under Section 113-B of Evidence Act is that there must be materail to show that soon before her death, victim was subjected to cruelty/harassment. Kunhiabdulla v. State of Kerala, AIR 2004 (SC) 1731 : 2004(4) SCC 13 : 2004(3) JT 206 : 2004(3) Scale 57 : 2004(2) Supreme 354.

It is evident, upon perusal of the testimony of prosecution witnesses, that the appellant did harass the deceased with regard to the fact that the dowry, that she had got with her at the time of marriage, was both insufficient and of poor quality. The period between the death of Smt. Baby and the date of the marriage is only six months. One of the ingredients under the provisions of Section 304-B of the IPC for a person to be convicted under the said provision, is that, the prosecution should be able to prove that the deceased was subjected to cruelty and harassment by the husband or the relative of the husband for or in connection with demand for dowry soon before her death. However, soon before her death would mean in the recent past and not immediately before the death of the victim. There must be some "proximate and live link" between the "effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and concerned death" See also Thakkan Jha & Ors v State of Bihar, (2004) 13 SCC 348 and Baldev Singh v. State of Punjab, VII (2008) SLT 626. Sanjay vs. State, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3214 (Del).

But even assuming that such an accident took place no injuries as found on the person of deceased can be caused in course of the fall into the water. The Investigating Officer described the well in question as a kuccha well, that is to say its inner walls were not brick lined. Deceased had suffered two injuries, one over her nose and the other in the parietal area of the head. The doctor was quite definite that the two injuries were the result of two separate blows by some hard and blunt substance. In cross examination he said that the two injuries could be caused by dashing against two different projections; those could not caused by a single projection. We are completely unable to see deceased falling down inside the well and getting her face and head smashed twice against two projections jutting out from the soft clay inner walls without any lining of bricks. We have no manner of doubt that deceased was first beaten and then her body was dumped into the well when she was dying or was already dead. Deen Dayal vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 (SC) 1238 : 2009 CrLJ 1119 : 2009 (1) Crimes 243 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 157 : 2009 (1) JT 170 : 2009 (1) SCR 56 : 2009 (1) Scale 408 : 2009 (1) SLT 341 : 2009 (1) JCC 540.

The essential ingredients of the offence under Section 304-B of the Indian Penal Code is that, the prosecution must show that a woman, before her death, was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband in connection with any demand for dowry. Unless the harassment or cruelty, to which the woman/wife is stated to have been subjected to is in connection with a demand for dowry, the offence under Section 304-B of the Indian Penal Code, can not be made out at all Elango v. State, 2000 Cri LJ 4343 (Madras); Gordhan Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cri LJ 273.

The evidence showed that grievances were referred to authorities of crime against women cell and settlement arrived therein did not relate to dowry demand. There was no definite evidence of ill treatment having immediate proximity to date of death of deceased. It was held that accused could not be convicted under Section 304B as ill treatment for dowry was not soon before the death. As to presumption under Section 113B the Court said that proximate test applied and expression soon "before death" occurring in Section 304B did not indicate any fixed period but it meant that there must be existence of a proximate and live link between the effect of cruelty based or dowry demand and the death. Hira Lal v. State (NCT) of Delhi, 2003 Cr LJ 3711 : 2003(4) SLT 594 (SC) : 2003(2) DMC 206 : 2003(2) JCC 1182 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 2016 (SC).

No specific mention during trial regarding demand of scooter etc, made by appellant. Trial Judge not relying upon this part of the prosecution-evidence in respect of co-accuseds, acquitted them. Same piece of evidence basis of the conviction of the appellant holding him to be duty-bound to ensure that wife was not subjected to such cruelty.—Held. approach of the Trial Judge palpably illegal and foreign to criminal jurisprudence. Jairam v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 534 (Raj)

Where essential ingredients of the offence were not complete against the accused and there was absence of evidence of dowry death. Discharge of the accused—Held, sustainable. Bhagwan Sahai v. Raju and Rajendra Kumar, 1995 Cr LJ 806 (Raj) ; See also Ganesh v. Bhutekar State, 2005 Cr LJ 1221 (Bom) : 2005 All MR (CRI) 440 : 2005 Mat LR 326.

Section 304-B was inserted by Amendment Act of 1986 has no retrospective effect. No charge under Section 304-B can be framed where the alleged offence was stated to have been committed before 9.11.1986. Pradeep Kumar Dhawan v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1995 MPLJ 112 (MP).

Suicide took place within 4 months of marriage—Held, at this stage the sufficiency of grounds for presuming the commission of offence only has to be seen. Sanjev Prakash v. State, 1995 Cr R 220 (MP|.

Provisions under Section 304-B is not a mere procedural change. They create a substantive offence. Not applicable retrospectively, Shyama Singh v. State of Bihar. (1995) 1 Crimes 164 (Pat).

Expression "soon before death" means reasonable time and quite close in proximity prior to death—Held, there being no such evidence charge framed under Section 304-B cannot be upheld. Mishriya v. State of Rajasthan, 1985 Cr LR (Raj). 542.

In the case of dowry death it is necessary for the prosecution to prove the following : (i) That the death of woman is caused either by burns or by any bodily injury or occurrence otherwise than under normal circumstances; (ii) That it is caused within 7 years of her marriage : and ; (iii) It is shown that soon before her death she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relatives of her husband for or in connection with any demand for dowry. In these things are proved then it is provided in the section that the death shall be called 'dowry death' and such husband and relatives shall be deemed to have caused her death. Where there is no proof on record to hold the death as accidental because the death is caused by strangulation which cannot occur as an accident. It is either deliberately done by someone else and, therefore is homicidal or is done by the person dying and is suicidal. If either case it is not a death under normal circumstances and, therefore, the prosecution has proved the first requirement under section 304-B. The law presumes in such cases that the dowry death shall be deemed to have been caused by the husband or relatives. The offence is, therefore deemed to have been committed by the accused if the other two requirement of section 304-B are proved by the prosecution is put strict proof of both these ingredients before conviction under section 304-B is awarded. Suresh v. State of Rajasthan, 1999 Cri LJ 1787 (Raj).

Marriage must have been performed within seven years of death and secondly there must be demand of dowry. Date of marriage of parties not established with any specific evidence. Further there being no evidence of demand of dowry prior to death of deceased wife—Held, no presumption as to dowry death under Section 113-B of Evidence Act can be drawn and thus provisions of Section 304-B not attracted—Revision against acquittal dismissed—Court on its own motion v. Jaspal Singh, (1995) 2 CC Cases 300 (P&H).

It is a case of simple suicide not provoked guided or abetted by the appellant on account of demand of dowry and harassment meted out to the deceased on that count. That being so, agreeing with the contention of the defence counsel, the appellant is acquitted of the charges framed against him. Consequently, the order of conviction and sentence passed by the Additional Sessions Judge was set aside and the statement has stated appeal was allowed. Baljit Stngh v. State, 1996 Cr LJ 2574 (P & H).

The injuries as found on the person of deceased could not have caused her death, despite the demands being the offence worked does not attract the mischief of Section 304-B of the Penal Code. State of H.P. v. Nikku Ram, AIR 1996 SC 67 : 1995(5) Scale 94 : 1995(6) SCC 219 : 1995 Cr LJ 4184.

The demand made by the husband after four or five years of marriage for sending husband's brother abroad cannot be connected with dowry by any stretch of imagination. State of Punjab v. Daljit Singh, 1999 Cri LJ 2723 (P&H).

2. Section 304B does not conceive agreement.—Section 304B, IPC makes demand of dowry itself punishable. Demand neither conceives nor would conceive of any agreement. State of AP v. Raj Gopal Alwa, AIR 2004 (SC) 1933 : 2004 Cr LJ 179 (SC) : 2004(4) SCC 470 : 2004(2) Crimes 9 (SC) : 2004(2) Supreme 478.

The offence alleged against the accused is under Sec. 304-B IPC which makes 'demand of dowry" itself punishable. Demand neither conceives nor would conceive of any agreement. If for convicting any offender, agreement for dowry is to be proved.

hardly any offenders would come under the clutches of law. The word "agreement" referred to in Sec. 2 has to be inferred on the facts and circumstances of each case. The interpretation that the accused seek, that conviction can only be if there is agreement for dowry, is misconceived. This would be contrary to the mandate and object of the Act. Prem Kanwar vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 CrLJ 1123 : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 : 2009 (1) Scale 230 : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 : 2009 (1) JCC 482.

The deceased a deserted wife lived with spouse. Accused contracted marriage with deceased in Chimauna form of marriage. Deceased was bring in the house of accused living marital life for one year. It was held that the accused was "husband" for the purpose of Section 304B, IPC. Rohit Das v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 4 (Jharkhand) : 2005 (1) DMC 420 : 2005 (1) Hindu LR 198 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 164.

Agreement for dowry not always necessary. The offence alleged against the accused is under Sec. 304-B, I.P.C. which makes "demand of dowry" itself punishable. Demand neither conceives nor would conceive of any agreement. If for convicting any offender, agreement for dowry is to be proved, hardly any offenders would come under the clutches of law. When Sec. 304-B refers to "demand of dowry," it refers to the demand of property or valuable security as referred to in the definition of "dowry" under the Act. In cases of dowry deaths and suicides, circumstantial evidence plays an important role and inferences can be drawn on the basis of such evidence. That could be either direct or indirect. It is significant that Sec. 4 of the 1961 Act, was also amended by means of Act 63 of 1984, under which it is an offence to demand dowry directly or indirectly from the parents or other relatives or guardian of a bride. The word "agreement" referred to in Sec. 2 of 1961 Act has to be inferred on the facts and circumstances of each case. The interpretation that the accused seek, that conviction can only be if there is agreement for dowry, is misconceived. This would be contrary to the mandate and object of the Act. "Dowry" definition is to be interpreted with the other provisions of the Act including Sec. 3, which refers to giving or taking dowry and Sec. 4 which deals with a penalty for demanding dowry, under the Act and the IPC. This makes it clear that even demand of dowry on other ingredients being satisfied is punishable. It is not always necessary that there be any agreement for dowry. Prem Kanwar vs State of Rajasthan, 2009 AIR SCW 536 : 2009 CriLJ 1123 (SC) : AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 (SC) : 2009 (1) Scale 230 (SC) : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 1123 (SC) : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (1) JCC 482 (SC).

3. Applicability of.—Offence committed prior to 10.11.1986—None of the provisions was held, applicable. Lakhjit Singh v. State of Punjab, 1994 SCC (Cri) 235 : 1994 Supp(1) SCC 173.

In order to attract the provision under Section 304-B, IPC, it must be shown prima facie that (a) if a married woman died otherwise than under normal circumstance, (b) such death was within seven years of marriage, and (c) that there was cruelty and harassment in connection with the demand of dowry soon before her death. (Baljit Singh and Anr. vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2004 SC 1714, is relied upon). In this case, the requirement (a) and (c) are satisfied, whereas it is the case of the prosecution that the death of the deceased was beyond seven years of her marriage. The offence under Section 304-B, IPC prima facie is not attracted in this case. Hence, the order of the learned SDJM taking cognizance of the offence under Section 304-B, IPC is illegal. Hemanta Kumar Behera vs. State of Orissa, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3206 (Orissa).

Court had considered the rival contentions of the parties. Court is of the view that the victim died within 7 years of her marriage. Evidence of torture on account of dowry did not specifically come in evidence during trial. Hence, the presumption as provided under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 applicable for the offence punishable under Section 304-B of the Indian Penal Code would not be applicable. Similarly, since the Doctor opined that it was a case of homicidal death the provisions of Section 113-A of the said Act of 1872 would also not be applicable. Nazirul SK vs. State of West Bengal, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2519 (Cal).

Accused subjected his wife to cruelty and harassed her for additional dowry on account of which her health got deteriorated and ultimately she died.

As per the evidence of prosecution witnesses, the marriage between the deceased and the accused was performed on 30.11.1998 and the deceased left the company of the accused in the month of March 2000 and her death took place on 27.9.2001. From the above, it is evident that the death of the deceased had taken place within a span of 7 years. But as stated supra, the prosecution shall satisfy all the three requirements by way of cogent evidence to bring home the guilt of the accused for the offence punishable under Section 304-B, IPC. The doctor, who conducted autopsy over the dead body of the deceased and issued post-mortem certificate clearly stated that the death of the deceased was natural. The requirement as provided for under Section 304-B, IPC is that it should be an unnatural death. Of course, if the said death is solely on account of the alleged harassment, presumption can be drawn in view of Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act, But here, we have to look into the fact that the accused and the deceased lived together only up to March 2000 and the alleged death took place on 27.9.2001 i.e., after 1 ½. year. From that it cannot be inferred that there was harassment soon before her death. When once the doctor states that the death was natural and there is no cogent evidence to establish that soon before the death of the deceased, there was harassment, that the accused is guilty of the offence punishable under Sec. 304B, IPC.

Another aspect which is prompting this Court to come to the conclusion is the evidence. The alleged death took place on 27.09.2001 and as it was occurred in the hospital of father of the deceased, and it is a medico-legal case, PW 1 immediately reported the matter to the police only under Section 174, CrPC. If really the said harassment is in existence as on the date of the report, the same would have been mentioned in the report. It is not known as to why father of deceased has not stated all these facts in his report. Dr. Madas Venkat Goud vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3501 (AP).

Applicability of provisions to persons contracting marriage ostensibly of. It would be appropriate to construe the expression 'husband' to cover a person who enters into marital relationship and under the colour of such proclaimed or feigned status of husband subjects the woman concerned to cruelty or coerce her in any manner or for any of the purposes enumerated in the relevant provisions. Secs. 304-B/498-A, whatever be the legitimacy of the marriage itself for the limited purpose of Secs. 498-A and 304-B IPC. Such an interpretation, known and recognized as purposive construction has to come into play in a case of this nature. Koppisetti Subbharao vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 2684 : 2009 CrLJ 3480 : 2009 (12) SCC 331 : 2009 (6) JT 212 : 2009 (7) SCR 157 : 2009 (6) Scale 528 : 2009 (3) Supreme 688 : 2009 (4) SLT 687.

4. Offence.—Magistrate found the offence was murder and committed the case to sessions—Conviction under Section 302, I.P.C. and sentenced to life imprisonment—There was given no separate sentence under Section 498-A, I.P.C. which was challenged in appeal, hence it was held that the prosecution has not been able to bring home the charge under Section 498-A, I.P.C. against the accused. The conviction and sentence is set aside. Babaji Charan Barik v. State, (1994) 1 OLR 66 (Ori).

The word 'marriage' as used under the provisions of Section 304-B, IPC has to be given an independent meaning and thus should not be guided by the provisions of any other law. In the case of Yatesh Kumar vs. State of Rajasthan, 1999 (1) RRC 227 (Raj), learned Single Judge has rightly taken the view that real marriage takes place when "Gauna" is performed. It is the stage when girl comes to her husband's place and actual marriage takes place at that stage. A symbolic marriage cannot be considered to be a real marriage for attracting the provisions of Section 304-B, IPC otherwise very object of making amendment is frustrated. In the case of Yatesh Kumar (Supra), this Court has further taken note of the fact that sexual intercourse can take place only after "Gauna" and not on symbolic marriage. This is again an important aspect of the matter to give correct interpretation of the word 'marriage' as used under the provisions of Section 304-B, IPC, hence, period of 7 years for attracting Section 304-B, IPC is to be counted from the date of "Gauna". Raju vs. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3043 (Raj).

Wife dead at paternal home. Offence is made out. Since the place of occurrence is immaterial. Rajinder Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 321 : (1994) 2 Recent CR 459 (P & HI) (DB).

After one year of marriage due to demand of dowry leading to 100% burn injuries, the death was held unnatural and offence of dowry death established. Raj Kumar v. State, 1994 All Cr C 481 (All) (DB).

Evidence of witnesses stating incidence of quarrel which took place about two months prior to incident between accused persons and complainant about adjusting loan amount paid to accused by complainant as dowry money. All the accused said that an amount of Rs. 50,000/- shall be adjusted against the demand of dowry money. Thus, relying upon the evidence of witnesses, the trial Court and the High Court came to the conclusion that the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt that deceased was being constantly harassed and tortured by accused for the demand of dowry and a sum of Rs.50,000/- paid to them as loan amount was also adjusted by them as dowry money. Witnesses have been subjected to searching cross-examination by the defence, but nothing tangible material has been extracted from their evidence to create any shadow of doubt that they are not reliable and truthful witnesses.

Having regard to the entire evidence discussed above and having carefully and closely considered the judgments of the trial Court and the High Court, it appears that the view taken by both the courts was reasonable and plausible. We find no infirmity or perversity in the findings recorded by the learned Judges of the High Court to interfere with the well-reasoned judgment. Kanti Lal v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 2703 : 2009 (6) SCR 525 (SC) : 2009 (3) SLT 569 (SC) : 2009 (5) JT 635 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 116 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 498 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 360 (SC) : 2009 (3) JCC 1604.

There is more probability that she died due to accidental burns caused from burning stove, when she was preparing her evening meals, hence accused are not found guilty for commission of offence punishable under Section 304-B I.P.C. Ashok Podar v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 601 (Pat).

Considering the rival submissions, we find that the trial Court's judgment was full of surmises and conjectures. Reliance placed on Modi's Medical Jurisprudence to conclude that the injuries found on the neck of the deceased were possible due to elliptic fit is also not on a correct reading of the text. It is not stated any where that even a windpipe or sound box can be fractured as a result of elliptic fit. That being so, the trial Court's judgment was clearly vulnerable. The conviction as recorded by the High Court cannot be faulted. However, considering the background facts of the case, we reduce the sentence imposed in respect of Sec. 304-B IPC to seven years which is the minimum. Madan Lal vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 (SC) 2175 : 2009 (11) SCC 527 : 2009 (7) JT 679 : 2009 (4) SCR 501 : 2009 (4) Scale 102.

Death caused by burning within a year of marriage. Cruelty or harassment 'soon before her death'. It can be put into rigid framework—It depends upon facts and circumstances of case. Contention of accused that only averment of cruelty was on basis of incident taking place 8 or 10 days after marriage, cannot be accepted—F.I.R. and case diary show that accused being dissatisfied with dowry brought by wife, treated her with cruelty. Held, charges framed justified. Mangal Prasad v. State of M.P., (1995) 4 CCR 67 (MP).

So far as acquittal of brothers and sister-in-law is concerned, in our view, the learned counsel for the respondents is right in submitting that on re-appreciation of evidence, the High Court held that since they were staying separately, it could not be proved beyond reasonable doubt that they were also party to the act in question and hence benefit of doubt was given to them. We see no infirmity in the reasoning of the High Court as also the conclusion arrived at. We, therefore, see no ground to interfere with that part of the order of acquittal recorded by the High Court so far brothers and sister-in-law is concerned.

It is, therefore, clear that in case of dowry death, an offence punishable under Sec. 304B, IPC, the benefit of remission of Government Order does not apply. If it is so, in our opinion, the benefit could not be granted to husband. Hence, even if accused No. 1 or accused No. 2 had been released before completion of seven years, such action could not be said to be legal and lawful. Dharam Chand v. State of Punjab and Ors., AIR 2009 SC 1304

Where marriage took place in 1987 and death took place in the year 1989. Death due to strangulation. Cruelty and harassment for non-fulfilment of the demand of dowry. Held, evidence adduced by the prosecution proves all the ingredients of Section 304-B. Mohd. Nizamuddin v. State of Bihar: (1995) 1 East Cr C 662 (Pat).

Offence was made under Section 304-B I.P.C.—Death within 7 years of marriage—Death was held unnatural—Prosecution could not prove the death within 7 years of marriage, offence under Section 304-B not made out. D. Narsimloo v. State of A.P., (1994) 2 APLJ 455 (AP).

Conviction and sentence under Section 304-B I.P.C. which was challenged in revision petition. It was held that so far as appellant M.D.—Mother-in-law is concerned the prosecution has failed to prove the case under Section 498-A against her. Hence she deserves to be acquitted. But so far as other two appellants, viz. G.R. and A.R., i.e.

Father-in-law and husband of deceased are concerned the appeal filed by them deserves to be dismissed as prosecution has been able to prove the case against them beyond reasonable doubt. Gordhan Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1994 RCC 491 (Raj).

When cordial relations between accused and deceased established and prosecution case remained unsubstantiated, inference of dowry death can not be drawn. State of H.P. v. Jagroop Singh. 1993 Cri LJ 2766 (HP).

Death of deceased wife was committed by use of poisonous insectide. But there was no evidence or basis to suspect that deceased consumed poison accidentaly as was pleaded by defence. Where deceased complained of maltreatment and demand and lust for money from beginning of marriage. If she was not allowed to meet or talk to her family member, it amounts to cruelty and therefore accused was held guilty of committing offence under Section 304. Anand Kumar v. State of M.P., 1997 Cri LJ 1005 (MP).

If the material against some accused is not sufficient the charge against them of these offences can not be sustained. Anita and others v. State of M.P. and another, 1997 (2) East Cr C 388 (SC).

Alleged demand for dowry for house construction is not demand for dowry. Conviction was set aside. Saro Rana v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 65 (Jhar) : 2005(2) DMC 827 : 2005(1) Hindu LR 222 : 2005(1) Rec Cri R 648.

5. Dowry death—(a) What amounts to?—In order to attract the provision under Section 304-B, IPC, it must be shown prima facie that (a) if a married woman died otherwise than under normal circumstance, (b) such death was within seven years of marriage, and (c) that there was cruelty and harassment in connection with the demand of dowry soon before her death. (Baljit Singh and Anr. vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2004 SC 1714, is relied upon). In this case, the requirement (a) and (c) are satisfied, whereas it is the case of the prosecution that the death of the deceased was beyond seven years of her marriage. The offence under Section 304-B, IPC prima facie is not attracted in this case. Hence, the order of the learned SDJM taking cognizance of the offence under Section 304-B, IPC is illegal. Hemanta Kumar Behera vs. State of Orissa. 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3206 (Orissa).

No evidence of dowry. In order to sustain conviction under Sec. 306, IPC, it must, therefore, be proved by the prosecution that there was abetment of suicide. According to the allegations of the complainant and the case of the prosecution, the deceased was instigated to commit suicide by constant harassment in connection with demand of Rs. one lac and motorcycle by the appellant and his mother. In the present case the prosecution has failed to prove that deceased was subjected to cruelty or harassment by the appellant in connection with the demand of dowry. The statements of prosecution witnesses are inconsistent, contradictory and unreliable. It would be pertinent to mention here that presumption under Sec. 113A of the Indian Evidence Act cannot be taken as the marriage of the deceased was not solemnized within a period of seven years before her death. Accused not liable to be convicted for offences under Ss. 304B. 306 and 498A. Suresh Kumar alias Sushil and etc. v. State of Rajasthan. 2006 CriLJ 116 (Raj).

For a dowry death the death should have been in connection with any demand of dowry as defined in Dowry Prohibition Act. If death occurred independent of demand of dowry it cannot be termed as dowry death. State of Kerala v. Jose alias Saju. (1994) 2 KLJ 787 (Ker).

Bride's death can be termed to be a 'dowry death' only if there is cogent evidence that cruelty or harassment to the lady in connection with the dowry demand has preceded her death. State of Kerala v. Rajagyan, (1995) 1 Crimes 596 (Ker).

Death of the wife even within 7 years of the marriage cannot be said to be by 'dowry death', unless proof of harassment or ill-treatment exists. Narsoji Rao v. State, (1995) 1 CCR 399 (AP).

Harassment to the bride prior to three days of death shall be presumed soon before the death. Such offence is the offence of dowry death. Koshalya v. State of Punjab, (1994) 2 Recent CR 48 (P&H) (DB).

PW 4 Bhanwarnath has been produced by the prosecution and he has stated in examination in chief that his daughter (deceased) was being treated fairly with love and affection by the accused respondents and there was no dowry demand of any kind by them. He has further stated that on 22.3.1993 when police and ADM came, he informed them the same thing. He has further made clear in cross examination that there was no demand of Rs. 40000/- from the side of accused respondents for the purpose of purchasing Taxi. The prosecution failed to prove necessary ingredients of the offence and therefore, the order of acquittal held to be proper. The State of Rajasthan v. Gyaneshwar and Others 2002 Cri. J. 1312 (Rajasthan).

On proper appreciation of the evidences of all those witnesses above mentioned, there is no evidence on record to prove the plea of demand of dowry by the appellants nor there is any direct evidence to prove the fact that cruel treatment was even meted out to the deceased. The prosecution tried to make out a case that deceased was compelled to commit suicide due to the telephonic call from the appellant No.1 mainly on the basis of the sucidal note. But interstingly no attempt was made by the prosecution to prove the Ext. 1 to make it admissible in the eye of law. The benefit of doubt, arising as a result of consideration of evidences, must accrue in favour of the appellant. Neither 'cruelty' nor 'willful conduct' to compel the deceased to commit sucide has been proved in the instant case beyond reasonable doubt. Sambhu Paul and another v. State of Assam , 2002 Cri LJ 3359.

Section 498 IPC provides punishment to the husband of a woman who was subjected to cruelty by them. What is meant by 'cruelty' as per this section as been explained in Explanation to the Section as "(a) any willful conduct which is of such a nature as is likely to drive the woman to commit suicide or to cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health (whether mental or physical) of the woman, or (b), harassment of the woman where such harassment is with a view to coercing her or any person related to her to meet any unlawful demand for any property or valuable security or is on account of failure by her or any person related to her to meet such demand." The deceased Geeta Devi after her marriage herself went to the parents house in March, 1993 and only came back to her in-laws house in July, 1994 where she died on August 6, 1994. The evidence that the court discussed hereinabove does not establish beyond doubt that Geeta Devi was treated with cruelty in a manner covered by Section 498-A, I.P.C. or that the cruel treatment with her was such as led her to commit suicide. The charge under Section 498-A, I.P.C. therefore remains not proved.

Smt. Chandra Devi and another v. State of Rajasthan, 2002 Cri LJ 1075 (Raj.) : 2002(1) Cur Cri R 213 : 2002 (1) Dme 104 : 2002 (1) East Cri C 418.

All the prosecution witnesses stated in one accord that husband of Sudama Devi demanded dowry a few months prior to her death. Even if the said period can be treated as falling within the proximity range of 'soon before death' the said acts can be attributed only to Ram Pukar - the husband of the deceased Sudama Devi. None of the witnesses said either directly or indirectly that the present appellants did anything during the said period as against Sudama Devi. Of course some of the witnesses said that soon after marriage these appellants asked for more dowry. But that demand was made at a time which was beyond the range of "soon before death" of the deceased. In the above circumstances it is difficult to sustain the conviction under Sections 304(B) and 498(A) of the IPC so far as the appellants are concerned. As section 201 of the IPC cannot be reported from the substantive offence, it is an idle exercise to consider whether conviction under Section 201, IPC can independently be fastened with the appellants. Mungeshwar Prasad Chaurasia and another v. State of Bihar, AIR 2002 SC 2531 : 2002(10) SCC 163 : 2001(10) JT 344 : 2002(2) Supreme 528 : 2002 Cr LJ 3505 : 2002(2) Crimes 38 (SC).

(b) 'Dowry'—Words and Phrases.—It is proved on record that father of deceased gifted to accused at the time of performing customary thread changing ceremony in connection with birth of girl child and such ceremony is prevalent in their society. Such gifts are not enveloped within the ambit of 'dowry'. Narayanamurthy v. State of Karnataka and Anr., AIR 2008 SC 2377 : 2008 (8) SCR 403 (SC) : 2008 (6) JT 466 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 673 (SC) : 2008 (5) SLT 697 (SC) : 2008 (2) Crimes 365 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1372 (SC) : 2008 (2) Recent CR 969 (SC).

(c) Ingredients of offence.—In order to attract Sec. 304-B IPC, the following ingredients are to be satisfied.

(i) The death of a woman must have been caused by burns or bodily injury or otherwise than under normal circumstances;

(ii) Such death must have occurred within 7 years of the marriage;

(iii) Soon before her death, the woman must have been subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband; and

(iv) Such cruelty or harassment must be in connection with the demand of dowry. Tarsem Singh vs. State of Punjab, AIR 2009 SC 1454 : 2009 (1) Crimes 168 (SC) : 2008 (13) JT 185 : 2008 (17) SCR 379 : 2008 (16) Scale 148 : 2009 (1) SLT 207;; [See also Prem Kanwar vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 CrLJ 1123 : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 : 2009 (1) JT 197 : 2009 (1) Scale 230 : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 : 2009 (1) JCC 482;; Kanti Lal vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 2703 : 2009 (12) SCC 498 : 2009 (6) SCR 525 : 2009 (5) JT 635 : 2009 (6) Scale 116 : 2009 (3) Supreme 360 : 2009 (3) SLT 569 : 2009 (3) JCC 1604.

6. Demand of dowry in respect of invalid marriage.—Absence of definition of husband to specifically include such persons who contract marriages ostensibly and cohabitate with such woman in purported exercise of his role and status as "husband" is no ground to exclude them from purview of Section 304 or 498A IPC viewed in the context of the very object and aim of the legislature intending Section 498A and 304B. Rima Aggarwal v. Anupam, 2004 Cr LJ 892 : AIR 2004 SC 1418 : 2004(1) Crimes 276 (SC) : 2004(3) SCC 199 : 2004(1) Supreme 355 : 2004(1) JT 177.

Word "husband" in Sec. 498-A is not limited to cover only those persons who have entered into legally valid marriage. The thrust of the offence under Sec. 498-A is subjecting of the woman to cruelty. Likewise, the thrust of the offence under Sec. 304-B is also the "Dowry Death". Consequently, the evil sought to be curbed are distinct and separate from the persons Committing the offending acts and there could be no impediment in law to liberally construe the words or expressions relating to the persons committing the offence so as to rope in not only those validly married but also any one who has undergone some or other form of marriage and thereby assumed for himself the position of husband to live, cohabitate and exercise authority as such husband over another woman.

The purpose for which Secs. 498-A and 304-B, I. P. C. and Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act, 1872 were introduced cannot be lost sight of. Legislations enacted with some policy to curb and alleviate some public evil rampant in society and effectuate a definite public purpose or benefit positively requires to be interpreted with certain element of realism too and not merely pedantically or hyper-technically. The obvious objective was to prevent harassment to a woman who enters into a marital relationship with a person and later on, becomes a victim of the greed for money. Can a person who enters into a marital arrangement be allowed to take a shelter behind a smokescreen to contend that since there was no valid marriage the question of dowry does not arise. Such legalistic niceties would destroy the purpose of the provisions. Such hairsplitting legalistic approach would encourage harassment to a woman over demand or money. The nomenclature 'dowry' does not have any magic charm written over it. It is just a label given to demand of money in relation to marital relationship. The legislative intent is clear from the fact that it is not only the husband but also his relations who are covered by Sec. 498A. Legislature has taken care of children born from invalid marriages. Sec. 16 of the Marriage Act deals with legitimacy of children of void and voidable marriages. Can it be said that legislature which was conscious of the social stigma attached to children of void and voidable marriages closed eyes to plight of a woman who unknowingly or unconscious of the legal consequences entered into the marital relationship. If such restricted meaning is given, it would not further the legislative intent. On the contrary, it would be against the concern shown by the legislature for avoiding harassment to a woman over demand of money in relation to marriages. It would be appropriate to construe the expression 'husband' to cover a person who enters into marital relationship and under the colour of such proclaimed or feigned status of husband subjects the woman concerned to cruelty or coerce her in any-manner or for any of the purposes enumerated in the relevant provisions (Secs. 304-B/498-A), whatever be the legitimacy of the marriage itself for the limited purpose of Secs. 498-A and 304-B, I. P. C. Such an interpretation, known and recognized as purposive construction has to come into play in a case of this nature. Koppisetti Subbharao alias Subramaniam v. State of A. P., AIR 2009 SC 2684 : 2009 (7) SCR 157 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 331 : 2009 (4) SLT 687 (SC) : 2009 (6) JT 212 (SC) : 2009 (6) Scale 528 (SC) : 2009 (3) Supreme 688 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 3480 (SC) : 2009 (4) JCC 3061 (SC).

7. Presumption.—It is applicable that presumption under Section 113-B be drawn only when soon before death prosecution establishes by cogent evidence that lady deceased was subjected to cruelty or harassment for or in connection with any demand of dowry. State of Kerala v. Rajayyan, (1994) 2 KLT 700 : 1995 (1) ALT (Cr) 46 (Ker).

The necessity for insertion of the two provisions has been amply analyzed by the Law Commission of India in its Twenty-first Report dated 10.08.1988 on "Dowry Deaths and Law Reform". Keeping in view the impediment in the pre-existing law in securing evidence to prove dowry-related deaths, the legislature thought it wise to insert a provision relating to presumption of dowry death on proof of certain essentials. It is in this background that presumptive Sec. 113-B in the Evidence Act has been inserted. Raman Kumar vs. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 3034 : 2009 (8) JT 422 : 2009 (6) SCR 933 : 2009 8 (6) Scale 335.

A reading of the evidence shows that it was the appellant who had, just a few days' before the incident, visited the house of his father-in-law and threatened Kamlesh Rani with dire consequences if his demand for a scooter and two gold rings was not fulfilled and the brother of the deceased had told him that his father Tej Ram was not in a position to meet the demands on account of financial difficulties. A few days later Ramji Das (PW. 2) too had visited Kamlesh Rani's in-law's home and had also informed Tej Ram thereafter that the appellant had been found beating his wife at that time and had once again threatened that if the demands were not satisfied Kamlesh Kaur would pay dearly for it. It is true, as contended by Mr. Sharan, that in a case where the peculiar evidence has been discarded with respect to four of the five accused, the presumption under Section 113-B could to some extent be said to be dispelled, but on an over view we find that the primary role and the weight of the evidence has been on the appellant herein. Sudhir Kumar vs. State of Punjab, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2052 (SC).

Legal presumption—Necessary ingredients. One of essential ingredients, amongst others, in both provisions is that woman concerned must have been "soon before her death" subjected to cruelty or harassment "for or in connection with demand for dowry". The expression "soon before" is very relevant where Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act and Sec. 304-B IPC are pressed into service. The prosecution is obliged to show that soon before the occurrence there was cruelty or harassment and only in that case presumption operates. Evidence in that regard has to be led in by the prosecution. Raman Kumar vs. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 3034 : 2009 (8) JT 422 : 2009 (6) SCR 933 : 2009 (6) Scale 335 : 2009 (3) JCC 1840.

As per the definition of 'dowry death' in Sec. 304-B IPC and the wording in the presumptive Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act, one of the essential ingredients, amongst others, in both the provisions is that the concerned woman must have been "soon before her death" subjected to cruelty or harassment "for or in connection with the demand of dowry". Prem Kanwar vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 (SC) 1242 : 2009 CrLJ 1123 : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 : 2009 (1) Scale 230 : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 : 2009 (1) JCC 482.

Presumption—Unnatural death. It is to be noted that the deceased breathed her last within about one year and three months from the date of marriage while living in the house of her in-laws. She was not suffering from any ailment prior to marriage and even after the marriage she continued to be hale and hearty. The evidence of PW-3, the father of the deceased is very significant. According to him the deceased came to his house. She informed him that the accused was torturing her as they had to purchase a new house they were demanding Rupees one lac from her. To the similar effect is the evidence of PW-4 the brother of the deceased. Prosecution had pressed into service the agreement deed for the purchase of house by Gurmukh Singh from one Sapan Dass (PW-2). Said agreement reveals that it was executed on 8.2.1995 and the sale deed was to be executed on 8.5.1995. The High Court noted that this document amply established that the family required money for purchase of plot from Sapan Dass. The High Court further noted that there was no material brought on record to show that the agreement was performed by the accused persons. The High Court found that the presumptuous conclusion of the trial Court that there was no link of the demand for dowry with the said agreement. The High Court also noted that the trial Court had erroneously concluded that the accused persons were rich persons and, therefore, there was no need for asking any dowry.

The High Court has analysed the evidence of the witnesses clearly keeping in view the parameters relating to the scope of interference with the judgment of acquittal. The analysis does not suffer from any infirmity to warrant interference. Since the minimum sentence has been awarded we find no scope to interfere in this appeal. Jagjit Singh v. State of Punjab., AIR 2009 SC 2133 : 2009 (4) SCR 75 (SC) : 2009 (4) SCC 759 : 2009 (3) JT 382 (SC) : 2009 (3) Scale 680 (SC) : 2009 (2) Supreme 422 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 2440 (SC) : 2009 (2) Crimes 134 (SC)

Presumption—When can be raised? The presumption shall be raised only on proof of the following essentials : (1) The question before the Court must be whether the accused has committed the dowry death of a woman. (This means that the presumption can be raised only if the accused is being tried for the offence under Sec. 304-B IPC). (2) The woman was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or his relatives. (3) Such cruelty or harassment was for, or in connection with any demand for dowry. (4) Such cruelty or harassment was soon before her death. Prem Kanwar vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 CrLJ 1123 : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 : 2009 (1) Scale 230 : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 : 2009 (1) JCC 482.

In Keshab Chandra Pande v. State, 1995 Cri LJ 174 the Orissa High Court has observed that in order to prove offence under Section 304-B of I.P.C., with the aid of presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act, the prosecution must show that soon before the death there was cruelty or harassment and only in that case presumption would operate. It is further observed that 'soon before' is a relative term and it would depend upon circumstances of each case and no straight jacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute a period soon before the occurrence. The expression 'soon before' would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the concerned cruelty or harassment and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the concerned death. If the alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb mental equilibrium of the woman concerned, it would be of no consequence. See also Mangal Ram v. State of M.P., 1999 Cri LJ 4342 (M.P).

In a case there was reliable evidence that the deceased was subjected to cruelty, mal-treatment or harassment for or in connection with demand for dowry. The wife died an unnatural death. Therefore, presumption under Section 113B of the Evidence Act was drawn against the accused. Mohan Lal v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 16 (MP) : 2005(1) Hindu LR 207 : 2004(4) MPLJ 143.

Court had considered the rival contentions of the parties. Court is of the view that the victim died within 7 years of her marriage. Evidence of torture on account of dowry did not specifically come in evidence during trial. Hence, the presumption as provided under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 applicable for the offence punishable under Section 304-B of the Indian Penal Code would not be applicable. Similarly, since the Doctor opined that it was a case of homicidal death the provisions of Section 113-A of the said Act of 1872 would also not be applicable. Nazirul SK vs. State of West Bengal, 2010 (3) CrLJ 2519 (Cal).

Presumption regarding dowry death—Elements explained—(i) death to take place within 7 years of marriage, (ii) unnatural death due to burns, bodily injuries under abnormal circumstances, (iii) deceased subjected to cruelty soon before her death, in connection with any demand for dowry. Jairam v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 CCR 534 (Raj).

In view of the presumption not being available under Section 113-A of the Evidence Act and Section 304-B, I.P.C. case remains to be a case simpliciter under Sections 302/34, I.P.C, as such prosecution bound to prove the case independently without having any presumption except that is mentioned under Section 114, Evidence Act. Raj Kishore Pandey v. State of Bihar, (1995) 1 East Cr C 684 (Pat) (Ranchi Bench).

In absence of any evidence that deceased was treated with cruelty or harassed with demand of dowry during period after returning of deceased to marital home from her parent's residence, presumption of dowry death can not be raised under Section 304-B, IPC but can be convicted under Section 498-A. IPC, Shamlal v. State of Haryana, 1997 (2) Scale 328 : 1997 (3) JT 91 AIR 197 SCW 1614.

8. Non-Examination of doctor conducting post-mortem.—In the instant case where the post-mortem report was proved by the Court witness who was posted with the doctor who held the post-mortem and who claimed to have identified the writing and signature of the doctor, non-examination of doctor cannot be held to be ground for not taking post-mortem report into account. Jageshwar Mahto v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 4589 (Jharkhand).

9. "Soon before death"—Interpretation.—It is evident, upon perusal of the testimony of prosecution witnesses, that the appellant did harass the deceased with regard to the fact that the dowry, that she had got with her at the time of marriage, was both insufficient and of poor quality. The period between the death of Smt. Baby and the date of the marriage is only six months. One of the ingredients under the provisions of Section 304-B of the IPC for a person to be convicted under the said provision, is that, the prosecution should be able to prove that the deceased was subjected to cruelty and harassment by the husband or the relative of the husband for or in connection with demand for dowry soon before her death. However, soon before her death would mean in the recent past and not immediately before the death of the victim. There must be some "proximate and live link" between the "effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and concerned death" See also Thakkan Jha & Ors v. State of Bihar, (2004) 13 SCC 348 at page 251-352 at para 7 and Baldev Singh v. State of Punjab, VII (2008) SLT 626. Sanjay vs. State, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3214 (Del).

"Soon before" is a relative term and it would depend upon the circumstances of each case and no strait-jacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute a period of soon before the occurrence. It would be hazardous to indicate any fixed period, and that brings in the importance of a proximity test both for the proof of an offence of dowry death as well as for raising a presumption under Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act. The expression "soon before her death" used in the substantive Sec. 304-B IPC and Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity test. No definite period has been indicated and the expression "soon before" is not defined. A reference to the expression "soon before" used in Sec. 114 Illustration (a) of the Evidence Act is relevant. It lays down that a Court may presume that a man who is in the possession of goods soon after the theft, is either the thief who has received the goods knowing them to be stolen, unless he can account for his possession. The determination of the period which can come within the term "soon before" is left to be determined by the Courts, depending upon facts and circumstances of each case. Raman Kumar vs. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 3034 : 2009 (6) SCR 933 : 2009 (8) JT 422 : 2009 (6) SCR 933 : 2009 (6) Scale 335.

The term "soon before death" as found in Section 304-B, I.P.C as interpreted by the apex Court in "Kans Raj v. State of Punjab, 2000 Cri LJ 2993 (SC) : AIR 2000 (SC) 2324 : 2000(5) SCC 207 : 2000(5) JT 223 : 2000(3) Scale 429 an under:—

> "Soon before" is a relative term which is required to be considered under specific circumstances of each case and no straight-jacket formula can be laid down by fixing any time limit. This expression is pregnant with the idea of proximity text. The term "soon before" is not synonymous with the term "immediately before" and is opposite of the expression "soon after" as used and understood in Section 114, Illustration (a) of the Evidence Act. These words would imply that the interval should not be too long between the time of making the statement and the death. It contemplates the reasonable time which, as earlier noticed, has to be understood and determined under the peculiar circumstances of each case. In relation to dowry deaths, the circumstances showing the existence of cruelty or harassment to the deceased are not restricted to a particular instance but normally refer to a course of conduct. Such conduct may be spread over a period of time. If the cruelty or harassment or demand for dowry is shown to have persisted, it shall be deemed to be "soon before death" if any other intervening circumstance showing the non-existence of such treatment is not brought on record, before the alleged such treatment and the date of death. It does not, however, mean that such time can be stretched to any period. Proximate and live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the consequential death is required to be proved by the prosecution. The demand of dowry, cruelty or harassment based upon such demand and the date of death should not be too remote in time which under the circumstances, be treated as having become stale enough. No presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act would be drawn against the accused if it is shown that after the alleged demand, cruelty or harassment the dispute stood resolved and there was > no evidence of cruelty, and harassment thereafter. Mere lapse of some time by itself would not provide to an accused a defence, if the cause of conduct relating to cruelty or harassment in connection with the dowry demand is shown to have existed earlier in time not too late and not too stale before the date of death of the woman. It is not enough that harassment or cruelty was caused to the woman with demand for dowry at some time, if Section 304B is to be invoked. But it should have happened "soon before her death".

>
> The said phrase, no doubt is an elastic expression and can refer to a period either immediately before her death or within few days or even a few weeks before it. But the proximity to her death is the pivot indicated by the expression. The legislative object in providing such a radius of time by employing the words "soon before her death" is to emphasise the idea that her death should, in all probabilities, have been the aftermath of such cruelty or harassment. In other words, there should be a perceptible nexus between her death and the dowry related harassment or cruelty inflicted on her. If the interval elapsed between the infliction of such harassment or cruelty and her death is wide the Court would be in a position to gauge that in all probabilities the death would not have been the immediate cause of her death. It is hence for the Court to decide, on the facts and circumstances of each case, whether the said interval in that particular case was sufficient to snuff its cord form the concept "soon before her death"
>
> Satvir Singh v. State of Punjab 2001 cri LJ 4625 (SC) ; See also State of A.P. v. Raj Gopal Aswa, AIR 2004 (S) 1933 ; Mummidi Udaya Bhaskar v. State of A.P., 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 244 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 891 : 2004(1) DMC 524 : 2004(1) Hindu LR 257 ; State of U.P. v. Satya Narain, 2005 Cu LJ 3684.

The expression 'soon before her death' used in the substantive Sec. 304-B, I.P.C. and Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity test. No definite period has been indicated and the expression 'soon before' is not defined. A reference to expression 'soon before'used in Sec. 114, Illustration (a) of the Evidence Act is relevant. The expression 'soon before' would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the concerned cruelty or harassment and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live-link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the concerned death. If alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb mental equilibrium of the woman concerned, it would be of no consequence. Prem Kanwar vs State of Rajasthan., 2009 AIR SCW 536 : 2009 CriLJ 1123 (SC) : AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 (SC) : 2009 (1) Scale 230 (SC) : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 (SC) : 2009 (1) SLT 222 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 1123 (SC) : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (1) JCC 482 (SC).

Dowry death cruelty/harassment "soon before death". Absence of evidence to prove that deceased subjected to cruelty/ill-treatment "soon before death". No offence under Section 304B, IPC made out. Conviction of accused under Section 304B not sustainable. Hiralal v. State Govt. of NCT of Delhi, 2003 (3) GCD 134 (NOC).

While dealing with the expression "soon before the death", the Apex Court in the matter of Prem Kanwar vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1242 = 2009 Cri LJ 1123, has held that "soon before the death" means proximate and live-link must exist between effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and concerned death. Para 12 of the said judgment reads thus :

> "A conjoint reading of Section 113-B of the Evidence Act and Section 304-B, IPC shows that there must be material to show that soon before her death the victim was subjected to cruelty or harassment. Prosecution has to rule out the possibility of a natural or accidental death so as to bring it within the purview of the 'death occurring otherwise than in normal circumstances'. The expression 'soon before' is very relevant where Section 113-B are pressed into service. Prosecution is obliged to show that soon before the occurrence there was cruelty or harassment and only in that case presumption operates. Evidence in that regard has to be led by prosecution. 'Soon before' is a relative term and it would depend upon circumstances of each case and no strait-jacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute a period of soon before the occurrence. It would be hazardous to indicate any fixed period, and that brings in the importance of a proximity test both for the proof of an offence of dowry death as well as for raising a presumption under Section 113-B of the Evidence Act. The expression 'soon before her death' used in the substantive Section 304-B, IPC and Section 113-B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity test. No definite period has been indicated and the expression 'soon before' is not defined. A reference to expression 'soon before' used in Section 114, illustration (a) of the Evidence Act is relevant. It lays down that a Court may presume that a man who is in the possession of goods 'soon after' the theft, is either the thief or has received the goods knowing them to be stolen, unless he can account for his possession. The determination of the period which can come within the term 'soon before' left to be determined by the Courts, depending upon facts and circumstances of each case. Suffice, however, to indicate that the expression 'soon before' would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the concerned cruelty or harassment and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live-link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand the concerned death. If alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb mental equilibrium of the woman concerned, it would be of no consequence."
>
> Sanjay Kumar Kesharwani vs. State of Chhattisgarh, 2010 (2) CrLJ 1844 (Chha).

Where evidence of witnesses established demand of dowry and ill-treatment of deceased soon before her death then commission of offence by accused clearly established. Kamesh Panjiyar v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 1418 (SC) : 2004(3) SCC 609 : 2004(2) Supreme 213 : 2004(2) JT 299 : 2004(2) Crimes 197 (SC).

In Rohit Das v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 4 (Jharkhand) : 2005(1) DMC 420 : 2005(1) Hindu LR 198 the Hon'ble high Court interpreted "Soon before death" in the following words:—

> "The expression "soon before" is very relevant where Section 113B of the Evidence Act and Section 304B of the Indian Penal Code are pressed into service. Prosecution is obliged to show that soon before the occurrence there was cruelty or harassment and only in the case presumption operates. Evidence in that regard has to be led by prosecution. "Soon before" is a relative term and it would depend > upon circumstances of each case and no strait jacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute a period of soon before the occurrence. It would be hazardous to indicate any fixed period, and that brings in the importance of a proximity test both for the proof of an offence of dowry death as well as for raising a presumption under Section 113B of the Evidence Act. The expression "soon before her death" used in the substantive Section 304B of the Indian Penal Code and Section 113B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity test. No definite period has been indicated and the expression "soon before" is not defined. Suffice, however, to indicate that the expression "soon before" would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the concerned cruelty or harassment and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the concerned death. If alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb mental equilibrium of the woman concerned, it would be of no consequence. Rohit Das v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 4 (Jharkhand); See also Nand Kishore Singh v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 389 (Jhar) : 2005(1) DMC 666 : 2004(4) JLJR 686.

The expression 'soon before' is very relevant where Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act and Sec. 304-B IPC are pressed into service. Prosecution is obliged to show that soon before the occurrence there was cruelty or harassment and only in that case presumption operates. Evidence in that regard has to be led by prosecution. 'Soon before' is a relative term and it would depend upon circumstances of each case and no strait-jacket formula can be laid down as to what would constitute a period of soon before the occurrence. It would be hazardous to indicate any fixed period, and that brings in the importance of a proximity test both for the proof of an offence of dowry death as well as for raising a presumption under Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act. The expression 'soon before her death' used in the substantive Sec. 304-B IPC and Sec. 113-B of the Evidence Act is present with the idea of proximity test. No definite period has been indicated and the expression 'soon before' is not defined. A reference to expression 'soon before' used in Sec. 114. Illustration (a) of the Evidence Act is relevant. It lays down that a Court may presume that a man who is in the possession of goods 'soon before' the theft, is either the thief or has received the goods knowing them to be stolen, unless he can account for his possession. The determination of the period which can come within the term 'soon before' is left to be determined by the Courts, depending upon facts and circumstances of each case. Suffice, however, to indicate that the expression 'soon before' would normally imply that the interval should not be much between the concerned cruelty or harassment and the death in question. There must be existence of a proximate and live-link between the effect of cruelty based on dowry demand and the concerned death. If alleged incident of cruelty is remote in time and has become stale enough not to disturb mental equilibrium of the woman concerned, it would be of no consequence. Prem Kanwar vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 CrLJ 1123 : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 : 2009 (1) Scale 230 : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 : 2009 (1) JCC 482.

The words 'soon before her death' occurring in Sec. 304-B of the Penal Code are to be understood in a relative and flexible sense. Those words cannot be construed as laying down a rigid period of time to be mechanically applied in each case. Whether or not the cruelty or harassment meted out to the victim for or in connection with the demand of dowry was soon before her death and the proximate cause of her death, under abnormal circumstances, would depend upon the facts of each case. There can be no fixed period of time in this regard. Deen Dayal vs. State of U.P., AIR 2009 SC 1238 : 2009 CrLJ 1119 : 2009 (1) Crimes 243 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 157 : 2009 (1) JT 170 (SC) : 2009 (1) SCR 56 : 2009 (1) Scale 408 (SC) : 2009 (1) SLT 341 : 2009 (1) JCC 540 (SC).

Act which may constitute negligence or even rashness may not amount to same under Sec. 304-A. The standard of proof as also culpability requirements under Sec. 304-A stands on an altogether different footing. On comparison of the provisions of Penal Code with the thresholds under the Tort Law or the Consumer Protection Act, a foundational principle that the attributes of care and negligence are not similar under Civil and Criminal branches of Medical Negligence law is borne out. An act which may constitute negligence or even rashness under torts may not amount to same under Sec. 304-A. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs Sukumar Mukherjee & Ors., 2010 AIR SCW 769 : AIR 2010 SC 1162

Availability of protection under Sec. 304A—There should be neither intention nor knowledge to cause death. It carves out a specific offence where death is caused by doing a rash or negligent act and that act does not amount to culpable homicide under Sec. 299 or murder in Sec. 300 IPC. Doing an act with the intent to kill a person or knowledge that doing an act was likely to cause a person's death is culpable homicide. When the intent or knowledge is the direct motivating force of the act, Sec. 304-A IPC has to make room for the graver and more serious charge of culpable homicide.

In order to be encompassed by the protection under Sec. 304-A there should be neither intention nor knowledge to cause death. When any of these two elements is found to be present, Sec. 304-A has no application. Girish Singh v. State of Uttaranchal., AIR 2008 SC 3136 : 2008 (8) SCR 47 (SC) : 2008 (7) Scale 586 (SC) : 2008 (6) SLT 194 (SC) : 2008 (2) JCC 1417 (SC) : 2008 (3) RecentCR 58 (SC).

Distinction with civil law—Jurisprudential concept of negligence differs in civil and criminal law. For negligence to amount to an offence the element of mens rea must be shown to exist. For an act to amount to criminal negligence, the degree of negligence should be much high degree. A negligence which is not of such a high degree may provide a ground for action in civil law but cannot form the basis for prosecution. To prosecute a medical professional for negligence under criminal law it must be shown that the accused did something or failed to do something which in the given facts and circumstances no medical professional in his ordinary senses and prudence would have done or failed to do. Malay Kumar Ganguly vs. Sukumar Mukherjee, 2009 (9) SCC 221 : 2009 (10) JT 256 : 2009 (13) SCR 1 : 2009 (10) Scale 675 : 2009 (6) SLT 164.

Section 304-A speaks of causing death by negligence. This Section applies to rash and negligence acts and does not apply to cases where death has been voluntarily caused. This Section obviously does not apply to cases where there is an intention to cause death or knowledge that the act will in all probability cause death. It only applies to cases in which without any such intention or knowledge death is caused by what is described as a rash and negligent act. State of Karnataka vs. Muralidhar, AIR 2009 SC 1621 : 2009 (4) SCC 463 : 2009 (4) SCR 400 : 2009 (4) JT 108 : 2009 (4) Scale 35.

10. Culpable Homicide.—With regard to causing murder of Poonam there was no eyewitness to the occurrence. PW-5 Phusarma happened to be present near about and saw the dead body lying in the dhani. Had there been foul play, being a close relative it was his duty to have informed the police or the parents immediately after the occurrence. He took the mater very casually, went to his work and on third day of occurrence when he was at Jaisalmer he per chance met PW-23 Manakaram whom he disclosed the death of Poonam and one day thereafter Ex P/1 FIR was lodged by Hemaram. PW-23 Manakaram has also been declared hostile. He too has not supported the prosecution case. According to this witness Phusaram met him at Jaisalmer and told that Poonam died due to fall in the water tank, therefore, inform Hemaram. He has further stated that upon this he went to Hemaram and informed him accordingly. The offence will be of culpable homicide not amounting to murder. Deshraj Yadav v. State of M.P., 2002 Cri LJ 467 M.P. : 2002(1) Jab LJ 47 : 2002(1) MPLT 520.

Dealing with the distinction between part I and part II of Section 304, Indian Penal Code. It has been held in Dayal v. Union of India, AIR 1963 Him Pra 18: (1963 (1) Cri LJ 762) that if such bodily injury as is likely to cause death is intentionally caused and results in the death of the victim the case would fall under Part I and not under Part II. Stated differently, Part II comes into play when death is caused by doing an act with the knowledge that it is likely to cause death and when such act is the infliction of bodily injury and such infliction is not intentional. A person who intentionally causes bodily injury with knowledge that such act is likely to cause death must necessarily be a person who does an act with the intent to cause bodily injury likely to result in death. Adman Dung Dung v. State of H.P., 2002 Cri LJ 2882 (H.P.).

11. Normal Circumstances.—The term "normal circumstances" apparently means not the natural death. The Apex Court in Smt. Shanti v. State of Haryana, AIR 1991 SC 1226 : (1990) Cri LJ 1713) held that ".....Where the death of a woman is caused by any burns or bodily injury or occurs otherwise than under normal circumstances within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that soon before the death of the woman she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or his relations for or in connection with any demand for dowry, such death shall be called, "dowry death" and the husband or relatives shall be deemed to have caused her death and shall be punishable with imprisonment for a minimum of seven years but which may extend to life imprisonment." The expression "otherwise than under normal circumstances" would mean the death not in usual course but apparently under suspicious circumstances, if not caused by burns or bodily injury. Kans Raj v. State of Punjab, 2000 CriLJ 2993 (SC) : AIR 2000 SC 2324 : 2000 (5) SCC 207 : 2000 (5) JT 223 : 2000 (2) Crimes 213 (SC).

12. Evidence and Proof.—Where deceased died due to falling into well and evidence as regards harassment of the deceased on account of dowry by the accused was lacking. Evidence as to deceased being a mental patient and the accused taking care of her and providing her treatment—Held, conviction of the accused untenable. Sunkoji Laxmana Chary v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1995 Cr LJ 2652 (AP).

To allow the benefit of doubt to the Appellants having particular regard to the fact that except for certain bald statements made by mother and brother of deceased alleging that the victim had been subjected to cruelty and harassment prior to her death, there is no other evidence to prove that the victim committed suicide on account of cruelty and harassment to which she was subjected just .prior to her death, which.

in fact, are the ingredients of the evidence to be led in respect of Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, in order to bring home the guilt against an accused under Section 304-B, IPC.

In order to hold an accused guilty of an offence under Section 304-B, IPC, it has to be shown that apart from the fact that the woman died on account of burn or bodily injury, otherwise than under normal circumstances, within 7 years of her marriage, it has also to be shown that soon before her death, she was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or any relative of her husband for, or in connection with, any demand for dowry. Only then would such death be called "dowry death" and such husband or relative shall be deemed to have caused the death of the woman concerned.

In this case, one other aspect has to be kept in mind, namely, that no charges were framed against the Appellants under the provisions of the Dowry Prohibition Act, 1961 and the evidence led in order to prove the same for the purposes of Section 304-B, IPC was related to a demand for a fan only.

In Biswajit Halder's @ Babu Halder vs. State of W.B., 2008 (1) SCC 202 = 2007 AIR SCW 2189, was rendered in almost similar circumstances. In order to bring home a conviction under Section 304-B, IPC, it will not be sufficient to only, lead evidence showing that cruelty or harassment had been meted out to the victim, but that such treatment was in connection with the demand for dowry. In our view, the prosecution in this case has failed to fully satisfy the requirements of both Section 113-B of the Evidence Act, 1872 and Section 304-B of the Indian Penal Code. Durga Prasad & Anr. vs. State of M.P., 2010 (3) CrLJ 3419 (SC).

An independent witness who is neighbour of the accused. His evidence is of considerable importance. According to him, while he was standing at the place where the deceased was burning the witness told Ramdev for extinguishing the fire upon which the appellant said that the deceased has been burnt and let her burn and it is no use extinguishing the fire. This statement has been rightly highlighted by the High Court to show that her role as alleged by the prosecution has been established.

The evidence of witnesses clearly shows the greed of the accused who was persistently taunting and harassing the deceased for not having brought sufficient dowry. Therefore, the High Court was justified in upsetting the order of acquittal passed by the trial Court and directing her conviction. Prem Kanwar vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 CrLJ 1123 : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 (3) SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 : 2009 (1) Scale 230 : 2009 (1) Supreme 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 : 2009 (1) JCC 482.

Once evidence is admissible, i.e., statements made by the deceased to her relatives for the purposes of Section 304-B of the IPC, then surely, it could be used for the purposes of Section 498-A of the IPC. Sanjay vs. State, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3214 (Del).

Not a single witness in his police statement has stated that S was subjected to cruelty or harassment by her husband or has any relative for or in connection with any demand for dowry soon before her death. There does not exist any valid reason to proceed against the accused respondent for the offence under Section 304-B. Bhagwan Sahai v. Raju, 1996 Cr LJ 2290 (Raj).

The deceased and her husband had consummated their married lives for about six and half years and they were blessed with two sons and a daughter. They were residing separately in rented house, but had returned to the house of the accused persons about five months prior to the death of the deceased. There was no evidence on record that during these five months the appellants and their co-fulfilment of any dowry demand. None of the prosecution witnesses whispered a word relating to harassment or torture to the deceased by the appellants during the period of said five months of her stay in the house of the appellants although they made a general statement regarding complaints of the deceased to them of harassment by the appellants after her marriage. Therefore, the death of the deceased was not held to be a "dowry death" punishable under Section 304-B of the Penal Code. Bananbar Misra v. State of Orrissa, 2000 Cri LJ 3260 (Orissa) : 2000(1) Cri LR 670 : 2000(18) OCR 720 : 2000(90) Cut LT 630 (Ori).

In the instant case, there was no evidence on record to show that the accused demanded additional dowry soon before death of deceased and that he harassed deceased on that score. State of the sister-in-law of deceased that she advised accused not to beat her was not made before police and it was a major improvement over his false statement and liable to be excluded from consideration, conviction of accused was held not proper. Mummidi Udaya Bhaskar v. State of AP, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 244 (AP) : 2003(1) DMC 524 : 2004(1) Hindu LR 257.

In a Jharkhand case the victim initially stated that she had sustained burn injuries herself. Fardebeyan was recorded after 4 hours of her initial oral statement. Victim had sufficient time to change her version under the pressure of the people. Fardebeyan reached the police station after 11 days. The delay was not explained. Neither witness certificate of fitness was taken from the doctor nor any witness was examined to state that the fardebeyan was recorded in his presence. It was held that fardebeyan was a suspicious document and therefore, the same could not be treated as dying declaration. Imtiyaz Khan v. State of Jharkhand, 2004 Cr LJ 2560 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1395 : 2004(2) DMC 202.

A lawfully wedded wife in no case tolerates extra-marital relationship of her husband. Therefore, where the deceased wife had a melancholic and pensively sad conjugal life in her matrimonial home which had compelled her to end her life by committing suicide and there was neither evidence co-relating demand of money with dowry nor any proof of cruelty soon before death, conviction of husband for dowry death was not sustainable. Anup Kumar Verma v. State of Jharkhand, 2004 Cr LJ 1712 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 933 : 2004(1) DMC 192 : 2003(4) JCR Jha 473.

Black stained rough skin on both sides of neck was found. It was also noticed by the doctor who conducted the post-mortem examination that blood-stained fluid was trickling from the side of mouth and brain matters were found conjested. The doctor unfortunately did not consider the effect of the marks on the neck and trickling of blood-stained fluid from the mouth. The I.O. had seized a blood-stained pillow. There was no evidence that the death was due to normal reason. The evidence amply established demand of dowry and ill-treatment of the deceased shortly before the date of occurrence. Conviction of accused was held proper. Kamesh Panjiyar v. State of Bihar, 2005 Cr LJ 1418 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 785 : 2005(2) SCC 388 : 2005(1) Supreme 748 : 2005(1) Crimes 277 (SC).

In the instant case the deceased was used to be harassed and tortured for dowry.

The deceased ultimately died and the information of her death was not given to her parents. The conduct of in laws of deceased and the circumstances led to the presumption that the deceased died an unnatural death only within two years of her marriage and her body was disposed of hurriedly and stealthily. Accused failed to give any probable explanation for death of deceased. Delay in lodging FIR was explained. Conviction of accused and in laws was held proper. Gulab Chand Mehra v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 3802 (Pat).

In absence of evidence that accused husband and parents in-law ill-treated or harassed deceased on account of dowry, no offence under Section 304-B, IPC made out. State of Karnataka v. Dr. H.A. Ramaswamy, 1996 Cri LJ 2628 (Kant).

Father and mother of the accused were made parties to the harassment and cruelty alongwith husband of deceased but specific event act was, attributed to them. The evidence disclosed that only husband was present in house at the time of incident. It was held that in view of the doubtful circumstance it was not safe to come to the conclusion that the parents of accused were also parties in harassing the deceased. Kante Venkata Rao v. State, 2001 CriLJ 3445.

In the case of death in a well under mysterious circumstances, except evidence of interested witness, there was no other evidence showing that even after marriage there had been consistent demand of articles by accused to the father of deceased. In a letter written by deceased to her father it was indicated that she was happy at her matrimonial house. It was held that the finding of guilt of accused was liable to be set aside. Prabhakar K. Ghate v. State of Maharashtra, 2004 Cr LJ 5074 (Bom) : 2004 All MR (Cri) 405.

The statement of parent of deceased regarding demand of dowry were not supported by any other independent evidence and their statements did not stand the test of scrutiny. A letter sent to the father of deceased by the accused indicated that the accused had complained about affection of accused for someone before her marriage. He also mentioned therein that in the interest of deceased and in his own interest, he did not wish to send her to her material home alone. The letter was clearly an expression of sincere and genuine feelings of the accused for the welfare of the deceased and positively and unmistakeably indicated that the accused wished to live happily and cordially with his wife. Therefore, the above evidence and material record highly on probabilised the defence of the accused that deceased had relations with some other person prior to her marriage with the accused. It was, therefore, natural that accused did not want to send the deceased to her parents. The circumstances as above also indicated that the deceased may have committed suicide on account of frustration due to some other cause, and not because the accused subject her to cruelty. It was held that the conviction of the accused was not justified either under Section 498A or 304-B, IPC. Rakesh v. State of M.P., 1999 Cri LJ 4915 (MP).

The observations in Sharad Budachand v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622 : 1984 Cri. LJ 1378 on the point of evidence of relation may be usefully noted as under:

> "In view of the close relationship and affection any person in the position of the witness would naturally have a tendency to exaggerate or add facts which may not have been stated to them at all. Not that this is done consciously but even unconsciously the love and affection for the deceased would create a psychological hatred against the supposed murderer and, therefore, the Court has to examine such evidence with very great care and caution. Even if the witnesses were speaking a part of the truth or perhaps the whole of it, they would be guided by a spirit of revenge or nemisis against the accused person and in the process certain facts which may not or could not have been stated may be imagined to have been stated unconsciously by the witnesses in order to see that the offender is punished. This is human psychology and no one can help it".

In the absence of clear cut evidence indicating dowry related cruelty of sufficient gravity which has a definite nexus to the suicide which really are the legal ingredients where by the prosecution has to establish that it was the grave misconduct of the accused husband that virtually drove the wife over the brink and triggered of the suicide a conviction under section 304-B, IPC is not permissible. The passing reference to dowry in this case are insufficient to sustain the charges under the Dowry Prohibition Act in the absence again of clear cut evidence.—State of Karnataka v. Balu, 2000 Cri LJ 2165 (Karn).

In the instant case the prosecution proved beyond reasonable doubt that "soon before" her death there was both demand of dowry and torture for the same. Even if the deceased wife committed suicide there was a presumption under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act that the suicide had been abetted by the husband. The accused (husband) had not been able to rebut this presumption. There was also cogent and reliable evidence that the deceased was treated with cruelty on account of dowry demand. The husband was held liable to be convicted under Section 304 and 264. Bhuneshwar Prasad Chaurasia v. State of Bihar, 2001 Cri LJ 3541.

13. Circumstantial evidence.—In a case based in circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and these circumstances must be conclusive in nature. State of Kerala v. Rajayyan, (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 46 (Ker).

14. Burden of Proof.—Prosecution in a case of offence under Section 304B, IPC cannot escape from the burden of proof that the harassment or cruelty was related to the demand for dowry and also that such cruelty or harassment was caused soon before her death. The word "dowry" in Section 304B has to be understood as it is defined in Section 2 of the Dowry Prohibition Act 1961. Thus there are three occasions related to dowry. One is before the marriage, second is at the time of marriage and the third is at any time after the marriage. The third occasion may appear to be an unending period. But the crucial words are in connection with the marriage of the said parties. This means that giving or agreeing to give any property or valuable security on any of the above three stages should have been in connection with the marriage of the parties. There can be many other instances for payment of money or giving property as between the spouses. For example, some customary payments in connection with birth of a child or other ceremonies are prevalent in different societies. Such payments are not enveloped within the ambit of dowry. Hence the dowry mentioned in Section 304B should be any property or valuable security given or agreed to be given in connection with the marriage. Satvir Singh v. State of Punjab 2001 Cri LJ 4625 (SC) : AIR 2001 (SC) 2828 : 2001(8) JT 208 : 2001(6) Scale 513 : 2001(7) Supreme 267.

15. Procedure.—The subsequent complaint is not barred under the law and Magistrate also not barred for taking cognizance thereon. Subhash v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 RCD 485 (Raj).

16. Dying Declaration.—Where Executive Magistrate record the dying declaration and deceased was mentally fit to make a declaration. Conviction held sustainable. State of M.P. v. Manmohan Choubey, 1995 Cr R 76 (MP).

When letters written by deceased to her parents corroborated case that cruelty was being practiced on deceased, dying declaration that deceased received burns while preparing tea recorded by Magistrate did not appear to be correct. Nallam Veera Satyanandam v. State of A.P, 1997 (1) Crimes 245 (AP).

When dying declaration was recorded by doctor and Executive Magistrate in fit state of mind conviction can be based on such dying declaration. Mustt. Sajida Begum v. State of Assam, 1996 Cri LJ 4352 (Gau).

When dying declaration stated that deceased wife committed suicide due to harassment and cruelty to her for bringing more dowry and same is corroborated by documentary and other evidence, offence under Sections 304-B and 498-A, IPC is made out. Nallam Veera Satyanandam v. State of A.P., 1996 Cri LJ 4034 (AP).

When the oral evidence as to cruelty and harassment for dowry is supported by suicide note and dying declaration of deceased conviction is sustained. Surinder Kumar and another v. State of Haryana, 1997 (2) East Cr C 231 (P&H).

On plain reading of Section 173(5) it emerges that when a report by the police officer on completion of investigation under Section 170 is forwarded to the Court concerned, the police concerned shall forward with the report all such documents or relevant extract thereof on which the prosecution proposes to rely other than those already sent to a Magistrate during investigation as also the statements of all persons whom the prosecution proposes to examine as its witnesses. Where the dying declaration of the deceased recorded during investigations had not been filed or relied on by the prosecution in the report submitted under Section 173, Cr. P.C. it is not necessary for the trial Court to consider the charge in the light of the aforesaid statement of the deceased even if it is favourable to the defence. As the alleged dying declaration of the deceased recorded during investigations is not relied on by the prosecution it cannot be considered for any purpose, unless proved in accordance with law. "Arun Kumar v. State Madhya Pradesh 1999 Cri LJ 717 (M.P).

Though the prosecution had alleged that the accused had ill-treated the deceased and were responsible for the incident, the mother and brother of the deceased who were the most important witnesses turned hostile and the court was left with nothing other than the dying declaration. Normally, a court would have relied on this document and it could have also formed the sole basis of a conviction but the difficulty that arose was that the condition of the deceased was bad, she was not in position to make any statement on the date of the incident and there was no certificate from the doctor that on the next day when the dying declaration was recorded, the deceased was in a fit condition mentally and physically to understand and answer questions. The SPP submitted that the doctor had in his evidence indicated that the statement was made before him and that the deceased was in a fit condition. This was not considered good enough in so far as the law requires a contemporaneous certificate from the doctor which must be endorsed on the dying declaration itself. More so when there was no other evidence and the conviction was sought to be based on the dying declaration alone it would be unsafe to record a conviction in the absence of the certificate in question. Having regard to this position, the Court refused to interfere with the order of the trial Court. State of Karnataka v. Shanker, 2000 Cri LJ 1917(Kant).

17. Bail.—Conviction of offence held under Section 304-B. Accused sentenced to 10 years' R.I.—Appeal was filed accused already undergone about 16 months of sentence. It was hence held that sentence suspended during pendency of appeal and accused to be released on bail. Devinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1994) 3 Recent Cr R 525 (P & H).

With regard to the case of appellant, it has been contended that she is an 80 years old lady and is suffering from various age related ailments. This factual assertion is not disputed by the respondents. Looking at the age of the appellant it does not seem fair to hold her back in jail during the pendency of appeal even if she had been convicted for the alleged serious offence, against which she has come before this Court. Furthermore, in the peculiar circumstances of this case and in view of the fact, that the Appellant is an old lady of 80 years of age and she had already been in jail for more than one year, in our view, she is entitled for the relief prayed in the application. Accordingly, we grant interim bail to the second appellant, subject to the appellant furnishing the bail bond as well as surety to the satisfaction of the Additional Sessions Judge. Bakshish Ram vs. State of Punjab, 2009 (6) SCC 561 : 2009 (2) Crimes 351 (SC) : 2009 (6) JT 431 : 2009 (7) Scale 231 : 2009 (3) Supreme 757 : 2009 (4) SLT 366.

It is clear from the various decisions of this Court as stated above that, cases where a serious offence had been committed and the accused had been held guilty for the said offence, then his application for grant of bail should not be decided leniently during the pendency of the appeal. The seriousness and gravity of the offence must be looked into before granting the bail. In the instant case, accused are convicted by the trial Court for harassing, torturing and compelling the deceased to end her life by committing suicide, and the said conviction is confirmed by the High Court. Bakshish Ram vs. State of Punjab, 2009 (6) SCC 561 : 2009 (2) Crimes 351 (SC) : 2009 (6) JT 431 : 2009 (7) Scale 231 : 2009 (3) Supreme 757 : 2009 (4) SLT 366.

18. Conviction.—Allegations were of harassment and torture. First dying declaration was made against mother-in-law, husband and other relatives—Subsequently the statement was made against husband only. Suicide accepted by deceased only husband was held liable—Others acquitted. Rajinder Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 Recent CR 459 (P&H).

Accused person in-laws of deceased ill-treated her on account of non-fulfillment of dowry demand due to which deceased committed suicide. Evidence of prosecution witnesses viz., brother, parents and aunt was consistent.

The victim committed suicide. Such fact was proved by medical evidence. Inquest report proved that she committed suicide in her in-laws' place. In our considered view, the appellants being her in-laws were duty-bound to unfold the narrative, which was within their special knowledge. The appellants did not do so while being examined under Section 313. They did not even adduce any evidence. The Appellant No. 1 on the other hand tried to make aspertion on the victim that she had extra marital affair.

although the defence did not lead any evidence on that score. The other accused Urmila could not check her grievance and categorically stated that they did not get any gold out of dowry.

The learned Judge held the appellants' guilty under Section 304-B/498-A of Indian Penal Code. Taking a sum total of the facts, followed by consistent evidence of witnesses being corroborated by each other, we do not find any scope to hold it otherwise, specially in case of appellants. We, however, find that the evidence on record which is held reliable to convict the appellants for the offence under Section 498-A of Indian Penal Code clearly makes out a case for offence of abetting suicide under Section 306 of Indian Penal Code with the aid of Section 113-A of the Evidence Act, 1872. The facts of this case do not support the conviction of the appellants under Section 304-B of Indian Penal Code. Jhantu Sardar and Ors. vs. State of West Bengal, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3012 (Cal).

Accused subjected his wife to cruelty and harassed her for additional dowry on account of which her health got deteriorated and ultimately she died.

As per the evidence of prosecution witnesses, the marriage between the deceased and the accused was performed on 30.11.1998 and the deceased left the company of the accused in the month of March 2000 and her death took place on 27.9.2001. From the above, it is evident that the death of the deceased had taken place within a span of 7 years. But as stated supra, the prosecution shall satisfy all the three requirements by way of cogent evidence to bring home the guilt of the accused for the offence punishable under Section 304-B, IPC. The doctor, who conducted autopsy over the dead body of the deceased and issued post-mortem certificate clearly stated that the death of the deceased was natural. The requirement as provided for under Section 304-B, IPC is that it should be an unnatural death. Of course, if the said death is solely on account of the alleged harassment, presumption can be drawn in view of Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act, But here, we have to look into the fact that the accused and the deceased lived together only up to March 2000 and the alleged death took place on 27.9.2001 i.e., after 1 ½. year. From that it cannot be inferred that there was harassment soon before her death. When once the doctor states that the death was natural and there is no cogent evidence to establish that soon before the death of the deceased, there was harassment, that the accused is guilty of the offence punishable under Section 304B, IPC.

Another aspect which is prompting this Court to come to the conclusion is the evidence. The alleged death took place on 27.09.2001 and as it was occurred in the hospital of father of the deceased, and it is a medico-legal case, PW 1 immediately reported the matter to the police only under Section 174, CrPC. If really the said harassment is in existence as on the date of the report, the same would have been mentioned in the report. It is not known as to why father of deceased has not stated all these facts in his report. Dr. Madas Venkat Goud vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3501 (AP).

Demand of dowry by appellant's husband and father-in-law of deceased. Demand of scooter continued hardly ten days prior to occurrence, conduct of appellants in absconding just after occurrence showing strong presumption of guilt against them. Conviction was hence confirmed. Manohar Lal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 Crimes 147 (P & H).

There were two injuries on the neck of the deceased. The windpipe and the sound box of the deceased were fractured. It was submitted that such injuries cannot be caused by epileptic fits. In addition it was submitted that the plea of the accused persons that the deceased was suffering from epilepsy was also not established by any cogent evidence. The version given by witnesses was doubted and it was categorically observed by the High Court that their evidence was far from credible. It is also pointed out that there was clear evidence for demand of dowry.

Reliance placed on Modi's Medical Jurisprudence to conclude that the injuries found on the neck of the deceased were possible due to epileptic fit is also not on a correct reading of the text. It is not stated any where that even a windpipe or sound box can be fractured as a result of epileptic fit. That being so, the trial Court's judgment was clearly vulnerable. The conviction as recorded by the High Court cannot be faulted. However, considering the background facts of the case, we reduce the sentence imposed in respect of Sec. 304-B IPC to seven years which is the minimum. Madan Lal and Anr. v. State of U. P., AIR 2009 SC 2175 : 2009 (4) SCR 501 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 527 : 2009 (7) JT 679 (SC) : 2009 (4) Scale 102 (SC).

Appeal against conviction was filed. Charged for offence under Section 304-B. IPC Conviction under Section 498-A. Suicide committed due to torture by appellants. Statement in dying declaration. Hence conviction under Sec. 498-A was fully justified. Deepak Kumar v. State of A.P., (1994) 2 ALT 6 (NRC) : (1994) 1 ALT (Cr) 601 (AP).

The deceased breathed her last within about one year and three months from the date of marriage while living in the house of her in laws. She was not suffering from any ailment prior to marriage and even after the marriage she continued to be hale and hearty. The evidence of PW-3, the father of the deceased is very significant. According to him on 17.03.1995 the deceased came to his house. She informed him that the accused was torturing her as they had to purchase a new house they were demanding Rupees one lac from her. To the similar effect is the evidence of PW-4 the brother of the deceased. Prosecution had pressed into service the agreement deed Exh. PB for the purchase of house by Gurmukh Singh from one Sapan Dass (PW-2). Said agreement reveals that it was executed on 08.02.1995 and the sale deed was to be executed on 08.05.1995. The High Court noted that this document amply established that the family required money for purchase of plot from Sapan Dass. The High Court further noted that there was no material brought on record to show that the agreement was performed by the accused persons. The High Court found that the presumptuous conclusion of the trial Court that there was no link of the demand for dowry with the said agreement. The High Court also noted that the trial Court had erroneously concluded that the accused persons were rich persons and, therefore, there was no need for asking any dowry. Jagjit Singh vs. State of Punjab, AIR 2009 SC 2133 : 2009 CrLJ 2440 : 2009 (2) Crimes 134 (SC) : 2009 (4) SCR 75 : 2009 (4) SCC 759 : 2009 (3) JT 382 : 2009 (3) Scale 680 : 2009 (2) Supreme 422.

In a Jharkhand case, the evidence showed with certainty that there was demand of dowry and due to non-fulfilment of demand the deceased was subjected to torture and sometimes even food was not supplied to her. She ultimately committed suicide by hanging herself. The incident occurred within seven years of age. The conviction of accused was held justified but the sentence was reduced to period already undergone as accused was in jail for a period of six and half years. Khairu Ravidas v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 3658 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 1016 : 2003(3) East Cri C 21.

In a case it was established that the accused had subjected his wife to harassment and cruelty for non-fulfilment of demand of dowry and that led to her death within six months of marriage. The conviction of accused under Section 304B was held proper. State of Karnataka v. M.V. Manjunathagowda, 2003 Cr LJ 900 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 809 : 2003(2) SCC 188 : 2003(1) Supreme 133 : 2003(1) Crimes 289 (SC).

Deceased wife committed suicide by administering person to her son and herself as husband and in laws had subjected deceased to cruelty in connection with demand of dowry. There was no evidence that deceased was suffering from mental depression and presumption under Section 114 Evidence Act was arising that accused persons have caused death of deceased. The conviction of accused persons was held proper. Sukhadeep Singh v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 1308 (P&H) : 2003(3) All Cri LR 750 : 2004(2) DMC 870 : 2003(3) Rec Cri R 740.

Accused husband and in-laws allegedly tortured deceased to bring more dowry and caused her death by poisoning. The accused was engaged in manufacturing medicines and had knowledge about potentiality and effectiveness of poison responsible for death of deceased. The accused was undoubtedly with deceased at mid of fateful night. Held, presumption under Section 113B of the Evidence Act was attracted and inference could be drawn that the accused-husband had administered person to deceased, and that there was no evidence showing that other accused persons subjected deceased to cruelty in connection with demand of dowry. Their acquittal was held proper. State of UP v. Ajai Kumar, 2004 Cr LJ 3925.

Appeal against conviction was filed where there was dowry death within 15 days of marriage. Dispute before incident was established. Death was due to taking phosphorous compound—Medical evidence showed nothing except that. Conviction was fully justified. Inder Singh v. State of Haryana, (1994) 2 CC Cases 59 (P&H).

The agreements to pay valuables at the time of marriage must be established. The said ingredients are totally absent in the evidence of P.Ws. 1 to 3. It is clear from record that she was not able to bear the harassment done to her by A-1 and therefore, she was driven to suicide. The accused abetted the commission of suicide by the deceased by constant torture and cruelty. Hence the accused is liable for punishment under Sections 498-A and 306, IPC. Nanna Venkateswarlu alias Venkateswara Rao v. State of Andhra Pradesh represented by the Public Prosecutor High Court of A.P., (1995) 2 ALT (Cr) 573 (AP).

Conviction of accused mother-in-law cannot be set aside merely on ground that she could bring up child left by deceased. Surinder Kumar v. State of Punjab, 1996 Cri LJ 4240 (P & H).

The deceased who was married five years back died under abnormal circumstances. There was no evidence to show by the accused in support of their specific plea that marriage had taken place seven years back. No medical certificate was produced to show that deceased was suffering from serious illness. Not only deceased had died under abnormal circumstances but also appellants were found to be in hurry to destroy the evidence and that is dead body was created and last rites were performed in the night itself. Since demand of dowry was constant and was cause of death, conviction of accused under Section 304B/201 was held proper. L. Baljeet v. State, 2003 CrLJ 2951 (P&H) : 2003 (2) DMC 825 : 2003 (2) MarriLJ 12 : 2003(2) RecCriR 66.

In a Jharkhand case the accused was strangulated for non-fulfillment of demand of colour T.V. and there was evidence to show that she was severely assaulted before strangulation and this was not done by one person. The conviction under Section 304B/498A was held proper. Sarju Modi v. State, 2003 Cr JL 631 (Jhar) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 70 : 2003(1) JC RJHA 236 : 2003 Mat LR 299.

Where harassment of deceased by accused persons for not bringing further dowry sufficiently established and involvement of accused and respective role played by them firmly substantiated, proving existence of proximate and live link between effect of cruelty related to dowry demand and concerned death then accused liable to be convicted under Section 304B of IPC. Vidhya Devi v. State of Haryana, AIR 2004 SC 1757 : 2000(1) JT 609 : 2004(1) Supreme 513 : 2004(1) Crimes 320 (SC).

Where demand of dowry by husband is proved and testimony of witness as to incident corroborated by medical evidence establishing unnatural death of deceased within 7 years of her marriage, accused was rightly held guilty of offence. Nand Kishore Yadav v. State of Bihar, 2005 (3) East Cr C 190 (Jhar).

Where harassment of deceased/wife, who committed suicide, by husband for non payment of entire dowry amount agreed was proved by evidence of neighbours and other witnesses husband was held liable to be convicted. Kunhiabdulla v. State of Kerala, AIR 2004 SC 1731 : 2004(4) SCC 13 : 2004(3) JT 206 : 2004(2) Crimes 302 (SC) : 2004(2) Supreme 354.

Wife committed suicide out of frustration due to assault and torture for demand of dowry, Prohibition Act was held proper. Munna v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 114 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 879 : 2004(1) Crimes 479 : 2004(1) DMC 554. Where death occurred within three years of marriage and she was being tortured for non-fulfilment of dowry demand, it was held that prosecution case was proved doubt and conviction was justified. Khatoon Bibi v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ 301(Jhar).

Deceased died due to consuming poison. Soon before her death, she had complained against her husband and in-law to her mother and brother. The evidence showed that the deceased was being subjected to torture and cruelty for non-fulfilment of demand of dowry conviction of accused was held proper. Tayab Khan v. State of Bihar, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 180 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1079 : 2004(1) East Cri C 149 : 2003(4) JLJR 34.

The demand of 25% of land in a dowry death case attracted the provisions of Section 304B, IPC. Nazar v. State of Kerala, 2005 Cr LJ 974 (Ker) : 2004(2) CCR 458 : 2005(1) Hindu LR 227.

In a case death of deceased occurred within seven years of marriage under unnatural circumstances. The dead body was recovered from the well but cause of death was by the strangulation as per postmortem report. No eye-witness was available but other evidence showed that she was being tortured and assaulted for not bringing the enough dowry. It was held that the conviction of accused under Section 304B/498A was justified. Jethar Maheta v. State, 2003 Cr LJ (NOC) 6 (Jha) : AIR 2003 Jhar HCR 61 : 2002(2) DMC 733 : 2003 Hindu LR 74 : 2002(3) JCR Jha 348.

At the time of marriage deceased's parents failed to give dowry which was agreed to at the time of settlement of marriage—for that she was tortured, insulted and humiliated ultimately there was tragic death of lady in her in-laws' house. The Sessions Court convicted both the appellant under Section 304B/498A and conviction was confirmed by High Court but sentence was reduced. The matter by way of appeal reached Supreme Court where it was found that inevitable conclusion was that the appellant, Kaliaperumal had been rightly convicted and sentenced under Section 304B/498A but another appellant was acquitted of charge under Section 304B as there was inadequate material to attract her culpability. However her conviction under Section 498A was held proper. Kaliaperumal v. State of T.N., 2003 Cr LJ 4321 (SC) : AIR 2003 (SC) 3828 : 2003(7) JT 392 : 2003(3) Crimes 374 (SC) : 2003(6) Supreme 101.

In the present case there is ample evidence on record that soon before the death the deceased was subjected to physical and mental cruelty and torture because of non-fulfilment of demand of dowry. It has come in evidence that the deceased had disclosed to her parent and witnesses regarding demand of dowry and torture on her by the appellants. Only after a month of the return to her 'Sasural' she was done to death. Therefore, it can very well be said that the demand of dowry and torture meted out to the deceased by the appellants, were soon before her death. In this situation, the presumption as envisaged under Section 113B of the Evidence Act, 1872 for commission of the offence under Section 304B of the Indian Penal Code would certainly be raised against the appellants. Premchand Mahto v. State of Jharkhand, 2005 Cr LJ 3672 (Jhar) : 2005(2) DMC 624 : 2005(3) East Cri C 237 : 2006(1) Hindu LR 117 : 2005(3) JCR Jha 253.

In an Allahabad case, persistent demand of Maruti Car in dowry by accused persons was proved. The harassment of deceased over score of non-fulfilment of the said demand was also established. The evidence showed that there was struggle between deceased and accused. The allegation of manipulation of post-mortem report was rejected. Theory of suicide was also proved. Accused was held liable to be convicted under Section 304B. State of UP v. Satya Narain Tewari, 2005 Cr LJ 3684 (All) : 2005(53) All Cri C 274 : 2005(3) All Cri R 2738 : 2006(1) Hindu LR 277.

19. Acquittal.—Where prosecution failed to establish that deceased died homicidal death held that dowry harassment not proved. False case established by prosecution witnesses to extract money from accused. Accused not given fair opportunity to defend himself. Held, conviction not proper. Attuluri Krishna Murthy v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1995 Cr LJ 1653 (AP).

Revision against acquittal.—The accused respondents were charged for causing death of the deceased for dowry and subjecting her to cruelty and harassment, but there is no evidence to evince such cruelty and harassment. In the facts and circumstances of the instant case, no presumption can be drawn about the dowry death and thus, the prosecution is found to have failed to bring home the accusation so far as they relate to offences punishable under Sections 304-B and 498-A of IPC.

There is no direct evidence with regard to cruelty or demand for dowry on record. Prosecution has miserably failed to furnish satisfactory and reasonable explanation of delay in filing FIR. Acquittal of accused respondents is proper. Krishan Lal Sharma vs. The State of Rajasthan, 2010 (2) CrLJ 2316 (Raj).

What the High Court failed to notice in arriving at the said findings is that no evidence was brought on record to show that the cruelty or harassment was meted out to her for bringing insufficient dowry, in absence whereof the ingredients of Sec. 304-B of the Indian Penal Code cannot be said to have been proved. The legal fiction sought to be created must be raised only on fulfillment of the conditions precedent therefor. All the requisite ingredients of the offence must be brought home before the presumptive evidence is put to use by the Court for holding the accused guilty of an offence under Sec. 304-B of the Indian Penal Code.

It is true that two injuries were noticed on the person of the deceased by the Autopsy Surgeon, but we could have considered this aspect of the matter had the appellant been not the only accused. The FIR was lodged against others also. Three more persons being sisters and cousin of the appellant were also charged for commission of the said offence. If the deceased was forced to take poison, they must have some hand in it. As they have been acquitted, it is difficult for us to come to the conclusion that it was the appellant and the appellant alone who was responsible for her death.

For the aforementioned reasons, the impugned judgment cannot be sustained and it is set aside accordingly. The appeal is allowed. The appellant who is in custody is directed to be set at liberty and released forthwith unless wanted in connection with any other case. Tarsem Singh vs. State of Punjab, AIR 2009 (SC) 1454 : 2008 (17) SCR 379 : 2008 (13) JT 185 : 2008 (16) Scale 148 : 2009 (1) SLT 207 : 2009 (1) Crimes 168 (SC) : 2009 (1) JCC 372.

No witness of area or village produced showing cruelty or harassment by husband for dowry. Held, offence under Section 304-B not proved. Chhanga Ram v. State, (1995) 1 RCD 112 (Raj).

It was brought out by evidence on record that deceased was not liking A-1. She was interested in getting married with some other boy, ultimately it led her to commit suicide. This is not a case of dowry death within meaning of Section 304-B(1), I.P.C. as no harassment or ill-treatment is proved against the appellant, accused in connection with demand of dowry. Hence A-1 acquitted and acquittal of A-2 upheld. Public Prosecutor, High Court A.P., Hyderabad v. Narsu, (1995) 1 ALT (Cr) 88 (AP).

There was no co-relation of the demand of money from parents of wife for starting business and marriage. There was nothing to show that seen before the incident deceased was subjected to cruelty or harassment in connection with dowry. It was held that unnatural death of the deceased in the facts and circumstances of the case could not be said to be dowry death and, therefore, conviction of accused was liable to be set aside. Tilak Bedia v. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand), 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 180 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 1079 : 2004(1) East Cri C 149 : 2003(4) JLJR 34.

In another Jharkhand case, door was bolted from inside and the dead body of the deceased was lying in the house. Accused was not present in the house. No one had seen him running away from place of occurrence. The contention that the deceased was being tortured and even driven away from the matrimonial house was not supported by reliable evidence, defence plea of commission of suicide by deceased was probable. The accused was acquitted giving benefit of doubt. Hari Ram Bhagat v. State of Bihar (Now Jharkhand), 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 71 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 489 : 2003(2) JCR Jha 533.

The accused persons allegedly administered poison to deceased due to non-payment of dowry. According to prosecution witness the troth was coming from month of deceased. But the statement was not supported neither by inquest report nor by medical evidence conviction of accused was held improper. 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 68 : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 338 : 2004(1) DMC 779 : 2003(3) JCR Jha 113 : 2003(3) JLJR 265.

According to one of the prosecution witnesses, in the absence of the father of the deceased and the deceased, the accused came to the village and behaved in a rude manner and created a scene and shouted. He was advised not to behave in such a manner and he left the place. He further stated that he learnt that the couple was not living cordially as the accused was ill-treating and harassing the deceased for getting more amount of dowry. This statement was also not substantiated as to wherefrom he got this knowledge. This is merely a hearsay evidence and even he has not stated from whom he had heard. Therefore, we agree with the learned senior counsel for the appellant that there is no evidence on record to show that there was harassment on account of demand of dowry immediately prior to the death. Therefore, the important ingredient of Section 304B, IPC was not satisfied. Therefore, in our view, the appellant could have not been convicted under Section 304B, IPC. Bijjanki Kishan v. State of AP, 2005 Cr LJ 3780 (AP) : 2005(2) LAD (CRL) 185. See also Mahendra Sahu v. State of MP, 2005 Cr LJ 873 (MP) : 2005(2) DMC 90 : 2004(4) MPLJ 130.

Where harassment for dowry was related back to November 1999 and the deceased committed suicide in July 2000, it was held that dowry related harassment was not proximate to date of commission of suicide. The conviction under Section 304B was set aside. Salvaran v. State, 2003 Cr LJ 2831 (Bom) : 2003(4) All Cri LR 397 : 2003(2) Hindu LR 589.

In an AP case the deceased died due to poisoning and the prosecution could not establish whether death was a homicide or suicide. No external injuries were found on dead body. It was held that the conviction of accused under Section 304B was not proper. Penchala Sadaiah v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ 3827 (AP) : 2003(2) ALD (Crl) 382.

Where harassment to deceased by accused/sister-in-laws aged 16 and 18 years respectively was not proximate to death which was 2-1/2 years after marriage therefore accused cannot be convicted. Surinder Kaur v. State of Haryana, AIR 2004 SC 1747 : 2004(4) SCC 109 : 2004(3) JT 61 : 2004(2) Supreme 255 : 2004(2) Crimes 276 (SC).

Since allegation of cruelty or harassment in respect of demand of dowry was neither specific nor established by evidence, conviction and sentence imposed by trial court was not sustainable. Vishwanath v. State of MP, 2005 (3) East Cr C 140 (MP).

The accused was acquitted where the husband enjoyed cordial relations with deceased wife and evidence of dowry and torture was not available. Nehal Aagar v. State, 2004 Cr LJ (NOC) 84 (Jhar) : AIR 2004 Jhar HCR 411 : 2003(2) JCR Jha 526.

Death of woman occurred within 3 years of marriage but charges were framed and proved under Section 498/34. Since no charge under Section 304B was framed it was held that conviction under Section 304B could not be sustained. Rajendran v. State, 2004 Cr LJ 4156 (Mad) : 2004(2) Hindu LR 720 : 2004 Mad LJ (Cri) 992.

No proper explanation for the delay in F.I.R. cruelty and harassment not established—Deceased pregnant while died—Allegation was of kick blow, offence not proved hence—Acquittal order passed. Vinod Kumar v. State of Haryana, (1994) 3 CCC 505 (P & H).

There were no eye-witness of incident and there were no cogent evidence to connect the appellant with the offence. Hence conviction under Section 304-B not sustainable. Ram Mal v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LR 250 (Raj).

Where delay in filing F.I.R. was not explained and alleged cruelty to deceased quite vague, inconsistent not believable in respect of demand of dowry and no presumption as to 'dowry death'—Circumstances as to cruelty and burning of deceased not proved and conviction set aside. Bhakhar Ram v. State of Rajasthan, 1995 Cr LJ 1345 (Raj).

Husband-petitioner a Military Officer posted in Cochin. Wife died due to poison. There was no evidence to prove hand of petitioner in death of wife, hence F.I.R. quashed. Lt. Arvind Kumar Tomar v. State of U.P., (1995) 2 CCR 230 (Alld).

When the evidence is completely wanting in this case for demand of dowry, the Courts below were not right in convicting the revision-petitioner under Section 304-B, I.P.C. Hence conviction for said offence has to be set aside. Bhaskaran v. State, (1995) 1 LW (Cr) 57 (2) (Mad).

There was no evidence of unlawful demand of dowry or cruelty to wife. Wife died suicidal death within seven years of marriage—By mere this fact it cannot be inferred that she was subjected to cruelty.—Held, accused not held guilty of charges framed and acquitted. Onkar Prasad v. State of M.P., (1995) 3 CCR 70 (MP).

Inordinate delay of nine days in lodging report. Indicative of deliberation and embellishment. No evidence of her being subjected to cruelty or torture for demand of dowry. No evidence of burning on the place of occurrence. Appellants immediately taking the victim/deceased to government hospital for treatment.—Held, a case of gross-illegality in convicting the appellants under Section 304-B and 304-II by way of introducing new facts. Appellants acquitted. Bhakhar Ram v. State of Rajasthan, (1995) 2 Crimes 539 (Raj).

When incident and death took place before Section 304-B came into force, accused liable to be acquitted under Sec. 304-B. Bhoora Singh v. State, 1993 Cri LJ 2636 (Alld).

Deceased died unnatural death by falling into well. Conflicting evidence as to whether it was a case of suicide or an accidental death. No inference from evidence that death occurred within seven years of her marriage. Prosecution fails to establish charge under Section 304-B, I.P.C. Evidence as to harassment and cruelty on account of dowry demand. Held, accused guilty of offence under Section 498-A. For the purpose sentence of imprisonment already undergone for two years, acquitted of charge of 304-B, I.P.C. Baswapuram alias Dontaraboina Narsimloo v. State of A.P., (1995) 2 Crimes 455 (AP).

See also Satbir Singh v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 4137 ; Devndar Singh v. State of Punjab, 2005 Cr LJ 4160 (SC) : AIR 2005 (SC) 3501 : 2005(53) All Cri C 787 : 2005(4) All Cri LR 559 : 2005(6) Supreme 478 ; Nazar v. State of Kerala, 2005 Cr LJ 974 (Ker) : 2005(1) Hindu LR 227 : 2005(1) Ker LJ 1 : 2005(28) All Ind Cas 346 ; Raj Kumar v. State of M.P., 2005 Cr LJ 1072 ; Jahpam Ramesh v. State of A.P., 2006 Cr LJ (NOC) 111 (AP).

In a case of dowry death the husband and the in-laws killed the deceased wife by squeezing her neck and pouring pesticide into her mouth. In post-mortem report it was established that deceased died due to poisoning as no external injury was found on the body of the deceased. The prosecutor could not establish whether it was homicide or suicide. The conviction of accused persons was held not proper. Penchala Sadaiah v. The State, 2003 Cr LJ 3827 (AP): 2003(2) ALD (CRL) 332 : 2003(2) Andh LT (Cri) AP 562.

In Ravinder Kumar v. State of Haryana, 2005 Cr LJ 84 (P&H) : 2004(4) Crimes 481 : 2005(1) DMC 209 : 2004(4) Rec Cri R 234 it was observed as under:—

> "If there was, indeed, a demand of dowry before or after the marriage, some mention of the same ought to have been made in the FIR. In fact, it is clearly mentioned by PW1, when he lodged an FIR before the police, that his daughter was being taunted on small issues. If these issues were related to demand of dowry, it could not have assumed the character of small issue and some mention of either cash or some particular articles, it appears to this Court, must have been made. Both the witnesses i.e., father and brother of Amita, appear to have improved upon the prosecution version with regard to demand of dowry, perhaps being conscious of the fact that narration of events given in the FIR may not bring home the offence against the appellant under Section 304B of Indian Penal Code. The mention in the FIR that it remained in the minds of the accused that they were given less dowry, as said earlier, appears to be only an imagination or a thought process of the first informant. Surely, he could not be a witness to the feelings of the appellant and his co-accused. In any case, impression of a person that the accused had a mind of demand of dowry or that they were not properly behaving with Amita on account of less dowry having been given, cannot be termed as demand of dowry as such by the appellant or his co-accused."

Acquittal of husband of deceased-wife—When valid. The prosecution examined six witnesses including Shrirang, the father of the deceased, Vimal, the mother of the deceased and Smt. Nirmala, the elder sister of the deceased. The trial Court found that demand of gold ring by mother-in-law and cruelty to deceased on account of non satisfaction of the demand was proved only against mother-in-law. It was found that Anita had committed suicide. Accordingly, mother-in-law was convicted as afore-noted and rest of the accused persons were acquitted. As noted above, Suman challenged the conviction whereas the State challenged the acquittal of rest of the accused persons.

Learned Counsel for the appellant submitted that the trial Court had rightly held that in letter there was nothing to implicate the present appellant. Therefore, his acquittal was correct, but the High Court on erroneous reading of the document has directed conviction.

Learned Counsel for the State on the other hand supported the order. In the letter on which both the trial Court and the High Court have relied upon to conclude one way or the other, reference is made to several earlier letters. It specifically refers to the demand by mother-in-law of a gold ring. There is no reference to the present appellant in the letter.

The evidence of father, mother and sister is also relevant. Father has stated that except above letter he had not received any letter and the statement in the letter to the effect that the deceased had earlier sent 2/3 letters is correct. If on one hand he says that he had not received any letter, the question of not replying to them does not arise. Similarly, mother has stated that she cannot say whether there was any demand of Rs.

10,000/- in letter. Elder sister has accepted that deceased had written to her father that mother-in-law Suman was demanding gold ring in the letter.

Learned Counsel for the State submitted that there is some reference to money in the letter. The sentence is being read out of context. The deceased had written in the letter that she may have to get a gold ring but wherefrom will she get the money for buying it. Therefore, there is no reference to any demand of money by the present appellant. That being so, the High Court was not justified in upsetting the judgment of the trial Court. The impugned judgment of the High Court is set aside and that of the trial Court is restored. Vijay vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 (SC) 1217 : 2009 (2) SCC 87 : 2009 (1) Crimes 178 (SC) : 2008 (15) Scale 362 : 2009 (16) SCR 890 : 2009 (1) SLT 313 : 2009 (1) JCC 113.

Insufficient material for Dowry death.—It is of significance that Dr. Balbir Singh Randhawa in the cross examination had categorically stated that the history sheet of the patient Exh. DA was written by Dr. Bhupinderjit Kaur in Ex. PA. He also stated that the treatment was prescribed by him. It was entered in the bed head ticket made by doctor Bhupinderjit Kaur who was on duty on that day. He also stated that though the patient was in shock but she was not unconscious. He stated that he identified the signatures of Dr. Bhupinderjit Kaur and handwriting in the bed head ticket. In the FIR, reference was made to a letter purportedly to have been written by the deceased. This letter has been marked as an exhibit.

A bare reading of the letter clearly shows that there is not even a whisper about demand but the deceased had categorically stated that she had asked for the money and the articles on her own. The trial Court erroneously held that in the letter there was reference to demand of dowry. Strangely, the High Court held that even though the letter was inconsequential but the evidence of the relatives about the harassment for dowry cannot be brushed aside. As rightly submitted by learned Counsel for the appellant there were improvements in the statements recorded in Court. The two new witnesses introduced certain aspects for the first time. Significant statement in this regard is that of Sham Lal (PW-6). In Court he stated that the deceased told him in the hospital that kerosene oil was poured on her by the accused. He accepted during his examination that no such allegation was made in his statement recorded in terms of Sec. 161 of CrPC. Similarly, Surinder Kanta in Court stated that the deceased informed her about the demand of Rs. 1,00,000/- by her-in-laws and about her giving Rs. 20,000/-. This was not stated during investigation under Sec. 161 of Code as is evident from Exh. DA. In Court Surinder Kanta stated that the deceased was beaten and mistreated but no such statement was made during investigation. Additionally, no such allegation was made by PW-8 the complainant about this aspect in the FIR.

In the statement in Court Surinder Kanta stated that the deceased had told him that A-1 and A-2 caught hold of her and A-1 poured oil over her body and set her on fire by throwing match stick. No such statement was made during investigation. Similarly, that is not also the version of Sham Lal. In Court Surinder Kanta stated that all the accused persons i.e. the present appellant and the acquitted accused persons maltreated her. No such allegation was made while the witness was examined.

The High Court's judgment is not only sketchy but also devoid of reasons. Various factors highlighted above would go to show that the prosecution has squarely failed to establish the accusations so far as the appellant is concerned. Therefore, the appeal deserves to be allowed which we direct. The appellant is to be set at liberty forthwith unless to be required in connection with any other case. Raman Kumar vs. State of Punjab, 2009 CrLJ 3034 : 2009 (6) SCR 933 : 2009 (8) JT 422 : 2009 (6) Scale 335 : 2009 (3) JCC 1840.

Shoddy investigation cannot be a foundation for the accused persons to take advantage of shoddiness. But in the instant case, there was no material brought on record by the prosecution to establish the accusations so far as the present appellant is concerned. It is to be noted that there was a dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate, Chandigarh who was present at PGI Hospital. The authenticity of the dying declaration has not been questioned. It is the stand of the prosecution that police officer should have recorded it. But that cannot be a ground to discard the dying declaration recorded by the Executive Magistrate. Additionally, the prosecution laid great emphasis on the letters purported to have been written by the deceased to her relatives. Here again, handwriting expert's report clearly shows that the letters were not in the handwriting of the deceased.

Above being the position, there is no evidence brought on record by the prosecution to establish the accusations. That being so, the appeal deserves to be allowed which we direct. Rakesh Kumar vs. State of Haryana, 2009 CrLJ 1895 : 2009 (2) Crimes 119 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 81 : 2009 (3) JT 377 : 2009 (3) SCR 1190 : 2009 (3) Scale 567 : 2009 (2) Supreme 459 : 2009 (3) SLT 153.

No evidence towards claim regarding any demand of dowry. Bare reading of Sec. 378 of the Code (appeal in case of acquittal) quoted above, makes it clear that no restrictions have been imposed by the legislature on the powers of the appellate Court in dealing with appeals against acquittal. When such an appeal is filed, the High Court has full power to reappreciate, review and reconsider the evidence at large, the material on which the order of acquittal is founded and to reach its own conclusions on such evidence. Both questions of fact and of law are open to determination by the High Court in an appeal against an order of acquittal.

During cross-examination he accepted that all this was not stated during investigation. He also accepted that it was not mentioned in the FIR that gifts and other articles were given as dowry. He accepted that his father in law Udai Singh had settled the marriage between the accused and the deceased. Interestingly Udai Singh (DW. 1) has stated that there was no demand from the side of the accused at the time of marriage. The deceased and her parents had never complained to him that the accused or any member of his family was raising any demand of any kind when confronted with the statement made during investigation, PW. 5 accepted that he had not stated many vital things during investigation which for the first time he was speaking in Court. Similar is the position with PW. 7 the brother of the deceased. He also accepted on being confronted with the statement made during investigation that he had not stated particularly certain relevant aspects. Similar is the position with the evidence of mother of deceased (PW. 6).

As was rightly noted by the trial Court there was no evidence towards the claim regarding any demand of dowry. That being so the High Court ought not to have interfered with the well reasoned judgment of the trial Court directing acquittal. The reasoning of the High Court that something must have happened and otherwise deceased would not have committed suicide is clearly indefensible. That certainly could not have been a reason to set aside the trial Court's judgment of acquittal. Nepal Singh vs. State of Haryana, AIR 2009 (SC) 2913 : 2009 (12) SCC 351 : 2009 (7) JT 172 : 2009 (6) SCR 982 : 2009 (6) Scale 555 : 2009 (4) SLT 2.

20. Sentence.—Sentence of life imprisonment should be awarded only in rare cases. Sentence reduced to 10 years. Hem Chand v. State of Haryana, 1995 SCC (Cr) 36 : (1994) 3 Recent CR 625 (SC) : AIR 1995 (SC) 120 : 1994(6) SCC 727 : 1994(6) JT 475 : 1994(3) Crimes 608 : 1994(4) Scale 401.

Offence under Section 304-B and 306 not made out—Evidence showing accused mother-in-law caused injuries to the deceased who committed suicide.—Held, thus offence under Section 324 only established since accused is aged 80 years. Sentence of fine of Rs. 3,000/- imposed. State of H.P. v. Nikku Ram, 1995 AIR SCW 3721 (SC) : 1996(1) Dme 131 : AIR 1996 (SC) 67 : 1995(5) Scale 94.

Where appellant was only bread earner and deceased left a child of one year and there were old parents. Life-imprisonment reduced to 10 years rigorous imprisonment. Mohd. Nizamuddin v. State of Bihar (1995) 1 East Cr C 662 (Pat).

The interest of justice would be met if the sentence of life awarded to the accused is reduced to the one already undergone by them. The accused have already undergone actual substantive sentence of 7 years and 5 months by now. Insofar as husband of deceased is concerned, he was only 17 years of age at the time of commission of the crime. The other two accused are by now of ripe old age and they belong to lower strata of society. May be the allegations with regard to demand of dowry had been exaggerated in this case in as much as complainant as also the accused were not affluent enough to give and take dowry disproportionate to their financial status. Gurcharan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1999 Cri LJ 1616 (P&H).

There was no charge under Section 302 IPC and there was no direct evidence and the case was "based on circumstancial evidence as well as presumption under Section 113-B of the Indian Evidence Act. Moreover, the accused was aged about 22 years at the time of occurrence. In view of the above circumstances and facts of the case, the sentence of life imprisonment under Section 304-B was reduced to 10 years' R.I. Mahesh Kumar v. State, 2001 Cri LJ 4417 (All.).

In State of UP v. Satya Narain Tiwari, the case was the most horrendous crime committed by the two accused respondents (mother-in-law and husband of the deceased) cutting short the life of the young lady, in a very cruel manner for the greed of dowry. It is a fit case where maximum sentence of life imprisonment provided under Section 304B IPC should be awarded to them. For the offence of Section 498A IPC the two accused persons deserve to be punished with rigorous imprisonment for three years. For having committed the offence under Section 4 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, the sentence of six months rigorous imprisonment would meet the ends of justice. State of UP v. Satyanarayana Tiwari, 2005 Cr LJ 3684 (All) : 2005 All LJ 2941 : 2005(53) All Cri C 274 : 2006(1) Hindu LR 277.

21. Cruelty.—When deceased was tortured and assaulted on refusal to fulfill demand of money and she was not allowed to meet or talk to her family members, it amounts to cruelty. Anand Kumar v. State of M.P., 1997 Cri LJ 1005 (MP).

Accused person in-laws of deceased ill-treated her on account of non-fulfillment of dowry demand due to which deceased committed suicide. Evidence of prosecution witnesses viz., brother, parents and aunt was consistent.

The victim committed suicide. Such fact was proved by medical evidence. Inquest report proved that she committed suicide in her in-laws' place. In our considered view, the appellants being her in-laws were duty-bound to unfold the narrative, which was within their special knowledge. The appellants did not do so while being examined under Section 313. They did not even adduce any evidence. The Appellant No. 1 on the other hand tried to make aspertion on the victim that she had extra marital affair, although the defence did not lead any evidence on that score. The other accused Urmila could not check her grievance and categorically stated that they did not get any gold out of dowry.

The learned Judge held the appellants' guilty under Section 304-B/498-A of Indian Penal Code. Taking a sum total of the facts, followed by consistent evidence of witnesses being corroborated by each other, we do not find any scope to hold it otherwise, specially in case of appellants. We, however, find that the evidence on record which is held reliable to convict the appellants for the offence under Section 498-A of Indian Penal Code clearly makes out a case for offence of abetting suicide under Section 306 of Indian Penal Code with the aid of Section 113-A of the Evidence Act, 1872. The facts of this case do not support the conviction of the appellants under Section 304-B of Indian Penal Code. Jhantu Sardar and Ors. vs. State of West Bengal, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3012 (Cal).

So far as the offence under Sections 498A and 304B, IPC is concerned, throughout it has come on record that accused 2 (brother in law) was staying elsewhere whereas accused 1 and deceased were staying first at Bettadapura and later at K.R. Nagar. It is also the evidence of the neighbouring witnesses staying near the house of the accused and deceased that the couple were cordial and some of the women who were talking with the deceased also have specifically stated that there was no dowry demand much less payment of additional dowry. Even the deceased had not complained of the harassment to bring additional dowry.

Of course, the defense of the accused is that the deceased was suffering from stomach-ache and also pain in the left lower limb as such, she being frustrated, committed suicide. It is seen, on some occasions the deceased had been treated at the hospital for which some documents are produced. Further, it is the specific case of the father of the deceased and other witnesses i.e. mother and sister that accused was never allowing the deceased to attend any of the ceremonies in their family. Even as per the prosecution, the deceased requested the 1st accused to take her to the house warming ceremony of one of her relatives and he refused to take her on which much thrust has been given in the evidence of witnesses. Of course, due to such an indifferent attitude on the part of 1st accused, the deceased must have felt humiliated or got annoyed. In the usual course, family bickering between spouses by itself, cannot be said to be a reason for her to commit suicide and it may not be a ground to hold against the accused that there was abetment to commit suicide and also that the accused is guilty of the offence under Section 498A, IPC.

From the evidence on record that of father, mother and sister and PW 15, it is seen, they have spoken about the deceased complaining of harassment to her whenever she used to meet them. In this regard, however, no complaint has been filed by the family of the deceased against the accused. Apart from that, what is noticed is, the deceased was residing along with her husband and after marriage, for three years she lead marital life and also gave birth to a child. It is also noticed, the 1st accused was demanding Rs. 20,000/- as per the evidence of some of the witnesses and also they made arrangement to pay Rs. 15,000/-. In this regard father has not stated or whispered anything before the Taluka Executive Magistrate. So, it appears to be an afterthought to make out a dowry harassment case to implicate the accused. Even with regard to the evidence as to collecting dowry is concerned, the statement of father is that the 2nd accused has collected dowry amount whereas in the further statement it is stated that 1st accused has collected the dowry amount and that itself shows that there is much contradictions and Ex. D5 also depicts the contradiction version. Moreover, in the absence of any such complaint being filed by father and mother on coming to know of the deat of the deceased except the suspicion they have expressed at the time of recording the inquest statement by the Tahsildar, no other steps have been taken by father to file the complaint. Even the FIR is registered for the alleged offences only after ten days. Certain of the contradictions marked at Ex.D. 4 to 6 show that there is no such demand by the accused for dowry. May be some misunderstanding between the husband and wife regarding not allowing the deceased to attend the function of her relative but, that itself cannot be treated as a cruelty harassment. In order to prove the offence under Sec. 304B, IPC, death must have occurred within seven years of marriage in unnatural circumstances in connection with dowry harassment. The evidence of the neighbouring witnesses is consistent and contradicts the version of the relatives of the deceased and also, apart from that, the boy witness who was residing along with the deceased and the accused has not whispered anything about any untoward incident that has occurred to hold the accused guilty of the offences under Secs. 498A and 304B, IPC. Even if some amount is given or taken, it appears to be in the form of customary practice having regard to the status of the family and, even for having made payment, there is no record made available. Believing the version of the relatives of the deceased as gospel truth the trial Court has convicted and sentenced the accused without looking into the various contradictions and admissions and also the delay in filing the complaint. The complaint is lodged, that too by the police, after ten days. Ex.D. 1 to D 3 are the prescriptions of the deceased who was treated for ailments. The statement of PW 5 is recorded by the police only after 9 to 10 days after the death of the deceased and nothing has been stated by him in the Inquest Report regarding alleged demand for additional dowry by the accused. It appears to be an afterthought and improvement made by the prosecution witnesses, especially by father, mother and sister.

In view of the above discussion, having noticed that deceased committed suicide within seven years of her marriage, it appears her death would have probably been due to misunderstanding between the deceased and the 1st accused in not sending her to attend the ceremony of her relative in the family of her parents. Although several wild allegations are made, there is no cogent evidence to hold the accused guilty of the alleged offences. The order of conviction and sentence rendered by the trial Court is without looking into the contradictions and also without considering the material evidence of the independent witnesses who got to speak about the attitude of the accused with the deceased. Dr. Seetharamaiah and Anr vs. State of Karnataka, 2010 (3) CriLJ 3389 (Karn).

There was an unrelenting demand for dowry and Asha Devi-deceased persistently subjected to cruelty and harassment for and in connection with demand. Both her parents and her brother deposed before the Court that Appellant once again raised his demand when he had gone to their house to bring deceased to place. Their inability to meet his demand had caused him annoyance and anger. A Devi was naturally apprehensive and was very reluctant to go with him. But t somehow prevailed upon her and made her depart with him. There is thus direct a positive evidence of her being subjected to harassment. There is nothing to show t after she was brought to the appellants' place and till her death merely about months later the situation had radically changed, the demand of dowry had ceased a relations had become cordial between the deceased and three appellants. In the fa and circumstances of the case, we are satisfied that in connection with the appellar demand for dowry deceased was subjected to cruelty and that was the proximate cau of her homicidal death. Deen Dayal vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, AIR 2009 SC 1238 : 20 CrLJ 1119 : 2009 (1) Crimes 243 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 157 : 2009 (1) JT 170 : 2009 SCR 56 : 2009 (1) Scale 408 : 2009 (1) SLT 341 : 2009 (1) JCC 540.

22. Framing of Charge.—Accused cannot be convicted under Section 30 without a charge being framed specifically. Mohd. Dowlath v. State of AP, 2004 Cr 760 (AP) : 2004(1) ALD (CRL) 822 : 2004(1) DMC 447 : 2004 MATLR 261.

23. Death of wife in her matrimonial home.—From the facts, it goes withou saying that the posecution in a case of this nature must rule out that the death of th deceased was not natural. Death of a person by disease process has also been held no to be death otherwise than the normal circumstances in a case under Section 304- IPC. As it appears in this case none of the witnesses including the report of th chemical examination could throw any light that the death of the deceased was due t any burn or bodily injury or otherwise than the normal circumstances or not natural. I such premises, even if the defence version that the death of the deceased was due t any stomach trouble has not been proved, but the same cannot prove the case of th prosecution that the death of the deceased was due to any burn, bodily injury o otherwise than the normal circumstances. Khetramohan Panda and Ors. vs. State o Orissa, 2010 (1) Cri LJ 498 (Orissa).

24. Symbolic marriage—Scope.—The word 'marriage' as used under the provisions of Section 304-B, IPC has to be given an independent meaning and thus should not be guided by the provisions of any other law. In the case of Yatesh Kumar vs State of Rajasthan, 1999 (1) RRC 227 (Raj), learned Single Judge has rightly taken the view that real marriage takes place when "Gauna" is performed. It is the stage when girl comes to her husband's place and actual marriage takes place at that stage. A symbolic marriage cannot be considered to be a real marriage for attracting the provisions of Section 304-B, IPC otherwise very object of making amendment is frustrated. In the case of Yatesh Kumar (Supra), this Court has further taken note of the fact that sexual intercourse can take place only after "Gauna" and not on symbolic marriage. This is again an important aspect of the matter to give correct interpretation of the word 'marriage' as used under the provisions of Section 304-B, IPC, hence, period of 7 years for attracting Section 304-B, IPC is to be counted from the date of "Gauna". Raju vs. State of Rajasthan, 2010 (3) Cri LJ 3043 (Raj).

25. Unnatural death.—A reading of the evidence shows that it was the appellant who had, just a few days' before the incident, visited the house of his father-in-law and threatened Kamlesh Rani with dire consequences if his demand for a scooter and two gold rings was not fulfilled and the brother of the deceased had told him that his father Tej Ram was not in a position to meet the demands on account of financial difficulties. A few days later Ramji Das (PW. 2) too had visited Kamlesh Rani's in-law's home and had also informed Tej Ram thereafter that the appellant had been found beating his wife at that time and had once again threatened that if the demands were not satisfied Kamlesh Kaur would pay dearly for it. It is true, as contended by Mr. Sharan, that in a case where the peculiar evidence has been discarded with respect to four of the five accused, the presumption under Section 113-B could to some extent be said to be dispelled, but on an over view we find that the primary role and the weight of the evidence has been on the appellant herein. Sudhir Kumar vs. State of Punjab. 2010 (2) CrLJ 2052 (SC).

26. FIR.—FIR lodged by mother of deceased emphasizes on two reasons of harassment, namely, (1) previously on the pretext of bringing in insufficient dowry, and (2) thereafter for not bearing a child.

There is, thus, nothing on record to show that any demand of dowry was made soon before her death. The cause of action for committing the offence appears to be an ego problem on the part of the appellant, namely, the deceased had not been coming to her matrimonial home on her own, while he had been coming to his home on leave.

What the High Court failed to notice in arriving at the said findings is that no evidence was brought on record to show that the cruelty or harassment was meted out to her for bringing insufficient dowry, in absence whereof the ingredients of Sec. 304B of the Indian Penal Code cannot be said to have been proved. The legal fiction sought to be created must be raised only on fulfilment of the conditions precedent therefor. All the requisite ingredients of the offence must be brought home before the presumptive evidence is put to use by the Court for holding the accused guilty of an offence under Sec. 304B of the Indian Penal Code. Tarsem Singh v. State of Punjab., AIR 2008 SC 1454 : 2009 (17) SCR 379 : 2008 (13) JT 185 (SC) : 2008 (16) Scale 148 (SC) : 2009 (1) SLT 207 (SC) : 2009 (1) Crimes 168 (SC) : 2009 (1) JCC 372 (SC).

27. Murder or suicide—Determination of—Post mortem report.—The Medical evidence is found in the statement of doctor. He stated that for conducting the postmortem of the dead body of the deceased, a Medical Board was constituted. Dead body of the deceased was received and on examination, following aspects were noticed :-

1. That whole body was burnt.
2. That hairs of head of the deceased were totally burnt.
3. That outer portion of the skull had come out.
4. That there were nine bangles and one kada in the Left forearm of the deceased.
5. That bones of skull of the deceased were broken.

The doctors opined that cause of death of the deceased was Asphyxia due to ante mortem burns. He has proved the post mortem report.

Thus, from the post mortem report and by the statement of doctor, the fact t deceased died because of burns is very well established and at the time of post mor of the dead body of the deceased, her skull bones were found broken.

In the case of burning the fracture of skull is not a necessary corollary but in present case the skull bones were broken. Therefore, the fact remains that she killed before death. Therefore, the High Court was justified in holding that the Sessi Judge erroneously concluded that it was a case of suicide. Prem Kanwar vs. Stat Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1242 : 2009 CrLJ 1123 : 2009 (1) Crimes 270 (SC) : 2009 SCC 726 : 2009 (1) JT 197 : 2009 (1) SCR 37 : 2009 (1) Scale 230 : 2009 (1) Supre 85 : 2009 (1) SLT 222 : 2009 (1) JCC 482.

28. Cruelty and dowry death—Distinction between.—Secs. 304-B and 498 IPC cannot be held to be mutually inclusive. These provisions deal with two disti offences. It is true that cruelty is a common essential to both the Secs. and that has be proved. The Explanation to Sec. 498-A gives the meaning of 'cruelty'. In Sec. 30 there is no such explanation about the meaning of 'cruelty'. But having regard common background to these offences it has to be taken that the meaning of 'cruelty 'harassment' is the same as prescribed in the Explanation to Sec. 498-A under wh 'cruelty' by itself amounts to an offence. Under Sec. 304-B it is 'dowry death' tha punishable and such death should have occurred within seven years of marriage. such period is mentioned in Sec. 498-A. Rajendra vs. State, AIR 2009 SC 855 : 20 (15) Scale 371 : 2009 (16) SCR 1005 : 2008 (1) SLT 283.

Consequences of cruelty which are likely to drive a woman to commit suicide or cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health, whether mental or physical of woman are required to be established in order to bring home the application of S 498-A, IPC. Cruelty has been defined in the Explanation for the purpose of Sec. 498 It is to be noted that Secs. 304-B and 498-A, IPC cannot be held to be mutua inclusive. These provisions deal with two distinct offences. It is true that cruelty i common essential to both the Secs. and that has to be proved. The Explanation to S 498-A gives the meaning of "cruelty". In Sec. 304-B there is no such explanation abo the meaning of "cruelty". But having regard to common background to these offence has to be taken that the meaning of "cruelty" or "harassment" is the same as prescrib in the Explanation to Sec. 498-A under which "cruelty" by itself amounts to an offen Satish Kumar Batra and Ors. v. State of Haryana., AIR 2009 SC 2180 : 2009 (5) S 451 (SC) : 2009 (12) SCC 491 : 2009 (5) JT 403 (SC) : 2009 (5) Scale 280 (SC) : 2009 SLT 379 (SC) : 2009 CrLJ 2447 (SC) : 2009 (2) JCC 1341 (SC).

Consequences of cruelty which are likely to drive a woman to commit suicide or cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health, whether mental or physical of t woman are required to be established in order to bring home the application of S 498A IPC. Cruelty has been defined in the Explanation for the purpose of Sec. 498 Substantive Sec. 498A IPC and presumptive Sec. 113B of the Evidence Act have be inserted in the respective statutes by Criminal Law (Second Amendment) Act, 1983. It to be noted that Secs. 304B and 498A, IPC cannot be held to be mutually inclusi These provisions deal with two distinct offences. It is true that cruelty is a comm essential to both the Secs. and that has to be proved. The Explanation to Sec. 49 gives the meaning of 'cruelty'. In Sec. 304B there is no such explanation about t meaning of 'cruelty'. But having regard to common background to these offences it h to be taken that the meaning of 'cruelty' or 'harassment' is the same as prescribed in the Explanation to Sec. 498A under which 'cruelty' by itself amounts to an offence. Under Sec. 304B it is 'dowry death' that is punishable and such death should have occurred within seven years of marriage. No such period is mentioned in Sec. 498A.

A person charged and acquitted under Sec. 304B can be convicted under Sec. 498A without that charge being there, if such a case is made out. If the case is established, there can be a conviction under both the Sections. See Akula Ravinder and others v. The State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1991 SC 1142, Sec. 498A IPC and Sec. 113B of the Evidence Act include in their amplitude past events of cruelty. Period of operation of Sec. 113B of the Evidence Act is seven years, presumption arises when a woman committed suicide within a period of seven years from the date of marriage. Gopal v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2009 SC 1928. : 2009 (2) SCR 423 (SC) : 2009 (11) SCC 314 : 2009 (2) JT 419 (SC) : 2009 (2) Scale 704 (SC) : 2009 (2) SLT 193 (SC) : 2009 (2) JCC 920 (SC).

29. Investigation—Slip-shod investigation.—Under Sec. 157 Criminal Procedure Code, the copy of the FIR has to be sent to the Magistrate. This never happened. However, seen from the records, this FIR reached the Magistrate only on 22.06.1994. This is extremely suspicious. In his deposition, the Investigating Officer proved that the FIR was chalked out in writing by Maheshwari Mandal, the SHO. Very significantly, this SHO or any other officer never examined the house thoroughly nor have they examined the inner rooms for ascertaining as to whether the doors and the latches were intact or not. This was a typical dumb investigation. Investigating Officer has not even bothered to draw a spot Panchnama. Though he stated that the accused were not present, he did not suggest any efforts having been made for their arrest. In his cross-examination, he admitted that in the case diary, he had not recorded as to which officer received information in the police station or was it mentioned in the case diary as to which lady was referred to in the telephonic information. Even the name of the informer was admittedly not there in the case diary. Specific questions were put as to whether he inspected the rooms at the place of occurrence or not. He admitted that it was not so recorded in the case diary. Even the time of sending the dead body for post-mortem was not mentioned. He admitted that when he reached the spot, neither the accused nor his parents were present. Then he asserted that their luggage was there. It is very significant to note that he admitted that Anil Kumar had not stated about the time of occurrence nor did he state the fact of beating Sushma with fists and slaps. Very significantly, he admitted that Anil Kumar had not stated about this meeting with Om Prakash Vidyalankar on the way. He had also not stated that his sister was murdered on account of not giving the colour television and motor cycle. He further admitted that Anil Kumar (PW-1) had not stated that his father had told him while he went for tuition that some articles were to be delivered to his sister. The witness admits "on enquiry by us, he remained silent".

The investigating agency would have done well in examining at least the neighbours but that does not seem to have been done. DW-2 was also a neighbour in the sense that she stayed very near to the house of the deceased. It is not known as to why the Investigating Officer did not examine neighbours, one of whom was the relative of the deceased. The apathy on the part of the Investigating Officer to examine the house closely creates suspicion. This is an unfortunate case where due to the slip-shod investigation the death of a young woman has to go unpunished.

The investigating agency would have done well in examining at least neighbours but that does not seem to have been done. DW-2 was also a neighbour the sense that she stayed very near to the house of the deceased. It is not known as why the Investigating Officer did not examine neighbours, one of whom was the relat of the deceased. The apathy on the part of the Investigating Officer to examine t house closely creates suspicion. This is an unfortunate case where due to the slip-sh investigation the death of a young woman has to go unpunished. Arun Kumar Sharr vs. State of Bihar, 2010 (1) SCC 108 : 2009 (4) Crimes 92 (SC) : 2009 (13) Scale 12 2009 (6) Supreme 732 : 2009 (7) SLT 659 : 2009 (14) SCR 1023 : 2009 (4) JCC 2925.

30. Dowry death or Abetment of suicide.—Deceased was harassed by accus husband and mother-in-law for demand of dowry, died by consuming poison with seven years of her marriage. Accused husband sought financial assistance from h father-in-law for going abroad. Deceased was pressurized that her father should rend financial help to accused husband who was in the need of money. Held, accuse husband guilty of offence under S. 306 IPC and not under S. 304B. Amarjit Singh alic Mintu and Anr vs State of Punjab, 2010 (4) CriLJ 4134 (P&H).

